

NLT Study Bible

PRESENTED TO

BY

ON

*"For everyone who asks, receives. Everyone who seeks, finds.
And to everyone who knocks, the door will be opened."*

MATTHEW 7:8

DEDICATION

NLT Study Bible

NLT Study Bible®

New Living Translation.

Tyndale House
Publishers, Inc.
Carol Stream, Illinois

Visit Tyndale online at www.NLTStudyBible.com, www.newlivingtranslation.com, and www.tyndale.com.

Features and Bible helps copyright © 2017 by Tyndale House Publishers, Inc. All rights reserved.

Color maps copyright © 2016 by Tyndale House Publishers, Inc. All rights reserved.

Interior illustrations, pp. 583, 1753, 1787, 1813, copyright © 1995, 1982, 2005, 2000 by Hugh Claycombe. All rights reserved.

Other interior maps, illustrations, timelines, and diagrams copyright © 2017 by Tyndale House Publishers, Inc. All rights reserved.

Cover illustration pattern copyright © Curly Pat/Shutterstock. All rights reserved.

Presentation pages copyright © 2017 by Tyndale House Publishers, Inc. All rights reserved.

NLT Study Bible is an edition of the Holy Bible, New Living Translation.

Holy Bible, New Living Translation, copyright © 1996, 2004, 2015 by Tyndale House Foundation. All rights reserved.

The text of the Holy Bible, New Living Translation, may be quoted in any form (written, visual, electronic, or audio) up to and inclusive of five hundred (500) verses without express written permission of the publisher, provided that the verses quoted do not account for more than twenty-five percent (25%) of the work in which they are quoted, and provided that a complete book of the Bible is not quoted.

When the Holy Bible, New Living Translation, is quoted, one of the following credit lines must appear on the copyright page or title page of the work:

Scripture quotations are taken from the Holy Bible, New Living Translation, copyright © 1996, 2004, 2015 by Tyndale House Foundation. Used by permission of Tyndale House Publishers, Inc., Carol Stream, Illinois 60188. All rights reserved.

Unless otherwise indicated, all Scripture quotations are taken from the Holy Bible, New Living Translation, copyright © 1996, 2004, 2015 by Tyndale House Foundation. Used by permission of Tyndale House Publishers, Inc., Carol Stream, Illinois 60188. All rights reserved.

Scripture quotations marked NLT are taken from the Holy Bible, New Living Translation, copyright © 1996, 2004, 2015 by Tyndale House Foundation. Used by permission of Tyndale House Publishers, Inc., Carol Stream, Illinois 60188. All rights reserved.

When quotations from the NLT text are used in nonsalable media, such as church bulletins, orders of service, newsletters, transparencies, or similar media, a complete copyright notice is not required, but the initials NLT must appear at the end of each quotation.

Quotations in excess of five hundred (500) verses or twenty-five percent (25%) of the work, or other permission requests, must be approved in writing by Tyndale House Publishers, Inc. Send requests by e-mail to: permission@tyndale.com or call 630-668-8300, ext. 5023.

Publication of any commentary or other Bible reference work produced for commercial sale that uses the New Living Translation requires written permission for use of the NLT text.

This Bible is typeset in the typeface Lucerna, designed by Brian Sooy & Co. exclusively for Tyndale House Publishers, Inc. All rights reserved.

TYNDALE, New Living Translation, NLT, the New Living Translation logo, NLT Study Bible, and LeatherLike are registered trademarks of Tyndale House Publishers, Inc. TuTone is a trademark of Tyndale House Publishers, Inc.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Bible. English. New Living Translation. 2008.

NLT study Bible.

p. cm.

Includes bibliographical references and index.

ISBN 978-0-8423-5570-4 (hc : alk. paper)

ISBN 978-1-4143-2448-7 (bndd blk : alk. paper)

[etc.]

I. Title.

BS195.N394 2008

220.'20834—dc22

2008017304

ISBN 978-1-4964-1665-0 Hardcover

ISBN 978-1-4964-1664-3 Hardcover Indexed

ISBN 978-1-4964-1666-7 LeatherLike Brown/Slate

ISBN 978-1-4964-1667-4 LeatherLike Brown/Slate Indexed

ISBN 978-1-4964-1668-1 LeatherLike Twilight Blue/Brown

ISBN 978-1-4964-1669-8 LeatherLike Twilight Blue/Brown Indexed

Printed in Italy

23 22 21 20 19 18 17
7 6 5 4 3 2 1

Tyndale House Publishers and Wycliffe Bible Translators share the vision for an understandable, accurate translation of the Bible for every person in the world. Each sale of the Holy Bible, New Living Translation, benefits Wycliffe Bible Translators. Wycliffe is working with partners around the world to accomplish Vision 2025—an initiative to start a Bible translation program in every language group that needs it by the year 2025.

Contents

NLT Study Bible Contributors . . .	A7
NLT Study Bible Introduction . . .	A9
How to Study with the NLT Study Bible . . .	A11
A Note to Readers . . .	A15
Introduction to the New Living Translation . . .	A17
NLT Bible Translation Team . . .	A22
Master Timeline . . .	A24
Overview Maps . . .	A30

OLD TESTAMENT

Introduction to the Old Testament . . .	3	1 Samuel (1 Sam) . . .	464	Introduction to the Books of the Prophets . . .	1101
Archaeology and Sources for Old Testament Background . . .	7	2 Samuel (2 Sam) . . .	516	Isaiah (Isa) . . .	1104
Introduction to the Pentateuch . . .	11	Chronology of Israel's Monarchy . . .	562	Jeremiah (Jer) . . .	1204
Genesis (Gen) . . .	14	1 Kings (1 Kgs) . . .	566	Lamentations (Lam) . . .	1300
Chronology of Abraham to Joshua . . .	118	2 Kings (2 Kgs) . . .	626	Ezekiel (Ezek) . . .	1310
Exodus (Exod) . . .	122	1 Chronicles (1 Chr) . . .	682	Daniel (Dan) . . .	1388
Leviticus (Lev) . . .	192	2 Chronicles (2 Chr) . . .	726	Hosea (Hos) . . .	1422
Numbers (Num) . . .	246	Historical Background of Israel's Exile and Return . . .	782	Joel (Joel) . . .	1440
Deuteronomy (Deut) . . .	312	Ezra (Ezra) . . .	786	Amos (Amos) . . .	1450
Introduction to the Old Testament Historical Books . . .	369	Nehemiah (Neh) . . .	808	Obadiah (Obad) . . .	1468
Joshua (Josh) . . .	372	Esther (Esth) . . .	834	Jonah (Jon) . . .	1474
Chronology of the Time of the Judges . . .	414	Introduction to the Books of Poetry and Wisdom . . .	849	Micah (Mic) . . .	1480
Judges (Judg) . . .	416	Job (Job) . . .	852	Nahum (Nah) . . .	1494
Ruth (Ruth) . . .	456	Psalms (Ps) . . .	900	Habakkuk (Hab) . . .	1502
		Proverbs (Prov) . . .	1026	Zephaniah (Zeph) . . .	1510
		Ecclesiastes (Eccl) . . .	1070	Haggai (Hag) . . .	1518
		Song of Songs (Song) . . .	1084	Zechariah (Zech) . . .	1524
				Malachi (Mal) . . .	1544
				Historical Background of the Intertestamental Period . . .	1552

NEW TESTAMENT

Introduction to the New Testament . . .	1557	Luke (Luke) . . .	1694	2 Corinthians (2 Cor) . . .	1954
Introduction to the Four Gospels . . .	1561	John (John) . . .	1764	Galatians (Gal) . . .	1976
Chronology of the Life of Jesus . . .	1564	Chronology of the Apostolic Age . . .	1818	Ephesians (Eph) . . .	1994
NLT Harmony of the Four Gospels . . .	1567	Acts (Acts) . . .	1820	Philippians (Phil) . . .	2010
Matthew (Matt) . . .	1572	Introduction to the Letters of Paul . . .	1887	Colossians (Col) . . .	2020
Mark (Mark) . . .	1642	Romans (Rom) . . .	1888	1 Thessalonians (1 Thes) . . .	2030
		1 Corinthians (1 Cor) . . .	1924	2 Thessalonians (2 Thes) . . .	2040

Introduction to Paul's Letters to Timothy and Titus . . . 2047
1 Timothy (1 Tim) . . . 2048
2 Timothy (2 Tim) . . . 2060
Titus (Titus) . . . 2068
Philemon (Phlm) . . . 2076

Hebrews (Heb) . . . 2080
James (Jas) . . . 2110
1 Peter (1 Pet) . . . 2120
2 Peter (2 Pet) . . . 2132
1 John (1 Jn) . . . 2138
2 John (2 Jn) . . . 2148

3 John (3 Jn) . . . 2152
Jude (Jude) . . . 2156
Revelation (Rev) . . . 2160

Introduction to the Time after the Apostles . . . 2201

REFERENCE HELPS

Table of Ancient Weights, Measures, and Coins . . . 2208
Hebrew and Greek Word Studies . . . 2209
Features Index . . . 2221
Notes Index . . . 2237
Dictionary & Concordance . . . 2292

NLT Study Bible

Contributors

BIBLE PUBLISHING TEAM

Douglas R. Knox (Publisher)
Blaine A. Smith (Associate Publisher)
Kevin O'Brien (Brand Manager)

EDITORS

Sean A. Harrison (General Editor)
Mark D. Taylor (Executive Editor)
Philip W. Comfort (Development Editor)
Mark R. Norton (Development Editor)
G. Patrick LaCrosse (Associate Editor)
David P. Barrett (Assistant Editor)
Bradley J. Lewis (Assistant Editor)
Henry M. Whitney III (Assistant Editor)
Keith Williams (Assistant Editor)
Linda Schlafer (Content Stylist)

COPYEDITORS

Keith Williams (Copyediting Coordinator)
Leanne Rolland (Proofreading Coordinator)
Paul Adams
Jason Driesbach
Adam Graber
Annette Hayward
Judy Modica
Jonathan Schindler
Caleb Sjogren
Cindy Szponder
Lisa Voth
Matthew Wolf

DESIGNERS

Timothy R. Botts (Graphic Designer)
Dean Renninger (Graphic Designer)
Dan Farrell (Revision Designer)

GENERAL REVIEWERS

Daniel I. Block (Genesis—Deuteronomy)
Barry J. Beitzel (Joshua—Esther, Maps) Temper Longman III (Job—Song of Songs)
John N. Oswalt (Isaiah—Malachi)
Grant R. Osborne (Matthew—Acts) Norman R. Ericson (Romans—Revelation) Kenneth N. Taylor (special reviewer)

CONTRIBUTING SCHOLARS

Carl E. Armerding (Judges, Obadiah)
Daniel I. Block (selected articles)
Gerald L. Borchert (Revelation)
Dale A. Brueggemann (Job)
Gary M. Burge (John)
Eugene E. Carpenter (Daniel, Micah)
Joseph Coleson (Joshua, Ruth)
Philip W. Comfort (1–3 John)
Owen Dickens (Hosea, Joel)
Iain M. Duguid (Ezekiel)
Norman R. Ericson (James)
Daniel C. Fredericks
(Song of Songs)
Gene L. Green
(1 & 2 Thessalonians)
George H. Guthrie (Hebrews)
Victor P. Hamilton (1 & 2 Samuel) Sean A. Harrison (Ruth, Ecclesiastes, Galatians, selected features) Andrew E. Hill (Haggai, Zechariah, Malachi)
August H. Konkel
(1 & 2 Chronicles)
Jon C. Laansma (1 & 2 Timothy, Titus)
G. Patrick LaCrosse (Jonah)

G. Herbert Livingston (Jeremiah, Lamentations) Temper Longman III (Proverbs, Song of Songs, OT Profiles)
Ralph P. Martin (2 Corinthians)
Gerald L. Mattingly (Numbers)
Scot McKnight (Matthew)
Eugene H. Merrill (Deuteronomy)
Roger Mohrlang (1 Corinthians, Ephesians, Philippians, Philemon, NT Profiles) Douglas J. Moo (Romans, Colossians, 1 & 2 Peter, Jude)
John N. Oswalt (Exodus)
Richard D. Patterson (1 & 2 Kings, Nahum, Habakkuk, Zephaniah)
Allen P. Ross (Genesis)
Andrew J. Schmutzer (Genesis)
Gary V. Smith (Ezra, Nehemiah, Esther)
Robert H. Stein (Mark)
Mark L. Strauss (Luke)
James A. Swanson (Word Study System)
Allison A. Trites (Acts)
Willem VanGemeren (Psalms, Isaiah)
Daniel H. Williams (After the Apostles) William C. Williams (Leviticus, Amos)

OTHER CONTRIBUTORS

David P. Barrett (Cartographer)
Hugh Claycombe (Illustrator)
Luke Daab (Illustrator)
Joel Bartlett (Typesetter)
Gwen Elliott (Typesetter)
Peachtree Editorial Services (Proofreaders)
Karen Schmitt (Indexing)

NLT Study Bible

Introduction

The NLT Study Bible was first launched in the fall of 2008. The product of over seventy scholars, writers, reviewers, editors, and designers, it was designed to help people understand the Bible clearly and accurately. The 2017 edition includes updates to the NLT text, a more refined interior, and easier-to-use indexes.

When Kenneth Taylor founded Tyndale House Publishers, his vision was to make the Bible accessible to everyone. Both the NLT and the NLT Study Bible continue that fifty-year legacy. The New Living Translation has become one of the most popular English translations, combining the readability of its predecessor, The Living Bible, with the perspective and wisdom of ninety world-class Bible scholars. These scholars created a clear, readable English text that is faithful to the ancient Hebrew and Greek originals.

Because the NLT is so clear, the features in the NLT Study Bible focus on the meaning and significance of the text in light of the world in which it was first written. For help in getting the most out of the features, see the article "How to Study the Bible with the NLT Study Bible" on p. A11.

The NLT Study Bible contains a myriad of features, including study notes, introductions, maps, timelines, profiles, and theme notes highlighting some of the most important ideas in the Bible. But it is more than just a tool for transferring information. It is an aid to living out the call and command of Jesus: "You must love the LORD your God with all your heart, all your soul, and all your mind" (Matt 22:37).

It is our prayer that the Holy Spirit would be at work within you as you read and study God's word in the pages of this Bible. We believe that it will enable you to draw closer to God by opening your eyes to his living and powerful message. Take to heart the message of Jesus as you use this study Bible:

Keep on asking, and you will receive what you ask for. Keep on seeking, and you will find. Keep on knocking, and the door will be opened to you. For everyone who asks, receives. Everyone who seeks, finds. And to everyone who knocks, the door will be opened.
(Matt 7:7-8)

THE PUBLISHING TEAM

How to Study the Bible with the NLT Study Bible

Many people have set out to read and understand the Bible only to put it aside in confusion and frustration. How can we “hear God speak” when his words seem so hard to understand? The questions we bring to the Bible can get lost when we try to figure out what it is saying. The people and places and the laws and customs in the Bible are often completely foreign. Some things are relatively easy to grasp, but others are almost impossible to understand even when the words are clear. The NLT Study Bible makes understanding the Bible easier. The following article will help you get the most out of your Bible study as you use the NLT Study Bible.

BASIC STUDY PRINCIPLES

Read the Bible text first. No feature of the NLT Study Bible is more important than the Bible text, and the New Living Translation text itself will help you to understand its message more fully because of its emphasis on making the message of Scripture clear (see the “Introduction to the New Living Translation” on p. A17 for more information about the translation).

The Bible is not simply a set of theological propositions or moral instructions, although it does include them. Instead, it is primarily the record of God revealing himself and his purposes to people and forming loving and faithful relationships with them. As you read, seek to understand the significance of what he was doing for them and saying to them. God does not change (1 Sam 15:29; Jas 1:17), so who he was in relation to the people of the past is who he still is to the people of today, and he will continue to be the same God in the future and for all eternity (Heb 13:8). Read the Bible text with the purpose of knowing God himself.

Read more than just the verse you are looking for. Context matters, so pay attention to the entire passage or even book to gain better understanding. Remember, each book is a unified whole, and each verse is a part of that whole. The more you understand what the specific author or book is saying, the better you will understand individual verses, themes, and teachings. Many Bibles, including the NLT Study Bible, contain features that will help you understand the big picture:

Book Outlines: See the flow of the book and how the passage you are reading fits into it.

Cross-references: Find parallel passages, quotations of the OT in the NT, and passages related to the passage you are reading.

Indexes and Concordance: Easily find more information on themes and passages.

Read carefully. Give yourself time to read, understand, and ponder the words in the Bible text and the study materials—the notes, articles, and visual aids—that appear alongside it. Consider using a journal to write down your questions, interesting things that you learn, connections you find, what you think God might be saying to you, and your prayers to God about what you have studied.

USING THE RESOURCES OF THE NLT STUDY BIBLE

The NLT Study Bible includes several types of tools, providing a unique, integrated study experience that will help answer the questions that naturally arise as you read the text.

Read the background materials. The many study helps in the NLT Study Bible help explain what the Bible meant to its first readers and what it therefore means to us who read it today. These materials are found in three layers that work together to bring the Bible to life. Take the extra time to use these so that you get the most out of your study. Our recommendation is to think of these three layers as building blocks as shown below:

- Old and New Testament Introductions, along with the NLT Study Bible Master Timeline and Overview Maps, give a broad and stable foundation for understanding the Bible centered on the setting, story, and makeup of the Bible. The structure of each testament is explained, along with how the books in each testament were collected and recognized as a part of the canon. These introductions also provide steps for proper interpretation. Look at the “Meaning and Message” section to identify major themes.
- Section Introductions and Chronologies build on this foundation, exploring the major divisions of the English Bible. Each of the seven section introductions (the Pentateuch, Israel’s history, poetry and wisdom, prophets of Israel, the Gospels and Acts, letters of Paul, and pastoral epistles) gives a detailed overview of the books in that section. Special attention is paid to specific issues affecting the interpretation of those books. The introduction to the intertestamental period sets the stage for understanding the world Jesus lived in, and the introduction to the time after the apostles briefly explores the expansion of the church after the writing of the New Testament.
- Book Introductions form the third layer, focusing on specific issues for each book, including setting, timelines, literary structure, authorship, and of course, the meaning and message of that book. A list of further study resources is also provided.

Use the study notes, word studies, and visual aids.

- Study Notes at the bottom of each page focus on meaning, not just facts. There are notes on words, phrases, sentences, verses, paragraphs, and whole sections. Historical and literary notes help draw us into the world of the Bible to increase our understanding and ability to apply God’s word. The study notes also include nearly all the NLT textual footnotes, which identify variations in the Hebrew and Greek text as well as providing alternate translation possibilities.

- Hebrew and Greek Word Studies, 100 Hebrew and 100 Greek terms representing key biblical ideas, are included in the cross-reference column. Each entry includes the word, its Strong's number, which can be looked up in the glossary at the back of the Bible, and the next occurrence of that word. Each word study includes enough occurrences to illustrate the range of meaning for that word.
- Visual Aids, including charts, maps, illustrations, timelines, and diagrams, have been included to help organize information from the biblical text in a form that is easy to grasp and understand.

Get to know the people of the Bible. Nearly 100 individuals are explored in profiles throughout the Bible. By getting to know them, the story of Scripture will become more real and its teaching more clear. God works first and foremost through people. Their victories and their mistakes can teach us a great deal.

Explore the theme notes. Sometimes we need to step back from a specific verse to see the larger point of a passage. Nearly 300 short articles identify and explain major ideas in the Bible and can be found adjacent to relevant passages. Each one also points to other passages and sometimes other theme notes to expand your understanding.

Start reading today. Don't worry about trying to do everything that we have suggested here. Take small, manageable steps, but start.

Finally, remember that the NLT Study Bible is a tool, a catalyst for connecting with the heart of God. It is not the full and final word on any topic or passage. We have packed in as much as we could, but it is only a small fraction of what could be said. Therefore, treat the notes and features as a very helpful but incomplete guide on your journey. For those who wish to go further with some aspect of study, there are many other resources available. To help point you in the right direction, each book and section introduction includes a list of "Further Reading" materials.

A Note to Readers

The Holy Bible, New Living Translation, was first published in 1996. It quickly became one of the most popular Bible translations in the English-speaking world. While the NLT's influence was rapidly growing, the Bible Translation Committee determined that an additional investment in scholarly review and text refinement could make it even better. So shortly after its initial publication, the committee began an eight-year process with the purpose of increasing the level of the NLT's precision without sacrificing its easy-to-understand quality. This second-generation text was completed in 2004, with minor changes subsequently introduced in 2007, 2013, and 2015.

The goal of any Bible translation is to convey the meaning and content of the ancient Hebrew, Aramaic, and Greek texts as accurately as possible to contemporary readers. The challenge for our translators was to create a text that would communicate as clearly and powerfully to today's readers as the original texts did to readers and listeners in the ancient biblical world. The resulting translation is easy to read and understand, while also accurately communicating the meaning and content of the original biblical texts. The NLT is a general-purpose text especially good for study, devotional reading, and reading aloud in worship services.

We believe that the New Living Translation—which combines the latest biblical scholarship with a clear, dynamic writing style—will communicate God's word powerfully to all who read it. We publish it with the prayer that God will use it to speak his timeless truth to the church and the world in a fresh, new way.

THE PUBLISHERS

Introduction to the New Living Translation

Translation Philosophy and Methodology

English Bible translations tend to be governed by one of two general translation theories. The first theory has been called “formal-equivalence,” “literal,” or “word-for-word” translation. According to this theory, the translator attempts to render each word of the original language into English and seeks to preserve the original syntax and sentence structure as much as possible in translation. The second theory has been called “dynamic-equivalence,” “functional-equivalence,” or “thought-for-thought” translation. The goal of this translation theory is to produce in English the closest natural equivalent of the message expressed by the original-language text, both in meaning and in style.

Both of these translation theories have their strengths. A formal-equivalence translation preserves aspects of the original text—including ancient idioms, term consistency, and original-language syntax—that are valuable for scholars and professional study. It allows a reader to trace formal elements of the original-language text through the English translation. A dynamic-equivalence translation, on the other hand, focuses on translating the message of the original-language text. It ensures that the meaning of the text is readily apparent to the contemporary reader. This allows the message to come through with immediacy, without requiring the reader to struggle with foreign idioms and awkward syntax. It also facilitates serious study of the text’s message and clarity in both devotional and public reading.

The pure application of either of these translation philosophies would create translations at opposite ends of the translation spectrum. But in reality, all translations contain a mixture of these two philosophies. A purely formal-equivalence translation would be unintelligible in English, and a purely dynamic-equivalence translation would risk being unfaithful to the original. That is why translations shaped by dynamic-equivalence theory are usually quite literal when the original text is relatively clear, and the translations shaped by formal-equivalence theory are sometimes quite dynamic when the original text is obscure.

The translators of the New Living Translation set out to render the message of the original texts of Scripture into clear, contemporary English. As they did so, they kept the concerns of both formal-equivalence and dynamic-equivalence in mind. On the one hand, they translated as simply and literally as possible when that approach yielded an accurate, clear, and natural English text. Many words and phrases were rendered literally and consistently into English, preserving essential literary and rhetorical devices, ancient metaphors, and word choices that give structure to the text and provide echoes of meaning from one passage to the next.

On the other hand, the translators rendered the message more dynamically when the literal rendering was hard to understand, was misleading, or yielded archaic or foreign wording. They clarified difficult metaphors and terms to aid in the reader’s understanding. The translators first struggled with the meaning of the words and phrases in the ancient context; then they rendered the message into clear, natural English. Their goal was to be both faithful to the ancient texts and eminently readable. The result is a translation that is both exegetically accurate and idiomatically powerful.

Translation Process and Team

To produce an accurate translation of the Bible into contemporary English, the translation team needed the skills necessary to enter into the thought patterns of the ancient authors and then to render their ideas, connotations, and effects into clear, contemporary English. To begin this process, qualified biblical scholars were needed to interpret the meaning of the original text and to check it against our base English translation. In order to guard against personal and theological biases, the scholars needed to represent a diverse group of evangelicals who would employ the best exegetical tools. Then to work alongside the scholars, skilled English stylists were needed to shape the text into clear, contemporary English.

With these concerns in mind, the Bible Translation Committee recruited teams of scholars that represented a broad spectrum of denominations, theological perspectives, and backgrounds within the worldwide evangelical community. (These scholars are listed at the end of this introduction.) Each book of the Bible was assigned to three different scholars with proven expertise in the book or group of books to be reviewed. Each of these scholars made a thorough review of a base translation and submitted suggested revisions to the appropriate Senior Translator. The Senior Translator then reviewed and summarized these suggestions and proposed a first-draft revision of the base text. This draft served as the basis for several additional phases of exegetical and stylistic committee review. Then the Bible Translation Committee jointly reviewed and approved every verse of the final translation.

Throughout the translation and editing process, the Senior Translators and their scholar teams were given a chance to review the editing done by the team of stylists. This ensured that exegetical errors would not be introduced late in the process and that the entire Bible Translation Committee was happy with the final result. By choosing a team of qualified scholars and skilled stylists and by setting up a process that allowed their interaction throughout the process, the New Living Translation has been refined to preserve the essential formal elements of the original biblical texts, while also creating a clear, understandable English text.

The New Living Translation was first published in 1996. Shortly after its initial publication, the Bible Translation Committee began a process of further committee review and translation refinement. The purpose of this continued revision was to increase the level of precision without sacrificing the text's easy-to-understand quality. This second-edition text was completed in 2004, with minor changes subsequently introduced in 2007, 2013, and 2015. This printing of the New Living Translation reflects the 2015 text.

Written to Be Read Aloud

It is evident in Scripture that the biblical documents were written to be read aloud, often in public worship (see Nehemiah 8; Luke 4:16-20; 1 Timothy 4:13; Revelation 1:3). It is still the case today that more people will hear the Bible read aloud in church than are likely to read it for themselves. Therefore, a new translation must communicate with clarity and power when it is read publicly. Clarity was a primary goal for the NLT translators, not only to facilitate private reading and understanding, but also to ensure that it would be excellent for public reading and make an immediate and powerful impact on any listener.

The Texts behind the New Living Translation

The Old Testament translators used the Masoretic Text of the Hebrew Bible as represented in Biblia

Hebraica Stuttgartensia (1977), with its extensive system of textual notes; this is an update of Rudolf Kittel's Biblia Hebraica (Stuttgart, 1937). The translators also further compared the Dead Sea Scrolls, the Septuagint and other Greek manuscripts, the Samaritan Penta-teuch, the Syriac Peshitta, the Latin Vulgate, and any other versions or manuscripts that shed light on the meaning of difficult passages.

The New Testament translators used the two standard editions of the Greek New Testament: the Greek New Testament, published by the United Bible Societies (UBS, fourth revised edition, 1993), and Novum Testamentum Graece, edited by Nestle and Aland (NA, twenty-seventh edition, 1993). These two editions, which have the same text but differ in punctuation and textual notes, represent, for the most part, the best in modern textual scholarship. However, in cases where strong textual or other scholarly evidence supported the decision, the translators sometimes chose to differ from the UBS and NA Greek texts and followed variant readings found in other ancient witnesses. Significant textual variants of this sort are always noted in the textual notes of the New Living Translation.

Translation Issues

The translators have made a conscious effort to provide a text that can be easily understood by the typical reader of modern English. To this end, we sought to use only vocabulary and language structures in common use today. We avoided using language likely to become quickly dated or that reflects only a narrow subdialect of English, with the goal of making the New Living Translation as broadly useful and timeless as possible.

But our concern for readability goes beyond the concerns of vocabulary and sentence structure. We are also concerned about historical and cultural barriers to understanding the Bible, and we have sought to translate terms shrouded in history and culture in ways that can be immediately understood. To this end:

- We have converted ancient weights and measures (for example, "ephah" [a unit of dry volume] or "cubit" [a unit of length]) to modern English (American) equivalents, since the ancient measures are not generally meaningful to today's readers. Then in the textual footnotes we offer the literal Hebrew, Aramaic, or Greek measures, along with modern metric equivalents.

- Instead of translating ancient currency values literally, we have expressed them in common terms that communicate the message. For example, in the Old Testament, "ten shekels of silver" becomes "ten pieces of silver" to convey the intended message. In the New Testament, we have often translated the "denarius" as "the normal daily wage" to facilitate understanding. Then a footnote offers: "Greek a denarius, the payment for a full day's labor." In general, we give a clear English rendering and then state the literal Hebrew, Aramaic, or Greek in a textual footnote.
- Since the names of Hebrew months are unknown to most contemporary readers, and since the Hebrew lunar calendar fluctuates from year to year in relation to the solar calendar used today, we have looked for clear ways to communicate the time of year the Hebrew months (such as Abib) refer to. When an expanded or interpretive rendering is given in the text, a textual note gives the literal rendering. Where it is possible to define a specific ancient date in terms of our modern calendar, we use modern dates in the text. A textual footnote then gives the literal Hebrew date and states the rationale for our rendering. For example, Ezra 6:15 pinpoints the date when the postexilic Temple was completed in Jerusalem: "the third day of the month Adar." This was during the sixth year of King Darius's reign (that is, 515 B.C.). We have translated that date as March 12, with a footnote giving the Hebrew and identifying the year as 515 B.C.
- Since ancient references to the time of day differ from our modern methods of denoting time, we have used renderings that are instantly understandable to the modern reader. Accordingly, we have rendered specific times of day by using approximate equivalents in terms of our common “o’clock” system. On occasion, translations such as “at dawn the next morning” or “as the sun was setting” have been used when the biblical reference is more general.

- When the meaning of a proper name (or a wordplay inherent in a proper name) is relevant to the message of the text, its meaning is often illuminated with a textual footnote. For example, in Exodus 2:10 the text reads: “The princess named him Moses, for she explained, ‘I lifted him out of the water.’” The accompanying footnote reads: “Moses sounds like a Hebrew term that means ‘to lift out.’”

Sometimes, when the actual meaning of a name is clear, that meaning is included in parentheses within the text itself. For example, the text at Genesis 16:11 reads: “You are to name him Ishmael (which means ‘God hears’), for the LORD has heard your cry of distress.” Since the original hearers and readers would have instantly understood the meaning of the name “Ishmael,” we have provided modern readers with the same information so they can experience the text in a similar way.

- Many words and phrases carry a great deal of cultural meaning that was obvious to the original readers but needs explanation in our own culture. For example, the phrase “they beat their breasts” (Luke 23:48) in ancient times meant that people were very upset, often in mourning. In our translation we chose to translate this phrase dynamically for clarity: “They went home in deep sorrow.” Then we included a footnote with the literal Greek, which reads: “Greek went home beating their breasts.” In other similar cases, however, we have sometimes chosen to illuminate the existing literal expression to make it immediately understandable. For example, here we might have expanded the literal Greek phrase to read: “They went home beating their breasts in sorrow.” If we had done this, we would not have included a textual footnote, since the literal Greek clearly appears in translation.

- Metaphorical language is sometimes difficult for contemporary readers to understand, so at times we have chosen to translate or illuminate the meaning of a metaphor. For example, the ancient poet writes, “Your neck is like the tower of David” (Song of Songs 4:4). We have rendered it “Your neck is as beautiful as the tower of David” to clarify the intended positive meaning of the simile. Another example comes in Ecclesiastes 12:3, which can be literally rendered: “Remember him . . . when the grinding women cease because they are few, and the women who look through the windows see dimly.” We have rendered it: “Remember him before your teeth—your few remaining servants—stop grinding; and before your eyes—the women looking through the windows—see dimly.” We clarified such metaphors only when we believed a typical reader might be confused by the literal text.
- When the content of the original language text is poetic in character, we have rendered it in English poetic form. We sought to break lines in ways that clarify and highlight the relationships between phrases of the text. Hebrew poetry often uses parallelism, a literary form where a second phrase (or in some instances a third or fourth) echoes the initial phrase in some way. In Hebrew parallelism, the subsequent parallel phrases continue, while also furthering and sharpening, the thought expressed in the initial line or phrase. Whenever possible, we sought to represent these parallel phrases in natural poetic English.
- The Greek term hoi Ioudaioi is literally translated “the Jews” in many English translations. In the Gospel of John, however, this term doesn’t always refer to the Jewish people generally. In some contexts, it refers more particularly to the Jewish religious leaders. We have attempted to capture the meaning in these different contexts by using terms such as “the people” (with a footnote: Greek the Jewish people) or “the religious leaders,” where appropriate.
- One challenge we faced was how to translate accurately the ancient biblical text that was originally written in a context where male-oriented terms were used to refer to humanity generally. We needed to respect the nature of the ancient context while also trying to make the translation clear to a modern audience that tends to read male-oriented language as applying only to males. Often the original text, though using masculine nouns and pronouns, clearly intends that the message be applied to both men and women. A typical example is found in the New Testament letters, where the believers are called “brothers” (adelphoi). Yet it is clear from the content of these letters that they were addressed to all the believers—male and female. Thus, we have usually translated this Greek word as “brothers and sisters” in order to represent the historical situation more accurately.

We have also been sensitive to passages where the text applies generally to human beings or to the human condition. In some instances we have used plural pronouns (they, them) in place of the masculine singular (he, him). For example, a traditional rendering of Proverbs 22:6 is: “Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not turn from it.” We have rendered it: “Direct your children onto the right path, and when they are older, they will not leave it.” At times, we have also replaced third person pronouns with the second person to ensure clarity. A traditional rendering of Proverbs 26:27 is: “He who digs a pit will fall into it, and he who rolls a stone, it will come back on him.” We have rendered it: “If you set a trap for others, you will get caught in it yourself. If you roll a boulder down on others, it will crush you instead.”

We should emphasize, however, that all masculine nouns and pronouns used to represent God (for example, “Father”) have been maintained without exception. All decisions of this kind have been driven by the concern to reflect accurately the intended meaning of the original texts of Scripture.

Lexical Consistency in Terminology

For the sake of clarity, we have translated certain original-language terms consistently, especially within synoptic passages and for commonly repeated rhetorical phrases, and within certain word categories such as divine names and non-theological technical terminology (e.g., liturgical, legal, cultural, zoological, and botanical terms). For theological terms, we have allowed a greater semantic range of acceptable English words or phrases for a single Hebrew or Greek word. We have avoided some theological terms that are not readily understood by many modern readers. For example, we avoided using words such as “justification” and “sanctification,” which are carryovers from Latin translations. In place of these words, we have provided renderings such as “made right with God” and “made holy.”

The Spelling of Proper Names

Many individuals in the Bible, especially the Old Testament, are known by more than one name (e.g., Uzziah/Azariah). For the sake of clarity, we have tried to use a single spelling for any one individual, footnoting the literal spelling whenever we differ from it. This is especially helpful in delineating the kings of Israel and Judah. King Joash/Jehoash of Israel has been consistently called Jehoash, while King Joash/Jehoash of Judah is called Joash. A similar distinction has been used to distinguish between Joram/Jehoram of Israel and Joram/Jehoram of Judah. All such decisions were made with the goal of clarifying the text for the reader. When the ancient biblical writers clearly had a theological purpose in their choice of a variant name (e.g., Esh-baal/Ish-bosheth), the different names have been maintained with an explanatory footnote.

For the names Jacob and Israel, which are used interchangeably for both the individual patriarch and the nation, we generally render it “Israel” when it refers to the nation and “Jacob” when it refers to the individual. When our rendering of the name differs from the underlying Hebrew text, we provide a textual footnote, which includes this explanation: “The names ‘Jacob’ and ‘Israel’ are often interchanged throughout the Old Testament, referring sometimes to the individual patriarch and sometimes to the nation.”

The Rendering of Divine Names

All appearances of ’el, ’elohim, or ’eloh have been translated “God,” except where the context demands the translation “god(s).” We have generally rendered the tetragrammaton (YHWH) consistently as “the LORD,” utilizing a form with small capitals that is common among English translations. This will distinguish it from the name ’adonai, which we render “Lord.” When ’adonai and YHWH appear together, we have rendered it “Sovereign LORD.” This also distinguishes ’adonai YHWH from cases where YHWH appears with ’elohim, which is rendered “LORD God.” When YH (the short form of YHWH) and YHWH appear together, we have rendered it “LORD GOD.” When YHWH appears with the term tesba’oth, we have rendered it “LORD of Heaven’s Armies” to translate the meaning of the name. In a few cases, we have utilized the transliteration, Yahweh, when the personal character of the name is being invoked in contrast to another divine name or the name of some other god (for example, see Exodus 3:15; 6:2-3).

In the Gospels and Acts, the Greek word christos has normally been translated as “Messiah” when the context assumes a Jewish audience. When a Gentile audience can be assumed, christos has been translated as “Christ.” The Greek word kurios is consistently translated “Lord,” except that it is translated “LORD” wherever the New Testament text explicitly quotes from the Old Testament, and the text there has it in small capitals.

Textual Footnotes

The New Living Translation provides several kinds of textual footnotes, all included within the study notes in this edition:

- When for the sake of clarity the NLT renders a difficult or potentially confusing phrase dynamically, we generally give the literal rendering in a textual footnote. This allows the reader to see the literal source of our dynamic rendering and how our translation relates to other more literal translations.

These notes are prefaced with “literally.” For example, in Acts 2:42 we translated the literal “breaking of bread” (from the Greek) as “the Lord’s Supper” to clarify that this verse refers to the ceremonial practice of the church rather than just an ordinary meal. Then we attached a footnote to “the Lord’s Supper,” which reads: “Literally the breaking of bread.”

- Textual footnotes are also used to show alternative renderings, prefaced with the word “Or.” These normally occur for passages where an aspect of the meaning is debated. On occasion, we also provide notes on words or phrases that represent a departure from long-standing tradition. These notes are prefaced with “Traditionally rendered.” For example, the footnote to the translation “serious skin disease” at Leviticus 13:2 says: “Traditionally rendered leprosy. The Hebrew word used throughout this passage is used to describe various skin diseases.”
- When our translators follow a textual variant that differs significantly from our standard Hebrew or Greek texts (listed earlier), we document that difference with a footnote. We also footnote cases when the NLT excludes a passage that is included in the Greek text known as the Textus Receptus (and familiar to readers through its translation in the King James Version). In such cases, we offer a translation of the excluded text in a footnote, even though it is generally recognized as a later addition to the Greek text and not part of the original Greek New Testament.
- All Old Testament passages that are quoted in the New Testament are identified by a textual footnote at the New Testament location. When the New Testament clearly quotes from the Greek translation of the Old Testament, and when it differs significantly in wording from the Hebrew text, we also place a textual footnote at the Old Testament location. This note includes a rendering of the Greek version, along with a cross-reference to the New Testament passage(s) where it is cited (for example, see notes on Psalms 8:2; 53:3; Proverbs 3:12).

- Some textual footnotes provide cultural and historical information on places, things, and people in the Bible that are probably obscure to modern readers. Such notes should aid the reader in understanding the message of the text. For example, in Acts 12:1, "King Herod" is named in this translation as "King Herod Agrippa" and is identified in a footnote as being "the nephew of Herod Antipas and a grandson of Herod the Great."
- When the meaning of a proper name (or a wordplay inherent in a proper name) is relevant to the meaning of the text, it is either illuminated with a textual footnote or included within parentheses in the text itself. For example, the footnote concerning the name "Eve" at Genesis 3:20 reads: "Eve sounds like a Hebrew term that means 'to give life.' " This wordplay in the Hebrew illuminates the meaning of the text, which goes on to say that Eve "would be the mother of all who live."

Cross-References

There are a number of different cross-referencing tools that appear in New Living Translation Bibles, and they offer different levels of help in this regard. All straight-text Bibles include the standard set of textual footnotes that include cross-references connecting New Testament texts to their related Old Testament sources. (See more on this above.)

This edition includes a full-column cross-reference system. In this system, symbols differentiate between various kinds of cross-references. The parallel marker (//) designates a cross-referenced passage that is parallel in nature to the passage at hand. The asterisk (*) designates a cross-reference whose connection involves a direct quote from the other testament. Standard cross-references in this system appear unmarked.

The cross-reference system in this edition is also enhanced by Hebrew and Greek word studies. This enhancement, which takes 100 of the most significant Hebrew words in the Old Testament and 100 Greek words from the New Testament, creates a chain reference which points to key instances of these words so they can be studied in context. In the cross-reference system, each word is attached to a modified Strong's number, which points to a helpful key-word glossary at the back of the Bible.

AS WE SUBMIT this translation for publication, we recognize that any translation of the Scriptures is subject to limitations and imperfections. Anyone who has attempted to communicate the richness of God's Word into another language will realize it is impossible to make a perfect translation. Recognizing these limitations, we sought God's guidance and wisdom throughout this project. Now we pray that he will accept our efforts and use this translation for the benefit of the church and of all people.

We pray that the New Living Translation will overcome some of the barriers of history, culture, and language that have kept people from reading and understanding God's Word. We hope that readers unfamiliar with the Bible will find the words clear and easy to understand and that readers well versed in the Scriptures will gain a fresh perspective. We pray that readers will gain insight and wisdom for living, but most of all that they will meet the God of the Bible and be forever changed by knowing him.

THE BIBLE TRANSLATION COMMITTEE

Bible Translation Team

Holy Bible, New Living Translation

PENTATEUCH

Daniel I. Block, Senior Translator
Wheaton College

GENESIS

Allen Ross, Beeson Divinity School, Samford University
Gordon Wenham, Trinity College, Bristol

EXODUS

Robert Bergen, Hannibal-LaGrange College
Daniel I. Block, Wheaton College
Eugene Carpenter, Bethel College, Mishawaka, Indiana

LEVITICUS

David Baker, Ashland Theological Seminary
Victor Hamilton, Asbury College
Kenneth Mathews, Beeson Divinity School, Samford University

NUMBERS

Dale A. Brueggemann, Assemblies of God Division of Foreign Missions
R. K. Harrison, Wycliffe College
Paul R. House, Beeson Divinity School, Samford University
Gerald L. Mattingly, Johnson Bible College

DEUTERONOMY

J. Gordon McConville, University of Gloucester
Eugene H. Merrill, *Dallas
Theological Seminary*
John A. Thompson, University of Melbourne

HISTORICAL BOOKS

Barry J. Beitzel, Senior Translator
Trinity Evangelical Divinity School

JOSHUA, JUDGES

Carl E. Armerding, Schloss Mittersill Study Centre
Barry J. Beitzel, Trinity Evangelical Divinity School
Lawson Stone, Asbury Theological Seminary

1 & 2 SAMUEL

Robert Gordon, Cambridge University

V. Philips Long, Regent College

J. Robert Vannoy, Biblical Theological Seminary

1 & 2 KINGS

Bill T. Arnold, Asbury Theological Seminary
William H. Barnes, North Central University
Frederic W. Bush, Fuller Theological Seminary

1 & 2 CHRONICLES

Raymond B. Dillard, *Westminster
Theological Seminary*
David A. Dorsey, Evangelical School of Theology
Terry Eves, Erskine College

RUTH, EZRA—ESTHER

William C. Williams, Vanguard University
H. G. M. Williamson, Oxford University

WISDOM BOOKS

Tremper Longman III, Senior Translator
Westmont College

JOB

August Konkel, *Providence
Theological Seminary*
Tremper Longman III, *Westmont
College*
Al Wolters, Redeemer College

PSALMS 1–75

Mark D. Futato, *Reformed
Theological Seminary*
Douglas Green, *Westminster
Theological Seminary*
Richard Pratt, Reformed Theological Seminary

PSALMS 76–150

David M. Howard Jr., *Bethel
Theological Seminary*
Raymond C. Ortlund Jr., Immanuel Church, Nashville, Tennessee
Willem VanGemenen, Trinity Evangelical Divinity School

PROVERBS

Ted Hildebrandt, Gordon College
Richard Schultz, Wheaton College

Raymond C. Van Leeuwen, Eastern College

ECCLESIASTES, SONG OF SONGS

Daniel C. Fredericks, Belhaven College
David Hubbard, Fuller Theological Seminary
Tremper Longman III, Westmont College

PROPHETS

John N. Oswalt, Senior Translator
Asbury Theological Seminary

ISAIAH

John N. Oswalt, Asbury Theological Seminary
Gary Smith, Union University
John Walton, Wheaton College

JEREMIAH, LAMENTATIONS

G. Herbert Livingston, *Asbury
Theological Seminary*
Elmer A. Martens, Memnonite Brethren Biblical Seminary

EZEKIEL

Daniel I. Block, Wheaton College
David H. Engelhard, *Calvin
Theological Seminary*
David Thompson, *Asbury
Theological Seminary*

DANIEL, HAGGAI—MALACHI

Joyce Baldwin Caine, Trinity College, Bristol
Douglas Gropp, Catholic University of America
Roy Hayden, Oral Roberts School of Theology
Andrew Hill, Wheaton College
Tremper Longman III, *Westmont
College*

HOSEA—ZEPHANIAH

Joseph Coleson, *Nazarene
Theological Seminary*
Roy Hayden, Oral Roberts School of Theology
Andrew Hill, Wheaton College
Richard Patterson, Liberty University

GOSPELS AND ACTS

Grant R. Osborne, Senior Translator
Trinity Evangelical Divinity School

MATTHEW

Craig Blomberg, Denver Seminary
 Donald A. Hagner, Fuller Theological Seminary
 David Turner, Grand Rapids Baptist Seminary

MARK

Robert Guelich, Fuller Theological Seminary
 George Guthrie, Union University
 Grant R. Osborne, Trinity Evangelical Divinity School

LUKE

Darrell Bock, Dallas Theological Seminary
 Scot McKnight, North Park University
 Robert Stein, The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary

JOHN

Gary M. Burge, Wheaton College
 Philip W. Comfort, Coastal Carolina University
 Marianne Meye Thompson, Fuller Theological Seminary

ACTS

D. A. Carson, Trinity Evangelical Divinity School
 William J. Larkin, Columbia International University
 Roger Mohrlang, Whitworth University

LETTERS AND REVELATION

Norman R. Ericson, Senior Translator Wheaton College

ROMANS, GALATIANS

Gerald Borchert, Northern Baptist Theological Seminary

Douglas J. Moo, Wheaton College

Thomas R. Schreiner, The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary

1 & 2 CORINTHIANS

Joseph Alexanian, Trinity International University
 Linda Belleville, Bethel College, Mishawaka, Indiana
 Douglas A. Oss, Central Bible College
 Robert Sloan, Houston Baptist University

EPHESIANS—PHILEMON

Harold W. Hoehner, Dallas Theological Seminary
 Moises Silva, Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary
 Klyne Snodgrass, North Park Theological Seminary

HEBREWS, JAMES, 1 & 2 PETER, JUDE

Peter Davids, St. Stephen's University

BIBLE TRANSLATION TEAM

Norman R. Ericson, Wheaton College

William Lane, Seattle Pacific University

J. Ramsey Michaels, S. W. Missouri State University

1-3 JOHN, REVELATION

Greg Beale, Westminster Theological Seminary

Robert Mounce, Whitworth University

M. Robert Mulholland Jr., Asbury Theological Seminary

SPECIAL REVIEWERS

F. F. Bruce, University of Manchester

Kenneth N. Taylor, Translator, The Living Bible

COORDINATING TEAM

Mark D. Taylor, Director and Chief Stylist

Ronald A. Beers, Executive Director and Stylist

Mark R. Norton, Managing Editor and O.T. Coordinating Editor

Philip W. Comfort, N.T. Coordinating Editor

Daniel W. Taylor, Bethel University, Senior Stylist

Sean A. Harrison, Editor and Stylist
 James A. Swanson, Lexical Reviewer

Master Timeline

How do the stories of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob relate to history? What was going on in the world at the time of David and Solomon? How do the reigns of the kings of Israel and Judah fit together? What was happening during the time between the OT and the NT? How do the events in the life of Jesus and the early church correlate with other things that were happening in the Roman world?

CREATION TO ABRAHAM

Many of the events of Genesis 1–11 predate writing, so it is difficult to assign precise dates to these early events. We can, however, observe a close correlation between the biblical account and what is known from other historical sources. After the Flood, which Noah and his family survived, humanity spread out across the known world, and the ancient

4500~950 BC
(300 years/inch)

See "Chronology of Abraham to Joshua," pp. 118–121

4000 BC

3500

3000

EVENTS IN OT BOOKS: GENESIS 1–11

MESOPOTAMIA

EARLY BRONZE AGE (3300–2000 BC)

Settlement of Asshur (around 2800 BC)

CREATION
(undated)

SUMERIAN CIVILIZATION (about 3000–1950 BC)

GREAT FLOOD?

CANAAN

EGYPT

PREDYNASTIC PERIOD (4000–3000 BC)

ARCHAIC PERIOD / DYNASTIES 1–2
(3000–2700 BC)

ISRAEL'S MONARCHY

The time of the judges came to a decisive end with the ministry of Samuel and the reigns of King Saul (about 1050~1011 BC) and King David (1011~971 BC). The dates for events from this time forward are much more precise, because we can correlate biblical information with the records of other ancient nations like the Assyrians and Babylonians, and with known astronomical phenomena such as solar eclipses. After the division of Israel into the northern kingdom (Israel) and the southern kingdom (Judah), the chronology becomes very complex, and good timelines are essential for understanding how the reigns of the kings fit together. For more information, see "Chronology of Israel's Monarchy," pp. 562-565. Detailed timelines are also included throughout the books of 1 & 2 Kings.

1050~50 BC
(90 years/inch)

See "Chronology of the Time of the Judges," pp. 414-415

See "Chronology of Israel's Monarchy," pp. 562-565

ROME

ROMAN KINGDOM

The city of Rome is founded (700s BC)

MACEDONIAN KINGDOM

ASSYRIA

NEO-ASSYRIAN EMPIRE

BABYLONIA

NEO-BABYLONIAN EMPIRE

Nabopolassar
Nebuchadnezzar II

ISRAEL

UNITED MONARCHY (1050-931 BC)

DIVIDED MONARCHY

KINGDOM OF ISRAEL (931-722 BC)

Samaria is destroyed by Assyria, end of the kingdom of Israel (722 BC)

Judeans in exile

KINGDOM OF JUDAH (931-586 BC)

Jerusalem is destroyed by Babylon, end of the kingdom of Judah
(586 BC)

Samuel's ministry
(1075-1040 BC)

Temple is built (967-960 BC)

Shishak invades Judah (926 BC)

EGYPT

THIRD INTERMEDIATE PERIOD (1069-664 BC)

DYNASTY 21 (1069-945 BC)

DYNASTY 22 (945-715 BC)

DYNASTY 23 (818-715 BC)

DYN. 24

DYNASTY 25 / CUSHITE (780-656 BC)

SAITE-PERSIAN PERIOD

DYNASTY 26 (664-525 BC)

ISRAEL'S EXILE AND RETURN

The records of Israel's history are much more sparse during the period of the Exile than beforehand. Instead of a comprehensive, orderly account, as with Israel's monarchy, we have scattered accounts in books such as 2 Chronicles, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, Daniel, and Esther.

Nebuchadnezzar was the king in Babylon for much of the time of Israel's exile. After his death (562 BC), it was less than twenty-five years until Babylon was conquered by Cyrus the Great (539 BC). Cyrus issued a decree allowing Jewish people to return to Judea, and many did. The books of Ezra and Nehemiah narrate some of the events of the postexilic period in Judea, including the rebuilding of the Temple and the wall of Jerusalem. For more information about this period, see "Historical Background of Israel's Exile and Return," pp. 782–785.

THE INTERTESTAMENTAL PERIOD

From the end of the OT to the beginning of the NT there was a period of about 400 years. It was not, however, an empty period or a lull in history. To the contrary, great changes took place. The Persian empire was replaced by Greek dominance, beginning with the conquests of Alexander the Great (332–323 BC). Greek culture began spreading inexorably throughout the Mediterranean world. Rome, too, grew in power and influence, until the Romans became the dominant power in the Mediterranean world in the first century BC. For more information, see "Historical Background of the Intertestamental Period," pp. 1552–1554.

THE LIFE OF JESUS

Jesus of Nazareth was born in Judea during the height of Greco-Roman culture and Roman power. Jesus lived a relatively short life in a tumultuous backwater of the Roman empire, and he died the shameful death of a criminal. But then he rose bodily from the dead, demonstrated to his followers that he was alive, and ascended to heaven. For more information, see "Introduction to the Four Gospels," pp. 1561–1563, and "Chronology of the Life of Jesus," pp. 1564–1566.

60 BC—AD 335

(36 years/inch)

See "Historical Background of the Intertestamental Period," pp. 1552–1554

See "Chronology of the Life of Jesus," pp. 1564–1566

See "Chronology of the Apostolic Age," pp. 1818–1819

THE APOSTOLIC AGE

After Jesus rose from the dead, his followers quickly began proclaiming the news, and the movement of those who believed the message spread around the Roman world during the first century AD. The book of Acts and the letters of Paul and the other apostles record events in the Christian community during this period. For more information about the chronology of this time, see "Chronology of the Apostolic Age," pp. 1818–1819.

THE TIME AFTER THE APOSTLES

By the end of the first century, all of the apostles of Jesus had died, but the church continued growing. Those early, postapostolic Christians saw themselves and their communities as being in continuity with the apostles. They maintained the faith that the apostles had given them while experiencing periodic, harsh persecution from their neighbors and from the Roman government. For more information, see "Introduction to the Time after the Apostles," pp. 2201–2205.

See "Introduction to the Time after the Apostles," pp. 2201–2205

Jewish people are dispersed from Judea

Overview Maps

Where did Abraham live, travel, and obey God's instruction to sacrifice his son (Gen 12-22)?
Why did Josiah confront Pharaoh Neco and lose his life (2 Kgs 23:29-30; 2 Chr 35:20-27; Jer 46)? When Jesus was making his final trip to Jerusalem, why did he go through Samaria (John 4:4)? How did Paul follow up with the churches he established during his first missionary journey (Acts 13–14, 16)? The answers to questions such as these can be understood more readily through the study of the geography of the Bible.

THE EASTERN MEDITERRANEAN AND THE NEAR EAST

The events in the Bible took place in the lands around the eastern MEDITERRANEAN SEA and in the Near East—the area from EGYPT through CANAAN and ARAM, to MESOPOTAMIA and PERSIA. The ancient Near East is the setting for the earliest events of recorded history, and it is the world in which the nation of Israel was formed and grew. Abraham journeyed from HARAN in upper Mesopotamia to Canaan (Gen 12). His descendants then moved to Egypt (Gen 46) and spent hundreds of years there before returning to Canaan and establishing the nation of Israel (Exod—Josh).

Almost 1,000 years later, after living in the land of Israel (see below), the descendants of Abraham returned to Mesopotamia as exiles (2 Kgs 17; 24–25). The Jewish people later returned to JERUSALEM and JUDEA and reestablished their community (Ezra—Nehemiah). After Jesus' death and resurrection, the Christian community that began in Jerusalem spread as Paul and the other apostles took the Good News throughout the known world (Acts 2–28).

ISRAEL AND ITS NEIGHBORS

Many of the key events in the history of God's people took place in and around Canaan, which came to be called the land of Israel (from DAN in the north to BEERSHEBA in the south). Not only did much of Abraham's life take place in this land, but the nation of Israel lived here (Joshua—Nehemiah). Israel's neighbors included other descendants of Abraham—namely, the people of EDOM, MOAB, and AMMON (see Gen 19; 25). In addition, the people of ARAM lived to the northeast, the people of PHILISTIA to the west, and the people of PHOENICIA to the north along the coast in and around TYRE and SIDON.

After the Exile, many Jews returned and reestablished the Jewish community in JERUSALEM and JUDEA (Ezra—Nehemiah, Haggai, Zechariah). Later, Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea, grew up in NAZARETH of Galilee, and died in Jerusalem (Matthew—John). He arose from the dead there, and the church had its beginning there (Acts). Even as the Good News about Jesus was spreading throughout the Mediterranean world, Jerusalem and Judea continued to play a role in the life of the Christian community until the destruction of Jerusalem in AD 70 (e.g., Acts 15).

UNDERSTANDING the geography of these and the other events of the Bible can provide a much clearer picture of what was happening and what it means. For this reason, many maps are included throughout the interior of the NLT Study Bible. Most books of the Bible include a map in the book's introduction. All of the maps and many of the places on them are listed in the Features Index, pp. 2221–2236.

OLD TESTAMENT

INTRODUCTION TO THE OLD TESTAMENT

The Old Testament is God's word to his people through the ages. It describes the creation of the world and humanity, the origin of sin, and the beginning of God's plan of redemption. Through it we gain a much clearer understanding of who God is, what he is doing, and how we should live.

The Old Testament stimulates our imaginations and arouses our emotions. It is made up of gripping stories of real events, stirring poems, and bracing exhortations. It teaches us God's plan, reveals God's will, and helps us make decisions. Reading the Old Testament is like looking into a mirror, for it reveals our soul. It plants a seed that grows, ultimately transforming our character.

Jesus emphasized the importance of understanding the Old Testament (Luke 24:25-27), and Paul was speaking primarily of the Old Testament when he wrote, "All Scripture is inspired by God and is useful to teach us what is true and to make us realize what is wrong in our lives" (2 Tim 3:16). The Old Testament provides us with a profound knowledge of God, ourselves, and the world.

SETTING

Israel's geography encompasses rugged wadis (seasonally dry river beds), agriculturally rich valleys, rolling hills, arid wilderness, and sandy coasts. The Bible describes Israel as a fertile land, one "flowing with milk and honey" (Exod 3:8, 17; Num 13:27). But a lack of rainfall can trigger devastating famines.

The land of Israel was previously called Canaan. Before the people of Israel occupied the land, Canaan was composed of a number of loosely allied city-states, each with its own king. The Canaanite people remained a political threat until the time of King David, who decisively defeated both the Canaanites and the Philistines. The Canaanite worship of Baal and Ashtoreth, however, continued to plague Israel.

Compared to the superpowers of the day (Assyria, Babylon, the Hittites, Egypt, and Persia), Israel was a small but strategically significant nation, located along the main route between Mesopotamia and Egypt.

Various nations controlled Mesopotamia throughout the OT: Assyria to the north, Babylon to the south, and Persia to the east. All three of these powers constantly tried to expand their borders.

Egypt was also a superpower during much of the OT period. The Nile River defined ancient Egypt and was the source of its wealth. During the time between Joseph and the Exodus, Egypt oppressed and enslaved the people of Israel as they grew from a family of seventy individuals to a great nation. Egypt continued to play a role in the story of Israel. Toward the end of Israel's kingdom period, the last desperate kings hoped that Egypt would save Judah from the Babylonians. Egypt turned out to be "a reed that splinters beneath your weight and pierces your hand" (2 Kgs 18:21).

Directly north of Israel was Aram (Syria), with Damascus as its chief city. Israel experienced frequent conflicts with Aram, beginning during the time of David.

Toward the end of the OT period, the Persian empire gained power. Persia occupied the region just east of Mesopotamia. Persia's rise to power began in the mid-500s BC and included the defeat of Babylon in 539 BC. Judea became a province in the Persian empire and remained so until Alexander the Great defeated Persia in 331 BC.

THE OLD TESTAMENT STORY

The Bible begins with the account of creation (Gen 1-2). God created the heavens, the earth, and the first humans, and he pronounced it all "very good." God provided Eden, a wonderful place for human beings to live. Adam and Eve enjoyed a harmonious and fulfilling relationship with God and with each other.

All this changed quickly. Genesis 3 introduces the serpent, who injected discord into this harmonious world. The serpent taught Eve and Adam to distrust God, and they chose to rebel against God in the belief that they knew better than God. This sin placed a barrier between God and humans and brought death to all humanity. God's holy presence became deadly to Adam and Eve, and God ejected them from Eden. Even in the midst of judgment for their sin, however, God remained involved, working for their redemption.

After Eden, the OT describes a split between those who chose to follow God and those who rejected him: for example, Abel and Seth versus Cain, righteous Noah versus his wicked generation, Isaac versus Ishmael, and Jacob versus Esau and Laban.

A crucial transitional point came when God offered great promises to Abraham. He called Abraham to leave Ur (around 2100/1900 BC) and "go to the land that I will show you" (Gen 12:1). Unlike Adam and Eve, Abraham trusted God and responded obediently to him. As a result, God began carrying out his redemptive plan for humanity through Abraham and his descendants. Thus, Abraham became the father of a great nation, with many descendants and much land. Genesis 12—Joshua 24 describes how God multiplied the descendants of Abraham and ultimately brought them into possession of the Promised Land of Canaan.

God desired that Abraham's descendants, the nation of Israel, would obey God and prosper in the land he gave them and that the surrounding nations would turn to the true God. However, like Adam and Eve in Eden before them, the Israelites were not satisfied with all that God gave them, instead turning to false gods to find happiness. The rest of the OT continues the story of Israel's persistent sin and God's unwavering commitment to them. Although God consistently judged their sin, he also remained patiently involved with his people.

Following Israel's settlement in Canaan, the period of the judges was marked by political fragmentation and spiritual confusion. God then allowed the people to choose a king to rule them. The monarchy began with the anointing of Saul (around 1050 BC), and it reached a high point with David (1011–971 BC) and the early part of Solomon's reign (971–931 BC). Due to Solomon's sin, however, God divided Israel into two parts, the northern and southern kingdoms, after Solomon's death in 931 BC.

From the beginning of the divided monarchy (931 BC) to the end of the OT period (about 400 BC), the prophets called the people of Israel and Judah to return to God, but most trusted the surrounding nations and their false gods. The northern kingdom of Israel, with its capital Samaria, lasted until 722 BC, when Assyria conquered it and deported its people. The southern kingdom of Judah, with its capital Jerusalem, lasted until the Babylonians defeated it in 586 BC, destroying the Temple and taking many of the people of Judah into exile.

The destruction of Jerusalem and the Exile of the Israelites did not end Israel's story. Even as the prophets had proclaimed devastating judgment on God's people, they also announced a future hope for the remnant. The Exile lasted until 539 BC, when Persia defeated Babylon and allowed the Jews to return to Judah to rebuild Jerusalem and the Temple. By 515 BC, the Jews had rebuilt a smaller, second Temple (see Ezra 6:15). Ezra arrived in 458 BC and reestablished God's law in Judah. In 445 BC, Nehemiah became governor of Judah and rebuilt the walls of Jerusalem. During the period after the Exile, many people of Judea finally worshiped the Lord, the God of Israel, exclusively. They also came to recognize the true significance of the OT records: God had been giving them a written revelation of his will, his purposes, and his acts in Israel's history.

The prophecy of Malachi, written a little before 400 BC, closes the OT story. The OT does not end with a strong sense of closure, but with anticipation of even greater things to come. The return to Jerusalem and the rebuilding of the Temple was a "down payment" of God's redemption for his people. However, the prophets understood that these events were not the ultimate realization of hope.

THE CANON OF THE OLD TESTAMENT

The text of the OT was written over a period of approximately 1,000 years, beginning with Moses and extending to the Persian period following the Jews' return to Judah from exile. God used Moses and many others—judges like Samuel, kings like David and Solomon, prophets like Isaiah and Jeremiah, priests like Ezra, and other people whose names we don't even know—to write parts of Israel's history and literature.

The Order of the Hebrew Bible

The order of books in the Hebrew Bible differs from the order of the books in English Bibles (see charts, below and at right). The Hebrew Bible is divided into three parts: Instruction (Torah), Prophets (Nebi'im) and Writings (Ketubim). Jesus referred to these divisions as "the law of Moses," "the prophets," and "the Psalms" (Luke 24:44). Jewish readers of the Hebrew Bible sometimes refer to their Scripture by taking the first letters of these three parts and forming the word "Tanak."

The Hebrew Bible combines into twenty-four books the same material that is presented as thirty-nine books in the English OT. In the Hebrew Bible, the first five books constitute the Torah. This section, also called the Pentateuch, is unchanged in English Bibles. The second section, the Prophets (Nebi'im), has two parts. The Former Prophets, called the historical books in English Bibles, are followed in the Hebrew Bible by the Latter Prophets. The third section, the Writings (Ketubim), contains miscellaneous books, including the books of poetry and wisdom.

In later Judaism, the "Five Scrolls" (Megilloth) were read at the important feasts and arranged in order of their observance in the holiday calendar (see chart, "Israel's Festivals," p. 235): Ruth was read at the Festival of Pentecost, Song of Songs at Passover, Ecclesiastes at the Festival of Shelters, Lamentations at the anniversary of the destruction of Jerusalem (the 9th of Ab), and Esther at Purim.

The Order of the English OT

English Bibles follow the order of the Greek translation of the OT (the

1. Instruction (Torah)	2. Prophets (Nebi'im)	3. Writings (Ketubim)
Genesis Exodus Leviticus Numbers Deuteronomy	Former Prophets Joshua Judges Samuel (1 & 2) Kings (1 & 2) Latter Prophets Isaiah Jeremiah Ezekiel The Twelve: Hosea Joel Amos Obadiah Jonah Micah Nahum Habakkuk Zephaniah Haggai Zechariah Malachi	Psalms Job Proverbs Five Scrolls (Megilloth): Ruth Song of Songs Ecclesiastes Lamentations Esther Daniel Ezra–Nehemiah Chronicles (1 & 2)

Septuagint), which groups books according to genre and places the books within each genre in chronological order. The Greek and English OT begins with the Pentateuch. Next come the historical narratives; then the poetical books, arranged in chronological order according to their setting or traditional date of composition; and finally the prophets, in two parts. The major (largest) prophets appear in chronological order. They are followed by the twelve minor (shorter) prophets, which also follow a general chronological arrangement.

INTERPRETING THE OLD TESTAMENT

Christians sometimes find the OT difficult to read and understand, with content that seems strange and distant. What is the connection between Christianity and animal sacrifices, religious circumcision, strange dietary laws, the curses of the Psalms, and the history of ancient Israel? To understand the OT better, we must realize that it is an ancient book, with the oldest parts written some 3,500 years ago. It also comes from a culture, the ancient Near East, vastly different from ours. Most importantly, the books were written before the coming of Christ.

The following principles can help readers as they study the OT.

Read Each Passage in Context

With the Bible, as with all good literature, gaining a grasp of the whole helps us appreciate and understand the parts. We should not treat a biblical book as a collection of isolated sayings. Rather, the books contain connected stories, instructions, and poems. The meaning of the individual verses can be discovered only in the flow of the whole literary piece, which occurs by reading large blocks at a time. While this principle does not stop us from turning to the middle of a biblical book to read a few verses, we should also seek to develop an understanding of the message of the whole book. In other words, we should exercise great caution not to distort God's message when we read small pieces of Scripture. The book introductions in the NLT Study Bible help with this process by providing an overview of each book's contents and message.

Identify the Genre of the Book and Passage

Contemporary readers are familiar with a variety of genres such as biographies, textbooks, and newspaper editorials. The content of the OT can also be grouped into genres. The genres in the OT include history (e.g., Samuel), treaty/covenant (e.g., Exod 19–24), sermon (e.g., Deuteronomy), poetry and prayers (e.g., Psalms), wisdom (e.g., Proverbs), prophecy (e.g., Jeremiah), and apocalyptic (e.g., Dan 7–12). Different genres should trigger different reading strategies. Just as we approach a biography differently than we approach a novel, we should try to understand how to approach the different genres of the OT. The book and section introductions in the NLT Study Bible offer help in understanding OT genres.

Consider the Historical and Cultural Background of the Book

The inspired authors of the OT lived and wrote in a time and culture very distant from ours. We should seek to understand what was taking place during the time period the author describes as well as the (often different) time period when the author was writing. For example, the book of Chronicles describes events that took place from the time of David to the Exile (about 1000–600 BC), but it was probably written in Judea following the return from exile (around 400 BC). Knowing the details and setting—both of the events that are described and of the time in which the book was written—will help us understand Chronicles and its message more clearly. The same holds true for other books of the OT.

Read the Old Testament in the Light of Christ's Coming

Jesus said that the whole OT anticipated his coming, suffering, and glory (Luke 24:25–27). Jesus is the center of biblical revelation. The OT anticipates him, and the NT describes him.

NT authors recognized this, so they frequently cited the OT to explain that the glorious events happening in their day were foreshadowed and foretold by the OT. Christians, too, should read the OT from the perspective of the death and resurrection of Christ. While it is crucial first to interpret each OT passage or book in the context of its original audience, we understand the OT better when we read it in light of its fulfillment in Jesus Christ.

MEANING AND MESSAGE

Scripture describes God's nature and explains his acts in history. By reading the OT, God's people learn about who God is by observing and participating in what he does.

God's Nature, Character, and Acts

God's special name in the OT is Yahweh. The name comes from the Hebrew word meaning "to be." God told Moses that his name means, "I AM WHO I AM" (Exod 3:14). In other words, God defines

Pentateuch	Historical Books	Poetry and Wisdom	Prophets
Genesis	Joshua	Job	Isaiah
Exodus	Judges	Psalms	Jeremiah
Leviticus	Ruth	Proverbs	Lamentations
Numbers	1 Samuel	Ecclesiastes	Ezekiel
Deuteronomy	2 Samuel	Song of Songs	Daniel
	1 Kings		Minor Prophets:
	2 Kings		Hosea
	1 Chronicles		Joel
	2 Chronicles		Amos
	Ezra		Obadiah
	Nehemiah		Jonah
	Esther		Micah
			Nahum Habakkuk Zephaniah Haggai Zechariah
			Malachi

himself. Nothing else defines him, but he defines everything. In most English translations, including the NLT, this name for God is usually translated “the LORD” (capitalized).

Most often, the OT describes God by picturing him in relationship. God relates to people as savior, king, shephérđ, warrior, husband, and in many other roles. God also reveals who he is by what he does: for example, dividing the Red Sea, causing the walls of Jericho to fall, establishing David as king, allowing the Babylonian army to defeat Jerusalem, and restoring his people to the land after the Exile.

The primary message of the OT is that God saves his people and judges those who resist him. He passionately pursues his sinful people in order to establish a community that is in harmony with him, a kingdom that recognizes and serves its divine King.

There Is One God

The OT launches a sustained attack on the prevailing worldview of the ancient Near East, which was that the heavens and the earth, infused with deities, constitute the sum total of reality. The implications of this false worldview, which continues in much of the world today, are many and far-reaching:

- Because the heavens and the earth contain many diverse parts, many gods exist.
- Because the gods are the cosmos, we can manipulate the gods by manipulating the cosmos.
- Because humans are obsessed with sex, the gods are also.
- Because the universe exists without purpose, the gods have no purpose except survival through the acquisition of power—and so humans must pursue power as well.
- Because the gods are selfish and unmerciful, humans must seek their favor by appeasing their appetites.
- Because there are many gods, humans must seek the protection of their own gods against other people’s gods.

The OT asserts the very opposite of these beliefs and all others that grow out of a pagan worldview:

- The universe is unified as the creation of the one true God.
- He alone is God, in no way comparable to other so-called gods, and he has a completely separate existence from the cosmos.
- God cannot be manipulated through the cosmos because he is not the cosmos.
- God created the world as a universe with his own unified purposes. Human beings have meaning by fulfilling God’s purposes for them.
- Human beings are designed not to appease capricious and power-hungry gods but to worship and obey a loving Creator.
- Ultimate security and peace come from trusting and worshiping the Creator.

From beginning to end, the OT makes these and many related points in order to correct the seductive but incorrect and deadly pagan worldview.

God’s Covenants with His People

The concept of covenant is central to the message of the OT. From Genesis onward, the covenant becomes the most persistent metaphor for God’s relationship with his people (see “God’s Covenant Relationships” at Gen 12:1-9, p. 44). A covenant is a relationship that gives promises and imposes obligations. OT covenants were similar to treaties between two nations, where a Great King would enter into a relationship with a vassal nation (see Deuteronomy Introduction, “Literary Form,” p. 314). The term covenant describes the relationships God established with humanity and all creation through Noah (Gen 9:1-17), with Abraham and his descendants (Gen 15:1-21), with Israel through Moses (Exod 19:3-24:11), and with David and his offspring (2 Sam 7:8-16). God’s relationship with Adam also had the character of a covenant, complete with commands, promises, and warnings.

Each of God’s covenants builds on the previous ones; new covenants do not replace the old.

Through his covenants, God established special relationships between himself and his people. In the covenants, God made promises, stated obligations, and threatened judgment if his people did not obey him. When they disobeyed, God sent his prophets to warn his disobedient people, urging them to turn from breaking his law and return to faithful obedience. The curses stipulated in the covenant provide the basis for God’s judgment (see Deut 28), which he ultimately brought: Jerusalem was destroyed and most of the Israelites were sent into exile.

Yet God was not finished with his people: He brought some of them back from exile. They had been humbled and were more obedient—they finally stopped worshipping other gods and worshiped the Lord alone. God also promised to make a new covenant with them (Jer 31:31-34). In the context of this new covenant, God would “forgive their wickedness” and “never again remember their sins” (Jer 31:34), causing all Israel finally to know and obey him.

The establishment of the new covenant came with the Messiah. Jesus Christ, God’s promised Savior and King, fulfilled the old covenant (Matt 5:17-20) and initiated the new covenant, a relationship with all who trust in him (John 3:16; Acts 2:38-39) based on his own sacrifice (Luke 22:20). Those who participate in this relationship inherit eternal fellowship with God and all his people (John 3:36; 5:24; Rom 5:21; 1 Jn 2:24-25).

FURTHER READING

BILL T. ARNOLD AND BRYAN E. BEYER

*Encountering the Old Testament:
A Christian Survey* (1999)

CRAIG BARTHOLOMEW AND MICHAEL GOHEEN
The Drama of Scripture: Finding Our Place in the Biblical Story (2004)

RAYMOND B. DILLARD AND TREMPER LONGMAN III
An Introduction to the Old Testament, 2nd edition (2006)

ARCHAEOLOGY AND SOURCES FOR OLD TESTAMENT BACKGROUND

In the past two hundred years, archaeology has experienced a huge information explosion in terms of both artifacts and texts from the ancient Near East. Every item must be placed into a large historical context, and, where relevant, must cautiously be placed in a proper relationship to biblical materials. Properly identified and interpreted, archaeological materials may illustrate, illuminate, demonstrate, confirm, or challenge the biblical text. These same artifacts and texts cannot be used at a theological level to “prove” the spiritual, religious, or theological claims of the biblical text. It is obviously impossible for a spade or a trowel to prove or disprove the spiritual revelations and assertions of Scripture. But these materials may confirm and make plausible certain historical perspectives and claims of those texts. It is fair to say that archaeology validates Hebrew history and explains many formerly obscure terms and traditions in both the OT and NT. It thus provides an authentic background for the prophecies culminating in Jesus Christ.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF BIBLICAL ARCHAEOLOGY

Modern archaeology in the Middle East began when Napoleon took with him into Egypt (1798) a team of specialists to record the ancient wonders of Egypt. They happened to find the Rosetta Stone (1799), which provided the unexpected key to the decipherment of Egyptian hieroglyphics (1819, 1822). The floodgates opened to a heightened interest in the wonders of the ancient Near East and to the light they might shed on the Bible—the ancient Near East’s greatest religious, literary, and historical artifact. In 1845, Akkadian (the language of old Babylon) was deciphered using the Behistun Inscription (518 BC), which, like the Rosetta Stone, was inscribed in three languages. The deciphering of several other languages soon followed.

After that, the archaeology of the ancient Near East prospered and drew worldwide attention. Archaeologists, scholars, and treasure hunters were amazed at the creation and flood stories, legal documents, ancient civilizations and languages, religious and theological systems, sacrificial rituals, tabernacles, temples, palaces, wisdom literature, covenants and covenantal forms and rituals, war stories, birth stories, king lists, pagan prophetic parallels, and much more.

In the beginning, it was treasure hunters who made many of the significant finds, and their methods were often haphazard and caused destruction of important archaeological sites. The scientific study of ancient tells (strata of dirt and cultural debris compacted together into mounds over the millennia) began in Palestine in 1890, when Flinders Petrie adopted methods used to excavate Troy, systematically unearthing and studying the various strata (layers of occupation) of a city. This approach to archaeology in Palestine flourished as appropriate techniques, tools, and record-keeping developed. Today, a combination of methods is employed, including “surface surveys” and aerial photography used to get information about whole regions.

THE CONTRIBUTION OF BIBLICAL ARCHAEOLOGY

Various ancient Near Eastern texts and artifacts have helped scholars paint—both with a broad brush and in some cases with detail—a cultural and historical backdrop of OT eras across the centuries. Ancient texts and artifacts help us see the OT in its larger context and better understand its history, its literary qualities, and even its theological perspectives.

In principle, archaeologists have no particular interest in “proving the truth” of the Scriptures. And in fact, it is sometimes difficult to reconcile interpretations of archaeological data and the evidence of Scripture. Such conflicts are few in number, however, and tend to diminish noticeably as new information is forthcoming. The huge cache of ancient Near Eastern material makes the historical reliability of the OT arguably firm.

These archaeological source materials show the people of Israel as fellow participants in the ancient Near East of their day. It is possible to see the men and women of Scripture as real persons, as true children of their age, grappling with life’s problems. And from time to time they catch a vision of God as all powerful and all holy, as guiding the destinies of individuals and nations, and as bringing about his purposes in history. Ancient texts and artifacts show that Israel shared in the social structures and worldviews of the surrounding cultures. But these texts and artifacts also show striking contrasts between the people of Israel and the world in which they lived—for Israel claimed a relationship with the Lord, the one true God, and did not worship many gods as neighboring nations did. The people of Israel’s faith in and experience of the Lord make them unique in the ancient world, a uniqueness that comes into vibrant, colorful relief through the texts and artifacts of the ancient Near East.

PRIMARY SOURCES

[RANE] Bill T. Arnold and Bryan E. Beyer, Readings from the Ancient Near East (2002)

[COS] William W. Hallo, ed., The Context of Scripture (2003)

[AEL] Miriam Lichtheim, Ancient Egyptian Literature (1971–1980)

[OTP] Victor H. Matthews & Don C. Benjamin, eds., Old Testament Parallels: Laws and Stories from the Ancient Near East (2006)

[ANET] James B. Pritchard, ed., Ancient Near Eastern Texts Relating to the Old Testament (1969)

[ATSHB] Kenton L. Sparks, Ancient Texts for the Study of the Hebrew Bible (2005)

FURTHER READING

Susan Wise Bauer, The History of the Ancient World (2007)

Richard S. Hess, Israelite Religions: An Archaeological and Biblical Survey (2007)

Alfred J. Hoerth, Archaeology and the Old Testament (1998)

K. A. Kitchen, On the Reliability of the Old Testament (2006)

John H. Walton, Ancient Near Eastern Thought and the Old Testament (2006)

Michael O. Wise, et al., The Dead Sea Scrolls (2005)

Ancient Texts and Artifacts Relating to the Old Testament. The Old Testament was written in a complex era of history, and many parallels to the OT have been found in ancient artifacts and documents. This chart lists many of these items with their original date and a description. The “Sources” column lists English translations of the texts of these artifacts; the abbreviations are listed under “Primary Sources,” above. The final column lists OT passages that parallel these sources in some manner. In some cases, the ancient source is similar to its OT parallels or provides cultural background; in other cases, the ancient source corroborates specific OT details.

Title	Date	Description	Sources	OT Parallels
Memphite Creation	2700 bc	Egyptian creation account	RANE 63–65; OTP 3–6	Gen 1–2
Famine Stela	2700 bc	Egyptian monumental texts with seven years of famine as a motif	COS 1.53	Gen 12, 41
Sumerian Proverbs	2600–2000 bc	Examples of Sumerian proverbs	COS 1.174–175	Proverbs, Ecclesiastes
Ebla Archives	2500 bc (about)	A huge cache of Sumerian texts that depict the pre-patriarchal world	OTP 240–243	Background of Genesis
Instructions of Ptah Hotep	2500 bc (about)	One of Egypt’s great wise men teaches his son how to succeed in life and vocation	OTP 283–288; RANE 182–184	Prov 2, 6, 23, 25–26; Ecclesiastes
Ra and the Serpent	2400 bc	Egyptian story that pictures the sun and a serpent in opposition	OTP 28–31	Gen 3
Gudea Cylinders	2000s bc	Sumerian instructions to build a temple	ANET 268–269	Exod 25–40; 2 Sam 7–8; 1 Kgs 6
Sargon Legend	2000s bc	An Akkadian legend: Sargon I rescued from a river in a basket	RANE 75–76; OTP 55–58	Exod 2
Dream Interpretation	2000 or 1300 bc	An Egyptian list of how to interpret a dream	COS 1.33	Gen 40–41
Lament over Ur	2000 bc (about)	A Sumerian laments the fall of the city of Ur and abandonment by the gods	RANE 222–225	Lamentations
Prophecies of Neferti	1990 bc (about)	Egyptian prophecies: Neferti “predicts” Pharaoh Amenemhet I (1991–1960 bc)	RANE 210–212; OTP 235–240	1 Kgs 13; Dan 2–6
Epic of Gilgamesh	1900 bc	Sumerian and Akkadian epic: the great flood, death, a “Noah” figure, and the search for eternal life	RANE 66–70; COS 1.132; OTP 11–20	Gen 6–9
Lipit-Ishtar Laws	1800s bc	Collection of Sumerian laws	RANE 106–109	Exod 19–24; Deut 12–26
Travels of Sinuhe	1800–1000 bc	An Egyptian narrative that includes descriptions of Canaan and Syria	RANE 76–82; COS 1.38	Gen 37–50
Code of Hammurabi	1750 bc (about)	Akkadian laws that parallel the laws of Moses	RANE 111–114	Exod 20–24; Lev 16–26; Deut 12–26
Sumerian King Lists	1700s bc	Lists of Sumerian kings, including long life spans before the flood	RANE 150–151; OTP 21–32	Gen 5; Deut 17:14–20; 1 Sam 8; 12
Mari Tablets	1700s bc	Akkadian correspondence between famous kings reflecting conditions during the patriarchal era; mention of “Habiru”	OTP 318–322	Genesis—Numbers
Atrahasis Epic	1700s bc	Sumerian creation and flood stories; “Noah” figure	RANE 21–31; COS 1.130	Gen 1–11
Hittite Laws	1650–1200 bc	Hittite legal texts arranged by topics; scapegoat laws and levirate laws	RANE 115–116; OTP 70–72	Exod 19–24; Deut 12–26; Lev 17–26
Emar Tablets	1550–1200 bc	Akkadian tablets containing important legal, ritual, and religious texts	RANE 127; COS 1.123–126; 2.137	Lev 8:30; 23:1–44; Num 28–29; Deut 16, 31–32

Title	Date	Description	Sources	OT Parallels
Amarna Letters and Tell el-Amarna Tablets	1550~1150 bc	Akkadian letters written by Canaanite kings seeking Egypt's help against invading enemies, including "Habiru"	RANE 166–168; OTP 77–80	Joshua (Israel's invasion might be reflected)
Egyptian Love Songs	1400~1000 bc	Egyptian dialogues and monologues using sensual language	RANE 192–193; OTP 297–301	Song of Songs
Nuzi Tablets	1400s bc	Hurrian texts describing various social, religious, legal, and political customs	RANE 72–74; COS 3.121	General OT background; references to Baal cult
Ras Shamra Tablets	1400s bc	Hundreds of tablets that illuminate pagan religion in Ugarit and perhaps in Canaan	COS 1.88, 104; OTP 263–274	Understanding of pagan religious practices; references to Baal cult
Hittite Treaties	1400–1200 bc	Hittite documents that illustrate covenantal forms	RANE 97–100	Exod 19–24; Deuteronomy; Josh 24
Rituals against Reptiles	1350 bc	Ugaritic prayers to render a serpent's venom powerless	COS 1.94	Num 21:4-9; Deut 32:33
Hymn to Aten	1300s bc	An Egyptian poem praising the sun	RANE 196–197	cp. Ps 104
Urim and Thummin	1300, 800s, 600s bc	Hittite, Akkadian, and Egyptian texts related to discovering the gods' will	COS 1.78, 127	Exod 28:30; Lev 8:8; Deut 33:8; Ezra 2:63; Neh 7:65
Tale of Two Brothers	1225 bc	An Egyptian tale: A man rejects his sister-in-law's advances	COS 1.40	Gen 39
Merneptah Stela	1209 bc	Pharaoh Merneptah's monument recording his campaigns; first mention of Israel outside of OT	RANE 160; OTP 81–84; COS 2.6	Joshua
Hittite Proverbs	1200s bc?	Various Hittite proverbs	COS 1.81–82	Proverbs; Jer 31:29
Kherem: A Thing Devoted	1200s bc	A Hittite text that records things "devoted" to a god for destruction	COS 1.72	Lev 27:28-29; Josh 6:17-19, 24; 1 Sam 15:2-3
Annals of Rameses III	1200 bc (about)	Egyptian annals describing battle(s) of Rameses III with the Sea Peoples, including the future Philistines	ANET 262–263; OTP 151–154	Judg 13:1–16:31; 1 Samuel
Neo-Assyrian Laws	1100s bc	Laws of the Neo-Assyrian Empire	RANE 114–115	Exod 19–24; Deut 12–26
Travels of Wenamun	1090 bc	An Egyptian semi-fictional travelogue that includes descriptions of Canaan	RANE 212–215; COS 1.41	Gen 34
Ludlul Bel Nemeqi	1000s bc	The sufferings of a noble Babylonian, somewhat reminiscent of Job	RANE 177–179; COS 1.153	Job
Enuma Elish	1000 bc (about)	Akkadian cosmology and creation	RANE 31–50	Gen 1–2
Babylonian Theodicy	1000~500 bc	A sufferer and a companion dialogue about life and suffering	RANE 179–182	Job, Ecclesiastes
Dialogue of Pessimism	1000~500 bc	A slave and his master discuss the lack of real value in anything	COS 1.155	Job, Ecclesiastes
Inscription of Shoshenq I	920 bc	An inscription by Egyptian pharaoh Shoshenq I (Shishak)	ANET 242–243	1 Kgs 11:40; 14:25-28
Assyrian Eponym Canon	910–612 bc	A list of selected officials for each year along with natural events that facilitate dating with the modern calendar	COS 2.1131	1–2 Kings; see "The Chronology of Israel's Monarchy," p. 562
Gezer Calendar	900 bc	Oldest example of Canaanite (old Hebrew); describes agricultural cycles	RANE 171
Annals of Shalmaneser III	850~824 bc	Royal annals describing Shalmaneser III's incursion into Syria–Palestine and mentioning Ahab and Hadadezer	OTP 176–181	1 Kgs 16–22; 2 Kgs 9:1–10:33
Tell Dan Inscription	850 bc (about)	An Aramaic inscription containing the first reference outside the OT to the "house of David"	RANE 165; COS 2.39; OTP 160–161	1 Samuel—2 Kings
Mesha Stela, Moabite Stone	850 bc	Moabite monuments that list Omri, Ahab, King Mesha, and possibly the house of David; concept of kherem	RANE 160–162; OTP 157–159	Deut 7:26; Josh 6:17, 40; 1 Kgs 11:44; 16:21-28; 2 Kgs 3:4; 25:30
Black Obelisk	827 bc	Akkadian monument that describes the successor of Shalmaneser III and mentions Jehu and Ahab	RANE 144–145; OTP 122–124	1 Kgs 19:16; 2 Kgs 8:7-15; 9:1-13; 10:31-36

Title	Date	Description	Sources	OT Parallels
Zakkur Inscription	800 bc	Zakkur, king of Hamath, honors his god, mentions Ben-hadad	RANE 163–165	1 Kgs 15; 19–20; 2 Kgs 6; 8; 13
Babylonian Chronicles	745–120 bc	Yearly records covering a period that included many biblical events, including 722, 605, 597, and 539 bc	RANE 155–159; COS 1.137	1 Kgs 2:10; 11:43; 2 Kgs 17–24; Jer 37:1; Dan 5:30; 6:28
Annals of Tiglath-Pileser IV (Pul)	744–727 bc	Annals of the king who founded the Neo-Assyrian empire; encounters with Israel	RANE 145; OTP 125–126	2 Kgs 15–16; 2 Chr 28:16–21; Isa 7:1–8:10
Annals of Sargon II	722–706 bc	Akkadian king Sargon II describes his conquest of Samaria and destruction of the northern kingdom of Israel	RANE 145–146; COS 2.118A; OTP 127–129	cp. 2 Kgs 17–18; Isa 10:27–32; 14:1–32; 20:1
Siloam Inscription	701 bc	Hebrew inscription describing the completion of Hezekiah's tunnel	RANE 171–172	2 Kgs 20:20; 2 Chr 32:30
Sennacherib Prism	701 bc	Akkadian inscription describing Sennacherib's invasion of Judah and siege of Jerusalem	RANE 146–147; OTP 139–140	2 Kgs 18–20; Isa 36:1–39:8
Balaam Inscription	700 bc	Inscription in Aramaic recording the name of Balaam, a “good prophet” who died as a result of his actions	RANE 225–226; COS 2.27; OTP 124–126	Num 22–24, 26
Wisdom of Ahiqar	700–650 bc	An Assyrian court tale and the instructions of a wise court official	RANE 189–191; OTP 283–288	Gen 37–50; Proverbs, Daniel, Esther
Yavneh Yam Ostrakon	600s bc	A short inscription in Hebrew: A fieldworker pleads for his cloak, which his supervisor had unjustly confiscated	RANE 170; COS 3.41; OTP 331–332	Exod 22:25–27; Deut 24:12–17; Prov 14:9; 25:20
Seal of Baruch	600 bc (about)	A clay impression found in Jerusalem with Baruch's name		Jer 36; see “Baruch the Scribe,” p. 1283
Instructions for Amenemope	600s–500s bc	Egyptian wisdom teaching: self-control, kindness, altruism, and the ideal man	RANE 187–189; COS 1.47	Prov 22–24
Babylonian Administrative Document	595–568 bc	Documents describe the good fortune of Judah's king Jehoiachin at the court of Babylonian king Evil-merodach	ANET 308	2 Kgs 25:27–30
Lachish Ostraca	589–586 bc	Clay tablets in Hebrew describing royal military administration and the plight of those under siege	RANE 168–169; OTP 134–136	1 Kgs 17:19; 19:7; Jer 26:20–22; 34:6–7
Nabonidus Chronicle	556–539 bc	Nabonidus's chronicle of his stay in Tema and the fall of Babylon	ANET 305–307; COS 1.89	Dan 5 (Belshazzar)
Seal of Temah	538–445 bc	A stone seal used by one of the Levitical families who went into exile	The Jerusalem Post , Jan 17, 2008	Neh 7:55
Cyrus Cylinder	518 bc	Cyrus recorded his conquest of Babylon in 539 bc and gave his theological explanation of the events	RANE 147–149; OTP 193–195	2 Chr 36:22–23; Ezra 1:1–4; 6:1–15; Isa 44:26–28; Dan 5:30; 6:28
Elephantine Papyri	400s bc	These Aramaic papyri describe life among Jews who fled to Egypt after the fall of Jerusalem	ANET 222, 491, 548–549	Jer 42–44
Murashu Tablets	400s bc	Akkadian tablets describing economic transactions between Babylonians and Jews who remained in Babylon	ATSHB 41	Ezra—Esther
Dead Sea Scrolls	300 bc (about)—AD 100	Some of the oldest copies of OT manuscripts and many extracanonical documents	Wise et al., The Dead Sea Scrolls

INTRODUCTION TO THE PENTATEUCH

*Yahweh! The LORD! The God of compassion and mercy!
I am slow to anger and filled with unfailing love and faithfulness.
I lavish unfailing love to a thousand generations. I forgive iniquity, rebellion, and sin.
But I do not excuse the guilty.*

EXODUS 34:6b-7a

The Pentateuch, the first five books of the Bible, tells the story of how sin entered God's perfect world and how God responded. It introduces Abraham and his descendants as agents of blessing in a world under the curse of sin and death. This collection, Israel's foundational documents, thus offers a sobering yet inspiring picture of God's relationship with humankind.

SETTING

To help them remain true to God, the Israelites who had left Egypt needed a written record of their own history and mission. The Pentateuch recounts the story of God's grace to Israel. God rescued the people of Israel from slavery in Egypt, called them to a special covenant relationship with himself, revealed his will to them, and took care of them as they traveled through the wilderness. Finally, they stood on the verge of entering the land of Canaan, which God had promised to their ancestors.

SUMMARY

The Pentateuch begins with the book of Genesis, which recounts God's grace in the beginnings of human history and in the lives of Israel's ancestors. God created humankind in his image and authorized humans to govern the world in his place (cp. Ps 8). When Adam and Eve rebelled against God, he did not destroy them immediately, but their sin put them and their descendants under the curse of death. Eventually God judged humanity, but mercifully spared righteous Noah and his family. While the curse of sin and death continued to hang over the human race, God called Abraham and his family and established an eternal covenant with them that included a series of generous promises: innumerable descendants, permanent title to the land of Canaan, rule over the land, and blessing to all the nations of the earth. Often, Abraham's descendants proved themselves faithless and unworthy of the privilege. But God kept his commitment to save and bless the human race.

As the book of Exodus opens, the favored family had been enslaved by the Egyptians, and seventy individuals had grown into the nation of Israel. Then God rescued the Israelites from Egypt (Exod 1–18) so that he could establish them as his covenant people, a holy nation (Exod 19:4–6). God's revelation of himself at Sinai (Exod 19–40) is the pivotal event in the Pentateuch.

In the book of Leviticus, God revealed to his people how to maintain a relationship with him, the means of forgiveness for their sin, and how they should live.

Numbers describes Israel's journey from Sinai to the plains of Moab. God accompanied and provided for his people on their journey, despite their repeated rebellion.

Finally, Deuteronomy records Moses' final pastoral addresses to the community of Israel. Moses detailed the significance of God's covenant and urged the Israelites to stay true to their Redeemer. If the people were to enjoy the blessings of the covenant, they needed to be faithful to God. So Moses challenged them to devote themselves anew to God and God alone as they prepared to cross the Jordan River to enter the Promised Land.

AUTHORSHIP

Jewish and Christian tradition recognize Moses as the author of the Pentateuch, and many scholars continue to believe that Moses wrote much of the Pentateuch and that the entire document bears his stamp and authority.

Yet this view is not universal. Critical scholars since the mid-1800s have argued that the Pentateuch was written no earlier than the 600s BC and is the product of a complex literary evolution. The prevailing critical view, the Documentary Hypothesis, is that Genesis–Deuteronomy were compiled from various sources by different groups of people. This hypothesis uses the different names for God, repeated stories, and theological emphases to propose that the Pentateuch comes from four sources: J ("Jahwist," from "Yahweh"), E ("Elohist," from "Elohim"), D ("Deuteronomist," from Deuteronomy), and P ("Priestly"). It is thought that these sources were written and collected between 850 BC and 445 BC, gradually being combined and edited until around Ezra's time (400s BC). This theory has prevailed in the scholarly world since Julius Wellhausen (1844–1918) made it popular.

However, advances in literary studies are again pointing back to Moses as the primary author of the Pentateuch. Critical scholars do not agree on the underlying sources for many passages, and additional sources have been invented to cover passages that do not fit the theory. The theory also fails to satisfactorily explain the emergence of Israel's monotheism in a totally polytheistic world. It assumes that the biblical writers borrowed most of their religious ideas from pagan predecessors. According to the biblical records, however, everything the Israelites borrowed from their neighbors was polytheistic and idolatrous. Israel's monotheism could not have been borrowed.

Archaeological discoveries have also called into question many of the criteria used in the Documentary Hypothesis. For instance, other writings from the ancient world confirm the use of different names for God, repeated stories, and ideas that were supposedly too advanced for ancient Israel, and the stories about the patriarchs fit their surrounding culture. These discoveries give background to the texts and contradict the assumptions of the Documentary Hypothesis. Archaeological finds continue to erode the rationale for dating the writing or editing of these books to later eras.

In recent years, with increased awareness of archaeology, critical scholars have begun to study the literary forms in the ancient Near East and in the Bible. Form criticism proposed that there was an oral tradition that lay behind the later written texts; by comparing these proposed oral forms, we could understand both the meaning and the function of the text. Other approaches have focused on tracing how the traditions developed, how the traditions were used in religious settings, or how the literary genres functioned.

Such theories often seem unnecessarily complicated and conjectural. Evidence in the Pentateuch itself suggests that Moses did keep records of some of Israel's experiences during the wilderness wanderings (Exod 17:14; 24:4, 7; 34:27; Num 33:1-2; Deut 31:9, 11). Many features in specific accounts point to a date of composition in the late Bronze Age (1500s–1200s BC, the era of the Exodus). The OT frequently credits Moses with writing the Pentateuch or portions of it (e.g., Josh 1:8; 8:31-32; 1 Kgs 2:3; 2 Kgs 14:6; Ezra 6:18; Neh 13:1; Dan 9:11-13; Mal 4:4), and the New Testament strongly connects the Torah with Moses (Matt 19:8; John 5:46-47; 7:19; Acts 3:22; Rom 10:5).

Do these facts confirm that Moses wrote the Pentateuch as we have it? Not necessarily. Several difficult factors remain. First, following the custom of literary works in the ancient Near East, the Pentateuch nowhere names its author. Second, Moses could not have recorded the account of his own death (Deut 34). Further, he would not have known of a place in northern Israel called Dan (Gen 14:14; cp. Josh 19:47; Judg 18:28-29), and he would not have referred to the conquest of Canaan as a past event (Deut 2:12). Thus, the text itself shows signs that it was updated for completeness (e.g., the death of Moses) or clarification for a later audience (e.g., Gen 14:14; 36:1; Deut 2:10-12). Some suggest that the reason the grammar and syntax of Deuteronomy resemble that of Jeremiah, who lived more than 500 years after Moses, is that later scribes updated the language. Such changes would be similar to updating translations of the Bible by replacing old expressions ("Behold") with contemporary ones ("Look").

We can conclude that Moses probably wrote down the speeches he delivered (Deut 31:9-13) and either wrote or arranged for the transcription of the revelation he received on Mount Sinai. It is plausible that he authorized others to write the stories and genealogies of the patriarchs that previously had been passed on orally. Just as the pieces of the Tabernacle were constructed and woven by skilled craftsmen and then finally assembled by Moses (Exod 35-40), so literary craftsmen might have composed bits and pieces that make up the Pentateuch and submitted them to Moses, who ultimately approved them. We can only speculate when these pieces were finally edited in their present form, although the narrative frame of Deuteronomy suggests it occurred sometime after the death of Moses. But by the time David organized Temple worship, the content of the Pentateuch as we know it was apparently fixed.

Genesis and the other books of the Pentateuch can thus be understood as the product of Moses' genius under God's inspiration, with later editorial adjustments. Later writers—including the New Testament authors—spoke of "the Torah of Moses," or "The Book of the Torah of Moses," or, as Jesus himself said, "Moses . . . wrote about me" (John 5:45-46). Moses might not have been the only author or editor of the Pentateuch, but the Pentateuch fundamentally and substantially comes from Moses, and the Israelites accepted it as bearing the full force of his authority.

HISTORICAL RELIABILITY

A number of critical scholars view the early chapters of Genesis as mythological representations of cosmic and human origins, like similar Babylonian accounts, rather than historical presentations of what actually happened. Recently, this same kind of skepticism has characterized views toward the patriarchs, as well as toward Moses and the Exodus. These scholars note that archaeological discoveries do not specifically identify any of the characters or the events in the Pentateuch. However, the issue is not quite so simple. When it comes to archaeological proof, the absence of evidence is not evidence of absence. Discoveries during the past century enable us to reconstruct patterns of life and an outline of ancient Near Eastern history in which the events described in the Pentateuch are quite at home.

LITERARY GENRES

We often call the first five books of the Bible the Pentateuch ("five containers"). The New Testament refers to these books as "the law of Moses" (Luke 24:44). This designation comes from the early Greek translators of the Old Testament, who almost always rendered the Hebrew term torah as nomos ("law"), even though the Hebrew word torah actually means "instruction."

It is misleading to refer to the Pentateuch as "the law," because large portions are not law at all. It is, however, fitting to call the whole collection torah ("instruction"). The Torah includes inspired narrative (Genesis; Exod 1–20; 32–40; Lev 8–10; Numbers); poems and hymns (Gen 49; Exod 15; Deut 32; 33); genealogies (Gen 5, 10, 11, 36); covenant documents (Exod 19–24; Deuteronomy); civil, ceremonial, and moral laws (Exod 21–23); sermons (Deuteronomy); and prayers (Exod 32; Num 14).

INTERPRETATION

Several principles guide us as we read and interpret the Pentateuch:

1. These texts were originally read aloud, and the reading involved large sections at a time. Chapter and verse divisions were not part of the original and can detract from our understanding. Each verse and paragraph should be read within its larger context.

2. The Pentateuch was written more than 3,000 years ago. It used ancient literary standards and addressed ancient issues. For example, although Genesis 1–2 affects how Christians today respond to theories of evolution, the passage was written to address ancient rather than modern concerns.

3. The differences among genres of text require that we interpret them differently. Therefore, as we read the narratives and delight in the human interest elements, we should recognize that God is the ultimate hero in all the stories. Similarly, as we read the laws of Exodus and Leviticus, we should try to establish the theological significance that these regulations had for OT Israel and reflect on how their message applies to us today.

4. The Pentateuch records only the beginning and the early chapters of the larger story of divine revelation that ultimately culminates in Jesus Christ. The seeds of promise for a Messiah are found in God's promise to crush the head of the serpent through the offspring of the woman (Gen 3:15); in the offspring of Abraham (Gen 22:17); in the descendants of Judah (Gen 49:10), who received eternal title to the scepter of Israel; and in the star that the pagan prophet Balaam saw on the distant horizon (Num 24:17). These seeds bore fruit later in the biblical record.

MEANING AND MESSAGE

The Pentateuch provided ancient Israel with an awesome picture of God, an image that separated him from the false gods of other nations. Yahweh, the God of Israel, is the only God—no other god exists (Deut 4:32–40). Yahweh, the God of Israel, is the Creator of the heavens and the earth. Yahweh, the God of Israel, is a God of grace; he deals patiently with sinners, saving them and calling them to covenant relationship with himself, revealing his name and his will to them, providing for their needs, and walking with them in fellowship and love.

In the account of creation, the Pentateuch reveals important lessons about the universe. God created the world by speaking it into being. He created a perfect world, characterized by light and life and order. But the devastating effects of sin replaced light with darkness, life with death, and peace and order with confusion and pain. Yet God promised ultimate victory, guaranteeing that the head of the serpent who introduced sin to humankind would be crushed.

The Pentateuch introduces us to God's covenant relationships with human beings. All of God's covenants are gracious. He invites his human partners into a special relationship and calls on them to respond with holy living because of the special role they play in his plan of redemption. By grace, God drew Noah into covenant relationship by saving him from the Flood. By grace, God called Abraham out of the pagan city of Ur in Babylonia to establish a covenant relationship. By grace, God called Israel to be his people, and at Mount Sinai God confirmed for the nation his covenant with Abraham.

Although the covenants all originated in God's gracious heart, they still called for an obedient response from the human partners. However, God never wanted this obedience to be driven by a mere sense of duty or quid pro quo. Instead, the text of the Pentateuch reveals a consistent pattern of conduct for the Lord's people to follow in loving obedience and grateful response to God's saving work. Because God chose Israel to be his people and bound himself to them in covenant relationship, he desired that they express their faithfulness to him.

Despite the unified message of Scripture that people have never been saved by keeping the law (see Gen 15:6; Deut 7:7–8; Pss 40; 51; Isa 1:10–20; Rom 4:1–17; Gal 3:6–7), many people erroneously think that people in the Old Testament were saved by keeping the law. However, grace has always preceded law. God rescued Israel from their slavery in Egypt before he gave them the law. While God required the Israelites to obey the law in order to receive blessing and to fulfill the plan God had for them, the motivation for their obedience should have been gratitude that God had saved Israel and revealed his will to them.

In short, the Pentateuch contains the Torah—the instruction—that God gave Israel at its founding. Priests were to teach it and model it (Deut 33:10; 2 Chr 15:3; 19:8; Mal 2:6, 9; cp. Ezra 7:10; Jer 18:18; Ezek 7:26). Psalmists praised it (e.g., Ps 19:7–14; 119), prophets appealed to it (Isa 1:10; 5:24; 8:20; 30:9; 51:7), faithful kings ruled by it (1 Kgs 2:2–4; 2 Kgs 14:6; 22:11; 23:25), righteous citizens lived by it (Ps 1), and unfaithful Israel was judged by it (Deut 28:15–68; 2 Chr 36:11–21). Only Jesus Christ kept it and completely fulfilled it (Matt 3:15).

FURTHER READING

VICTOR HAMILTON
Handbook on the Pentateuch (2005)

G. HERBERT LIVINGSTON
The Pentateuch in Its Cultural Environment (1974)

THE BOOK OF Genesis

Genesis is the book of beginnings—of the universe and of humanity, of sin and its catastrophic effects, and of God’s plan to restore blessing to the world through his chosen people. God began his plan when he called Abraham and made a covenant with him. Genesis traces God’s promised blessings from generation to generation, to the time of bondage and the need for redemption from Egypt. It lays the foundation for God’s subsequent revelation, and most other books of the Bible draw on its contents. Genesis is a source of instruction, comfort, and edification.

SETTING

When Genesis was written, the children of Israel had been slaves in Egypt for 400 years. They had recently been released from bondage and guided through the desert to meet the Lord at Mount Sinai, where he had established his covenant relationship with them and had given them his law through Moses. Israel was now poised to enter the Promised Land and receive the inheritance that God had promised Abraham.

While enslaved in Egypt, the Israelites had adopted many pagan ideas and customs from their Egyptian masters (e.g., Exod 32:1-4). They were influenced by false concepts of God, the world, and human nature (e.g., Exod 32), and were reduced to being slaves rather than owners and managers of the land. Perhaps they had forgotten the great promises that God had made to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, or perhaps they had concluded that the promises would never be fulfilled.

Before entering the Promised Land, the Israelites needed to understand the nature of God, his world, and their place in it more clearly. They needed to embrace their identity as descendants of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

Genesis provided the needed understanding.

◀ The Ancient Near East, about 2100 BC. Humanity spread out from the mountains of URARTU (ARARAT) and populated the early centers of civilization. By the time of the patriarchs (Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob), many of the cities were ancient.

ASSHUR 2:14; 10:22; 25:3; 25:18

ASSYRIA 10:11

BABYLON (BABEL), BABYLONIA 10:9-10; 11:1-9; 14:1, 9

CANAAN 9:18-27; 10:18-19; 12:5-10

DAMASCUS 14:15; 15:2

EGYPT 12:10-13:1; 15:18; 37:28-36; 39:1-50:26

ELAM 10:22; 14:1, 9

ERECH 10:10; Ezra 4:9

HAMATH 10:18; 2 Sam 8:9-10; 2 Kgs 14:28; 23:33

HARAN 11:26-32; 12:4-5; 27:43; 28:10; 29:4; Acts 7:2-4

SUSA Ezra 4:9; Neh 1:1; Esth 1:2; Dan 8:2

UR 11:28, 31; 15:7; Neh 9:7

URARTU (ARARAT) 8:4

SUMMARY

Genesis traces God's work to overcome with blessing the curse that came on humankind because of sin. The book arranges family traditions, genealogies, historical events, and editorial comments into a single, sustained argument.

Every section but the first has the heading, "This is the account" (or These are the generations; Hebrew toledoth); each of the toledoth sections explains

OUTLINE

1:1-2:3

Creation

2:4-4:26

What Happened to the Creation

5:1-6:8

The Account of Adam's Descendants

6:9-9:29

The Account of Noah's Family

10:1-11:9

The Account of Noah's Sons

11:10-26

The Account of Shem's Descendants

11:27-25:11

The Account of Terah's Descendants

25:12-18

The Account of Ishmael's Descendants

25:19-35:29

The Account of Isaac's Descendants

36:1-37:1

The Account of Esau's Descendants

37:2-50:26

The Account of Jacob's Descendants

the history of a line of descent. In each case, a deterioration of well-being is followed by an increasing focus on God's plan to bless the world. This plan is the basis for God's covenant with his people; as the blessing develops, the covenant is clarified. By the end of the book, the reader is ready for the fulfillment of the promises in Israel's redemption from bondage (see Exodus).

The first section (1:1-2:3) does not have the toledoth heading, and logically so—it is the account of creation "in the beginning" (1:1). The work of creation is wrapped in God's approval and blessing as he fulfills his plan.

The next section (2:4-4:26) focuses on the creation of human life (2:4-25) and traces what became of God's creation because of Adam's and Eve's sin (3:1-13), the curse on their sin (3:14-24), and the extension of sin to their descendants (4:1-24). Humanity no longer enjoyed God's rest; instead, they experienced guilt and fear. So they fled from God and developed a proud civilization.

Independence from God resulted in the downward drift of human life (5:1-6:8). The genealogy of 5:1-32 begins by recalling that human beings were made in God's image and were blessed by him (5:1-2). As the genealogy is traced, the death of each generation reminds the reader of the curse, with Enoch providing a ray of hope that the curse is not final. In 6:1-8, we learn that God regretted having made humans and decided to judge the earth. Noah, however, received God's favor and provided a source of hope (5:29; 6:8).

The next section (6:9-9:29) brings the curse of judgment through the flood followed by blessing in a new beginning. A renewed creation began, purged of the abominable evil that had invaded and ruined the human race.

The world's population expanded into various nations (10:1-11:9) whose people were bent on disobedience. The population of the earth by Shem,

TIMELINE

2166 / 1990 BC*
Abraham is born

2091 / 1915 BC
Abraham moves to Canaan

2080 / 1904 BC
Ishmael is born

2066 / 1890 BC
Sodom and Gomorrah are destroyed, Isaac is born

2006 / 1830 BC
Jacob and Esau are born

1898 / 1722 BC
Joseph is sold into slavery

1885 / 1709 BC
Joseph begins governing Egypt

1876 / 1661 BC
Jacob moves to Egypt

1446 / 1270 BC
Israel leaves Egypt (the Exodus), moves to Mount Sinai

1406 / 1230 BC
Israel enters Canaan

* The two dates harmonize with the traditional "early" chronology and a more recent "late" chronology of the Exodus. All dates are approximate. Please see "Chronology: Abraham to Joshua," p. 118.

Ham, and Japheth seemed fruitful (10:1-32), but the nations were divided by languages and boundaries (10:5, 20, 31). Because of their rebellion, God dispersed them to prevent greater wickedness (11:1-9).

After the chaos of the scattered nations, 11:10-26 brings the focus to Abram, through whom God chose to bring blessing to all. The rest of the book (11:27-50:26) tells of God's blessing Abram and his descendants. God first made a covenant with Abram (11:27-25:11), promising him a great nation, land, and name. As time went on, God made the specific terms of the covenant clearer, and Abram's faith grew deeper.

In each generation, Genesis gives a brief account of the families that are not Israel's ancestors before turning to the line of Israel. After briefly reporting what became of Ishmael (25:12-18), Genesis traces in detail what happened to Isaac and his family (25:19-35:29).

True to the pattern of the book, Esau's line (Edom) is dealt with briefly (36:1-37:1) before the chosen line of Jacob the heir. The final section (37:2-50:26) concerns Jacob's family, centering on the life of Joseph. In the land of Canaan, the family became corrupt under Canaanite influence to the point of beginning to merge with them (ch 38). To preserve the line of blessing, God sent the family into Egypt where they could flourish, remain separate (43:32; 46:34), and become a great nation. The book closes with the promise of the Lord's coming to rescue his people from Egypt (50:24-26).

"God rested on the seventh day from all his work that he had done. And he blessed the seventh day. . . ." And we ourselves will be a "seventh day" when we shall be filled with his blessing and remade by his sanctification. . . . Only when we are remade by God and perfected by a greater grace shall we have the eternal stillness of that rest in which we shall see that he is God.

St. Augustine
City of God, sec. 22.30

AUTHORSHIP

Both Scripture and tradition attribute the Pentateuch (Genesis—Deuteronomy) to Moses. No one was better qualified than Moses to have written this book. Since he was educated in all the wisdom of the Egyptians (Acts 7:22), he had the literary skills to collect and edit Israel's traditions and records and to compose this theological treatise. His unique communion with God gave him the spiritual illumination, understanding, and inspiration needed to guide him. He had good reason to write this work—to provide Israel with the theological and historical foundation for the Exodus and the covenant at Sinai, and to establish the new nation in accord with the promises made to their ancestors.

Most scholars, however, do not accept that Moses wrote Genesis. The prevailing critical view, called the Documentary Hypothesis, is that Genesis was compiled from various sources by different groups of people. In such approaches, there is seldom a word about divine revelation or inspiration. For those who understand the Bible as God's inspired word, such theories often seem unnecessarily complicated and conjectural. Genesis can be understood much more straightforwardly as the product of Moses' genius under God's inspiration with later editorial adjustments. (See further "Introduction to the Pentateuch: Authorship," p. 12).

COMPOSITION

Biblical scholars of all stripes have always acknowledged that various sources were used in writing Genesis and other historical texts in the Bible (such as Kings and Luke). Moses used collections of family records, oral traditions, ancient accounts of primeval events, and genealogies to write Genesis. Those sources could have been incorporated as received, or the author may have changed their style and wording, stitching them together with additional material for the particular purpose of tracing the foundations of Israelite faith.

Genesis also includes passages and expressions that are obviously later editorial glosses. Some sections (such as the list of Edomite kings, 36:31-43) could have been added during the early days of the monarchy. There is no conflict in saying that Genesis was authored by Moses and augmented by subsequent editors whose work was guided by the Holy Spirit. Given these considerations, conservative scholars find it plausible that the biblical material accurately records actual events.

LITERARY CHARACTER

Genesis includes various types of literature. Several suggestions have been made as to the nature of the materials.

Myth. Mythological literature explains the origins of things symbolically through the deeds of gods and supernatural creatures. For ancient peoples, myths were beliefs that explained life and reality. Whole systems of ritual activities were developed to ensure that the forces of fertility, life, and death would continue year by year. Some of these rituals gave rise to cult prostitution (see 38:15, 21-22).

It would be very difficult to classify the material in Genesis as myth. Israel had one God, not a multitude. The nation of Israel had a beginning, a history, and a future hope. They saw God, rather than gods and other supernatural creatures, as the primary actor in the world. Their worship was not cosmic, magical, or superstitious, but a reenactment of their own rescue from Egypt and a celebration of God's factual intervention in history and their hope in his promises.

If Genesis uses elements of mythological language, it is to display a deliberate contrast with pagan concepts and to show that the Lord God is sovereign over such ideas. For example, the ancients worshiped the sun as a god, but in Genesis the sun serves the Creator's wishes (1:14-18). The book of Genesis is a cemetery for lifeless myths and dead gods. Genesis is not myth.

Etiology. A number of scholars describe the Genesis narratives as etiologies, stories that explain the causes of factual reality or traditional beliefs. The implication is that such stories were made up for explanatory purposes and do not describe historical events. For example, if one says that the story of Cain and Abel was made up to explain why shepherds and farmers do not get along, the account loses its integrity as factual history.

Etiological elements certainly occur in Genesis, because the book gives the foundation and rationale for almost everything that Israel would later do. For example, the creation account of Gen 2 ends with the explanation, "This explains why a man leaves his father and mother. . . ." The event as it happened explains why marriage was conducted the way it was, but to say that a story explains something is quite different from saying that the story was fabricated to explain it. The stories of Genesis are not fictional tales invented to explain later customs and beliefs.

History. Many scholars object to regarding Genesis as history, for two basic reasons: (1) Genesis explains events as caused by God, and the inclusion of the supernatural is regarded as proof that the material is theological reflection and thus not historically reliable; and (2) the events in Genesis cannot be validated from outside sources; no other records have demonstrated that Abraham existed or that any of his family history occurred.

Genesis is not interested in parading Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob as examples of morality. Therefore, it does not moralize on them. [Genesis] is bringing together the promises of God to the patriarchs and the faithfulness of God in keeping those promises.

Victor P. Hamilton
The Book of Genesis:
 Chapters 1–17, p. 46

Modern philosophies of history exclude the supernatural as an explanation of historical events, but there is no reason to do so arbitrarily. If God exists and is able to act, then he might very well be the ultimate cause of all historical events and the immediate cause of specific historical events. The Israelites were not as distrustful of supernatural events as are modern critics; they experienced such events frequently as God acted among them to fulfill the promises recorded in Genesis.

It is true that no direct evidence of the patriarchs or the events in Genesis has been found, but archaeology confirms the plausibility of Genesis by showing that the historical situation in that era (Middle Bronze I, 2000–1800 BC) corresponds closely to what Genesis portrays. It is unlikely that this would be so if Genesis were not an accurate record of the facts. When all the archaeological and historical data are assembled around the events, they fit perfectly within the setting, and the details of the narratives make perfectly good sense.

Theological Interpretation. Genesis was not intended as a chronicle of the lives of the patriarchs, a history for history's sake, or a complete biography. It is clearly a theological interpretation of selected records of the nation's ancestors, but this does not destroy its historicity. Interpretations of an event can differ, but the offering of interpretations is a good witness to the actuality of the events. The author retold the events in his own way, but he did not invent them.

Tradition. What was thus committed to writing is tradition in the reverent care of literary genius. Scholars prefer words such as "traditions" or even "sagas" to describe these narratives. Doing so only makes the claim that the stories preserve the memory of the people of Israel; it makes no claim that the events themselves are historical. The biblical understanding, however, is that these stories were recorded under divine inspiration and are therefore historically true and reliable.

In all probability, Abram brought the primeval accounts and the family genealogies from Mesopotamia, and stories about the family were added to these collections. Joseph could easily have preserved all the traditions, both written and oral, in Egypt with his own records. Moses could then have compiled the works substantially in their present form while adding his editorial comments. Since he worked under God's inspiration and guidance, the narratives record exactly what God wanted written and correspond precisely to reality.

Instructional Literature. Since Genesis is the first book of the Pentateuch (the "Torah" or Law), it may be best to classify it as "Torah Literature" (Hebrew torah, "instruction, law"). Genesis is instructional literature that lays the foundation for the Law. It is theological interpretation of the historical traditions standing behind the covenant at Sinai. In the way it is written, one may discern that Moses was preparing his readers to receive God's law and the fulfillment of the promises made to their forefathers. Genesis is therefore a unique work. Theology, history, and tradition come together to instruct God's people and prepare them for blessing.

MEANING AND MESSAGE

Israel's most important questions were answered by the Genesis narratives. Life and death, the possession of the land of Canaan, and how Israel ended up in Egypt are explained as God's providential working in history. Israel was part of God's plan in this world. His plan had a starting point at creation and will have an end point in the future when the promises are completely fulfilled.

Israel, the Chosen People. The central theme of Genesis is that God made a covenant with Abraham and his descendants. He promised to make them his own people, heirs of the land of Canaan, and a blessing to the world. Genesis gave Israel the theological and historical basis for its existence as God's chosen people.

Israel could trace its ancestry to the patriarch Abraham and its destiny to God's promises (12:1-3; 15:1-21; 17:1-8). Because the promise of a great nation was crucial, much of Genesis is devoted to family concerns of the patriarchs and their wives, their sons and heirs, and their birthrights and blessings. The record shows how God preserved and protected the chosen line through the patriarchs. Israel thus knew that they had become the great nation promised to Abraham. Their future was certainly not in slavery to the Egyptians, but in Canaan, where they would live as a free nation and as the people of the living God, and where they could mediate God's blessings to the people of the world.

Blessing and Curse. The entire message of Genesis turns on the motifs of blessing and cursing. The promised blessing would give the patriarchs innumerable descendants and give the descendants the land of promise; the blessing would make them famous in the earth, enable them to flourish and prosper, and appoint them to bring others into the covenant blessings. The curse, meanwhile, would alienate, deprive, and disinherit people from the blessings. The effects of the curse are felt by the whole race as death and pain and as God's judgment on the world.

These motifs continue throughout the Bible. Prophets and priests spoke of even greater blessings in the future and an even greater curse for those who refuse God's gift of salvation and its blessings. The Bible reminds God's people not to fear human beings, but to fear God, who has the power to bless and to curse.

Good and Evil. In Genesis, that which is good is blessed by God: It produces, enhances, preserves, and harmonizes with life. That which is evil is cursed: It causes pain, diverts from what is good, and impedes or destroys life. Genesis traces the perpetual struggle between good and evil that characterizes our fallen human race. God will bring about the greater good, build the faith of his people, and ultimately triumph over all evil (cp. Rom 8:28).

God's Plan. Genesis begins with the presupposition that God exists and that he has revealed himself in word and deed to Israel's ancestors. It does not argue for the existence of God; it simply begins with God and shows how everything falls into place when the sovereign God works out his plan to establish Israel as the means of restoring blessing to the whole world.

God's Rule. Genesis is the fitting introduction to the founding of theocracy, the rule of God over all creation that was to be established through his chosen people. Genesis lays down the initial revelation of God's sovereignty. He is the Lord of the universe who will move heaven and earth to bring about his plan. He desires to bless people, but he will not tolerate rebellion and unbelief. His promises are great, and he is fully able to bring them to fruition. To participate in his plan has always required faith, for without faith it is impossible to please him (Heb 11:6).

FURTHER READING

VICTOR P. HAMILTON
The Book of Genesis (1990)

DEREK KIDNER
Genesis (1967)

KENNETH A. MATHEWS
Genesis (1996)

ALLEN P. ROSS
Creation and Blessing (1988)
Genesis in Cornerstone Biblical Commentary, vol. 1
(2008)

GORDON WENHAM
Genesis 1-15 (1987)
Genesis 16-50 (1994)

1. CREATION (1:1–2:3)

In the Beginning (1:1–2)

1 In the beginning God ^acreated the ^bheavens and the ^cearth. ²The earth was formless and empty, and darkness covered the deep waters. And the ^dSpirit of God was hovering over the surface of the waters.

Six Days of Creation (1:3–31)

Day One: Light, Darkness

³Then God said, “Let there be light,” and there was light. ⁴And God saw that the light was good. Then he separated the light from the darkness. ⁵God called the light “day” and the darkness “night.” And evening passed and morning came, marking the first day.

Day Two: Sky, Waters

⁶Then God said, “Let there be a space between the waters, to separate the waters of the heavens from the waters of the earth.” ⁷And that is what happened. God made this space to separate the waters of the earth from the waters of the heavens. ⁸God called the space “sky.” And evening passed and morning came, marking the second day.

Day Three: Land, Sea, Vegetation

⁹Then God said, “Let the waters beneath the sky flow together into one place, so dry ground may appear.” And that is what happened. ¹⁰God called the dry ground “land” and the waters “seas.”

1:1
Ps 89:11; 102:25
Isa 42:5; 48:13
John 1:1–2
• bara (1254)
• Gen 1:27
• shamayim (8064)
• Exod 16:4
• erets (10776)
• Gen 9:11
1:2
Isa 45:18
• ruakh (7307)
• Gen 45:27
1:3
Isa 45:7
2 Cor 4:6
1:6
Job 26:10
Ps 136:5–6
1:9
Ps 95:5
Prov 8:29
Jer 5:22
2 Pet 3:5

The Creation (1:1–2:3)

Ps 33:6–9
Prov 3:19; 8:22–31
Isa 40:26–28; 45:11–12, 18–19
Jer 10:11–16
John 1:1–4
Rom 8:18–25
2 Cor 5:17
Col 1:15–20
Rev 4:11; 21:1–5

The creation account in Genesis is foundational to the message of the entire Bible, not just of Genesis or the Pentateuch. Understanding the early chapters of Genesis is thus crucial to forming a biblical worldview.

This part of Genesis deals with fundamental questions: Who created the world, and for what purpose? Why is the world in its present condition? Genesis answers these questions, dispelling the idolatry that Israel had acquired from their pagan masters in Egypt. In the Promised Land, they would also be surrounded by people who believed in many false gods and worshiped created things rather than the Creator. Genesis taught Israel that the one true God created and has absolute authority over all things; he alone is worthy of worship.

Every worldview attempts to explain where the world came from, what is wrong with the world, and how it can be set right again. The creation account in Genesis teaches that as God made the world, it was “very good” (1:31). Through creation, God turned disorder into restful order and emptiness into the fullness of abundant life. In this environment, humans enjoyed unbroken fellowship with their Creator until their rebellion severed that fellowship and implanted evil in human hearts (ch 3; see chs 4–6). The world’s evil does not come from some defect in creation; God put the world under a curse because of human rebellion.

Since that first rebellion, humans have been alienated from the Creator and no longer recognize his presence and authority. This alienation results in shame, fractured relationships with God and other humans, estrangement from the rest of creation, and death (3:7–19). Since that time, God has been working purposefully in history to restore humans to fellowship with him, which he is doing through Jesus Christ. Restored humans are a new creation (Gal 6:15); through Jesus, eternal life is open to all and God will one day renew all things (see Isa 65:17–25; Rom 8:19–22). The whole cosmos will be made new (Rev 21:1).

1:1–2:3 These verses introduce the Pentateuch (Genesis–Deuteronomy) and teach Israel that the world was created, ordered, and populated by the one true God and not by the gods of surrounding nations. • God blessed three specific things: animal life (1:22–25), human life (1:27), and the Sabbath day (2:3). This trilogy of blessings highlights the Creator’s plan: Humankind was made in God’s image to enjoy sovereign dominion over the creatures of the earth and to participate in God’s Sabbath rest.

1:1 In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth (or In the beginning when God created the heavens and the earth, . . . or When God began to cre- ate the heavens and the earth, . . .): This statement summarizes the entire creation account (1:3–2:3). Already a key question—Who created the world?—is answered (see also Prov 8:22–31; John 1:1–3). Although the modern naturalistic mindset rejects this question and that of creation’s purpose, Genesis affirms God’s role and purpose in creation.

• The common name for God (Hebrew ’elohim) emphasizes his grand supremacy. The word ’elohim is plural, but the verbs used with it are usually singular, reflecting the consistent scriptural proclamation of a single, all-powerful God. • created (Hebrew bara): In the OT, God is always the agent of creation expressed by this verb. It describes the making of something fresh and new—notably the cosmos (1:1, 21; 2:3), humankind (1:27), the Israelite nation (Isa 43:1), and the future new creation (Isa 65:17). • The heavens and the earth are the entire ordered cosmos.

1:2 This verse gives the background for the summary in 1:1 and the detailed description in 1:3–2:3. God’s creative utterances bring order to the chaotic state of the universe. • formless . . . empty (Hebrew tohu . . . bohu): This terse idiom means something like “wild and waste.” It sets a stark contrast to the final ordered state of the heavens and the earth (1:1). • deep waters

1:10
Ps 33:7; 95:5

1:11
Gen 2:9
Ps 104:14
Matt 6:30

1:14
Ps 74:16; 104:19

1:15
Gen 1:5

1:16
Ps 8:3; 19:1-6;
136:8-9
1 Cor 15:41

1:18
Jer 33:20, 25

1:20
Gen 2:19
Ps 146:6
"nepesh" (5315)
Gen 2:7

1:21
Ps 104:25-28

And God saw that it was good. ¹¹Then God said, "Let the land sprout with vegetation—every sort of seed-bearing plant, and trees that grow seed-bearing fruit. These seeds will then produce the kinds of plants and trees from which they came." And that is what happened. ¹²The land produced vegetation—all sorts of seed-bearing plants, and trees with seed-bearing fruit. Their seeds produced plants and trees of the same kind. And God saw that it was good.

¹³And evening passed and morning came, marking the third day.

Day Four: Sun, Moon, Stars

¹⁴Then God said, "Let lights appear in the sky to separate the day from the night. Let them be signs to mark the seasons, days, and years. ¹⁵Let these lights in the sky shine down on the earth." And that is what happened. ¹⁶God made two great lights—the larger one to govern the day, and the smaller one to govern the night. He also made the stars. ¹⁷God set these lights in the sky to light the earth, ¹⁸to govern the day and night, and to separate the light from the darkness. And God saw that it was good.

¹⁹And evening passed and morning came, marking the fourth day.

Day Five: Birds, Fish

²⁰Then God said, "Let the waters swarm with fish and other life. Let the skies be filled with birds of every kind." ²¹So God created great sea creatures and every living thing that scurries and

Formless	CHAOS	Empty
DAY 1 (1:3-5) Light, Dark	HEAVENS	DAY 4 (1:14-19) Sun, Moon, Stars
DAY 2 (1:6-8) Water, Sky	WATER & SKY	DAY 5 (1:20-23) Birds, Fish
DAY 3 (1:9-13) Sea, Land	EARTH	DAY 6 (1:24-31) Animals, Humans
Formed	COSMOS	Filled
	DAY 7 (2:2-3) Rest

◀ The Structure of the Creation Account (1:1–2:3). God transformed chaos into the present cosmos. In the first three days, he transformed the formless void into the structured universe—the HEAVENS (outer space), the WATER and SKY, and the EARTH (cp. Exod 20:11; Ps 135:6). In the second three days, he populated each empty realm. The seventh day (2:1-3) stands apart: As God's day of rest, it provides the weekly pattern for human activity (Exod 20:8-11; 31:12-17) and speaks of the rest that God promised to those who live by faith in him (see Heb 3:7–4:11).

two collections of water (cp. Job 37:18; Ezek 1:22). In the ancient Near East, the cosmos was understood as a three-tier system, with rain originating from the outermost tier (see 7:11-12 and note).

1:9-10 Let the waters . . . flow together: Other ancient cultures viewed the sea as a hostile force. Genesis shows God as further restraining chaos (see note on 1:2) by prescribing specific boundaries for the sea. The flood—an act of God's judgment (6:7)—undid these boundaries and returned the earth to chaos (7:1-24).

1:14-31 On days 4–6, God filled the domains that had been formed during days 1–3 (1:3-13).

1:14 Let them . . . mark the seasons, days, and years: The movement of the heavenly bodies defined Israel's liturgical calendar, whose roots in creation gave a sacred timing to Israel's festivals and celebrations (see Exod 23:15; Lev 23:4).

1:16 In the surrounding pagan cultures, the two great lights were worshiped as deities, but in Genesis they serve God and humanity (see Ps 136:7-9; Jer 31:35). The sun and moon are not named; they are simply called the larger one and the smaller one. Not including their names may have reminded Israel that they were not gods. • govern: Cp. 1:26, 28; Ps 136:9. • the stars: The starry heavens testify to God's creative power as they proclaim his glory (Ps 19:1; 148:3). They do not predict the future, as Israel's neighbors believed (see Jer 10:2).

1:21 Contrary to the pagan idea that the great sea creatures were co-eternal with God, Genesis states that God created them and is sovereign over them. The Hebrew word tanninim ("creatures") elsewhere refers to crocodiles (Ezek 29:3), powerful monsters (Jer 51:34), or the sea creature, Leviathan (Isa 27:1; cp. Job 41:1-34).

(Hebrew tehom): Some scholars say this alludes to the Mesopotamian goddess Tiamat (representing chaos), but Genesis views tehom as inhospitable chaos, not as a deity or goddess that God engaged in cosmic battle. • the Spirit of God: God directly superintended the creation process.

1:3-13 In the first three days, God formed the chaos into a habitable world.

1:3 Then God said: Nothing in Gen 1 is created apart from God's powerful word (cp. Ps 33:6, 9). • "Let there be . . .," and there was: God's command enacted his will to create the world. God is not a part of creation or limited by it; he is the supreme ruler over everything (cp. Neh 9:6).

1:4 Light is antithetical to chaotic darkness (1:2); the light is declared good but the darkness is not (cp. John 1:5). God is the source of this light (cp. 1:14-19). God separated the light, as he did water

(cp. 1:6-8), by his creative word. Light is associated with life and blessing (Job 38:19-20; Ps 19:1-6; 97:11; 104:19-20; Isa 60:19-20) and sets a boundary on the darkness that would destroy cosmic order. Darkness often typifies terror, death, and evil (see 15:12; Job 18:6, 18; Ps 88:12; Eph 5:11-12; 1 Jn 1:5).

1:5 God called (or named): To name something is to exercise authority over it (see also 2:19-20). • day: The Hebrew yom can refer to daylight (1:5a), to a 24-hour period (1:5b), or to an unspecified time period (2:4b, "When," literally in the day; cp. Exod 20:8-11). • evening . . . morning: The Hebrew day began at sundown, just as the first day began with darkness and brought the first morning light.

1:6-8 The creation account describes the appearance of things from a human perspective. The sky is viewed as a shiny dome that is a buffer between swarms in the water, and every sort of bird—each producing offspring of the same kind. And God saw that it was good. ²²Then God blessed them, saying, “Be fruitful and multiply. Let the fish fill the seas, and let the birds multiply on the earth.”

²³And evening passed and morning came, marking the fifth day.

Day Six: Animals, Humankind

²⁴Then God said, “Let the earth produce every sort of animal, each producing offspring of the same kind—livestock, small animals that scurry along the ground, and wild animals.” And that is what happened. ²⁵God made all sorts of wild animals, livestock, and small animals, each able to produce offspring of the same kind. And God saw that it was good.

²⁶Then God said, “Let us make human beings in our image, to be like us. They will reign over the fish in the sea, the birds in the sky, the livestock, all the wild animals on the earth, and the small animals that scurry along the ground.”

²⁷ So God ^fcreated human beings in his own image.

In the image of God he ^fcreated them;
male and female he ^fcreated them.

²⁸Then God blessed them and said, “Be fruitful and multiply. Fill the earth and govern it. Reign over the fish in the sea, the birds in the sky, and all the animals that scurry along the ground.”
²⁹Then God said, “Look! I have given you every seed-bearing plant throughout the earth and all the fruit trees for your food. ³⁰And I have given every green plant as food for all the wild animals, the birds in the sky, and the small animals that scurry along the ground—everything that has life.” And that is what happened.

³¹Then God looked over all he had made, and he saw that it was very good! And evening passed and morning came, marking the sixth day.

Sabbath Rest (2:1-3)

2 So the creation of the heavens and the earth and everything in them was completed. ²On the seventh day God had finished his work of creation, so he rested from all his work. ³And God ^gblessed the seventh day and declared it holy, because it was the day when he rested from all his work of ^hcreation.

1:24
Gen 2:19
1:26
Gen 5:1; 9:6
Ps 8:6-8
Acts 17:28-29
1:27
*Matt 19:4
*Mark 10:6
*bara' (1254)
*Gen 2:3
1:29
Gen 9:3
Ps 104:13; 136:25
1:30
Ps 104:14; 145:15
1:31
Ps 104:24
2:1
Deut 4:19; 17:3
Ps 104:2
Isa 45:12
2:2
Exod 20:11; 31:17
*Heb 4:4
2:3
Isa 58:13
*barak (1288)
*Gen 12:2
*bara' (1254)
*Gen 6:7
2:4
Gen 1:3-31
Job 38:4-11

1:22 God blessed them: God's blessing commissions and enables the fulfillment of what God has spoken (see “Blessing” at 48:8-20, p. 113; see also 17:16; Deut 7:13). • Let the fish . . . let the birds: These directives define the blessing. The fish and birds are fertile by God's command, not by pagan ritual, as some of Israel's neighbors thought.

1:26 Let us make is more personal than the remote “Let there be” (e.g., 1:3, 6). • The plural us has inspired several explanations: (1) the Trinity; (2) the plural to denote majesty; (3) a plural to show deliberation with the self; and (4) God speaking with his heavenly court of angels. The concept of the Trinity—one true God who exists eternally in three distinct persons—was revealed at a later stage in redemptive history, making it unlikely that the human author intended that here. Hebrew scholars generally dismiss the plural of majesty view because the grammar does not clearly support it (the plural of majesty has not been demonstrated to be communicated purely through a plural verb). The plural of self-deliberation also lacks evidence; the only clear examples refer to Israel as a corporate unity (e.g., 2 Sam 24:14). God's speaking to the heavenly court, however, is well-attested in the OT (see 3:22; 11:7; 1 Kgs 22:19-22; Job 1:6-12; 2:1-6; 38:7; Ps 89:5-6; Isa 6:1-8; Dan 10:12-13). • human beings: Or man; Hebrew reads adam. • The descriptors in our image and like us are virtually synonymous in Hebrew. Humans enjoy a unique relationship with God. • They will reign: Humans represent the Creator as his ambassadors, vice-regents, and administrators on earth. • all the wild animals on the earth: As in Syriac version; Hebrew reads all the earth.

1:27 The first poetry of Genesis reflectively celebrates God's climactic feat in creating humankind. • human beings (Or the man; Hebrew reads ha-adam): This term is often used to denote humanity collectively (see 6:1, 5-7; 9:5-6). Though traditionally translated “man,” gender is not at issue here; both male and female are included.

1:28 said: God's message to humankind is direct and intimate; we are stewards of his delegated authority. • govern . . . Reign: As God's vice-regents, humans are entrusted with the care and management of the world God created (see also 9:2; Ps 8:5-8).

1:29-30 These verses highlight the extent (throughout the earth) and variety (every seed-bearing plant . . .

all the fruit trees) of God's provision for humans, animals, and birds.

1:31 The Creator declares his work good seven times in ch 1; following the creation of human beings, God declares it all very good.

2:1-3 Humankind is the high point of God's creative acts (1:26-31), while day 7 is the climax of the creation week. When God rested (or ceased), he endorsed all of creation—there was nothing more to do! This seven-day framework structured Israel's week, with the seventh day as the precedent for their weekly Sabbath. The Sabbath was intended to celebrate God's finished work; the seventh day would be set apart as holy and dedicated to the Creator, who also rested (see Exod 20:8-11; 31:12-17; cp. Matt 12:1-8; Rom 14:5-6; Col 2:16-17; Heb 4:1-11).

2:3 The first six days of creation involved separation (light from darkness, day from night, water from dry land). The last act of creation separated what is ordinary from what is holy, thus laying the foundation for Israel's worship. It also anticipated a coming age of rest (Heb 4:1-11; 12:2; 13:14). • The absence of the usual “morning and evening” reflects the Creator's willingness to enter into unending fellowship with humankind.

2:5
Gen 1:11
2:7
Gen 3:19
Job 33:4
Ps 103:14
Ezek 37:5
Zech 12:1
John 20:22
*1 Cor 15:45
†nepesh (5315)
* Deut 12:23

2. WHAT HAPPENED TO THE CREATION (2:4–4:26)

Superscription (2:4a)

⁴This is the account of the creation of the heavens and the earth.

Creation of Man and Woman (2:4b–25)

Creation of the Man

When the LORD God made the earth and the heavens, ⁵neither wild plants nor grains were growing on the earth. For the LORD God had not yet sent rain to water the earth, and there were no people to cultivate the soil. ⁶Instead, springs came up from the ground and watered all the land. ⁷Then the LORD God formed the man from the dust of the ground. He breathed the breath of life into the man's nostrils, and the man became a living ⁱperson.

Human Sexuality (1:27–28)

When God created the first human beings in his own image, he created them as sexual beings, male and female (1:27). Through their sexuality, they were to fill and govern the world (1:28) and provide intimate companionship for one another in marriage (2:18–25). Male and female sexuality is central to what it means to be human.

Sexual intimacy united the first man and woman as one being, an effect that sexual intimacy continues to have. Since biblical sexuality is not just physical but has the total person in view, it validates sexual relations only as part of the partners' mutual commitment to each other's ultimate good. The Bible speaks of engaging in sexual intercourse as literally "knowing" another person intimately (see note on 4:1). Since creation, the purpose of sexuality has been to join people in an intimate union of marriage—a permanent and loving heterosexual commitment—that God blesses and calls "very good" (1:27–28, 31). The sexual relationship cements the marriage bond in an intimacy that continues even when reproduction is no longer possible.

Although sexuality was created before sin, it did not emerge unscathed from human rebellion. Sexuality is a powerful force that is easily corrupted if not carefully channeled (see Lev 18; 1 Thes 4:3–8). Sexual intimacy apart from marital commitment perverts the order that God intended for creation. Incest, for example, violates sexual boundaries (see Lev 18:7–14), collapses family structures (see 19:30–38), and fragments the community. Whereas perverted sexuality tears the community down (see 38:1–30; 39:7–9; Judg 19:1–20:48) and exalts the individual (see 2 Sam 13:11–14), biblical sexuality builds up the sexual partners and the community.

Our sexual identity has been damaged through our fall into sin (ch 3), but God has redeemed it through the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ (see 1 Cor 6:12–20; Eph 5:31–33). He restores sexual wholeness in those who trust his work in their lives by the Holy Spirit (1 Cor 6:9–11, 15–20; 1 Thes 4:1–5). Those who commit their sexuality to Christ can testify to God's love for his people (Eph 5:25–33).

2:4–4:26 This account (see note on 2:4) of the heavens and the earth is not a second creation account; rather, it is a theological and historical expansion on 1:1–2:3. The locus is now on what the cosmos produced rather than on its creation. Special attention is given to the first man and woman. As the story progresses, it is colored by contrasts of good and evil, knowledge and ignorance, life and death, harmony and discord.

2:4 This is the account (literally These are the generations): This or a similar phrase is repeated throughout Genesis, creating an internal outline for the book. In other occurrences, it introduces the genealogy or story of a key personality (5:1; 6:9; 10:1; 11:10; 11:27; 25:12; 25:19; 36:1; 37:2). * Some have argued that the first half of 2:4 belongs with 1:1–2:3, but it is more likely the introduction to the account that follows.

* LORD God (Hebrew Yahweh Elohim) is the second name used for God in the early chapters of Genesis. Elohim (1:1–2:3) describes the all-powerful creator God. Yahweh Elohim speaks of the eternal God who formed a lasting covenant with Israel (Exod 3:6, 13–15). Accordingly, 2:4–25 focuses on God as provider more than as creator. The three themes of sexuality, dominion, and food in ch 1 are now addressed in reverse order (food, 2:8–17; dominion, 2:18–20; sexuality, 2:21–25).

2:5 cultivate: Work does not result from sin; it was part of the original structure of creation and is directly tied to human identity and purpose (1:28; 2:15).

2:6 springs (Or mist, as traditionally rendered): The word refers to subterranean springs that rose to the surface of the ground.

2:7 In 1:1–2:3, creation happens at a distance, by divine command ("Let there be . . . and that is what happened"). In this account, the creative act is much more intimate (see also 2:8–9, 21–22). * from the dust of the ground: In Hebrew, 'adamah ("ground") forms a wordplay with 'adam ("man"). The earth remains the definitive reference point for humans, who in death return to dust (3:17–19; 4:11; Job 4:19; 10:8–9; Isa 29:16). * breathed . . . into the man's nostrils: God's breath is not imparted to other animals; only humans are formed in God's image (1:27) and enjoy dialogue with their Creator (2:16–17; 3:8–13). They alone have spiritual awareness and moral conscience (see Job 32:8).

Creation of the Garden

⁸Then the LORD God planted a garden in Eden in the east, and there he placed the man he had made. ⁹The LORD God made all sorts of trees grow up from the ground—trees that were beautiful and that produced delicious fruit. In the middle of the garden he placed the tree of life and the tree of the knowledge of good and evil.

¹⁰A river flowed from the land of Eden, watering the garden and then dividing into four branches. ¹¹The first branch, called the Pishon, flowed around the entire land of Havilah, where gold is found. ¹²The gold of that land is exceptionally pure; aromatic resin and onyx stone are also found there. ¹³The second branch, called the Gihon, flowed around the entire land of Cush. ¹⁴The third branch, called the Tigris, flowed east of the land of Asshur. The fourth branch is called the Euphrates.

The First Command

¹⁵The LORD God placed the man in the Garden of Eden to tend and watch over it.

2:8
Gen 3:23; 13:10
Isa 51:3
Joel 2:3
2:9
Gen 3:22
Prov 3:18; 11:30
Rev 2:7; 22:2, 14
2:10
Rev 22:1, 17
2:14
Gen 15:18
Deut 1:7
Dan 10:4
2:15
Gen 2:8

Biblical Marriage (2:18-25)

Gen 24:65-67
Ps 45:8-15
Is 54:5
Hos 2:19-20
Mal 2:10-16
1 Cor 7:1-40
2 Cor 6:14-16
Eph 5:21-33
Heb 13:4
1 Pet 3:1-7

At the first wedding, God the Father gave the bride away to the groom and witnessed the couple's interaction in his sanctuary-garden (2:18-25). Married love is thus a binding covenant commitment before God. Breaching that covenant (e.g., through adultery) is a crime against persons and against God, who is a divine witness to and guarantor of the marriage covenant (see Mal 2:10-16; cp. Gen 39:6-9; Jer 3:1; 1 Cor 6:9-10; Heb 13:4). Although marriage is exclusive, it is not private. It is legally declared in public, with community recognition, witnesses, and accountability (see Lev 20:10-12; Deut 22:22; Jer 29:20-23).

Marriage is also a metaphor of the Lord's relationship with his people, first with Israel (see Exod 19:3-6; 20:2-6; 34:14; Isa 54:5; Ezek 16:1-63; Hos 2:19-20), and then with the church (see 2 Cor 11:2; Eph 5:21-33). A marriage points to something greater than itself—God's people (Christ's "bride") await the return of Christ (the "groom"). Married Christians are called to live in unity and dignity as they anticipate the wedding feast of the Lamb (Rev 19:6-9). Christ will live forever with his faithful people in glory (Rev 19:7; 21:2, 9).

2:8-14 Analogous to the sacred time marked out on the seventh day of creation (2:2-3), the sacred space of the garden in Eden was separate from the surrounding world. It functioned as a garden-temple or sanctuary because the Lord manifested his presence there in a special way.

2:8 Eden was the general location in which the garden was placed, not the garden itself. The term could mean "plain," "delight," or "fertility." The description that follows favors the idea of fertility. • in the east: The exact location of Eden is left to speculation, but it was east of Canaan, Israel's later home. • God placed the man in the garden for divine fellowship and physical blessing (see also 2:15 and note).

2:9 Beauty and bounty characterized humanity's original environment (cp. 13:10). • The tree of life represented God's presence and provision. The one who ate of it would have everlasting life (3:22), which made it a rich image for later Israelite and Christian reflection (Prov 3:18; 11:30; 13:12; Rev 2:7; 22:2, 14, 19). The candlestick in Israel's Tabernacle may have been a stylized representation of it (Exod 25:31-35). • Eating the fruit of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil enabled humanity's capacity for wisdom (3:6) and moral discernment (3:5, 22; cp.

Deut 1:39, "innocent"). Eating from it represented a human grasp for autonomy and wisdom that were God's alone (cp. Prov 30:1-4). Humans side-stepped God's revelation as the means of moral discernment, flaunting their independence rather than submitting to God's will (cp. Prov 1:7). Choosing human wisdom over God's instruction brings death and destruction (see Ps 19:7-9; Ezek 28:6, 15-17).

2:10-14 This detailed description portrays the eastern region around Eden as a mountain with rivers flowing out to the world. Eden's beauty and fertility enriched the whole earth.

2:10 The river that was watering the garden was a material blessing (bringing agricultural fertility) and a symbol of God's presence (cp. Ps 46:4; Ezek 47:1-12; Zech 14:8; Rev 22:1-2). • dividing into four branches (literally heads): The common understanding is that one river had its source in Eden, flowed down through the garden, and then split into the four rivers named.

2:11 The Pishon and the Gihon (2:13) cannot be identified with certainty. If the land of Havilah was in southeast Arabia or on the African coast, as some biblical data suggest (see 10:7; 25:18; 1 Sam 15:7), then the Pishon was possibly the Nile River. Josephus thought that Havilah and the Pishon were in India (Antiquities 1.1.3). Two other proposals suggest: (1) rivers in the mountains of eastern Turkey where the Tigris and Euphrates (2:14) also flow, and (2) the marshy delta near the Persian Gulf. Current geographical conditions make any theory impossible to prove conclusively.

2:12 The magnificence and fertility of the garden are pictured as spreading to the surrounding regions through the rivers flowing out from it. The four rivers possibly imply that the garden's bounty flowed out to the four corners of the earth. • Gold and onyx were later used for decorating the Tabernacle, the Temple (Exod 25:3-9; 1 Chr 29:2), and the priests' clothing (Exod 28:9-14, 20). • Resin was used in sacred incense (Exod 30:34).

2:13 Gihon: Though unknown, proposals have included the Nile (as in the Greek version of Jer 2:18; Josephus, Antiquities 1.1.3), the Jordan, or, according to Jewish tradition, a river that formerly ran through the Kidron Valley (1 Kgs 1:33; 2 Chr 33:14). • Although Cush is the name of ancient Ethiopia, Mesopotamian regions associated with Babylon seem to be the immediate setting (see 10:8); Cush is possibly the land of the Kassites, a dynasty ruling in Babylonia.

2:14 Tigris . . . Euphrates: These well-known rivers flow from the mountains of eastern Turkey.

2:16
Gen 3:1-3
2:17
Gen 3:1, 16-17
Deut 30:15, 19-20
Rom 6:23
Jas 1:15
2:18
Gen 3:12
Prov 18:22
2:19
Gen 1:20-25
2:22
1 Cor 11:8-9
1 Tim 2:13
2:23
Gen 29:14
Eph 5:28-30
2:24
*Matt 19:5
*1 Cor 6:16
Eph 5:31
2:25
Gen 3:7, 10-11

¹⁶But the LORD God warned him, "You may freely eat the fruit of every tree in the garden—¹⁷except the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. If you eat its fruit, you are sure to die."

Creation of the Woman

¹⁸Then the LORD God said, "It is not good for the man to be alone. I will make a helper who is just right for him." ¹⁹So the LORD God formed from the ground all the wild animals and all the birds of the sky. He brought them to the man to see what he would call them, and the man chose a name for each one. ²⁰He gave names to all the livestock, all the birds of the sky, and all the wild animals. But still there was no helper just right for him.

²¹So the LORD God caused the man to fall into a deep sleep. While the man slept, the LORD God took out one of the man's ribs and closed up the opening. ²²Then the LORD God made a woman from the rib, and he brought her to the man.

²³"At last!" the man exclaimed.

"This one is bone from my bone, and flesh from my flesh!
She will be called 'woman,' because she was taken from 'man.'"

²⁴This explains why a man leaves his father and mother and is joined to his wife, and the two are united into one.

²⁵Now the man and his wife were both naked, but they felt no shame.

◀ The Location of Eden (2:8-14). Eden might have been located in the mountains of Ararat or near the Persian Gulf (see notes on 2:8-14). Possibilities for the four rivers (2:10-14) exist in either location (see note on 2:11). Eden represented God's presence on earth that was withdrawn at the Fall and re-inaugurated at Sinai (see Exod 3:1-6; 24:9-18; 40:34-38).

distinctions (cp. 29:14). • Adam declares that "She will be called 'woman' (Hebrew 'ishah) because she was taken from 'man' (Hebrew 'ish)." He understood the nature of their connection (see Eph 5:28-29). Adam had earlier assessed the animals without finding the characteristics he needed in a partner. How different this evaluation is!

2:24 Marriage between a man and a woman is not just a human social construct but is rooted in the created order. • a man leaves . . . and is joined: Marriage entails a shift of loyalty from parents to spouse. • the two are united into one: Marriage and its commitments make it the most fundamental covenant relationship observed among humans. Marriage is a powerful image of Israel's covenant with God (Hos 2:14-23) and of Christ's relationship to the church (Eph 5:22-32). Marriage is designed as an inseparable, exclusive relationship between a man and a woman. The family unit it creates is the basic building block of human society.

2:25 both naked: Prior to the Fall (ch 3), nakedness reflected innocence and trust. After the Fall, it denoted vulnerability and shame (see 9:22-23; Lev 18:1-23; Isa 47:3). Shame is more than embarrassment; it connotes exploitation and humiliation (see Deut 28:48; Isa 58:7; Jas 2:15-16).

2:15 to tend and watch over: The garden required maintenance and oversight. Tending the Garden was humanity's dignifying work. These roles in God's garden-sanctuary were later applied to God's Tabernacle (see Lev 8:35; Num 3:5-10; 4:46-49).

2:17 except (literally but you must not eat): This prohibition is given in the same legal format as Israel's Ten Commandments (see Exod 20:1-17; Deut 5:6-21). The Lord built law and obedience into the fabric of his covenant relationship with humanity. • the knowledge of good and evil: See note on 2:9. • you are sure to die: The consequences of disobedience would be immediate spiritual death (loss of relationship with God) and eventual physical death (see 3:22-23; Eccl 12:6-7).

2:18-23 As human creation was the climax of ch 1, so human intimacy is the high point of ch 2. God's concern for mutual human support and companionship finds no parallel in ancient Near Eastern literature.

2:18 It is not good: This is God's first negative assessment of an otherwise excellent creation (1:31). The LORD God is portrayed as a father who obtains a bride for his son (cp. 24:1-67). • The answer to the man's need is a helper who is just right for him; she is his perfect complement, made in the same image of God (1:26-27), given the same commission (1:28; 2:15), and obligated by the same prohibition (2:17). The man cannot fulfill his created purpose alone.

2:19-20 to see what he would call them: Following God's example (1:5, 8, 10), the man chose a name for each of the creatures. In so doing, he was exercising his reign over creation (1:26, 28).

2:19 the man: Or Adam, and so throughout the chapter.

2:21 took out one of the man's ribs (or took a part of the man's side): Cp. 2:23; Eph 5:28.

2:23 Adam recognized the woman as a "helper just right for him" (2:20). His celebration of her in poetry and song observed his unity with her, not their

The Ruin of God's Creation (3:1-24)

Temptation to Sin

3 The serpent was the shrewdest of all the wild animals the LORD God had made. One day he asked the woman, "Did God really say you must not eat the fruit from any of the trees in the garden?"

²"Of course we may eat fruit from the trees in the garden," the woman replied. ³"It's only the fruit from the tree in the middle of the garden that we are not allowed to eat. God said, 'You must not eat it or even touch it; if you do, you will die.'"

⁴"You won't die!" the serpent replied to the woman. ⁵"God knows that your eyes will be opened as soon as you eat it, and you will be like God, knowing both good and evil."

Man and Woman Rebel against the Creator

⁶The woman was convinced. She saw that the tree was beautiful and its fruit looked delicious, and she wanted the wisdom it would give her. So she took some of the fruit and ate it. Then she gave some to her husband, who was with her, and he ate it, too. ⁷At that moment their eyes were opened, and they suddenly felt shame at their nakedness. So they sewed fig leaves together to cover themselves.

God Interrogates the Man and Woman

⁸When the cool evening breezes were blowing, the man and his wife heard the LORD God walking about in the garden. So they hid from the LORD God among the trees.

⁹Then the LORD God called to the man, "Where are you?"

¹⁰He replied, "I heard you walking in the garden, so I hid. I was afraid because I was naked."

¹¹"Who told you that you were naked?" the LORD God asked. "Have you eaten from the tree whose fruit I commanded you not to eat?"

¹²The man replied, "It was the woman you gave me who gave me the fruit, and I ate it."

¹³Then the LORD God asked the woman, "What have you done?"

3:1
2 Cor 11:3
Rev 12:9; 20:2

3:2
Gen 2:16

3:3
Gen 2:17
Exod 19:12

3:4
John 8:44
2 Cor 11:3

3:5
Gen 2:17; 3:22
Isa 14:14
Ezek 28:2

3:6
2 Cor 11:3
1 Tim 2:14
Jas 1:14-15
1 Jn 2:16

3:8
Lev 26:12
Deut 23:14
Job 31:33

3:9
Gen 4:9; 18:9

3:10
Deut 5:5

3:12
Prov 28:13

3:13
2 Cor 11:3
1 Tim 2:14

3:1-24 The rebellion of the man and the woman shattered their unity and harmony with earth, animals, each other, and God.

3:1 Genesis describes the deceiver as a serpent, one of the animals God created (see also 3:14 and note). He is later identified as Satan, the great enemy of God's people (Rev 12:9; 20:2). His manipulative language and his disguise as a serpent, the shrewdest of all creatures, show him as a master deceiver. Satan has various methods for opposing God's people (see 1 Chr 21:1; Zech 3:1-2); deception remains among his key strategies (cp. 2 Cor 11:3, 14). The Hebrew term for shrewd (arum) can be positive ("prudent," Prov 14:8) or negative ("cunning," as here; Job 5:12). It forms a wordplay with "naked" ('arummim) in 2:25. Adam and Eve were naked and vulnerable; the serpent was shrewd and cunning. • Probably the serpent asked the woman because the prohibition was given to Adam prior to Eve's creation (see 2:16-17). Adam was probably aware of the serpent's cunning, having assessed and named all the animals before Eve was created (2:19-20, 23). • Did God really say? The deceiver began by twisting God's language to cast doubt on God's goodness. God's original prohibition applied to only one tree (2:16-17), not to all (any) of them.

3:2-3 The woman attempted to set the record straight; in the process, she belittled the privileges God had given her and her husband in several ways: (1) She reduced God's "freely eat" (2:16) to may eat; (2) she downplayed God's emphasis on the availability of fruit from every tree but one (2:17); (3) she added not touching to God's prohibition against eating (2:17); and (4) she softened the certainty of death (2:17).

3:4-5 You won't die! This is the exact negation of God's clear and emphatic words: "you are sure to die" (2:17). The serpent capitalizes on the woman's uncertainty by baldly denying the penalty and quickly diverting her attention to the supposed prize—to be like God, knowing both good and evil. The deceiver falsely implies that this would be an unqualified good for them. The term rendered God is Elohim; it can also mean "divine beings" (i.e., God and the angels; e.g., Ps 29:1; 89:7).

3:6 She saw . . . she wanted: The woman made two grave errors. (1) She assumed the right to decide what was and was not good, though God alone has this right; and (2) she coveted God's wisdom (see Deut 5:21). • her husband . . . with her: Although Scripture is clear about the woman's central role in the Fall (cp. 1 Tim 2:14), the man was clearly present and culpable as well. He comes to center stage in the verses that follow and in biblical theology. The consequence of his sin for the entire human race was immense. The Good News is that in Jesus Christ, the "second Adam," God has made salvation universally available (Rom 5:12-21).

3:7 Shame is opposite to the naked innocence Adam and Eve enjoyed prior to their rebellion (2:25). Their relationship with one another and with God was fractured. • sewed fig leaves together: These covered their physical bodies, but not their shame. They could not mend their broken relationships (see also 3:21 and note).

3:8 When the cool evening breezes were blowing: The Hebrew has traditionally been interpreted as referring to the cool part of the day, most likely the evening. Others think that the language refers to a powerful manifestation of God's presence (a theophany; see Exod 19:16-25; 1 Sam 7:10) as a storm. If this view is correct, the man and the woman were hiding from the sound of the Lord appearing in judgment (see 2 Sam 5:24; Ps 29). • the man: Or Adam, and so throughout the chapter. • God put trees in the garden as an environment for humanity to enjoy fellowship with God. Now the man and woman used them to evade the divine presence.

3:9-10 Where are you? The true intent of this rhetorical question is revealed in the man's answer (3:10). The real question was, why are you hiding? (cp. 4:9-10). • I was afraid because I was naked: Modesty was not the issue. The shame brought on by rebellion drove Adam and his wife to hide. Possibly they also feared punishment (see note on 3:8).

3:12 It was the woman you gave me: Rather than confessing, the man became evasive. He blamed the woman for giving him the fruit and God for giving him the woman.

3:13 What have you done? is another rhetorical question that is really an exclamation of horror (cp. 4:10). • The serpent deceived me: As the man implicated the woman (3:12), the woman accused the serpent. The serpent did play

3:14
Deut 28:15
Isa 65:25

3:15
John 8:44
Rom 16:20
Heb 2:14
izera' (2233)
• Gen 12:7

3:16
1 Cor 11:3
Eph 5:22
1 Tim 2:15

3:17
Job 5:7
Eccl 1:3
Rom 8:20-22

"The serpent deceived me," she replied.
"That's why I ate it."

God Indicts and Convicts

¹⁴Then the LORD God said to the serpent,

"Because you have done this, you are cursed more than all animals, domestic and wild.

You will crawl on your belly, groveling in the dust as long as you live.

¹⁵And I will cause hostility between you and the woman, and between your offspring and her offspring.

He will strike your head, and you will strike his heel."

¹⁶Then he said to the woman,

"I will sharpen the pain of your pregnancy,
and in pain you will give birth.
And you will desire to control your husband, but he will rule over you."

¹⁷And to the man he said,

Adam (2:4–3:24)

Gen 1:26-31;
4:25–5:5
Hos 6:6-7
Luke 3:38
Rom 5:12-21
1 Cor 15:22, 45-49
1 Tim 2:13-14

Adam was the first man, the father of the human race. God created the first couple in his image to populate the earth and rule the created order (1:26-31). God made Adam from earth and breathed life into him (2:7); he was to cultivate the garden (2:15), name the animals (2:19-20), and follow God's instructions (1:28; 2:16-17). God created the woman as a companion and helper for Adam (2:18-22). Eve's creation from Adam's rib portrays the unity that God intended for man and woman in marriage (2:23-25).

After the serpent deceived Eve into rejecting God's rule, Adam also rebelled (3:1-6). Their willful disobedience disrupted their relationship (3:7) and separated them from God. God looked for Adam after his rebellion; he was hiding among the trees, already aware of his alienation (3:8). When God questioned him, Adam blamed Eve and, by implication, God (3:12). Adam's rebellion brought hardship in governing the earth as well as physical and spiritual death (3:17-19, 22). God provided animal skins to cover Adam and Eve (3:21), and promised that Eve's offspring would defeat Satan (3:15; see Rom 16:20; Rev 12:1-9; 20:1-10).

Adam was a historical individual (4:25; 5:1-5; 1 Chr 1:1; Hos 6:7; Luke 3:38; Rom 5:14; 1 Cor 15:22, 45; 1 Tim 2:13-14; Jude 1:14) who represents humanity as a whole. God's mandates (1:26-30) and curses (3:16-19) affected not only Adam and Eve, but the entire human race. Adam represents the separation from God that all humanity experiences.

The apostle Paul contrasted those represented by Adam, the first man, with those who follow Christ, the "last Adam" (1 Cor 15:45-50; see Rom 5:12-21; 8:5-11, 20-22). Those represented by Adam live only in him; they partake of his sin, his alienation from God and creation, and his spiritual death. Those who follow Christ live by faith in him. They are recreated in Christ's image and become "new people" who partake of a new creation (see Rom 8:29; 1 Cor 15:49; 2 Cor 5:17). The barriers Adam raised are removed by Christ (Rom 5:1; 2 Cor 5:19; Gal 3:27-28; 6:15; Eph 2:14-16); Christ restores what Adam lost.

a role and would be punished (3:14), but that did not release the woman or the man from their guilt.

3:14-19 The parties were judged in the order of their transgression—serpent, woman, man. Each received a punishment unique to his or her situation, and each had a key relationship altered. God is principled in judgment, not fickle; each punishment is proportionate to the offense.

3:14 to the serpent: Though later revelation identifies the deceiver as Satan, it is the created animal who was cursed, like the ground (3:17). • Groveling in the dust is a posture of humiliation and defeat (Ps 72:9; Mic 7:17).

3:15 hostility: The prophet Isaiah envisions the day when the Messiah's kingdom will restore all of creation to a harmonious state like the Garden of Eden before humans sinned (see Isa 11:8). • her offspring (literally her seed): This collective noun can refer to a single descendant or many. The ancient Near Eastern concept of corporate solidarity (e.g., "you and your descendants," 28:14) is also behind this description of the ongoing hostility that would exist between humans and snakes. The pattern is set using singular terms (He . . . you). Christian interpreters have traditionally understood this verse as a prophecy of Christ, the seed of Abraham and the culmination of the woman's seed (Gal 3:16; 4:4). • strike (Or bruise, in both occurrences): The striking of his heel is a reference to the suffering of God's servant (see Isa 53), while striking the serpent's head—a more definitive blow—is ultimately fulfilled in Christ's death, resurrection, and final victory over Satan (1 Cor 15:55-57; Rev 12:7-9; 20:7-10).

3:16 Judgment falls on the woman's unique role of childbearing and on her relationship with her husband. • And you will desire to control your husband, but he will rule over you (Or And though you will have desire for your husband, / he will rule over you): The marriage relationship now included an element of antagonism rather than just security and fulfillment. New life in Christ allows for the restoration of a man and a woman's marriage relationship (Eph 5:18-32; cp. Matt 20:25-28).

3:17-19 God highlighted his original

"Since you listened to your wife and ate from the tree whose fruit I commanded you not to eat, the ground is cursed because of you. All your life you will struggle to scratch a living from it.

¹⁸ It will grow thorns and thistles for you, though you will eat of its grains.

¹⁹ By the sweat of your brow will you have food to eat until you return to the ground from which you were made. For you were made from dust, and to dust you will return."

Expulsion and Hope

²⁰ Then the man—Adam—named his wife Eve, because she would be the mother of all who live. ²¹ And the LORD God made clothing from animal skins for Adam and his wife.

²² Then the LORD God said, "Look, the human beings have become like us, knowing both good and evil. What if they reach out, take fruit from the tree of life, and eat it? Then they will live ^kforever!" ²³ So the LORD God banished them from the Garden of Eden, and he sent Adam out to cultivate the ground from which he had been made. ²⁴ After sending them out, the LORD God stationed mighty ^acherubim to the east of the Garden of Eden. And he placed a flaming sword that flashed back and forth to guard the way to the tree of life.

Results of Rebellion (4:1-24) Cain and Abel

4 Now Adam had sexual relations with his wife, Eve, and she became pregnant. When she gave birth to Cain, she said, "With the LORD's help, I have produced a man!" ² Later she gave birth to his brother and named him Abel.

When they grew up, Abel became a shepherd, while Cain cultivated the ground. ³ When it was time for the harvest, Cain presented some of his crops as a gift to the LORD. ⁴ Abel also brought a gift—the best portions of the firstborn lambs from his flock. The LORD accepted Abel and his gift, ⁵ but he did not accept Cain and his gift. This made Cain very angry, and he looked dejected.

⁶ "Why are you so angry?" the LORD asked Cain. "Why do you look so dejected? ⁷ You will be accepted if you do what is right. But if you refuse to do what is right, then watch out! Sin is crouching at the door, eager to

3:18
Job 31:40
Heb 6:8

3:19
Gen 2:7
Ps 90:3; 104:29
Eccl 12:7
1 Cor 15:47

3:20
2 Cor 11:3
1 Tim 2:13

3:21
2 Cor 5:2-3

3:22
Gen 1:26
k'olam (5769)
• Gen 9:16

3:24
Ezek 10:1
Rev 2:7; 22:2, 14
• k'erub (3742)
• Exod 25:18

4:2
Luke 11:50-51

4:3
Lev 2:1-2
Num 18:12

4:4
Exod 13:12
Heb 11:4

4:6
Jon 4:4

4:7
Rom 6:12, 16
Jas 1:15

command not to eat the fruit by speaking of eating several times in 3:17-19. The judgment affected humanity's ability to get food, and it was proportionate to their offense of eating what had been prohibited. • the ground is cursed: The relationship of the man to the ground (see note on 2:7) was now antagonistic as judgment fell on his primary role (2:5, 15). He must labor and toil to work the ground, but with diminished productivity. Human sin has broad effects on creation (see 4:12; 6:7; Lev 26; Deut 11:13-17, 28; Rom 8:22).

3:20-24 Soon after they were judged for their sin, Adam and Eve were banished from the garden.

3:20 Eve (Hebrew khawah) sounds like a Hebrew term (khayah) that means "to give life." Following God's pronouncement of Adam's impending death (3:19), Adam expressed hope by giving Eve a name associated with life. Adam's naming of Eve in such close proximity to 3:16 may suggest that the narrator views it as Adam's first act of ruling over the woman after the Fall (see note on 2:19-20).

3:21 God mercifully provided more substantial clothing for Adam and Eve (cp. 3:7) before expelling them into the harsh environment outside the garden.

3:22 human beings: Or the man; Hebrew reads ha-adam. • like us: The plural probably reflects God's conversation with his angelic court (see note on 1:26). • the tree of life . . . live forever! Mercifully, God prevented humankind from eating of the tree of life and having to live forever in a fallen state. Through Jesus Christ, however, eternal life is once again made available (see Rev 2:7; 22:2, 14, 19).

3:23 So the LORD God banished them from the Garden of Eden: Before the Fall, the garden was a sanctuary in which humans could move freely in God's holy presence. Now their sin required expulsion from that environment. This same principle was behind the laws that restricted an Israelite's access to God's presence in the Tabernacle or Temple (e.g., Lev 16:1-2; Num 5:3).

3:24 Cherubim are a class of angelic beings that guard access to God's presence (Exod 26:31; Ezek 28:14). • east . . . of Eden: In Genesis, movement eastward often implies leaving the presence or blessing of God, whether in judgment (see also 4:16), self-aggrandizement (11:2; 13:11), or estrangement (25:6).

4:1 Adam: Or the man; also in 4:25. • had sexual relations (literally knew): In certain contexts, the Hebrew term meaning "to know" is an idiom for sexual knowledge of another person (4:17; 19:33, 35). It is never used of animals, which mate by instinct. • With the LORD's help: Eve fulfilled her God-given role of procreation despite the negative effects of the Fall (see 3:16, 20). • I have produced: Or I have acquired. Cain (Hebrew qayin) sounds like a Hebrew term (qanah) that can mean "produce" or "acquire."

4:2 his brother . . . Abel: The name (Hebrew habel) means "breath," "vapor," or "meaningless," anticipating his tragically brief life (cp. Eccl 1:2).

4:3 There was nothing wrong with offering grain to the Lord (Lev 2:14; Deut 26:2-4), but Cain brought only a token gift (some of his crops), whereas God requires the first and best (Exod 23:16, 19; 34:22, 26). Cain's heart attitude made his offering inferior to Abel's (cp. Heb 11:4).

4:4-5 the best portions of the firstborn lambs: Or the firstborn of his flock and their fat portions. Abel was giving God the best animals and the richest parts. Abel's offering, in contrast to Cain's, was the best he had to offer. True worship is a costly privilege.

4:7 Sin is crouching at the door . . . you must subdue it: Sin is pictured as a vicious animal lying in wait to pounce on Cain (cp. note on 3:16). Either sin will dominate Cain, or Cain will resist the temptation to sin. There is no neutral ground in that conflict.

4:8
Matt 23:35
1 Jn 3:12

4:9
Gen 3:9

4:10
Num 35:33
Deut 21:1
Heb 12:24

4:11
Deut 27:15-26

4:12
Deut 28:15-24

4:14
Gen 9:6
Job 15:22

4:17
Ps 49:11

control you. But you must subdue it and be its master."

⁸One day Cain suggested to his brother, "Let's go out into the fields." And while they were in the field, Cain attacked his brother, Abel, and killed him.

⁹Afterward the LORD asked Cain, "Where is your brother? Where is Abel?"

"I don't know," Cain responded. "Am I my brother's guardian?"

¹⁰But the LORD said, "What have you done? Listen! Your brother's blood cries out to me from the ground! ¹¹Now you are cursed and banished from the ground, which has swallowed your brother's blood. ¹²No longer will the ground yield good crops for you, no matter how hard you work! From now on you will be a homeless wanderer on the earth."

¹³Cain replied to the LORD, "My punishment is too great for me to bear! ¹⁴You have banished me from the land and from your presence; you have made me a homeless wanderer. Anyone who finds me will kill me!"

¹⁵The LORD replied, "No, for I will give a sevenfold punishment to anyone who kills you." Then the LORD put a mark on Cain to warn anyone who might try to kill him. ¹⁶So Cain left the LORD's presence and settled in the land of Nod, east of Eden.

The Descendants of Cain

¹⁷Cain had sexual relations with his wife, and she became pregnant and gave birth to

Original Sin (3:1-19)

Genesis 3 describes how human moral innocence collapsed through rebellion (3:11, 17). What God declared as "very good" (1:31) was no longer completely so. Man and woman ate the fruit that promised knowledge of good and evil and thus broke God's command (2:17). Worse, they tried to become like God (3:5) and thus fell from their sinless state. Alienated from God, one another, and creation, they also became subject to death.

The term "original sin" denotes sin's complete, universal infiltration into individual lives and human society as a result of human rebellion. When the first man and woman ate the fruit in disobedience to God, they forfeited their own innocence and that of their children, the entire human race (Rom 5:12-14; 1 Cor 15:21-22, 45-49). All humans are "fallen," born in sin, predisposed to sin (8:21; Job 4:17-21; Ps 51:5; 103:10; 143:2; Prov 20:9), and awaiting death. As people yield to their inherited predisposition to sin, they become responsible for their own wrongdoing (Eccl 7:20; Rom 3:23).

The first man, Adam, introduced sin, but the "second Adam," Jesus Christ, is sin's antidote (1 Cor 15:3; 2 Cor 5:21). When Christ died as Redeemer, he made God's salvation from sin available to all (John 3:16; Rom 1:16).

Gen 8:21
Exod 34:7
Job 4:17-21
Ps 51:5
Prov 22:15
Ezek 36:16-36
John 8:1-11
Rom 1:18-3:20;
5:12-21
1 Cor 15:21-22
Gal 3:22; 5:17-24
Eph 2:1-10
1 Jn 3:14

4:8 The effects of the Fall on human relationships are tragically expressed in the first murder. • The word brother is used seven times in 4:2-11, highlighting Cain's fratricide in the face of familial responsibility. • Let's go out into the fields: As in Samaritan Pentateuch, Greek and Syriac versions, and Latin Vulgate; Masoretic Text lacks this phrase.

4:9 Where is your brother? The questions God asked Cain (4:6, 9, 10) recall those that God asked Cain's parents (3:9-13). In both cases, humans put up evasive answers (cp. 3:12-13). Cain's answer is shockingly defiant—another clue that the problem with his token offering was the attitude that lay behind it.

4:10 What have you done? is more an expression of horror and rebuke than a fact-finding question (cp. 3:13). • Abel's blood is personified as a legal witness that cries out against Cain. • from the ground: See note on 4:11-12.

4:11-12 As with his father (cp. 3:9-12, 17-19), Cain's interrogation (4:9-10) was followed by God's verdict. Adam's sin had already caused the ground to be cursed. Now Cain was cursed and banished from the land he farmed because he had contaminated it with innocent blood. • homeless wanderer: Cain was condemned to ceaseless roving in a land that would provide neither sustenance nor security. The effects of sin were escalating.

4:13-14 For Cain, eviction from the land—the domain of his vocation as a farmer (see 4:2; cp. 3:23)—amounted to exile from God's presence. The Israelites were warned that unfaithfulness to the Sinai covenant would similarly result in eviction from the Promised Land and from God's presence in the Temple (see, e.g., Lev 26:27-32).

4:13 My punishment: Or My sin.

4:15 Sevenfold punishment was the full weight of justice. Cain complained that his punishment was too great, but the full sentence that would fall on anyone who committed Cain's crime against him shows how gracious the Lord was to Cain. Cain deserved death (see 9:5-6). • The mark graciously provided protection following Cain's judgment (cp. 3:21).

4:16 Nod means "wandering." The name speaks more of Cain's fate (see 4:12, 14) than of a specific geographical area (the location is unknown). Cain's sin denied him rest and a sense of belonging. • Cain's exile east of Eden is another point of connection with Adam's story (cp. 3:24). Cain did not learn from his father's mistake, so he also suffered estrangement from the ground and exile to the east (see note on 3:24).

4:17-5:32 These back-to-back genealogies do more than list names for the record. They contrast the ways that human culture spread, some in rebellion against God (Cain, 4:17-24) and some in obedience to God (Seth, 4:25-5:32). In Genesis, the history of the rejected branch is generally explained before carrying forward the line that led to Israel. Two points of contrast are especially worth noting: (1) Lamech, the seventh from Adam through the lineage

Enoch. Then Cain founded a city, which he named Enoch, after his son. ¹⁸Enoch had a son named Irad. Irad became the father of Mehujael. Mehujael became the father of Methushael. Methushael became the father of Lamech.

¹⁹Lamech married two women. The first was named Adah, and the second was Zillah. ²⁰Adah gave birth to Jabal, who was the first of those who raise livestock and live in tents. ²¹His brother's name was Jubal, the first of all who play the harp and flute. ²²Lamech's other wife, Zillah, gave birth to a son named Tubal-cain. He became an expert in forging tools of bronze and iron. Tubal-cain had a sister named Naamah. ²³One day Lamech said to his wives,

"Adah and Zillah, hear my voice;
listen to me, you wives of Lamech.
I have killed a man who attacked me, a young man who wounded me.

²⁴ If someone who kills Cain is punished seven times, then the one who kills me will be punished seventy-seven times!"

Epilogue: The Birth of Seth (4:25-26)

²⁵Adam had sexual relations with his wife again, and she gave birth to another son. She named him Seth, for she said, "God has granted me another son in place of Abel, whom Cain killed." ²⁶When Seth grew up, he had a son and named him Enosh. At that time people first began to worship the Lord by name.

3. THE ACCOUNT OF ADAM'S DESCENDANTS (5:1-6:8)

Human Identity Restated

5 This is the written account of the descendants of Adam. When God created human beings, he made them to be like himself. ²He created them male and female, and he blessed them and called them "human."

Genealogy: Adam to Noah

³When Adam was 130 years old, he became the father of a son who was just

4:23
Lev 19:18
Deut 32:35

4:25
Gen 4:8; 5:3
1 Chr 1:1
Luke 3:38

4:26
Gen 12:8
1 Kgs 18:24
Joel 2:32
Zeph 3:9
Acts 2:21

5:1
Gen 1:26; 6:9
1 Chr 1:1

5:2
Gen 1:27
*Matt 19:4
*Mark 10:6

5:3-32
1 Chr 1:1-3
Luke 3:36-38

5:3
Gen 1:26; 4:25
1 Cor 15:49

of Cain, is the main focus of the first genealogy. Like his ancestor, Lamech took human life and had to live in constant fear of death as a consequence (4:23-24). By contrast, Enoch, the seventh from Adam through the lineage of Seth (see 4:25-5:32), lived in a way that pleased God and avoided death altogether (5:24). (2) Advances in human culture and technology came through Cain's line (the first city, livestock, shelter, metallurgy, music), but the effects of sin still dominated. No technological advances are mentioned in Seth's line; instead, people began "to worship the Lord" (4:26) and to find "favor with the Lord" (see 6:8).

4:17 Cain's wife was probably one of his sisters (5:4). Cain's marriage to his sister would not have caused genetic problems so early in the development of the human gene pool. • Cain was condemned to be a wanderer. Perhaps he founded a city in rebellion against that verdict, seeking to defend himself by enclosing it in walls. Naming it after his son reflects a tendency among those who rebel against God to idolize humanity and its achievements.

4:18 the father of: Or the ancestor of, and so throughout the verse. Hebrew genealogies do not necessarily list every single generation.

4:19 Marrying two women was contrary to God's ideal pattern for marriage (2:24), and might be another manifestation of the arrogance and rebellion of Cain's descendants.

4:20-22 Technological advancement masks increasing self-assertion and distance from God (see note on 4:14-5:32).

4:23-24 Lamech's chilling taunt shows the further escalation of sin's effects on humanity. Cain's line had reached a crescendo of violence with Lamech's contempt for life. In his arrogance, he put his deed into poetic verse.

• punished seventy-seven times! God warned that anyone who tried to kill Cain would experience the full weight of justice (4:15). Lamech's declaration that anyone who harmed him would receive an even more severe penalty is a claim to be accountable to no one, including God.

4:25-5:32 The story returns to Adam and follows the line of Seth, whose lineage led to Abraham and the Israelite nation.

4:25 another son . . . in place of Abel: Cain (4:8-16) and Lamech (4:19-24) illustrate sin's consequences; the birth of Seth brought renewed hope. See also note on 5:1-2. • Seth probably means "granted"; the name may also mean "appointed."

4:26 Enosh means "humankind." In the OT, the term is often used in poetic texts that emphasize human mortality, frailty, and weakness (e.g., Ps 144:3, "mere mortals"). Enosh was born at the time when people began to worship the Lord by name (literally call on the name of the Lord). In Genesis, that meant calling on the name of the Lord through sacrifice and prayer (similar Hebrew terminology is found in 12:8; 13:4; 21:33; 26:25).

5:1-32 The genealogies of Genesis go beyond simply recording history. By selective information and by structure, they communicate spiritual truth. The genealogies highlight God's blessing, authenticate the family heritage of important individuals, and hold the Genesis narrative together by showing familial continuity. Adam's genealogy through Seth traces ten generations to Noah (see 1 Chr 1:1-4; Luke 3:36-38), with the flood intervening before another ten generations from Noah to Abram. The number ten indicates completeness (ten plagues, Exod 7:8-11:10; Ten Commandments, Exod 20:2-17). Noah closed history before the flood, and Abram inaugurated a new era.

5:1-2 This is the prologue to the second account in Genesis (5:1-6:8; see note on 2:4); it connects God's purpose in creation with Seth's line rather than Cain's (4:17-24).

5:1 written account: Although the previous account (2:4-4:26) focused on Adam, Eve, and their first children, it was technically "the account of the heavens and the earth." Genesis 5:1-32 is a more typical genealogy. • human beings: Or man; Hebrew reads 'adam; similarly in 5:2. • like himself: See 1:26 and note.

5:2 male and female . . . "human" (Hebrew 'adam): See 1:27 and note. • blessed them: See 1:28 and note.

5:3 just like him—in his very image: The image and likeness of God (see note on 1:26) is preserved in human beings despite sin. Adam's sinful nature was also carried forward (Rom 5:12-14).

5:5

Gen 2:17

Heb 9:27

5:18

Jude 1:14

5:22

Gen 6:9; 48:15

5:24

2 Kgs 2:1, 11

Ps 73:24

Heb 11:5

5:29

Gen 3:17

Rom 8:20

5:32

Gen 7:6; 9:18

6:1

Gen 1:28

6:2

b^{ben} 'elohim (1121, 0430)

* Job 1:6

6:3

Ps 78:39

1 Pet 3:20

like him—in his very image. He named his son Seth. ⁴After the birth of Seth, Adam lived another 800 years, and he had other sons and daughters. ⁵Adam lived 930 years, and then he died.

⁶When Seth was 105 years old, he became the father of Enosh. ⁷After the birth of Enosh, Seth lived another 807 years, and he had other sons and daughters. ⁸Seth lived 912 years, and then he died.

⁹When Enosh was 90 years old, he became the father of Kenan. ¹⁰After the birth of Kenan, Enosh lived another 815 years, and he had other sons and daughters.

¹¹Enosh lived 905 years, and then he died.

¹²When Kenan was 70 years old, he became the father of Mahalalel. ¹³After the birth of Mahalalel, Kenan lived another 840 years, and he had other sons and daughters. ¹⁴Kenan lived 910 years, and then he died.

¹⁵When Mahalalel was 65 years old, he became the father of Jared. ¹⁶After the birth of Jared, Mahalalel lived another 830 years, and he had other sons and daughters. ¹⁷Mahalalel lived 895 years, and then he died.

¹⁸When Jared was 162 years old, he became the father of Enoch. ¹⁹After the birth of Enoch, Jared lived another 800 years, and he had other sons and daughters. ²⁰Jared lived 962 years, and then he died.

²¹When Enoch was 65 years old, he became the father of Methuselah. ²²After the birth of Methuselah, Enoch lived in close fellowship with God for another 300 years, and he had other sons and daughters. ²³Enoch lived 365 years, ²⁴walking in close fellowship with God. Then one day he disappeared, because God took him.

²⁵When Methuselah was 187 years old, he became the father of Lamech. ²⁶After the birth of Lamech, Methuselah lived another 782 years, and he had other sons and daughters. ²⁷Methuselah lived 969 years, and then he died.

²⁸When Lamech was 182 years old, he became the father of a son. ²⁹Lamech named his son Noah, for he said, "May he bring us relief from our work and the painful labor of farming this ground that the LORD has cursed." ³⁰After the birth of Noah, Lamech lived another 595 years, and he had other sons and daughters. ³¹Lamech lived 777 years, and then he died.

³²After Noah was 500 years old, he became the father of Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

Corruption of the Human Race

6 Then the people began to multiply on the earth, and daughters were born to them. ²The ^bsons of God saw the beautiful women and took any they wanted as their wives. ³Then the LORD said, "My Spirit will not put up with humans for such a long time,

5:5 he died: Death indeed came to Adam (see 2:17; 3:18-19) and his descendants (see Rom 5:12-14). Cain's violence is omitted (see 4:8, 15, 23-24) and key figures in Seth's line live in hope (5:29).

5:6 the father of: Or the ancestor of; also in 5:9, 12, 15, 18, 21, 25. Hebrew genealogies do not necessarily list every single generation.

5:7 After the birth of: Or After the birth of this ancestor of; also in 5:10, 13, 16, 19, 22, 26 (see note on 5:6).

5:22 Enoch lived in close fellowship with God (literally Enoch walked with God; also in 5:24): Enoch's position as seventh from Adam in the genealogy strikes a contrast with Lamech, the seventh from Adam in the line of Cain (see note on 4:17-5:32).

5:24 Unlike all other sons of Adam, Enoch did not succumb to death; rather, he disappeared, because God took him (cp. 2 Kgs 2:9-12; see also Heb 11:5).

5:27 969 years: This statement and the numbers given in 5:25, 28 and 7:6

mean that Methuselah died in the year of the flood.

5:28-29 As with Enoch (5:21-24), the normal genealogical formula is interrupted to highlight important theological information about Noah. Noah sounds like a Hebrew term (nakh) that can mean "relief" or "comfort," and another term (nuakh) that means "rest." As the first person born after Adam's death (see note on 5:5), Noah prompted his father Lamech to hope that the curse brought on by Adam's sin (3:17) might be lifted. See 8:21; 2 Cor 1:3-7; 2 Thes 2:16-17.

6:1-8 Human wickedness reached a climax, prompting God to send the flood to destroy all living things. A glimmer of hope appears in God's favor toward Noah (6:8).

6:1-2 The sons of God have generally been understood as fallen angels (cp. the same Hebrew phrase in Job 1:6; 2:1; 38:7; Ps 29:1; 89:7). This interpretation is prominent in ancient Jewish and Christian literature (e.g., 1 Enoch 6:1-7:6; Justin Martyr, Apology 2.5) and is apparently supported by the NT (see 1 Pet 3:18-20; 2 Pet 2:4; Jude 1:6-7). Some interpreters do not believe that God would permit angels to procreate with humans and doubt that the above NT texts should be read in this way. Another possibility is that sons of God refers to the righteous descendants of Seth, while the beautiful women (6:2, literally daughters of men; also in 6:4) were female descendants of Cain's wicked line. This interpretation is in harmony with 4:17-5:32, but is weakened by the language of 6:1-2, which seems to refer to the daughters of humanity in general, not the daughters of Cain specifically. Others believe that sons of God refers to tyrannical human kings (possibly demon-possessed) who took Lamech's polygamy (4:19) to a new height of wickedness by seizing the daughters of the righteous. Language reminiscent of 3:6 (saw . . . took) shows the rebellious nature of this act.

6:3 will not put up with (Greek version reads will not remain in): Many think that this is an announcement of God's decision to withdraw the restraining influence of his Spirit from human for they are only mortal flesh. In the future, their normal lifespan will be no more than 120 years.”

⁴In those days, and for some time after, giant Nephilites lived on the earth, for whenever the sons of God had intercourse with women, they gave birth to children who became the heroes and famous warriors of ancient times.

⁵The LORD observed the extent of human wickedness on the earth, and he saw that everything they thought or imagined was consistently and totally evil. ⁶So the LORD was sorry he had ever made them and put them on the earth. It broke his heart. ⁷And the LORD said, “I will wipe this human race I have created from the face of the earth. Yes, and I will destroy every living thing—all the people, the large animals, the small animals that scurry along the ground, and even the birds of the sky. I am sorry I ever made them.”

⁸But Noah found favor with the LORD.

4. THE ACCOUNT OF NOAH’S FAMILY (6:9–9:29)

The Story of Noah

⁹This is the account of Noah and his family. Noah was a righteous man, the only blameless person living on earth at the time, and he walked in close fellowship with God.

¹⁰Noah was the father of three sons: Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

¹¹Now God saw that the earth had become corrupt and was filled with violence.

6:4

Num 13:33

Jude 1:6-7

6:5

Ps 14:1-3

6:6

Exod 32:14

Num 23:19

1 Sam 15:11, 35

2 Sam 24:16

6:7

Deut 29:20

‘bara’ (1254)

Ps 51:10

6:8

Exod 33:17

6:9

Job 1:1

Ezek 14:14

‘tamim’ (8549)

Gen 17:1

6:11

Deut 31:29

Judg 2:19

Ezek 8:17

Noah (6:8-22)

Gen 5:28–10:1

1 Chr 1:4

Isa 54:9

Ezek 14:12-20

Matt 24:37-38

Luke 3:36; 17:26-27

Heb 11:7

1 Pet 3:20-21

2 Pet 2:5

Noah was the son of Lamech, a descendant of Seth (5:3-29). Lamech might have hoped that Noah (whose name means “rest” or “relief”) would ease the curse of hardship in working the ground (see note on 5:29). God used Noah to help relieve the world of evil.

God intended to destroy creation because of pervasive human wickedness (6:1-7; see Matt 24:37-39; Luke 17:26-27), but he decided to preserve Noah (6:8). God gave Noah, a righteous and blameless man (6:9), precise instructions for building the ark in which only the eight people of his family would be saved, along with every kind of creature (6:14–8:19). When Noah and his family finally emerged from the ark after the flood, Noah pleased God by building an altar and sacrificing burnt offerings. God promised that he would never again flood the whole earth or disrupt the sequence of the seasons, despite human sin (8:20–9:17).

Noah’s sons were Shem, Ham, and Japheth. All the nations of the earth descended from them (9:18-19). When Noah became drunk on wine from his vineyard, his sons and their descendants were cursed or blessed in accord with how they responded to him (9:22-27). Noah lived for 950 years, including 350 years after the flood (9:28-29); he is an example of righteousness, obedience, courage, and faith (see Ezek 14:12-20; Heb 11:7; 2 Pet 2:5).

society and allow human wickedness to run its full course. Others think it means that God would withdraw his life-giving breath from humans at an earlier age (ruakh, the Hebrew term for “spirit,” can also mean “breath”; see 6:17; 7:22; see also Ps 104:29-30). • normal lifespan will be no more than 120 years (literally his days will be 120 years): It is possible that this was a new restriction on the number of years individuals would generally be allowed to live (so the NLT). However, for generations after the flood, humans lived well beyond 120 years (see, e.g., 11:10-26). An alternative interpretation sees this as a 120-year grace period before the arrival of the flood (see Jon 3:4; Matt 24:37-38; 1 Pet 3:20; 2 Pet 2:5).

6:4 giant Nephilites (Hebrew nepilim): The term may mean “fallen ones.” The context implies that they were the offspring of the “sons of God” and would be destroyed in the flood. Numbers 13:31-33 uses the same term to describe other giants who were hostile toward God’s people and would also be destroyed (see also Deut 2:11, which connects the Anakite nepilim with another group called the repa’im).

6:5 everything they thought or imagined (literally every intention of the thoughts of their hearts): In the OT, the heart is the core of volition, thought, and morality (see Prov 4:23). Wicked actions stem from a corrupt inner life. • consistently and totally evil: Strong language captures the pervasiveness, depth, and persistence of human wickedness. Human nature continued to be corrupt even after the flood (see 8:21).

6:6 the LORD was sorry: The extent of human wickedness made the Lord regret having created them (see also 6:7; cp. 1 Sam 15:11, 35). • it broke his heart: The evil in humanity’s heart (6:5) pained God greatly. Sending the flood was a heart-wrenching act on God’s part.

6:7 wipe . . . from the . . . earth: As Adam and Eve were banished from the garden-sanctuary (3:23), all of humankind would be expunged from God’s good creation. • every living thing: Human sin had so corrupted the earth that judgment fell on the animals and birds over which they had dominion (see 1:28 and note). The special role of humans in the created order (1:28-30) means that nature is affected by human moral choices (see 8:1; Job 38:41; Hos 4:3; Rom 8:19-22).

6:8 Noah and his godly life stand in stark contrast to the sinfulness of the rest of the people.

6:9 the account: See note on 2:4 • a righteous man, the only blameless person: The text does not claim that Noah was without sin (see Rom 5:12-14). Noah’s righteousness and blamelessness came about because he walked in close fellowship with God. See also 7:1; 17:1; Heb 11:7.

6:11-13 See 6:5-7. • violence (Hebrew khamas): Murder had especially corrupted the line of Cain (4:8, 23-24).

6:12
Ps 14:1-3

6:13
Isa 34:1-4
Ezek 7:2-3

6:14
Exod 2:3
1 Pet 3:20

6:17
Ps 29:10
2 Pet 2:5

6:18
Gen 9:9-16; 17:7;
19:12

6:20
Gen 7:3

6:21
Gen 1:29

6:22
Gen 7:5
Exod 40:16

7:1
Gen 6:18
Matt 24:38
Luke 17:26-27
Heb 11:7
1 Pet 3:20

7:2
Lev 11:1-47
Deut 14:3-20
Ezek 44:23

7:4
Gen 6:7, 13

7:6
Gen 5:32

7:7
Gen 6:18

¹²God observed all this corruption in the world, for everyone on earth was corrupt. ¹³So God said to Noah, "I have decided to destroy all living creatures, for they have filled the earth with violence. Yes, I will wipe them all out along with the earth!

¹⁴"Build a large boat from cypress wood and waterproof it with tar, inside and out. Then construct decks and stalls throughout its interior. ¹⁵Make the boat 450 feet long, 75 feet wide, and 45 feet high. ¹⁶Leave an 18-inch opening below the roof all the way around the boat. Put the door on the side, and build three decks inside the boat—lower, middle, and upper.

¹⁷"Look! I am about to cover the earth with a flood that will destroy every living thing that breathes. Everything on earth will die. ¹⁸But I will confirm my covenant with you. So enter the boat—you and your wife and your sons and their wives. ¹⁹Bring a pair of every kind of animal—a male and a female—into the boat with you to keep them alive during the flood. ²⁰Pairs of every kind of bird, and every kind of animal, and every kind of small animal that scurries along the ground, will come to you to be kept alive.

²¹And be sure to take on board enough food for your family and for all the animals."

²²So Noah did everything exactly as God had commanded him.

The Universal Flood

7When everything was ready, the LORD said to Noah, "Go into the boat with all your family, for among all the people of the earth, I can see that you alone are righteous. ²Take with you seven pairs—male and female—of each animal I have approved for eating and for sacrifice, and take one pair of each of the others. ³Also take seven pairs of every kind of bird. There must be a male and a female in each pair to ensure that all life will survive on the earth after the flood. ⁴Seven days from now I will make the rains pour down on the earth. And it will rain for forty days and forty nights, until I have wiped from the earth all the living things I have created."

⁵So Noah did everything as the LORD commanded him.

⁶Noah was 600 years old when the flood covered the earth. ⁷He went on board the boat to escape the flood—he and his wife

▲ Noah's Ark (6:14-16). An ark built to the dimensions specified in Genesis would have been immense. Its ratio of length to width (6 to 1) is the most stable known and is used for the design of modern tankers and freight-hauling ships. The ark was able to carry 20,000 tons of cargo; the required number of young adult land animals would have occupied less than half of the available space. The design given was perfect for the ark's function.

6:14 a large boat: Traditionally rendered an ark, this was a long rectangular barge designed for survival, not for navigation. The Hebrew word tebah is used again only of the basket in which the baby Moses was floated on the Nile (Exod 2:3, 5). • cypress wood: Or gopher wood. It is not clear what kind of wood this was. It was possibly from a conifer, such as cypress.

6:15 The ark's dimensions: Hebrew 300 cubits [138 meters] long, 50 cubits [23 meters] wide, and 30 cubits [13.8 meters] high. This floating barge displaced around 43,300 tons of water.

6:16 An 18-inch opening (Hebrew an opening of 1 cubit [46 centimeters]) below the roof encircled the boat, providing light and air. • Noah was to build a door and God would close it (7:16). God was the captain of this peculiar boat with no sail or rudder. God also brought the animals to Noah (6:20).

6:17 cover the earth with a flood: Some propose that the flood might only have covered the ancient Near East as it was known to Noah or Moses. However, the flood's stated purpose—to destroy every living thing that breathes (see also 6:7, 11-13; 7:1, 4, 18-23; 8:21)—and its effect of undoing creation (see notes on 1:9-10; 7:11-12) suggest that the flood covered the entire planet (see also 1 Pet 3:20; 2 Pet 2:5; 3:6).

6:18 This first explicit mention of a covenant in the Bible refers to the unilateral pact that God made with humankind and the world after the flood (see 9:9, 11, 14-17).

6:19-20 God's instructions to Noah repeat the language of creation (every kind, cp. 1:24). • a male and a female:

These animals would procreate and repopulate the earth after the flood.

7:2 of each animal I have approved for eating and for sacrifice (literally of each clean animal; similarly in 7:8): In addition to the animals that were to repopulate the earth, these "clean" animals were for food and for Noah's sacrifice after the flood (8:20-21). This passage does not use the precise technical language that is found in the regulations concerning "clean" and "unclean" given to Israel at Sinai (see Lev 11:1-47; Deut 14:3-12), but the underlying concept is the same (perhaps God revealed it directly to Noah).

7:4 The number forty is often associated with affliction, trial, or punishment (see Exod 16:35; Judg 13:1; 1 Kgs 19:8; Ezek 4:6; Jon 3:4; Matt 4:2; Acts 1:3).

7:6 covered the earth: See note on 6:17.

and his sons and their wives. ⁸With them were all the various kinds of animals—those approved for eating and for sacrifice and those that were not—along with all the birds and the small animals that scurry along the ground. ⁹They entered the boat in pairs, male and female, just as God had commanded Noah. ¹⁰After seven days, the waters of the flood came and covered the earth.

¹¹When Noah was 600 years old, on the seventeenth day of the second month, all the underground waters erupted from the earth, and the rain fell in mighty torrents from the sky. ¹²The rain continued to fall for forty days and forty nights.

¹³That very day Noah had gone into the boat with his wife and his sons—Shem, Ham, and Japheth—and their wives. ¹⁴With them in the boat were pairs of every kind of animal—domestic and wild, large and small—along with birds of every kind. ¹⁵Two by two they came into the boat, representing every living thing that breathes. ¹⁶A male and female of each kind entered, just as God had commanded Noah. Then the LORD closed the door behind them.

¹⁷For forty days the floodwaters grew deeper, covering the ground and lifting the boat high above the earth. ¹⁸As the waters rose higher and higher above the ground, the boat floated safely on the surface. ¹⁹Finally, the water covered even the highest mountains on the earth, ²⁰rising more than twenty-two feet above the highest peaks. ²¹All the living things on earth died—birds, domestic animals, wild animals, small animals that scurry along the ground, and all the people. ²²Everything that breathed and lived on dry land died. ²³God wiped out every living thing on the earth—people, livestock, small animals that scurry along the ground, and the birds of the sky. All were destroyed. The only people who survived were Noah and those with him in the boat. ²⁴And the floodwaters covered the earth for 150 days.

The Floodwaters Recede

8 But God ¹remembered Noah and all the wild animals and livestock with him in the boat. He sent a wind to blow across the earth, and the floodwaters began to recede. ²The underground waters stopped flowing, and the torrential rains from the sky were stopped. ³So the floodwaters gradually receded from the earth. After 150 days, ⁴exactly five months from the time the flood began, the boat came to rest on the mountains of Ararat. ⁵Two and a half months later, as the waters continued to go down, other mountain peaks became visible.

⁶After another forty days, Noah opened the window he had made in the boat ⁷and released a raven. The bird flew back and forth until the floodwaters on the earth had dried up. ⁸He also released a dove to see if the water had receded and it could find dry ground. ⁹But the dove could find no place to land because the water still covered the ground. So it returned to the boat, and

7:9
Gen 6:22

7:11
Ps 78:23
Ezek 26:19
Mal 3:10

7:13
1 Pet 3:20
2 Pet 2:5

7:15
Gen 6:19; 7:9

7:19
Ps 104:6

7:20
2 Pet 3:6

7:23
Matt 24:38-39
Luke 17:26-27
1 Pet 3:20
2 Pet 2:5

7:24
Gen 8:3

8:1
Gen 19:29; 30:22
Exod 2:24; 14:21
Job 12:15
Isa 44:27
*zakar (2142)
*Exod 2:24

8:2
Gen 7:4, 12

8:4
Gen 7:20

8:7
Lev 11:15
Deut 14:14
1 Kgs 17:4
Luke 12:24

8:8
Isa 60:8
Hos 11:11
Matt 10:16

7:8 See note on 7:2.

7:11-12 on the seventeenth day of the second month: Such information gives the flood account a certain solemnity; it reminds readers that this was a true historical event. • underground waters: See 2:6. • rain fell: The flood undid the boundaries established on the second and third days of creation (1:6-13). Elsewhere, the Bible describes God's judgment as an undoing of creation (see Jer 4:23-26; Amos 7:4). • forty days and forty nights: See note on 7:4.

7:16 the LORD closed the door: The sovereign Judge took responsibility for the annihilation of all outside the boat and the protection of those within (see also 6:16 and note).

7:17 floodwaters grew deeper (literally waters multiplied): The same word used for the proliferation of humans and animals during creation (see 1:22, 28) is now used ironically of the water that would annihilate them. • covering the ground: The Hebrew word translated "ground" or "earth" is mentioned eight times in eight verses (7:17-24). The earth is the domain that humankind had polluted and that was now the object of a cleansing deluge.

7:20 more than twenty-two feet: Hebrew 15 cubits [6.9 meters].

7:22 Everything that . . . lived: See note on 6:17.

8:1 But God remembered: This structural and theological center of the flood story does not mean that God had at any point forgotten Noah. This is covenant language reflecting God's faithfulness to his promise to ensure the safety of his covenant partner (cp. 6:18; 9:15-16; Exod 2:24; Lev 26:42, 45).

• wind: The same word is translated "spirit" in 1:2. This and other parallels (see 9:1-2) suggest that the restoration of the earth after the flood was effectively a new creation.

8:2 underground waters . . . torrential rains: See note on 7:11-12.

8:4 exactly five months from the time the flood began: Literally on the seventeenth day of the seventh month; see 7:11. • mountains of Ararat: These mountains might be in the region of Ararat (Urartu) southeast of the Black Sea near Lake Van, which touches parts of eastern Turkey, Armenia, and Iran. There is a Mount Ararat (Agri Dag) in Turkey, but this verse only identifies the region, not a specific mountain.

8:5 Two and a half months later: Literally On the first day of the tenth month; see 7:11 and note on 8:4. • the waters continued to go down: Another parallel with the creation week (see 1:9) suggests that the earth's restoration was effectively a new creation (see note on 8:1).

8:7 The raven is the largest member of the crow family, and was among Noah's unclean animals (Lev 11:15; Deut 14:14). As a scavenger and carrion eater, it was able to sustain itself without returning to the boat.

8:13
Gen 5:32

8:16
Gen 7:13

8:17
Gen 1:22

8:20
Gen 4:4; 12:7; 13:18;
22:2

8:21
Gen 3:17
Exod 29:18, 25
Lev 1:9, 13
Isa 54:9

Noah held out his hand and drew the dove back inside. ¹⁰After waiting another seven days, Noah released the dove again. ¹¹This time the dove returned to him in the evening with a fresh olive leaf in its beak. Then Noah knew that the floodwaters were almost gone. ¹²He waited another seven days and then released the dove again. This time it did not come back.

¹³Noah was now 601 years old. On the first day of the new year, ten and a half months after the flood began, the floodwaters had almost dried up from the earth. Noah lifted back the covering of the boat and saw that the surface of the ground was drying. ¹⁴Two more months went by, and at last the earth was dry!

Noah's Worship and God's Promise

¹⁵Then God said to Noah, ¹⁶"Leave the boat, all of you—you and your wife, and your sons and their wives. ¹⁷Release all the animals—the birds, the livestock, and the small animals that scurry along the ground—so they can be fruitful and multiply throughout the earth."

¹⁸So Noah, his wife, and his sons and their wives left the boat. ¹⁹And all of the large and small animals and birds came out of the boat, pair by pair.

²⁰Then Noah built an altar to the LORD, and there he sacrificed as burnt offerings the animals and birds that had been approved for that purpose. ²¹And the LORD was pleased with the aroma of the sacrifice

Retribution (6:1–7:24)

God gave humans the commission of procreating and caring for the world (1:28). Instead, murder and violence multiplied with humanity's spiritual wickedness (4:8, 23; 6:11–13), resulting in a corrupt world that required cleansing.

The purpose of the flood was to enact God's global cleansing and retribution against evildoers. Retribution means "giving what is due" and usually refers to recompense for wrongdoing. Retribution is motivated by the conviction that moral order is woven into the fabric of the world and must be maintained or restored (see Ps 7:14–16; Prov 11:18; 26:27).

God maintains moral order by meting out justice, punishing wickedness, and rewarding right behavior (Gal 6:7). Since God oversees the world, it is never entirely overwhelmed by moral chaos; God holds people accountable for what they do. The judgment and exile of Adam and Eve (3:8–24), Cain's sentence and blood-revenge (4:10–15), and the worldwide flood and annihilation (chs 6–9) are OT examples of God's retribution. They reveal a sovereign God who exacts just punishment in the context of his good intentions for the world (see also Num 16; Deut 30:15–20; Josh 7; Mic 2:1–3).

Retribution is an application of God's righteousness; it purifies the world for his kingdom of peace. Through retribution, the divine King proclaims his universal rule and exercises his justice on all who reject his rule or defy his commands (Deut 7:10; 1 Sam 24:19; Ps 149; Prov 15:25; Mic 5:15; 1 Cor 16:22; Gal 1:8–9; 2 Thes 1:5–10).

For God's people, retribution is his discipline. It is intended to restore covenant fellowship with him (see Isa 44:22; Jer 3:12–14; Lam 3:19–33; Hos 14:1–2; Joel 2:12–13). When God's people experience his chastening, they can respond in hope because God's truth and righteousness will triumph (Ps 58:10–11) and God will redeem and restore his people who trust in him (Lev 26:40–45; Hos 2:2–23).

Lev 26:14–39
Ps 7:6–17; 57:6;
95:8–11
Prov 6:27–35; 26:27
Mic 2:1–3
Rom 2:5–16
Gal 6:7–8
Heb 10:26–31
12:5–11, 25–29

8:11 Unlike the raven (8:7), the dove feeds on vegetation. Since olive trees are not tall, Noah could tell that the water was almost gone.

8:13 On the first day of the new year, ten and a half months after the flood began (literally On the first day of the first month; see 7:11): This was two months after the peaks of the mountains first became visible (8:5).

8:14 Two more months went by: Literally The twenty-seventh day of the second month arrived; see note on 8:13. • the earth was dry! This special word for dry land is uniquely used in connection with the sea to portray God's sovereignty over both domains (see 1:9–10; Exod 14:22, 29; Ps 95:5; Jon 1:9).

8:17 be fruitful and multiply: See 9:1.

8:20 This first mention of an altar in the Bible (see "Altars" at 35:1–15, p. 91) shows Noah's gratitude for having passed through the judgment. • sacrificed as burnt offerings: The same term is used of the whole burnt offering in Leviticus (Lev 1:3–9); however, it can refer to any offering that is burned. Noah gave this offering to thank and worship God, who had delivered him and his family from the flood. • the animals and birds that had been approved for that purpose: Literally every clean animal and every clean bird.

8:21 pleased with the aroma of the sacrifice (literally smelled the sweet aroma): The narrator uses anthropomorphic language (i.e., he describes God's activity in human terms) to show God's acceptance of Noah's offering (see also Exod 29:18; Lev 1:9; Num 15:3). The common ancient Near Eastern notion that the gods ate the sacrifices offered to them is notably absent. • to himself (literally in his heart): The phrase echoes "broke his heart" (6:6), just as think or imagine echoes "everything they thought or imagined" (6:5). God's commitment to a new order replaced and said to himself, "I will never again curse the ground because of the human race, even though everything they think or imagine is bent toward evil from childhood. I will never again destroy all living things. ²²As long as the earth remains, there will be planting and harvest, cold and heat, summer and winter, day and night."

God's Covenant with All Living Creatures

9 Then God blessed Noah and his sons and told them, "Be fruitful and multiply. Fill the earth. ²All the animals of the earth, all the birds of the sky, all the small animals that scurry along the ground, and all the fish in the sea will look on you with fear and terror. I have placed them in your power. ³I have given them to you for food, just as I have given you grain and vegetables. ⁴But you must never eat any meat that still has the ^flifeblood in it.

⁵"And I will require the blood of anyone who takes another person's life. If a wild animal kills a person, it must die. And anyone who murders a fellow human must die. ⁶If anyone takes a human life, that person's life will also be taken by human hands. For God made human beings in his own image.

⁷Now be fruitful and multiply, and repopulate the earth."

⁸Then God told Noah and his sons, ⁹"I hereby confirm my ^ccovenant with you and your descendants, ¹⁰and with all the animals that were on the boat with you—the birds, the livestock, and all the wild animals—every living creature on earth. ¹¹Yes, I am confirming my covenant with you. Never again will floodwaters kill all living creatures; never again will a flood destroy the ^eearth."

¹²Then God said, "I am giving you a sign of my covenant with you and with all living creatures, for all generations to come. ¹³I have placed my rainbow in the clouds. It is the sign of my covenant with you and with all the earth. ¹⁴When I send clouds over the earth, the rainbow will appear in the clouds, ¹⁵and I will remember my covenant with you and with all living creatures. Never again will the floodwaters destroy all life. ¹⁶When I see the rainbow in the clouds, I will remember the ^eeternal covenant between God and every living creature on earth." ¹⁷Then God said to Noah, "Yes, this rainbow is the sign of the covenant I am confirming with all the creatures on earth."

8:22
Ps 74:17

9:1
Gen 1:22

9:2
Gen 1:26-29
Ps 8:6-8

9:3
Ps 104:14

9:4
Lev 3:17; 7:26; 17:10
Deut 12:16
Acts 15:20, 29
^fdam (1818)
+ Gen 49:11

9:5
Exod 21:28-32

9:6
Exod 20:13; 21:12
Num 35:33

9:9
^eberith (1285)
+ Gen 15:18

9:11
Isa 24:5
^ferets (0776)
+ Gen 12:1

9:12
Gen 17:11

9:13
Ezek 1:28

9:15
Deut 7:9

9:16
^folam (5769)
+ Gen 21:33

his grief over the old. • I will never again curse . . . destroy: The old curse was not lifted (5:29), but God promised not to add to it, thus establishing new limits for life in a disordered world (cp. Isa 54:9). The flood was to stop violence, not to reform the human heart (6:5). Humankind's bent toward evil would be contained to some degree through accountability to a new law (9:5-6).

8:22 God's promise to sustain the rhythm of the seasons reaffirmed the created order (1:14; see also Jer 33:20; Zech 14:7).

9:1-7 God's first post-flood speech opens and closes with blessing (9:1, 7). In it, human and animal relationships are again defined, with some modification of the original created order. The sanctity of life is given special focus.

9:1 Be fruitful and multiply: The blessing and mandate first given to Adam (1:28) are now reissued to Noah, the "Adam" of the newly cleansed world in need of repopulation.

9:2-3 There are two modifications to the original created order. (1) Previously, humans reigned over the animals (1:28), but now animals would live in terror of humans (similar military language is found in Exod 23:27-31; Deut 11:25; 31:8). (2) The animals' terror was related to a change in human diet. Humans were now permitted to eat the meat of animals to supplement their subsistence on grains, fruits, and vegetables (1:29).

9:4 A key restriction is imposed. Since blood was identified with life, it had to be drained from a slain animal before its meat could be eaten (see Lev 3:17; 7:26-27; 17:10-14; Deut 12:16, 23). The law of Moses prohibited eating animals that died naturally, since their blood had not been drained (Deut 14:21). God provided animal blood to atone for human sin (Lev 17:11; Heb 9:22).

9:5-6 Violence, including murder, was a major factor in bringing about God's judgment of the flood (4:8; 6:11, 13). At this new beginning for humans, God affirmed the sanctity of human life and established a system of retributive justice for the taking of human life (see also Ps 9:12; "Retribution" at 6:1-7:24, p. 35). The function of law is to restrain human wickedness and preserve moral order. This law was further developed in the law of Moses (Exod 21:12-14; Lev 24:17-22; Num 35:16-34; Deut 17:6-7; 19:15).

9:6 For God made human beings in his own image: The death penalty has a theological basis. God's image gives humans a unique status and authority within creation (1:26-28). Since murder destroys a person made in God's image, the ultimate penalty must be imposed on a murderer. See also Exod 21:23-25. We are not to pursue personal revenge (Rom 12:17-19), but are to uphold the justice of the "governing authorities" that God has established (Rom 13:1-7). • human beings: Or man; Hebrew reads ha-'adam.

9:7 Now be fruitful and multiply, and repopulate (literally swarm and fill): In contrast to those who would destroy human life (9:5-6), God's desire is that human life should abound and flourish.

9:8-17 God's second post-flood speech conveys his promise and plan for pre-serving creation.

9:9-10 God had promised this covenant before the flood (6:18). Its scope extends beyond humanity to include the earth and all animals.

9:11 This promise does not prohibit worldwide judgment, but it restricts the means by which God will do it (see 2 Pet 3:4-13).

9:12 In the Bible, covenants are frequently confirmed by some sort of sign (e.g., 17:11; Exod 31:13, 17; Luke 22:20).

9:13-16 God brought cataclysmic judgment through the rainstorm; now, the rainbow, a meteorological phenomenon associated with the rainstorm, would be an image of peace for all the earth (see 9:17). • "Rainbow" and "bow" are the same term in Hebrew. Since God is sometimes pictured as a warrior who shoots arrows of judgment (see Deut 32:42; Ps 7:12; 18:13-14; Hab 3:9-11),

9:21
Gen 19:35
9:22
Hab 2:15
9:25
Deut 27:16

Noah's Sons; Curse and Blessings

¹⁸The sons of Noah who came out of the boat with their father were Shem, Ham, and Japheth. (Ham is the father of Canaan.)
¹⁹From these three sons of Noah came all the people who now populate the earth.

²⁰After the flood, Noah began to cultivate the ground, and he planted a vineyard. ²¹One day he drank some wine he had made, and he became drunk and lay naked inside his tent. ²²Ham, the father of Canaan, saw that his father was naked and went outside and told his brothers. ²³Then Shem and Japheth took a robe, held it over their shoulders, and backed into the tent to cover their father. As they did this, they looked the other way so they would not see him naked.

²⁴When Noah woke up from his stupor, he learned what Ham, his youngest son, had done. ²⁵Then he cursed Canaan, the son of Ham:

"May Canaan be cursed!

May he be the lowest of servants to his relatives."

God's Covenant with Noah (9:1-17)

Ezek 14:12-23
Matt 24:37-39
Heb 11:7

The first explicit reference to a covenant in Scripture occurs after the flood (9:1-17). Covenant (Hebrew berith) means "bond": A covenant is a binding relationship rooted in a commitment that includes promises and obligations. Whether between individuals (e.g., 21:27), whole nations (e.g., Josh 9:15-18), or God and humans, the covenant relationship calls for faithfulness and makes peace and harmony possible.

Here God took the initiative to bind himself again to human beings and to the whole creation despite human faithlessness (see 6:1-7). When God charged Noah to build an ark to escape the impending deluge (6:13-17), he also promised to establish a covenant with him (6:18). The corruption and violence of the human race had provoked God's anger (6:11, 13), but his gracious favor remained with Noah (6:8). Through this covenant, God guaranteed that he would maintain a relationship with one family even as other divine-human relationships were being severed. God's covenant promise to Noah came with his command to build an ark (6:14); Noah's receipt of the covenant blessing depended on his obedience to this divine command (6:22; 7:5).

When Noah made an offering to God after the flood (8:20-22), God elaborated on his covenant with Noah as a universal covenant with humans and with all living creatures (9:8-10). God promised never to send such a flood again as judgment on the world.

This covenant helps us understand God as a covenant-maker. Although human beings deserve punishment because of their wickedness, God withholds ultimate destruction. God's covenant with Noah did not establish an intimate relationship between God and each living being, but it recalibrated moral and ecological life to be as God intended it (9:1-7), leaving open the possibility of a more intimate covenant to come (see 17:1-21). Despite their evil, human beings are allowed to live in God's world and seek a deeper relationship with the world's Creator during their time on earth. God's later covenants with his people made intimacy with him freely available to all (see Acts 2:22-40; 3:17-26).

some think that the imagery in 9:13-17 is of the Divine Warrior hanging up his bow of judgment.

9:18 Ham is the father of Canaan:

See also 9:20-27; 10:6-20. The text emphasizes Canaan's ancestral connection to Ham to show that the Canaanite identity was inseparably linked to Ham's shameful behavior (9:20-27). The citizens of both Egypt (from which Israel escaped slavery) and Canaan (to which Israel was headed) were Ham's descendants (10:6; see Lev 18:3, 24-26; Ps 105:23, 27; 106:22). Later stories in Genesis emphasize the immoral climate of both Egypt (12:10-20) and Canaan (chs 34, 38). See 9:20-27 and 10:6-20.

9:20-27 The story of Noah begins with him walking in righteousness and obeying the Lord (6:9), but it ends with him lying drunk and naked in his tent and then delivering a curse on Canaan. Even after the great flood, the human race exhibited some of the same sinful characteristics that warranted the judgment in the first place. Special attention is given to the cursed origin of the Canaanites, the corrupt and idolatrous nation Israel would later displace from the Promised Land (see also 15:16 and note; Lev 18:3; 20:23).

9:21 wine . . . became drunk: Wine is a gift from God (Deut 14:26; Ps 104:15; Isa 55:1; see Luke 22:14-20; John 2:1-11). Scripture is clear, however, that excessive consumption of alcohol is a perilous sin (Prov 23:20-21, 29-35; 1 Cor 6:10).

9:22 the father of Canaan: See note on 9:18. • Ham's behavior was shameful. He gazed upon his naked father and, rather than covering him and keeping the matter secret, robbed him of his dignity by announcing it to his brothers (see Exod 21:15, 17; Lam 4:21; Hab 2:15). An ancient Near Eastern tale says that a son is expected to come to his father's aid when he is drunk (Tale of Aqhat; cp. Isa 51:17-18). Ham's neglect of familial duty explains why Noah praised Shem and Japheth but cursed Ham (9:24-27).

9:25 Then he cursed Canaan: Noah foresaw Ham's actions as morally representative of Ham's descendants through Canaan (see 10:6). • lowest of servants: Canaan was condemned to base servitude.

²⁶Then Noah said,

“May the LORD, the God of Shem, be blessed,

and may Canaan be his servant!

²⁷ May God expand the territory of Japheth!

May Japheth share the prosperity of Shem,

and may Canaan be his servant.”

²⁸Noah lived another 350 years after the great flood. ²⁹He lived 950 years, and then he died.

5. THE ACCOUNT OF NOAH'S SONS

(10:1–11:9)

Nations of the Ancient World (10:1-32)

Superscription

10 This is the account of the families of Shem, Ham, and Japheth, the three sons of Noah. Many children were born to them after the great flood.

Descendants of Japheth

²The descendants of Japheth were Gomer, Magog, Madai, Javan, Tubal, Meshech, and Tiras.

³The descendants of Gomer were Ashkenaz, Riphath, and Togarmah.

⁴The descendants of Javan were Elishah, Tarshish, Kittim, and Rodanim. ⁵Their descendants became the seafaring peoples that spread out to various lands, each identified by its own language, clan, and national identity.

Descendants of Ham

⁶The descendants of Ham were Cush, Mizraim, Put, and Canaan.

⁷The descendants of Cush were Seba, Havilah, Sabtah, Raamah, and Sabteca. The descendants of Raamah were Sheba and Dedan.

⁸Cush was also the ancestor of Nimrod, who was the first heroic warrior on earth.

9:26
Gen 14:20

9:27
Gen 10:2-5
Isa 66:19

9:29
Gen 2:17

10:1
Gen 9:18
1 Chr 1:4

10:2
1 Chr 1:5-7
Isa 66:19
Ezek 27:13; 38:2-3, 6

10:3
Jer 51:27
Ezek 27:14

10:4
1 Chr 1:6-7

10:6
1 Chr 1:8-10

10:7
Isa 43:3
Ezek 27:15, 20, 22

9:26 Noah refers to God as the LORD, who formed the covenant with Israel. Shem was the privileged forefather of the Israelites (see 10:21-32).

9:27 May Japheth share the prosperity of Shem (literally May he live in the tents of Shem): Japheth's descendants would live among Shem's descendants and share Shem's prosperity (cp. Rom 11:17-18).

10:1–11:9 The fifth account (10:1) in Genesis (see note on 2:4) unites the Table of Nations (10:2-32) and the Babel story (11:1-9) around the theme of scattering the nations (10:5, 18; 11:4, 8-9). The Table of Nations precedes the Babel story even though the Babel incident caused the geopolitical situation reflected in the Table of Nations. By reversing the order, Genesis links the repopulation of the earth with the blessing conferred upon Noah and his sons (see 9:1 and note) and shows that Abram's call (12:1-3) was God's solution to the problem of human estrangement from God as reflected in the Babel story (11:1-9).

10:1 Many children were born . . . after the great flood: This fulfilled the renewed creation mandate (9:1, 9; cp. 1:28).

10:2-32 This section describes the ancestral origin of the nations of the ancient Near East. Ham was at the center (10:6-20), while the descendants of Japheth and Shem spread out to the surrounding regions of Greece, Crete, Asia Minor, Mesopotamia, Madai, the Arabian peninsula, and northeast Africa. The list selectively highlights nations relevant to Israel. The total of seventy (seven times ten) names indicates completeness (see 46:27; Deut 32:8) and symbolizes the totality of the world, which would later be blessed by the descendants of Abraham (18:18). • Although Shem is mentioned first in 10:1, he is addressed last in the Table because of his connection to Abram (10:21-31; 11:10-32; 12:1). Although God established the boundaries of all nations (see Deut 32:8; Amos 9:7; Acts 17:26), Israel was his special creation—a microcosm of seventy people (46:27) called to be a blessing to a world of seventy nations (see 12:3).

10:2 The seven sons of Japheth settled in the region of Anatolia (the western plateau lands of Turkey) and spoke Indo-European languages. • Gomer was the ancestor of the later Cimmerians who lived north of the Black Sea. • Magog was probably the ancestor of those who settled in the region of Lydia (see Ezek 38:2). • The descendants of Madai were the later Medes of northwest Iran (see 2 Kgs 17:6; Jer 51:11; Dan 5:28). • The descendants of Javan were the later Ionian Greeks. • The descendants of Tubal and Meshech were sometimes allies in battle (Ezek 38:2). Both were possibly from the coastal regions of Anatolia (see Ezek 27:13). • The descendants of Tiras possibly became the Thracians that lived near the Aegean Sea.

10:3 The descendants of Gomer came from near the Upper Euphrates region north of the Black Sea (cp. Ezek 38:1-9). • The descendants of Ashkenaz were the later Scythians who inhabited the region between the Black and Caspian Seas. • Riphath is near Carchemish. • The descendants of Togarmah are associated with Til-garimmu, the capital of Kammanu in modern Armenia (see Ezek 38:6).

10:4 Elishah is probably Cyprus. • Tarshish is possibly southwest Spain

(see note on Jon 1:3). • The Kittim were inhabitants of southern Cyprus. • The Rodanim (as in some Hebrew manuscripts and Greek version [see also 1 Chr 1:7]; most Hebrew manuscripts read Dodanim) were inhabitants of the island of Rhodes, later a territory of Greece.

10:5 seafaring peoples . . . various lands: They settled around the Mediterranean and on various islands. • language: This occurred after the Tower of Babel episode (11:1-9; see note on 10:1–11:9).

10:6 The peoples descended from Ham's four sons (Egyptians, Babylonians, Assyrians, Canaanites) were Israel's most hostile neighbors. • Cush was possibly in Ethiopia or ancient Nubia (northern Sudan). • Mizraim was the ancient name for Egypt (50:11). • Put was in Libya. • Canaan encompassed southern Syria, Phoenicia, and Palestine west of the Jordan River. In Moses' time, Egypt and Canaan were provinces of the same empire. Ham's descendants were excluded from the blessing of Shem's line (9:20-28).

10:7 The sons of Cush and Raamah together total seven. • Seba was in northern Africa (see Isa 43:3; 45:14). • Havilah was in southwest Arabia. • Sabtah was in southern Arabia, in ancient Hadramaut, near the Persian Gulf. • Raamah was in southwest Arabia near Najran. • Sabteca was in ancient Samudake near the Persian Gulf. • Sheba was a kingdom in southwest Arabia with commercial colonies (see 1 Kgs 10). • Dedan was in northern Arabia.

10:8-12 Special attention is given to the early history of Babylonia and Assyria, the Mesopotamian empires that would conquer and exile Israel and Judah.

Japheth 9:27

Gomer Ezek 38:6
 Ashkenaz Jer 51:27
 Togarmah Ezek 27:14; 38:6
 Magog Ezek 38:2; 39:6; Rev 20:8
 Madai [Medes] 2 Kgs 17:6; Esth 1:19; Acts 2:9
 Javan
 Elishah Ezek 27:7
 Tarshish Ps 72:10; Isa 23:1; 60:9; 66:19; Jer 10:9; Jon 1:3
 Tubal Isa 66:19; Ezek 27:13; 38:2
 Meshech Ps 120:5; Ezek 32:26; 39:1

Ham 14:5; 1 Chr 4:38–41; Ps 105:27
 Cush 2:13; Num 12:1; 1 Chr 1:10
 Havilah 25:18; 1 Sam 15:7
 Raamah Ezek 27:22

Sheba 1 Kgs 10:1–13; Isa 60:6; Ezek 27:22–23; Matt 12:42
 Dedan 25:3; Jer 25:23; Ezek 25:13; 27:15
 Nimrod 1 Chr 1:10; Mic 5:6
 Mizraim 50:11
 Caphtorites Deut 2:23
 Put Nah 3:9
 Canaan 11:31; 12:5–10
 Sidon Josh 13:4–6; 1 Kgs 5:6; 11:33; 16:31; Ezek 28:21–24; Matt 11:21–22; Luke 6:17; Acts 27:3
 Hittites 23:1–20; Num 13:29; Josh 1:4
 Jebusites Josh 15:63; Judg 19:10–11; 2 Sam 5:6–8; Zech 9:7
 Amorites 14:7, 13; Num 21:21–35; Josh 5:1; 10:1–13

Girgashites 15:21; Deut 7:1; Josh 3:10; 24:11; 1 Chr 1:14; Neh 9:8
 Hivites 34:1–2; 36:2; Deut 20:17; Josh 9:3–7; 11:3
 Arkites Josh 16:2; 2 Sam 15:32
 Arvadites Ezek 27:8, 11
 Zemarites 2 Chr 13:4
 Hamathites 2 Sam 8:9–10; 2 Kgs 14:28; 23:33

Shem

Elam 14:1–9; Ezra 4:9; Isa 22:6; Jer 49:34–39; Ezek 32:24; Dan 8:2; Acts 2:9
 Asshur 2:14; 25:3; 25:18; Ezek 27:23
 Aram 24:10; 25:20; 28:5–31:21; Num 23:7; Judg 3:8; 2 Sam 8:5–6 northern ARABIA (ASSHUR, ELAM, ARAM, etc.). The ancients knew a large area of civilization, from SPAIN to MEDIA (MADAI), and from the Caucasus Mountains (east of the BLACK SEA) to southern ARABIA.

⁹Since he was the greatest hunter in the world, his name became proverbial. People would say, "This man is like Nimrod, the greatest hunter in the world."
¹⁰He built his kingdom in the land of Babylonia, with the cities of Babylon, Erech, Akkad, and Calneh. ¹¹From there he expanded his territory to Assyria, building the cities of Nineveh, Rehoboth-ir, Calah, ¹²and Resen (the great city located between Nineveh and Calah).
¹³Mizraim was the ancestor of the Ludites, Anamites, Lehabites, Naphtuhites, ¹⁴Pathrusites, Casluhites, and the Capthorites, from whom the Philistines came.
¹⁵Canaan's oldest son was Sidon, the ancestor of the Sidonians. Canaan was also the ancestor of the Hittites, ¹⁶Jebusites, Amorites, Girgashites, ¹⁷Hivites, Arkites, Sinites, ¹⁸Arvadites, Zemarites, and Hamathites. The Canaanite clans eventually spread out, ¹⁹and the territory of Canaan extended from Sidon in the north to Gerar and Gaza in the south, and east as far as Sodom, Gomorrah, Admah, and Zeboiim, near Lasha.

²⁰These were the descendants of Ham, identified by clan, language, territory, and national identity.

Descendants of Shem

²¹Sons were also born to Shem, the older brother of Japheth. Shem was the ancestor of all the descendants of Eber.
²²The descendants of Shem were Elam, Asshur, Arphaxad, Lud, and Aram.

10:10
 Gen 11:9
10:11
 Mic 5:6
10:14
 1 Chr 1:12
10:15
 Gen 15:20; 23:3
 1 Chr 1:13
 Jer 47:4
10:16
 Gen 15:18-21
10:19
 Gen 14:2

10:9 Nimrod attained great fame by conquest and terror; his empire extended from Babylonia in the south to Assyria in the north (10:10-12). • the greatest hunter in the world (literally a great hunter before the Lord): Assyrian monarchs glorified their own power, often depicting themselves as valiant hunter-conquerors.

10:10-12 Babylonia (Hebrew Shinar) is the area surrounding the Tigris and Euphrates in southern Mesopotamia. This kingdom eventually reached into northern Mesopotamia (Assyria). • Of the cities mentioned, Babylon is most important because of its role in building the Tower of Babel (see 11:4 and note). • Erech was ancient Uruk and is now Warka in southern Iraq (see Ezra 4:9-10). • Akkad was the ancient Agade north of Babylon, home of the famous ruler Sargon (2370–2295 bc). • The location of Calneh is uncertain, though it is presumably one of Nimrod's cities located north of Aram-naharaim in southern Mesopotamia (cp. Amos 6:2). • building . . . Nineveh: Like Cain, Nimrod built cities (see 4:17 and comments). Nineveh was an ancient Assyrian city on the east bank of the Tigris River in northern Iraq. • Rehoboth-ir was a daughter-city of Nineveh or was located nearby. • Calah is modern Tell Nimrud, south of Nineveh. • Resen is possibly modern Selamiyeh, northwest of Tell Nimrud.

10:11 From there he expanded his territory to Assyria: The Hebrew text can also be translated From that land Assyria went out.

10:13-14 The Ludites were Lydian tribes west of the Nile delta. • The identity of the Anamites is uncertain. They were possibly Egyptians near Cyrene, west of Egypt. • The Lehabites were possibly a Libyan tribe. • The Naphtuhites inhabited northern Egypt. • The Pathrusites inhabited southern Egypt. • Casluhites, and the Capthorites, from whom the Philistines came (Hebrew text reads Casluhites, from whom the Philistines came, and Capthorites; cp. Jer 47:4; Amos 9:7): The Casluhites possibly inhabited an Egyptian district also known as Cyrenaica. The Capthorites were Cretans (see Jer 47:4; Amos 9:7). The Philistines from Crete were sea people who lived intermittently in southwest Canaan during the period of the Exodus and later (Exod 13:17; Amos 9:7). They were among Israel's most troublesome enemies during the early monarchy (see 1–2 Samuel).

10:15-18 Sidon settled in Phoenicia, north of Canaan. • Hittites (Hebrew Heth): The Hittites in Genesis were a coalition of cities within Canaan (see 26:34-35; 27:46; Ezek 16:3). They were probably not the same as the Hittites of Anatolia (Asia Minor), whose empire was one of the great empires of antiquity during the patriarchal period. • The Jebusites were ancient inhabitants of Jerusalem (Josh 15:63; Judg 19:10-11; 2 Sam 5:6-9). • The Amorites lived throughout the mountains of Palestine in Canaan (see 15:16; 48:22; Num 13:29; Deut 3:8; Josh 10:5; Judg 1:35; 10:8; Ezek 16:3). • Little is known of the Girgashites, a Canaanite tribe (15:21; Deut 7:1; Josh 3:10). • The Hivites were an uncircumcised Canaanite tribe (34:2, 13-24; Josh 9:1, 7; 11:3; Judg 3:3; 2 Sam 24:7). • The Arkites resided in Tell 'Arqa in Lebanon. • The Sinities formed a city-state and inhabited Phoenicia. • The Arvadites inhabited Ruad in northern Phoenicia, near the El Kebir River. They were known for shipping (cp. Ezek 27:8). • The Zemarites inhabited Sumur (modern Sumra), north of Arka on the Phoenician coast. • The Hamathites founded what is now Hama on the Orontes River, the northern boundary of Canaan (see Num 34:8; Josh 13:5; 2 Sam 8:9-10; 1 Kgs 8:65; 2 Kgs 14:25-28).

10:19 The territory of Canaan is specifically marked off because it would be taken from its inhabitants and given to Israel (see 15:18; Num 34:2-12; Ezek 47:15-20; 48:1-28). • An ancient north-south seacoast highway (the Via Maris) extended from Sidon . . . to Gerar, connecting Egypt to Mesopotamia. • Modern Gaza is 11 miles northwest of Gerar. • Sodom and Gomorrah were cities on the border of the land southeast of the Dead Sea. • Admah and Zeboiim are mentioned 15 times in connection with Sodom and Gomorrah (14:2, 8; Deut 29:23; see Hos 11:8). All four cities were destroyed by God to cleanse the land (see ch 19). • Lasha was possibly in the northern region of the Dead Sea.

10:21 Shem, the older brother of Japheth (or Shem, whose older brother was Japheth), was the father of the Semitic peoples. The descendants listed represent countries east of Israel (modern Iraq, Iran, and Syria). The narrator lists these locations within Mesopotamia since Abram, the father of Israel, originated from this area (see 11:27-32). • Eber receives special attention because of his connection with Abram (see note on 10:24).

10:22 The descendants of Elam lived in the region of modern southwestern Iran (see 14:1, 9; Ezra 4:9; Isa 11:11). • The descendants of Asshur were later Assyrians who lived under Nimrod's jurisdiction (see 10:11). Sumerians descended from Ham were ousted by Mesopotamian Semites. • Arphaxad possibly settled northeast of Nineveh; his descendants are further described in 11:12-26. • Lud was near the Tigris River; its people were related to the Lydians (see 10:13). • Aram was a kingdom of tribes that lived in the Mesopotamian plains.

10:23
Job 1:1
10:24
Luke 3:35
10:32
Gen 9:19; 10:1
11:2
Gen 10:10; 14:1
Isa 11:11
11:3
Gen 14:10
11:4
2 Sam 8:13
11:5
Gen 18:21
Exod 19:11
11:6
Gen 9:19; 11:1

²³The descendants of Aram were Uz, Hul, Gether, and Mash.

²⁴Arphaxad was the father of Shelah, and Shelah was the father of Eber.

²⁵Eber had two sons. The first was named Peleg (which means "division"), for during his lifetime the people of the world were divided into different language groups. His brother's name was Joktan.

²⁶Joktan was the ancestor of Almodad, Sheleph, Hazarmaveth, Jerah, ²⁷Hadoram, Uzal, Diklah, ²⁸Obal, Abimael, Sheba, ²⁹Ophir, Havilah, and Jobab. All these were descendants of Joktan.

³⁰The territory they occupied extended from Mesha all the way to Sephar in the eastern mountains.

³¹These were the descendants of Shem, identified by clan, language, territory, and national identity.

Conclusion

³²These are the clans that descended from Noah's sons, arranged by nation according to their lines of descent. All the nations of the earth descended from these clans after the great flood.

The Dispersion at Babel (11:1-9)

The Tower of Babel

11 At one time all the people of the world spoke the same language and used the same words. ²As the people migrated to the east, they found a plain in the land of Babylonia and settled there.

³They began saying to each other, "Let's make bricks and harden them with fire." (In this region bricks were used instead of stone, and tar was used for mortar.) ⁴Then they said, "Come, let's build a great city for ourselves with a tower that reaches into the sky. This will make us famous and keep us from being scattered all over the world."

The Lord Disperses the Nations

⁵But the LORD came down to look at the city and the tower the people were building.

⁶"Look!" he said. "The people are united,

10:23 The patriarchs later interacted with the descendants of Aram (see 25:20; 31:20; Deut 26:5). • Uz was the chief Aramean tribe, possibly located northeast of the Jordan; it was Job's home (see Job 1:1; see also Lam 4:21). • Hul is unknown. He possibly founded Armenia. • Gether is unknown; he was possibly the founder of the Syrians. • Mash might be associated with Mount Masus in northern Mesopotamia or with a part of the Lebanon Mountains.

10:24 Arphaxad was the father of Shelah: Greek version reads Arphaxad was the father of Cainan, Cainan was the father of Shelah. Cp. Luke 3:36. • Shelah is unknown, but may be short for Methushelah (cp. 38:5, 11). • Eber was the ancestor of Abram the Hebrew (11:10-26); his name is at the root of the term "Hebrew" (see 14:13; 39:14; 40:15; 41:12; Exod 2:11; 3:18).

10:25 Peleg means division, anticipating the separation of people into language groups after Babel (11:1-9). Peleg's line led to Abram (see 11:16-26). • Joktan was the ancestor of the southern Arabian tribes. The Ishmaelite tribes were in northern Arabia (see 25:13-16).

10:26-32 There were fourteen sons of Shem by Eber through Joktan. The placement of the Babel story between the lines of Joktan and Peleg ties Joktan to the judgment of the Babel story (11:1-9) and ties Peleg to Abram (11:27-12:1).

10:26-29 Almodad was an ancestor, region, or tribe in modern Yemen. • Sheleph was a tribe of Yemen. • Hazarmaveth was related to Hadramaut in southern Arabia. • Jerah is unknown, but was possibly associated with Mount Barach. • Hadoram was an Arabian tribe. • Uzal was Sana'a, an old capital of Yemen in pre-Islamic times. • Diklah was a southern Arabian oasis in Mina. • Obal was between Hodeida and Sana'a in southwest Arabia. • Abimael was a Sabaeen. • Sheba was in southern Arabia (see 10:7). • Ophir was a region of southern Arabia between Sheba and Havilah; it was a source of gold (Isa 13:12). • Havilah: See 10:7. • Jobab was possibly Jobebital in southern Arabia.

10:30 Mesha was a region in northern Arabia, south of Hadramaut. • Sephar is identified with Isfar, south of Hadramaut in Yemen.

11:1-9 The story of the unfinished tower carries forward themes of language and solidarity from the Table of Nations (ch 10). The builders' desire for autonomy recalls the rebellion in Eden (ch 3) and establishes the need for Abram's redemptive faith in the midst of international disorder (ch 12). The scattering of the nations anticipates the warning to Israel that idolatry would result in their being scattered and their cities devastated (see Num 10:35; Lev 26:33; Deut 4:27; 28:64; 30:3). Chronologically, the story is a flashback that explains the rise of the nations during Peleg's time (see 10:25).

11:1 At one time: The events described in 11:1-9 led to the scattering of nations that is reflected in the genealogies of 10:2-30. The reversal of order has a theological purpose (see note on 10:1-11:9).

11:2 migrated to the east: See note on

3:24. • Babylonia (Hebrew Shinar) was located in southern Mesopotamia, the region of Nimrod's later empire and city-building campaign (see 10:10; Isa 11:11; Dan 1:2; Zech 5:11).

11:3 Stone was plentiful in Canaan; in Mesopotamia, stone was scarce and brick technology was developed. • Tar was made from bitumen, a natural, cement-like, waterproof asphalt (see 6:14; Exod 2:3).

11:4 Far from the original garden (2:15), the first cities of Genesis represent arrogance (4:17), tyranny (10:8-12), and wickedness (18:20-21). The city on the Babylonian plain was a magnet for human pride and idolatry. • a tower that reaches into the sky: This was probably a temple-tower (a ziggurat). Common in ancient Babylonian urban culture, ziggurats were regarded as sacred mountains by which deities descended to earth (Jacob's dream in 28:12 possibly reflects this idea). • This will make us famous (literally let us make a name for ourselves): The tower builders sought fame through idolatrous ambition. God promised to give Abram a famous name because of his humble obedience (12:2).

11:5 came down: The tower was a human attempt to ascend to God's realm (see Deut 26:15; Ps 2:4; 103:19; 115:16). The folly of that attempt was exposed by God's "coming down" to see their feeble efforts.

11:6 If left unchecked, the tower builders' solidarity and ambition would allow human wickedness to flourish in unimaginable ways.

and they all speak the same language. After this, nothing they set out to do will be impossible for them! ⁷Come, let's go down and confuse the people with different languages. Then they won't be able to understand each other."

⁸In that way, the LORD scattered them all over the world, and they stopped building the city. ⁹That is why the city was called Babel, because that is where the LORD confused the people with different languages. In this way he scattered them all over the world.

6. THE ACCOUNT OF SHEM'S DESCENDANTS (11:10-26)

¹⁰This is the account of Shem's family.

Two years after the great flood, when Shem was 100 years old, he became the father of Arphaxad. ¹¹After the birth of Arphaxad, Shem lived another 500 years and had other sons and daughters.

¹²When Arphaxad was 35 years old, he became the father of Shelah. ¹³After the birth of Shelah, Arphaxad lived another 403 years and had other sons and daughters.

¹⁴When Shelah was 30 years old, he became the father of Eber. ¹⁵After the birth of Eber, Shelah lived another 403 years and had other sons and daughters.

¹⁶When Eber was 34 years old, he became the father of Peleg. ¹⁷After the birth of Peleg, Eber lived another 430 years and had other sons and daughters.

¹⁸When Peleg was 30 years old, he became the father of Reu. ¹⁹After the birth of Reu, Peleg lived another 209 years and had other sons and daughters.

²⁰When Reu was 32 years old, he became the father of Serug. ²¹After the birth of Serug, Reu lived another 207 years and had other sons and daughters.

²²When Serug was 30 years old, he became the father of Nahor. ²³After the birth of Nahor, Serug lived another 200 years and had other sons and daughters.

²⁴When Nahor was 29 years old, he became the father of Terah. ²⁵After the birth of Terah, Nahor lived another 119 years and had other sons and daughters.

²⁶After Terah was 70 years old, he became the father of Abram, Nahor, and Haran.

7. THE ACCOUNT OF TERAH'S DESCENDANTS (11:27-25:11) The Family of Terah (11:27-32)

²⁷This is the account of Terah's family. Terah was the father of Abram, Nahor, and Haran; and Haran was the father of Lot.

²⁸But Haran died in Ur of the Chaldeans, the land of his birth, while his father, Terah, was 11:7

Gen 1:26
11:8
Gen 9:19
11:9
Gen 10:10
11:10
Gen 10:22-25
Luke 3:36
11:12
Luke 3:36
11:13
1 Chr 1:17
11:14
Luke 3:35
11:16
Luke 3:35
11:18
Luke 3:35
11:20
Luke 3:35
11:22
Luke 3:34
11:24
Josh 24:2
Luke 3:34
11:26
Gen 22:20
1 Chr 1:26-27
Luke 3:34
11:29
Gen 17:15; 20:11-12;
22:20
11:30
Gen 16:1; 18:11;
25:21
1 Sam 1:5
Luke 1:7
11:31
Gen 27:43
Josh 24:2
Acts 7:4

11:7 Come, let's go down: God addresses his angelic court (see 1:26; 3:22; and notes). • won't be able to understand each other: Their inability to communicate would curtail their unified sinful ambition. The God-honoring unity of language on the day of Pentecost was a symbolic reversal of the Babel dispersion (Acts 2:5-13; see Zeph 3:9).

11:8 the LORD scattered them: Similarly, Adam and Eve's punishment for grasping at autonomy and Cain's punishment for murder involved banishment and dispersion (3:23; 4:12, 14; 9:19; 10:5, 25, 32).

11:9 Babel: Or Babylon. Babel sounds like a Hebrew term that means "confusion." The Babylonians viewed their city as the residence or gateway of the gods. The pun that concludes this account accurately reveals Babylon's spiritual confusion. Babylon achieved prominence under Nimrod (10:10) and in later biblical history (see 2 Kgs 25). Its role as an epicenter of arrogance and idolatry make it a fitting image for the anti-God forces associated with the end of time (e.g., Rev 14:8; 16:19; 18:2). • The tower builders had centralized to ascend into God's realm (11:3-4). God descended and scattered them all over the world to frustrate their idolatrous ambition.

11:10 This account of Shem's family resumes the line of Shem from 10:21-32, now with special focus on the line leading to Abram. Only Abram and Israel are heirs to Shem's God (see 9:26-27; Deut 32:8-9). The Babel story vividly depicts the culture that Abram was called to abandon (12:1; 24:6-7). Together with the account of Terah's descendants (11:27-32), this second account of Shem's line forms a bridge from the universal history of chs 1-11 to the national history of Israel that begins in ch 12. Abram is the remnant from Babel's confused world. God called him as an act of grace whereby the fractured world of Babel would be blessed (12:3). • the father of: Or the ancestor of; also in 11:12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24. Hebrew genealogies do not necessarily list every single generation.

11:11 After the birth of: Or After the birth of this ancestor of; also in 11:13, 15, 17, 19, 21, 23, 25 (see note on 11:10).

11:12-13 Greek version reads ¹²*When Arphaxad was 135 years old, he became the father of Cainan.* ¹³*After the birth of Cainan, Arphaxad lived another 430 years and had other sons and daughters, and then he died. When* Cainan was 130 years old, he became the father of Shelah. After the birth of Shelah, Cainan lived another 330 years and had other sons and daughters, and then he died. Cp. Luke 3:35-36.

11:18 Peleg: See note on 10:25.

11:27-25:11 This is the account (Hebrew toledoth; see note on 2:4) of Terah's family. What follows are the particulars about the family descended from Terah, notably about Abraham and God's covenant with him, and about Isaac, the child of promise, who carried forward the line and the blessing to the next generation.

11:27-32 This brief section provides a complete summary of Terah's life and accounts for his other sons and their marriages; it also introduces Lot, Abram's nephew, who later played a prominent role. The ancestors, including Terah and his family, were idolatrous, worshipping other gods in Mesopotamia (Josh 24:2).

11:27 Nahor was the father of Laban, whose daughters later became Jacob's wives (chs 29-31). • Lot: See "Lot," 19:1-38, p. 58.

11:28 The call of Abram occurred in Ur of the Chaldeans (15:7; Acts 7:2-4), the 12:1

Gen 15:7
*Acts 7:3
Heb 11:8
1^{ere}ets (0776)
*Gen 13:17

12:2
Gen 13:16; 15:5; 17:4;
18:18; 22:17
Zech 8:13
*barak (1288)
*Gen 49:28

12:3
Gen 22:18; 26:4
Exod 23:22
Acts 3:25
*Gal 3:8

12:4
Gen 11:26, 31

still living. ²⁹Meanwhile, Abram and Nahor both married. The name of Abram's wife was Sarai, and the name of Nahor's wife was Milcah. (Milcah and her sister Iscah were daughters of Nahor's brother Haran.) ³⁰But Sarai was unable to become pregnant and had no children.

³¹One day Terah took his son Abram, his daughter-in-law Sarai (his son Abram's wife), and his grandson Lot (his son Haran's child) and moved away from Ur of the Chaldeans. He was headed for the land of Canaan, but they stopped at Haran and settled there. ³²Terah lived for 205 years and died while still in Haran.

The Call of Abram (12:1-9)

12 The LORD had said to Abram, "Leave your native country, your relatives, and your father's family, and go to the land that I will show you. ²I will make you into a great nation. I will ^{*}bless you and make you famous, and you will be a blessing to others. ³I will bless those who bless you and curse those who treat you with contempt. All the families on earth will be blessed through you."

⁴So Abram departed as the LORD had instructed, and Lot went with him. Abram was seventy-five years old when he left Haran. ⁵He took his wife, Sarai, his nephew Lot, main city of Sumer in Mesopotamia near the mouth of the Persian Gulf. The family had moved there perhaps generations before the call. Their ancestral home ("native country," 12:1) was apparently near Haran, in the region of the descendants of Shem (11:10-26); thus they settled there when they left Ur (11:31) and were later described as "Arameans" (Deut 26:5). • land of his birth: The same Hebrew phrase is repeated in 12:1 ("native country"), making Ur, not Haran, the location of Abram's call (see 15:7; Neh 9:7; Acts 7:2).

Terah

†Terah's Family (11:27-30), to four generations. See profiles for ABRAHAM (p. 46), SARAI (p. 55), LOT (p. 58), ISHMAEL (p. 53), ISAAC (p. 63), REBEKAH (p. 69), ESAU (p. 71), JACOB (p. 76), LEAH (p. 79), and RACHEL (p. 78).

11:29 Sarai means "princess" in Hebrew. No mention is made of Sarai's parentage, perhaps to add suspense to the Abimelech story, which reveals that she was Abram's half sister (20:9-12). Later, the law prohibited such a marriage (Lev 18:9; 20:17; Deut 27:22). • Nahor's wife was Milcah: Milcah was Haran's daughter and Nahor's niece (see 11:29). Her son Bethuel was the father of Rebekah, the wife of Abram's son Isaac (24:10, 15, 24). The name Milcah is related to the Hebrew word meaning "queen." In Akkadian, it is a title of the goddess Ishtar, the moon-god's daughter. Terah's name is related to the word for "moon" in Hebrew; his whole family appears to have worshiped Sin, the moon-god (see Josh 24:14).

11:30 Sarai, Rebekah (25:21), and Rachel (29:31) all suffered infertility. Sarai's situation in particular highlights the paradox between the apparent reality and God's promise to give many descendants (12:2). The Israelite nation's origin from barren women fixes its identity in the sovereignty of God, who miraculously gives children to barren women (see also 1 Sam 1:2; 2:5; Ps 113:9; Isa 54:1).

11:31 Terah took: The text is clear that Abram's departure from Ur was prompted by God's calling (see note on 11:28), but the event is described from Terah's perspective, in keeping with the patriarchy of ancient Near Eastern culture. This cultural deference to the oldest male is evidently why Abram did not continue on to Canaan by himself at this time (see Acts 7:2-4). • Haran was 550 miles northwest of Ur, near the Syrian-Turkish border. Despite the similar name, there is no connection with Terah's son Haran, who had died in Ur (11:28). • Haran means "caravan." Ancient commercial routes converged there, making it a key site for trade. • Haran was also well-known for the moon worship to which Terah's family was apparently devoted (see note on 11:29).

11:32 205 years: Some ancient versions read 145 years; cp. 11:26 and 12:4.

12:1-9 Through Abram's faith and family, God began restoring the blessing. God called Abram from a pagan world to begin a new nation; his promises to Abram later became a covenant (ch 15). • God's call to Abram later helped convince the Israelites to leave Egypt and go to the land God promised to Abram. It also reminded the Babylonian exiles of their need to return to their own land (e.g., Isa 51).

12:1-3 These verses are structured around two commands to Abram: Leave and be a blessing (see note on 12:2). Each directive is followed by three promises conditioned upon obedience.

12:1 Abram knew that he should leave, but he did not know where he was going. Obedience required faith.

12:2 and you will be a blessing (or so that you will be a blessing): This clause is a command in Hebrew, but it is also a promise conditioned upon Abram's obedience to God's command (12:1): "Go . . . so that you will be a blessing. Be a blessing, so that I can bless and curse others." • make you famous (literally make your name great): Abram received the fame sought by the builders of Babel (see 11:4 and note).

12:3 Based on Abram's obedience to the command to be a blessing (12:2), God gave him three more promises. • those who treat you with contempt: People who disregarded Abram and his covenant were rejecting God's choice and plan. • All the families on earth will be blessed: By faith, they could participate in the covenant God was making with Abram. The blessing spread to the whole world through Abraham, Israel, the covenants, the prophets, Scripture, and the Messiah (Gal 3:8, 16; cp. Rom 9:4-5).

12:4-9 Abram's obedience to God's call corresponded to God's commands (see note on 12:1-3). He journeyed to Canaan (12:4-6) and became a blessing (12:5-9).

12:4 Abram was middle-aged, settled, prosperous, aristocratic, and polytheistic (see note on 11:27-32). When the LORD spoke to him (12:1-3), he obediently left his old ways in Ur to follow God's plan. Since Abram responded in faith, God's promises (12:2-3) could be confirmed in a binding covenant (15:8-21).

12:5 The people (Hebrew hannepesh, "the lives") he had taken into his household were probably converts; Abram first became a blessing by influencing people in his household to join him in following the Lord.

and all his wealth—his livestock and all the people he had taken into his household at Haran—and headed for the land of Canaan. When they arrived in Canaan, ⁶Abram traveled through the land as far as Shechem. There he set up camp beside the oak of Moreh. At that time, the area was inhabited by Canaanites.

⁷Then the LORD appeared to Abram and said, “I will give this land to your ^adescendants.” And Abram built an altar there and dedicated it to the LORD, who had appeared to him. ⁸After that, Abram traveled south and set up camp in the hill country, with Bethel to the west and Ai to the east. There he built another altar and dedicated it to the LORD, and he worshiped the LORD. ⁹Then Abram continued traveling south by stages toward the Negev.

Abram and Sarai in Egypt (12:10-20)

¹⁰At that time a severe famine struck the land of Canaan, forcing Abram to go down

12:6
Gen 33:18; 35:4
Deut 11:30

12:7
Gen 13:15
*Gal 3:16
*zera' (2233)
* Gen 26:3

12:8
Gen 4:26; 8:20; 22:9

12:9
Gen 13:1; 20:1

12:10
Gen 26:1; 42:5

God's Covenant Relationships (12:1-9)

Gen 9:1-17; 15:1-21;
17:9-14
Exod 6:2-5;
19:1-24:18
Lev 26:1-46
Deut 7:7-15; 29:2-29
Josh 8:30-35; 24:1-8
2 Sam 7:5-16
Ezra 10:1-17
Isa 59:20-21
Jer 31:31-34; 33:19-26; 34:12-20
Ezek 16:1-63
Luke 22:20
Gal 4:21-31
Eph 2:11-13
Heb 8:6-13; 10:11-
18; 12:24

The covenant relationships that God established and developed with his people may be the most important theological theme of the OT. The covenant theme in the OT begins with Noah, through whom God made a covenant with all of creation. God promised to uphold the created order and gave the rainbow as the sign of this commitment (9:1-17).

God later established a covenant relationship with Abraham and his family; the sign of this covenant was circumcision (12:1-9; 15:1-21; 17:9-14). God's covenant with Abraham promised descendants, land, and rulers; these promises formed the basis for the covenants God later made with his people.

God's covenant with Israel at Mount Sinai was a national covenant (Exod 19-24) whose sign was the Sabbath; it addressed how Israel would be the chosen descendants of Abraham. This covenant took the form of a suzerain-vassal treaty, an ancient relationship established between a great king and loyal subjects (see note on Exod 20:1-23:33).

The Sinai covenant was renewed in Deuteronomy and Josh 24:1-28. The renewal focused on God's promise of land and how Israel would conduct itself while inhabiting the land. Through his covenant with Israel, God affirmed that he was their God and they were his people, a relationship that required their complete loyalty (Jer 11:4; 24:7; Ezek 11:20; 14:11). God, the great king, would bless and protect the nation Israel. Israel's obligation was to keep God's commands, decrees, and regulations (Exod 19:5, 8; 24:3, 7; Deut 30:15-20).

God later formed a covenant with King David (2 Sam 7:5-16), which provided the line of kings promised to Abraham and Jacob (Gen 17:6, 16; 35:11).

Years later, at a low point in Israel's history, the prophet Jeremiah foretold a “new covenant” in Israel's future (Jer 31:31-33), in which the ideals of the covenants with Abraham and Israel would finally be realized. Jeremiah's prophecy found fulfillment in the person and work of Jesus Christ (see Luke 22:20; Heb 8:6-13; 12:24). This new covenant provides the ultimate fulfillment of the previous promises that were made to God's people.

God's covenants were motivated by God's faithful love (Hebrew khesed), which enabled a relationship to continue between God and his people. God initiated this relationship, announced its conditions, and rewarded his people accordingly. These covenants were not rewards but divine gifts. God may exclude people from the covenant relationship (Hos 1:9), but he will not break, revoke, or withdraw his covenants. If broken or annulled by the human parties, the covenant could be renewed only through a reapplication of God's faithful love (Exod 34:6-9; Jer 31:31-33). God's love has preserved the relationship, but his grace must not be mocked (Isa 54:7-10; 55:3; 61:8; 1 Cor 6:9-10; Gal 6:7).

12:6-7 The oak of Moreh was apparently a Canaanite shrine; fertile groves of trees were sacred to the Canaanites (cp. Isa 1:29), and Moreh means “teacher.” Abram proclaimed (Luther: “preached”) the Lord's name beside a pagan place of worship and instruction (12:8). • Abram continued to be a blessing when he built an altar to worship God at Shechem and east of Bethel (12:8).

12:7 The LORD appeared to Abram at Shechem (12:6) to confirm that this land was the Promised Land. Israel was to occupy this land, but sharing in God's promises required their faith (cp. Num 14; Josh 1:6-9). • to your descendants (literally seed): Abram did not yet possess the land; he lived as a temporary settler.

12:8-9 Abram had to keep moving camp because the Canaanites had the fertile land.

12:8 he worshiped the LORD (literally he made proclamation of the LORD by name): Proclaiming the name (identity and character) of the Lord is central to worship and witness (cp. 4:26; see Exod 34:5-7). Abram had to distinguish his sacrificial worship from that of the pagan Canaanites.

12:11
Gen 29:17
12:12
Gen 20:11
12:16
Gen 20:14; 24:35
12:17
1 Chr 16:21
Ps 105:14
12:18
Gen 20:9-10
12:19
Gen 20:5; 26:9
13:1
Gen 12:9
13:2
Gen 12:5

to Egypt, where he lived as a foreigner. ¹¹As he was approaching the border of Egypt, Abram said to his wife, Sarai, "Look, you are a very beautiful woman. ¹²When the Egyptians see you, they will say, 'This is his wife. Let's kill him; then we can have her!' ¹³So please tell them you are my sister. Then they will spare my life and treat me well because of their interest in you."

¹⁴And sure enough, when Abram arrived in Egypt, everyone noticed Sarai's beauty. ¹⁵When the palace officials saw her, they sang her praises to Pharaoh, their king, and Sarai was taken into his palace. ¹⁶Then Pharaoh gave Abram many gifts because of her—sheep, goats, cattle, male and female donkeys, male and female servants, and camels.

¹⁷But the LORD sent terrible plagues upon Pharaoh and his household because of Sarai, Abram's wife. ¹⁸So Pharaoh summoned Abram and accused him sharply. "What have you done to me?" he demanded. "Why didn't you tell me she was your wife? ¹⁹Why did you say, 'She is my sister,' and allow me to take her as my wife? Now then, here is your wife. Take her and get out of here!" ²⁰Pharaoh ordered some of his men to escort them, and he sent Abram out of the country, along with his wife and all his possessions.

Abram and Lot Separate (13:1-18)

13 So Abram left Egypt and traveled north into the Negev, along with his wife and Lot and all that they owned. ²Abram was very rich in livestock, silver, ◀ Abram's Journey to Canaan (12:1-9). Traditionally, "Ur of the Chaldeans" (11:28, 31; 15:7) has been identified with UR in Mesopotamia (SOUTHERN UR), a chief city of ancient Sumer. Some scholars have proposed a NORTHERN UR to the north of HARAN, where Abram's extended family settled (see 27:43; 28:10; 29:4; Acts 7:2-4).

about Sarai that he could not prevent. His scheme had resulted in a terrible bind that endangered him, Sarai, and the promise. • Abram appeared to prosper from his deception, but the new possessions also caused crises. Abram and Lot had to separate (ch 13), and Hagar, an Egyptian maiden, became the mother of the Ishmaelites, perennial enemies of Israel (ch 16).

12:14-15 Sarai was 65 years old, but she lived to be 127; she was like a modern childless woman of about 35. She and Abram came from a noble family (see note on 11:29), so she was regal in her person and dress. Pharaoh was attracted by her physical appearance and her political assets.

12:15 Pharaoh was a title, not a personal name (37:36; Exod 1:15).

12:17-19 God's intervention rescued Sarai and preserved the marriage to fulfill the covenant promise. Sarai's restoration to Abram came with a rebuke from Pharaoh on God's behalf (12:18-19).

12:20 No answer to Pharaoh's questions (12:18-19) was needed, because the rebuke was followed by expulsion. Pharaoh's command paralleled God's command to Abram (12:1), but Pharaoh's demand brought shame and disgrace. God was faithful in preserving his promise.

13:1-7 This story is set in conflict amidst God's blessings. In the opening verses, Abram returns to a place where he had built an altar. Previous events are emphasized as Abram's return to the land is described (13:3-4); Abram renewed his worship and again proclaimed the Lord's name (cp. 12:8).

13:2 Abram already had powerful resources (12:5); his Egyptian sojourn augmented his wealth and power (12:16).

12:10-20 This episode shows that God would not allow Abram to jeopardize his promises. Just after Abram's obedience to the call, a famine tested his weak faith. God delivered him and his family, even though Abram foolishly used deception rather than trusting in God to preserve him in Egypt. • This story deliberately parallels Israel's later bondage in Egypt. Because of a famine (12:10 // 47:13), Abram/Israel went to Egypt (12:10 // 47:27); there was an attempt to kill the males and save the females (12:12 // Exod 1:22); God plagued Egypt (12:17 // Exod 7:14-11:10); Abram/Israel plundered Egypt (12:16 // Exod 12:35-36); they were expelled (Hebrew shalakh, "send"; 12:19-20 // Exod 12:31-33) and ascended to the Negev (13:1 // Num 13:17, 22). Israel was to believe that God would deliver them from bondage in Egypt through the plagues because their ancestor had already been rescued from bondage in Egypt.

12:10-13 Abram's scheme was rooted in fear that jeopardized his family and God's promises. Abram was not walking by faith when he went to Egypt. He stopped building altars and his deceptiveness took center stage. Deception would plague his family throughout Genesis (26:1-11; 27:1-29; 29:15-30; 30:34-36; 31:6-11; 37:18-35; 39:7-20).

• Abram's plan was probably based on a social custom whereby a brother arranged the marriage of his sister (cp. 24:29-61). Abram may have thought that any potential suitor would have to deal with him, giving him time to leave with Sarai. He did not count on Pharaoh's acting without negotiation (12:14-16).

12:10 The Nile River provided ample irrigation, so Egypt was often the last region to suffer from famine.

12:13 tell them you are my sister: This request occurs three times in Genesis (see also 20:2; 26:7). The text explains that this was Abram's usual strategy (20:13), and his son did likewise. This first occasion was outside the land, the second (ch 20) within, showing that God protected his promise in both regions.

12:14-16 Abram was bound by the king's gift to an unwanted agreement

Abraham (11:26–25:11)

Gen 26:2-5
Exod 3:15-16; 6:3;
32:13
Josh 24:2-3
1 Chr 1:27-34
2 Chr 20:7
Isa 29:22; 41:8;
51:1-2
Ezek 33:24
Matt 1:1-2; 3:9;
8:11; 22:31-32
Luke 16:19-31
John 8:31-58
Acts 7:2-8
Rom 4:1-23; 9:5-9;
11:16-17
Gal 3:6-29
Heb 6:13-15; 11:8-12; 11:17-19
Jas 2:21-23

“By faith . . . Abraham obeyed when God called him to leave home and go to another land. . . . He went without knowing where he was going. . . . By faith . . . Abraham offered Isaac as a sacrifice when God was testing him” (Heb 11:8, 17). These key events in Abraham’s life illustrate the faithful obedience for which he is best known.

God called Abram from the city of Ur to become the patriarch of God’s people. Abram’s family relationships are recorded in Gen 11:26-32. Terah had three sons: Abram, Nahor, and Haran. Terah left Ur with Abram, Abram’s wife Sarai, and Lot, whose father, Haran, had died. On his way to Canaan, Terah settled in the city of Haran (11:31). God had called Abram to a new land while he was still in Ur (Acts 7:2-4); God told Abram, “Leave your native country, your relatives, and your father’s family, and go to the land that I will show you” (12:1). God blessed Abram by making a covenant with him that included promises of great blessing, numerous descendants, and a new land (12:1-3). These promises later saved Israel from destruction when they repeatedly failed to keep their covenant with God (see Lev 26:40-45).

Abram left Haran at age seventy-five. Entering Canaan, he went first to Shechem, a Canaanite city between Mount Gerizim and Mount Ebal. God appeared to Abram near the oak of Moreh, a Canaanite shrine (see note on 12:6-7). Abram built altars there and near Bethel (12:8), proclaiming the one true God at these centers of false worship. Abram later moved to Hebron by the oaks of Mamre, again building an altar to worship God (13:18).

When God again promised blessings to Abram in a vision (15:1), Abram exclaimed that he was still childless because Sarai was barren (11:30), and that Eliezer of Damascus was his heir (15:2). This obscure statement is clarified by the Nuzi documents. According to Hurrian custom, a childless couple of means could adopt an heir, often a slave who would be responsible for their burial and mourning. A natural son born after the slave-heir’s adoption would supplant him. Apparently Abram had adopted Eliezer in this manner, but God promised that Abram’s own son would be his heir (15:4).

The hallmark of Abram’s life was that he believed the Lord, and the Lord considered him righteous because of his faith (15:6; see Rom 4:3; Gal 3:6; Jas 2:23). Abram’s righteousness was not because he never sinned—on several occasions he failed to do what was right, twice he lied about Sarah out of fear, and he took the provision of a son into his own hands with Hagar rather than praying for God to act (16:1-5; cp. 25:21). But he consistently returned to faith as the fundamental principle of his life before God.

Abram was eighty-six years old when Ishmael was born to Sarai’s servant Hagar. When Abram was ninety-nine, the Lord appeared to him and reaffirmed his covenant promise of a son and of blessing (ch 17), adding circumcision as the mark of the covenant relationship (17:9-14). God also changed Abram’s and Sarai’s names to Abraham and Sarah (17:5, 15). Abraham laughed at the promise of another son (17:17). Shortly afterward, the Lord appeared again to Abraham (ch 18) and again announced the promised son. This time, Sarah was caught laughing in disbelief (18:12-15). Abraham was 100 years old and his wife 90 when the Lord did “exactly what he had promised” (21:1). The long-promised son was born and was fittingly named Isaac (“he laughs!”).

The supreme test of Abraham’s faith came when God commanded him to sacrifice Isaac (ch 22). Abraham obeyed faithfully, trusting that God would not thwart his own purposes (see Heb 11:17-19). Just as the knife was about to fall, the angel of God stopped Abraham and provided a ram for him to sacrifice in Isaac’s place (22:13). Abraham’s faith was complete (22:12).

Christians understand the sacrifice of Isaac as prefiguring God’s provision of his only Son, Jesus Christ, as a sacrifice for the sins of the world. God has fulfilled his covenant with Abraham through Jesus Christ, through whom the blessing of salvation is extended to all who have faith (Rom 4:16-17), and believers become Abraham’s spiritual descendants (Gal 3:29). Abraham’s life shows that God is faithful and worthy of belief and obedience. The full import of God’s promise was realized when the gospel was preached to all nations and people from all families of the earth responded in faith (see Gal 3:6-9).

Abraham was God’s friend (2 Chr 20:7; Jas 2:23). All who live by faith are challenged to live as he did, daily venturing into the unknown with trust in God’s guidance and sustenance. Abraham is one of many great “witnesses” to a life of faith (Heb 12:1; see Heb 11), inspiring believers to persevere in faith because we know God is faithful.

13:3
Gen 12:8-9
13:5
Gen 12:5
13:6
Gen 12:5; 36:7
13:7
Gen 12:6; 26:20
13:8
Prov 15:18; 20:3
13:9
Gen 20:15
13:10
Gen 2:8-10
13:13
Gen 18:20
Num 32:23
Isa 1:10; 3:9
2 Pet 2:8
13:14
Gen 28:14
Deut 3:27; 34:1-4
13:15
*Gal 3:16
Gen 12:2; 7; 15:18;
17:7-8
13:16
Num 23:10
13:17
Num 13:17-25
*Jer 18:17
*Gen 15:18
13:18
Gen 14:13; 18:1

and gold.)³From the Negev, they continued traveling by stages toward Bethel, and they pitched their tents between Bethel and Ai, where they had camped before.⁴This was the same place where Abram had built the altar, and there he worshiped the LORD again.

⁵Lot, who was traveling with Abram, had also become very wealthy with flocks of sheep and goats, herds of cattle, and many tents.⁶But the land could not support both Abram and Lot with all their flocks and herds living so close together.⁷So disputes broke out between the herdsmen of Abram and Lot. (At that time Canaanites and Perizzites were also living in the land.)

⁸Finally Abram said to Lot, "Let's not allow this conflict to come between us or our herdsmen. After all, we are close relatives!⁹The whole countryside is open to you. Take your choice of any section of the land you want, and we will separate. If you want the land to the left, then I'll take the land on the right. If you prefer the land on the right, then I'll go to the left."

¹⁰Lot took a long look at the fertile plains of the Jordan Valley in the direction of Zoar.

The whole area was well watered everywhere, like the garden of the LORD or the beautiful land of Egypt. (This was before the LORD destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah.)

¹¹Lot chose for himself the whole Jordan Valley to the east of them. He went there with his flocks and servants and parted company with his uncle Abram.¹²So Abram settled in the land of Canaan, and Lot moved his tents to a place near Sodom and settled among the cities of the plain.¹³But the people of this area were extremely wicked and constantly sinned against the LORD.

¹⁴After Lot had gone, the LORD said to Abram, "Look as far as you can see in every direction—north and south, east and west.¹⁵I am giving all this land, as far as you can see, to you and your descendants as a permanent possession.¹⁶And I will give you so many descendants that, like the dust of the earth, they cannot be counted!¹⁷Go and walk through the land in every direction, for I am giving it to you."

¹⁸So Abram moved his camp to Hebron and settled near the oak grove belonging to Mamre. There he built another altar to the LORD.

Age	Event	Reference
10	Sarai is born	17:17; 20:12
75	Abram leaves Haran, moves to Canaan	12:4-6
85	Abram takes Hagar as a secondary wife	16:1-3
86	Ishmael is born	16:15-16
99	Abram is renamed Abraham, is promised a son through Sarah, is given circumcision	17:1-18:15
100	Isaac is born	21:1-7
~103	Isaac is weaned, Ishmael is sent away	21:8-14
137	Sarah dies	23:1
140	Abraham sends his servant to find a wife for Isaac	24:1-9; 25:20
160	Jacob and Esau are born	25:20, 26
175	Abraham dies	25:7-9

▲ Abraham's Life (11:26–25:11).

13:5-7 Lot was also wealthy, with flocks and herds. Tents figure prominently in Lot's story (13:12). • The Canaanites and Perizzites (see 34:30; Deut 7:1; Judg 1:4; 3:5) held the well-watered land; the quarrel between Abram's and Lot's herdsmen left Abram more vulnerable to attack.

13:8-13 Abram, to whom the land was promised, might have told Lot to find his own place. Abram's generosity was an act of faith; he knew that even if he gave the whole land away, God would still give it to him and his descendants. Abram did not have to cling to things, whereas Lot's choices were self-seeking.

13:8 Abram was concerned that there be no conflict (Hebrew meribah) between them, as they were close relatives (literally brothers). Moses later reproved Israel over the incident in the wilderness at Meribah (Exod 17:1-7; Num 20:1-13) and instructed them on exercising faith in such situations. Meribah thereafter became a watchword for testing and striving with the Lord in unbelief (see Ps 95).

13:10 What appealed to Lot would be short-lived. In the garden of the LORD, Adam and Eve succumbed to their craving for what they saw; Israel was later enslaved in Egypt. Sodom and Gomorrah are reminders of putting intense desires ahead of obedience to God (3:5-6; see 1 Jn 2:16). • Zoar was a small town in the plain to which Lot and his daughters later fled (19:18-22); it was previously called Bela (14:2).

13:11-18 The narrator makes numerous contrasts between Lot and Abram.

13:11 Lot's choice was totally selfish, without concern for Abram or faith in the Lord. • The region called the whole Jordan Valley (literally the circle of the Jordan) is believed to have been near the south end of the Dead Sea, based on descriptions in ancient records that locate cities of the Plain. This area is now very desolate.

13:13 The implication is that Lot would not resist Sodom's influence because he, too, was living for himself.

13:14-17 Abram could give Lot the choice land because he believed in God's promise. Abram waited for God to give him the land; Lot just took what he wanted.

13:15 descendants: Literally seed; also in 13:16.

13:18 Hebron was an Anakite city (Num 13:22) originally called Kiriath-arba ("city of Arba"), located in forested highlands just north of the Negev (12:9; Josh 17:15). Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob all settled there (18:1; 35:27; 37:14), and Sarah, Abraham, Isaac, Rebekah, Jacob, and Leah were buried there (23:19; 35:27-29; 49:29-32; 50:13). • Mamre was an Amorite (14:13; 15:16).

Abram's Encounter with Kings (14:1-24)

Abram Rescues Lot

14 About this time war broke out in the region. King Amraphel of Babylonia, King Arioch of Ellasar, King Kedorlaomer of Elam, and King Tidal of Goiim ²fought against King Bera of Sodom, King Birsha of Gomorrah, King Shinab of Admah, King Shemeber of Zeboiim, and the king of Bela (also called Zoar).

³This second group of kings joined forces in Siddim Valley (that is, the valley of the Dead Sea). ⁴For twelve years they had been subject to King Kedorlaomer, but in the thirteenth year they rebelled against him.

⁵One year later Kedorlaomer and his allies arrived and defeated the Rephaites at Ashteroth-karnaim, the Zuzites at Ham, the Emmites at Shaveh-kiriathaim, ⁶and the Horites at Mount Seir, as far as El-paran at the edge of the wilderness. ⁷Then they turned back and came to En-mishpat (now called Kadesh) and conquered all the territory of the Amalekites, and also the Amorites living in Hazazon-tamar.

⁸Then the rebel kings of Sodom, Gomorrah, Admah, Zeboiim, and Bela (also called Zoar) prepared for battle in the valley of the Dead Sea. ⁹They fought against King Kedorlaomer of Elam, King Tidal of Goiim, King Amraphel of Babylonia, and King Arioch of Ellasar—four kings against five. ¹⁰As it happened, the valley of the Dead Sea was filled with tar pits. And as the army of the kings of Sodom and Gomorrah fled, some fell into the tar pits, while the rest escaped into the mountains. ¹¹The victorious invaders then plundered Sodom and Gomorrah and headed for home, taking with them all the spoils of war and the food supplies. ¹²They also captured Lot—Abram's nephew who lived in Sodom—and carried off everything he owned.

¹³But one of Lot's men escaped and reported everything to Abram the Hebrew, who was living near the oak grove belonging to Mamre the Amorite. Mamre and his relatives, Eshcol and Aner, were Abram's allies.

¹⁴When Abram heard that his nephew

14:1
Gen 10:10; 11:2

14:2
Gen 10:19; 13:10
Deut 29:23

14:3
Num 34:3, 12
Deut 3:17
Josh 3:16

14:5
Gen 15:20
Deut 2:10, 20; 3:11
Josh 13:19

14:7
Gen 16:14; 20:1
Num 13:26
Deut 1:4
2 Chr 20:2

14:12
Gen 11:27

14:13
Gen 10:16; 13:18;
39:14

14:14
Gen 12:5
Deut 34:1

◀ The Battle at Siddim Valley (14:1-24). When the kings in the Siddim Valley (the valley of the DEAD SEA) rebelled against King Kedorlaomer of Elam (14:4), Kedorlaomer and his Mesopotamian allies followed the King's Highway (see Num 20:17; 21:22) through Transjordan (the region east of the Jordan), then circled around from EL-PARAN through EN-MISHPAT (=Kadesh, 14:7; Num 13:26) to HAZAZON-TAMAR (=En-gedi, 2 Chr 20:2), conquering as they went. They then attacked the five Canaanite kings near BELA. When Abram heard that Lot had been taken captive, he chased after Kedorlaomer, attacked at DAN (=Laish, Josh 19:47), and pursued the fleeing armies north of DAMASCUS to Hobah, and he recovered the captives and their goods. On his return, Abram stopped by the Valley of Shaveh near SALEM (=Jerusalem) and was blessed by Melchizedek. • The location of the Siddim Valley is uncertain—it was probably at the south end of the Dead Sea.

an earlier time and put them under tribute for asphalt, olive oil, and copper. In the thirteenth year they refused to send it; in the fourteenth year (14:5), the invaders returned to subjugate them again.

14:5-8 The invaders came down the King's Highway on the east side of the Jordan Valley to the Gulf of Aqaba, then circled back to the valley of the Dead Sea (Hebrew Siddim Valley [see 14:3]; also in 14:10).

14:8-12 The five cities of the plain were close together at the south end of the Dead Sea. The Mesopotamian kings defeated the frail uprising, looted the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, and carried off Lot with the other captives.

14:13 The word Hebrew first occurs here in the Bible. It is not equivalent to the later term Habiru from Egyptian texts; the Habiru were mercenaries that roamed the land in the era of the judges. • Mamre: See note on 13:18. • relatives: Or allies; literally brothers.

14:14-16 God could give his people victory over any forces invading the Promised Land. Faithfulness to God was the prerequisite for victory. God promises to bless his people and give them victory over the world. He uses those who respond to his call and can skillfully use weapons of war (cp. Eph 4:8; 6:10-19).

14:14 Abram . . . mobilized the 318 trained men who had been born into his household: Abram was a formidable force, an outworking of God's promise to make him great (12:2-3). • Dan was a city

14:1-16 In this skirmish typical of ancient politics, powerful kings formed a coalition to subjugate smaller vassal states.

14:1-2 Archaeology has not identified these kings, but similar names from antiquity corroborate the report's accuracy. The Mesopotamian kings were confederates under a suzerain, apparently Amraphel, who is mentioned first.

14:1 Babylonia: Hebrew Shinar; also in 14:9. • Tidal apparently ruled a number of city-states (Goiim, literally nations).

14:3 Dead Sea: Literally Salt Sea.

14:4-5 This was Kedorlaomer's war. Under the feudal system of tribal affiliations, those in covenant with him had to fight. It was also Abram's battle to rescue Lot, and those under treaty with him had to accompany him.

14:4 King Kedorlaomer apparently defeated the Siddim Valley kings at 14:15

Gen 15:2

14:17
2 Sam 18:18

14:18
Ps 76:2; 110:4
Heb 5:6; 10; 7:1
*kohen (3548)
• Exod 18:1

14:19
Gen 27:25; 48:9
Mark 10:16

14:20
Gen 9:26; 24:27
*Heb 7:1-2
*Elyon (5945)
• Num 24:16
*ma'aser (4643)
• Lev 27:30

Lot had been captured, he mobilized the 318 trained men who had been born into his household. Then he pursued Kedorlaomer's army until he caught up with them at Dan. ¹⁵There he divided his men and attacked during the night. Kedorlaomer's army fled, but Abram chased them as far as Hobah, north of Damascus. ¹⁶Abram recovered all the goods that had been taken, and he brought back his nephew Lot with his possessions and all the women and other captives.

Melchizedek Blesses Abram

¹⁷After Abram returned from his victory over Kedorlaomer and all his allies, the king of Sodom went out to meet him in the valley of Shaveh (that is, the King's Valley).

¹⁸And Melchizedek, the king of Salem and a priest of God Most High, brought Abram some bread and wine. ¹⁹Melchizedek blessed Abram with this blessing:

"Blessed be Abram by God Most High,
Creator of heaven and earth.

²⁰ And blessed be God Most High, who has defeated your enemies for you."

Then Abram gave Melchizedek a tenth of all the goods he had recovered.

Abram Rejects Sodom's Goods (14:21-24)

²¹The king of Sodom said to Abram, "Give back my people who were captured. But you may keep for yourself all the goods you have recovered."

◀ Abram in Canaan (12:1–25:11). Abram probably entered CANAAN by following the King's Highway—an ancient and well-traveled route that ran just east of Canaan. Philistines had already begun settling along the coast (PHILISTIA; see 10:14; 21:32-34; 26:1-18). Some Canaanite settlements (JERICHO, MEGIDDO, HAZAZON-TAMAR=En-gedi) were very old by this time. Within Canaan, Abram traveled southward along the central ridge of the hill country, building altars at OAK OF MOREH (= Shechem, 12:6-7; see 33:18-19), BETHEL (12:8; 13:3; see 28:10-22; 35:1-15), MOUNT MORIAH (22:1-19), OAKS OF MAMRE (= HEBRON, 13:18; see 23:2), and BEERSHEBA (21:22-34; see 26:23-25; 46:1-7). Lot unwisely chose his portion in SODOM (13:10-13; see 18:16–19:29).

14:15 Damascus was 40 miles north of Dan. Hobah was about 60 miles north of Damascus.

14:17 The valley of Shaveh or King's Valley was probably the Kidron Valley (see 2 Sam 18:18).

14:18 Melchizedek means "king of righteousness," suggesting that he was a righteous servant of God. He was probably a Jebusite priest and king; later authors regarded him as a type of Christ (Ps 110:4; Heb 7:1-19). • Salem is Jerusalem (cp. Ps 76:2). • God Most High: Hebrew El-Elyon; also in 14:19, 20, 22.

14:19-20 By paying a tithe (a tenth) to Melchizedek, Abram acknowledged Melchizedek as a spiritual superior (see Heb 7:4) and affirmed that God had given him victory.

14:21-24 Abram knew that accepting the offer of the king of Sodom (see note on 14:1-2) could make him his ally or subject, as Lot had been. This would jeopardize the fulfillment of God's promises. Faith looks beyond the riches of the world to the greater blessings that God has in store.

about 150 miles north of Abram's home in Hebron, then named Laish or Leshem (see Josh 19:47 and note; Judg 18:29). Dan, whose descendants migrated north in the days of the judges (Judg 18:1-29), had not yet been born (30:6). An editor apparently updated the text so that later readers could identify this city.

²²Abram replied to the king of Sodom, "I solemnly swear to the LORD, God Most High, Creator of heaven and earth, ²³that I will not take so much as a single thread or sandal thong from what belongs to you. Otherwise you might say, 'I am the one who made Abram rich.' ²⁴I will accept only what my young warriors have already eaten, and I request that you give a fair share of the goods to my allies—Aner, Eshcol, and Mamre."

The LORD's Covenant Promise to Abram
(15:1-21)

15 Some time later, the LORD spoke to Abram in a vision and said to him, "Do not be afraid, Abram, for I will ^fprotect you, and your reward will be great."

²But Abram replied, "O ^gSovereign LORD, what good are all your blessings when I don't even have a son? Since you've given me no children, Eliezer of Damascus, a servant in my household, will inherit all my wealth. ³You have given me no descendants of my own, so one of my servants will be my heir."

⁴Then the LORD said to him, "No, your servant will not be your heir, for you will have a son of your own who will be your heir." ⁵Then the LORD took Abram outside and said to him, "Look up into the sky and count the stars if you can. That's how many descendants you will have!"

⁶And Abram ^hbelieved the LORD, and the LORD counted him as righteous because of his faith.

14:22
Gen 1:1
14:23
2 Kgs 5:16
15:1
Gen 21:17-18; 26:24
Ps 3:3
ⁱmagen (4043)
• Deut 33:29
15:2
^gadonay Yahweh
(0136, 3068)
• Deut 3:24
15:4
• Gal 4:28
15:5
Gen 12:2; 22:17;
32:12
• Rom 4:18
15:6
Ps 106:31
• Rom 4:3, 9, 22
• Gal 3:6
^haman (0539)
• Gen 45:26

Melchizedek (14:17-24)

Ps 110:4
Heb 5:6-10;
6:20-7:28

Melchizedek is a mysterious biblical personality whose name means "king of righteousness." He was a Canaanite priest and king; there is no record of his family or of the beginning or end of his life.

Abraham met Melchizedek after defeating four Mesopotamian kings. The Mesopotamians had raided Sodom and Gomorrah and captured Abraham's nephew Lot (14:1-16). When Abraham returned from battle, Melchizedek, king of Salem (=Jerusalem; see note on Ps 76:2), was with the grateful kings of the Dead Sea confederacy. When Melchizedek gave Abraham bread, wine, and his blessing, he was acting as "a priest of God Most High" (14:18), the true God who created heaven and earth (see Ps 7:17; 47:2; 57:2; 78:56). Melchizedek correctly understood that Abraham worshiped the true God (14:22), and he praised God for giving victory to Abraham. Abraham received Melchizedek's gifts and gave him his tithe, thus recognizing Melchizedek's higher spiritual rank as a patriarchal priest (see Heb 7:4-7).

Melchizedek is an unusual figure in Genesis, which gives genealogies for its other characters. Melchizedek appears without any such record, and as quickly disappears. Much later in Israel's history, King David was perhaps reflecting on this when he said that the Messiah is "a priest forever in the order of Melchizedek" (Ps 110:4; cp. Heb 7:15-25). The book of Hebrews explains this statement, saying that Melchizedek is remembered as "resembling the Son of God" (Heb 7:3), but was not himself the Son of God. His priesthood lasts forever as an archetype that prefigures the Messiah's priesthood. Like Melchizedek (but unlike the kings of Israel), Jesus is a king who also fulfills priestly functions.

Melchizedek, a royal priest, was superior to Levi, the ancestor of Israel's priests. In the same way, the Messiah, Jesus Christ, is a better priest than the descendants of Aaron. Jesus provides permanent atonement for sins and direct access to his Father through his name (Heb 7:24-28). He guides his people by the Spirit rather than by law (Heb 8:7-13) and lives forever as priest and king for those who trust in him.

14:22 In the words of this oath, Abram may have been clarifying that his God, the LORD (Yahweh), was the God Most High that Melchizedek invoked. Perhaps Melchizedek had never heard the name Yahweh.

15:1-21 The Lord made a formal covenant with Abram, solemnly confirming the promises made at his call (12:1-3). There would be a long period of slavery for Abram's descendants before these promises would be completely fulfilled.

15:1 Do not be afraid: Abram lacked a son to be his heir. The Lord addressed Abram's anxiety about the future with comforting words. • I will protect you (literally I will be your shield): The Hebrew word for "shield" (magen) is from the same root as Melchizedek's word defeated (14:20). The Lord who had defeated Abram's enemies would continue to protect him. • your reward will be great: The promise of offspring (12:2-3; cp. Ps 127:3) was still unfulfilled.

15:2-3 Using a wordplay, Abram expressed his concern that Eliezer of Damascus (Hebrew dammeseq), a man in Abram's household, would be his heir (Hebrew ben-mesheq, "son of possession"), as was customary when there was no son.

15:4-6 God affirmed that the promise was for Abram's own offspring and showed him the stars as a promise of the vast number of descendants that he would have (22:17; 26:4). Paul quotes

15:7
Gen 12:1; 13:17
Acts 7:2-4
15:8
Luke 1:18
15:10
Lev 1:17
15:12
Gen 2:21; 28:11
15:13
Exod 12:40
*Acts 7:6
Gal 3:17
15:14
Exod 6:5
15:15
Gen 25:8
15:16
Exod 12:40

7Then the LORD told him, "I am the LORD who brought you out of Ur of the Chaldeans to give you this land as your possession."

8But Abram replied, "O Sovereign LORD, how can I be sure that I will actually possess it?"

9The LORD told him, "Bring me a three-year-old heifer, a three-year-old female goat, a three-year-old ram, a turtledove, and a young pigeon." 10So Abram presented all these to him and killed them. Then he cut each animal down the middle and laid the halves side by side; he did not, however, cut the birds in half. 11Some vultures swooped down to eat the carcasses, but Abram chased them away.

12As the sun was going down, Abram fell into a deep sleep, and a terrifying darkness came down over him. 13Then the LORD said to Abram, "You can be sure that your descendants will be strangers in a foreign land, where they will be oppressed as slaves for 400 years. 14But I will punish the nation that enslaves them, and in the end they will come away with great wealth. 15(As for you, you will die in peace and be buried at a ripe old age.) 16After four generations your descendants will return here to this land, for

God's Covenant with Abraham (15:1-21)

Gen 12:1-3; 17:1-14;
21:1-2; 22:15-18
Exod 2:24
Deut 1:8
Neh 9:7-8
Ps 105:7-45
Luke 3:7-9
Acts 3:24-26; 7:2-8
Rom 4:11-25; 9:7-8;
11:16-17
Gal 3:6-9; 3:29
Heb 6:13-15

The Lord had already established a relationship with Abraham (12:1-9) before he made a formal covenant with him (ch 15). God took all the initiative: He approached Abraham and spoke to him in a vision. God presented the impossible promise that the old man would have a son through whom his descendants would eventually be as numerous as the stars of heaven. Abraham believed God (15:6), and his faith proved to be an act of righteousness—faith is righteousness, and faith produces righteousness in covenant relationship with God (see Hab 2:4; Rom 1:17; 4:3, 17; Gal 3:6, 11; Heb 10:37-38). The covenant of ch 15 includes a royal grant (15:18-21) in which God, the king, gave land to Abraham, his subject, as a possession and an inheritance. (In the ancient Near East, kings sometimes granted land or other gifts to loyal subjects.) At the end of that day, Abraham knew that his own and his descendants' future was firmly in the hands of the covenant God. Later, the grant would be transferred to his descendants.

God later ratified his covenant with Abraham (17:1-22), giving him circumcision as its sign (17:10) and condition (17:4, 9). The almighty God once again took the initiative (17:1) in granting Abraham an extraordinary privilege. The covenant was not a relationship between equals, yet both partners in the covenant assumed responsibilities. God committed himself voluntarily to Abraham and his descendants, while requiring faithfulness from Abraham (17:1, 9-14). The blessing Abraham received as God's covenant partner was embodied in the new name that God gave him (17:5-6).

God's family covenant with Abraham also applied to his descendants (13:15-16; 15:3-5; 17:6-10). It pointed to blessing in the relatively near future when his descendants would possess the land (15:12-16). Much later, Abraham's faith became a blessing to all through his descendant, Jesus Christ, through whom all the families of the earth can share in God's blessing on Abraham (12:3; see Rom 4:11-25; Gal 3:8-9, 16).

this promise in Rom 4:18 to underscore the strength of Abram's faith 15:6 And Abram believed: God made his covenant with a believer; the statement does not indicate when Abram came to faith. The Hebrew text does not link Abram's belief with the promise of the stars; it just says parenthetically that Abram believed God. Abram already had faith; his departure from Ur was his first great act that demonstrated it (see Heb 11:8-10). • God counted him as righteous because of his faith: This central statement about Abram's saving faith is quoted three times in the NT (Rom 4:3, 22-23; Gal 3:6; Jas 2:23) to support the doctrine of righteousness before God by faith.

15:7-21 With a solemn ceremony, God made a binding covenant with Abram that guaranteed the fulfillment of God's promises to him.

15:10 Obeying God's instructions, Abram gathered three herd animals for the ceremony and cut them in half. Cutting the animals symbolized the oath, indicating that the covenant maker staked his own life on his word (Jer 34:18).

15:11 Vultures are unclean birds of prey that symbolize those who unjustly attack Abraham's heirs (15:13-14).

15:13-16 Not even 400 years of bondage could interfere with God's plan to fulfill the covenant.

15:13 oppressed: The same word is used in Exod 1:11-12. Egypt, like predatory birds (15:11), would try to destroy Israel and hinder the covenant's fulfillment.

• Apparently 400 years is a round number (also Acts 7:6; cp. Exod 12:40; Gal 3:17). Using the chronology in the Hebrew text, the family moved to Egypt around 1876 BC, and the Exodus occurred around 1446 BC (though many scholars date the Exodus later, around 1270 BC; see "Chronology: Abraham to Joshua," p. 118).

15:16 The reasons for Israel's bondage included God's justice. God would tolerate the sins of the Amorites until they fully deserved judgment. • do not yet warrant their destruction (literally are not yet full): To give the Promised Land to Israel, the Lord would dispossess the land's inhabitants in a way that satisfied the sins of the Amorites do not yet warrant their destruction.”

¹⁷After the sun went down and darkness fell, Abram saw a smoking firepot and a flaming torch pass between the halves of the carcasses. ¹⁸So the LORD made a covenant with Abram that day and said, “I have given this land to your descendants, all the way from the border of Egypt to the great Euphrates River—¹⁹the land now occupied by the Kenites, Kenizzites, Kadmonites, ²⁰Hittites, Perizzites, Rephaites, ²¹Amorites, Canaanites, Girgashites, and Jebusites.”

God Provides the Promised Offspring

(16:1–22:19)

Hagar and Ishmael

16 Now Sarai, Abram's wife, had not been able to bear children for him. But she had an Egyptian servant named

Hagar. ²So Sarai said to Abram, “The LORD has prevented me from having children. Go and sleep with my servant. Perhaps I can have children through her.” And Abram agreed with Sarai's proposal. ³So Sarai, Abram's wife, took Hagar the Egyptian servant and gave her to Abram as a wife. (This happened ten years after Abram had settled in the land of Canaan.)

⁴So Abram had sexual relations with Hagar, and she became pregnant. But when Hagar knew she was pregnant, she began to treat her mistress, Sarai, with contempt. ⁵Then Sarai said to Abram, “This is all your fault! I put my servant into your arms, but now that she's pregnant she treats me with contempt. The LORD will show who's wrong—you or me!”

⁶Abram replied, “Look, she is your servant,

15:17
Jer 34:18-19
15:18
Num 34:1-15
Deut 1:7-8
berith (1285)
Gen 17:2
Jerets (0776)
Gen 28:13

15:19
Num 24:21
15:21
Gen 10:15-16

16:1
Gen 11:30
Gal 4:24-25

16:2
Gen 30:3

16:3
Gen 12:4-5

16:4
Gen 16:15

16:5
Gen 31:53

16:7
Gen 21:17; 22:11, 15

Hagar (16:1-16)

Gen 21:9-21; 25:12
Gal 4:22-31

Hagar was the Egyptian servant of Sarai, Abram's wife. When God commanded Abram to leave Mesopotamia, he promised him a multitude of descendants who would be given a new land (12:2, 7). After ten childless years in Canaan, Sarai followed the customary Mesopotamian strategy of giving Hagar to Abram as his concubine; any son born of the union of husband and concubine was considered the wife's child (cp. 30:1-6). Hagar bore a son, Ishmael (16:1-16; 21:9-21).

Hagar was so disrespectful to Sarai during her pregnancy (16:4-6) that Sarai dealt harshly with her and Hagar fled into the desert. The angel of the Lord appeared to her at a desert well, telling her to return to Abram's house and submit to Sarai.

Ishmael was born when Abram was eighty-six years old. Fourteen years later, God gave Abraham and Sarah their promised son, Isaac. When Isaac was weaned (at about three years), a traditional feast was held. At this event, Ishmael mocked Isaac (21:9), so Sarah insisted that Abraham send Hagar and Ishmael away. God confirmed this (21:12), so Hagar and Ishmael wandered in the wilderness of Beersheba. When their water was gone, God miraculously rescued them and assured Hagar that Ishmael would father a great nation (21:17-19).

Paul made an analogy (Gal 4:22-31) in which Hagar “represents Mount Sinai,” where the old covenant was formed, while Sarah “represents the heavenly Jerusalem,” the community of those who receive salvation by faith in Christ. As Isaac was Abraham's son by faith in the divine promise, Christians who are free of the law are spiritual children of Sarah.

his justice. The fulfillment of promises to Israel also brought retributive judgment on people of the land (though individuals were saved by faith; see Josh 2:1-15; 6:23-25; Heb 11:31; Jas 2:25). Until then, God would send the family to Egypt where Israel could become a great nation. Seeing all this in advance was terrifying (15:12), but it was comforting to know that nothing could interfere with God's plan.

15:17-18 smoking firepot . . . flaming torch: Fire represented the Lord's cleansing, consuming zeal and unapproachable holiness (cp. Isa 6:3-7). The holy God made (literally cut) a unilateral covenant with Abram; its promises were absolutely sure because they did not depend on what Abram or his descendants might do.

15:18-19 God specified the boundaries of the Promised Land. His clear message to Abram was that despite prospects of death and suffering (enslavement), he and his descendants would eventually receive the promises, for God had sworn an oath (see Heb 6:13-14). Nothing can separate God's people from his love or the fulfillment of his plans (see Rom 8:18-39; 2 Pet 1:3-4). • the border of Egypt: Literally the river of Egypt, referring either to an eastern branch of the Nile River or to the Brook of Egypt in the Sinai (see Num 34:5).

16:1-16 While waiting for their promised son to be born, Abram and Sarai attempted an alternate plan that was not in keeping with faith.

16:1-3 Abram and Sarai faced the tension of her being barren and beyond childbearing years. By custom, a barren woman could give her servant to her husband as a slave-wife; the child born to that union was considered the wife's child and could be adopted as the heir. Sarai's suggestion, unobjectionable by custom, set a problematic human plan in motion. God's promises would be fulfilled by faith.

16:4-6 Perhaps Hagar expected to become the favored wife instead of Sarai (cp. Prov 30:21-23).

¹mal'ak (4397)
• Gen 19:1

16:8
Gen 3:9; 4:9

16:9
Gen 21:12
Eph 6:5

16:10
Gen 17:20

16:11
Gen 16:15
Exod 3:7-8

16:12
Job 39:5-8

16:13
Gen 32:30

16:14
Gen 14:7

16:15
Gen 21:9; 25:12

16:16
Gen 12:4; 16:3

so deal with her as you see fit." Then Sarai treated Hagar so harshly that she finally ran away.

⁷The ¹angel of the LORD found Hagar beside a spring of water in the wilderness, along the road to Shur. ⁸The angel said to her, "Hagar, Sarai's servant, where have you come from, and where are you going?"

"I'm running away from my mistress, Sarai," she replied.

⁹The angel of the LORD said to her, "Return to your mistress, and submit to her authority." ¹⁰Then he added, "I will give you more descendants than you can count."

¹¹And the angel also said, "You are now pregnant and will give birth to a son. You are to name him Ishmael (which means 'God hears'), for the LORD has heard your cry of distress. ¹²This son of yours will be a wild man, as untamed as a wild donkey! He will raise his fist against everyone, and everyone will be against him. Yes, he will live in open hostility against all his relatives."

¹³Thereafter, Hagar used another name to refer to the LORD, who had spoken to her. She said, "You are the God who sees me." She also said, "Have I truly seen the One who sees me?" ¹⁴So that well was named Beer-lahai-roi (which means "well of the Living One who sees me"). It can still be found between Kadesh and Bered.

¹⁵So Hagar gave Abram a son, and Abram named him Ishmael. ¹⁶Abram was eighty-six years old when Ishmael was born.

Ishmael (16:11-16)

Gen 17:18-26; 21:8-21; 25:9-18; 28:9
Gal 4:21-31

Ishmael was Abraham's first son, born of Hagar, Sarah's Egyptian servant. The boy was born near Hebron when Abraham was 86 years old (13:18; 16:16). God had promised to make a great nation of the childless Abraham (12:2) and assured him that his son would be his heir (15:4). Ishmael was born in Abraham's attempt to fulfill God's promise by human means (see 16:1-16; Gal 4:23), but God would accomplish this through Sarah (see 17:15-18:15; 21:1-7).

When God announced that Sarah would have a son to fulfill the promise (17:15-16), Abraham asked God to accept Ishmael (17:17-18). Ishmael was not the promised son—the covenant would be established with Isaac (17:19)—but God did bless Ishmael and make him the father of a great nation (17:20-21).

At age thirteen, Ishmael was circumcised in witness to God's covenant with Abraham (17:9-14, 22-27). Then, at Isaac's weaning celebration (when Ishmael was about seventeen), Ishmael made fun of Isaac (21:9), and Abraham sent Ishmael and Hagar away with provisions. The angel of God helped Hagar survive in the wilderness, and Ishmael became a wild game hunter. He settled in the wilderness of Paran and married an Egyptian woman (21:20-21). He assisted in Abraham's burial (25:9-10), gave his daughter Mahalath in marriage to Esau (28:9), and died at age 137 (25:17). His twelve sons are named in 25:13-15.

Paul alluded to Ishmael when urging the Galatians to put their faith in God rather than in the law (see Gal 4:21-31). Those who trust the law will not inherit the kingdom, just as the slave woman's son did not inherit with the son of the free woman (Gal 4:30).

16:7 The angel of the LORD was the Lord himself (16:13; 21:17; 22:11-12; 31:11-13; 48:16; Exod 3:2; 32:34; Judg 6:11, 16, 22; 13:22-23; Zech 3:1-2), but was also distinct from the Lord (24:7; 2 Sam 24:16; Zech 1:12). The angel of the LORD was probably a theophany (a manifestation of God) or a Christophany (an appearance of the pre-incarnate Messiah; see 18:1-2; 19:1; Num 22:22; Judg 2:1-4; 5:23; Zech 12:8), speaking with the authority of the Lord himself.

16:8-12 The angel's rhetorical questions encouraged Hagar to pour out her heart to God. When she did, God commanded her to return and submit (16:9), promising that her son would have innumerable descendants. The angel of the Lord never referred to Hagar as Abram's wife, only as Sarai's servant. She would have Abram's child, but Ishmael was not central to God's covenant with Abram.

16:10-12 Hagar's son would become the father of a great but wild and hostile nation living in the Arabian Desert as perennial enemies of Israel (cp. 25:18). God blessed Ishmael as Abram's descendant, but not as the line chosen to carry on the covenant. That blessing was reserved for Abram's chosen heir.

16:11 Names in Genesis often capture the message of a passage and aid the remembrance of the events and their significance in the history of the faith. The name Ishmael, which means "God hears," commemorates that the LORD . . . heard Hagar's cry of distress (see also note on 16:14-15). This name would have greatly comforted Hagar; God listened to her prayers and acknowledged her complaint.

16:13 Hagar responded to God's messages by faith, in her words and in her obedience. • the God who sees me (Hebrew El-roi): God knew Hagar's plight and watched over her.

16:14-15 The names Beer-lahai-roi, which means "well of the Living One who sees me," and Ishmael (see 16:11) were a message and a rebuke for Abram and Sarai. God sees affliction and hears the cries of those in need. Sarai and Abram should have prayed rather than taking the fulfillment of the promise into their own hands by following social custom (cp. 25:21). Giving children to the barren woman is God's work (Ps 113:9; cp. 1 Sam 1:1-28; Luke 1:1-25); impossible difficulties cannot be resolved by human intervention. The Lord hears the afflicted, sees them in their need, and will miraculously provide for them.

The Covenant Confirmed:

Abram Is Named Abraham

17 When Abram was ninety-nine years old, the Lord appeared to him and said, "I am El-Shaddai—"God Almighty." Serve me faithfully and live a blameless life. ²I will make a covenant with you, by which I will guarantee to give you countless descendants."

³At this, Abram fell face down on the ground. Then God said to him, ⁴"This is my covenant with you: I will make you the father of a multitude of nations! ⁵What's more, I am changing your name. It will no longer be Abram. Instead, you will be called Abraham, for you will be the father of many nations. ⁶I will make you extremely fruitful. Your descendants will become many nations, and kings will be among them!

⁷"I will confirm my covenant with you and your descendants after you, from generation to generation. This is the everlasting

17:1
Gen 12:7; 28:3; 35:11;
48:3
Deut 18:13
Matt 5:48
*shadday (7706)
* Gen 28:3
blamim (8549)
* Exod 12:5
17:2
Gen 12:2; 15:18
*berith (1285)
* Exod 19:5
17:3
Gen 17:17; 18:2

Circumcision (17:9-14)

Gen 17:23-27; 21:4;
34:1-26
Exod 4:24-26; 12:48
Lev 12:3
Josh 5:2-8
Jer 9:25-26
Ezek 44:7-9
Luke 1:59; 2:21
Acts 15:1-31; 16:1-5
Rom 2:25-29
1 Cor 7:17-19
Gal 5:1-6; 5:11-12;
6:12-16
Eph 2:11-18
Phil 3:2-7
Col 2:11; 3:11

Circumcision is the removal of the male foreskin. It was practiced by some cultures in the ancient world (see Jer 9:25-26); the Bible uses it to symbolize the removal of sin and an old identity, accompanied by inclusion in the covenant community.

God chose circumcision as the sign of a covenant that focuses on descendants. God had promised to make Abraham and his descendants into a great nation (17:7, 13, 19) and to use them to redeem the Gentile nations (12:3; 17:4-6; see Gal 3:8-9). Circumcision was God's signature in flesh; it would identify Abraham and his descendants as God's own people (17:9-14) and remind them to live in faithfulness to the covenant.

Although circumcision was applied to adult males when they joined the covenant community (17:23-27; Exod 12:48; Josh 5:3-7), it was usually performed on infants (21:4; Lev 12:3), who received God's promises and membership in the covenant community through their parents. Faith was required in order to receive God's blessings, however, as can be seen in the differentiation between Ishmael and Isaac, Esau and Jacob, and Joseph and his brothers. Non-Israelites could also obligate themselves to Israel's covenant (Exod 12:48; cp. Gen 34:15-24); circumcision marked their inclusion into the worshiping community (e.g., Exod 12:44).

Circumcision would help Israel recognize and remember that they must lay aside natural impurity. God's people had to be loyal to the covenant, to the family, and to their own marriages. Inter marriage with uncircumcised people who were not of the covenant was a violation of the covenant. Any man who refused to be circumcised (cut physically in this symbolic way) would be cut off from the covenant people because of his disobedience to God's command (17:14).

Circumcision is a symbol of separation from the world, of purity, and of loyalty to the covenant. It provides the powerful metaphor of "circumcision of the heart," which designates a heart that is committed to God and is inwardly set apart to God, rather than being stubbornly resistant (Jer 9:26; Lev 26:41; Deut 30:6; Jer 4:4; Eph 2:11). Circumcision of the heart evidences salvation and fellowship with God (see Ezek 18:31-32; 36:25-27; Rom 2:28-29; 4:11).

When Jesus Christ established God's new covenant, he fulfilled the requirements of the old covenant, so a new sign was given to identify members of the covenant community. Thus baptism replaces circumcision, and it too must be accompanied by faith. It is not necessary for Gentile believers to be circumcised, since they are incorporated into the people of God through faith in Christ (Acts 15:1-29; Rom 2:25-29; Gal 2:1-10; 6:15; Col 2:11-12). One must turn in confidence to God and his promises, lay aside natural strength and the customs of the world, and live a new life by faith (see Jer 31:33-34; Rom 8:1-17; Gal 5:16-6:10).

17:1-27 God now gave the family signs that the promises would be fulfilled. He changed Abram's name to Abraham (17:1-8), instituted the rite of circumcision as the sign of the covenant (17:9-14, 23-27), and changed Sarai's name to Sarah (17:15-22).

17:1 El-Shaddai: This name for God emphasizes his power (see also 28:3; 35:11; 43:14; 48:3; 49:25). • Serve me faithfully and live a blameless life: Being a blessing to the nations required obedience from Abram; his conduct would be guided by Almighty God.

17:4-5 God guaranteed his promise by changing Abram's name. Abram means "exalted father"; Abraham sounds like a Hebrew term that means "father of many" ('ab hamon). "Abram" referred to his noble lineage, as Terah was the "exalted father" (11:27). His new name was a wordplay on the promise of his own progeny (see also John 8:31-59; Rom 4:16-17; Gal 3:7, 15-19, 29). Whenever the new name was used, he and his household would remember that a multitude of nations would issue from him.

17:6 kings will be among them! This is the first indication that Israel would become a monarchy (see also 35:11; 36:31; Num 24:7; Deut 17:14-18; 28:36).

17:7-8 The land of Canaan was to be an 17:5

Neh 9:7
*Rom 4:17

17:6
Gen 35:11
17:7
Gen 15:18
Lev 11:45; 26:12
Ps 105:8-11
*Gal 3:16

17:9
Exod 19:5

17:10
John 7:22
Acts 7:8

17:11
Exod 12:48
Josh 5:2

17:12
Gen 21:4
Lev 12:3
Luke 1:59; 2:21

17:14
Exod 30:33
Lev 7:20

17:15
Gen 17:5

17:16
Gen 18:10

17:17
Gen 17:3; 18:11-13

covenant: I will always be your God and the God of your descendants after you. ⁸And I will give the entire land of Canaan, where you now live as a foreigner, to you and your descendants. It will be their possession forever, and I will be their God."

The Mark of the Covenant

⁹Then God said to Abraham, "Your responsibility is to obey the terms of the covenant. You and all your descendants have this continual responsibility. ¹⁰This is the covenant that you and your descendants must keep: Each male among you must be circumcised. ¹¹You must cut off the flesh of your foreskin as a sign of the covenant between me and you. ¹²From generation to generation, every male child must be circumcised on the eighth day after his birth. This applies not only to members of your family but also to the servants born in your household and the foreign-born servants whom you have purchased. ¹³All must be circumcised. Your bodies will bear the mark of my everlasting covenant. ¹⁴Any male who fails to be circumcised will be cut off from the covenant family for breaking the covenant."

The Promise Affirmed:

Sarai Is Named Sarah

¹⁵Then God said to Abraham, "Regarding Sarai, your wife—her name will no longer be Sarai. From now on her name will be Sarah. ¹⁶And I will bless her and give you a son from her! Yes, I will bless her richly, and she will become the mother of many nations. Kings of nations will be among her descendants."

¹⁷Then Abraham bowed down to the ground, but he laughed to himself in disbelief. "How could I become a father at the age of 100?" he thought. "And how can Sarah have a baby when she is ninety years old?" ¹⁸So Abraham said to God, "May Ishmael live under your special blessing!"

Sarah (17:15-22)

Gen 11:29-31;
12:10-20; 16:1-6;
18:10-15; 21:1-10;
23:1-2
Isa 51:2
Rom 4:19; 9:9
Gal 4:21-31
Heb 11:11-12
1 Pet 3:6

Sarah is among the women in Scripture who were barren but miraculously bore a son (see also 30:22-24; 1 Sam 1:11, 19-20; 2 Kgs 4:14-17; Luke 1:5-25). Because Sarah was ninety years old when this happened (cp. 17:17; 21:1-5), she testifies to God's ability to do what is humanly impossible. She was Abraham's wife and the mother of Isaac, through whom God promised to multiply the Israelite nation (12:2; 17:19). Jesus was born from her descendants. Her name Sarai was changed to Sarah when Isaac's birth was promised (see note on 17:15-16). Sarah is honored for her faithfulness, even though she laughed at the prediction of Isaac's birth (18:10-15), twenty-five years after God's original promise to Abraham.

Sarah was also Abraham's half sister (11:29; 20:12). Sarah accompanied Abraham from Ur to Haran to Canaan (11:31; 12:5). On two occasions, in Egypt (12:10-20) and Gerar (20:1-18), Abraham asked Sarah to say that she was his sister rather than his wife because he was afraid that he would be killed as her husband. In both cases, despite Abraham's lack of faith, God protected Sarah, preserving her as Isaac's mother and preventing any doubt as to who Isaac's father was when he was born (21:1-5) about a year after his birth was promised (17:21; 18:10-14). God thus preserved his chosen line.

Sarah died at age 127 and was buried in the cave that Abraham purchased (ch 23) at Machpelah. She is known as the mother of the nation of Israel (Isa 51:2), just as Abraham is its father. She is a key player in accounts of Abraham's faith (Rom 4:19). She represents the freedom that Christians have, as children of Sarah the free woman, through faith in Christ (see Gal 4:21-31). Peter cites her as an example of holy submission (1 Pet 3:6). Sarah believed in God's ability to keep his promises, and her life shows that he does (Rom 9:6-9; Heb 11:11-12).

everlasting possession for the descendants of Abraham; the Lord would be their God forever (see Jer 31:31-40; Zech 8:8; Luke 1:68-79; Rev 21:1-4).

17:7 descendants: Literally seed; also in 17:8, 9, 10, 19.

17:9-14 God gave circumcision as a confirming sign that reminded all households of loyalty to the covenant.

17:14 will be cut off: This punishment seems to have several applications. A person could be exiled from society or put to death by the community; most often it warned that a person might die prematurely as God cut him off from the land of the living (see Exod 31:14; Lev 7:20-27; 17:3-4; 20:17-18; 23:28-29; Num 15:30-31; see also Ps 31:22; Ezek 21:4; Rom 9:3; 11:22). Failure to be circumcised was a serious violation (see Exod 4:24-26; cp. Gal 5:2-4).

17:15-16 Sarai and Sarah both mean "princess"; the change in spelling may reflect the difference in dialect between Ur and Canaan. The new name, fitting for one who would be the mother of kings, was a milestone in Sarah's calling and brought attention to the promise.

17:17-18 Abraham laughed (Hebrew yitskhaq) because the promise seemed unbelievable; he had begun to believe that his line would come through Ishmael. But Abraham and Sarah would have a son of their own.

¹⁹But God replied, “No—Sarah, your wife, will give birth to a son for you. You will name him Isaac, and I will confirm my covenant with him and his descendants as an everlasting covenant. ²⁰As for Ishmael, I will bless him also, just as you have asked. I will make him extremely fruitful and multiply his descendants. He will become the father of twelve princes, and I will make him a great nation. ²¹But my covenant will be confirmed with Isaac, who will be born to you and Sarah about this time next year.” ²²When God had finished speaking, he left Abraham.

Abraham Accepts the Covenant

²³On that very day Abraham took his son, Ishmael, and every male in his household, including those born there and those he had bought. Then he circumcised them, cutting off their foreskins, just as God had told him. ²⁴Abraham was ninety-nine years old when he was circumcised, ²⁵and Ishmael, his son, was thirteen. ²⁶Both Abraham and his son, Ishmael, were circumcised on that same day, ²⁷along with all the other men and boys of the household, whether they were born there or bought as servants. All were circumcised with him.

A Son Is Promised to Sarah

18 The LORD appeared again to Abraham near the oak grove belonging to Mamre. One day Abraham was sitting at the entrance to his tent during the hottest part of the day. ²He looked up and noticed three men standing nearby. When he saw them, he ran to meet them and welcomed them, bowing low to the ground.

³“My lord,” he said, “if it pleases you, stop here for a while. ⁴Rest in the shade of this tree while water is brought to wash your feet. ⁵And since you’ve honored your servant with this visit, let me prepare some food to refresh you before you continue on your journey.”

“All right,” they said. “Do as you have said.”

⁶So Abraham ran back to the tent and said to Sarah, “Hurry! Get three large measures of your best flour, knead it into dough, and bake some bread.” ⁷Then Abraham ran out to the herd and chose a tender calf and gave it to his servant, who quickly prepared it. ⁸When the food was ready, Abraham took some yogurt and milk and the roasted meat, and he served it to the men. As they ate, Abraham waited on them in the shade of the trees.

⁹“Where is Sarah, your wife?” the visitors asked.

“She’s inside the tent,” Abraham replied.

¹⁰Then one of them said, “I will return to you about this time next year, and your wife, Sarah, will have a son!”

Sarah was listening to this conversation from the tent. ¹¹Abraham and Sarah were both very old by this time, and Sarah was long past the age of having children. ¹²So she laughed silently to herself and said, “How could a worn-out woman like me enjoy such pleasure, especially when my master—my husband—is also so old?”

¹³Then the LORD said to Abraham, “Why did Sarah laugh? Why did she say, ‘Can an old woman like me have a baby?’ ¹⁴Is anything too hard for the LORD? I will return

17:19
Gen 21:2; 26:2-5

17:20
Gen 25:12-16

17:21
Gen 18:10, 14

17:22
Gen 18:33; 35:13

17:23
Gen 14:14

17:24
Rom 4:11

17:25
Gen 16:16

18:1
Gen 12:7; 13:18

18:2
Gen 32:24
Josh 5:13
Judg 13:6-11

18:4
Gen 19:2; 24:32

18:5
Judg 6:18-19;
13:15-16

18:10
*Rom 9:9

18:11
Gen 17:17

18:12
1 Pet 3:6

18:14
Gen 18:10
Jer 32:17, 27
*Rom 9:9

17:19 The name Isaac means “he laughs” (Hebrew yitskhaq); it would constantly recall Abraham’s disbelieving laughter when he heard the promise. It was also a reminder of God’s favor and his pleasure in the birth (cp. 21:6).

17:20-21 Ishmael would not be abandoned; his family would prosper (see 25:13-16), but the covenant promises were for Isaac.

17:23-27 Having received God’s word about Isaac, Abraham immediately complied with God’s instructions. He implemented the rite of circumcision as an act of faith; it signified their participation in the covenant (cp. Rom 4:11-12; Gal 5:2-6, 11; 6:15; Phil 3:2-3; Col 2:11-12; 1 Pet 3:21).

18:1-15 The Lord’s visit to Abraham set the time for Isaac’s birth. The three visitors were probably the Lord and two angels (see note on 16:7). Abraham’s peaceful and generous reception of the visitors contrasts sharply with the chaos and corruption of Sodom (ch 19). Eating together was important in making or confirming covenants; when God was ready to fulfill the covenant promise, he came in person to share a meal with Abraham. Fellowship with God has always been signified by a communal meal (see Exod 24:9-11; Matt 26:17-30 // Luke 22:7-38; Acts 2:42; 1 Cor 11:20-34).

18:2-8 Abraham received his visitors as very important guests, perhaps realizing that they were messengers from God.

18:3 My lord: The Hebrew text uses ‘adonay (“Lord”), the word that is usually reserved for God. In Hebrew tradition, it was spoken in places where the holy name Yahweh (the LORD) was in the text. Perhaps the text uses ‘adonay rather than the more common ‘adoni to show that this was the angel of the Lord—i.e., the Lord himself (see note on 16:7). We don’t know whether Abraham knew his visitors’ identity at the outset, but by the story’s end Abraham certainly knew he had been talking with God.

18:6 three large measures: Hebrew 3 seahs, about half a bushel or 22 liters.

18:9 The visitors’ rhetorical question focuses attention on Sarah, whom the visitors knew by name.

18:10 I will return: The Hebrew verb means “to intervene in someone’s life to change their destiny.” The statement announced a coming dramatic change.

18:13-15 Sarah thought her disbelieving laughter was hidden, but God knows human hearts (see Ps 69:5; Prov 20:27; Mark 4:22; Luke 8:43-48; Heb 4:13). whether they stagger at the promises or step out in faith (see Heb 11:11-12).

18:14 Is anything too hard for the LORD? The question is rhetorical. God is able to do marvelous things. Nothing is incredible to those in covenant fellowship

18:16
Gen 18:22; 19:1

18:17
Gen 19:24

18:18
Gen 12:2-3
*Gal 3:18

18:19
Neh 9:7

18:20
Gen 19:13

18:21
Gen 11:5
Exod 3:8

18:22
Gen 18:16; 19:1

18:23
Exod 23:7

18:25
Deut 1:16-17; 32:4
Ps 58:11

*shapat (8199)
*Exod 2:14
*mishpat (4941)
*Ps 9:16

18:27
Gen 2:7
Job 30:19; 42:6

18:30
Exod 32:32

18:33
Gen 17:22; 35:13

19:1
Gen 18:2
*mal'ak (4397)
*Gen 28:12

about this time next year, and Sarah will have a son."

¹⁵Sarah was afraid, so she denied it, saying, "I didn't laugh."

But the LORD said, "No, you did laugh."

Abraham Intercedes for Sodom

¹⁶Then the men got up from their meal and looked out toward Sodom. As they left, Abraham went with them to send them on their way.

¹⁷"Should I hide my plan from Abraham?" the LORD asked. ¹⁸"For Abraham will certainly become a great and mighty nation, and all the nations of the earth will be blessed through him. ¹⁹I have singled him out so that he will direct his sons and their families to keep the way of the LORD by doing what is right and just. Then I will do for Abraham all that I have promised."

²⁰So the LORD told Abraham, "I have heard a great outcry from Sodom and Gomorrah, because their sin is so flagrant. ²¹I am going down to see if their actions are as wicked as I have heard. If not, I want to know."

²²The other men turned and headed toward Sodom, but the LORD remained with Abraham. ²³Abraham approached him and said, "Will you sweep away both the righteous and the wicked? ²⁴Suppose you find fifty righteous people living there in the city—will you still sweep it away and not spare it for their sakes? ²⁵Surely you wouldn't do such a thing, destroying the righteous along with the wicked. Why, you would be treating the righteous and the wicked exactly the same! Surely you wouldn't do that! Should not the ^djudge of all the earth do what is ^eright?"

²⁶And the LORD replied, "If I find fifty righteous people in Sodom, I will spare the entire city for their sake."

²⁷Then Abraham spoke again. "Since I have begun, let me speak further to my Lord, even though I am but dust and ashes. ²⁸Suppose there are only forty-five righteous people rather than fifty? Will you destroy the whole city for lack of five?"

And the LORD said, "I will not destroy it if I find forty-five righteous people there."

²⁹Then Abraham pressed his request further. "Suppose there are only forty?"

And the LORD replied, "I will not destroy it for the sake of the forty."

³⁰"Please don't be angry, my Lord," Abraham pleaded. "Let me speak—suppose only thirty righteous people are found?"

And the LORD replied, "I will not destroy it if I find thirty."

³¹Then Abraham said, "Since I have dared to speak to the Lord, let me continue—suppose there are only twenty?"

And the LORD replied, "Then I will not destroy it for the sake of the twenty."

³²Finally, Abraham said, "Lord, please don't be angry with me if I speak one more time. Suppose only ten are found there?"

And the LORD replied, "Then I will not destroy it for the sake of the ten."

³³When the LORD had finished his conversation with Abraham, he went on his way, and Abraham returned to his tent.

Sodom and Gomorrah Destroyed

19 That evening the two ^aangels came to the entrance of the city of Sodom. Lot was sitting there, and when he saw them, with the Lord, because nothing is too difficult for him.

18:16-33 God took Abraham into his confidence as his prophet (18:16-21; see 20:7); Abraham, in turn, interceded for Sodom (18:23-32; see Heb 7:23-26). God is able to do whatever he chooses to do; this passage affirms that it will be just and right.

18:17-19 Abraham was responsible for teaching his descendants righteousness and justice so that they might enjoy God's blessings. It was important for Abraham to know how God's righteousness was at work in judgment.

18:20-21 The omniscient God was cautious in his judgment: He knew the sins of Sodom and Gomorrah, but this close scrutiny communicated God's justice in human terms—he would not destroy the people of the plain unless he was absolutely sure they were wicked.

18:20 a great outcry: See Ezek 16:49-50.

18:22-33 Abraham probably thought there were more righteous people in Sodom and Gomorrah than there were (see note on 19:14). In his concern for them, he approached the Lord with a legal appeal based on God's justice. His prayer seems too bold at times, as though he were bargaining with God, but he approached God with genuine humility and reverence. He did not try to talk God into doing something against his will, but prayed for the well-being of others (contrast Lot's prayer, 19:18-23). God is a righteous judge; righteousness exalts a nation (Prov 14:34), and righteous people help to preserve society (cp. Matt 5:13).

19:1-38 The Canaanites were an evil, corrupting people. God judged their morally bankrupt civilization and warned others against becoming like them. It was difficult to get Lot and his family out of Sodom; it was more difficult to get Sodom out of Lot and his family. This chapter helped later Israelites to understand the moral and spiritual threat of the peoples living in and around the Promised Land, such as the Canaanites and Lot's descendants, the Moabites and the Ammonites (see Num 22-25; Deut 23:3-6; Josh 24:9; Judg 10:7-9; 11:4-5; 1 Sam 10:27; 1 Kgs 11:1-3; 2 Kgs 24:2).

19:1-14 The two angels who were with the Lord at Mamre (cp. 18:2, 22) visited Sodom reluctantly, knowing what kind of people lived there. Despite Lot's hospitality, they preferred lodging in the square to entering Lot's house.

19:1 No longer living in tents next to Sodom (13:12), Lot had become a citizen and leader in Sodom, sitting there at the entrance of the city. Community leaders (elders) usually congregated in the gates, where legal and business he stood up to meet them. Then he welcomed them and bowed with his face to the ground. ²"My lords," he said, "come to my home to wash your feet, and be my guests for the night. You may then get up early in the morning and be on your way again."

"Oh no," they replied. "We'll just spend the night out here in the city square."

³But Lot insisted, so at last they went home with him. Lot prepared a feast for them, complete with fresh bread made without yeast, and they ate. ⁴But before they retired for the night, all the men of Sodom, young and old, came from all over the city and surrounded the house. ⁵They shouted to Lot, "Where are the men who came to spend the night with you? Bring them out to us so we can have sex with them!"

⁶So Lot stepped outside to talk to them, shutting the door behind him. ⁷"Please, my brothers," he begged, "don't do such a wicked thing. ⁸Look, I have two virgin daughters. Let me bring them out to you, and you can do with them as you wish. But please, leave these men alone, for they are my guests and are under my protection."

⁹"Stand back!" they shouted. "This fellow came to town as an outsider, and now he's acting like our judge! We'll treat you far worse than those other men!" And they lunged toward Lot to break down the door.

¹⁰But the two angels reached out, pulled Lot into the house, and bolted the door.

¹¹Then they blinded all the men, young and old, who were at the door of the house, so they gave up trying to get inside.

¹²Meanwhile, the angels questioned Lot. "Do you have any other relatives here in 19:2

Gen 18:4
19:3
Gen 18:6-8
19:4
Gen 13:13; 18:20
19:5
Lev 18:22
Judg 19:22
19:8
Deut 23:17
19:9
Exod 2:14
19:10
Gen 19:1
19:11
Deut 28:28-29
2 Kgs 6:18
Acts 13:11

Lot (19:1-38)

Gen 11:27, 31;
12:4-5; 13:1-14;
14:12-16
Deut 2:9, 17-19
Ps 83:4-8
Luke 17:28-33
2 Pet 2:6-9

Lot was Abraham's nephew and the ancestor of the Moabites and Ammonites. Like Abraham, Lot was born in Ur and accompanied Terah to Haran (11:27-32). After Terah's death, he joined Abraham in journeying to Canaan and Egypt.

When Lot and Abraham returned from Egypt to Canaan, their flocks and herds grew too numerous for them to live together. Abraham gave Lot his choice of land on which to settle. Lot chose the fertile plain of the Jordan that was like "the garden of the Lord" (13:10), and eventually he took up residence in Sodom. His increasing involvement with the completely corrupt cities of the plain contaminated Lot and resulted in the loss of all his wealth.

While Lot lived in Sodom, four Mesopotamian kings defeated the kings of five towns in the area; in the subsequent plundering, they carried off Lot, his family, and his possessions (14:1-12). When word of this reached Abraham, he launched a rearguard action against the invaders and recovered the prisoners and property (14:13-16). Later, two angelic visitors called on Lot in Sodom to hasten his departure from the doomed city (ch 19). The homosexual attack on the visitors illustrates the city's depravity, and Lot's willingness to sacrifice his daughters shows how corrupt and compromised he had become. Lot was reluctant to leave Sodom. No one but his immediate family accompanied him, and his wife was destroyed when she turned back. His daughters, despairing of finding husbands, got Lot drunk enough to have sexual relations with them. Their two sons, Moab and Ben-ammi, were ancestors of the Moabites and Ammonites (19:30-38), two nations that became inveterate enemies of Israel (see Deut 23:3-6).

Lot was a fool and a hypocrite to the people of the town, and on his journey out of Sodom he was still bargaining with God. His drunkenness and incest with his two daughters also reveals his character. Despite his waywardness, Peter declares that Lot was a "righteous man who was tormented in his soul by the wickedness he saw and heard day after day" (see 2 Pet 2:6-9).

transactions were publicly finalized (cp. 23:18; Job 29:7, 12-17). As a righteous man (2 Pet 2:7-8), Lot tried to modify the townspeople's wickedness by giving advice on good living (cp. 19:9). Although he denounced gross evil, Lot preferred Sodom's sumptuous lifestyle to life in the hills (cp. 13:10-11), where there was clean living but no "good life." As long as the Lord left Lot and his family alone in Sodom, he lived comfortably there and kept his personal belief in God; but finally, he could not hold to both. Sodom would have destroyed Lot if the Lord had not destroyed Sodom.

• This account showed Israel that God is the righteous judge of the whole earth (18:25) who will judge evildoers with justice and equity. In wicked societies, moral and ethical failures lead to social injustice.

19:4-5 The townspeople's vileness was matched by Lot's hypocrisy (19:6-9).

19:6-9 Lot opposed homosexuality and rape and rebuked their wicked plans, but he was hypocritically willing to sacrifice his daughters to fend off the townspeople's vice. Lot had originally pitched his tent next to Sodom; now Sodom controlled his life.

19:9 The men of the city were enraged by Lot's attempts to curtail their wickedness. Lot had apparently not condemned them before, since they were amazed that he now judged them.

19:10 angels: Literally men; also in 19:12, 16. They first appeared to Abraham as men (18:2); the text identifies two of them as angels (19:1).

19:13
Gen 18:20
1 Chr 21:15
Jude 1:7

19:14
Exod 9:21
Jer 5:12; 43:1-2

19:17
Gen 13:10; 19:26
Jer 48:6

19:22
Gen 13:10

19:24
Luke 17:29
Jude 1:7

19:25
Deut 29:23
Isa 13:19
Lam 4:6
2 Pet 2:6

19:26
Gen 19:17
Luke 17:32

19:27
Gen 18:22

19:28
Rev 9:2

19:29
Deut 7:8; 9:5
2 Pet 2:7-8

19:30
Gen 13:10

the city?" they asked. "Get them out of this place—your sons-in-law, sons, daughters, or anyone else. ¹³For we are about to destroy this city completely. The outcry against this place is so great it has reached the LORD, and he has sent us to destroy it."

¹⁴So Lot rushed out to tell his daughters' fiancés, "Quick, get out of the city! The LORD is about to destroy it." But the young men thought he was only joking.

¹⁵At dawn the next morning the angels became insistent. "Hurry," they said to Lot. "Take your wife and your two daughters who are here. Get out right now, or you will be swept away in the destruction of the city!"

¹⁶When Lot still hesitated, the angels seized his hand and the hands of his wife and two daughters and rushed them to safety outside the city, for the LORD was merciful. ¹⁷When they were safely out of the city, one of the angels ordered, "Run for your lives! And don't look back or stop anywhere in the valley! Escape to the mountains, or you will be swept away!"

¹⁸"Oh no, my lord!" Lot begged. ¹⁹"You have been so gracious to me and saved my life, and you have shown such great kindness. But I cannot go to the mountains. Disaster would catch up to me there, and I would soon die. ²⁰See, there is a small village nearby. Please let me go there instead; don't you see how small it is? Then my life will be saved."

²¹"All right," the angel said, "I will grant your request. I will not destroy the little village. ²²But hurry! Escape to it, for I can do nothing until you arrive there." (This explains why that village was known as Zoar, which means "little place.")

²³Lot reached the village just as the sun was rising over the horizon. ²⁴Then the LORD rained down fire and burning sulfur from the sky on Sodom and Gomorrah. ²⁵He utterly destroyed them, along with the other cities and villages of the plain, wiping out all the people and every bit of vegetation. ²⁶But Lot's wife looked back as she was following behind him, and she turned into a pillar of salt.

²⁷Abraham got up early that morning and hurried out to the place where he had stood in the LORD's presence. ²⁸He looked out across the plain toward Sodom and Gomorrah and watched as columns of smoke rose from the cities like smoke from a furnace.

²⁹But God had listened to Abraham's request and kept Lot safe, removing him from the disaster that engulfed the cities on the plain.

Lot and His Daughters

³⁰Afterward Lot left Zoar because he was afraid of the people there, and he went to mercifully spared Lot for Abraham's sake (18:23; 19:29). Lot deserved judgment for his way of life, but he was a believer at heart and the Lord rescued him (2 Pet 2:7-8). • Lot is not alone in his conflicted lifestyle. Countless believers fall in with a corrupt world rather than flee a doomed society. God's people, living in a pagan world, must remain separate (1 Jn 2:15-17). The corrupt world system awaits God's coming judgment, which will be far greater than the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah (Matt 11:23-24).

◀ The Destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah (18:16–19:38). The two angels apparently traveled, as shown, from Abraham's camp at the OAKS OF MAMRE to destroy SODOM and GOMORRAH. Lot and his daughters took refuge at ZOAR, then moved eastward into the mountains of MOAB. Lot fathered two sons by his daughters; the two sons became the nations of MOAB (see Num 21:10-20; 22:1–25:3; Deut 23:3, 6; Judg 3:12-30; Ruth 1:1-6) and AMMON (see Num 21:24; Deut 2:19-37; 23:3; Judg 10:6–12:3; 1 Sam 10:27–11:11).

19:18-22 Lot demanded a concession from the angels even after he was delivered. He wanted to live in the small town of Zoar (little place).

19:23-25 Cp. Luke 17:29. The eruption of Vesuvius and the destruction of Pompeii in 79 AD, as well as recent natural disasters, show how quickly a thorough catastrophe like this could happen.

19:26 looked back: The verb indicates prolonged, intense gazing toward the world she loved, not a curious glance (15:5; Exod 33:8; Num 21:9; 1 Sam 2:32; cp. Exod 3:6). Lot's wife was too attached to Sodom to follow God's call of grace, so she was included in the judgment as she lingered on the valley slopes. Christ's return to judge the world will be as sudden and devastating as the destruction of Sodom (Luke 17:32-37). Those who crave the life of this wicked world will lose this world and the next.

19:29 God honored Abraham's intercession (cp. 18:23-32), but Lot's entire world was gone because he lived by instinct and desire, not by faith in God. He could no longer live in the good land he selfishly chose for himself (13:10-13; cp. Matt 16:26; 2 Cor 5:7).

19:30-38 The poverty of the cave contrasts with the wealth Lot shared with Abram and the good life he lived 19:14 Lot's warning words were not taken seriously because of his hypocrisy. It seemed that there would not be even ten righteous people in the city.

19:15-23 Lot escaped judgment by God's grace, but his heart was still in Sodom. Israel would forever remember Lot as lingering, halting, and being dragged to safety by angels. The Lord live in a cave in the mountains with his two daughters. ³¹One day the older daughter said to her sister, "There are no men left anywhere in this entire area, so we can't get married like everyone else. And our father will soon be too old to have children. ³²Come, let's get him drunk with wine, and then we will have sex with him. That way we will preserve our family line through our father."

³³So that night they got him drunk with wine, and the older daughter went in and had intercourse with her father. He was unaware of her lying down or getting up again.

³⁴The next morning the older daughter said to her younger sister, "I had sex with our father last night. Let's get him drunk with wine again tonight, and you go in and have sex with him. That way we will preserve our family line through our father."

³⁵So that night they got him drunk with wine again, and the younger daughter went in and had intercourse with him. As before, he was unaware of her lying down or getting up again.

³⁶As a result, both of Lot's daughters became pregnant by their own father. ³⁷When the older daughter gave birth to a son, she named him Moab. He became the ancestor of the nation now known as the Moabites. ³⁸When the younger daughter gave birth to a son, she named him Ben-ammi. He became the ancestor of the nation now known as the Ammonites.

Abraham Deceives Abimelech

20 Abraham moved south to the Negev and lived for a while between Kadesh and Shur, and then he moved on to Gerar. While living there as a foreigner, ²Abraham introduced his wife, Sarah, by saying, "She is my sister." So King Abimelech of Gerar sent for Sarah and had her brought to him at his palace.

³But that night God came to Abimelech in a dream and told him, "You are a dead man, for that woman you have taken is already married!"

⁴But Abimelech had not slept with her yet, so he said, "Lord, will you destroy an innocent nation? ⁵Didn't Abraham tell me, 'She is my sister'? And she herself said, 'Yes, he is my brother.' I acted in complete innocence! My hands are clean."

⁶In the dream God responded, "Yes, I know you are innocent. That's why I kept you from sinning against me, and why I did not let you touch her. ⁷Now return the woman to her husband, and he will pray for you, for he is a prophet. Then you will live. But if you don't return her to him, you can be sure that you and all your people will die."

19:33
Gen 9:21

19:37
Gen 36:35
Exod 15:15
Num 21:29
Deut 2:9
Ruth 1:1

19:38
Num 21:24
Deut 2:19

20:1
Gen 14:7; 26:1

20:2
Gen 12:13

20:3
Gen 28:12; 31:24;
37:5

20:4
Gen 18:23-25

20:5
Gen 12:19
1 Kgs 9:4
Ps 7:8; 26:6

20:7
1 Sam 7:5
Job 42:8
8nabi' (5030)
Exod 7:1

in Sodom. Abraham would father a righteous nation (17:1), but Lot and his daughters gave birth to a new Sodom.

19:30-35 The character of Lot's daughters was formed by Sodom's culture more than by their father's heritage, so they had no qualms about having children by their drunk father (cp. 9:21-22). They saw no other way to carry on their line.

19:36-38 The daughters' plan worked, and they each became pregnant by their own father. From these two incest-born sons came two perennial enemies of Israel, the nations of Moab and Ammon. Their grotesque wickedness was due in part to their origin. • Both daughters chose ambiguous names that hinted at their actions without raising the suspicions of those who did not know the stories. Moab sounds like a Hebrew term that means "from father." Ben-ammi means "son of my kinsman."

20:1-18 This second "sister story" in Genesis (cp. 12:10-20) occurred shortly before Sarah became pregnant with Isaac (ch 21). On both occasions, God protected Abraham and Sarah's marriage in purity for the sake of the covenant promises. Participation in God's plan requires separation from worldly corruption. • This story took place in the Promised Land; it showed Israel how God intervened in people's lives to fulfill his plan, how God continued to protect them against threats from other tribes, and how God used his chosen people to mediate his relationship with the nations. • God's preventing the destruction of Abraham's marriage by adultery reminded the Israelites to keep their marriages morally and racially pure (Ezra 9:1-4; Neh 13:23-27; Mal 2:10-17); they should not allow any opportunity for temptation (Exod 20:14, 17; Lev 20:10; 21:13-15). Adultery would eventually destroy the covenant and the covenant people.

20:1 Gerar was near the coast in Philistine land, about twelve miles south of Gaza and fifty miles southwest of Hebron.

20:2 Abraham told the same lie to Abimelech that he had told to Pharaoh (12:13); Isaac would later do the same (26:1-11), probably having learned this tactic from his father. • Abimelech (literally my father the king) was probably a title like "Pharaoh" (37:36; Exod 1:15), not a proper name (see note on 26:1).

20:3-7 God gave Abimelech a stern warning against committing adultery; it was a capital offense (cp. Exod 20:14), viewed throughout the ancient Near East as a "great sin" (20:9).

20:3 that night God came . . . in a dream: God urgently intervened to stop Abimelech from violating Sarah's purity shortly before God's promise was fulfilled (18:10; 21:1-3).

20:4-5 Abimelech was innocent (20:6); his conscience was clear. Nonetheless, he was about to commit adultery, and ignorance does not excuse guilt (Lev 4:13-14). • will you destroy an innocent nation? Abimelech's appeal to God echoes Abraham's earlier words (cp. 18:23-32) and rebukes Abraham's lack of faith on this occasion.

20:6 Because Abimelech acted with a clear conscience, God kept him from sinning. God will graciously help those who try to do what is right. When people act with reverence toward God, God gives them more revelation and draws them into more specific faith (see Acts 10).

20:7 Abraham's prayer saved the king's life and restored his family (20:17-18).

20:9
Gen 12:18
20:11
Gen 12:12; 42:18
20:13
Gen 12:1
20:14
Gen 12:16
20:16
Gen 23:15
20:17
Num 12:13; 21:7
hpalaf (6419)
• Deut 9:26
20:18
Gen 12:17
21:1
Gen 17:16, 21
21:2
Gen 18:10
Gal 4:22
Heb 11:11
21:3
Gen 17:19
21:4
Gen 17:10, 12
21:5
Gen 12:4
Heb 6:15
21:6
Isa 54:1
21:7
Gen 18:13
21:8
1 Sam 1:23
21:9
Gal 4:29
21:10
*Gal 4:30

⁸Abimelech got up early the next morning and quickly called all his servants together. When he told them what had happened, his men were terrified. ⁹Then Abimelech called for Abraham. "What have you done to us?" he demanded. "What crime have I committed that deserves treatment like this, making me and my kingdom guilty of this great sin? No one should ever do what you have done! ¹⁰Whatever possessed you to do such a thing?"

¹¹Abraham replied, "I thought, 'This is a godless place. They will want my wife and will kill me to get her.' ¹²And she really is my sister, for we both have the same father, but different mothers. And I married her. ¹³When God called me to leave my father's home and to travel from place to place, I told her, 'Do me a favor. Whenever we go, tell the people that I am your brother.'"

¹⁴Then Abimelech took some of his sheep and goats, cattle, and male and female servants, and he presented them to Abraham. He also returned his wife, Sarah, to him. ¹⁵Then Abimelech said, "Look over my land and choose any place where you would like to live." ¹⁶And he said to Sarah, "Look, I am giving your 'brother' 1,000 pieces of silver in the presence of all these witnesses. This is to compensate you for any wrong I may have done to you. This will settle any claim against me, and your reputation is cleared."

¹⁷Then Abraham ^hprayed to God, and God healed Abimelech, his wife, and his female servants, so they could have children. ¹⁸For the LORD had caused all the women to be infertile because of what happened with Abraham's wife, Sarah.

The Birth of Isaac

21 The LORD kept his word and did for Sarah exactly what he had promised. ²She became pregnant, and she gave birth to a son for Abraham in his old age. This happened at just the time God had said it would. ³And Abraham named their son Isaac. ⁴Eight days after Isaac was born, Abraham circumcised him as God had commanded. ⁵Abraham was 100 years old when Isaac was born.

⁶And Sarah declared, "God has brought me laughter. All who hear about this will laugh with me. ⁷Who would have said to Abraham that Sarah would nurse a baby? Yet I have given Abraham a son in his old age!"

Hagar and Ishmael Are Sent Away

⁸When Isaac grew up and was about to be weaned, Abraham prepared a huge feast to celebrate the occasion. ⁹But Sarah saw Ishmael—the son of Abraham and her Egyptian servant Hagar—making fun of her son, Isaac. ¹⁰So she turned to Abraham and demanded, "Get rid of that slave woman and her son. He is not going to share the inheritance with my son, Isaac. I won't have it!"

¹¹This upset Abraham very much because Ishmael was his son. ¹²But God told Abimelech learned that Abraham's God was sovereign, and that Abraham, God's prophet, had received God's revelation and would intercede for others (see Num 12:13; Deut 9:20), even if he did not always live up to the office.

20:8-10 Abraham had earned rebukes from Abimelech and from God (cp. 12:17-19). Abimelech was angry that Abraham's deception had made him guilty of this great sin (see note on 20:3-7). He knew that taking a married woman into his harem was wrong.

20:11-13 Abraham's duplicity was not a momentary loss of faith. Despite the rebuke he received in Egypt, he practiced this strategy wherever he went (cp. 12:12-13). Living by faith requires perseverance.

20:14-16 Abimelech secured his reputation as a good man (see note on 20:4-5) and demonstrated his integrity. He made amends by allowing Abraham to live in the region, and by giving him slaves, livestock (cp. 21:27), and 1,000 pieces of silver (Hebrew 1,000 [shekels] of silver, about 25 pounds or 11.4 kilograms in weight) to compensate . . . for any wrong done to Sarah.

20:17-18 The infertility suggests that some time had passed. God controls births; he opens and closes wombs (25:21; 29:31; 30:2, 17, 22-23; 1 Sam 1:19-20; Ps 113:9; 127:3; Luke 1:13).

21:1-2 See 18:10.

21:3-4 Abraham responded in faith by naming his son Isaac and circumcising him according to the terms of the covenant (see 17:9-14).

21:5 Isaac was born twenty-five years after the promise was first given (cp. 12:4).

21:6-7 Sarah was filled with joy and praise for this amazing event—only God could enable her to have a child.

21:6 The name Isoac (Hebrew yitskhaq) means "he laughs." Sarah's wordplay shows that the laughter of unbelief when the promise was given (18:12) had changed to the laughter of joy at its fulfillment. Isaac's name could refer to the pleasure of God and of his parents at his birth. Sarah knew that everyone who heard about this would laugh with her and rejoice at the news.

21:8-21 God used the incident of Ishmael's mocking Isaac to separate Ishmael and Hagar from the family and the child of promise. They would constantly threaten the promised descendant if they remained with the family.

21:8-9 The feast for Isaac's weaning probably occurred when he was three and Ishmael about seventeen years old (16:16). Sarah saw Ishmael making fun of her son, Isaac (as in Greek version and Latin Vulgate; Hebrew lacks of her son, Isaac). The verb metsakheq ("making fun of") is related to the word for "laughter"; this theme (21:6) is given a sour twist by Ishmael's mockery.

21:10 Earlier, Sarah mistreated Hagar and pressured her to flee (16:6); when Hagar's son mistreated Isaac, Sarah demanded that that slave woman and her son leave.

21:11-13 Abraham was upset by Sarah's demand to oust Hagar and Ishmael.

Abraham, "Do not be upset over the boy and your servant. Do whatever Sarah tells you, for Isaac is the son through whom your descendants will be counted. ¹³But I will also make a nation of the descendants of Hagar's son because he is your son, too."

¹⁴So Abraham got up early the next morning, prepared food and a container of water, and strapped them on Hagar's shoulders. Then he sent her away with their son, and she wandered aimlessly in the wilderness of Beersheba.

¹⁵When the water was gone, she put the boy in the shade of a bush. ¹⁶Then she went and sat down by herself about a hundred yards away. "I don't want to watch the boy die," she said, as she burst into tears.

¹⁷But God heard the boy crying, and the angel of God called to Hagar from heaven, "Hagar, what's wrong? Do not be afraid! God has heard the boy crying as he lies there. ¹⁸Go to him and comfort him, for I will make a great nation from his descendants."

¹⁹Then God opened Hagar's eyes, and she saw a well full of water. She quickly filled her water container and gave the boy a drink.

²⁰And God was with the boy as he grew up in the wilderness. He became a skillful archer, ²¹and he settled in the wilderness of Paran. His mother arranged for him to marry a woman from the land of Egypt.

Abraham's Covenant with Abimelech

²²About this time, Abimelech came with Phicol, his army commander, to visit Abraham. "God is obviously with you, helping you in everything you do," Abimelech said. ²³"Swear to me in God's name that you will never deceive me, my children, or any of my descendants. I have been loyal to you, so now swear that you will be loyal to me and to this country where you are living as a foreigner."

²⁴Abraham replied, "Yes, I swear to it!"

²⁵Then Abraham complained to Abimelech about a well that Abimelech's servants had taken by force from Abraham's servants.

²⁶"This is the first I've heard of it," Abimelech answered. "I have no idea who is responsible. You have never complained about this before."

²⁷Abraham then gave some of his sheep, goats, and cattle to Abimelech, and they made a treaty. ²⁸But Abraham also took seven additional female lambs and set them off by themselves. ²⁹Abimelech asked, "Why have you set these seven apart from the others?"

³⁰Abraham replied, "Please accept these seven lambs to show your agreement that I dug this well." ³¹Then he named the place Beersheba (which means "well of the oath"), because that was where they had sworn the oath.

21:12
*Rom 9:7
*Heb 11:18
21:13
Gen 16:10; 21:18;
25:12-18
21:14
Gen 16:1
21:16
Jer 6:26
21:17
Exod 3:7
Deut 26:7
Ps 6:8
21:18
Gen 26:24
21:20
Gen 28:15
21:21
Gen 25:18
21:22
Gen 26:26
21:23
Gen 24:3
21:25
Gen 26:15
21:27
Gen 26:31
21:30
Gen 31:44
21:31
Gen 21:14; 26:33

God told him to comply, assuring Abraham that Ishmael would also have a future as Abraham's offspring.

21:14-21 God again rescued Hagar in the wilderness and guaranteed her future (cp. 16:7-14). This passage is similar to ch 16, but the differences are great. Here, Hagar and Ishmael are rescued, but there is no commemorative naming. God's earlier promise to Hagar is reiterated, but this time Hagar is not told to return to Sarah. The repeated motifs on the two occasions confirm God's sovereign plan for Hagar and Ishmael. As Joseph told Pharaoh, the twofold event showed that God confirmed it (41:32). God did not abandon Hagar and Ishmael but met them in their despair (cp. 16:7), provided sustenance for them, and promised again that Ishmael would found a great nation (21:13; cp. 16:11-12). Paul uses this event in his letter to the Galatians to illustrate how God's people must relinquish all that threatens the fulfillment of God's promise (Gal 4:21-31).

21:16 a hundred yards (literally a bow-shot): This description connects with Ishmael's vocation (21:20).

21:22-34 This passage, at its climax, explains the name of Beersheba, Abraham's home (21:31-34). Beersheba reflected the covenant Abraham made with the residents of the land, which enabled him to dwell there in peace and prosperity. God's promise was coming to fruition (12:7; 13:14-17; 15:7, 18-21; 17:8).

21:22-23 Abimelech pressed for the treaty so that Abraham would not cheat or deceive him. Abimelech knew that God was blessing Abraham even though Abraham was not entirely trustworthy (20:9-10). This sad contradiction made the treaty necessary. By contrast, God's faithful people are exhorted to speak the truth (Eph 4:15, 25), and Jesus warned against manipulating truth by the clever use of oaths (Matt 5:37; Jas 5:12).

21:25 The motif of the well appears again (cp. 16:14; 21:19). God provided water (a symbol of blessing) in the barren wilderness, and later even brought water out of a rock for Israel (Exod 15:22-27; 17:1-7; Num 20:1-13).

21:27-31 Abraham's gifts to Abimelech (cp. 20:14) secured his legal right to dwell peaceably in the land and to claim ownership of the well. Beersheba marked one more step toward the fulfillment of God's promise.

21:32 The Philistines in Genesis are different from the Philistines of Judges through Kings. The earlier Philistines had Semitic names (e.g., Abimelech) and Canaanite culture. The later Philistines were apparently of Greek origin, with Greek customs and culture. They seem to have arrived in Canaan by sea from the Aegean area around 1200 BC, during the time of the judges. Probably the name of the later Philistines was used here simply to describe the region's earlier inhabitants.

21:33-34 A tamarisk tree requires a lot of water; this act indicated Abraham's security in his land rights and his faith that God would provide water in this desert area. He settled as a foreigner in the land, but dwelling under his tree was a sign of peaceful security (cp. Zech 3:10). • there he worshiped the Lord: See note on 12:8. • the Eternal God: Hebrew El-olam.

22:1-2 The greatest test in Abraham's life came after he had received the promised child following a long wait. He had grown to love Isaac and had enjoyed his presence for a number of years.

21:33
1 Sam 22:6, 31:13
Ps 90:2
Isa 9:6, 40:28
Yolam (5769)
Deut 33:15

22:1
Exod 15:25; 16:4
Deut 8:2, 16

22:2
2 Chr 3:1
John 3:16

22:5
Ikhawah (7812)
Gen 42:6

³²After making their covenant at Beer-sheba, Abimelech left with Phicol, the commander of his army, and they returned home to the land of the Philistines. ³³Then Abraham planted a tamarisk tree at Beer-sheba, and there he worshiped the LORD, the Eternal God. ³⁴And Abraham lived as a foreigner in Philistine country for a long time.

Abraham's Faith Tested

22 Some time later, God tested Abraham's faith. "Abraham!" God called.

"Yes," he replied. "Here I am."

²"Take your son, your only son—yes, Isaac, whom you love so much—and go to the land of Moriah. Go and sacrifice him as a burnt offering on one of the mountains, which I will show you."

³The next morning Abraham got up early. He saddled his donkey and took two of his servants with him, along with his son, Isaac. Then he chopped wood for a fire for a burnt offering and set out for the place God had told him about. ⁴On the third day of their journey, Abraham looked up and saw the place in the distance. ⁵"Stay here with the donkey," Abraham told the servants. "The boy and I will travel a little farther. We will worship there, and then we will come right back."

Isaac (21:1-12)

Gen 17:19-21;
22:1-19; 24:1-8,
14, 62-67; 25:5-11,
19-28; 26:1-28:9;
31:42; 35:12, 27-28;
48:15-16; 49:31
Exod 3:6
Josh 24:3-4
Rom 9:6-10
Gal 4:21-31
Heb 11:8-9, 17-20

At Isaac's birth, his parents, Abraham and Sarah, were beyond childbearing age. God had promised Abraham a son (15:4-6), but no son had come. Ishmael had been born through Hagar (16:1-16), but he was not the promised son.

Isaac means "he laughs," reflecting the circumstances of his birth. When God promised that Isaac would be born, both Abraham and Sarah first laughed in disbelief (17:15-19; 18:9-15). When he was born, they laughed for joy (21:6-7).

During Isaac's adolescence, God tested Abraham by telling him to sacrifice Isaac (22:1-19). Abraham's faith remained firm; he obeyed, and Isaac submitted to his father. God then intervened to provide a sacrificial ram in Isaac's place. Abraham's faith in God was rewarded with the promise of great blessings (22:15-18).

Isaac married Rebekah and was ready to carry on the chosen line, but Rebekah was unable to bear children (25:21). Rather than take matters into his own hands as his father had done (see 16:1-16), Isaac "pleaded with the LORD" and Rebekah bore twin sons. Isaac favored Esau, the older son, while Rebekah preferred Jacob. Favoritism remained a problem among Isaac's descendants (see notes on 29:30; 33:1-2; 37:4) and led to Isaac's being deceived by his son Jacob when he was old and blind (ch 27).

Isaac followed his father Abraham's example in relating to surrounding nations. When visiting another kingdom during a famine, he fearfully claimed that his wife was his sister (26:1-11; cp. 12:10-20; 20:1-18). Like his father, Isaac became prosperous in that land and was asked to leave (26:12-16; cp. 12:16-20); he experienced conflict over water and land with other herdsmen (26:17-22; cp. 21:25-31); and he made a treaty with the king of the Philistines (26:26-31; cp. 21:22-31). When Isaac worshiped the Lord at Beersheba, he was given the same promise that his father had received (26:2-5, 23-25; cp. 21:32-33; 22:16-18).

Isaac continued God's covenant with Abraham and linked Abraham with Jacob (see Acts 7:8; Heb 11:9-20). As the child of promise, Isaac represents all who are children of Abraham by faith in Christ and are thereby free to live as God's children rather than as slaves (see Gal 4:21-5:1).

22:1 Some time later: Abraham had sent Ishmael away and settled in the land. Now God tested Abraham's faith by telling him to give up Isaac. This pushed the limits of logic and of Abraham's knowledge of God. Would he still obey when God seemed to be working against him and against the covenant? Would he cling to the boy or surrender him to God (see Exod 13:11-13)? Did he believe that God would still keep his word and bless the world through Abraham's offspring?

22:2 Obedience to God's earlier call (12:1-3) was rewarded with great blessing; now Abraham had the opportunity to show even greater obedience. • Take your son . . . Isaac, whom you love so much: By this detailed description of Isaac, God reminded Abraham that the young man was his beloved son, and intensified his awareness of the cost of the sacrifice. • The name Moriah is explained by the Chronicler (2 Chr 3:1) as the place of the later Temple Mount in Jerusalem. • Go: By wording the command in this way, God helped Abraham to obey by recalling his former call (cp. 12:1-3).

22:3 Abraham's immediate, unquestioning obedience is almost as astounding as the test.

22:5 We will worship there, and then we will come (or We will worship there so that we may come back): Abraham's amazing statement makes us wonder what he was thinking. Abraham knew that God had planned the future of the covenant around Isaac, and that God wanted him to sacrifice Isaac. He could not reconcile these things in his mind; he could only do what God commanded him to do, and leave the future to God (cp. Heb 11:17-19).

⁶So Abraham placed the wood for the burnt offering on Isaac's shoulders, while he himself carried the fire and the knife. As the two of them walked on together, ⁷Isaac turned to Abraham and said, "Father?"

"Yes, my son?" Abraham replied.

"We have the fire and the wood," the boy said, "but where is the sheep for the burnt offering?"

⁸"God will provide a sheep for the burnt offering, my son," Abraham answered. And they both walked on together.

⁹When they arrived at the place where God had told him to go, Abraham built an altar and arranged the wood on it. Then he tied his son, Isaac, and laid him on the altar on top of the wood. ¹⁰And Abraham picked up the knife to kill his son as a sacrifice. ¹¹At that moment the angel of the LORD called to him from heaven, "Abraham! Abraham!"

"Yes," Abraham replied. "Here I am!"

¹²"Don't lay a hand on the boy!" the angel said. "Do not hurt him in any way, for now I know that you truly fear God. You have not withheld from me even your son, your only son."

¹³Then Abraham looked up and saw a ram caught by its horns in a thicket. So he took the ram and sacrificed it as a burnt offering in place of his son. ¹⁴Abraham named the place Yahweh-Yireh (which means "the LORD will provide"). To this day, people still use that name as a proverb: "On the mountain of the LORD it will be provided."

¹⁵Then the angel of the LORD called again to Abraham from heaven. ¹⁶"This is what the LORD says: Because you have obeyed me and have not withheld even your son, your only son, I swear by my own name that ¹⁷I will certainly bless you. I will multiply your descendants beyond number, like the stars in the sky and the sand on the seashore. Your descendants will conquer the cities of their enemies. ¹⁸And through your descendants all the nations of the earth will be blessed—all because you have obeyed me."

¹⁹Then they returned to the servants and traveled back to Beersheba, where Abraham continued to live.

Nahor's Family (22:20-24)

²⁰Soon after this, Abraham heard that Milcah, his brother Nahor's wife, had borne Nahor eight sons. ²¹The oldest was named Uz, the next oldest was Buz, followed by

22:6
John 19:17

22:7
Gen 8:20
Exod 29:38-42
John 1:29, 36
Rev 13:8

22:9
Heb 11:17-19
Jas 2:21

22:11
Gen 16:7; 21:17

22:12
Heb 11:17

22:13
Gen 8:20

22:14
Gen 22:7-8

22:16
*Heb 6:13-14

22:17
Gen 12:2; 15:5; 26:4
*Heb 6:14

22:18
*Acts 3:25
*Gal 3:8, 16

22:19
Gen 21:14

22:20
Gen 11:29

22:7-8 In response to Isaac's question, Abraham again showed his faith in the Lord, saying God will provide, although he was not sure how. This theme is central to the entire narrative.

22:9-19 God's intervention was dramatic and instructive, confirming that he never intended for Isaac to be sacrificed. God later made it clear that child sacrifice was an abomination to him (see Lev 18:21; 20:1-5; Deut 18:10; 2 Kgs 16:2-3; Isa 57:5; Jer 32:35). God wanted Abraham to sacrifice his own will and surrender it to God, and when he did, God intervened. This passage sets a pattern for all sacrificial worshipers. Like Abraham, true worshipers of God know that everything belongs to God—it all came from God and must therefore be acknowledged as God's possession. A true worshiper holds nothing back but obediently gives God what he asks, trusting that God will provide for all his needs, and then discovering through experience that God always does so.

22:11 The angel of the LORD stopped Abraham just as he was ready to plunge the knife into his son.

22:12 Now God knew that Abraham would hold nothing back from him, that he did truly fear God. To fear the Lord means to reverence him as sovereign, trust him implicitly, and obey him without protest. The sacrifice that pleases God is a heart broken of self-will, surrendered to God (Ps 40:6-8; 51:17) and offering its best to God. • You have not withheld: Cp. Rom 8:32, which uses the same verb ("spare") as the Greek OT uses here. If God gave us his dearest possession, he will surely provide all things for us.

22:13 God provided a ram caught by its horns in a thicket for the sacrifice. God graciously allowed Abraham to substitute an animal sacrifice in place of Isaac. Later, all Israel would offer animals to the Lord, knowing that God's grace had provided this substitution (Exod 29:10; Lev 4:15; 16:20-22). In the NT, God substituted his only son for all humanity; the perfect sacrifice was made once and for all (Isa 53:6, 10; John 1:29; Heb 7:27; 10:1-14; 1 Pet 3:18).

22:14 As with many patriarchal narratives, the heart of the matter is retained through commemorative naming. Yahweh-Yireh . . . means "the LORD will provide" (see 22:8). That Abraham used the holy name in this act shows that the patriarchs knew the name Yahweh (cp. Exod 6:2-3), but not its full meaning (see note on Exod 6:2-3). • To this day: Later Israelites understood this passage as a lesson about their own worship in Jerusalem. Abraham's sacrifice took place on the mountain of the LORD, later the location of the Temple in Jerusalem (see note on 22:2). Three times a year, the people of Israel brought their best to God as a sacrifice, trusting that he would continue to provide for their needs.

22:15-19 After the event, God again confirmed his covenant with Abraham (cp. 15:5, 18-21; 17:3-8). His descendants would be numerous like the stars in the sky (cp. 26:4), like the sand on the seashore (cp. 32:12), and like the dust of the earth (cp. 13:16; 28:14).

22:16 by my own name: There is no higher name by which God can swear (Heb 6:13-17).

22:17 descendants: Literally seed; also in 22:18. • Joshua and OT Israel partially fulfilled the promise that Abraham's descendants would conquer the cities (literally take possession of the gates) of God's enemies; this will be fulfilled fully by the church (cp. Matt 16:18 and note).

22:18-25:11 Abraham passed the test of faith; from this point, his task was to pass the covenant blessings to Isaac. He purchased a burial plot (ch 23), acquired a wife for Isaac (ch 24), and distributed his property (25:1-11).

22:20-24 A report came from the east that Abraham's brother Nahor (see 11:27-29) was flourishing. The actors in the following narrative are introduced here.

22:20 Milcah, Nahor's wife, was also his niece (see 11:29).

22:21 Uz might have been Job's forefather (Job 1:1).

22:23
Gen 24:15

23:2
Josh 14:15

23:3
Gen 10:15

23:4
Lev 25:23
1 Chr 29:15
Ps 39:12
Heb 11:9

23:6
Gen 14:14-16

23:8-9
Gen 25:9

23:10
Ruth 4:1, 11

23:15
Exod 30:13

23:16
Jer 32:9

23:17-18
Gen 25:9; 49:29-30;
50:13

Kemuel (the ancestor of the Arameans),²²Kesed, Hazo, Pildash, Jidlaph, and Bethuel.²³(Bethuel became the father of Rebekah.) In addition to these eight sons from Milcah,²⁴Nahor had four other children from his concubine Reumah. Their names were Tebah, Gaham, Tahash, and Maacah.

The Burial of Sarah: Abraham's Land Purchase (23:1-20)

23 When Sarah was 127 years old,²she died at Kiriath-arba (now called Hebron) in the land of Canaan. There Abraham mourned and wept for her.

³Then, leaving her body, he said to the Hittite elders,⁴"Here I am, a stranger and a foreigner among you. Please sell me a piece of land so I can give my wife a proper burial."

⁵The Hittites replied to Abraham,⁶"Listen, my lord, you are an honored prince among us. Choose the finest of our tombs and bury her there. No one here will refuse to help you in this way."

⁷Then Abraham bowed low before the Hittites⁸ and said, "Since you are willing to help me in this way, be so kind as to ask Ephron son of Zohar⁹ to let me buy his cave at Machpelah, down at the end of his field. I will pay the full price in the presence of witnesses, so I will have a permanent burial place for my family."

¹⁰Ephron was sitting there among the others, and he answered Abraham as the others listened, speaking publicly before all the Hittite elders of the town. ¹¹"No, my lord," he said to Abraham, "please listen to me. I will give you the field and the cave. Here in the presence of my people, I give it to you. Go and bury your dead."

¹²Abraham again bowed low before the citizens of the land,¹³and he replied to Ephron as everyone listened. "No, listen to me. I will buy it from you. Let me pay the full price for the field so I can bury my dead there."

¹⁴Ephron answered Abraham,¹⁵"My lord, please listen to me. The land is worth 400 pieces of silver, but what is that between friends? Go ahead and bury your dead."

¹⁶So Abraham agreed to Ephron's price and paid the amount he had suggested—400 pieces of silver, weighed according to the market standard. The Hittite elders witnessed the transaction.

¹⁷So Abraham bought the plot of land belonging to Ephron at Machpelah, near Mamre. This included the field itself, the cave that was in it, and all the surrounding trees. ¹⁸It was transferred to Abraham as his permanent possession in the presence of the Hittite elders at the city gate. ¹⁹Then Abraham buried his wife, Sarah, there in Canaan, in the cave of Machpelah, near Mamre (also called Hebron). ²⁰So the field and the cave were transferred from the Hittites to Abraham for use as a permanent burial place.

22:22-23 Bethuel was the youngest of Nahor's eight sons by Milcah; he was the father of Rebekah, Isaac's future wife (see 24:15, 67). Rebekah would follow Sarah as matriarch of the clan (23:1-2).

23:1-20 When Sarah . . . died, Abraham acquired a parcel of land for a burial place. This transaction was the first sign that a permanent transition had taken place, as people were normally buried in their ancestral homeland (cp. 49:29–50:13). In burying Sarah, Abraham detached from his just-mentioned ancestral home (where his relatives still lived, 22:20-24); his future would be in Canaan, where his descendants would realize the promise.

23:1 Sarah was 127 years old: Isaac was 37 at this time (cp. 17:17). • Hebron: See note on 13:18.

23:3-4 Abraham bargained with local Hittite elders for a piece of land for a burial site. These Hittites had apparently migrated south to Canaan from the great Hittite empire in eastern Asia Minor (modern Turkey; cp. 10:15). • Abraham was a stranger and a foreigner among these people; his hope was in God's promise that he would eventually possess the land.

23:5-6 my lord, you are an honored prince: Either Abraham was highly regarded by these people, or they were politely appealing to his generosity. • Choose the finest . . . No one here will refuse: They were willing to accommodate his request, especially if they could legally obligate him to themselves (23:11).

23:7-16 Abraham wanted to buy Ephron's cave at Machpelah, but Ephron wanted him to buy the entire field.

23:9 This would be a permanent burial place for Abraham's family. The site was near Mamre (23:19), where Abraham lived (see 13:18; 14:13; 18:1). Abraham and Sarah, Isaac and Rebekah, and Jacob and Leah would all be buried in this cave (23:19; 25:9; 35:27-29; 49:29-31; 50:13), their permanent place in the Promised Land.

23:11 Ephron did not intend to give the cave to Abraham; Abraham was expected to "give" the full price in return. Ephron wanted to sell as much as he could to avoid responsibility for caring for the cave and to receive as high a price as possible.

23:12-13 Abraham didn't want the whole field, but he was willing to take it to get the cave.

23:15 400 pieces (Hebrew 400 shekels, about 10 pounds or 4.6 kilograms in weight; also in 23:16) of silver was a very high price. Ephron's politeness was typical of the bargaining process.

23:16-20 Abraham paid the amount and finalized the transaction, avoiding indebtedness by accepting no gifts from the people (cp. 14:21-24). The Hittite elders witnessed the transaction, ensuring that no one could challenge Abraham's full ownership of the land. The transaction took place at the city gate, where public legal and business dealings were conducted (cp. 19:1). The land became Abraham's permanent possession, a down payment on God's promise to give him the land. Abraham knew that God's promise was not fulfilled (12:7) by this acquisition, so he planned for the future. By buying land for his dead, he declared that God's promises do not end with this life. This is the hope of all who die in faith.

A Wife for Isaac from Nahor's Family
(24:1-67)

Commission to Find a Wife

24 Abraham was now a very old man, and the LORD had blessed him in every way. ²One day Abraham said to his oldest servant, the man in charge of his household, "Take an oath by putting your hand under my thigh. ³Swear by the LORD, the God of heaven and earth, that you will not allow my son to marry one of these local Canaanite women. ⁴Go instead to my homeland, to my relatives, and find a wife there for my son Isaac."

⁵The servant asked, "But what if I can't find a young woman who is willing to travel so far from home? Should I then take Isaac there to live among your relatives in the land you came from?"

⁶"No!" Abraham responded. "Be careful never to take my son there. ⁷For the LORD, the God of heaven, who took me from my father's house and my native land, solemnly promised to give this land to my descendants. He will send his angel ahead of you, and he will see to it that you find a wife there for my son. ⁸If she is unwilling to come back with you, then you are free from this oath of mine. But under no circumstances are you to take my son there."

Dependence on God's Leading

⁹So the servant took an oath by putting his hand under the thigh of his master, Abraham. He swore to follow Abraham's instructions. ¹⁰Then he loaded ten of Abraham's camels with all kinds of expensive gifts from his master, and he traveled to distant Aram-naharaim. There he went to the town where Abraham's brother Nahor had settled. ¹¹He made the camels kneel beside a well just outside the town. It was evening, and the women were coming out to draw water.

¹²"O LORD, God of my master, Abraham," he prayed. "Please give me success today, and show unfailing love to my master, Abraham. ¹³See, I am standing here beside this spring, and the young women of the town are coming out to draw water. ¹⁴This is my request. I will ask one of them, 'Please give me a drink from your jug.' If she says, 'Yes, have a drink, and I will water your camels, too!'—let her be the one you have selected as Isaac's wife. This is how I will know that you have shown unfailing love to my master."

¹⁵Before he had finished praying, he saw a young woman named Rebekah coming out with her water jug on her shoulder. She was the daughter of Bethuel, who was the son of Abraham's brother Nahor and his wife, Milcah. ¹⁶Rebekah was very beautiful and old enough to be married, but she was still a virgin. She went down to the spring, filled her jug, and came up again. ¹⁷Running over to her, the servant said, "Please give me a little drink of water from your jug."

¹⁸"Yes, my lord," she answered, "have a drink." And she quickly lowered her jug from her shoulder and gave him a drink. ¹⁹When she had given him a drink, she said, "I'll draw water for your camels, too, until they have had enough to drink." ²⁰So she quickly emptied her jug into the watering trough and ran back to the well to draw water for all his camels.

²¹The servant watched her in silence, wondering whether or not the LORD had given him success in his mission. ²²Then at last, when the camels had finished drinking, he

24:1
Gen 12:2; 24:35

24:2
Gen 47:29

24:3
Gen 14:19

24:4
Gen 12:1

24:5
Gen 24:39

24:7
Gen 12:1, 7; 16:7;
22:11
Rom 4:13
*Gal 3:16

24:10
Gen 11:29
Deut 23:4

24:11
Gen 24:42

24:12
Gen 24:27, 48

24:14
Judg 6:17
1 Sam 14:10

24:15
Gen 22:20-24

24:16
Gen 12:11; 29:17

24:17
1 Kgs 17:10
John 4:7

24:19
Gen 24:14

24:22
Gen 24:47

24:1-67 Isaac's marriage to Rebekah ensured that God's plan would continue into the next generation. God showed covenant faithfulness by working through his faithful people (24:12, 27, 49).

24:1-9 Confident in the Lord's promise, Abraham had his chief servant (probably Eliezer, 15:2) swear to find a wife among Abraham's relatives in his homeland, some 450 miles away. Abraham was faithful to the covenant by preparing for Isaac's future.

24:2 Putting his hand under Abraham's thigh (cp. 47:29), the servant took a very solemn oath, assuming the burden of completing this mission.

24:3 Isaac knew how wicked and threatening the local Canaanite people were, so he maintained separation from them (cp. 26:34-35; 27:46; 28:8-9).

24:6-8 Under no circumstances was the servant to take Isaac from the Promised Land to seek a wife. Abraham ensured Isaac's safety and secured God's promises in the land of blessing.

24:7 descendants: Literally seed; also in 24:60.

24:10-60 The servant faithfully carried out the mission, and he glorified God for displaying faithful covenant love for Abraham's family by bringing all the details together. God sovereignly worked behind the scenes to accomplish his will through the circumstances of those acting responsibly in faith.

24:10-27 The servant obeyed his master's instructions and trusted God to lead him to the right woman.

24:10 Aram-naharaim ("Aram of the two rivers") was also called Paddan- aram ("the field of Aram," cp. 25:20). It was a two-week journey in each direction, so the servant had ten . . . camels for provisions and gifts (24:22, 53).

24:14 Abraham's future daughter-in-law manifested hospitality and industry like Abraham's (see 18:1-8). Ten thirsty camels could drink 250 gallons of water, so a woman who would work that hard for a stranger was certainly not lazy, but generous and hospitable.

24:15-22 The servant received a precise, immediate answer to his prayer for guidance.

24:22 The servant showed his gratitude by giving the girl expensive jewelry: • a gold ring for her nose and two large gold bracelets: Hebrew a gold nose-ring weighing a beka [0.2 ounces or 6 grams] and two gold bracelets weighing 10 [shekels] [4 ounces or 114 grams].

24:24
Gen 24:15

24:26
Exod 4:31

24:27
Gen 14:20; 24:12, 48

24:28
Gen 29:12

24:29
Gen 25:20; 29:5

24:30
Gen 24:10

24:31
Gen 26:29

24:34
Gen 15:2; 24:2

24:35
Gen 12:2

24:36
Gen 21:1-7; 25:5

24:37
Gen 24:2-4

24:40
Gen 24:7

took out a gold ring for her nose and two large gold bracelets for her wrists.

²³"Whose daughter are you?" he asked. "And please tell me, would your father have any room to put us up for the night?"

²⁴"I am the daughter of Bethuel," she replied. "My grandparents are Nahor and Milcah. ²⁵Yes, we have plenty of straw and feed for the camels, and we have room for guests."

²⁶The man bowed low and worshiped the LORD. ²⁷"Praise the LORD, the God of my master, Abraham," he said. "The LORD has shown unfailing love and faithfulness to my master, for he has led me straight to my master's relatives."

The Success of the Mission

²⁸The young woman ran home to tell her family everything that had happened. ²⁹Now Rebekah had a brother named Laban, who ran out to meet the man at the spring. ³⁰He had seen the nose-ring and the bracelets on his sister's wrists, and had heard Rebekah tell what the man had said. So he rushed out to the spring, where the man was still standing beside his camels. ³¹Laban said to him, "Come and stay with us, you who are blessed by the LORD! Why are you standing here outside the town when I have a room all ready for you and a place prepared for the camels?"

³²So the man went home with Laban, and Laban unloaded the camels, gave him straw for their bedding, fed them, and provided water for the man and the camel drivers to wash their feet. ³³Then food was served. But Abraham's servant said, "I don't want to eat until I have told you why I have come."

"All right," Laban said, "tell us."

³⁴"I am Abraham's servant," he explained. ³⁵"And the LORD has greatly blessed my master; he has become a wealthy man. The LORD has given him flocks of sheep and goats, herds of cattle, a fortune in silver and gold, and many male and female servants and camels and donkeys."

³⁶"When Sarah, my master's wife, was very old, she gave birth to my master's son, and my master has given him everything he owns. ³⁷And my master made me take an oath. He said, 'Do not allow my son to marry one of these local Canaanite women. ³⁸Go instead to my father's house, to my relatives, and find a wife there for my son.'

³⁹"But I said to my master, 'What if I can't find a young woman who is willing to go back with me?' ⁴⁰He responded, 'The LORD, in whose presence I have lived, will send his angel with you and will make your mission successful. Yes, you must find a wife for my son from among my relatives, from my father's family. ⁴¹Then you will have fulfilled your obligation. But if you go to my relatives and they refuse to let her go with you, you will be free from my oath.'

⁴²"So today when I came to the spring, I prayed this prayer: 'O LORD, God of my master, Abraham, please give me success on this mission. ⁴³See, I am standing here beside this spring. This is my request. When a young woman comes to draw water, I will say to her, "Please give me a little drink of water from your jug." ⁴⁴If she says, "Yes, have a drink, and I will draw water for your camels, too," let her be the one you have selected to be the wife of my master's son.'

◀ Journeys to Paddan-aram (24:1-67; 28:1-29:14; 31:1-33:20). When Abraham's servant traveled to PADDAN-ARAM (=Aram-naharaim? cp. 24:10; 25:20) to find a wife for Isaac, he probably followed the same route that he had previously traveled from Haran (11:28-12:9). Jacob later made the same trip to and from Haran (28:1-29:14; 31:1-33:20; see "Jacob's Family in Canaan" at 32:1-38:30, p. 87).

24:25 Rebekah again showed kindness by offering lodging for the servant and food for his camels.

24:26 The servant bowed to the ground and worshiped the LORD for his loyal love and faithfulness in guiding him to the exact family he sought.

24:27 The LORD has shown unfailing love and faithfulness to my master:

These words express this chapter's message (cp. 24:48). Believers can trust the Lord's leading because he is sovereign in all things. He never leaves his people to their own resources in carrying out his covenant work.

24:29-31 Laban . . . ran: He was not going to miss the chance to marry his sister off and receive more gifts. Laban's response to the servant's wealth foreshadows his avaricious character (see 24:54-56 and note; 29:21-27; 30:27-36; 31:1-13).

24:33-48 The servant was not diverted from his mission; he insisted on telling his story before he would eat. He recounted his mission and acknowledged God's providence in directing him to Rebekah before attending to his personal needs. The servant wanted everyone to know that this was God's work, not a chance or humanly arranged meeting.

24:23-24 God led the servant to Abraham's family.

45“Before I had finished praying in my heart, I saw Rebekah coming out with her water jug on her shoulder. She went down to the spring and drew water. So I said to her, ‘Please give me a drink.’ 46She quickly lowered her jug from her shoulder and said, ‘Yes, have a drink, and I will water your camels, too!’ So I drank, and then she watered the camels.

47“Then I asked, ‘Whose daughter are you?’ She replied, ‘I am the daughter of Bethuel, and my grandparents are Nahor and Milcah.’ So I put the ring on her nose, and the bracelets on her wrists.

48“Then I bowed low and worshiped the LORD. I praised the LORD, the God of my master, Abraham, because he had led me straight to my master’s niece to be his son’s wife. 49So tell me—will you or won’t you show unfailing love and faithfulness to my master? Please tell me yes or no, and then I’ll know what to do next.”

50Then Laban and Bethuel replied, “The LORD has obviously brought you here, so there is nothing we can say. 51Here is Rebekah; take her and go. Yes, let her be the wife of your master’s son, as the LORD has directed.”

52When Abraham’s servant heard their answer, he bowed down to the ground and worshiped the LORD. 53Then he brought out silver and gold jewelry and clothing and presented them to Rebekah. He also gave expensive presents to her brother and mother. 54Then they ate their meal, and the servant and the men with him stayed there overnight.

But early the next morning, Abraham’s servant said, “Send me back to my master.”

55“But we want Rebekah to stay with us at least ten days,” her brother and mother said. “Then she can go.”

56But he said, “Don’t delay me. The LORD has made my mission successful; now send me back so I can return to my master.”

57“‘Well,’ they said, ‘we’ll call Rebekah and ask her what she thinks.’” 58So they called Rebekah. “Are you willing to go with this man?” they asked her.

And she replied, “Yes, I will go.”

59So they said good-bye to Rebekah and sent her away with Abraham’s servant and his men. The woman who had been Rebekah’s childhood nurse went along with her. 60They gave her this blessing as she parted:

“Our sister, may you become the mother of many millions!
May your descendants be strong and conquer the cities of their enemies.”

61Then Rebekah and her servant girls mounted the camels and followed the man. So Abraham’s servant took Rebekah and went on his way.

The Marriage of Isaac and Rebekah

62Meanwhile, Isaac, whose home was in the Negev, had returned from Beer-lahai-roi.

63One evening as he was walking and meditating in the fields, he looked up and saw the camels coming. 64When Rebekah looked up and saw Isaac, she quickly dismounted from her camel. 65“Who is that man walking through the fields to meet us?” she asked the servant.

And he replied, “It is my master.” So Rebekah covered her face with her veil. 66Then the servant told Isaac everything he had done.

67And Isaac brought Rebekah into his mother Sarah’s tent, and she became his wife. He loved her deeply, and she was a special comfort to him after the death of his mother.

24:45
1 Sam 1:12

24:47
Gen 24:23, 24

24:49
Gen 47:29

24:50
Ps 118:21

24:52
Gen 24:26

24:54
Gen 30:25

24:55
Judg 19:4

24:59
Gen 35:8

24:60
Gen 17:16, 22:17

24:62
Gen 16:14

24:63
Ps 119:15, 27, 48

24:67
Gen 23:1, 2; 25:20;
29:18

24:48 The way that God directed this event from behind the scenes is different than in most of Genesis, but it is true to how the life of faith normally works. Faith, expressed in personal prayer and obedience, looks for evidence of God’s working. Believers usually have to make wise choices and remain faithful to the covenant, trusting that God will guide them through the circumstances of life to accomplish his will.

24:50-51 Following his testimony about God’s guidance, the servant secured the family’s blessing and permission to take Rebekah to his master’s son, Isaac.

24:53 The servant gave expensive gifts to Rebekah, her mother, and her brother to conclude the arrangements.

24:54-56 It was hard for Rebekah’s family to let her go so suddenly, and Laban may have hoped to gain more wealth. However, the servant had sworn an oath and would not rest until it was completed. There was no reason for him to stay.

24:57-58 Rebekah’s decision to leave immediately to be with her new husband settled the impasse. Rebekah submitted to the Lord’s obvious leading. Young women were normally eager to marry (not to marry was a catastrophe), and later accounts of Laban suggest why Rebekah preferred to leave (cp. 31:14-15). Rebekah displayed faithful love to the servant, Abraham’s family, and Isaac by going to be Isaac’s wife.

24:60 At Rebekah’s departure, her family invoked the blessing that she would be a mother of many millions and that her descendants would conquer . . . their enemies. Rebekah’s marriage to Isaac was part of God’s plan to bless all humankind (12:1-3).

24:62 Isaac lived in the Negev, in the southern part of Canaan.

24:67 Isaac was 40 years old when he married Rebekah (25:20), so Abraham was 140 (21:5).

25:1-11 Though Abraham had sons by another wife, he safeguarded Isaac’s inheritance and blessing.

25:1-4
//1 Chr 1:32-33

25:5
Gen 24:35-36

25:7
Gen 12:4

25:8
Gen 15:15; 25:17;
35:29; 49:29, 33

25:9-10
Gen 23:17-18; 49:29;
50:13

25:11
Gen 12:2; 24:62

25:12-16
//1 Chr 1:29-31

Abraham's Final Days (25:1-11) Abraham's Family with Keturah

25 Abraham married another wife, whose name was Keturah. ²She gave birth to Zimran, Jokshan, Medan, Midian, Ishbak, and Shuah. ³Jokshan was the father of Sheba and Dedan. Dedan's descendants were the Asshurites, Letushites, and Leummites. ⁴Midian's sons were Ephah, Ephher, Hanoah, Abida, and Eldaah. These were all descendants of Abraham through Keturah.

Isaac Receives the Inheritance

⁵Abraham gave everything he owned to his son Isaac. ⁶But before he died, he gave gifts to the sons of his concubines and sent them off to a land in the east, away from Isaac.

The Death of Abraham

⁷Abraham lived for 175 years, ⁸and he died at a ripe old age, having lived a long and satisfying life. He breathed his last and joined his ancestors in death. ⁹His sons Isaac and Ishmael buried him in the cave of Machpelah, near Mamre, in the field of Ephron son of Zohar the Hittite. ¹⁰This was the field Abraham had purchased from the Hittites and where he had buried his wife Sarah. ¹¹After Abraham's death, God blessed his son Isaac, who settled near Beer-lahai-roi in the Negev.

8. THE ACCOUNT OF ISHMAEL'S DESCENDANTS (25:12-18)

¹²This is the account of the family of Ishmael, the son of Abraham through Hagar, Sarah's Egyptian servant. ¹³Here is a list, by their names and clans, of Ishmael's descendants: The oldest was Nebaioth, followed by Kedar, Adbeel, Mibsam, ¹⁴Mishma, Dumah, Massa, ¹⁵Hadad, Tema, Jetur, Naphish, and Kedemah. ¹⁶These twelve sons of Ishmael became the founders of twelve tribes

Rebekah (24:12-67)

Gen 22:23; 25:20-28; 26:7-8, 35; 27:5-17, 42-46; 29:12; 35:8; 49:31
Rom 9:10-13

Genesis 24 describes the mission of Abraham's servant to find a wife for Isaac. At Abraham's command, he went to Haran in Aram-naharaim (northwest Mesopotamia), to Abraham's relatives, because Abraham did not want Isaac to marry a local Canaanite. The servant prayed that the young woman God had selected to be Isaac's wife would answer his request for a drink by immediately giving it and watering his camels as well (24:12-14). Such a young woman would readily exercise hospitality and be willing to work hard (see note on 24:14). God abundantly answered his prayer with Rebekah, the daughter of Bethuel (22:23; 25:20), the son of Abraham's brother Nahor (11:27-32).

When Abraham's servant described how God had led him (24:34-49), Rebekah's father and brother recognized it as God's hand, but they were reluctant to let her go immediately (24:50-56). Rebekah, however, demonstrated faith in God's plan; she was willing to leave her family without delay to marry Isaac (24:57-58). Rebekah's faith was richly rewarded; the blessing her womenfolk gave her in parting (24:59-60) came true when she bore to Isaac the next generation of God's chosen line.

Rebekah bore twins, Esau and Jacob (25:20-26). She preferred Jacob, the younger, whom God had told her would be the stronger and the leader of the two (25:23). Rebekah helped Jacob seize the blessing of the firstborn by deceiving Isaac (27:1-40). Afterward, she arranged for Jacob to be sent to Haran to get away from his brother's anger over the stolen blessing (27:41-28:5). Rebekah's deceptive scheme created a lasting schism in the family, and she apparently never saw her favorite son again. She was, however, buried beside her husband in the family burial site (49:31), and she fulfilled God's plan as the mother of Jacob, the founding father of Israel.

25:1 Exactly when Abraham married . . . Keturah is unknown. It was probably, but not necessarily, after Sarah's death.

25:2-4 The birth of these nations from Abraham partially fulfilled God's promise to him (12:2; 17:4).

25:3 Sheba and Dedan: Cp. 10:7. Abraham's descendants probably settled in these regions and became identified by their names, along with people of other lineage.

25:5-6 Abraham loved all his sons, so before he died, he gave them gifts and sent them away as he had sent Ishmael (21:8-14). In this way, he preserved Isaac's position as his heir.

25:7-8 Abraham's death is recorded before the births of Jacob and Esau, but he lived until they were fifteen years old (25:19-26; cp. 21:5; 25:26). This literary arrangement closes Abraham's story before focusing on Isaac's family.

25:11 God's blessing transferred to Isaac; Abraham's other sons had been sent away. Isaac lived near Beer-lahai-roi—a special place where God had answered prayer (16:14) and where Isaac waited on the Lord (24:62).

25:12-18 This record lists Ishmael's descendants before tracing Isaac's (25:19-35:29), which is in keeping with the literary arrangement of Genesis (see Introduction to Genesis: "Summary," p. 15).

25:16 Ishmael's twelve sons fulfilled God's promise of blessing (17:20).

named after them, listed according to the places they settled and camped. ¹⁷Ishmael lived for 137 years. Then he breathed his last and joined his ancestors in death. ¹⁸Ishmael's descendants occupied the region from Havilah to Shur, which is east of Egypt in the direction of Asshur. There they lived in open hostility toward all their relatives.

9. THE ACCOUNT OF ISAAC'S DESCENDANTS (25:19–35:29)

The Births of Esau and Jacob (25:19-26)

¹⁹This is the account of the family of Isaac, the son of Abraham. ²⁰When Isaac was forty years old, he married Rebekah, the daughter of Bethuel the Aramean from Paddan-aram and the sister of Laban the Aramean.

²¹Isaac pleaded with the LORD on behalf of his wife, because she was unable to have children. The LORD answered Isaac's prayer, and Rebekah became pregnant with twins. ²²But the two children struggled with each other in her womb. So she went to ask the LORD about it. "Why is this happening to me?" she asked.

²³And the LORD told her, "The sons in your womb will become two nations. From the very beginning, the two nations will be rivals. One nation will be stronger than the other; and your older son will serve your younger son."

²⁴And when the time came to give birth, Rebekah discovered that she did indeed have twins! ²⁵The first one was very red at

25:17
Gen 25:8
25:18
Gen 16:12; 20:1
25:21
Gen 21:2
25:23
Gen 17:2-4; 27:29;
48:19
Num 20:14
Deut 2:4, 8
*Rom 9:11-12
25:25
Gen 27:11

Infertility (25:21)

Gen 16:1-6; 17:15-21; 20:17-18; 29:31;
30:1-2; 30:22-24
Exod 23:25-26
Deut 7:12-15
Judg 13:2-5
1 Sam 1:2-28; 2:5-7
Ps 113:5-9
Isa 54:1-3
Luke 1:5-25
Rom 4:19-22
Gal 4:24-28
Heb 11:11-12

With the possible exception of Leah, each of the patriarchs' wives suffered infertility for a time before having children (11:30; 25:21; 29:31; see also 1 Sam 1:1-18). Children continued the family line, helped protect the tribe, and provided labor. They ensured that hereditary property would stay within the family, guaranteed assistance in old age, and enacted the proper funeral rites. Infertility was therefore a crushing stigma for a woman (Ps 113:9; Prov 30:15-16; Isa 54:1), who understood herself to be created as a vessel of life (1:28; 3:20). It was considered a denial of blessing, design, and desire (1:28), and it brought shame (1 Sam 1:7), ridicule (16:4), and vicious jealousy (30:1).

In the OT, childlessness is a theological issue. Fertility is controlled by the Creator (20:17-18; 30:2, 23; 1 Sam 1:6, 27), who causes fertility and infertility according to his purpose and his promises (17:19; 30:2; Ps 113:9; Luke 1:11-20; Rom 4:19). God often chose infertility as a precursor to the birth of a promised or unique child, marking the birth as God's own work. Childlessness is thus a trial of patience that prompts prayer and faith (25:21; 1 Sam 1:11). Abraham learned to nurture faith in God's promise long before his child arrived (15:4-6; 17:15-21; Rom 4:20-22). When a couple has been infertile, a child's arrival is marked as a special display of God's faithfulness and creative authority.

God's delays are not necessarily denials, but they remind longing parents to use trials for growth and to see children as a gift that cannot be taken for granted. A childless home can be filled with devotion as human expectations submit to future glory (see, e.g., Luke 2:36-37).

25:18 Havilah was a region in north-central Arabia. • Shur was a region between Beersheba and Egypt. • in open hostility toward all their relatives: The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain, but the wording is close to that of 16:12.

25:19–35:29 This account of the family of Isaac, the chosen son of Abraham, mostly recounts Jacob's struggle for the blessing (25:27-34; chs 27–33).

25:19-26 Jacob's struggle for supremacy began before the twins were born (see Hos 12:3).

25:19-20 Isaac . . . married Rebekah: Isaac's marriage tied him and his family even more closely to Abraham's ancestors. Had he married a Canaanite, the covenant faith would have been imperiled by this corrupt, syncretistic people.

25:21 For twenty years, Rebekah was barren (cp. 25:20, 26), like Sarah (see 16:1). This condition tested their faith (see note on 16:1-3). How could they be childless when God promised that nations would issue from them? • Isaac pleaded with the LORD and the LORD answered Isaac's prayer. Isaac apparently learned from his father's mistake and responded in faith.

25:22 When the pregnancy was difficult, Rebekah went to ask the LORD about it, probably by visiting a prophet—perhaps Abraham (20:7; see note on 25:7-8).

25:23 rivals: Jacob and Esau fought in the womb, and their descendants (Israel and Edom) fought continuously throughout their history. In their many conflicts, Israel achieved supremacy over Edom. • your older son will serve your younger son: God's choice of the younger son over the elder ran against natural order (cp. 48:12-14; see Mal 1:1-3; Rom 9:11-16).

25:24-26 When the twins were born, the unusual circumstances inspired each boy's name and hinted at what would happen to him in the future.

25:25 Two wordplays anticipate Esau's later life. Esau sounds like a Hebrew term that means "hair" (Hebrew se'ar); Esau's later homeland, Edom, was known as Seir ("hairy") because it was wooded (as though covered with hair). • red (Hebrew 'admoni) sounds like Esau's other name, Edom (25:27-34); Edom had red soil. • Esau's hair was like the fur coat of an animal, foreshadowing his unspiritual character (25:34; Heb 12:16; cp. Lev 26:22; Deut 7:22; 1 Cor 15:32). The description of the child uses words that highlight the Edomites' nature.

25:26
Hos 12:3
25:30
Gen 36:1, 8
25:31
Deut 21:16-17
1 Chr 5:1-2
25:33
Gen 27:36
Heb 12:16

birth and covered with thick hair like a fur coat. So they named him Esau. ²⁶Then the other twin was born with his hand grasping Esau's heel. So they named him Jacob. Isaac was sixty years old when the twins were born.

Esau Sells His Birthright (25:27-34)

²⁷As the boys grew up, Esau became a skillful hunter. He was an outdoorsman, but Jacob had a quiet temperament, preferring to stay at home. ²⁸Isaac loved Esau because he enjoyed eating the wild game Esau brought home, but Rebekah loved Jacob.

²⁹One day when Jacob was cooking some stew, Esau arrived home from the wilderness exhausted and hungry. ³⁰Esau said to Jacob, "I'm starved! Give me some of that red stew!" (This is how Esau got his other name, Edom, which means "red.")

³¹"All right," Jacob replied, "but trade me your rights as the firstborn son."

³²"Look, I'm dying of starvation!" said Esau. "What good is my birthright to me now?"

³³But Jacob said, "First you must swear that your birthright is mine." So Esau swore

Esau (25:21-34)

Gen 26:34-35; 27:1-42; 28:6-9; 32:3-20; 33:1-16; 35:28-29; 36:1-43
Deut 2:1-8, 12, 22, 29
Josh 24:4
Mal 1:2-5
Rom 9:6-13
Heb 11:20; 12:16-17

Esau, the son of Isaac and Rebekah, was Jacob's older twin brother (25:24-26), so named because his body was hairy at birth. His descendants were called Edom ("red") on account of his reddish color at birth, the red lentil soup he received from Jacob (25:30), and the reddish color of the land in which he settled (see note on 25:25).

Esau was a proficient hunter who brought tasty wild meat to his father. Isaac enjoyed its strong flavor more than the mild meat Jacob provided from the family flocks. One day Esau returned home very hungry from an unsuccessful hunt, and Jacob persuaded Esau to surrender his birthright in exchange for food (25:29-34). Esau had little regard for his birthright and was controlled by his carnal desires (see Heb 12:16). He also married two local women who were not Abraham's descendants (26:34-35), which may be why Rebekah coached Jacob in obtaining the patriarchal blessing that would normally have belonged to the elder brother (ch 27). Esau's anger on discovering his brother's deception prompted Jacob to flee for Haran. The brothers were reunited 20 years later because of Esau's gracious forgiveness (33:1-16).

Jacob was born grasping Esau's heel; this omen was interpreted to mean that Esau's Edomite descendants would be subject to Jacob's offspring. The subservient relationship between the Edomites and the Israelites in David's time (2 Sam 8:11-15; 1 Chr 18:13) continued until the reign of Jehoram (2 Kgs 8:20-22; 2 Chr 21:8-10). Following a rebellion in 845 BC, the Edomites briefly gained their independence but were conquered again by Amaziah (796-767 BC). They regained their freedom in 735 BC and then remained independent of Judah.

In the NT, Esau represents the line of Abraham's descendants who lacked the gift of faith and were rejected by God as recipients of his promised blessings (see Rom 9:6-24).

25:26 The name Jacob (Hebrew ya'aqob) sounds like the Hebrew words for "heel" and "deceiver" (from Hebrew aqeb). The name was originally positive, meaning "protect" (like a rear guard), but it took on the negative meaning of "heel grabber" or "deceiver" in the context of Jacob's deceptive, grasping, usurping character (see 27:36).

25:27-34 Jacob and Esau each developed in accord with his initial characteristics (25:24-26). Esau, the reddish, hairy man, cared about physical things rather than spiritual things (see Heb 12:16); he was finally overcome by physical appetites and sold his birthright. Jacob, the heel grabber, knew the birthright's value and drove a ruthless bargain to gain it presumptuously from his brother.

25:27 Esau was a skillful hunter and an outdoorsman—a wild man who loved wild country. Jacob had a quiet (or even) temperament and preferred to stay at home (literally dwelling in tents)—i.e., he was civilized.

25:28 The parents each practiced favoritism. • because: Isaac's love for Esau was conditioned upon his son's performance. Rebekah's love for Jacob was constant and unconditional.

25:29 Ironically, Jacob proved the more cunning hunter. The word cooking (Hebrew wayyazed, "boiling") sounds like the word for "hunter" (Hebrew tsayid). While boiling stew, Jacob was laying a trap for the hairy red animal. He may have waited a long time for this opportunity. This word for "boil" was also used for presumptuous action (like water boiling over the rim of the pot). Jacob overstepped his boundaries when he seized the promise for himself. By contrast, Abraham knew the promise was his and was secure in giving the land away (see note on 13:8-13). • Esau was exhausted and hungry, but his life was not in danger (25:32; see note on 25:33-34).

25:30 Esau was preoccupied with his appetite. Being driven by one's appetites leaves no place for spiritual values. The text emphasizes this by using a Hebrew word (translated give) that was normally used for feeding animals. • Edom, which means "red": See note on 25:25.

25:31-33 Jacob was the better hunter on this occasion, but great danger lay in exercising such strong ambition. God's people should desire the things of God, but they must not seek them "in the flesh" (see Zech 4:6; Gal 5:16-17; Eph 6:10-12). The Lord dealt severely with Jacob to purge him of carnal methods. He later received the promise not as crafty Jacob the usurper, but as Israel (meaning, "God fights"), with God fighting on his behalf (32:28).

an oath, thereby selling all his rights as the firstborn to his brother, Jacob.

³⁴Then Jacob gave Esau some bread and lentil stew. Esau ate the meal, then got up and left. He showed contempt for his rights as the firstborn.

Isaac and Abimelech (26:1-35)

Isaac Deceives Abimelech

26 A severe famine now struck the land, as had happened before in Abraham's time. So Isaac moved to Gerar, where Abimelech, king of the Philistines, lived.

²The LORD appeared to Isaac and said, "Do not go down to Egypt, but do as I tell you.

³Live here as a foreigner in this land, and I will be with you and bless you. I hereby confirm that I will give all these lands to you and your ^kdescendants, just as I solemnly promised Abraham, your father. ⁴I will cause your descendants to become as numerous as the stars of the sky, and I will give them all these lands. And through your descendants all the nations of the earth will be blessed. ⁵I will do this because Abraham listened to me and obeyed all my requirements, commands, decrees, and instructions." ⁶So Isaac stayed in Gerar.

⁷When the men who lived there asked Isaac about his wife, Rebekah, he said, "She is my sister." He was afraid to say, "She is my wife." He thought, "They will kill me to get her, because she is so beautiful." ⁸But some time later, Abimelech, king of the Philistines, looked out his window and saw Isaac caressing Rebekah.

⁹Immediately, Abimelech called for Isaac and exclaimed, "She is obviously your wife! Why did you say, 'She is my sister'?"

"Because I was afraid someone would kill me to get her from me," Isaac replied.

¹⁰"How could you do this to us?" Abimelech exclaimed. "One of my people might easily have taken your wife and slept with her, and you would have made us guilty of great sin."

¹¹Then Abimelech issued a public proclamation: "Anyone who touches this man or his wife will be put to death!"

Conflict over Water Rights

¹²When Isaac planted his crops that year, he harvested a hundred times more grain than he planted, for the LORD blessed him. ¹³He became a very rich man, and his wealth continued to grow. ¹⁴He acquired so many flocks of sheep and goats, herds of cattle, and servants that the Philistines became jealous of him. ¹⁵So the Philistines filled up all of Isaac's wells with dirt. These were the wells that had been dug by the servants of his father, Abraham.

¹⁶Finally, Abimelech ordered Isaac to leave the country. "Go somewhere else," he 26:1

Gen 12:10; 20:1-2

26:2
Gen 12:1, 7

26:3
Gen 12:7
^kzero^a (2233)
^aGen 35:12

26:4
Gen 15:5; 22:17
Exod 32:13
^aActs 3:25
^aGal 3:8

26:7
Gen 12:11-13;
20:2, 12

26:10
Gen 20:7-10

26:12
Gen 26:3

26:13
Gen 24:35; 25:5

26:15
Gen 21:25

26:16
Exod 1:9

25:33-34 Esau eagerly took Jacob's bait and fell into the trap. He ate and left too quickly to have been near death (25:32). The final comment on the passage explains that Esau showed contempt for his birthright, considering it worthless (Heb 12:16). It is foolish to sacrifice spiritual blessings to satisfy physical appetites (cp. 3:6).

26:1-35 In this digression from Jacob's story, Isaac's prosperity (ch 26) shows that the blessing had passed to him (cp. 25:11) despite his failures of faith.

26:1 This Abimelech is probably not the man in ch 20, for these events could have been 90 years apart. Possibly Abimelech was a dynastic name or title (a later King Achish, 1 Sam 21:10, was also called Abimelech, Ps 34:TITLE).

26:2-5 The Lord assured Isaac that the covenant promises (cp. 12:2-3; 15:5-8; 17:3-8; 22:15-18; 28:13-14) would pass to him because Abraham faithfully listened to God and obeyed all his requirements, commands, decrees, and instructions. These terms were later used in Deuteronomy to describe God's full legal covenant with Israel. An Israelite reader would immediately think of the complete Torah when hearing these words and be prompted to obey God's law as Abraham did, though Abraham had only a few commands from the Lord. Through these words, the text emphasizes that Abraham would have obeyed the later commands if he had had them, because he was an obedient servant of the Lord.

26:3 descendants: Literally seed; also in 26:4, 24.

26:6-11 While staying in Gerar, Isaac, like his father, deceived people into believing that his wife was his sister. Some suppose that this story duplicates the stories of Abraham's deception (12:10-20; 20:1-18), but the differences are greater than the similarities, and the son's repetition of his father's lie is natural. Through numerous parallels with Abraham, ch 26 shows how God's plan continued with Isaac. Even when Isaac jeopardized the covenant as his father had, God prevented disaster and preserved the marriage. Abraham's descendants would be blessed because of Abraham, but they had to exercise their own faith to enjoy the blessings. Genuine faith in God's promises engenders a fearless walk with him; cowering in fear endangers the blessing and mocks the faith.

26:8 Abimelech . . . saw Isaac caressing

Rebekah: The word for "caressing" (Hebrew metsakheq) is the same as the word used for Ishmael's "making fun of" Isaac (21:9); the word is related to the name "Isaac" (Hebrew yitskhaq). It is as though Isaac's lapse of faith made fun of Abimelech and made a mockery of Rebekah and the great promise embodied in Isaac's name.

26:10-11 Isaac, like his father, was rebuked by Abimelech (see note on 20:1-18). This legal wording would remind Israel of how important it was to preserve marital purity. Abimelech recognized the danger to his own people. Though his decree preserved his own society, it was also a word from God that preserved the sanctity of Isaac's and Israel's marriages. If Isaac's marriage had ended here, there would have been no Israelite society.

26:12-13 Isaac lived in the land as a temporary settler, enjoying abundant prosperity because of God's blessing: his crops flourished and he became very rich.

26:14-16 The Philistines envied Isaac's prosperity and filled his wells with dirt. The king then ordered Isaac to leave that region because he was too powerful for them (cp. 21:22-23).

26:19
John 4:10-11

26:22
Ps 4:1; 18:19
Isa 54:2

26:23
Gen 22:19

26:24
Gen 17:7; 22:17
Exod 3:6

26:25
Gen 12:7-8; 13:4

26:26
Gen 21:22

26:27
Gen 26:16

26:28
Gen 21:22-23

26:30
Gen 31:54

26:31
Gen 21:31

26:33
Gen 21:31

26:34
Gen 28:8

26:35
Gen 27:46

27:1
Gen 25:25; 48:10

27:2
Gen 47:29

27:3
Gen 25:27

27:4
Gen 24:60; 27:19; 48:9

said, "for you have become too powerful for us."

¹⁷So Isaac moved away to the Gerar Valley, where he set up their tents and settled down. ¹⁸He reopened the wells his father had dug, which the Philistines had filled in after Abraham's death. Isaac also restored the names Abraham had given them.

¹⁹Isaac's servants also dug in the Gerar Valley and discovered a well of fresh water. ²⁰But then the shepherds from Gerar came and claimed the spring. "This is our water," they said, and they argued over it with Isaac's herdsmen. So Isaac named the well Esek (which means "argument"). ²¹Isaac's men then dug another well, but again there was a dispute over it. So Isaac named it Sitnah (which means "hostility"). ²²Abandoning that one, Isaac moved on and dug another well. This time there was no dispute over it, so Isaac named the place Rehoboth (which means "open space"), for he said, "At last the LORD has created enough space for us to prosper in this land."

²³From there Isaac moved to Beersheba, ²⁴where the LORD appeared to him on the night of his arrival. "I am the God of your father, Abraham," he said. "Do not be afraid, for I am with you and will bless you. I will multiply your descendants, and they will become a great nation. I will do this because of my promise to Abraham, my servant." ²⁵Then Isaac built an altar there and worshiped the LORD. He set up his camp at that place, and his servants dug another well.

Isaac's Covenant with Abimelech

²⁶One day King Abimelech came from Gerar with his adviser, Ahuzzath, and also Phicol, his army commander. ²⁷"Why have you come here?" Isaac asked. "You obviously hate me, since you kicked me off your land."

²⁸They replied, "We can plainly see that the LORD is with you. So we want to enter into a sworn treaty with you. Let's make a covenant. ²⁹Swear that you will not harm us, just as we have never troubled you. We have always treated you well, and we sent you away from us in peace. And now look how the LORD has blessed you!"

³⁰So Isaac prepared a covenant feast to celebrate the treaty, and they ate and drank together. ³¹Early the next morning, they each took a solemn oath not to interfere with each other. Then Isaac sent them home again, and they left him in peace.

³²That very day Isaac's servants came and told him about a new well they had dug. "We've found water!" they exclaimed. ³³So Isaac named the well Shibah (which means "oath"). And to this day the town that grew up there is called Beersheba (which means "well of the oath").

Esau's Hittite Wives (26:34-35)

³⁴At the age of forty, Esau married two Hittite wives: Judith, the daughter of Beeri, and Basemath, the daughter of Elon. ³⁵But Esau's wives made life miserable for Isaac and Rebekah.

Jacob Steals Esau's Blessing (27:1-40)

27 One day when Isaac was old and turning blind, he called for Esau, his older son, and said, "My son."

"Yes, Father?" Esau replied.

"I am an old man now," Isaac said, "and I don't know when I may die. ³Take your bow and a quiver full of arrows, and go out into the open country to hunt some wild game for me. ⁴Prepare my favorite dish, and bring it here for me to eat. Then I will pronounce the blessing that belongs to you, my firstborn son, before I die."

26:17-22 Isaac moved . . . to the Gerar Valley (away from the city of Gerar itself, 26:6, but probably still within ten miles) and reopened his father's wells. Isaac was also opposed there, but chose not to fight back; he relinquished one well after another until God's blessing outdid the opposition. Whenever Isaac reopened a well, and regardless of how often enemies caused them to cave in, he found water. God was blessing Isaac and that blessing could not be hindered. Finally, the Philistines left Isaac alone.

26:23-25 At Beersheba, . . . the LORD appeared to Isaac to confirm his covenant (cp. 21:31-33). Isaac responded in faith as his father had done by building an altar to the Lord and proclaiming the Lord's identity and nature (see note on 12:8; 21:33).

26:26-33 This treaty is similar to the one an earlier king had made with Abraham (cp. 21:22-31). This king acknowledged that God was blessing Isaac and realized that a treaty with Isaac would benefit him. No opposition can hinder God's blessing—it will flourish, and other nations will see it and seek peace with God's people to share in the blessing.

26:33 Since the earlier treaty was renewed with Isaac, the name of the well was also renewed by the oath.

26:34-35 Esau's marriages illustrate how unfit he was to lead the covenant people into God's blessings, and how foolish was Isaac's later attempt to bless Esau (27:1-40). Esau later married a third wife in a vain attempt to do the right thing (28:6-9).

27:1-40 Jacob got his father Isaac's blessing through deception. In this story, an entire family tries to carry out their responsibilities by physical means rather than by faith. Faith would have provided Rebekah and Jacob a more honorable solution to the crisis.

27:1-4 The first scene sets up the chapter's crisis. Isaac knew of God's oracle (25:22-23), yet he thwarted or ignored it by trying to bless Esau. • Isaac was old and turning blind: He was losing his senses, both physically and spiritually.

27:3-4 Like Esau, Isaac allowed his palate to govern his heart (cp. 25:28-34).

⁵But Rebekah overheard what Isaac had said to his son Esau. So when Esau left to hunt for the wild game, ⁶she said to her son Jacob, "Listen. I overheard your father say to Esau, ⁷'Bring me some wild game and prepare me a delicious meal. Then I will bless you in the LORD's presence before I die.' ⁸Now, my son, listen to me. Do exactly as I tell you. ⁹Go out to the flocks, and bring me two fine young goats. I'll use them to prepare your father's favorite dish. ¹⁰Then take the food to your father so he can eat it and bless you before he dies."

¹¹"But look," Jacob replied to Rebekah, "my brother, Esau, is a hairy man, and my skin is smooth. ¹²What if my father touches me? He'll see that I'm trying to trick him, and then he'll curse me instead of blessing me."

¹³But his mother replied, "Then let the curse fall on me, my son! Just do what I tell you. Go out and get the goats for me!"

¹⁴So Jacob went out and got the young goats for his mother. Rebekah took them and prepared a delicious meal, just the way Isaac liked it. ¹⁵Then she took Esau's favorite clothes, which were there in the house, and gave them to her younger son, Jacob. ¹⁶She covered his arms and the smooth part of his neck with the skin of the young goats. ¹⁷Then she gave Jacob the delicious meal, including freshly baked bread.

¹⁸So Jacob took the food to his father. "My father?" he said.

"Yes, my son," Isaac answered. "Who are you—Esau or Jacob?"

¹⁹Jacob replied, "It's Esau, your firstborn son. I've done as you told me. Here is the wild game. Now sit up and eat it so you can give me your blessing."

²⁰Isaac asked, "How did you find it so quickly, my son?"

"The LORD your God put it in my path!" Jacob replied.

²¹Then Isaac said to Jacob, "Come closer so I can touch you and make sure that you really are Esau."²²So Jacob went closer to his father, and Isaac touched him. "The voice is Jacob's, but the hands are Esau's," Isaac said.

²³But he did not recognize Jacob, because Jacob's hands felt hairy just like Esau's. So Isaac prepared to bless Jacob. ²⁴"But are you really my son Esau?" he asked.

"Yes, I am," Jacob replied.

²⁵Then Isaac said, "Now, my son, bring me the wild game. Let me eat it, and then I will give you my blessing." So Jacob took the food to his father, and Isaac ate it. He also drank the wine that Jacob served him.

²⁶Then Isaac said to Jacob, "Please come a little closer and kiss me, my son."

²⁷So Jacob went over and kissed him. And when Isaac caught the smell of his clothes, he was finally convinced, and he blessed his son. He said, "Ah! The smell of my son is like the smell of the outdoors, which the LORD has blessed!"

²⁸"From the dew of heaven and the richness of the earth, may God always give you abundant harvests of grain and bountiful new wine.

²⁹May many nations become your servants,
and may they bow down to you.
May you be the master over your brothers, and may your mother's sons bow down to you.

All who curse you will be cursed, and all who bless you will be blessed."

³⁰As soon as Isaac had finished blessing Jacob, and almost before Jacob had left his father, Esau returned from his hunt. ³¹Esau prepared a delicious meal and brought it to his father. Then he said, "Sit up, my father, and eat my wild game so you can give me your blessing."

³²But Isaac asked him, "Who are you?"

Esau replied, "It's your son, your firstborn son, Esau."

³³Isaac began to tremble uncontrollably and said, "Then who just served me wild game? I have already eaten it, and I blessed him just before you came. And yes, that blessing must stand!"

^{27:5-6}
Gen 25:27-28

^{27:8}
Gen 27:13, 43

^{27:11}
Gen 25:25

^{27:12}
Gen 9:25, 27:21-22

^{27:13}
Gen 27:8

^{27:15}
Gen 27:27

^{27:19}
Gen 27:31

^{27:21}
Gen 27:12

^{27:23}
Gen 27:16

^{27:25}
Gen 27:4

^{27:27}
Ps 65:10
Heb 11:20

^{27:28}
Deut 7:13; 33:13, 28
Zech 8:12

^{27:29}
Gen 9:25-27; 12:3
Isa 45:14

^{27:31}
Gen 27:4

^{27:32}
Gen 27:18

^{27:33}
Gen 27:35

27:5-17 The blessing seemed to be in jeopardy. In scene two, Rebekah and Jacob sought to achieve God's blessing by deception, without faith or love. Rebekah planned to deceive the old man into thinking that he was blessing Esau when he was actually blessing Jacob.

27:5 Esau agreed to Isaac's plan, thus breaking the oath he had sworn to Jacob (25:33).

27:11-12 Jacob had no qualms about this deception; he only feared that it might not work and that he would be cursed for trying.

27:18-29 In scene three, Jacob deceives his father and receives the blessing.

27:18-20 Jacob lied about his identity, and then came close to blasphemy by lying about God.

27:20-27 Isaac voiced his suspicion three times, but was finally deceived by his senses, which were not functioning well (see note on 27:1-4).

27:30-40 In scene four, everything is discovered and the family becomes even more divided.

27:33 When he realized what had happened, Isaac began to tremble uncontrollably; he had been tampering with God's plan, and God had overruled him.

27:34
Heb 12:17
27:35
Gen 27:19
27:36
Gen 25:26
27:37
Gen 27:28-29
27:38
Heb 12:17
27:39
Heb 11:20
27:40
2 Kgs 8:20-22
27:41
Gen 32:3-11; 37:4
27:43
Gen 27:8
27:44
Gen 31:41
27:46
Gen 26:34-35
28:1
Gen 24:3
28:2
Gen 25:20
28:3
Gen 17:16; 35:11
*shadday (7706)
* Gen 35:11
*qahal (6951)
* Gen 35:11
28:4
Gen 12:1-3; 15:7;
35:11

³⁴When Esau heard his father's words, he let out a loud and bitter cry. "Oh my father, what about me? Bless me, too!" he begged.

³⁵But Isaac said, "Your brother was here, and he tricked me. He has taken away your blessing."

³⁶Esau exclaimed, "No wonder his name is Jacob, for now he has cheated me twice. First he took my rights as the firstborn, and now he has stolen my blessing. Oh, haven't you saved even one blessing for me?"

³⁷Isaac said to Esau, "I have made Jacob your master and have declared that all his brothers will be his servants. I have guaranteed him an abundance of grain and wine—what is left for me to give you, my son?"

³⁸Esau pleaded, "But do you have only one blessing? Oh my father, bless me, too!" Then Esau broke down and wept.

³⁹Finally, his father, Isaac, said to him,

"You will live away from the richness of the earth, and away from the dew of the heaven above.

⁴⁰You will live by your sword, and you will serve your brother.
But when you decide to break free,
you will shake his yoke from your neck."

Jacob Flees to Paddan-Aram (27:41–28:5)

⁴¹From that time on, Esau hated Jacob because their father had given Jacob the blessing. And Esau began to scheme: "I will soon be mourning my father's death. Then I will kill my brother, Jacob."

⁴²But Rebekah heard about Esau's plans. So she sent for Jacob and told him, "Listen, Esau is consoling himself by plotting to kill you. ⁴³So listen carefully, my son. Get ready and flee to my brother, Laban, in Haran. ⁴⁴Stay there with him until your brother cools off. ⁴⁵When he calms down and forgets what you have done to him, I will send for you to come back. Why should I lose both of you in one day?"

⁴⁶Then Rebekah said to Isaac, "I'm sick and tired of these local Hittite women! I would rather die than see Jacob marry one of them."

28 So Isaac called for Jacob, blessed him, and said, "You must not marry any of these Canaanite women. ²Instead, go at once to Paddan-aram, to the house of your grandfather Bethuel, and marry one of your uncle Laban's daughters. ³May God ⁴Almighty bless you and give you many children. And may your descendants multiply and become ⁵many nations! ⁶May God pass on to you and your descendants the blessings he promised to Abraham. May you own this land where you are now living as a foreigner, for God gave this land to Abraham."

⁵So Isaac sent Jacob away, and he went to Paddan-aram to stay with his uncle Laban, his mother's brother, the son of Bethuel the Aramean.

27:34-35 Esau was very bitter, and angry enough to kill (27:41).

27:36 Esau began to realize Jacob's true nature, saying he has cheated me (or tripped me up, or deceived me) twice, by taking the birthright (the right of inheritance, Hebrew bekorah; 25:27-34) and by deceiving their father to receive the blessing (the spoken pronouncement of the inheritance, Hebrew berakah). Jacob* sounds like the Hebrew words for "heel" and "deceiver." Esau's assessment of Jacob was correct, but he failed to see his own ungodliness in these transactions (see note on 27:5; Heb 12:16).

27:37 There was no going back. Isaac had declared an oracle from God, who had made Jacob to be Esau's master (see Rom 9:11-13).

27:39-40 All that remained for Esau was a promise of hardship and struggle (cp. 3:17-19; 16:11-12).

27:41-45 Rebekah and Jacob got the blessing but reaped hatred from Esau and separation from one another; there is no indication that Rebekah and Jacob ever saw each other again. They gained nothing that God was not already going to give them, and their methods were costly. Jacob fled from home to escape Esau's vengeance.

27:42-33:17 Jacob met the Lord on a route that Abraham had taken 125 years earlier. The story follows a chiasmic structure that centers on Jacob's exile:

A: Jacob flees Esau (27:42–28:9)

B: Angels of God meet Jacob at Bethel (28:10-22)

C: Jacob is exiled in Paddan-aram (29:1–31:55)

B': Angels of God meet Jacob at Mahanaim (32:1-2)

A': Jacob is reconciled to Esau (32:3–33:17)

27:46 Rebekah manipulated Isaac into sending Jacob away. Like Isaac, Jacob took a wife from among his relatives in the east.

28:1-2 Isaac remained in the land, but Jacob had to leave it. God would deal with Jacob under the hand of Laban, his uncle (see note on 29:1–31:55).

* Believers in any age must remain spiritually pure by marrying other believers (2 Cor 6:14-18). The Canaanite people incorporated dozens of groups and clans into their society and religion by wars, treaties, and marriages (see 34:20-23). Abraham's family was to resist such mixing (cp. 24:3; ch 34); they were to marry within their clan to maintain the purity of the line and of the faith that identified them as the chosen seed. The surest way to lose their distinctiveness was to intermarry with people of other tribal backgrounds and beliefs (see Ezra 9-10; Neh 13:23-29).

28:3-5 Before Jacob departed, Isaac gave him a pure, legitimate blessing. He did not hold back, because he now knew what God wanted him to do. Isaac clearly passed on the blessing God Almighty (Hebrew El-Shaddai; see 17:1) had given to Abraham and to him regarding prosperity and the land (cp. 15:5, 18-20).

28:4 descendants: Literally seed; also in 28:13, 14.

Jacob (27:1–35:29)

Gen 25:19-34;
37:1-35; 42:1-4,
29-38; 43:1-13;
45:25–50:14
Exod 1:1-5
Num 23:7-10, 20-23;
24:5-9, 17-19
Deut 26:5
Josh 24:4, 32
Hos 12:2-14
Mal 1:2
John 4:5-6, 12
Acts 7:8-16
Rom 9:10-13
Heb 11:8-9, 20-21

Jacob, younger twin son of Isaac and Rebekah, struggled with his twin brother Esau in the womb and was born grasping his heel (25:24-26). God told Rebekah that the boys represented two nations and that the older son would serve the younger (25:23).

Isaac favored Esau, an outdoorsman; Rebekah preferred Jacob, who was happier at home. Once, Esau returned famished from hunting and Jacob bought his birthright with some red stew he had cooked (25:27-34; see Heb 12:16). Later, Isaac asked Esau to prepare wild game so he could eat and bless him (27:1-4; cp. 25:28). Rebekah sent Jacob to deceive Isaac into blessing him instead, and her ploy was successful (27:5-29). Jacob's ruse was soon discovered (27:30-35), but legally valid blessings were irrevocable promises (27:33). So Isaac gave Esau a lesser blessing (27:36-40), and Esau plotted to kill Jacob (27:41). Rebekah convinced Isaac to send Jacob away to her brother Laban so that Jacob would marry among relatives (27:46).

So Isaac transferred the covenant promises to Jacob and sent him to Haran (28:1-5). Along the way, God appeared to Jacob in a dream and affirmed the promises of land and descendants that he had given to Abraham and Isaac (28:10-15). Jacob worshiped the Lord and named the place Bethel ("house of God").

At Haran, Jacob began to serve his uncle Laban (chs 29–31). Jacob loved Laban's daughter Rachel and worked seven years to marry her, but Laban deceived him by substituting his older daughter Leah on Jacob's wedding night. Jacob worked seven more years for Rachel and an additional six years to acquire flocks for himself (30:25-43; see also 31:38-42). Despite many hardships, he had thirteen children and became very prosperous.

After twenty years, God told Jacob to return to Canaan (31:3). Fearing reprisals from Laban and his sons (31:1-2), Jacob organized his caravan and left while Laban was away (31:4-21). Laban gave chase, but God prevented him from harming Jacob (31:22-24, 29). Laban instead upbraided Jacob for leaving stealthily and for stealing his idols (31:25-30; see also 31:19). Jacob let Laban search his tents, but the idols were not found (31:33-35), and Jacob became angry (31:36-42). Though their conflict remained unresolved (31:43), the two men made a peace covenant (31:44-54); the location formed the lasting boundary between Israel and Aram.

Jacob now faced Esau and God. When Esau came to meet him with 400 men, Jacob sought God's protection and sent gifts to pacify his estranged brother (32:3-21). During a night that symbolized his whole life, Jacob wrestled alone with a man who dislocated his hip and gave him the blessing he sought (32:22-32). God changed his name to Israel ("God fights").

Jacob met Esau and the two were reconciled (33:1-11); Esau was gracious and forgiving, and Jacob shared some of his blessing. Esau then returned to Seir while Jacob continued to Canaan. In Shechem, Jacob bought land and built an altar (33:16-20), then moved to Bethel and expelled all foreign idols from his household (35:1-8). God reaffirmed Jacob's new name, Israel, and renewed his promises of land and descendants (35:9-15).

Jacob's favoritism for Rachel extended to her son Joseph, whom Jacob intended to anoint as the firstborn and heir (37:1-4), a plan that God confirmed through dreams (37:5-11). But then Joseph's brothers sold him as a slave (Gen 37:9-28) and for over twenty years Jacob believed he was dead. Only after letting Benjamin go to Egypt in Judah's care did Jacob learn that Joseph was alive and would be the source of famine relief for his family (43:1-14; 45:24-28). Jacob's spirits revived. He moved to Egypt and joyously reunited with his favorite son at Goshen (Gen 46:28-30), where he prospered for seventeen more years.

When Jacob approached death at age 147, he arranged for the future of his family. He made Joseph swear to bury him in Canaan (47:29-31; 49:29-32). He gave Joseph's sons his prime blessing (48:1-20) and put Ephraim, the younger son, first. He gave assurance that the family would return to Canaan (48:21-22), then blessed each of his sons and prophesied the future of their descendants (49:1-28). He died (49:33) and was buried at the cave of Machpelah, accompanied by his sons and a large Egyptian procession. His death marked the end of the patriarchal age and the beginning of Israel's growth as a nation in Egypt until they returned to live again in the Promised Land (see Exodus—Joshua).

The name "Jacob" became synonymous with the nation of Israel (see Num 23:7, 21; 24:5; Hos 12:2). God called the nation to serve him as their forefathers had done (Hos 12:3-13). He promised Israel the same love that he had shown toward Jacob (Mal 1:2). And he promised that a conquering ruler would come from Jacob's descendants (Gen 49:8-12; Num 24:17-19).

28:6
Gen 28:1

28:8
Gen 26:35

28:9
Gen 36:2

28:10
Gen 26:23

28:12
Gen 20:3
Num 12:6
*John 1:51
*mal'ak (4397)
* Gen 48:16

28:13
d'erefs (0776)
* Num 13:27

28:14
Gen 12:2; 13:14;
22:17

28:15
Gen 48:21
Deut 7:9; 31:6, 8

28:17
Exod 3:5
Ps 68:35

28:18
Gen 35:14

28:19
Gen 12:8; 35:6; 48:3

28:21
Exod 15:2

Esau's Ishmaelite Wives (28:6-9)

⁶Esau knew that his father, Isaac, had blessed Jacob and sent him to Paddan-aram to find a wife, and that he had warned Jacob, "You must not marry a Canaanite woman." ⁷He also knew that Jacob had obeyed his parents and gone to Paddan-aram. ⁸It was now very clear to Esau that his father did not like the local Canaanite women. ⁹So Esau visited his uncle Ishmael's family and married one of Ishmael's daughters, in addition to the wives he already had. His new wife's name was Mahalath. She was the sister of Nebaioth and the daughter of Ishmael, Abraham's son.

Jacob's Dream at Bethel:

The Blessing Confirmed (28:10-22)

¹⁰Meanwhile, Jacob left Beersheba and traveled toward Haran. ¹¹At sundown he arrived at a good place to set up camp and stopped there for the night. Jacob found a stone to rest his head against and lay down to sleep. ¹²As he slept, he dreamed of a stairway that reached from the earth up to heaven. And he saw the angels of God going up and down the stairway.

¹³At the top of the stairway stood the LORD, and he said, "I am the LORD, the God of your grandfather Abraham, and the God of your father, Isaac. The ¹⁴ground you are lying on belongs to you. I am giving it to you and your descendants. ¹⁴Your descendants will be as numerous as the dust of the earth! They will spread out in all directions—to the west and the east, to the north and the south. And all the families of the earth will be blessed through you and your descendants. ¹⁵What's more, I am with you, and I will protect you wherever you go. One day I will bring you back to this land. I will not leave you until I have finished giving you everything I have promised you."

¹⁶Then Jacob awoke from his sleep and said, "Surely the LORD is in this place, and I wasn't even aware of it!" ¹⁷But he was also afraid and said, "What an awesome place this is! It is none other than the house of God, the very gateway to heaven!"

¹⁸The next morning Jacob got up very early. He took the stone he had rested his head against, and he set it upright as a memorial pillar. Then he poured olive oil over it. ¹⁹He named that place Bethel (which means "house of God"), although it was previously called Luz.

²⁰Then Jacob made this vow: "If God will indeed be with me and protect me on this journey, and if he will provide me with food and clothing, ²¹and if I return safely to my

Age	Event	Reference
15	Abraham dies	21:5; 25:7, 26
91	Joseph is born	See "Joseph's Life," p. 99
108	Joseph is sold into slavery	37:2
120	Isaac dies	25:26; 35:28
130	Jacob moves to Egypt	47:7-9
147	Jacob dies, is buried in Canaan	47:28

▲ Jacob's Life (27:1–35:29).

28:6-9 Esau, the unchosen son still trying to please his father, married a woman from the unchosen line of Ishmael, which he thought would be more acceptable. He did not understand the uniqueness of the covenant family.

28:10-22 Despite Jacob's previous means of securing the blessing, God assured him of protection and provision. The God of Abraham and Isaac was also the God of Jacob. The revelation dramatically changed Jacob's outlook and brought faith into clearer focus.

28:11 The good place where Jacob set up camp was apparently a protected area at the foot of a hill. The stone to rest his head against was probably large, more for protection than for a pillow.

28:12-15 The point of the vision was that God and his angels were with Jacob on his journey. God reiterated to Jacob the covenant promises made to Abraham and Isaac, promising him land, descendants numerous as the dust (cp. 13:16; 22:17), and universal blessing through him (cp. 12:2-3; 15:5, 18; 17:3-8; 22:15-18; 35:11-12). God also promised to be with Jacob and watch over him until he returned.

28:12-13 stairway (traditionally ladder): This word occurs nowhere else in Scripture. The imagery probably reminded readers of a staircase or ramp up the front of a ziggurat that signified communication between heaven and earth (see note on 11:4). God initiated a divine communication between heaven and earth to guide and protect Jacob, the steward of his covenant (28:13-15; see Ps 91:11-15). * Jesus said that he himself is the stairway between heaven and earth (John 1:51).

28:14 Jacob inherited Abraham's entire covenant (see 22:17), which confirmed Isaac's blessing (28:3-4) and stipulated a temporary exile (28:15; see 15:12-16).

28:15 I am with you: The promise of God's presence meant that God would protect and provide for Jacob in a special way. God's promise to be with his people is repeated throughout Scripture (see also 26:24), prompting a response of worship and confidence in those who have faith (28:16-22).

28:16-22 The second half of the passage gives Jacob's response to the revelation. He felt reverential fear and awe in the Lord's presence, and his acts of devotion became archetypes of Israel's worship. When God graciously visits his people and promises to be with them and make them a blessing to the world, his people respond in faith with reverential fear, worship, offerings, and vows. They preserve their faith in memory for future worshipers.

28:18 Anointing with oil became a way of setting something apart for divine use in Israel's worship (Exod 29:1-7; 40:9; Lev 2:1; 1 Sam 10:1).

28:19 Bethel later became a holy site for Israel (see Judg 20:18-27; 1 Sam 7:16; 10:3; 1 Kgs 12:26-13:10; 2 Kgs 2:2-3).

28:20-22 In view of what God would do for him, Jacob vowed to do certain things for God. He believed the Lord's words and responded in gratitude. Jacob's vow influenced Israel's way of making commitments to God in worship.

father's home, then the LORD will certainly be my God. ²²And this memorial pillar I have set up will become a place for worshipping God, and I will present to God a tenth of everything he gives me."

Jacob in Paddan-Aram (29:1–31:55)

Jacob Meets Rachel and Laban

29 Then Jacob hurried on, finally arriving in the land of the east. ²He saw a well in the distance. Three flocks of sheep and goats lay in an open field beside it, waiting to be watered. But a heavy stone covered the mouth of the well.

³It was the custom there to wait for all the flocks to arrive before removing the stone and watering the animals. Afterward the stone would be placed back over the mouth of the well. ⁴Jacob went over to the shepherds and asked, "Where are you from, my friends?"

"We are from Haran," they answered.

⁵"Do you know a man there named Laban, the grandson of Nahor?" he asked.

"Yes, we do," they replied.

⁶"Is he doing well?" Jacob asked.

"Yes, he's well," they answered. "Look, here comes his daughter Rachel with the flock now."

⁷Jacob said, "Look, it's still broad daylight—too early to round up the animals. Why don't you water the sheep and goats so they can get back out to pasture?"

⁸"We can't water the animals until all the flocks have arrived," they replied. "Then the shepherds move the stone from the mouth of the well, and we water all the sheep and goats."

⁹Jacob was still talking with them when Rachel arrived with her father's flock, for she was a ⁹shepherd. ¹⁰And because Rachel was his cousin—the daughter of Laban, his mother's brother—and because the sheep and goats belonged to his uncle Laban, Jacob went over to the well and moved the stone from its mouth and watered his uncle's flock. ¹¹Then Jacob kissed Rachel, and he wept aloud. ¹²He explained to Rachel that

28:22
Gen 14:20; 35:7
Deut 14:22
29:1
Judg 6:3, 33
29:2
Gen 24:10–11
29:4
Gen 28:10
29:5
Gen 11:29
29:6
Exod 2:16
29:9
⁹ro'ah (7462)
⁹ Gen 48:15
29:10
Exod 2:17
29:11
Gen 33:4
29:12
Gen 28:5

Rachel (29:6–30:24)

Gen 31:4–19, 31–35;
33:1–7; 35:16–20;
46:19–22; 48:7
Ruth 4:11
1 Sam 10:2
Jer 31:15
Matt 2:18

Rachel, Laban's beautiful younger daughter, was Jacob's favorite wife. He first met her as he arrived at Paddan-aram in Haran, when he helped Rachel remove the stone from the well and watered her father's sheep (29:10). Jacob agreed to work seven years for Laban in order to have Rachel as his wife, and the time seemed like only a few days because of his great love for her.

Laban deceptively required Jacob to marry Leah, his older, less attractive daughter, before finally giving him Rachel. Unlike Leah, Rachel was barren in the early years of her marriage to Jacob (30:1). She gave her servant Bilhah to Jacob in order to have children, and Dan and Naphtali were born (30:3–8). In time, Rachel conceived and bore Joseph (30:22–25), and Jacob took his wives, children, and possessions away from Haran.

Somewhere between Bethel and Bethlehem, Rachel died while giving birth to Benjamin (35:16–20). Jacob set up a pillar over her tomb that was a landmark even in Saul's time (1 Sam 10:2). Rachel and Leah are highly regarded for having built up the house of Israel (Ruth 4:11). In Jer 31:15, Rachel is pictured as crying for her children being carried off into captivity, and Matthew recalls Jeremiah's words at Herod's slaughter of the male infants (Matt 2:18).

28:22 I will present to God a tenth: By paying a tithe (a tenth) as an act of worship, a person acknowledges that everything is a gift from God and belongs to God (see 14:19–20; Num 18:21–32; Deut 14:22–29; 2 Chr 31:5–6; Mal 3:7–12; Matt 23:23).

29:1–31:55 These chapters tell how God kept his promise by abundantly blessing Jacob with family and possessions. God also disciplined Jacob, leaving him to struggle with Laban for many years. Laban was Jacob's match in deception, and thus a means of correction. • The story of Jacob and Laban parallels Israel's later sojourn in Egypt. Jacob struggled while serving his uncle, but finally emerged with a large family

(the founders of the twelve tribes) and great wealth. In Egypt, the Israelites suffered under their oppressors, but they also flourished, becoming a great nation of twelve large tribes and escaping with great riches.

29:1 Jacob hurried on: The Hebrew text says that he "picked up his feet" as if he felt the wind at his back; he continued his journey with fresh enthusiasm. His changed outlook was the direct result of the vision he received at Bethel, a marvelous revelation that God was going to protect and bless him. He now sought the fulfillment of God's promises to him, not just an escape from Esau. Jacob's attitude had become positive and magnanimous to the point of being naive and vulnerable.

29:2–12 Jacob's meeting Rachel at the well was providentially timed by the sovereign God who was leading Jacob to fulfillment of the promises (cp. 24:12–20). The well was a reminder of God's blessing (cp. 16:13–14; 21:19; 26:19–25, 33).

29:10 In contrast to the lazy, unhelpful shepherds (29:7–8), Jacob is portrayed as generous, industrious, and energetic.

• Jacob . . . watered his uncle's flock: Laban's flocks would flourish under Jacob's care.

29:11 Jacob kissed Rachel: Kissing relatives was a proper greeting (29:13; cp. Song 8:1).

29:14
Judg 9:2
2 Sam 5:1

29:15
Gen 30:28, 31:7, 41

29:16
Gen 29:25-26

29:17
Gen 12:11

29:18
Gen 24:67
Hos 12:12

29:20
Song 8:7

29:22
Judg 14:10

29:23
Gen 24:65; 38:14

29:24
Gen 30:9

29:25
Gen 12:18

he was her cousin on her father's side—the son of her aunt Rebekah. So Rachel quickly ran and told her father, Laban.

¹³As soon as Laban heard that his nephew Jacob had arrived, he ran out to meet him. He embraced and kissed him and brought him home. When Jacob had told him his story, ¹⁴Laban exclaimed, “You really are my own flesh and blood!”

Jacob Marries Leah and Rachel

After Jacob had stayed with Laban for about a month, ¹⁵Laban said to him, “You shouldn’t work for me without pay just because we are relatives. Tell me how much your wages should be.”

¹⁶Now Laban had two daughters. The older daughter was named Leah, and the younger one was Rachel. ¹⁷There was no sparkle in Leah’s eyes, but Rachel had a beautiful figure and a lovely face. ¹⁸Since

Jacob was in love with Rachel, he told her father, “I’ll work for you for seven years if you’ll give me Rachel, your younger daughter, as my wife.”

¹⁹“Agreed!” Laban replied. “I’d rather give her to you than to anyone else. Stay and work with me.” ²⁰So Jacob worked seven years to pay for Rachel. But his love for her was so strong that it seemed to him but a few days.

²¹Finally, the time came for him to marry her. “I have fulfilled my agreement,” Jacob said to Laban. “Now give me my wife so I can sleep with her.”

²²So Laban invited everyone in the neighborhood and prepared a wedding feast.

²³But that night, when it was dark, Laban took Leah to Jacob, and he slept with her. ²⁴(Laban had given Leah a servant, Zilpah, to be her maid.)

²⁵But when Jacob woke up in the morning—it was Leah! “What have you done to me?”

Leah (29:14-35)

Gen 30:9-21; 31:4-16; 33:1-7; 34:1; 46:8-15; 49:31
Ruth 4:11

Leah was Laban’s first daughter, Jacob’s unloved first wife, and Rachel’s older sister.

After Jacob deceived his father Isaac into giving him the blessing intended for Esau (27:1-40), Jacob went to his uncle Laban in Mesopotamia to find a wife (27:46–28:2) and escape Esau’s revenge (27:41-42). He fell in love with his cousin Rachel and arranged with her father to marry her after seven years of work (29:17-18). At the wedding feast, Laban deceived Jacob by giving him Leah instead of Rachel (29:21-25), claiming that custom required the older daughter to marry first (29:26). Leah’s eyes were not beautiful, but Rachel “had a beautiful figure and a lovely face” (29:17).

Jacob’s love for Rachel (29:20) induced him to work another seven years to marry her. In the intense rivalry between the two sisters, Jacob favored Rachel, so the Lord blessed Leah with six sons and a daughter (Reuben, Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, Zebulun, and Dinah) before Rachel was given any children (29:31–30:22). This barrenness became a great burden for Rachel. At one point she bargained with Leah for mandrakes, a plant believed to ensure conception, in exchange for conjugal rights. This increased her sister’s advantage, because Leah conceived and bore her fifth son (30:14-17).

Leah was the mother of two tribes that played significant roles in Israelite history. The tribe of Levi was the tribe of the priesthood, and the tribe of Judah became the tribe of royalty through which the promised seed (3:15; 12:2-3; 2 Sam 7:16; Matt 1:1) came in the person of Jesus Christ.

29:14a You really are my own flesh and blood! Laban welcomed Jacob into his house and treated him much like a son.

29:14b-30 Jacob’s joyful prospect of marriage to the lovely Rachel became an occasion for Laban’s shrewdness and Jacob’s discipline. Jacob and his mother had deceived his father and brother to gain the blessing; now his mother’s brother deceived him. Jacob received a dose of his own duplicity through twenty years of labor, affliction, and deception in Laban’s service (31:38). In God’s justice, people harvest what they plant (Gal 6:7). Laban’s deception was perfectly designed to make Jacob aware of his own craftiness. God often brings people into the lives of believers to discipline them. But Jacob was tenacious, and God blessed him abundantly with a large family and many possessions (30:25-43) during this time of service.

29:17 There was no sparkle in Leah’s eyes: Or Leah had dull eyes, or Leah had soft eyes. The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain.

29:18 Seven years of service was a high bride-price in the ancient world, but Rachel was beautiful (like Sarah and Rebekah), and Jacob was in love with her.

29:23-26 Like Isaac, Jacob was plied with food and wine (cp. 27:25), deprived of sight in the darkness (cp. 27:1), baffled by clothing (cp. 27:15), and misled by touch (cp. 27:23). The marriage had been consummated (29:23; see 2:24), so Jacob was bound to Leah, but Jacob only acknowledged Rachel as his wife (44:27) and her children as his own (42:38). • It’s not our custom here to marry off a younger daughter ahead of the firstborn: Laban’s words are a reminder of what Jacob did when he, the younger son, pretended to be his older brother to gain the blessing (ch 27). Now Leah, the older sister, pretended to be the younger sister to get a husband. God gave the deceiver a dose of his own deception as a discipline in his life.

Jacob raged at Laban. "I worked seven years for Rachel! Why have you tricked me?"

²⁶"It's not our custom here to marry off a younger daughter ahead of the firstborn," Laban replied. ²⁷"But wait until the bridal week is over; then we'll give you Rachel, too—provided you promise to work another seven years for me."

²⁸So Jacob agreed to work seven more years. A week after Jacob had married Leah, Laban gave him Rachel, too. ²⁹(Laban gave Rachel a servant, Bilhah, to be her maid.) ³⁰So Jacob slept with Rachel, too, and he loved her much more than Leah. He then stayed and worked for Laban the additional seven years.

Children Born to Leah and Rachel

³¹When the LORD saw that Leah was unloved, he enabled her to have children, but Rachel could not conceive. ³²So Leah became pregnant and gave birth to a son. She named him Reuben, for she said, "The LORD has noticed my misery, and now my husband will love me."

³³She soon became pregnant again and gave birth to another son. She named him Simeon, for she said, "The LORD heard that I was unloved and has given me another son."

³⁴Then she became pregnant a third time and gave birth to another son. He was named Levi, for she said, "Surely this time my husband will feel affection for me, since I have given him three sons!"

³⁵Once again Leah became pregnant and gave birth to another son. She named him Judah, for she said, "Now I will praise the LORD!" And then she stopped having children.

30 When Rachel saw that she wasn't having any children for Jacob, she became jealous of her sister. She pleaded with Jacob, "Give me children, or I'll die!"

²Then Jacob became furious with Rachel. "Am I God?" he asked. "He's the one who has kept you from having children!"

³Then Rachel told him, "Take my maid, Bilhah, and sleep with her. She will bear children for me, and through her I can have a family, too." ⁴So Rachel gave her servant, Bilhah, to Jacob as a wife, and he slept with her. ⁵Bilhah became pregnant and presented him with a son. ⁶Rachel named him Dan, for she said, "God has vindicated me! He has heard my request and given me a son." ⁷Then Bilhah became pregnant again and gave Jacob a second son. ⁸Rachel named him Naphtali, for she said, "I have struggled hard with my sister, and I'm winning!"

⁹Meanwhile, Leah realized that she wasn't getting pregnant anymore, so she took her

29:27
Judg 14:12

29:29
Gen 30:3

29:30
Gen 29:16

29:31
Deut 21:15-17

29:32
Gen 30:23; 37:21;
46:8

29:33
Deut 21:15

29:34
Gen 49:5

29:35
Gen 49:8
Matt 1:2-3

30:1
1 Sam 1:5-6

30:2
Gen 20:18; 29:31

30:3-4
Gen 16:2-4

30:6
Gen 30:23

30:8
Gen 32:28

29:28-30 After the bridal week ended (29:27), Jacob also received Rachel as his wife, though he then would have to work an additional seven years (cp. 31:41). Laban seemed to have gained the upper hand.

29:30 Jacob loved Rachel much more than Leah: Favoritism was an ongoing cause of dysfunction in Jacob's family (cp. 25:28; 37:3). Jacob's favoritism had lasting effects: his family was never together, and their descendants, the tribes of Israel, were rarely unified.

29:31–30:24 The rivalry between these sisters explains much of the later rivalry among their sons, and then among the tribes, just as the rivalry between Jacob and Laban foreshadowed conflict between Israel and the Arameans of Damascus (2 Sam 8:5-6; 10:8-19; 1 Kgs 20:1-34; 2 Kgs 5-8; 13; Isa 7:1-9). • God champions the cause of the poor and oppressed; he exalted Leah, the despised first wife, as the first to become a mother. Judah's kingly tribe and Levi's priestly line came through her despite Jacob's favoritism for Rachel and her children. Despite the tension and jealousy resulting from Laban's treachery and Jacob's favoritism, God still built Jacob's family and brought about the births of the tribal ancestors.

29:31-35 Leah's first four sons were born in rapid succession, but Rachel could not conceive. She was barren, like Sarah and Rebekah (cp. 16:1; 25:21; see also 1 Sam 1:1-28; Luke 1:5-25). • Each name is a memorable wordplay on Leah's experience and hopes.

29:32 Reuben (Hebrew re'uben) means "Look, a son!" It also sounds like the Hebrew for "He has seen my misery" (ra'ah be'onyi). His birth gave Leah consolation from God and hope for Jacob's love. Jacob seems not to have seen her misery, but God did (cp. 16:14; 24:62; 25:11). The name was a reminder of God's intervention.

29:33 Leah named her second son Simeon. Simeon probably means "one who hears." The LORD heard that Leah was unloved. The name suggests that she had cried out to the Lord (cp. 16:11).

29:34 Levi sounds like a Hebrew term that means "being attached" or "feeling affection for." Leah named her third son Levi, hoping that her husband would become attached to her since she had given him three sons. This hope was not fulfilled.

29:35 Leah reconciled herself to the reality that nothing would turn Jacob's affections toward her. She named her fourth son Judah with the sentiment,

"I will praise the LORD" (Judah is related to the Hebrew term for "praise"). She seems to have given up on Jacob, taking her consolation from the Lord.

30:1-8 Rachel's naming of sons through Bilhah does not reflect faith as Leah's namings had. Rachel felt wronged over the marriage and her barrenness. The names of Bilhah's sons reflect Rachel's bitter struggle with her sister and her feeling of some victory.

30:1-2 In that culture, it was like death for a woman not to have children (cp. 1 Sam 1); only God could open Rachel's womb.

30:3-4 Rachel's decision to have children through her servant, and Jacob's compliance, recall Sarai's use of Hagar (16:1-4). • bear children for me: Literally bear children on my knees.

30:5-6 Dan means "he judged" or "he vindicated." Rachel felt vindicated (Hebrew dananni) by Dan's birth.

30:7-8 Naphtali means "my struggle"; it is related to the clause I have struggled hard (Hebrew naptule 'elohim niptalti, "I have struggled the struggles of God"). This word for God expresses the superlative.

30:9 When Leah saw that she had stopped bearing children, she coun-

30:11
Gen 35:26; 46:16;
49:19

30:14
Song 7:13

30:17
Gen 25:21

30:18
Gen 49:14

30:22
1 Sam 1:19-20

30:23
Luke 1:25

30:24
Gen 35:17

30:26
Gen 29:18
Hos 12:12

30:27
Gen 39:2-5

30:28
Gen 29:15; 31:7

30:32
Gen 31:8, 12

servant, Zilpah, and gave her to Jacob as a wife. ¹⁰Soon Zilpah presented him with a son. ¹¹Leah named him Gad, for she said, "How fortunate I am!" ¹²Then Zilpah gave Jacob a second son. ¹³And Leah named him Asher, for she said, "What joy is mine! Now the other women will celebrate with me."

¹⁴One day during the wheat harvest, Reuben found some mandrakes growing in a field and brought them to his mother, Leah. Rachel begged Leah, "Please give me some of your son's mandrakes."

¹⁵But Leah angrily replied, "Wasn't it enough that you stole my husband? Now will you steal my son's mandrakes, too?"

Rachel answered, "I will let Jacob sleep with you tonight if you give me some of the mandrakes."

¹⁶So that evening, as Jacob was coming home from the fields, Leah went out to meet him. "You must come and sleep with me tonight!" she said. "I have paid for you with some mandrakes that my son found." So that night he slept with Leah. ¹⁷And God answered Leah's prayers. She became pregnant again and gave birth to a fifth son for Jacob. ¹⁸She named him Issachar, for she said, "God has rewarded me for giving my servant to my husband as a wife." ¹⁹Then Leah became pregnant again and gave birth to a sixth son for Jacob. ²⁰She named him Zebulun, for she said, "God has given me a good reward. Now my husband will treat me with respect, for I have given him six sons." ²¹Later she gave birth to a daughter and named her Dinah.

²²Then God remembered Rachel's plight and answered her prayers by enabling her to have children. ²³She became pregnant and gave birth to a son. "God has removed my disgrace," she said. ²⁴And she named him Joseph, for she said, "May the LORD add yet another son to my family."

Jacob's Wealth Increases

²⁵Soon after Rachel had given birth to Joseph, Jacob said to Laban, "Please release me so I can go home to my own country. ²⁶Let me take my wives and children, for I have earned them by serving you, and let me be on my way. You certainly know how hard I have worked for you."

²⁷"Please listen to me," Laban replied. "I have become wealthy, for the LORD has blessed me because of you. ²⁸Tell me how much I owe you. Whatever it is, I'll pay it."

²⁹Jacob replied, "You know how hard I've worked for you, and how your flocks and herds have grown under my care. ³⁰You had little indeed before I came, but your wealth has increased enormously. The LORD has blessed you through everything I've done. But now, what about me? When can I start providing for my own family?"

³¹"What wages do you want?" Laban asked again.

Jacob replied, "Don't give me anything. Just do this one thing, and I'll continue to tend and watch over your flocks. ³²Let me inspect your flocks today and remove all the sheep and goats that are speckled or spotted, along with all the black sheep. Give these to me as my wages. ³³In the future, when you check on the animals you have given me as my wages, you'll see that I have been honest. If you find in my flock tered Rachel's effort by giving her servant . . . to Jacob as a wife even though she already had four sons.

30:10-13 Gad means "good fortune" and was the name of a god of fortune. Asher means "happy" and was the name of a god of luck. These names reflect Leah's pagan background, but there is no indication that she believed in these gods.

30:14-17 Mandrakes were considered an aphrodisiac and aid to procreation (see Song 7:13). Rachel thought they would help her get pregnant and so traded Jacob for a night to get them. In the process, Leah got pregnant, not Rachel.

30:18 Issachar sounds like a Hebrew term that means "reward." The name captures the sense of Jacob's being hired (30:16) and of the Lord's rewarding Leah (Hebrew sekari, "my hire").

30:19-20 Zebulun probably means "honor"; it also means "gift," as in a dowry or tribute. Leah thought that God gave her Zebulun so that her husband would honor her. This hope never fully left her.

30:21 Dinah was Jacob's only daughter. See ch 34.

30:22-24 Rachel finally gave birth to her own son, Joseph. His birth was brought about by God's intervention, not by superstitious practices (30:14-16) or the social custom of giving servants as wives. • Removed (Hebrew 'asap, "take away") sounds similar to Joseph (Hebrew yosep). Joseph means "may he add." Rachel rejoiced over Joseph's birth, yet she prayed that the Lord would add yet another son to her family.

30:25-34 After his fourteen years of service, Jacob asked Laban for permission to go home. The two bedouin leaders negotiated politely but remained cautiously on guard. Laban wanted to get more out of Jacob. Jacob wanted to gain his wages by selective breeding.

30:27 I have become wealthy, for (or I have learned by divination that): God had prospered Laban through Jacob's presence (see 22:18). Laban may have looked for omens, or simply have perceived what was happening. Since dark-colored sheep (30:32) were rare, a large number of them was considered an omen of God's blessing.

30:30-33 Jacob agreed that God had blessed Laban through him, so he made a plan to gain something for himself. He proposed for his wages the rare black and multicolored goats and the speckled and spotted sheep that were born.

30:32 As Abraham had done with Lot (13:9), Jacob gave Laban what he valued most. White sheep were more common and more valuable than dark or multicolored sheep; as a man of faith, Jacob was willing to take the rejects (cp. 1 Cor 1:26).

any goats without speckles or spots, or any sheep that are not black, you will know that I have stolen them from you."

³⁴"All right," Laban replied. "It will be as you say." ³⁵But that very day Laban went out and removed the male goats that were streaked and spotted, all the female goats that were speckled and spotted or had white patches, and all the black sheep. He placed them in the care of his own sons, ³⁶who took them a three-days' journey from where Jacob was. Meanwhile, Jacob stayed and cared for the rest of Laban's flock.

³⁷Then Jacob took some fresh branches from poplar, almond, and plane trees and peeled off strips of bark, making white streaks on them. ³⁸Then he placed these peeled branches in the watering troughs where the flocks came to drink, for that was where they mated. ³⁹And when they mated in front of the white-streaked branches, they gave birth to young that were streaked, speckled, and spotted. ⁴⁰Jacob separated those lambs from Laban's flock. And at mating time he turned the flock to face Laban's animals that were streaked or black. This is how he built his own flock instead of increasing Laban's.

⁴¹Whenever the stronger females were ready to mate, Jacob would place the peeled branches in the watering troughs in front of them. Then they would mate in front of the branches. ⁴²But he didn't do this with the weaker ones, so the weaker lambs belonged to Laban, and the stronger ones were Jacob's. ⁴³As a result, Jacob became very wealthy, with large flocks of sheep and goats, female and male servants, and many camels and donkeys.

Jacob Flees from Laban

31 But Jacob soon learned that Laban's sons were grumbling about him. "Jacob has robbed our father of everything!" they said. "He has gained all his 'wealth at our father's expense.'" ²And Jacob began to notice a change in Laban's attitude toward him.

³Then the LORD said to Jacob, "Return to the land of your father and grandfather and to your relatives there, and I will be with you."

⁴So Jacob called Rachel and Leah out to the field where he was watching his flock. ⁵He said to them, "I have noticed that your father's attitude toward me has changed. But the God of my father has been with me. ⁶You know how hard I have worked for your father, ⁷but he has cheated me, changing my wages ten times. But God has not allowed him to do me any harm. ⁸For if he said, 'The speckled animals will be your wages,' the whole flock began to produce speckled young. And when he changed his mind and said, 'The striped animals will be your wages,' then the whole flock produced striped young. ⁹In this way, God has taken your father's animals and given them to me.

¹⁰"One time during the mating season, I had a dream and saw that the male goats mating with the females were streaked, speckled, and spotted. ¹¹Then in my dream,

30:43
Gen 13:2; 24:35;
26:13

31:1
kabod (3519)
Exod 16:10

31:3
Gen 28:15; 32:9

31:6
Gen 30:29

31:7
Gen 29:25; 31:41

31:8
Gen 30:32

31:11
Gen 16:7-11; 22:11, 15

30:34-36 Laban verbally agreed with Jacob's plan, but he tried to prevent Jacob from accruing wealth by removing animals from the flock that would fulfill the agreement. • Laban's deception with his goats reminds us of Jacob's deception of Esau (cp. 27:9; see note on 29:14b-30).

30:37-43 God blessed Jacob despite Laban's duplicity. Not to be outwitted, Jacob used selective breeding to acquire a flock, following the traditional belief that peeled sticks influenced the kind of animal that would be born. The peeled branches seemingly made his animals produce streaked and spotted young; Jacob later acknowledged that God had prospered him (31:7-12). Jacob gained stronger animals for himself and weaker ones for Laban (30:41-42).

30:37 making white streaks: A clever wordplay captures the meaning of this whole section. When Jacob exposed the white (Hebrew laban) streaks of wood underneath, he played the "white" game (the Laban game) and won. As he outwitted Laban ("Whitey"), Jacob's flocks flourished and Jacob prospered.

30:42 Laban now received due recompense for his treatment of Jacob. Laban's attempt to defraud Jacob resulted in Jacob's coming out ahead, because God was at work in his life.

30:43 Jacob became very wealthy, in fulfillment of God's promises to him (27:28; 28:13-15).

31:1-21 Jacob's return journey precipitated a confrontation with Laban that set a permanent boundary between Israel (Jacob) and Aram (Laban). God kept his word to Jacob by prospering him in Paddan-aram and protecting him on his journey home.

31:1-2 The animosity of Laban's sons against Jacob grew because his flocks were multiplying faster than Laban's. They were jealous of God's blessing on Jacob and afraid that he would completely overrun them.

31:3 The land of your father and grandfather was the land of Canaan, to which Abraham had previously been called (12:1-7; 17:8). • Return . . . I will be with you: See notes on 26:2-5; 28:12-15. God protected Jacob ("Israel," 32:28) as he brought his family back to the land that was promised to them. God later brought Israel back to Canaan after long years of service in Egypt. That great return had many elements similar to this passage: God defeated foreign gods and beliefs, used dreams for rescue and protection, gave victory over those who threatened them, and established boundaries between nations and tribes (see Deut 32:8).

31:4-13 Jacob explained to his wives how God had blessed him despite Laban's opposition. He was not sure they would want to leave Laban and go to Canaan. He wanted to take a willing family, so he had to make an effective appeal. He rehearsed God's leading and provision over the years, and then told them that he had to keep the vow he had made at Bethel (28:20-22).

31:12
Gen 30:32
Exod 3:7
31:13
Gen 28:10-22
31:15
Gen 29:20, 27
31:18
Gen 25:20
31:19
Judg 17:5
31:20
Gen 31:27
31:21
Gen 37:25
Num 32:1
31:22
Gen 30:36
31:24
Gen 25:20
31:28
Gen 31:55
31:31
Gen 20:11
31:32
Gen 44:9

the angel of God said to me, 'Jacob!' And I replied, 'Yes, here I am.'

¹²"The angel said, 'Look up, and you will see that only the streaked, speckled, and spotted males are mating with the females of your flock. For I have seen how Laban has treated you. ¹³I am the God who appeared to you at Bethel, the place where you anointed the pillar of stone and made your vow to me. Now get ready and leave this country and return to the land of your birth.'

¹⁴Rachel and Leah responded, "That's fine with us! We won't inherit any of our father's wealth anyway. ¹⁵He has reduced our rights to those of foreign women. And after he sold us, he wasted the money you paid him for us. ¹⁶All the wealth God has given you from our father legally belongs to us and our children. So go ahead and do whatever God has told you."

¹⁷So Jacob put his wives and children on camels, ¹⁸and he drove all his livestock in front of him. He packed all the belongings he had acquired in Paddan-aram and set out for the land of Canaan, where his father, Isaac, lived. ¹⁹At the time they left, Laban was some distance away, shearing his sheep. Rachel stole her father's household idols and took them with her. ²⁰Jacob outwitted Laban the Aramean, for they set out secretly and never told Laban they were leaving. ²¹So Jacob took all his possessions with him and crossed the Euphrates River, heading for the hill country of Gilead.

Dispute between Laban and Jacob

²²Three days later, Laban was told that Jacob had fled. ²³So he gathered a group of his relatives and set out in hot pursuit. He caught up with Jacob seven days later in the hill country of Gilead. ²⁴But the previous night God had appeared to Laban the Aramean in a dream and told him, "I'm warning you—leave Jacob alone!"

²⁵Laban caught up with Jacob as he was camped in the hill country of Gilead, and he set up his camp not far from Jacob's. ²⁶"What do you mean by deceiving me like this?" Laban demanded. "How dare you drag my daughters away like prisoners of war? ²⁷Why did you slip away secretly? Why did you deceive me? And why didn't you say you wanted to leave? I would have given you a farewell feast, with singing and music, accompanied by tambourines and harps. ²⁸Why didn't you let me kiss my daughters and grandchildren and tell them good-bye? You have acted very foolishly! ²⁹I could destroy you, but the God of your father appeared to me last night and warned me, 'Leave Jacob alone!' ³⁰I can understand your feeling that you must go, and your intense longing for your father's home. But why have you stolen my gods?"

³¹"I rushed away because I was afraid," Jacob answered. "I thought you would take your daughters from me by force. ³²But as for your gods, see if you can find them, and let the person who has taken them die! And if you find anything else that belongs to you, identify it before all these relatives of ours, and I will give it back!" But Jacob did not know that Rachel had stolen the household idols.

³³Laban went first into Jacob's tent to search there, then into Leah's, and then 31:13 the God who appeared to you at Bethel: As in Greek version and an Aramaic Targum; Hebrew reads the God of Bethel.

31:14-16 The women responded immediately that they would go with Jacob because God had blessed him. They were very willing to leave Laban, who had squandered their wealth (the property that would have provided for them). They knew that what God had given to Jacob would also be theirs.

31:17-21 Jacob left Laban secretly out of fear of reprisal (31:31).

31:19-20 Rachel stole her father's household idols: Rachel probably wanted to regain some of the assets Laban had squandered; possibly she also worshiped idols (cp. 35:2-4). To have the idols may have signified claiming the family inheritance, as customs in subsequent periods indicate. Laban apparently felt vulnerable without them.

Whatever her reasons, Rachel's theft almost brought disaster on the fleeing family when Laban caught up with them. • A wordplay shows that Rachel and Jacob were very much alike—Rachel stole (Hebrew wattignob) Laban's household gods, and Jacob outwitted (Hebrew wayyignob, "stole the heart of, deceived") Laban.

31:21 The journey took the family from Haran southwest to the land of Gilead, just east of the Jordan River in the north of today's kingdom of Jordan. • the Euphrates River: Literally the river.

31:22-23 The theft of the idols (31:19) was probably the main reason that Laban and his men chased Jacob. It was one thing for Jacob to take his family and flocks—Laban probably still believed they were all his—but another matter entirely to take his household gods. Laban may have feared that Jacob would return someday to claim all of Laban's estate. When he failed to find the gods, he asked for a treaty to keep Jacob away (31:43-53). • It took Laban seven days to catch up with Jacob.

31:24 leave Jacob alone! (literally Do not speak to Jacob either good or evil): God commanded Laban not to take justice into his own hands. When we try to enact our own sense of good and evil apart from God's command, we always do evil (see note on 2:9).

31:25-30 The dispute between the two men used the language of legal controversies and lawsuits (see also 31:36). In his first argument, Laban presented himself as a wounded party that Jacob had robbed.

31:32 Jacob, so convinced that he didn't have the gods, used an oath that unwittingly put Rachel under a death sentence.

31:33-35 Laban searched for the idols but found nothing. Laban never the tents of the two servant wives—but he found nothing. Finally, he went into Rachel's tent. ³⁴But Rachel had taken the household idols and hidden them in her camel saddle, and now she was sitting on them. When Laban had thoroughly searched her tent without finding them, ³⁵she said to her father, "Please, sir, forgive me if I don't get up for you. I'm having my monthly period." So Laban continued his search, but he could not find the household idols.

³⁶Then Jacob became very angry, and he challenged Laban. "What's my crime?" he demanded. "What have I done wrong to make you chase after me as though I were a criminal? ³⁷You have rummaged through everything I own. Now show me what you found that belongs to you! Set it out here in front of us, before our relatives, for all to see. Let them judge between us!

³⁸"For twenty years I have been with you, caring for your flocks. In all that time your sheep and goats never miscarried. In all those years I never used a single ram of yours for food. ³⁹If any were attacked and killed by wild animals, I never showed you the carcass and asked you to reduce the count of your flock. No, I took the loss myself! You made me pay for every stolen animal, whether it was taken in broad daylight or in the dark of night.

⁴⁰"I worked for you through the scorching heat of the day and through cold and sleepless nights. ⁴¹Yes, for twenty years I slaved in your house! I worked for fourteen years earning your two daughters, and then six more years for your flock. And you changed my wages ten times! ⁴²In fact, if the God of my father had not been on my side—the God of Abraham and the fearsome God of Isaac—you would have sent me away empty-handed. But God has seen your abuse and my hard work. That is why he appeared to you last night and rebuked you!"

Jacob's Treaty with Laban

⁴³Then Laban replied to Jacob, "These women are my daughters, these children are my grandchildren, and these flocks are my flocks—in fact, everything you see is mine. But what can I do now about my daughters and their children? ⁴⁴So come, let's make a covenant, you and I, and it will be a witness to our commitment."

⁴⁵So Jacob took a stone and set it up as a monument. ⁴⁶Then he told his family members, "Gather some stones." So they gathered stones and piled them in a heap. Then Jacob and Laban sat down beside the pile of stones to eat a covenant meal. ⁴⁷To commemorate the event, Laban called the place Jegar-sahadutha (which means "witness pile" in Aramaic), and Jacob called it Galeed (which means "witness pile" in Hebrew).

⁴⁸Then Laban declared, "This pile of stones will stand as a witness to remind us of the covenant we have made today." This explains why it was called Galeed—"Witness Pile." ⁴⁹But it was also called Mizpah (which means "watchtower"), for Laban said, "May the LORD keep watch between us to make sure that we keep this covenant when we are out of each other's sight. ⁵⁰If you mistreat my daughters or if you marry other wives, God will see it even if no one else does. He is a witness to this covenant between us.

⁵¹"See this pile of stones," Laban continued, "and see this monument I have set between us. ⁵²They stand between us as witnesses of our vows. I will never pass this pile of stones to harm you, and you must never pass these stones or this monument to harm me. ⁵³I call on the God of our ancestors—the God of your grandfather Abraham and the

31:37
Gen 31:33

31:38
Gen 27:44

31:39
Exod 22:10-13

31:41
Gen 29:30

31:42
Gen 29:32

31:44
Gen 21:27, 30

31:45
Gen 28:18
Josh 24:26-27

31:48
Gen 21:30

31:49
Judg 10:17; 11:29

31:50
Judg 11:10
1 Sam 12:5
Jer 29:23; 42:5

31:52
Gen 31:29, 42

31:53
Gen 24:12

dreamed that a woman having her monthly period would desecrate the idols by sitting on them (cp. Lev 15:19-24).

31:36-42 Jacob retaliated by accusing Laban of false charges and humiliation. Laban now became the defendant, for his charges were demeaning and apparently groundless.

31:40 Jacob, who preferred domestic life (25:27), had for twenty years endured the rigors of the outdoors that Esau had loved.

31:42 on my side . . . and the fearsome God of Isaac (or and the Fear of Isaac): The God that Isaac feared with Jacob (31:3), had seen his hard work and faithfulness despite Laban's abuse, and had rewarded Jacob. Laban's dream only proved to Jacob that he was in the right.

31:43-44 Laban pushed for a treaty to settle the dispute—he felt vulnerable, so he wanted to secure the borders. Jacob did not need a treaty, since God had provided for him and protected him.

31:45-48 The stone and the heap of stones were a monument to the border treaty between the two men, as a witness to future generations. Each man named the monument witness pile in his native language. It remained the perpetual border between Israel and the kingdom of Aram (Syria), two nations often at war.

31:49 The witness pile was also called watchtower. God would watch over Jacob and Laban and keep them apart, for they could not trust each other.

31:50-53 Laban added some face-saving stipulations to the treaty, using many words to cover up his own untrustworthiness and portray Jacob as the unethical party. He even took credit for the monument Jacob had erected (this monument I have set, 31:51). The women and children would be much safer and better cared for with Jacob than they ever were with Laban.

31:53 the fearsome God of his father, Isaac: Or the Fear of his father, Isaac. See note on 31:42.

31:54
Exod 18:12

31:55
Gen 31:28

32:1
Gen 16:11
2 Kgs 6:16-17

32:2
Josh 13:26; 21:38
2 Sam 2:8

32:3
Gen 27:41-42

32:4
Gen 31:41

32:7
Gen 33:1

32:9
Gen 28:13-15; 31:13

32:10
Gen 24:27

32:11
Gen 27:41

32:12
Gen 28:14

32:18
Gen 32:13

32:20
1 Sam 25:19

God of my grandfather Nahor—to serve as a judge between us.”

So Jacob took an oath before the fear-some God of his father, Isaac, to respect the boundary line. ⁵⁴Then Jacob offered a sacrifice to God there on the mountain and invited everyone to a covenant feast. After they had eaten, they spent the night on the mountain.

⁵⁵Laban got up early the next morning, and he kissed his grandchildren and his daughters and blessed them. Then he left and returned home.

Jacob Returns Home (32:1–33:20)

Angels Meet Jacob

32 As Jacob started on his way again, angels of God came to meet him. ²When Jacob saw them, he exclaimed, “This is God’s camp!” So he named the place Mahanaim.

Jacob Sends Gifts to Esau

³Then Jacob sent messengers ahead to his brother, Esau, who was living in the region of Seir in the land of Edom. ⁴He told them, “Give this message to my master Esau: ‘Humble greetings from your servant Jacob. Until now I have been living with Uncle Laban, and now I own cattle, donkeys, flocks of sheep and goats, and many servants, both men and women. I have sent these messengers to inform my lord of my coming, hoping that you will be friendly to me.’”

Jacob Prepares to Meet Esau

⁶After delivering the message, the messengers returned to Jacob and reported, “We met your brother, Esau, and he is already on his way to meet you—with an army of 400 men!” ⁷Jacob was terrified at the news. He divided his household, along with the flocks and herds and camels, into two groups. ⁸He thought, “If Esau meets one group and attacks it, perhaps the other group can escape.”

⁹Then Jacob prayed, “O God of my grandfather Abraham, and God of my father, Isaac—O LORD, you told me, ‘Return to your own land and to your relatives.’ And you promised me, ‘I will treat you kindly.’ ¹⁰I am not worthy of all the unfailing love and faithfulness you have shown to me, your servant. When I left home and crossed the Jordan River, I owned nothing except a walking stick. Now my household fills two large camps! ¹¹O LORD, please rescue me from the hand of my brother, Esau. I am afraid that he is coming to attack me, along with my wives and children. ¹²But you promised me, ‘I will surely treat you kindly, and I will multiply your descendants until they become as numerous as the sands along the seashore—too many to count.’”

¹³Jacob stayed where he was for the night. Then he selected these gifts from his possessions to present to his brother, Esau: ¹⁴200 female goats, 20 male goats, 200 ewes, 20 rams, ¹⁵30 female camels with their young, 40 cows, 10 bulls, 20 female donkeys, and 10 male donkeys. ¹⁶He divided these animals into herds and assigned each to different servants. Then he told his servants, “Go ahead of me with the animals, but keep some distance between the herds.”

¹⁷He gave these instructions to the men leading the first group: “When my brother, Esau, meets you, he will ask, ‘Whose servants are you? Where are you going? Who owns these animals?’ ¹⁸You must reply, ‘They belong to your servant Jacob, but they are a gift for his master Esau. Look, he is coming right behind us.’”

¹⁹Jacob gave the same instructions to the second and third herdsman and to all who followed behind the herds: “You must say the same thing to Esau when you meet him. ²⁰And be sure to say, ‘Look, your servant Jacob is right behind us.’”

Jacob thought, “I will try to appease him by sending gifts ahead of me. When I see 31:55 Verse 31:55 is numbered 32:1 in Hebrew text.

32:1-32 Verses 32:1-32 are numbered 32:2-33 in Hebrew text.

32:1 God assured Jacob of his protection at a time when Jacob most needed such consolation. His journey was both a physical return to his homeland and a spiritual return to the land of God’s promised blessing. God protects his people and fulfills his plan.

32:2 This is God’s camp! Jacob must have seen the angels that revealed God’s presence as a sign of protection, as with the earlier vision when he was departing the land (28:10-22).

• Mahanaim means “two camps.” Jacob’s company and the company of angels were together in one place.

32:3-5 Apparently inspired by the vision of angels (32:1, Hebrew mal’akim), Jacob sent messengers (mal’akim) into Edom to meet Esau.

32:7-8 Jacob divided his company into two groups or camps (Hebrew makhanoth, related to “Mahanaim” in 32:2) because he was afraid, remembering Esau’s character and his threat to kill Jacob (see 25:25; 27:41).

32:9-12 Jacob’s prayer is a wonderful example of how to address God. He based his appeal on God’s will, reminding God of his relationship with him, his command for him to return to the land, and his promise (32:9). He had a correct attitude of genuine humility and total dependence on God (32:10). Finally, he asked that God rescue him from his brother, and he repeated God’s promises (see 22:17).

32:13-21 Taking a large portion of the wealth God had blessed him with (some 550 animals), Jacob prepared a gift to appease Esau’s anger and gain his favor.

him in person, perhaps he will be friendly to me.”²¹ So the gifts were sent on ahead, while Jacob himself spent that night in the camp.

Jacob Wrestles with God and Becomes Israel

²² During the night Jacob got up and took his two wives, his two servant wives, and his eleven sons and crossed the Jabbok River with them. ²³ After taking them to the other side, he sent over all his possessions.

²⁴ This left Jacob all alone in the camp, and a man came and wrestled with him until the dawn began to break. ²⁵ When the man saw that he would not win the match, he touched Jacob’s hip and wrenched it out of its socket. ²⁶ Then the man said, “Let me go, for the dawn is breaking!”

But Jacob said, “I will not let you go unless you bless me.”

²⁷ “What is your name?” the man asked.

He replied, “Jacob.”

²⁸ “Your name will no longer be Jacob,” the man told him. “From now on you will be called Israel, because you have fought with God and with men and have won.”

²⁹ “Please tell me your name,” Jacob said.

“Why do you want to know my name?” the man replied. Then he blessed Jacob there.

³⁰ Jacob named the place Peniel (which means “face of God”), for he said, “I have seen God face to face, yet my life has been spared.” ³¹ The sun was rising as Jacob left Peniel, and he was limping because of the injury to his hip. ³² (Even today the people of Israel don’t eat the tendon near the hip socket because of what happened that night when the man strained the tendon of Jacob’s hip.)

Jacob and Esau Make Peace

33 Then Jacob looked up and saw Esau coming with his 400 men. So he divided the children among Leah, Rachel, and

32:22
Deut 3:16
Josh 12:2

32:24
Gen 18:2

32:26
Hos 12:3-4

32:28
Gen 35:10
1 Kgs 18:31

32:29
Exod 3:13
Judg 13:17

32:30
Gen 16:13
Exod 24:10; 33:20
Num 12:8
Deut 5:24; 34:10
Judg 6:22
John 1:18

32:31
Judg 8:8-9

33:1
Gen 32:6-7

32:22-32 Before Jacob returned to the land God had promised him, God met him, crippled him, and blessed him, changing his name to Israel. This episode was a significant turning point for him.

32:22-24 The Jabbok River flows westward to the Jordan Valley, dividing the region of Bashan on the north from Gilead on the south. Wordplays on Jacob’s name and character preserve the memory of this encounter. Jacob (Hebrew ya’aqob), while at Jabbok (Hebrew yabboq), wrestled (Hebrew wayye’abeq). Through his fight with an adversary to receive the blessing, Jacob’s name would be changed, and his deceptive striving would partially give way to faith as his way of life.

32:24 a man came: The narrative unfolds as the event did for Jacob. No details are given about the assailant, who later refused to identify himself (32:29). • until the dawn: The darkness fit Jacob’s situation and increased the fear and uncertainty that seized him. In the darkness he had no idea who it was—it might have been one of Esau’s men, or Laban’s.

32:25 he touched Jacob’s hip and wrenched it out of its socket: Jacob, the deceitful fighter, could fight no more. When his assailant fought him as man to man, Jacob could hold his own. But like so many of his own rivals, he had now more than met his match.

32:26 At daybreak, the significance of this fight began to dawn on Jacob. He realized who his assailant was, and since it was futile to fight, he held on to obtain God’s blessing.

32:27 What is your name? The Lord’s question was really about Jacob’s character, not his identity (cp. 3:9; 4:9). By giving his name, Jacob confessed his nature, his way of doing things as “Heel-grabber, Deceiver, Usurper.” Before God would bless him, he had to acknowledge who he was, and then God would change his identity.

32:28 Jacob sounds like the Hebrew words for “heel” and “deceiver.” Israel means “God fights.” God first had to fight with him, but now God would fight for him. Jacob’s name was thus full of promise for Jacob and his descendants. • you have fought with God and with men: Through his entire life, Jacob had been seizing God’s blessing by his own abilities and by any means possible. Jacob knew the importance of the blessing, but he was too self-sufficient and proud to let the blessing be given to him. He had been fighting God long before this encounter. • and have won: He had prevailed in his struggles with Esau and with Laban; now he prevailed in obtaining God’s blessing.

32:29 Jacob knew who was with him (32:30); the request was his attempt to regain some control. God would not reveal his name, which cannot be had on demand.

32:30 Peniel (which means “face of God”): The name shows that Jacob recognized the man as a manifestation of God (a theophany). • yet my life has been spared (or and I have been rescued): The saying probably meant that Jacob realized that his prayer to be rescued from Esau (32:11) had been answered, for if he could meet God like this and walk away, he had nothing to fear from Esau. The saying may also reflect an ancient understanding that no one could see God and live (see Exod 33:20).

32:31 Peniel: Hebrew Penuel, a variant spelling of Peniel. • he was limping: God injured Jacob’s hip, thus curtailing his proud self-sufficiency. Since the Lord had restricted his natural strength, Jacob would have to rely on the Lord with greater faith. He had thought that returning to his land would be a matter of outwitting his brother once again (32:3-21), but here at the land’s threshold he met its true proprietor. He would get the land, but only if God fought for him. Self-sufficiency—trying to achieve the blessing by our own strength or by the ways of the world—will not suffice. If we persist, God may have to cripple our self-sufficiency to make us trust him more.

32:32 The story includes a dietary restriction for Israel that became a custom but was not put into law. This custom helped preserve the memory of the story. Observant Jews still refuse to eat the tendons of an animal’s hindquarters.

33:1-17 Jacob’s long-anticipated meeting with his brother Esau turned out far better than he had feared. Esau’s changed heart is an example of how “God fights” (32:28). Earlier, he had cared little about the birthright (25:32-34); now he cared little for old grudges. Jacob recognized that God had intervened.

33:1-2 Jacob’s identity had been changed (32:27-28), but he had not yet learned to live up to the new name; he still showed the favoritism that divides families. He lined up his family and his possessions in the order of their

33:3
Gen 18:2; 42:6
33:4
Gen 45:14-15
33:5
Gen 48:9
33:8
Gen 32:14-16

his two servant wives. ²He put the servant wives and their children at the front, Leah and her children next, and Rachel and Joseph last. ³Then Jacob went on ahead. As he approached his brother, he bowed to the ground seven times before him. ⁴Then Esau ran to meet him and embraced him, threw his arms around his neck, and kissed him. And they both wept.

⁵Then Esau looked at the women and children and asked, "Who are these people with you?"

"These are the children God has graciously given to me, your servant," Jacob replied. ⁶Then the servant wives came forward with their children and bowed before him. ⁷Next came Leah with her children, and they bowed before him. Finally, Joseph and Rachel came forward and bowed before him.

⁸"And what were all the flocks and herds I met as I came?" Esau asked.

Jacob replied, "They are a gift, my lord, to ensure your friendship."

⁹"My brother, I have plenty," Esau answered. "Keep what you have for yourself."

¹⁰But Jacob insisted, "No, if I have found favor with you, please accept this gift from me. And what a relief to see your friendly smile. It is like seeing the face of God!"

¹¹Please take this gift I have brought you, for God has been very gracious to me. I have more than enough." And because Jacob insisted, Esau finally accepted the gift.

◀ Jacob's Family in Canaan (32:1-38:30). When Jacob returned to Canaan from Haran, after making a treaty with Laban at Mizpah (31:48-49), he met angels at MAHANAIM (32:1-2) and wrestled with God at PENIEL (32:22-32). After making peace with Esau (33:1-16), Jacob traveled to SUCCOTH (33:17) and then SHECHEM (33:18-20; cp. 12:6-7). After the conflict with the people of Shechem (ch 34), at God's instruction Jacob moved to BETHEL (35:1-15; cp. 12:8; 13:1-4; 28:10-22). After Jacob left Bethel, Rachel died in childbirth on the way to Ephrath (=BETHLEHEM, 35:16-20; cp. 1 Sam 10:2; Jer 31:15). Jacob continued to HEBRON (35:27), where he was reunited with his father. There he settled, and from there Joseph later went to find his brothers (37:14). Joseph's route to SHECHEM and then DOOTHAN is shown (37:14-17), as is the possible route of the Ishmaelite traders from GILEAD to EGYPT (37:25-36). ADULLAM, where Judah moved (38:1), is also shown.

and to Esau as his lord (33:8, 13-15); Esau called Jacob "my brother" (33:9). Jacob was cautiously warding off any possible retaliation by reversing the words of the oracle (25:23).

33:7 Among Jacob's sons, only Joseph is named; he was Jacob's favorite son and the recipient of the blessing.

33:10 Jacob knew that Esau's friendly greeting was God's work, secured at Peniel when he saw God face to face.

33:11 this gift I have brought you (literally my blessing): Jacob perceived Esau as a threat and tried to appease him with a gift (cp. 2 Kgs 17:3-4; 18:7, 14; 2 Chr 28:21), perhaps in a guilty attempt to undo the past. Jacob would not take no for an answer.

importance to him, with the slave wives and their children in front (to face danger first), Leah's group behind them, and Rachel and Joseph in the back, where it was safest.

33:3-13 Even though Jacob had nothing to fear, he was afraid and tried to appease his brother. He assumed the role of a servant before royalty by bowing (33:3), using an honorific title (33:8, 13), making introductions (33:6-7), and presenting gifts (33:8).

33:4 Esau's friendly greeting was an answer to prayer (32:11). God had rescued Jacob from Esau's revenge.

33:5 your servant: In talking with his brother, Jacob continued to refer to himself as Esau's servant (also 33:14)

¹²"Well," Esau said, "let's be going. I will lead the way."

¹³But Jacob replied, "You can see, my lord, that some of the children are very young, and the flocks and herds have their young, too. If they are driven too hard, even for one day, all the animals could die. ¹⁴Please, my lord, go ahead of your servant. We will follow slowly, at a pace that is comfortable for the livestock and the children. I will meet you at Seir."

¹⁵"All right," Esau said, "but at least let me assign some of my men to guide and protect you."

Jacob responded, "That's not necessary. It's enough that you've received me warmly, my lord!"

¹⁶So Esau turned around and started back to Seir that same day. ¹⁷Jacob, on the other hand, traveled on to Succoth. There he built himself a house and made shelters for his livestock. That is why the place was named Succoth (which means "shelters").

Jacob Moves to Shechem

¹⁸Later, having traveled all the way from Paddan-aram, Jacob arrived safely at the town of Shechem, in the land of Canaan. There he set up camp outside the town.

¹⁹Jacob bought the plot of land where he camped from the family of Hamor, the father of Shechem, for 100 pieces of silver. ²⁰And there he built an altar and named it El-Elohe-Israel.

The Danger of Intermarriage (34:1-31) Dinah Is Defiled

34 One day Dinah, the daughter of Jacob and Leah, went to visit some of the young women who lived in the area. ²But when the local prince, Shechem son of Hamor the Hivite, saw Dinah, he seized her and raped her. ³But then he fell in love with her, and he tried to win her affection with tender words. ⁴He said to his father, Hamor, "Get me this young girl. I want to marry her."

⁵Soon Jacob heard that Shechem had defiled his daughter, Dinah. But since his sons were out in the fields herding his livestock, he said nothing until they returned. ⁶Hamor, Shechem's father, came to discuss the matter with Jacob. ⁷Meanwhile, Jacob's sons had come in from the field as soon as they heard what had happened. They were shocked and furious that their sister had been raped. Shechem had done a disgraceful thing against Jacob's family, something that should never be done.

Intermarriage with Shechem Negotiated

⁸Hamor tried to speak with Jacob and his sons. "My son Shechem is truly in love with 33:14

Gen 32:3

33:17
Judg 8:5, 14
Ps 60:6

33:18
Gen 12:6; 25:20

33:19
Josh 24:32
John 4:5

34:1
Gen 30:21

34:2
Deut 21:14
2 Sam 13:14

34:4
Gen 21:21

34:7
2 Sam 13:12

33:12-15 Despite Esau's apparent magnanimity, Jacob was wary and cleverly avoided traveling with his brother. • I will meet you at Seir: Jacob's lie manifests his old character, living by deception rather than by faith.

33:16-17 Instead of following Esau south to Seir as promised, Jacob again deceived his brother, then headed in the opposite direction to Succoth, east of the Jordan River and north of the Jabbok.

33:18-20 These verses form an epilogue to Jacob's adventures outside the land. He returned in peace with a large family and many possessions. • Jacob, like Abraham, built an altar at Shechem (see 12:6-8) and purchased land from the family of Hamor.

33:19 100 pieces of silver: Hebrew 100 kesitahs; the value or weight of the kesitah is no longer known.

33:20 El-Elohe-Israel means "God, the God of Israel." The name of the altar commemorated Jacob's relationship with God. Jacob publicly proclaimed that God was his God, and that God had led him back to the land he would inherit.

34:1-31 Once Jacob and his family settled in the land, the Canaanite presence became a threat. This account is a stern warning to the Israelites about the possibility of their being defiled by the Canaanites. The nation of Israel was later commanded not to intermarry or make treaties with them, for they were a corrupt and corrupting people. This chapter implicitly warns against becoming familiar with the way they lived (34:1-2). It also taught Israel that in dealing with the Canaanites, they were to keep their integrity and not use the holy things of the covenant for deception and slaughter (34:13); Israel's reputation was at stake in the land (34:30). For their ruthless violence, Simeon and Levi were passed over in the birthright blessing (49:5-7).

34:1-2 As far as we know, Dinah was Jacob's only daughter (30:21). Her seemingly innocent but unguarded visit to some of the young women who lived in the area was actually naive and foolish, because the local Hivites were very corrupt, not safe or trustworthy. • Shechem . . . seized her and raped her: Shechem violated and debased Dinah, so she had no chance for a proper marriage.

34:3-4 While Shechem's intense feelings for Dinah made him willing to undergo significant hardship (34:11-12, 17-18, 24), the way he showed his "love" for her was selfish, impetuous, and in violation of customary decency (cp. Judg 14:2; see 1 Cor 13:4-7; 1 Jn 4:10). His character illustrated why Israel needed to remain separate from the Canaanites.

34:5-7 Jacob's response to this crime is surprising. When he heard that Dinah had been defiled, he said nothing about it until his sons came home. Because Jacob did not act, his sons did, though without the wisdom and integrity necessary for justice. Dinah's full brothers were shocked and furious that Shechem had done such a disgraceful thing against Jacob's family (literally a disgraceful thing in Israel; this is the first use of the name Israel to describe the family). This sexual crime was an outrage against the community of God's people and deserved punishment, but the leader of the clan did nothing.

34:8-10 Hamor proposed an alliance of intermarriage with the prospect of mutual economic benefit, but God had already promised Jacob everything, including the land (34:10; see 14:21-24). Hamor wanted to gain control of Israel's wealth (34:23); no good could come of trusting the defiling Canaanites. For some of these reasons, intermarriage with Canaanites was not allowed under the law (see Exod 23:27-33; Deut 7:1-5)—unless, of course, they came to faith (see Josh 2:1-15; 6:23-25; Matt 1:5).

34:10
Gen 33:19
34:12
Exod 22:16
34:13
Gen 27:36
34:14
Gen 17:14
34:19
Gen 29:20
34:22
Gen 34:15
34:25
Gen 49:5-7
Josh 5:8
34:28
Gen 43:18
34:30
Gen 13:7; 49:5-7
Exod 5:21
2 Sam 10:6
1 Chr 16:19
35:1
Gen 12:8; 28:19

your daughter," he said. "Please let him marry her. ⁹In fact, let's arrange other marriages, too. You give us your daughters for our sons, and we will give you our daughters for your sons. ¹⁰And you may live among us; the land is open to you! Settle here and trade with us. And feel free to buy property in the area."

¹¹Then Shechem himself spoke to Dinah's father and brothers. "Please be kind to me, and let me marry her," he begged. "I will give you whatever you ask. ¹²No matter what dowry or gift you demand, I will gladly pay it—just give me the girl as my wife."

¹³But since Shechem had defiled their sister, Dinah, Jacob's sons responded deceitfully to Shechem and his father, Hamor. ¹⁴They said to them, "We couldn't possibly allow this, because you're not circumcised. It would be a disgrace for our sister to marry a man like you! ¹⁵But here is a solution. If every man among you will be circumcised like we are, ¹⁶then we will give you our daughters, and we'll take your daughters for ourselves. We will live among you and become one people. ¹⁷But if you don't agree to be circumcised, we will take her and be on our way."

¹⁸Hamor and his son Shechem agreed to their proposal. ¹⁹Shechem wasted no time in acting on this request, for he wanted Jacob's daughter desperately. Shechem was a highly respected member of his family, ²⁰and he went with his father, Hamor, to present this proposal to the leaders at the town gate.

²¹"These men are our friends," they said. "Let's invite them to live here among us and trade freely. Look, the land is large enough to hold them. We can take their daughters as wives and let them marry ours. ²²But they will consider staying here and becoming one people with us only if all of our men are circumcised, just as they are. ²³But if we do this, all their livestock and possessions will eventually be ours. Come, let's agree to their terms and let them settle here among us."

Jacob's Sons Destroy Shechem

²⁴So all the men in the town council agreed with Hamor and Shechem, and every male in the town was circumcised. ²⁵But three days later, when their wounds were still sore, two of Jacob's sons, Simeon and Levi, who were Dinah's full brothers, took their swords and entered the town without opposition. Then they slaughtered every male there, ²⁶including Hamor and his son Shechem. They killed them with their swords, then took Dinah from Shechem's house and returned to their camp.

²⁷Meanwhile, the rest of Jacob's sons arrived. Finding the men slaughtered, they plundered the town because their sister had been defiled there. ²⁸They seized all the flocks and herds and donkeys—everything they could lay their hands on, both inside the town and outside in the fields. ²⁹They looted all their wealth and plundered their houses. They also took all their little children and wives and led them away as captives.

³⁰Afterward Jacob said to Simeon and Levi, "You have ruined me! You've made me stink among all the people of this land—among all the Canaanites and Perizzites. We are so few that they will join forces and crush us. I will be ruined, and my entire household will be wiped out!"

³¹"But why should we let him treat our sister like a prostitute?" they retorted angrily.

Jacob's Return to Bethel (35:1-15)

35 Then God said to Jacob, "Get ready and move to Bethel and settle there. Build an altar there to the God who appeared to you when you fled from your brother, Esau."

34:13-17 Dinah's brothers responded to the proposal without waiting for Jacob to respond, and they acted deceitfully. They may not have thought that Shechem and his people would ever agree to the rite of circumcision, but they knew what they would do if the Canaanites accepted (34:25).

34:18-24 The Canaanites accepted the stipulation and every male in the town was circumcised. This was not just to allow Shechem to marry Dinah, but to give them the opportunity to acquire everything that Jacob possessed (34:23).

34:25-29 When Simeon and Levi used circumcision to deceive and slaughter the Canaanites, they showed disdain for the sign of the covenant. Their slaughter of all the males and their plunder of the city was not justice, but brutal and excessive revenge. In their moral outrage and desire to right the wrong, they should have demanded compensation (see Exod 22:16-17; Deut 22:28-29). Instead, their passionate act of rage cost them their birthright blessing (49:5-7).

34:30 Jacob responded again out of fear of what would happen to him, but God caused the people of this land to fear him instead (35:5).

35:1-29 This chapter highlights God's promises, Jacob's vow, and the transition to Jacob's sons' carrying on the covenant. Deborah, Rachel, and Isaac all died, marking the end of an era and of the account of Isaac's family (25:19-35:29). • Idols were removed (35:1-4) and pure worship was established (35:6-7). During this transition, the faith had to be revitalized so that the covenant could be carried forward by Jacob's sons.

35:1-7 Jacob returned to Bethel, about fifteen miles south of Shechem, to complete the vows he had made at Bethel (28:20-22).

²So Jacob told everyone in his household, "Get rid of all your pagan idols, purify yourselves, and put on clean clothing. ³We are now going to Bethel, where I will build an altar to the God who answered my prayers when I was in distress. He has been with me wherever I have gone."

⁴So they gave Jacob all their pagan idols and earrings, and he buried them under the great tree near Shechem. ⁵As they set out, a terror from God spread over the people in all the towns of that area, so no one attacked Jacob's family.

⁶Eventually, Jacob and his household arrived at Luz (also called Bethel) in Canaan. ⁷Jacob built an altar there and named the place El-bethel (which means "God of Bethel"), because God had appeared to him there when he was fleeing from his brother, Esau.

⁸Soon after this, Rebekah's old nurse, Deborah, died. She was buried beneath the oak tree in the valley below Bethel. Ever since, the tree has been called Allon-bacuth (which means "oak of weeping").

⁹Now that Jacob had returned from Paddan-aram, God appeared to him again at Bethel. God blessed him, ¹⁰saying, "Your name is Jacob, but you will not be called Jacob any longer. From now on your name will be Israel." So God renamed him Israel.

¹¹Then God said, "I am El-Shaddai—"God Almighty." Be fruitful and multiply. You will become a great nation, even ^hmany nations. Kings will be among your descendants! ¹²And I will give you the land I once gave to Abraham and Isaac. Yes, I will give it to you and your ⁱdescendants after you." ¹³Then God went up from the place where he had spoken to Jacob.

¹⁴Jacob set up a stone pillar to mark the place where God had spoken to him. Then he poured wine over it as an offering to God and anointed the pillar with olive oil. ¹⁵And Jacob named the place Bethel (which means "house of God"), because God had spoken to him there.

Jacob Moves to Mamre (35:16-29) Rachel Dies in Childbirth

¹⁶Leaving Bethel, Jacob and his clan moved on toward Ephrath. But Rachel went into labor while they were still some distance away. Her labor pains were intense. ¹⁷After a very hard delivery, the midwife finally exclaimed, "Don't be afraid—you have another son!" ¹⁸Rachel was about to die, but with her last breath she named the baby Benoni (which means "son of my sorrow"). The baby's father, however, called him Benjamin (which means "son of my right hand"). ¹⁹So Rachel died and was buried on the way to Ephrath (that is, Bethlehem). ²⁰Jacob set up a stone monument over Rachel's grave, and it can be seen there to this day.

Reuben's Transgression

²¹Then Jacob traveled on and camped beyond Migdal-eder. ²²While he was living there, Reuben had intercourse with Bilhah, his father's concubine, and Jacob soon heard about it.

35:2
Gen 31:19

35:3
Gen 28:15-22

35:4
Exod 32:3
Judg 8:24
Hos 2:13

35:5
Exod 15:16

35:6
Gen 28:19

35:7
Gen 28:19

35:8
Gen 24:59

35:9
Gen 28:13

35:10
Gen 32:28

35:11
Gen 12:2; 17:1, 6
Shaddai (7706)
ⁱ Gen 48:3
*h*qahal (6951)
ⁱ Deut 23:2

35:12
Gen 13:15; 28:13
zera' (2233)
ⁱ Gen 48:4

35:13
Judg 6:21; 13:20

35:14
Gen 28:18-19

35:16
Ruth 4:11

35:17
Gen 30:22-24

35:18
Gen 49:27

35:19
Gen 48:7

35:22
Gen 49:4
Lev 18:8
1 Chr 5:1

35:2-4 Jacob had vowed wholehearted devotion to the Lord (28:20-22); establishing this required that his family remove all pagan idols and cease their devotion to other gods. God permits no rivals; only the Lord was to be their God (cp. Josh 5:1-9).

35:3 He has been with me wherever I have gone: God had fulfilled his promises (28:15; 31:3), so Jacob must fulfill his vow.

35:5 a terror from God: People had heard about the massacre of Shechem (34:25-30).

35:6-7 Jacob built an altar at Bethel as God had instructed (35:1; cp. 12:8).

35:9-15 At Bethel, God confirmed the promise he had made there earlier; he reiterated Jacob's change of name from Jacob to Israel as proof that the blessing had been given.

35:10 Jacob's name change is reiterated and confirmed (cp. 41:32). • Jacob sounds like the Hebrew words for "heel" and "deceiver." Israel means "God fights."

35:11-12 God's reference to himself as God Almighty assured Jacob that his promise could and would be fulfilled. At Bethel, God had promised that Jacob would have descendants in the land (cp. 28:13-14); here he added that his descendants would include kings (see 17:6).

35:14-15 In fulfilling his vow (28:20-22), Jacob's actions were almost identical to his actions in the earlier experience at Bethel (cp. 28:16-19).

35:16-20 Benjamin's birth completed the family, but it was a sorrowful event because Rachel died in childbirth (see note on 31:32).

35:18 Rachel found the name son of my sorrow appropriate to the situation, but Jacob did not want such a sad name for his son, so he changed it to son of my right hand. Jacob thus turned the day of sorrow into a day of hope that gave his son the prospect of success.

35:19 Jacob did not carry Rachel's body to the family tomb at Machpelah (23:1-20; 25:9; 49:30; 50:13), but buried her in the territory that would be Benjamin's (see Josh 18:21-28; 1 Sam 10:2).

35:20 it can be seen there to this day: This seems to be a later editorial comment by someone who was living in the land after the conquest and giving directions to the tomb (see Introduction to Genesis: "Composition," p. 16).

35:21 Jacob: Hebrew Israel; also in 35:22a. The names "Jacob" and "Israel" are often interchanged throughout the Old Testament, referring sometimes to the individual patriarch and sometimes to the nation.

35:22 Reuben had intercourse with Bilhah, thus defiling his father's marriage bed. Perhaps Reuben, as the oldest son, was trying to replace his father as head of the clan by a pagan procedure (cp. 2 Sam 16:15-22), but by this action he lost his birthright (see 49:3-4). • Jacob soon heard about it, but he again delayed his response (see 49:3-4; cp. 34:5).

35:23-26
//1 Chr 2:1-2

35:23
Gen 29:31-35;
30:18-20

35:24
Gen 30:24

35:25
Gen 30:5-8

35:26
Gen 30:10-13

35:27
Gen 13:18; 23:2

35:28
Gen 25:7-8, 20

36:1
Gen 25:30

36:2
Gen 26:34
1 Chr 1:40

36:3
Gen 25:13

The Twelve Sons of Jacob

These are the names of the twelve sons of Jacob:

²³The sons of Leah were Reuben (Jacob's oldest son), Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, and Zebulun.

²⁴The sons of Rachel were Joseph and Benjamin.

²⁵The sons of Bilhah, Rachel's servant, were Dan and Naphtali.

²⁶The sons of Zilpah, Leah's servant, were Gad and Asher.

These are the names of the sons who were born to Jacob at Paddan-aram.

Jacob Returns to Isaac; Isaac's Death

²⁷So Jacob returned to his father, Isaac, in Mamre, which is near Kiriath-arba (now called Hebron), where Abraham and Isaac had both lived as foreigners. ²⁸Isaac lived for 180 years. ²⁹Then he breathed his last and died at a ripe old age, joining his ancestors in death. And his sons, Esau and Jacob, buried him.

10. THE ACCOUNT OF ESAU'S DESCENDANTS (36:1-37:1)

Esau's Life

36 This is the account of the descendants of Esau (also known as Edom).

²Esau married two young women from Canaan: Adah, the daughter of Elon the Hittite; and Oholibamah, the daughter of Anah and granddaughter of Zibeon the Hivite. ³He also married his cousin Basemath, who was the daughter of Ishmael and the Altars (35:1-15)

Gen 8:20-21; 12:7-8;
22:9-14; 26:25;
33:20
Exod 20:24-26; 24:4-5;
27:1-8
Josh 22:10-34
1 Kgs 18:20-40
2 Kgs 23:10-20
Hos 8:11
Matt 5:23-24
Heb 13:10-14
Rev 6:9; 8:3-5

The first recorded altar was built by Noah (8:20-21), though Cain and Abel gave the first offerings (4:3-4). The patriarchs built numerous altars (see 8:20-21; 12:7-8; 13:4, 18; 22:9; 26:25; 33:20; 35:1, 14-15). These altars designated sacred sites of divine revelation and personal land claims in the Promised Land, both north (in Shechem) and south (in Beersheba). Altars were made of stone, earth, brick, or metal and wood. Their table-like form allowed smoke to rise unhindered. Intended as memorials or places for sacrifice, an altar was the most common image of worship in the OT and in the wider ancient world. The typical altar was on a raised platform accessed by a ramp or stairway; this elevated the sacrificial worship toward heaven. The four horns on the corners of the altar marked off the sacred space of meeting between divine and human realms. Through sacrifice and burning, the offering was transferred from the visible to the invisible world. Altars were both religious monuments and places of refuge where fugitives could find asylum (see Exod 21:14).

Jesus unites the various aspects of the altar imagery in himself as high priest, sacrificial lamb, and altar (see Heb 4:14-15; 7:24, 27; 9:14, 26; 10:10; 13:10, 12). Jesus anticipated his own sacrifice in his reference to the blood of martyrs (see Matt 23:35; Luke 11:51). The enthroned Lamb in Revelation removes the need for temple and altar (Rev 21:22). The cross is the final altar; Jesus' death is the new covenant memorial and his body is the place of sanctuary (Heb 13:10).

◀ Altars of the Patriarchs (35:1-15). Several of the patriarchs built altars, including Noah (8:20), Abraham (12:7, 8; 13:18; 22:9), Isaac (26:25), and Jacob (33:20; 35:7). These altars were probably made of piles of uncut stone, as God later instructed Israel (Exod 20:25; Deut 27:5-6; cp. Josh 8:30-31).

35:23-26 The twelve sons became leaders of the twelve tribes of Israel. Their names are the firstfruits of the nation.

35:27-29 Esau and Jacob (listed here in ordinary birth order) came together—probably for the first time since they had reconciled (33:16-17)—to bury Isaac in Hebron (see 13:18; 23:1-2, 17-19).

36:1-43 The book turns to the accounts of Isaac's sons, concluding the unchosen line of Esau (ch 36) before proceeding with the chosen line of Jacob (ch 37).

36:1-8 The account of Esau stresses two points. First, Esau's sons were born . . . in the land of Canaan (36:5) before he moved to Seir (36:8). Jacob's children, by contrast, were almost all born outside the land but then moved into it. God was giving the land to Jacob and his descendants and so made room for them by providing for Esau in a different place. Second, Esau's other name was Edom. Israel often struggled with the Edomites (see 1 Sam 21:7; 22:9-22; Obad 1:1-21; see also "Herod the Great" at Matt 2:1-20, p. 1578).

36:2-3 Esau's three wives—Adah, Oholibamah, and Basemath—are listed. Two of these wives' names are different from those listed earlier (26:34; 28:9). Perhaps the others died, or Esau favored these three among a total of six, or these were just different names for the same three. There is not enough information to decide.

36:2 Oholibamah was a great-granddaughter of Seir the Horite, whose descendants lived in Edom when Esau went to live there (36:20, 25).

sister of Nebaioth. ⁴Adah gave birth to a son named Eliphaz for Esau. Basemath gave birth to a son named Reuel. ⁵Oholibamah gave birth to sons named Jeush, Jalam, and Korah. All these sons were born to Esau in the land of Canaan.

⁶Esau took his wives, his children, and his entire household, along with his livestock and cattle—all the wealth he had acquired in the land of Canaan—and moved away from his brother, Jacob. ⁷There was not enough land to support them both because of all the livestock and possessions they had acquired. ⁸So Esau (also known as Edom) settled in the hill country of Seir.

Esau's Descendants

⁹This is the account of Esau's descendants, the Edomites, who lived in the hill country of Seir.

¹⁰These are the names of Esau's sons: Eliphaz, the son of Esau's wife Adah; and Reuel, the son of Esau's wife Basemath.

¹¹The descendants of Eliphaz were Teman, Omar, Zepho, Gatam, and Kenaz.

¹²Timna, the concubine of Esau's son Eliphaz, gave birth to a son named Amalek. These are the descendants of Esau's wife Adah.

¹³The descendants of Reuel were Nahath, Zerah, Shammah, and Mizzah. These are the descendants of Esau's wife Basemath.

¹⁴Esau also had sons through Oholibamah, the daughter of Anah and granddaughter of Zibeon. Their names were Jeush, Jalam, and Korah.

¹⁵These are the descendants of Esau who became the leaders of various clans:

The descendants of Esau's oldest son, Eliphaz, became the leaders of the clans of Teman, Omar, Zepho, Kenaz, ¹⁶Korah, Gatam, and Amalek. These are the clan leaders in the land of Edom who descended from Eliphaz. All these were descendants of Esau's wife Adah.

¹⁷The descendants of Esau's son Reuel became the leaders of the clans of Nahath, Zerah, Shammah, and Mizzah. These are the clan leaders in the land of Edom who descended from Reuel. All these were descendants of Esau's wife Basemath.

¹⁸The descendants of Esau and his wife Oholibamah became the leaders of the clans of Jeush, Jalam, and Korah. These are the clan leaders who descended from Esau's wife Oholibamah, the daughter of Anah.

¹⁹These are the clans descended from Esau (also known as Edom), identified by their clan leaders.

Original Peoples of Edom

²⁰These are the names of the tribes that descended from Seir the Horite. They lived in the land of Edom: Lotan, Shobal, Zibeon, Anah, ²¹Dishon, Ezer, and Dishan. These were the Horite clan leaders, the descendants of Seir, who lived in the land of Edom.

²²The descendants of Lotan were Hori and Hemam. Lotan's sister was named Timna.

²³The descendants of Shobal were Alvan, Manahath, Ebal, Shepho, and Onam.

²⁴The descendants of Zibeon were Aiah and Anah. (This is the Anah who discovered the hot springs in the wilderness while he was grazing his father's donkeys.)

²⁵The descendants of Anah were his son, Dishon, and his daughter, Oholibamah.

²⁶The descendants of Dishon were Hemdan, Eshban, Ithran, and Keran.

²⁷The descendants of Ezer were Bilhan, Zaavan, and Akan.

²⁸The descendants of Dishan were Uz and Aran.

²⁹So these were the leaders of the Horite clans: Lotan, Shobal, Zibeon, Anah, ³⁰Dishon, Ezer, and Dishan. The Horite clans are named after their clan leaders, who lived in the land of Seir.

Rulers of Edom

³¹These are the kings who ruled in the land of Edom before any king ruled over the Israelites:

36:4
1 Chr 1:35

36:5
Gen 36:18

36:7
Gen 13:6

36:8
Gen 14:6, 25:30

36:9
Gen 36:43

36:10-14
//1 Chr 1:35-37

36:19
1 Chr 1:35

36:20-28
//1 Chr 1:38-42

36:20
Gen 14:6
Deut 2:12, 22

36:25
Gen 36:2, 5, 14, 18
1 Chr 1:41

36:27
1 Chr 1:38, 42

36:29-30
Gen 36:20

36:31-43
//1 Chr 1:43-54

36:7-8 Esau, like Lot, left for the eastern land (cp. 13:5-6).

36:9-43 This passage begins a second account of Esau's descendants (36:1); it traces the family to subsequent generations and alliances.

36:9-14 The descendants of Esau's five sons are named.

36:15-19 Thirteen of Esau's descendants had positions as leaders of various clans. A picture begins to emerge of Esau as a grand overlord of tribes (cp. 36:40-43).

36:20-30 Seir the Horite was an early inhabitant of the land; his descendants populated the region until Esau moved in and displaced them (Deut 2:12).

36:26 Hebrew Dishan, a variant spelling of Dishon; cp. 36:21, 28.

36:31-39 It is not clear how these kings of Edom were related to Esau. The clans in Edom followed the same pattern of organization as the later tribes of Israel. They eventually chose a king from one of their tribes and carried on a line of succession from him.

36:31 before any king ruled over the Israelites (Or before an Israelite king ruled over them): This editorial note was

37:1
Gen 17:8; 28:4

37:2
Gen 35:22-26; 41:46

37:3
Gen 37:23, 32; 44:20

37:4
Gen 27:41

37:5
Gen 28:12
Num 12:6
Dan 2:1

- ³²Bela son of Beor, who ruled in Edom from his city of Dinhabah.
- ³³When Bela died, Jobab son of Zerah from Bozrah became king in his place.
- ³⁴When Jobab died, Husham from the land of the Temanites became king in his place.
- ³⁵When Husham died, Hadad son of Bedad became king in his place and ruled from the city of Avith. He was the one who defeated the Midianites in the land of Moab.
- ³⁶When Hadad died, Samlah from the city of Masrekah became king in his place.
- ³⁷When Samlah died, Shaul from the city of Rehoboth-on-the-River became king in his place.
- ³⁸When Shaul died, Baal-hanan son of Acbor became king in his place.
- ³⁹When Baal-hanan son of Acbor died, Hadad became king in his place and ruled from the city of Pau. His wife was Mehetabel, the daughter of Matred and granddaughter of Me-zahab.
- ⁴⁰These are the names of the leaders of the clans descended from Esau, who lived in the places named for them: Timna, Alvah, Jetheth, ⁴¹Oholibamah, Elah, Pinon, ⁴²Kenaz, Teman, Mibzar, ⁴³Magdiel, and Iram. These are the leaders of the clans of Edom, listed according to their settlements in the land they occupied. They all descended from Esau, the ancestor of the Edomites.

Recapitulation and Contrast with Jacob

37 So Jacob settled again in the land of Canaan, where his father had lived as a foreigner.

11. THE ACCOUNT OF JACOB'S DESCENDANTS (37:2–50:26)

Joseph's Dreams of Prominence (37:2-11)

²This is the account of Jacob and his family. When Joseph was seventeen years old, he often tended his father's flocks. He worked for his half brothers, the sons of his father's wives Bilhah and Zilpah. But Joseph reported to his father some of the bad things his brothers were doing.

³Jacob loved Joseph more than any of his other children because Joseph had been born to him in his old age. So one day Jacob had a special gift made for Joseph—a beautiful robe. ⁴But his brothers hated Joseph because their father loved him more than the rest of them. They couldn't say a kind word to him.

⁵One night Joseph had a dream, and when he told his brothers about it, they hated him more than ever. ⁶"Listen to this dream," he probably inserted into the text during Israel's monarchy (see note on 35:20).

36:39 Hadad: As in some Hebrew manuscripts, Samaritan Pentateuch, and Syriac version (see also 1 Chr 1:50); most Hebrew manuscripts read Hadar.

36:40-43 These chiefs descended from Esau, who was a great and powerful overlord. As father of the Edomites, he ruled over clans and regions, with eleven chiefs descended from him. By separating from Jacob, Esau was beginning to shake Jacob's yoke from his neck (27:39-40).

37:1 In ch 36, Esau was well on his way to power and prosperity; by contrast, Jacob, still waiting for the promise, settled in the land as a foreigner, like his father. He was still a temporary resident with a single family. Worldly greatness often comes more swiftly than spiritual greatness. Waiting for the promised spiritual blessing while others prosper is a test of patience, faith, and perseverance.

37:2–50:26 The story of Joseph and his brothers comprises a separate unit in Genesis, distinct in tone and emphasis from the preceding material. It traces one continuous series of episodes with Joseph at their center. • Cycles of repeated motifs structure the entire Joseph account. The themes are closely related to those found in wisdom books such as Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, and Daniel. Wisdom literature assures the faithful that God brings good out of evil and joy out of pain—if not in this life, then certainly in the life to come. Though the wicked may prosper for a time, the righteous should hold fast to their integrity because a higher, more enduring principle of life is realized through obedience to God. Everyone who aspires to leadership in God's plan should observe how wisdom led to Joseph's success. Christ Jesus embodied the life of wisdom portrayed here as no one else could, for he is the wisdom of God. • Judah is also an important character in the story. He began as irresponsible and mean-spirited as his brothers; but he truly repented, put his life on the line to ransom a child for his father, and received a very important inheritance.

37:2 The account of Jacob and his family tells of Joseph and his brothers. Jacob is still prominent, but the focus is on Joseph, who is introduced as an obedient seventeen-year-old son. • Joseph reported . . . the bad things his brothers were doing: Bringing a bad report has never been popular, but it was the right thing to do and shows that Joseph was faithful from the beginning. As the story progresses, we see more of his brothers' wickedness displayed until, like Cain, they tried to eliminate the brother who pleased God.

37:3 Jacob: Hebrew Israel; also in 37:13. See note on 35:21. • Jacob loved Joseph more because Joseph had been born to him in his old age and because he was the first son of his favorite wife, Rachel. • A beautiful robe (traditionally rendered a coat of many colors; the exact meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain): Jacob gave Joseph this robe to demonstrate that he intended to grant him the largest portion of the inheritance.

37:4 Jacob's favoritism toward Joseph inflamed his other sons' hatred of their brother. Just as Isaac's and Rebekah's favoritism had separated their family, Jacob's favoritism would separate him from his son Joseph.

37:5-11 God confirmed his choice of this faithful son as the eventual leader of the whole family through two symbolic dreams. This is the first of three dream sequences in chs 37–50 (see 40:1–41:36; cp. 15:13; 20:3; 28:12-15; 31:24). Dreams carried weight as a form of divine communication, especially if the dream revelation was given twice. Everyone would have taken Joseph's dreams seriously.

said. ⁷"We were out in the field, tying up bundles of grain. Suddenly my bundle stood up, and your bundles all gathered around and bowed low before mine!"

⁸His brothers responded, "So you think you will be our king, do you? Do you actually think you will reign over us?" And they hated him all the more because of his dreams and the way he talked about them.

⁹Soon Joseph had another dream, and again he told his brothers about it. "Listen, I have had another dream," he said. "The sun, moon, and eleven stars bowed low before me!"

¹⁰This time he told the dream to his father as well as to his brothers, but his father scolded him. "What kind of dream is that?" he asked. "Will your mother and I and your brothers actually come and bow to the ground before you?" ¹¹But while his brothers were jealous of Joseph, his father wondered what the dreams meant.

Joseph Sold into Slavery in Egypt (37:12-36)

¹²Soon after this, Joseph's brothers went to pasture their father's flocks at Shechem. ¹³When they had been gone for some time, Jacob said to Joseph, "Your brothers are pasturing the sheep at Shechem. Get ready, and I will send you to them."

"I'm ready to go," Joseph replied.

¹⁴"Go and see how your brothers and the flocks are getting along," Jacob said. "Then come back and bring me a report." So Jacob sent him on his way, and Joseph traveled to Shechem from their home in the valley of Hebron.

¹⁵When he arrived there, a man from the area noticed him wandering around the countryside. "What are you looking for?" he asked.

¹⁶"I'm looking for my brothers," Joseph replied. "Do you know where they are pasturing their sheep?"

¹⁷"Yes," the man told him. "They have moved on from here, but I heard them say, 'Let's go on to Dothan.'" So Joseph followed his brothers to Dothan and found them there.

¹⁸When Joseph's brothers saw him coming, they recognized him in the distance. As he approached, they made plans to kill him. ¹⁹"Here comes the dreamer!" they said. ²⁰"Come on, let's kill him and throw him into one of these cisterns. We can tell our father, 'A wild animal has eaten him.' Then we'll see what becomes of his dreams!"

²¹But when Reuben heard of their scheme, he came to Joseph's rescue. "Let's not kill him," he said. ²²"Why should we shed any blood? Let's just throw him into this empty cistern here in the wilderness. Then he'll die without our laying a hand on him." Reuben was secretly planning to rescue Joseph and return him to his father.

²³So when Joseph arrived, his brothers ripped off the beautiful robe he was wearing. ²⁴Then they grabbed him and threw him into the cistern. Now the cistern was empty; there was no water in it. ²⁵Then,

37:7
Gen 42:6, 9; 43:26
37:8
Deut 33:16
37:10
Gen 27:29
37:11
Luke 2:19, 51
Acts 7:9
iqana' (7065)
Exod 20:5
37:13
Gen 33:19
37:14
Gen 35:27
37:17
2 Kgs 6:13
37:20
Gen 37:33
37:21
Gen 42:22
37:22
Gen 37:29
37:23
Gen 37:3
37:24
Jer 38:6; 41:7
37:25
Gen 31:21; 37:28
Jer 8:22; 46:11

37:7 The bundles of grain hint at how Joseph's authority over his family would be achieved (see 42:1-3).

37:8 The brothers' angry response to the revelation, in contrast to Joseph's honesty and faithfulness, clearly demonstrates why they were not chosen for leadership: Leaders in God's plan cannot be consumed with jealousy and hatred. In their anger, they missed an important part of the revelation—they too would be rulers (stars, 37:9) who would productively bind their sheaves (37:7).

37:9 The sun, moon, and eleven stars: Astrological symbols often represent rulers. The dream predicted Joseph's elevation to a position of authority over the whole clan of Israel.

37:10 your mother and I: Joseph's birth mother, Rachel, was dead (35:19). Leah was now the matriarch of the clan.

37:11 His brothers hated Joseph because they were jealous of him. Rather than recognize the hand of God, the brothers tried to prevent the dream from being fulfilled (37:18-36). These actions show that they were not fit to lead the household of faith. God's sovereign choice of a leader, especially if the one chosen is young or appears unqualified, often brings out the true colors of those who have to submit to that leader's authority. The brothers represent people throughout history who have been driven by envy and malice because they were not committed to doing the Lord's will. • Jacob wondered what the dreams meant because he knew that God would choose the next leader, that God could choose the younger son to rule over the older sons, and that God could reveal all this in dreams.

37:12-13 It was foolish for Jacob to send Joseph on such a mission, knowing how the brothers felt about him. Joseph obeyed his father by going to find his brothers despite their hatred for him.

37:14-17 The brothers ranged far and wide. Shechem was about fifty miles from Hebron, and Dothan another fifteen miles beyond Shechem.

37:18-20 When Joseph's brothers saw him coming, they devised a plot to kill . . . the dreamer and end his dreams. Earlier, they had unjustly killed the men of Shechem to avenge their sister (ch 34); in the region of Shechem, they now plotted unjustly to kill their own brother out of envy.

37:21-24 Reuben was perhaps trying to get back into his father's good graces (35:22) by exercising the leadership of the firstborn (cp. 42:22). Reuben succeeded in saving Joseph's life, but he failed to earn his father's favor (37:29-30).

37:23 The recurring motif of changed clothes signifies changes in status, position, and authority (see 37:3, 23; 38:14, 19; 39:15-18; 41:14, 42).

37:25-28 The Ishmaelite traders were descendants of the slave child who was cast out for mocking Isaac. Now they would enslave Joseph. When he was sold for twenty pieces of silver and carried to Egypt, he was at least preserved alive.

37:28
Gen 39:1; 45:4-5
Lev 27:5
Judg 8:22-24
Acts 7:9

37:29
Gen 37:34; 44:13
Num 14:6

37:30
Gen 42:13, 36

37:32
Luke 15:22

37:33
Gen 37:20; 44:28

37:34
Gen 37:29
Kabal (0056)
• Exod 33:4

37:35
Gen 44:29
2 Sam 12:17
Ps 77:2
• She'ol (7585)
• Num 16:30

37:36
Gen 39:1; 40:3

38:1
Josh 15:35
1 Sam 22:1

38:2
Gen 24:3; 34:2; 38:12

38:3
Gen 46:12
Num 26:19

38:6
Matt 1:3

38:7
Gen 6:5; 13:13; 19:13;
38:10
1 Chr 2:3

38:8
Num 36:8
Deut 25:5-10
*Matt 22:24
*Mark 12:19

just as they were sitting down to eat, they looked up and saw a caravan of camels in the distance coming toward them. It was a group of Ishmaelite traders taking a load of gum, balm, and aromatic resin from Gilead down to Egypt.

²⁶Judah said to his brothers, "What will we gain by killing our brother? We'd have to cover up the crime. ²⁷Instead of hurting him, let's sell him to those Ishmaelite traders. After all, he is our brother—our own flesh and blood!" And his brothers agreed. ²⁸So when the Ishmaelites, who were Midianite traders, came by, Joseph's brothers pulled him out of the cistern and sold him to them for twenty pieces of silver. And the traders took him to Egypt.

²⁹Some time later, Reuben returned to get Joseph out of the cistern. When he discovered that Joseph was missing, he tore his clothes in grief. ³⁰Then he went back to his brothers and lamented, "The boy is gone! What will I do now?"

³¹Then the brothers killed a young goat and dipped Joseph's robe in its blood. ³²They sent the beautiful robe to their father with this message: "Look at what we found. Doesn't this robe belong to your son?"

³³Their father recognized it immediately. "Yes," he said, "it is my son's robe. A wild animal must have eaten him. Joseph has clearly been torn to pieces!" ³⁴Then Jacob tore his clothes and dressed himself in burlap. He ³⁵mourned deeply for his son for a long time. His family all tried to comfort him, but he refused to be comforted. "I will go to my ^agrave mourning for my son," he would say, and then he would weep.

³⁶Meanwhile, the Midianite traders arrived in Egypt, where they sold Joseph to Potiphar, an officer of Pharaoh, the king of Egypt. Potiphar was captain of the palace guard.

Judah, Tamar, and the Birth of Judah's Offspring (38:1-30)

38 About this time, Judah left home and moved to Adullam, where he stayed with a man named Hirah. ²There he saw a Canaanite woman, the daughter of Shua, and he married her. When he slept with her, ³she became pregnant and gave birth to a son, and he named the boy Er. ⁴Then she became pregnant again and gave birth to another son, and she named him Onan. ⁵And when she gave birth to a third son, she named him Shelah. At the time of Shelah's birth, they were living at Kezib.

⁶In the course of time, Judah arranged for his firstborn son, Er, to marry a young woman named Tamar. ⁷But Er was a wicked man in the LORD's sight, so the LORD took his life. ⁸Then Judah said to Er's brother Onan, "Go and marry Tamar, as our law requires of the brother of a man who has died. You must produce an heir for your brother."

37:26 Judah began to exercise leadership that he would continue to develop as events unfolded (see 43:8-10). • cover up the crime: Literally cover his blood.

37:28 the Ishmaelites, who were Midianite traders (literally the Midianite traders): Ishmaelites were descendants of Abraham through Hagar (16:5), while Midianites were descendants of Abraham through Keturah (25:1-2). The term Ishmaelite may have described bedouin tribes generally. The Midianites might also have been traveling with a separate caravan of Ishmaelite traders (37:27). • Twenty pieces: Hebrew 20 [shekels], about 8 ounces or 228 grams in weight. • Kidnapping (see 40:15) was a capital offense (see Exod 21:16).

37:29-30 When Reuben returned, he tore his clothes in grief. His attempt to restore his relationship with his father by saving Joseph had gone awry.

37:31-35 The old family propensity for deception seized the brothers' imagination. Jacob had killed a young goat to deceive Isaac (27:5-17); now Jacob's sons deceived him with a goat (see note on 30:34-36).

37:32 your son: In their cold hatred, the brothers did not refer to Joseph by name or acknowledge him as their brother (see 21:10).

37:33 recognized: Cp. 27:23.

37:34-35 Jacob tore his clothes and dressed himself in burlap: These were signs of great distress and mourning (see 44:13; Job 1:20; 16:15). Jacob was devastated and refused to be comforted. The treachery thus affected everyone in his family. • go to my grave: Hebrew go down to Sheol.

37:36 the Midianite traders: As in the Greek version; Hebrew reads the Med- anites. The relationship between the Midianites and Medanites is unclear; cp. 37:28. See also 25:2. • sold Joseph to Potiphar: Joseph found himself in a place of service that seemed congruent with his rise to authority, yet he still faced more testing.

38:1-30 The story of Judah and Tamar is a carefully placed interlude; it reports what was happening in the family of Judah, who would later rise to prominence, and it shows the beginnings of assimilation with the people of the land to help explain why God sent the family to Egypt (chs 39–47). The Egyptians were strict separatists (43:32); the Israelites would retain their unique identity better in Egypt than in Canaan.

38:7-10 In this story, the LORD is mentioned as the sovereign judge who took the lives of Judah's evil sons.

38:7 That Er was a wicked man is not surprising, since his mother was a Canaanite and his father a wayward Israelite.

38:8 as our law requires. . . . You must produce an heir for your brother: The custom that informs this episode is the law for levirate marriage (Latin levir, "husband's brother"). By this custom, which was later incorporated into God's law for Israel (Deut 25:5-10), if a man died childless, his brother or nearest relative would marry his widow to produce a child who would carry on the family name of the deceased and inherit his property. Apparently, the near kinsman had a right to refuse, but he would be disgraced in the family for refusing to perpetuate his brother's name.

⁹But Onan was not willing to have a child who would not be his own heir. So whenever he had intercourse with his brother's wife, he spilled the semen on the ground. This prevented her from having a child who would belong to his brother. ¹⁰But the LORD considered it evil for Onan to deny a child to his dead brother. So the LORD took Onan's life, too.

¹¹Then Judah said to Tamar, his daughter-in-law, "Go back to your parents' home and remain a widow until my son Shelah is old enough to marry you." (But Judah didn't really intend to do this because he was afraid Shelah would also die, like his two brothers.) So Tamar went back to live in her father's home.

¹²Some years later Judah's wife died. After the time of mourning was over, Judah and his friend Hirah the Adullamite went up to Timnah to supervise the shearing of his sheep. ¹³Someone told Tamar, "Look, your father-in-law is going up to Timnah to shear his sheep."

¹⁴Tamar was aware that Shelah had grown up, but no arrangements had been made for her to come and marry him. So she changed out of her widow's clothing and covered herself with a veil to disguise herself. Then she sat beside the road at the entrance to the village of Enaim, which is on the road to Timnah. ¹⁵Judah noticed her and thought she was a prostitute, since she had covered her face. ¹⁶So he stopped and propositioned her. "Let me have sex with you," he said, not realizing that she was his own daughter-in-law.

"How much will you pay to have sex with me?" Tamar asked.

¹⁷"I'll send you a young goat from my flock," Judah promised.

"But what will you give me to guarantee that you will send the goat?" she asked.

¹⁸"What kind of guarantee do you want?" he replied.

She answered, "Leave me your identification seal and its cord and the walking stick you are carrying." So Judah gave them to her. Then he had intercourse with her, and she became pregnant. ¹⁹Afterward she went back home, took off her veil, and put on her widow's clothing as usual.

²⁰Later Judah asked his friend Hirah the Adullamite to take the young goat to the woman and to pick up the things he had given her as his guarantee. But Hirah couldn't find her. ²¹So he asked the men who lived there, "Where can I find the shrine prostitute who was sitting beside the road at the entrance to Enaim?"

"We've never had a shrine prostitute here," they replied.

²²So Hirah returned to Judah and told him, "I couldn't find her anywhere, and the men of the village claim they've never had a shrine prostitute there."

²³"Then let her keep the things I gave her," Judah said. "I sent the young goat as we agreed, but you couldn't find her. We'd be the laughingstock of the village if we went back again to look for her."

²⁴About three months later, Judah was told, "Tamar, your daughter-in-law, has acted like a prostitute. And now, because of this, she's pregnant."

"Bring her out, and let her be burned!" Judah demanded.

²⁵But as they were taking her out to kill her, she sent this message to her father-in-law: "The man who owns these things made me pregnant. Look closely. Whose seal and cord and walking stick are these?"

²⁶Judah recognized them immediately and said, "She is more righteous than I am, because I didn't arrange for her to marry

38:11
Ruth 1:13

38:12
Gen 31:19
Josh 15:10, 57

38:16
Lev 18:15
2 Sam 13:11

38:17
Gen 38:20

38:18
Gen 41:42

38:24
Lev 20:10; 21:9

38:26
1 Sam 24:17

38:9-10 Onan married Tamar, but was not willing to provide an heir for his brother. He would have sex with Tamar but not fulfill his responsibility to his dead brother (38:8).

38:11 Judah is now presented as the model for his sons' behavior—he, too, was unfaithful to his levirate responsibility to Tamar as next kinsman (see note on 38:8). Judah and his sons were far too Canaanite in their ways (see note on 38:27-30; contrast Boaz, Ruth 3-4).

38:12-13 Without a marriage, the family's future was in jeopardy.
• Judah's wife died: This made Judah available to fulfill the responsibility of providing an heir.

38:14-19 Tamar realized that she would have to take matters into her own hands if the family were to have a future. Tamar acted in keeping with the levirate custom (see note on 38:8) out of loyalty to her deceased husband. She had a legal right to an heir by Judah's son or by Judah, so she lured her father-in-law into having sex with her. Jacob's family was deceived again, this time by a Canaanite daughter-in-law.

38:17 It would be normal for Tamar to ask for a pledge if the man did not have the money to pay. A woman in such a position would not trust anyone to send the money.

38:18 identification seal: A stone or metal cylinder was engraved with distinctive designs and was usually worn around the neck on a cord; when rolled onto clay or wax, it left a distinct impression.

38:20-23 Judah had gone in to Tamar as a regular prostitute (Hebrew zonah, 38:15), whereas Hirah was mistakenly looking for a shrine prostitute (Hebrew qedeshah), of which there were none.

38:24-26 Judah played the hypocrite when he condemned Tamar to death for adultery. When she produced the seal and cord and walking stick that identified him as the father, he withdrew the condemnation.

38:26 She is more righteous than I am: Judah acknowledged that he had shirked his responsibility to provide an

38:27
Gen 25:24

38:29
Gen 46:12
Num 26:20-21
Ruth 4:12
1 Chr 2:4
Matt 1:3
Luke 3:33

39:1
Gen 37:25

39:2
Acts 7:9

39:4
Gen 40:4
Prov 22:29

39:5
Deut 28:3-4, 11

39:6
1 Sam 16:12, 18
Acts 7:20

39:7
Prov 7:15-20

39:8
Gen 39:4-5
Prov 6:23-24

39:9
b'khata' (2398)
*Exod 10:16

39:10
1 Thes 5:22

39:12
Prov 7:13
2 Tim 2:22

39:17
Exod 20:16; 23:1
Ps 55:3

my son Shelah." And Judah never slept with Tamar again.

²⁷When the time came for Tamar to give birth, it was discovered that she was carrying twins. ²⁸While she was in labor, one of the babies reached out his hand. The midwife grabbed it and tied a scarlet string around the child's wrist, announcing, "This one came out first." ²⁹But then he pulled back his hand, and out came his brother! "What!" the midwife exclaimed. "How did you break out first?" So he was named Perez. ³⁰Then the baby with the scarlet string on his wrist was born, and he was named Zerah.

Joseph's Rise to Power in Egypt (39:1-41:57) Joseph's Rise in Potiphar's House

39 When Joseph was taken to Egypt by the Ishmaelite traders, he was purchased by Potiphar, an Egyptian officer. Potiphar was captain of the guard for Pharaoh, the king of Egypt.

²The LORD was with Joseph, so he succeeded in everything he did as he served in the home of his Egyptian master. ³Potiphar noticed this and realized that the LORD was with Joseph, giving him success in everything he did. ⁴This pleased Potiphar, so he soon made Joseph his personal attendant. He put him in charge of his entire household and everything he owned. ⁵From the day Joseph was put in charge of his master's household and property, the LORD began to bless Potiphar's household for Joseph's sake. All his household affairs ran smoothly, and his crops and livestock flourished. ⁶So Potiphar gave Joseph complete administrative responsibility over everything he owned. With Joseph there, he didn't worry about a thing—except what kind of food to eat!

Potiphar's Wife

Joseph was a very handsome and well-built young man, ⁷and Potiphar's wife soon began to look at him lustfully. "Come and sleep with me," she demanded.

⁸But Joseph refused. "Look," he told her, "my master trusts me with everything in his entire household. ⁹No one here has more authority than I do. He has held back nothing from me except you, because you are his wife. How could I do such a wicked thing? It would be a great ^bsin against God."

¹⁰She kept putting pressure on Joseph day after day, but he refused to sleep with her, and he kept out of her way as much as possible. ¹¹One day, however, no one else was around when he went in to do his work. ¹²She came and grabbed him by his cloak, demanding, "Come on, sleep with me!" Joseph tore himself away, but he left his cloak in her hand as he ran from the house.

¹³When she saw that she was holding his cloak and he had fled, ¹⁴she called out to her servants. Soon all the men came running. "Look!" she said. "My husband has brought this Hebrew slave here to make fools of us! He came into my room to rape me, but I screamed. ¹⁵When he heard me scream, he ran outside and got away, but he left his cloak behind with me."

¹⁶She kept the cloak with her until her husband came home. ¹⁷Then she told him her story. "That Hebrew slave you've brought into our house tried to come in and fool around with me," she said. ¹⁸"But when I screamed, he ran outside, leaving his cloak with me!"

heir. It was sinful for Judah to go to a prostitute, but Tamar had a legal right to be the mother of Judah's child and had acted on that right. In the book of Ruth, the elders analogously blessed the marriage of Boaz and Ruth, praying that God would make Ruth like Tamar (Ruth 4:12; cp. Matt 1:3, 5).

38:27-30 Judah's line continued because of Tamar. The twins replaced Judah's two slain sons (38:7, 10); their birth was similar to the birth of Jacob and Esau (25:21-26) in that the "red" one was born first, but the other son pushed past him in later life. Jacob's gaining the right to rule over his older brother (27:29) seemed to be relived in Judah's line. The line was carried on through Perez and not through the elder son Shelah, whom he had gone to such lengths to protect (38:11; see 1 Chr 4:21), nor through the elder twin Zerah (see Ruth 4:13-22; Matt 1:3).

38:29-30 Perez means "breaking out." He pushed past his brother, just as Joseph would soon do in relation to his brothers (chs 39-47). • Zerah means "scarlet" or "brightness."

39:1-47:31 Joseph began as a slave, alienated from his brothers and separated from his father; he ended as Pharaoh's viceroy. Through the trips to Egypt, the covenant family went from the brink of apostasy, divided by jealousy and deception, to being reconciled and united by Judah's intercession and Joseph's forgiveness. • God is mentioned for the first time (apart from 38:7-10) since Jacob built his altar in Bethel (35:1-15); his covenant name, "the LORD," is used for the first time since Jacob left Laban (31:49).

39:1-23 Joseph's integrity in Potiphar's service contrasts with Judah's moral failure (ch 38). God was with Joseph (39:2-3, 21, 23) and enabled him to prosper and be a blessing (see notes on 12:1-9; 28:16-22) despite his slavery and imprisonment.

39:5 God began to bless Egypt through Joseph (see 22:18).

39:6-10 One of the major motifs of wisdom literature (see note on 37:2-50:26) is to warn young people that immorality will lead them to disaster (cp. Prov 5-7). Joseph was able to resist temptation because he had godly wisdom—he was guided by the fear of the Lord (Prov 1:7; 9:10).

39:14 Though Potiphar's wife was addressing slaves, she appealed to them as fellow Egyptians (us) to enlist them as witnesses against the despised Hebrew (see 43:32) who had won Potiphar's trust.

Joseph Put in Prison

¹⁹Potiphar was furious when he heard his wife's story about how Joseph had treated her. ²⁰So he took Joseph and threw him into the prison where the king's prisoners were held, and there he remained. ²¹But the LORD was with Joseph in the prison and showed him his faithful love. And the LORD made Joseph a favorite with the prison warden. ²²Before long, the warden put Joseph in charge of all the other prisoners and over everything that happened in the prison. ²³The warden had no more worries, because Joseph took care of everything. The LORD was with him and caused everything he did to succeed.

Joseph Interprets Two Prisoners' Dreams

40 Some time later, Pharaoh's chief cup-bearer and chief baker offended their royal master. ²Pharaoh became angry with these two officials, ³and he put them in the prison where Joseph was, in the palace of the captain of the guard. ⁴They remained in prison for quite some time, and the captain of the guard assigned them to Joseph, who looked after them.

⁵While they were in prison, Pharaoh's cup-bearer and baker each had a dream one night, and each dream had its own meaning. ⁶When Joseph saw them the next morning, he noticed that they both looked upset. ⁷"Why do you look so worried today?" he asked them.

⁸And they replied, "We both had dreams last night, but no one can tell us what they mean."

"Interpreting dreams is God's business," Joseph replied. "Go ahead and tell me your dreams."

⁹So the chief cup-bearer told Joseph his dream first. "In my dream," he said, "I saw a grapevine in front of me. ¹⁰The vine had three branches that began to bud and blossom, and soon it produced clusters of ripe grapes. ¹¹I was holding Pharaoh's wine cup in my hand, so I took a cluster of grapes and squeezed the juice into the cup. Then I placed the cup in Pharaoh's hand."

¹²"This is what the dream means," Joseph said. "The three branches represent three days. ¹³Within three days Pharaoh will lift you up and restore you to your position as his chief cup-bearer. ¹⁴And please remember me and do me a favor when things go well for you. Mention me to Pharaoh, so he might let me out of this place. ¹⁵For I was kidnapped from my homeland, the land of the Hebrews, and now I'm here in prison, but I did nothing to deserve it."

¹⁶When the chief baker saw that Joseph had given the first dream such a positive interpretation, he said to Joseph, "I had a dream, too. In my dream there were three baskets of white pastries stacked on my head. ¹⁷The top basket contained all kinds of pastries for Pharaoh, but the birds came and ate them from the basket on my head."

¹⁸"This is what the dream means," Joseph told him. "The three baskets also represent three days. ¹⁹Three days from now Pharaoh will lift you up and impale your body on a pole. Then birds will come and peck away at your flesh."

²⁰Pharaoh's birthday came three days later, and he prepared a banquet for all his officials and staff. He summoned his chief cup-bearer and chief baker to join the other officials. ²¹He then restored the chief cup-bearer to his former position, so he could again hand Pharaoh his cup. ²²But Pharaoh impaled the chief baker, just as Joseph had predicted when he interpreted his dream.

39:20
Gen 40:1-3, 15; 41:10
Ps 105:18

39:21
Ps 105:19
Acts 7:9

39:22
Gen 39:4

39:23
Gen 39:3

40:1
Neh 1:11

40:4
Gen 37:36; 39:4

40:5
Gen 20:3; 41:11

40:8
Gen 41:15-16
Dan 2:27-28

40:12
Gen 41:12

40:13
Gen 40:19-20

40:14
1 Sam 20:14

40:15
Gen 37:26-28; 39:20

40:18
Gen 40:12

40:19
Deut 21:22-23

40:22
Gen 40:19

39:19-20 This was the second time that Joseph, while faithfully doing the right thing, was thrown into bondage with his clothing used deceptively as evidence (cp. 37:23-24, 31-33).

39:21-23 Joseph thrived in prison because God was with him. Each time Joseph prospered, he was put in charge of something.

40:1-23 Joseph did not lose faith in God's promises, as evidenced by his readiness to interpret the dreams of two prisoners. He was still convinced that God's revelation in his own two dreams (37:5-11) was true, and he had not abandoned hope that they would be fulfilled. When the fellow prisoners' dreams were fulfilled exactly as Joseph said, this confirmed that his previous dreams were from God.

40:1-4 Joseph was so faithful and trustworthy that the captain of the guard trusted him with the care of two of Pharaoh's chief . . . officials.

40:5-8 Pharaoh's cup-bearer and baker looked worried because they knew that their futures were somehow bound up in these ominous and disturbing dreams that they could not understand. • Joseph still had faith that interpreting dreams is God's business, and that he would understand them with God's help. He knew he had not misinterpreted his own dreams.

40:9-19 Joseph listened to the dreams and offered their interpretations.

These dreams were not trivial; they were ominous warnings from God about what everyone was going to face. These two dreams prepared for Pharaoh's two dreams, which revealed the periods of life and death that the nation would soon experience.

40:14-15 Because he knew that the chief cup-bearer was going back into Pharaoh's personal service, Joseph saw an opportunity to seek his own release from prison.

40:20-22 The interpretations Joseph gave the prisoners proved true. The death of the chief baker speaks of the harsh realities of life in ancient Egypt, with a king whose word was his land's highest law. • He summoned: Literally He lifted up the head of.

40:23
Gen 40:14
41:5
2 Kgs 4:42
41:6
Ezek 19:12

²³Pharaoh's chief cup-bearer, however, forgot all about Joseph, never giving him another thought.

Pharaoh's Dreams

41 Two full years later, Pharaoh dreamed that he was standing on the bank of the Nile River. ²In his dream he saw seven fat, healthy cows come up out of the river and begin grazing in the marsh grass. ³Then he saw seven more cows come up behind them from the Nile, but these were scrawny and thin. These cows stood beside the fat cows on the riverbank. ⁴Then the scrawny, thin cows ate the seven healthy, fat cows! At this point in the dream, Pharaoh woke up.

⁵But he fell asleep again and had a second dream. This time he saw seven heads of grain, plump and beautiful, growing on a single stalk. ⁶Then seven more heads of grain appeared, but these were shriveled

Joseph (39:1–45:28)

Gen 30:22-24;
37:2-36; 48:1-22;
49:22-26; 50:1-26
Exod 13:19
Deut 33:13-17
Josh 24:32
Ps 105:16-22
Acts 7:9-14

Joseph is known for his dreams and for the beautiful coat his father Jacob gave him. He is an example of faith, prudence, and administrative ability. Despite overwhelming difficulties, Joseph saved Canaan, Egypt, and his own family from starvation during seven years of drought.

Joseph was Jacob's eleventh son, the first child of Jacob's favorite wife, Rachel. Joseph's name means "may he add," expressing Rachel's desire that God give her another son (30:24). Rachel later died at the birth of Benjamin, Joseph's only full brother.

Joseph's brothers resented him because of his dreams. They sold him to a passing caravan and led Jacob to believe an animal had killed him. In Egypt, Joseph quickly became prominent until he was jailed when his master's wife falsely accused him. Having correctly interpreted dreams for fellow inmates, he was summoned when Pharaoh couldn't understand his dreams. Joseph said they predicted seven good years followed by seven lean years, and Pharaoh directed him to prepare for famine. When Joseph's family had to buy grain in Egypt, Joseph eventually disclosed his identity. The family was reconciled and reunited when Jacob came to live in Egypt.

Because Jacob blessed Joseph's sons, Ephraim and Manasseh, and took them as his own (48:5-20), each was considered a separate tribe later in Israel. Ephraim, whom Jacob put first and to whom he gave the birthright (48:17-20), became one of the strongest tribes of Israel and the leading tribe in the northern kingdom after the division during Rehoboam's reign (see 1 Kgs 11:26–12:33). Several of the prophets refer to the northern kingdom under the names Ephraim (e.g., Ezek 37:15-19; Hos 5:3-5) and Joseph (e.g., Obad 1:18).

Age	Event	Reference
17	Joseph is sold into slavery	37:2, 18-36
30	Joseph begins serving Pharaoh	41:46
39	Joseph is reunited with his brothers, Jacob moves to Egypt	45:3-6
56	Jacob dies, is buried in Canaan	47:28
110	Joseph dies in Egypt	50:26

▲ Joseph's Life (39:1–45:28).

Joseph's dying wish (which Moses later honored) was that his bones be buried in Canaan (Exod 13:19; Josh 24:32). Joseph's story dramatizes the life of a man of faith and godly character who fulfilled God's plan. His name is mentioned frequently in Scripture, showing that he was highly regarded by later Israelites. His story is summarized in the Psalms (Ps 105:16-22) and in Stephen's speech just prior to his martyrdom (Acts 7:9-14).

Joseph's life confirms God's control of the long course of history even when bad things happen (50:20). God expresses his sovereign power through his provident, faithful love for his people. Joseph also models for us a firm faith in the sovereign God and personal integrity in the face of adversity.

40:23 The cup-bearer . . . forgot all about Joseph, but God did not forget him. Joseph's faith was about to be rewarded (ch 41).

41:1-46 God had used two dreams to identify Joseph as a leader among his brothers (37:5-11). He used two dreams to test Joseph's faith in prison (40:5-14). Now he would use two dreams to elevate Joseph from prison to preeminence. Joseph had repeatedly proven faithful in small matters; now he would be put in charge of great things.

41:1-4 Pharaoh's first dream was about cows. Cows liked to stand half-submerged among the reeds in the Nile River to take refuge from the heat and flies. They would come out of the water to find pasture. The second cows disturbed Pharaoh because they were scrawny yet able to swallow the fat cows.

41:5-7 Pharaoh's second dream carried a similar message. Seven plump heads of grain on a single stalk were swallowed up by seven shriveled and withered heads that sprouted after them.

and withered by the east wind. ⁷And these thin heads swallowed up the seven plump, well-formed heads! Then Pharaoh woke up again and realized it was a dream.

⁸The next morning Pharaoh was very disturbed by the dreams. So he called for all the magicians and wise men of Egypt. When Pharaoh told them his dreams, not one of them could tell him what they meant.

⁹Finally, the king's chief cup-bearer spoke up. "Today I have been reminded of my failure," he told Pharaoh. ¹⁰"Some time ago, you were angry with the chief baker and me, and you imprisoned us in the palace of the captain of the guard. ¹¹One night the chief baker and I each had a dream, and each dream had its own meaning. ¹²There was a young Hebrew man with us in the prison who was a slave of the captain of the guard. We told him our dreams, and he told us what each of our dreams meant. ¹³And everything happened just as he had predicted. I was restored to my position as cup-bearer, and the chief baker was executed and impaled on a pole."

Joseph's Interpretation and Counsel

¹⁴Pharaoh sent for Joseph at once, and he was quickly brought from the prison. After he shaved and changed his clothes, he went in and stood before Pharaoh. ¹⁵Then Pharaoh said to Joseph, "I had a dream last night, and no one here can tell me what it means. But I have heard that when you hear about a dream you can interpret it."

¹⁶"It is beyond my power to do this," Joseph replied. "But God can tell you what it means and set you at ease."

¹⁷So Pharaoh told Joseph his dream. "In my dream," he said, "I was standing on the bank of the Nile River, ¹⁸and I saw seven fat, healthy cows come up out of the river and begin grazing in the marsh grass. ¹⁹But then I saw seven sick-looking cows, scrawny and thin, come up after them. I've never seen such sorry-looking animals in all the land of Egypt. ²⁰These thin, scrawny cows ate the seven fat cows. ²¹But afterward you wouldn't have known it, for they were still as thin and scrawny as before! Then I woke up.

²²"In my dream I also saw seven heads of grain, full and beautiful, growing on a single stalk. ²³Then seven more heads of grain appeared, but these were blighted, shriveled, and withered by the east wind. ²⁴And the shriveled heads swallowed the seven healthy heads. I told these dreams to the magicians, but no one could tell me what they mean."

²⁵Joseph responded, "Both of Pharaoh's dreams mean the same thing. God is telling Pharaoh in advance what he is about to do. ²⁶The seven healthy cows and the seven healthy heads of grain both represent seven years of prosperity. ²⁷The seven thin, scrawny cows that came up later and the seven thin heads of grain, withered by the east wind, represent seven years of famine.

²⁸"This will happen just as I have described it, for God has revealed to Pharaoh in advance what he is about to do. ²⁹The next seven years will be a period of great prosperity throughout the land of Egypt. ³⁰But afterward there will be seven years of famine so great that all the prosperity will be forgotten in Egypt. Famine will destroy the land. ³¹This famine will be so severe that even the memory of the good years will be erased. ³²As for having two similar dreams, it means that these events have been decreed by God, and he will soon make them happen.

³³"Therefore, Pharaoh should find an intelligent and wise man and put him in charge of the entire land of Egypt. ³⁴Then Pharaoh should appoint supervisors over

41:8
Exod 7:11-12
Dan 2:1-3; 4:5-7

41:9
Gen 40:14

41:10
Gen 40:2

41:11
Gen 40:5

41:12
Gen 40:12

41:13
Gen 40:22

41:14
Ps 105:20

41:15
Dan 2:25

41:16
Gen 40:8

41:17
Gen 41:1

41:27
2 Kgs 8:1

41:29
Gen 41:47

41:30
Gen 47:13

41:33
Gen 41:39

41:8 The magicians and wise men belonged to a guild of supposed experts in spiritual matters, including dreams and visions (cp. Exod 8:18-19; Dan 2:10-11), but they could not interpret these dreams. God used an Israelite slave to confound the wisdom of the world (cp. Dan 2). However powerful a nation becomes, it is still under God's sovereign control (Dan 2:20-23).

41:9-13 The chief cup-bearer finally remembered Joseph and testified that his interpretations were true.

41:14-15 Pharaoh immediately summoned Joseph from prison to interpret his dreams. • he shaved: As was the Egyptian custom.

41:16 Joseph knew that only God could tell what Pharaoh's dreams meant (cp. 40:8), and he was confident that God would do so, because he had given the dreams for a purpose (41:25, 28).

41:17-24 Pharaoh recounted his dreams and testified that no human wisdom could interpret them.

41:25-32 Both dreams predicted that seven years of abundant crops would be followed by seven years of severe famine.

41:32 The two similar dreams confirmed that the message was decreed by God and would soon . . . happen, just as the dreams of the two prisoners were quickly fulfilled (40:5-23). Joseph's own two dreams (37:5-11) were about to come true as well (41:37-46; 42:6-9).

41:33-36 God's revelation demanded a response—it was not given just to satisfy curiosity about the future. Joseph's advice about planning and preparing showed that he was the kind of intelligent and wise man that Pharaoh needed (41:37-40). • Joseph instituted central planning and control with a supervisor, local managers, a 20 percent tax on grain, and a rationing system. Later wisdom literature (see note on 37:2-50:26) teaches the principle of planning ahead rather than living just for the moment (see Prov 6:6-8; 27:12).

41:36

Gen 47:14

41:38

Dan 4:8, 18; 5:11, 14

41:39

Gen 41:33

41:40

Gen 39:9

Ps 105:21

Acts 7:10

41:41

Esth 8:2

Dan 6:3

41:42

Esth 3:10; 6:8

41:44

Gen 45:8

Ps 105:22

41:45

Ezek 30:17

41:46

Gen 37:2

41:51

Gen 48:1

Deut 33:17

41:52

Gen 17:6

41:54

Gen 41:30

Ps 105:16

Acts 7:11

41:55

Gen 41:41

the land and let them collect one-fifth of all the crops during the seven good years. ³⁵Have them gather all the food produced in the good years that are just ahead and bring it to Pharaoh's storehouses. Store it away, and guard it so there will be food in the cities. ³⁶That way there will be enough to eat when the seven years of famine come to the land of Egypt. Otherwise this famine will destroy the land."

Pharaoh Promotes Joseph to Power

³⁷Joseph's suggestions were well received by Pharaoh and his officials. ³⁸So Pharaoh asked his officials, "Can we find anyone else like this man so obviously filled with the spirit of God?" ³⁹Then Pharaoh said to Joseph, "Since God has revealed the meaning of the dreams to you, clearly no one else is as intelligent or wise as you are. ⁴⁰You will be in charge of my court, and all my people will take orders from you. Only I, sitting on my throne, will have a rank higher than yours."

⁴¹Pharaoh said to Joseph, "I hereby put you in charge of the entire land of Egypt." ⁴²Then Pharaoh removed his signet ring from his hand and placed it on Joseph's finger. He dressed him in fine linen clothing and hung a gold chain around his neck. ⁴³Then he had Joseph ride in the chariot reserved for his second-in-command. And wherever Joseph went, the command was shouted, "Kneel down!" So Pharaoh put Joseph in charge of all Egypt. ⁴⁴And Pharaoh said to him, "I am Pharaoh, but no one will lift a hand or foot in the entire land of Egypt without your approval."

⁴⁵Then Pharaoh gave Joseph a new Egyptian name, Zaphenath-paneah. He also gave him a wife, whose name was Asenath. She was the daughter of Potiphra, the priest of On. So Joseph took charge of the entire land of Egypt. ⁴⁶He was thirty years old when he began serving in the court of Pharaoh, the king of Egypt. And when Joseph left Pharaoh's presence, he inspected the entire land of Egypt.

God Provides through Joseph and for Joseph

⁴⁷As predicted, for seven years the land produced bumper crops. ⁴⁸During those years, Joseph gathered all the crops grown in Egypt and stored the grain from the surrounding fields in the cities. ⁴⁹He piled up huge amounts of grain like sand on the seashore. Finally, he stopped keeping records because there was too much to measure.

⁵⁰During this time, before the first of the famine years, two sons were born to Joseph and his wife, Asenath, the daughter of Potiphra, the priest of On. ⁵¹Joseph named his older son Manasseh, for he said, "God has made me forget all my troubles and everyone in my father's family." ⁵²Joseph named his second son Ephraim, for he said, "God has made me fruitful in this land of my grief."

The Beginning of the Famine

⁵³At last the seven years of bumper crops throughout the land of Egypt came to an end. ⁵⁴Then the seven years of famine began, just as Joseph had predicted. The famine also struck all the surrounding countries, but throughout Egypt there was plenty of food. ⁵⁵Eventually, however, the famine spread throughout the land of Egypt as well. And when the people cried out to Pharaoh for food, he told them, "Go to Joseph, and do whatever he tells you." ⁵⁶So with severe famine everywhere, Joseph opened up 41:37-40 Pharaoh recognized that Joseph was the man for the job; he had the spirit of God and was intelligent and wise. God showed his sovereign rule in Egypt; Israelites who later read the account could be confident that God would save them as he had promised.

41:41-46 Joseph was made the acting ruler or manager of Egypt.

41:42 Pharaoh's signet ring had a seal used for signing documents. The seal was impressed in soft clay, which hardened and left a permanent impression of the ruler's signature, which carried his authority. Numerous seals of this type have been found in archaeological digs. • The linen clothing and gold chain signified Joseph's new status as ruler.

41:43-44 Pharaoh made Joseph second-in-command; all the people had to submit to him. Cp. Ps 105:16-22.

41:45 As token of Joseph's new status, Pharaoh gave him an Egyptian name and a wife from a high-ranking family. • Zaphenath-paneah probably means "God speaks and lives." • On: Greek version reads Heliopolis; also in 41:50. On was a center for sun worship that came to be known as Heliopolis ("sun city").

41:46 He was thirty years old: It had been approximately thirteen years since his brothers had sold Joseph into slavery (37:2). • he inspected the entire land of Egypt: As a wise manager, his first priority was to learn the scope of his responsibilities.

41:47-57 Pharaoh's dreams were fulfilled in keeping with Joseph's interpretation.

41:50-52 In spite of his position and authority, Joseph never abandoned his heritage; he gave Hebrew names to his two sons. • Manasseh sounds like a Hebrew term that means "causing to forget." Joseph's prosperity and success made him forget the misery of separation from his family. • Ephraim sounds like a Hebrew term that means "fruitful." In so naming him, Joseph proclaimed his gratitude to God for the fruitfulness he was experiencing in Egypt.

41:53-57 Joseph's wisdom paid off, for the seven years of plenty were followed by seven years of severe famine, but throughout Egypt there was plenty of food. Joseph had grain to sell to the Egyptians and to people from other countries as well.

the storehouses and distributed grain to the Egyptians, for the famine was severe throughout the land of Egypt. ⁵⁷And people from all around came to Egypt to buy grain from Joseph because the famine was severe throughout the world.

Israel Moves to Egypt (42:1–47:31)
Joseph's Brothers Go to Egypt

42 When Jacob heard that grain was available in Egypt, he said to his sons, “Why are you standing around looking at one another? ²¹I have heard there is grain in Egypt. Go down there, and buy enough grain to keep us alive. Otherwise we’ll die.”

³So Joseph’s ten older brothers went down to Egypt to buy grain. ⁴But Jacob wouldn’t let Joseph’s younger brother, Benjamin, go with them, for fear some harm might come to him. ⁵So Jacob’s sons arrived in Egypt along with others to buy food, for the famine was in Canaan as well.

⁶Since Joseph was governor of all Egypt and in charge of selling grain to all the people, it was to him that his brothers came. When they arrived, they bowed before him with their faces to the ground. ⁷Joseph recognized his brothers instantly, but he pretended to be a stranger and spoke harshly to them. “Where are you from?” he demanded.

“From the land of Canaan,” they replied. “We have come to buy food.”

Joseph Accuses His Brothers to Have Benjamin Brought

⁸Although Joseph recognized his brothers, they didn’t recognize him. ⁹And he remembered the dreams he’d had about them many years before. He said to them, “You are spies! You have come to see how vulnerable our land has become.”

¹⁰“No, my lord!” they exclaimed. “Your servants have simply come to buy food. ¹¹We are all brothers—members of the same family. We are honest men, sir! We are not spies!”

¹²“Yes, you are!” Joseph insisted. “You have come to see how vulnerable our land has become.”

¹³“Sir,” they said, “there are actually twelve of us. We, your servants, are all brothers, sons of a man living in the land of Canaan. Our youngest brother is back there with our father right now, and one of our brothers is no longer with us.”

¹⁴But Joseph insisted, “As I said, you are spies! ¹⁵This is how I will test your story. I swear by the life of Pharaoh that you will never leave Egypt unless your youngest brother comes here! ¹⁶One of you must go and get your brother. I’ll keep the rest of you here in prison. Then we’ll find out whether or not your story is true. By the life of Pharaoh, if it turns out that you don’t have a younger brother, then I’ll know you are spies.”

¹⁷So Joseph put them all in prison for three days. ¹⁸On the third day Joseph said to them, “I am a God-fearing man. If you do as I say, you will live. ¹⁹If you really are honest men, choose one of your brothers to remain in prison. The rest of you may go home with grain for your starving families. ²⁰But you must bring your youngest brother back to me. This will prove that you are telling the truth, and you will not die.” To this they agreed.

²¹Speaking among themselves, they said, “Clearly we are being punished because of what we did to Joseph long ago. We saw his anguish when he pleaded for his life, but we wouldn’t listen. That’s why we’re in this trouble.”

²²“Didn’t I tell you not to sin against the boy?” Reuben asked. “But you wouldn’t

41:57
Gen 42:5; 47:15
Ps 105:16

42:1
Acts 7:12

42:2
Gen 43:2, 4

42:3
Gen 43:20

42:4
Gen 35:24

42:5
Gen 41:57
Acts 7:11

42:6
Ps 105:16–21
‘khawah (7812)
+ Exod 4:31

42:7
Gen 42:30

42:8
Gen 37:2

42:9
Gen 42:16, 30–34

42:10
Gen 37:6–9

42:11
Gen 42:19, 31–34

42:13
Gen 37:30–33; 44:20;
46:31

42:14
Gen 42:9

42:17
Gen 40:4

42:18
Gen 20:11
Lev 25:43

42:20
Gen 42:34; 43:15

42:21
Gen 37:23–28; 45:3–5

42:22
Gen 9:5–6; 37:21–22

42:1–47:31 God used the famine to bring Israel to Egypt under Joseph’s rule, thus fulfilling two prophecies (15:13; 37:7–11).

42:1–44:34 Joseph did several unusual things to his brothers when they came looking for grain. The last time Joseph had been with them, they were filled with jealousy, hatred, and anger; they attempted to destroy their brother, and they deceived their father. Joseph put them through various tests, similar to the trying situations they had put him through, to see if they had changed.

42:4 Jacob may have believed that Benjamin would not be safe with his brothers.

42:5 Jacob’s: Hebrew Israel’s. See note on 35:21.

42:6–7 Joseph’s first dream (37:5–11) was partially fulfilled when his brothers bowed down to him without recognizing him (see also 43:26; 44:14). It was totally fulfilled in 50:18. Joseph recognized his brothers immediately, but he could not reveal himself because he did not yet trust them to be the honest men they claimed to be (42:10).

42:8 they didn’t recognize him: Joseph was a grown man, not a boy. He was not wearing a beard, was dressed in Egyptian clothes, and was in an unexpected position, speaking to them through an interpreter (42:23).

42:9 You are spies! The brothers had considered Joseph a spy for their father and had treated him roughly (37:2, 14, 18–28). Joseph was putting them in a similar situation to see how they would respond.

42:11 Joseph knew that they had not always been the honest men they claimed to be.

42:15–17 Joseph put the brothers in jail for three days to see if they had a conscience functioning about what they had done (42:21–23). The brothers had similarly thrown Joseph into a cistern-prison while they decided what to do with him (37:24).

42:18–20 Rather than keep all but one, Joseph would release all but one to take grain home to their starving families.

42:21–23 Clearly we are being punished: The brothers sensed that having to bring Benjamin back to Egypt against their

42:24
Gen 43:14, 23

42:25
Gen 44:1

42:28
Gen 43:23
41eb (3820)
Exod 15:8

42:30
Gen 42:7

42:31
Gen 42:11

42:32
Gen 42:13

listen. And now we have to answer for his blood!"

²³Of course, they didn't know that Joseph understood them, for he had been speaking to them through an interpreter. ²⁴Now he turned away from them and began to weep. When he regained his composure, he spoke to them again. Then he chose Simeon from among them and had him tied up right before their eyes.

²⁵Joseph then ordered his servants to fill the men's sacks with grain, but he also gave secret instructions to return each brother's payment at the top of his sack. He also gave them supplies for their journey home. ²⁶So the brothers loaded their donkeys with the grain and headed for home.

²⁷But when they stopped for the night and one of them opened his sack to get grain for his donkey, he found his money in the top of his sack. ²⁸"Look!" he exclaimed to his brothers. "My money has been returned; it's here in my sack!" Then their hearts sank. Trembling, they said to each other, "What has God done to us?"

The Brothers Report to Jacob

²⁹When the brothers came to their father, Jacob, in the land of Canaan, they told him everything that had happened to them.

³⁰"The man who is governor of the land spoke very harshly to us," they told him. "He accused us of being spies scouting the land. ³¹But we said, 'We are honest men, not spies. ³²We are twelve brothers, sons of Famine (41:56-57)

Gen 12:10; 26:1;
41:33-36; 45:6-7
Lev 26:19-20
Deut 8:3;
11:16-17
Ruth 1:1
2 Sam 21:1
1 Kgs 18:1-2
2 Kgs 8:1-2
Jer 14:11-16
Ezek 34:29-31;
36:28-32
Joel 1:1-20
Amos 8:11-14
Hag 1:1-11
Luke 6:21
John 6:32-35
Acts 11:28-30
Rev 7:16

Famine occurred early in the lives of Abraham (12:10) and Isaac (26:1). When famine afflicted Jacob's family (41:56-57), God had already placed Joseph in Egypt to provide for his people through the disaster (45:5, 7). This famine was particularly severe, but famines were not uncommon in the ancient world (see 12:10; 26:1; see also Ruth 1:1; 2 Sam 21:1; 1 Kgs 18:1-2; Hag 1:1-11; Acts 11:28). Dependence on rainfall caused some people to stockpile food against possible famine. In Egypt, Joseph implemented a grain ration that saved the people, supplied seed, and filled Pharaoh's royal storehouses (41:33-36; 47:23-24). Israel's temple also contained storerooms (1 Chr 26:15; 2 Chr 31:11; Neh 10:37-39).

Famine was a devastating catastrophe in an agrarian society. Caused by drought, crop failure, or siege (Ruth 1:1-2; 2 Kgs 25), it was often accompanied by disease or war that brought adversity at many levels of society (Jer 14:12), even for animals (Job 38:41; Joel 1:20). Famines had far-reaching results in price inflation, robbery, social exploitation, agricultural collapse, migration, and even cannibalism (12:10; 26:1; 2 Kgs 6:24-29; Neh 5:1-3; Jer 19:9; Lam 2:20-21; 4:8-10). Therefore, faithfulness to God was a particularly vivid need (Ps 33:18-19; 37:19), and God's blessings on the nation included protection from famine (Ezek 34:29; 36:29-30). God sometimes used famine as divine judgment on the Israelites (Lev 26:14-20; Deut 11:16-17; 28:33; Jer 29:17-18).

Jesus relived Israel's experience in his own wilderness testing and refused to make bread just for himself (Matt 4:3-4; cp. Deut 8:3). His success showed that scarcity and hunger can develop humility and trust in divine providence (Matt 4:2), something that Israel did not learn very well. Jesus fed 5,000 to draw them to himself as the bread of life, God's true manna (John 6:32-35), but the crowds followed Jesus more for the food than for himself (John 6:26-27). Without ignoring physical food, Jesus highlighted spiritual hunger and thirst (Luke 6:21; John 4:34). Eating provides both a context and a metaphor for fellowship (43:34; Luke 22:15-16; Rev 19:9). Heaven will remove the desperation of hunger altogether (Rev 7:16).

father's wishes was God's punishment for their having sold Joseph to the traders. The sense of divine retribution began to awaken feelings of remorse that Joseph's cries for mercy and their father's tears (37:34-35) had failed to arouse.

42:22 you wouldn't listen: Reuben had lost the reins of leadership (see notes on 42:37; 49:3-4).

42:24 Joseph turned away from them and began to weep (cp. 43:30; 45:2, 14; 50:1, 17); perhaps he was hearing part of the story that he had never known (Reuben's attempt to save him, 37:21-22, 29), or his brothers' remorse moved him to forgiveness.

42:25-28 Joseph cared for his brothers' needs; he had forgiven them (see note on 42:24) and was fulfilling his role to provide for them. God used Joseph's care to convict the brothers even more fully of their sin.

42:25 return each brother's payment: He was now testing them to awaken their conscience and make them face their past guilt; once again, they were going home with silver instead of a brother (37:28-35).

42:28 What has God done to us? They knew that God was behind everything that had been happening, so they faced a day of reckoning for their sins.

42:29-34 The brothers' account focused on the accusation that they were spies and on the need to take Benjamin back to Egypt with them. They omitted their growing realization of divine retribution for their crime against Joseph.

one father. One brother is no longer with us, and the youngest is at home with our father in the land of Canaan.'

³³"Then the man who is governor of the land told us, 'This is how I will find out if you are honest men. Leave one of your brothers here with me, and take grain for your starving families and go on home. ³⁴But you must bring your youngest brother back to me. Then I will know you are honest men and not spies. Then I will give you back your brother, and you may trade freely in the land.'"

³⁵As they emptied out their sacks, there in each man's sack was the bag of money he had paid for the grain! The brothers and their father were terrified when they saw the bags of money. ³⁶Jacob exclaimed, "You are robbing me of my children! Joseph is gone! Simeon is gone! And now you want to take Benjamin, too. Everything is going against me!"

³⁷Then Reuben said to his father, "You may kill my two sons if I don't bring Benjamin back to you. I'll be responsible for him, and I promise to bring him back."

³⁸But Jacob replied, "My son will not go down with you. His brother Joseph is dead, and he is all I have left. If anything should happen to him on your journey, you would send this grieving, white-haired man to his grave."

The Brothers Return to Egypt with Benjamin

43 But the famine continued to ravage the land of Canaan. ²When the grain they had brought from Egypt was almost gone, Jacob said to his sons, "Go back and buy us a little more food."

³But Judah said, "The man was serious when he warned us, 'You won't see my face again unless your brother is with you.' ⁴If you send Benjamin with us, we will go down and buy more food. ⁵But if you don't let Benjamin go, we won't go either. Remember, the man said, 'You won't see my face again unless your brother is with you.'"

⁶"Why were you so cruel to me?" Jacob moaned. "Why did you tell him you had another brother?"

⁷"The man kept asking us questions about our family," they replied. "He asked, 'Is your father still alive? Do you have another brother?' So we answered his questions. How could we know he would say, 'Bring your brother down here?'"

⁸Judah said to his father, "Send the boy with me, and we will be on our way. Otherwise we will all die of starvation—and not only we, but you and our little ones. ⁹I personally guarantee his safety. You may hold me responsible if I don't bring him back to you. Then let me bear the blame forever. ¹⁰If we hadn't wasted all this time, we could have gone and returned twice by now."

¹¹So their father, Jacob, finally said to them, "If it can't be avoided, then at least do this. Pack your bags with the best products of this land. Take them down to the man as gifts—balm, honey, gum, aromatic resin, pistachio nuts, and almonds. ¹²Also take double the money that was put back in your sacks, as it was probably someone's mistake. ¹³Then take your brother, and go back to the man. ¹⁴May God Almighty give you mercy as you go before the man, so that he will release Simeon and let Benjamin return. But if I must lose my children, so be it."

¹⁵So the men packed Jacob's gifts and double the money and headed off with Benjamin. They finally arrived in Egypt and presented themselves to Joseph. ¹⁶When Joseph saw Benjamin with them, he said to the manager of his household, "These 42:34

Gen 34:10

42:35
Gen 43:12, 15, 18

42:36
Gen 43:14; 44:20-22

42:37
Gen 43:9; 44:32

42:38
Gen 37:35; 44:29, 34

43:1
Gen 41:56-57

43:2
Gen 42:25

43:3
Gen 42:15; 44:23

43:7
Gen 42:13; 43:27

43:8
Gen 42:2

43:9
Gen 42:37
Phlm 1:18-19

43:11
Gen 32:13; 37:25

43:12
Gen 42:25, 35

43:13
Gen 43:3

43:14
Gen 42:24
Ps 106:46

43:16
Gen 44:1

42:36 Filled with grief over two sons lost already, Jacob feared that he would also lose Benjamin if he went to Egypt. • You are robbing me of my children! He did not realize the full truth of his words, but they must have stung his sons' guilty consciences.

42:37 Reuben tried to take the lead; perhaps he thought he could get back into his father's good favor (see 35:22), first by rescuing Joseph from certain death (37:21-22, 29-30) and now by keeping Benjamin safe.

42:38 Jacob was resolute in his favoritism toward Rachel's remaining son. Benjamin would not go to Egypt even if it meant that Leah's son Simeon never returned. Jacob's grief apparently weighed heavily on the brothers' conscience (44:18-34). • to his grave: Hebrew to Sheol.

43:1-7 As the famine continued, Jacob's family needed more grain, but they could not return to Egypt without Benjamin (42:16, 20). Jacob realized that he was in a bind; he needed more food, but was loath to lose Benjamin.

43:6 Jacob: Hebrew Israel; also in 43:11. See note on 35:21.

43:8-10 Judah broke the deadlock by taking responsibility for Benjamin's well-being, thus succeeding where Reuben failed. His action was fitting, since it had been his idea to sell Joseph to the Ishmaelites (37:26-27) instead of killing him. Now he would secure Benjamin's safety with his own life (see 44:18-34).

43:11-13 Jacob provided everything he could to ensure a favorable reception from the Egyptian governor (the man; cp. 32:13-21).

43:13-14 Jacob finally entrusted his family's future to God Almighty (Hebrew El-Shaddai), the divine title that stresses God's power (see also 17:1; 28:3; 35:11; 48:3; 1 Kgs 19:10, 14; Rev 21:22).

43:16 When Joseph saw Benjamin with them: Joseph now knew that Benjamin was well (see note on 42:1-44:34). The feast was both a celebration and a test.

43:18
Gen 42:28, 35
43:21
Gen 42:25, 35; 43:12
43:22
Gen 42:28
43:23
Gen 42:24
43:24
Gen 18:4; 24:32
43:27
Gen 43:7; 45:3
43:28
Exod 18:7
43:29
Num 6:25
Ps 67:1
43:30
Gen 42:24; 45:2, 14-15; 46:29
43:31
Gen 45:1
43:32
Gen 46:34
Exod 8:26
43:33
Gen 44:12
44:1
Gen 42:25; 43:16
44:4
Prov 17:13

men will eat with me this noon. Take them inside the palace. Then go slaughter an animal, and prepare a big feast." ¹⁷So the man did as Joseph told him and took them into Joseph's palace.

¹⁸The brothers were terrified when they saw that they were being taken into Joseph's house. "It's because of the money someone put in our sacks last time we were here," they said. "He plans to pretend that we stole it. Then he will seize us, make us slaves, and take our donkeys."

A Feast at Joseph's Palace

¹⁹The brothers approached the manager of Joseph's household and spoke to him at the entrance to the palace. ²⁰"Sir," they said, "we came to Egypt once before to buy food. ²¹But as we were returning home, we stopped for the night and opened our sacks. Then we discovered that each man's money—the exact amount paid—was in the top of his sack! Here it is; we have brought it back with us. ²²We also have additional money to buy more food. We have no idea who put our money in our sacks."

²³"Relax. Don't be afraid," the household manager told them. "Your God, the God of your father, must have put this treasure into your sacks. I know I received your payment." Then he released Simeon and brought him out to them.

²⁴The manager then led the men into Joseph's palace. He gave them water to wash their feet and provided food for their donkeys. ²⁵They were told they would be eating there, so they prepared their gifts for Joseph's arrival at noon.

²⁶When Joseph came home, they gave him the gifts they had brought him, then bowed low to the ground before him. ²⁷After greeting them, he asked, "How is your father, the old man you spoke about? Is he still alive?"

²⁸"Yes," they replied. "Our father, your servant, is alive and well." And they bowed low again.

²⁹Then Joseph looked at his brother Benjamin, the son of his own mother. "Is this your youngest brother, the one you told me about?" Joseph asked. "May God be gracious to you, my son." ³⁰Then Joseph hurried from the room because he was overcome with emotion for his brother. He went into his private room, where he broke down and wept. ³¹After washing his face, he came back out, keeping himself under control. Then he ordered, "Bring out the food!"

³²The waiters served Joseph at his own table, and his brothers were served at a separate table. The Egyptians who ate with Joseph sat at their own table, because Egyptians despise Hebrews and refuse to eat with them. ³³Joseph told each of his brothers where to sit, and to their amazement, he seated them according to age, from oldest to youngest. ³⁴And Joseph filled their plates with food from his own table, giving Benjamin five times as much as he gave the others. So they feasted and drank freely with him.

Joseph's Silver Cup in Benjamin's Sack

44 When his brothers were ready to leave, Joseph gave these instructions to his palace manager: "Fill each of their sacks with as much grain as they can carry, and put each man's money back into his sack. ²Then put my personal silver cup at the top of the youngest brother's sack, along with the money for his grain." So the manager did as Joseph instructed him.

³The brothers were up at dawn and were sent on their journey with their loaded donkeys. ⁴But when they had gone only a short distance and were barely out of the city, Joseph said to his palace manager, "Chase after them and stop them. When you catch up

43:18 The brothers were terrified: Cp. 32:6-12. Their guilt would not let them see that something good might happen.

43:19-22 The brothers, completely vulnerable and feeling the weight of God's judgment on their consciences, approached the manager in desperation.

43:24 Joseph no longer treated his brothers harshly, but provided kind hospitality.

43:26 For the second time, the brothers bowed . . . before Joseph in fulfillment of his first dream (37:7; see 42:6-7; cp. 33:3).

43:29 May God be gracious to you, my son: Joseph's blessing to his full brother fulfilled Jacob's prayer (43:14).

43:30 he was overcome with emotion for his brother: Cp. 42:24. Joseph's tears were of painful memories and years of lost fellowship, as well as of joy and thanksgiving to see his brother again.

• He went into his private room: He did not yet plan to reveal his identity.

43:33 to their amazement: This ruler knew more about the brothers than seemed possible (cp. 44:15).

43:34 The brothers were confronted with generous and gracious dealings from God through Joseph, who tested their tolerance by reenacting the favoritism toward Rachel's son that had galvanized their earlier hostility.

44:1-34 The brothers appeared to have changed; they had shown remorse over what they had done to Joseph, and they showed integrity in returning the money and in bringing Benjamin. Given a chance to get rid of Rachel's other son, Benjamin, would they do it?

44:2 Joseph was giving his brothers the chance to abandon Benjamin if they wanted to. Joseph was testing them to see if they were loyal to the family and faithful to their father.

with them, ask them, 'Why have you repaid my kindness with such evil? ⁵Why have you stolen my master's silver cup, which he uses to predict the future? What a wicked thing you have done!'

⁶When the palace manager caught up with the men, he spoke to them as he had been instructed.

⁷"What are you talking about?" the brothers responded. "We are your servants and would never do such a thing! ⁸Didn't we return the money we found in our sacks? We brought it back all the way from the land of Canaan. Why would we steal silver or gold from your master's house? ⁹If you find his cup with any one of us, let that man die. And all the rest of us, my lord, will be your slaves."

¹⁰"That's fair," the man replied. "But only the one who stole the cup will be my slave. The rest of you may go free."

¹¹They all quickly took their sacks from the backs of their donkeys and opened them. ¹²The palace manager searched the brothers' sacks, from the oldest to the youngest. And the cup was found in Benjamin's sack! ¹³When the brothers saw this, they tore their clothing in despair. Then they loaded their donkeys again and returned to the city.

¹⁴Joseph was still in his palace when Judah and his brothers arrived, and they fell to the ground before him. ¹⁵"What have you done?" Joseph demanded. "Don't you know that a man like me can predict the future?"

¹⁶Judah answered, "Oh, my lord, what can we say to you? How can we explain this? How can we prove our innocence? God is punishing us for our sins. My lord, we have all returned to be your slaves—all of us, not just our brother who had your cup in his sack."

¹⁷"No," Joseph said. "I would never do such a thing! Only the man who stole the cup will be my slave. The rest of you may go back to your father in peace."

Judah Intercedes for Benjamin

¹⁸Then Judah stepped forward and said, "Please, my lord, let your servant say just one word to you. Please, do not be angry with me, even though you are as powerful as Pharaoh himself.

¹⁹"My lord, previously you asked us, your servants, 'Do you have a father or a brother?' ²⁰And we responded, 'Yes, my lord, we have a father who is an old man, and his youngest son is a child of his old age. His full brother is dead, and he alone is left of his mother's children, and his father loves him very much.'

²¹"And you said to us, 'Bring him here so I can see him with my own eyes.' ²²But we said to you, 'My lord, the boy cannot leave his father, for his father would die.' ²³But you told us, 'Unless your youngest brother comes with you, you will never see my face again.'

²⁴"So we returned to your servant, our father, and told him what you had said. ²⁵Later, when he said, 'Go back again and buy us more food,' ²⁶we replied, 'We can't go unless you let our youngest brother go with us. We'll never get to see the man's face unless our youngest brother is with us.'

²⁷"Then my father said to us, 'As you know, my wife had two sons, ²⁸and one of them went away and never returned. Doubtless he was torn to pieces by some wild animal. I have never seen him since.

²⁹Now if you take his brother away from 44:5

Gen 30:27
Deut 18:10-14

44:8
Gen 43:21

44:9
Gen 31:32

44:12
Gen 44:2

44:13
Gen 37:29, 34

44:15
Gen 44:5

44:16
Gen 42:11; 43:18

44:18
Gen 37:7-8; 41:40-44

44:19
Gen 42:11; 43:7

44:21
Gen 42:11, 15

44:23
Gen 43:3

44:24
Gen 42:29-34

44:25
Gen 42:2

44:26
Gen 43:5

44:27
Gen 46:19

44:28
Gen 37:33

44:29
Gen 42:38

44:5 This description would make the brothers understand that the ruler knew things that others could not. • silver cup: As in Greek version; Hebrew lacks this phrase. Hydromancy (pouring water into oil) and aenomancy (pouring wine into other liquids) were methods of divination used in the ancient Near East that would have required such a cup. Joseph was continuing his ruse (see 42:7; cp. 30:27; see also Lev 19:26; Num 23:23; Deut 18:10-11)—he knew that only God grants revelation (see 37:5-9; 40:8; 41:16).

44:9-10 The punishment that the brothers proposed was harsher than necessary; it was normal in antiquity to stake your life on what you said. The palace manager was agreeable but enforced a punishment that matched Joseph's intentions (44:17).

44:11-12 The palace manager knew where the cup was, but he created more anxiety by beginning with the oldest.

44:13 they tore their clothing in despair: They knew what it would do to Jacob to lose Benjamin (42:38).

44:14 This time, the brothers did not bow politely (see 42:6-7; 43:26); they fell to the ground in desperation, fulfilling Joseph's first dream for the third time (see 37:10).

44:16 Judah again spoke for the group. • God is punishing us for our sins: God was completing the work of repentance in their hearts. Judah again proposed that they all be punished. Benjamin was seemingly guilty of this theft, but all of the others were guilty of sin against Joseph. They preferred not returning to Jacob at all versus seeing his grief at the loss of Benjamin (44:34).

44:18-34 Judah made good on his promise to pay for Benjamin's safety (43:8-10). His lengthy plea to be imprisoned in place of the lad (44:33) is one of the most moving acts of intercession in Scripture. It demonstrated Judah's concern for their father and his willingness to give up everything for the sake of his brother. With this kind of integrity (see John 15:13), Judah showed himself to be a true leader, qualified to receive the blessing of the firstborn, through whom the kings of Israel would come (see 49:10). • The brothers had fully repented, as expressed by Judah's intercession. Because of their change, Joseph could make himself known to them (45:1-15) and arrange for the family to join him in Egypt where there was food (45:16; 47:12).

44:29 to his grave: Hebrew to Sheol; also in 44:31.

44:30
1 Sam 18:1
44:32
Gen 43:9
45:1
Gen 43:31
45:3
Gen 37:7
45:4
Gen 37:28
45:5
Gen 50:20
45:6
Gen 41:30
45:8
Gen 41:41
Judg 17:10
45:9
Acts 7:14

me, and any harm comes to him, you will send this grieving, white-haired man to his grave.'

³⁰"And now, my lord, I cannot go back to my father without the boy. Our father's life is bound up in the boy's life. ³¹If he sees that the boy is not with us, our father will die. We, your servants, will indeed be responsible for sending that grieving, white-haired man to his grave. ³²My lord, I guaranteed to my father that I would take care of the boy. I told him, 'If I don't bring him back to you, I will bear the blame forever.'

³³"So please, my lord, let me stay here as a slave instead of the boy, and let the boy return with his brothers. ³⁴For how can I return to my father if the boy is not with me? I couldn't bear to see the anguish this would cause my father!"

Joseph Reveals His Identity and God's Plan

45 Joseph could stand it no longer. There were many people in the room, and he said to his attendants, "Out, all of you!" So he was alone with his brothers when he told them who he was. ²Then he broke down and wept. He wept so loudly the Egyptians could hear him, and word of it quickly carried to Pharaoh's palace.

³"I am Joseph!" he said to his brothers. "Is my father still alive?" But his brothers were speechless! They were stunned to realize that Joseph was standing there in front of them. ⁴"Please, come closer," he said to them. So they came closer. And he said again, "I am Joseph, your brother, whom you sold into slavery in Egypt. ⁵But don't be upset, and don't be angry with yourselves for selling me to this place. It was God who sent me here ahead of you to preserve your lives. ⁶This famine that has ravaged the land for two years will last five more years, and there will be neither plowing nor harvesting. ⁷God has sent me ahead of you to keep you and your families alive and to preserve many survivors. ⁸So it was God who sent me here, not you! And he is the one who made me an adviser to Pharaoh—the manager of his entire palace and the governor of all Egypt.

⁹"Now hurry back to my father and tell him, 'This is what your son Joseph says: God has made me master over all the land of Egypt. So come down to me immediately!'

Judah (44:14-34)

Gen 29:35; 37:26-27; 38:1-30; 43:1-10; 46:28; 49:8-12
Ruth 4:12
1 Chr 2:3-4; 5:2
Ps 108:8

Judah is remembered most often as the ancestor of King David and of Jesus Christ. Despite his indiscretions and his birth as a middle child, God chose Judah to carry the line of King David (1 Chr 2:1-16; 3:1-24) and of the Messiah (49:8-12; Matt 1:2-3; Luke 3:33).

Judah was the fourth of Jacob's twelve sons (35:23; 1 Chr 2:1). Leah, overjoyed to have borne her fourth son, named him Judah, meaning "praise" (29:35). Judah fathered five sons: Er, Onan, and Shelah by Bathshua, a woman from Canaan (38:3-5; 1 Chr 2:3); and the twins, Perez and Zerah, by his daughter-in-law Tamar (38:29-30; 1 Chr 2:4). God killed his first two sons, Er and Onan, in Canaan for disobedience (46:12). Judah eventually settled his family in Egypt with his father and brothers (Exod 1:2).

Though reckless in his behavior with Tamar (38:6-30), Judah took personal responsibility for Benjamin's safety in Egypt and interceded with Joseph for his brothers (44:14-18). When Jacob gave his dying blessing, he granted Judah the position of leadership; the future kings of Israel would come through Judah's offspring (see note on 49:10).

44:32-34 Judah was willing to give up his family, his future, and his freedom for others.

45:1-15 In one of the most dramatic scenes of the book, Joseph revealed his identity to his brothers, bringing the process of reconciling with them to a climax (see also 50:14-21).

45:2 This is the third of five times in the story that Joseph wept over his brothers (see also 42:24; 43:30; 45:14; 50:17; cp. 50:1).

45:3 The brothers were stunned at the news, unable to speak from amazement and fear (45:5; cp. 50:15).

45:5-8 God . . . sent me is the central message of the account of Jacob's family (37:2). As the Lord had told Abraham, he was leading the Israelites into Egypt (15:13). God had sent Joseph to Egypt to prepare for his family's rescue during the famine. In what has become a classic statement of God's sovereignty, Joseph explained that God had been working through all of the circumstances and human acts to bring about his plan. The certainty of God's will is the basis for forgiveness and reconciliation with those who do wrong, cause hurt, or bring harm. If people do not believe that God is sovereign, then they will blame others and retaliate. Those who are spiritual will trust that God is at work even through human wickedness (see also Rom 8:28-30).

45:7 to preserve many survivors: Or and to save you with an extraordinary rescue. The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain.

45:8 an adviser: Literally a father.

45:9-13 Joseph instructed his brothers to inform Jacob. The whole family was to move to Egypt and live in Goshen, a fertile region in the Nile delta (see 47:1-12). If they did not come to Egypt, they would not survive the five years of famine ahead.

¹⁰You can live in the region of Goshen, where you can be near me with all your children and grandchildren, your flocks and herds, and everything you own. ¹¹I will take care of you there, for there are still five years of famine ahead of us. Otherwise you, your household, and all your animals will starve."

¹²Then Joseph added, "Look! You can see for yourselves, and so can my brother Benjamin, that I really am Joseph! ¹³Go tell my father of my honored position here in Egypt. Describe for him everything you have seen, and then bring my father here quickly." ¹⁴Weeping with joy, he embraced Benjamin, and Benjamin did the same. ¹⁵Then Joseph kissed each of his brothers and wept over them, and after that they began talking freely with him.

Pharaoh Invites Jacob to Egypt

¹⁶The news soon reached Pharaoh's palace: "Joseph's brothers have arrived!" Pharaoh and his officials were all delighted to hear this.

¹⁷Pharaoh said to Joseph, "Tell your brothers, 'This is what you must do: Load your pack animals, and hurry back to the land of Canaan. ¹⁸Then get your father and all of your families, and return here to me. I will give you the very best land in Egypt, and you will eat from the best that the land produces.'"

¹⁹Then Pharaoh said to Joseph, "Tell your brothers, 'Take wagons from the land of Egypt to carry your little children and your wives, and bring your father here. ²⁰Don't worry about your personal belongings, for the best of all the land of Egypt is yours.'" ²¹So the sons of Jacob did as they were told. Joseph provided them with wagons, as Pharaoh had commanded, and he gave them supplies for the journey. ²²And he gave each of them new clothes—but to Benjamin he gave five changes of clothes and 300 pieces of silver. ²³He also sent his father ten male donkeys loaded with the finest products of Egypt, and ten female donkeys loaded with grain and bread and other supplies he would need on his journey.

²⁴So Joseph sent his brothers off, and as they left, he called after them, "Don't quarrel about all this along the way!" ²⁵And they left Egypt and returned to their father, Jacob, in the land of Canaan.

²⁶"Joseph is still alive!" they told him. "And he is governor of all the land of Egypt!" Jacob was stunned at the news—he couldn't believe it. ²⁷But when they repeated to Jacob everything Joseph had told them, and when he saw the wagons Joseph had sent to carry him, their father's spirits revived.

²⁸Then Jacob exclaimed, "It must be true! My son Joseph is alive! I must go and see him before I die."

Jacob and His Family Move to Egypt

46 So Jacob set out for Egypt with all his possessions. And when he came to Beersheba, he offered sacrifices to the 45:10

Gen 46:28, 34

45:11
Gen 47:12

45:13
Acts 7:14

45:14
Gen 45:2

45:16
Acts 7:13

45:17
Gen 42:26

45:18
Gen 27:28

45:19
Gen 45:27; 46:5

45:20
Gen 46:6

45:22
Gen 24:53
2 Kgs 5:5

45:23
Gen 43:11

45:24
Gen 42:21-22

45:26
Gen 37:31-35
"aman" (0539)

Exod 14:31

45:27
Gen 45:19
"ruakh" (7307)

Exod 31:3

45:28
Gen 44:28

46:1
Gen 21:14; 26:24;
28:13; 31:42

*zabakh (2076)
Exod 22:20

45:10 The region of Goshen was in the northeast corner of Egypt, only a few days' walk from Canaan. Jacob's family stayed there because there was food and water for themselves and their flocks; later, they were kept there by Egyptians who put them to slave labor.

45:14-15 Joseph was reunited with his brothers—first with Benjamin and then with the rest. Their previous hatred and jealousy of Joseph (37:4-11) had come to an end. The brothers experienced forgiveness from God and from Joseph. Far from commanding his brothers to bow down to him (see 42:6-7), Joseph welcomed them. Joseph held no grudge because he accepted what had happened as God's work and saw the good that had resulted (see 50:14-21). This is how wisdom rules: The wise leader will forgive and restore (see note on 37:2-50:26).

45:16-47:12 This section is transitional, as the family moved from Canaan to Goshen, where they would live for the next four centuries.

45:16-25 Joseph sent his brothers with instructions to bring Jacob and the entire family to Egypt. Out of gratitude for Joseph's having saved all of Egypt (45:18; see 47:20), Pharaoh promised the best of all the land of Egypt, and Joseph gave them the finest products of Egypt.

45:21 Jacob: Hebrew Israel; also in 45:28. See note on 35:21.

45:22 300 pieces: Hebrew 300 [shekels], about 7.5 pounds or 3.4 kilograms in weight.

45:24 Don't quarrel about all this along the way! When they were away from Joseph, they might begin to accuse one another about the past or argue about how to explain what had happened to Jacob. It was now time to put the past behind them and enjoy the reunion.

45:26-28 As might be expected, Jacob was stunned when he heard that his son Joseph was still alive and ruling all the land of Egypt. As he heard the details of their story and saw all that Joseph had sent him, he was convinced that it was true. He immediately prepared to move to Egypt and reunite with his son Joseph, whom he had not seen for twenty-two years.

45:27 their father's spirits revived: This royal invitation to Jacob, an old man near the end of hope, and to the ten brothers burdened with guilty fears, was a turning point in their lives. It was also a fulfillment of God's prediction (15:13-16) that they would go into seclusion in a foreign country and there become a great nation without losing their identity. The joyful news about Joseph changed the lives of everyone in this family for the good.

46:1-4 God reassured Jacob about his move to Egypt.

46:1 Jacob (Hebrew Israel; also in 46:29, 30; see note on 35:21) set out for Egypt: A little over 200 years earlier, Abraham had similarly gone down into Egypt during a famine in Canaan (12:10), and God had protected him there. • Jacob's first stop was at Beersheba, where Abraham had sacrificed to the Lord and worshiped him after settling his land and water rights with the Philistines (21:31-33). This was where Isaac had

46:2
Gen 22:11; 31:11
Num 12:6

46:3
Gen 17:1; 26:2

46:4
Gen 28:13
Exod 3:8

46:5
Gen 45:19

46:6
Num 20:15
Deut 26:5
Acts 7:15

46:8
Gen 29:32; 35:23

46:9
1 Chr 5:3

46:10
1 Chr 4:24

46:11
1 Chr 6:16

46:12
1 Chr 2:3

46:13
1 Chr 7:1

46:14
Gen 30:20

46:15
Gen 30:21

46:16
Gen 30:11
Num 26:15

46:17
Gen 30:13

God of his father, Isaac. ²During the night God spoke to him in a vision. "Jacob! Jacob!" he called.

"Here I am," Jacob replied.

³"I am God, the God of your father," the voice said. "Do not be afraid to go down to Egypt, for there I will make your family into a great nation. ⁴I will go with you down to Egypt, and I will bring you back again. You will die in Egypt, but Joseph will be with you to close your eyes."

⁵So Jacob left Beersheba, and his sons took him to Egypt. They carried him and their little ones and their wives in the wagons Pharaoh had provided for them. ⁶They also took all their livestock and all the personal belongings they had acquired in the land of Canaan. So Jacob and his entire family went to Egypt—⁷sons and grandsons, daughters and granddaughters—all his descendants.

⁸These are the names of the descendants of Israel—the sons of Jacob—who went to Egypt:

Reuben was Jacob's oldest son. ⁹The sons of Reuben were Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi.

¹⁰The sons of Simeon were Jemuel, Jamin, Ohad, Jakin, Zohar, and Shaul. (Shaul's mother was a Canaanite woman.)

¹¹The sons of Levi were Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.

¹²The sons of Judah were Er, Onan, Shelah, Perez, and Zerah (though Er and Onan had died in the land of Canaan). The sons of Perez were Hezron and Hamul.

¹³The sons of Issachar were Tola, Puah, Jashub, and Shimron.

¹⁴The sons of Zebulun were Sered, Elon, and Jahleel.

¹⁵These were the sons of Leah and Jacob who were born in Paddan-aram, in addition to their daughter, Dinah. The number of Jacob's descendants (male and female) through Leah was thirty-three.

¹⁶The sons of Gad were Zephon, Haggi, Shuni, Ezbon, Eri, Arodi, and Areli.

¹⁷The sons of Asher were Imnah, Ishvah, Ishvi, and Beriah. Their sister was Serah. Beriah's sons were Heber and Malkiel.

◀ Egypt, about 1700 BC (39:1–50:26). Egypt was already a great and ancient civilization when Joseph rose to power (chs 39–41) and Jacob's family traveled there for food (chs 42–46; cp. 12:10–20). As the breadbasket of the region, Egypt was synonymous with abundance. It was protected from enemies by natural barriers: the harborless MEDITERRANEAN SEA to the north, the rugged SINAI peninsula to the east, and a great desert to the west. ON (HELIOPOLIS) was the religious center (see 41:45, 50). Egypt was divided into two regions—LOWER EGYPT (the NILE delta region) and UPPER EGYPT (from the delta to the first cataract of the NILE at ELEPHANTINE). ZOAN and MEMPHIS were administrative centers (see Num 13:22; Ps 78:12, 43; Isa 19:11–13; 30:4; Ezek 30:14). THEBES, the chief city of Upper Egypt, was later conquered by the Assyrians (Nah 3:8–10; cp. Ezek 30:14–16). GOSHEN is also shown, the region where the Israelites settled (45:10; 46:28–47:6, 28–29; see Exod 8:22; 9:26).

46:3 I am God: Hebrew I am El.

46:4 you will die: He would have a peaceful death, surrounded by his family and many blessings from God (49:33).

46:8–27 This genealogy of the sons of Jacob shows that all the tribes of Israel went together to the land of Egypt; they would all leave together as well (see the book of Exodus).

46:13 Puah: As in Syriac version and Samaritan Pentateuch (see also 1 Chr 7:1); Hebrew reads Puvah. • Jashub: As in some Greek manuscripts and Samaritan Pentateuch (see also Num 26:24; 1 Chr 7:1); Hebrew reads Iob.

46:16 Zephon: As in Greek version and Samaritan Pentateuch (see also Num 26:15); Hebrew reads Ziphion.

lived, and where Jacob had lived before he fled from Esau's anger (28:10). • all his possessions: See 46:5–7.

46:2–4 In a night vision, the Lord repeated his promise to go with Jacob and make his family into a great nation in Egypt. The same God who led the family into Egypt promised to bring them out of Egypt to live once again in the land of Canaan.

¹⁸These were the sons of Zilpah, the servant given to Leah by her father, Laban. The number of Jacob's descendants through Zilpah was sixteen.

¹⁹The sons of Jacob's wife Rachel were Joseph and Benjamin.

²⁰Joseph's sons, born in the land of Egypt, were Manasseh and Ephraim. Their mother was Asenath, daughter of Potiphera, the priest of On.

²¹Benjamin's sons were Bela, Beker, Ashbel, Gera, Naaman, Ehi, Rosh, Muppim, Huppim, and Ard.

²²These were the sons of Rachel and Jacob. The number of Jacob's descendants through Rachel was fourteen.

²³The son of Dan was Hushim.

²⁴The sons of Naphtali were Jahzeel, Guni, Jezer, and Shillem.

²⁵These were the sons of Bilhah, the servant given to Rachel by her father, Laban. The number of Jacob's descendants through Bilhah was seven.

²⁶The total number of Jacob's direct descendants who went with him to Egypt, not counting his sons' wives, was sixty-six. ²⁷In addition, Joseph had two sons who were born in Egypt. So altogether, there were seventy members of Jacob's family in the land of Egypt.

Jacob's Family Arrives in Goshen

²⁸As they neared their destination, Jacob sent Judah ahead to meet Joseph and get directions to the region of Goshen. And when they finally arrived there, ²⁹Joseph prepared his chariot and traveled to Goshen to meet his father, Jacob. When Joseph arrived, he embraced his father and wept, holding him for a long time. ³⁰Finally, Jacob said to Joseph,

"Now I am ready to die, since I have seen your face again and know you are still alive."

³¹And Joseph said to his brothers and to his father's entire family, "I will go to Pharaoh and tell him, 'My brothers and my father's entire family have come to me from the land of Canaan. ³²These men are shepherds, and they raise livestock. They have brought with them their flocks and herds and everything they own.'"

³³Then he said, "When Pharaoh calls for you and asks you about your occupation, ³⁴you must tell him, 'We, your servants, have raised livestock all our lives, as our ancestors have always done.' When you tell him this, he will let you live here in the region of Goshen, for the Egyptians despise shepherds."

Jacob Blesses Pharaoh and Settles in Goshen

47 Then Joseph went to see Pharaoh and told him, "My father and my brothers have arrived from the land of Canaan. They have come with all their flocks and herds and possessions, and they are now in the region of Goshen."

²Joseph took five of his brothers with him and presented them to Pharaoh. ³And Pharaoh asked the brothers, "What is your occupation?"

They replied, "We, your servants, are shepherds, just like our ancestors. ⁴We have come to live here in Egypt for a while, for there is no pasture for our flocks in Canaan. The famine is very severe there. So please, we request permission to live in the region of Goshen."

⁵Then Pharaoh said to Joseph, "Now that your father and brothers have joined you here, ⁶choose any place in the entire land of Egypt for them to live. Give them the best land of Egypt. Let them live in the region

46:19
Gen 44:27

46:20
Gen 41:45, 50-52

46:21
Num 26:38-41
1 Chr 7:6-12

46:22
Gen 35:24

46:23
Gen 30:6
Num 26:42

46:24
Gen 30:8

46:25
Gen 35:25

46:27
Exod 1:5
Deut 10:22
Acts 7:14

46:28
Gen 43:3; 45:10

46:29
Gen 45:14-15

46:30
Gen 44:28

46:31
Gen 47:1

46:32
Gen 37:2; 47:3

46:33
Gen 47:3

46:34
Gen 13:7; 26:20; 37:2

47:1
Gen 46:31

47:2
Gen 43:15

47:3
Gen 46:32-33

47:4
Gen 46:34

47:6
Gen 45:18
Exod 18:21, 25

46:20 On: Greek version reads of Heliopolis (see note on 41:45).

46:26 The total number . . . was sixty-six: This is the number of those who traveled with Jacob to Egypt, excluding his sons' wives, the servants, and others attached to the household. It also omits Joseph, Ephraim, Manasseh, and Jacob.

46:27 two sons: Greek version reads nine sons, probably including Joseph's grandsons through Ephraim and Manasseh (see 1 Chr 7:14-20). • seventy (Greek version reads seventy-five; see note on Exod 1:5): This number includes Joseph, Ephraim, Manasseh, and Jacob. Seventy is also a symbolic number for perfection or completion (see "Symbolic Numbers" at Rev 4:4, p. 2173). From these seventy (i.e., all Israel) would grow the nation of Israel that would bless the seventy nations (i.e., all the nations) of the world (see note on 10:2-32; cp. 12:3).

46:28-34 Jacob finally saw his son Joseph again; their reunion was overwhelmingly joyful.

46:29 Joseph . . . embraced his father and wept: Joseph was seventeen when he had last seen his father (37:2); now he was thirty-nine.

46:30 Jacob was satisfied just to see his beloved son alive—the firstborn of his chosen wife Rachel and the designated family leader (see note on 48:5-7; see also 1 Chr 5:1-2). More than just a family reunion, this was confirmation that God's plan was intact.

46:34 In contrast to the syncretistic Canaanites, who would have absorbed the Israelites had they stayed in Canaan, Egyptians detested Semitic shepherds out of a sense of ethnic superiority and observed a strict segregation (see 43:32). When Jacob's family settled in Egypt, this separation would allow the people to grow into a great nation without losing their identity.

47:1-6 Pharaoh responded as Joseph hoped by giving Jacob's family the best part of the land; he even gave some of the brothers oversight of his own livestock (47:6).

47:1 Goshen (see note on 45:10) is not referred to in ancient Egyptian texts; the name it bore in later Egyptian writings was "the region of Rameses" (47:11; see Exod 1:11). It was fertile and near to Joseph at court, which suggests that it was on the eastern side of the Nile delta.

47:7
Gen 47:10
2 Sam 14:22
1 Kgs 8:66

47:10
Gen 14:19

47:11
Exod 1:11; 12:37

47:12
Gen 45:11; 47:24

47:13
Gen 41:30
Acts 7:11

47:14
Gen 41:56

47:15
Gen 47:18-19

47:17
Exod 14:9

47:19
Neh 5:2
Job 2:4
Lam 1:11

47:22
Deut 14:28-29

47:24
Gen 41:34

47:25
Gen 32:5

47:26
Gen 47:22

47:27
Exod 1:7

47:29
Gen 24:2; 50:24-25

of Goshen. And if any of them have special skills, put them in charge of my livestock, too."

⁷Then Joseph brought in his father, Jacob, and presented him to Pharaoh. And Jacob blessed Pharaoh.

⁸"How old are you?" Pharaoh asked him.

⁹Jacob replied, "I have traveled this earth for 130 hard years. But my life has been short compared to the lives of my ancestors." ¹⁰Then Jacob blessed Pharaoh again before leaving his court.

¹¹So Joseph assigned the best land of Egypt—the region of Rameses—to his father and his brothers, and he settled them there, just as Pharaoh had commanded. ¹²And Joseph provided food for his father and his brothers in amounts appropriate to the number of their dependents, including the smallest children.

Joseph's Leadership in the Famine

¹³Meanwhile, the famine became so severe that all the food was used up, and people were starving throughout the lands of Egypt and Canaan. ¹⁴By selling grain to the people, Joseph eventually collected all the money in Egypt and Canaan, and he put the money in Pharaoh's treasury. ¹⁵When the people of Egypt and Canaan ran out of money, all the Egyptians came to Joseph. "Our money is gone!" they cried. "But please give us food, or we will die before your very eyes!"

¹⁶Joseph replied, "Since your money is gone, bring me your livestock. I will give you food in exchange for your livestock."

¹⁷So they brought their livestock to Joseph in exchange for food. In exchange for their horses, flocks of sheep and goats, herds of cattle, and donkeys, Joseph provided them with food for another year.

¹⁸But that year ended, and the next year they came again and said, "We cannot hide the truth from you, my lord. Our money is gone, and all our livestock and cattle are yours. We have nothing left to give but our bodies and our land. ¹⁹Why should we die before your very eyes? Buy us and our land in exchange for food; we offer our land and ourselves as slaves for Pharaoh. Just give us grain so we may live and not die, and so the land does not become empty and desolate."

²⁰So Joseph bought all the land of Egypt for Pharaoh. All the Egyptians sold him their fields because the famine was so severe, and soon all the land belonged to Pharaoh. ²¹As for the people, he made them all slaves, from one end of Egypt to the other. ²²The only land he did not buy was the land belonging to the priests. They received an allotment of food directly from Pharaoh, so they didn't need to sell their land.

²³Then Joseph said to the people, "Look, today I have bought you and your land for Pharaoh. I will provide you with seed so you can plant the fields. ²⁴Then when you harvest it, one-fifth of your crop will belong to Pharaoh. You may keep the remaining four-fifths as seed for your fields and as food for you, your households, and your little ones."

²⁵"You have saved our lives!" they exclaimed. "May it please you, my lord, to let us be Pharaoh's servants." ²⁶Joseph then issued a decree still in effect in the land of Egypt, that Pharaoh should receive one-fifth of all the crops grown on his land. Only the land belonging to the priests was not given to Pharaoh.

²⁷Meanwhile, the people of Israel settled in the region of Goshen in Egypt. There they acquired property, and they were fruitful, and their population grew rapidly. ²⁸Jacob lived for seventeen years after his arrival in Egypt, so he lived 147 years in all.

Joseph Promises to Bury Jacob in Canaan

²⁹As the time of his death drew near, Jacob called for his son Joseph and said to him,

47:7-10 When Jacob entered Pharaoh's court and when he left, he blessed Pharaoh, an indication of Jacob's position as God's representative (see Heb 7:7). God had promised that he would bless those who blessed Abraham's family (12:2-3), so he now blessed Pharaoh and Egypt.

47:13-26 The Lord blessed Pharaoh because Pharaoh was blessing Abraham's descendants (12:3). Through Joseph's wise administration in Egypt, the Lord saved the people from starvation and prospered Pharaoh. In selling food to the Egyptians during the years of famine, Joseph accepted money, livestock, and finally land as payment, until all-most all of Egypt belonged to Pharaoh. Meanwhile, God provided Israel with some of the best land in Egypt where they could live, work, and multiply.

47:21 he made them all slaves: As in Greek version and Samaritan Penta-teuch; Hebrew reads he moved them all into the towns, where the food was. In Hebrew script, the difference is very slight between slaves (Hebrew 'abadim) and towns (Hebrew 'irim). Moving the people into the towns doesn't fit the context very well, so most translations select slaves as the reading that makes the most sense (cp. 47:20).

47:27 God blessed his people according to his promise to Abraham that his descendants would be innumerable (15:5; 22:17). They had to wait for the fulfillment of the second promise, that they would own the land of Canaan (17:8).

47:29-31 bury me with my ancestors: Cp. 49:29-33. Jacob wanted to be buried with Abraham and Isaac in the cave of Machpelah (see note on 49:29-33; see 23:1-20; 25:7-10; 35:27-29). • Put your hand under my thigh: This custom (cp. 24:1-9 and note on 24:2) was a serious oath to carry on the covenant, which had as its main promise innumerable descendants in the Promised Land. • Jacob: Hebrew Israel; also in 47:31b. See note on 35:21.

"Please do me this favor. Put your hand under my thigh and swear that you will treat me with unfailing love by honoring this last request: Do not bury me in Egypt. ³⁰When I die, please take my body out of Egypt and bury me with my ancestors."

So Joseph promised, "I will do as you ask."

³¹"Swear that you will do it," Jacob insisted. So Joseph gave his oath, and Jacob bowed humbly at the head of his bed.

Jacob Blesses His Children (48:1–50:26)

Jacob Blesses Manasseh and Ephraim

48 One day not long after this, word came to Joseph, "Your father is failing rapidly." So Joseph went to visit his father, and he took with him his two sons, Manasseh and Ephraim.

²When Joseph arrived, Jacob was told, "Your son Joseph has come to see you." So Jacob gathered his strength and sat up in his bed.

³Jacob said to Joseph, "God ^hAlmighty appeared to me at Luz in the land of Canaan and blessed me. ⁴He said to me, 'I will make you fruitful, and I will multiply your descendants. I will make you a multitude of nations. And I will give this land of Canaan to your descendants after you as an everlasting possession.'

⁵"Now I am claiming as my own sons these two boys of yours, Ephraim and Manasseh, who were born here in the land of Egypt before I arrived. They will be my sons, just as Reuben and Simeon are. ⁶But any children born to you in the future will be your own, and they will inherit land within the territories of their brothers Ephraim and Manasseh.

⁷"Long ago, as I was returning from Paddan-aram, Rachel died in the land of Canaan. We were still on the way, some distance from Ephrath (that is, Bethlehem). So with great sorrow I buried her there beside the road to Ephrath."

⁸Then Jacob looked over at the two boys. "Are these your sons?" he asked.

⁹"Yes," Joseph told him, "these are the sons God has given me here in Egypt."

And Jacob said, "Bring them closer to me, so I can bless them."

¹⁰Jacob was half blind because of his age and could hardly see. So Joseph brought the boys close to him, and Jacob kissed and embraced them. ¹¹Then Jacob said to Joseph, "I never thought I would see your face again, but now God has let me see your children, too!"

¹²Joseph moved the boys, who were at their grandfather's knees, and he bowed with his face to the ground. ¹³Then he positioned the boys in front of Jacob. With his right hand he directed Ephraim toward Jacob's left hand, and with his left hand he put Manasseh at Jacob's right hand. ¹⁴But Jacob crossed his arms as he reached out to lay his hands on the boys' heads. He put his right hand on the head of Ephraim, though he was the younger boy, and his left hand on the head of Manasseh, though he was the firstborn. ¹⁵Then he blessed Joseph and said,

"May the God before whom my grandfather Abraham and my father, Isaac, walked—the God who has been my shepherd all my life, to this very day, 47:30

Gen 23:17-20; 25:9;
49:29
Acts 7:15-16
47:31
Heb 11:21
48:1
Gen 41:51-52
Heb 11:21
48:3
Gen 28:13-19; 35:9-12
^hshadday (7706)
• Gen 49:25
48:4
^hzera' (2233)
• Exod 32:13
48:5
Gen 29:32-33
48:7
Gen 35:19
48:9
Gen 33:5
48:10
Gen 27:1
48:11
Gen 44:28
48:12
Gen 33:3; 42:6
48:14
Gen 41:51-52
48:15
Gen 17:1; 49:24
^{lro'eh} (7462)
• Gen 49:24

47:31 When the oath was taken, Jacob bowed humbly in worship at the head of his bed: Greek version reads and Israel bowed in worship as he leaned on his staff; cp. Heb 11:21. Jacob thanked the Lord for ensuring that he would be buried with his ancestors in the land of promise (cp. 1 Kgs 1:47).

48:1-22 In blessing Ephraim and Manasseh, Jacob reached out by faith for the promise to be continued, having learned that God's ways are not always the ways of men. Out of Jacob's long life, the writer to the Hebrews selected the blessing of Joseph's sons as his great act of faith (Heb 11:21). As Jacob acted in light of God's will, the primary blessing was again given to the younger instead of the older son, but without scheming and its bitter results.

48:2 Jacob: Hebrew Israel; also in 48:8, 10, 11, 13, 14, 21. See note on 35:21.

48:3-4 Jacob rehearsed how God Almighty (Hebrew El-Shaddai) had appeared to him and promised him Abraham's blessing—innumerable descendants dwelling in the land (cp. 28:10-22). • descendants: Literally seed; also in 48:19.

48:5-7 Jacob, prompted by his memory of Rachel, blessed Joseph by elevating his two sons as coheirs with his other sons—the tribes of Ephraim and Manasseh would have shares along with the other tribes that came from Jacob (see Josh 16–17). Jacob also gave Ephraim, Joseph's younger son, the birthright (see 1 Chr 5:1-2). As a result of this blessing, Ephraim and Manasseh became large and powerful tribes (see Josh 17:14-18). • Paddan-aram: Hebrew Paddan, referring to Paddan-aram; cp. Gen 35:9.

48:10 As Isaac his father had done,

Jacob now gave the blessing when his eyesight was failing (cp. 27:1).

48:14 The right hand was for the head of the firstborn, and Jacob was deliberately giving that position to the younger son. That pattern was followed for four consecutive generations: Isaac over Ishmael, Jacob over Esau, Joseph over Reuben, and Ephraim over Manasseh. Many years later, Ephraim became the leading tribe in the northern kingdom, superior to the tribe of Manasseh. The entire northern kingdom of Israel was occasionally called Ephraim (see notes on 2 Chr 28:12; Isa 11:13; Hos 6:4).

48:15-16 In his blessing on Joseph, Jacob used a threefold invocation to describe the God in whom he trusted: (1) the God who was in covenant with his fathers Abraham and Isaac (28:13; 31:5, 42; 32:9; 46:3); (2) the God who had been his shepherd (cp. 49:24);

48:16
Gen 22:11; 28:13-15;
31:11

*Heb 11:21
*mal'ak (4397)
→ Exod 3:2

48:19
Gen 28:14; 46:3

48:20
Ruth 4:11

48:21
Gen 28:15; 46:4;
50:24

48:22
Josh 24:32
John 4:5

49:1
Num 24:14

16 the ^kAngel who has redeemed me from all harm—may he bless these boys.
May they preserve my name and the names of Abraham and Isaac.
And may their descendants multiply greatly throughout the earth.”

17 But Joseph was upset when he saw that his father placed his right hand on Ephraim's head. So Joseph lifted it to move it from Ephraim's head to Manasseh's head. 18 “No, my father,” he said. “This one is the first-born. Put your right hand on his head.”

19 But his father refused. “I know, my son; I know,” he replied. “Manasseh will also become a great people, but his younger brother will become even greater. And his descendants will become a multitude of nations.”

20 So Jacob blessed the boys that day with this blessing: “The people of Israel will use your names when they give a blessing. They will say, ‘May God make you as prosperous as Ephraim and Manasseh.’” In this way, Jacob put Ephraim ahead of Manasseh.

21 Then Jacob said to Joseph, “Look, I am about to die, but God will be with you and will take you back to Canaan, the land of your ancestors. 22 And beyond what I have given your brothers, I am giving you an extra portion of the land that I took from the Amorites with my sword and bow.”

Jacob Blesses His Sons

49 Then Jacob called together all his sons and said, “Gather around me, and I will tell you what will happen to each of you in the days to come.”

Blessing (48:8-20)

Gen 1:22, 28;
9:26-27; 12:2-3;
14:19-20; 24:59-60;
27:1-41; 28:1-4;
32:24-30; 49:1-28
Lev 26:3-13
Num 6:22-27
Deut 7:12-15; 10:8;
28:1-14; 33:1-29
1 Sam 2:20-21
Ps 128:1-6
Matt 5:3-12
Luke 6:27-28
Rom 12:14
Gal 3:13-14
Eph 1:3
Heb 7:6-7
1 Pet 3:9

Jacob adopted Joseph's sons and blessed them (48:3-7), just as his father Isaac had blessed him (27:27-29). Blessing enables, enhances, and enriches life, whereas a curse diminishes it (Lev 26:14-39). Blessing is issued publicly by a benefactor and provides power for prosperity and success. Blessing is essential to covenant relationships in that it guides and motivates the parties to obey the covenant's stipulations (Lev 26:3-13; Deut 28:1-14). Obedience leads to blessing, whereas rebellion brings a curse.

The initial realm of blessing is creation, in which God as Creator is the ultimate granter of blessing for animals (1:22) and humans (1:28; see Ps 104; 128:3-4). Humans also serve as channels of divine blessing. Abraham was called to be a blessing to the nations (12:2-3). The institutions of family (27:27-29), government (1 Kgs 8:14, 44, 52, 66), and religion (14:19; Lev 9:22) are nurtured, commissioned, and purified through blessing. Israel's priests mediated God's blessing to Israel (Num 6:24-26; Deut 10:8).

Three basic characteristics can be observed in OT blessings: (1) They are conveyed from a greater party to a lesser one (32:26; Heb 7:6-7); (2) They are signs of favor that result in well-being and productivity (Deut 28:3-7); and (3) They acknowledge that all power and blessing stems from the Creator. All blessings have their source in God's love (Deut 7:7-8, 12-15).

God's blessings in Genesis are in striking contrast with the pagan religions of antiquity. For pagan religions, fortunes and fertility of flock, family, and fields came about through sympathetic magic in cultic observances at their shrines—profane customs that were designed to induce the deities to act on their behalf so that the cycle of life could be maintained. In Genesis, all of life, fertility, and blessing came by God's decree, for he is the only true and living God.

In the NT, the emphasis of blessing shifts from the material to the spiritual, from the nation to the church, and from the temporal to the eternal (Matt 6:25; Eph 1:3; 1 Pet 3:9). In his death, Jesus bore the consequences of sin's curse (Gal 3:13), established God's kingdom (Matt 3:2; 5:3-20; John 3:3-5), and blessed its citizens with forgiveness of sin (Rom 4:6-25). Now believers are called to bless the world (Luke 6:27-28; Rom 12:14; see also Isa 19:24; Zech 8:13).

Exod 6:6; Ps 23:1; Isa 59:20); and (3) the Angel who rescued him from all harm. He prayed the same blessings for Joseph's sons.

48:17-19 Joseph was upset: He expected God to act according to convention, but faith recognizes that God's ways are not man's ways, and God's thoughts are not man's thoughts. It took Jacob a lifetime to learn this lesson, but he did learn it, and here he acted on it.

48:22 an extra portion of the land: Or an extra ridge of land. The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain. Joseph was later buried at Shechem (Josh 24:32) as a sign that he possessed this bequeathed portion (Hebrew shekem) of land. Jacob had apparently conquered this area though the occasion is not mentioned elsewhere.

49:1-28 Jacob, by faith and as God's spokesman, looked forward to Israel's settlement in the land, and beyond that to the glorious future. Here at the end of the patriarchal age, he foretold what would happen to each tribe as he evaluated his sons one by one, just as Noah had done at the end of the primeval era

- ² "Come and listen, you sons of Jacob;
listen to Israel, your father.
- ³ "Reuben, you are my firstborn, my strength, the child of my vigorous youth.
You are first in rank and first in power.
- ⁴ But you are as unruly as a flood, and you will be first no longer.
For you went to bed with my wife;
you defiled my marriage couch.
- ⁵ "Simeon and Levi are two of a kind; their weapons are instruments of violence.
- ⁶ May I never join in their meetings;
may I never be a party to their plans.
For in their anger they murdered men, and they crippled oxen just for sport.
- ⁷ A curse on their anger, for it is fierce;
a curse on their wrath, for it is cruel.
I will scatter them among the descendants of Jacob;
I will disperse them throughout Israel.
- ⁸ "Judah, your brothers will praise you.
You will grasp your enemies by the neck.
All your relatives will bow before you.
- ⁹ Judah, my son, is a young lion that has finished eating its prey.
Like a lion he crouches and lies down;
like a lioness—who dares to rouse him?
- ¹⁰ The scepter will not depart from Judah, nor the ruler's staff from his descendants, until the coming of the one to whom it belongs,
the one whom all nations will honor.
- ¹¹ He ties his foal to a grapevine, the colt of his donkey to a choice vine.
He washes his clothes in wine, his robes in the ^ablood of grapes.
- ¹² His eyes are darker than wine, and his teeth are whiter than milk.
- ¹³ "Zebulun will settle by the seashore and will be a harbor for ships;
his borders will extend to Sidon.
- ¹⁴ "Issachar is a sturdy donkey, resting between two saddlepacks.
- ¹⁵ When he sees how good the countryside is and how pleasant the land, he will bend his shoulder to the load and submit himself to hard labor.
- ¹⁶ "Dan will govern his people, like any other tribe in Israel.
- ¹⁷ Dan will be a snake beside the road,
a poisonous viper along the path

49:3
Num 26:5
Deut 21:17
Ps 78:51; 105:36

49:4
Gen 35:22
Deut 27:20

49:5
Gen 29:33-34;
34:25-30

49:6
Gen 34:26

49:7
Josh 19:1, 9, 21:1-42

49:8
1 Chr 5:2
Heb 7:14

49:9
Num 24:9
Mic 5:8

49:10
Num 24:17
Ps 2:6-9; 60:7

49:11
Deut 8:7-8
2 Kgs 18:32
^adom (1818)
+ Lev 3:17

49:13
Deut 33:18-19

49:15
Josh 19:17-23

49:16
Deut 33:22
Judg 18:26-27

49:19
Deut 33:20

49:20
Deut 33:24-25

(cp. 9:25-27). The character and acts of each ancestor affected the lives of his descendants (Exod 20:5-6; 34:6-7; Num 14:18; Jer 32:18).

49:1-2 Jacob's words were deliberately chosen prophetic oracles. The days to come refer to the conquest and settlement of the Promised Land, and beyond that to the messianic age. They would all share in the blessing; all the tribes would enter the land with Joshua, but they would not all participate equally.

49:3-4 As firstborn, Reuben was entitled to be head of the family, but because he had the ungoverned impulses of boiling or turbulent waters (35:22), Jacob prophesied that Reuben would fail in leadership (see 37:21-22, 29; 42:22, 37-38; cp. Judg 5:15-16; 1 Chr 5:1-2).

49:5-7 Simeon and Levi were violent and lawless; instead of serving justice, they indulged their uncontrolled anger and disregarded life (34:24-29). • I will scatter them: Simeon's land was largely absorbed into Judah's (Josh 19:1, 9); Levi was given a more honorable future because the Levites became the priestly tribe (see Exod 32:25-29), but they had no region of their own (Josh 21).

49:8-12 The blessing on Judah commands the most attention. In this oracle, Jacob predicted the fierce, lion-like dominance of Judah over his enemies and over his brothers, who would praise him (cp. 29:35; see, e.g., Ruth 4:11-12; 1 Sam 18:6-7; Pss 2, 45, 72; Isa 11:1-13).

49:10 This verse anticipates the kingship in Judah (cp. 17:6, 16; 35:11). Although the birthright blessing went to Joseph, Judah would provide Israel's rulers (see 1 Chr 5:1-2). A long line of kings from Judah would retain the scepter, the symbol of rule; the last king would be the one to whom it belongs, the promised Messiah (see 2 Sam 7:4-16; Pss 2, 45, 60; Isa 11; Ezek 21:26-27; Zech 9:9; Rev 5:5). • from his descendants: Literally from between his feet, taking between his feet as a poetic euphemism for reproductive organs. • until the coming of the one to whom it belongs (Or until tribute is brought to him and the peoples obey; traditionally rendered until Shiloh comes): These differences arise from ambiguities in the Hebrew text. Rule of Israel belongs to Judah's descendant through David's line (2 Sam 7:8-16), and he will eventually rule all nations, as signified by the bringing of tribute (see Ps 68:29; 72:8-11; Isa 2:2-4; Eph 4:8-10).

49:11-12 These descriptions envision the abundance of the Messiah's kingdom (see Isa 61:6-7; 65:21-25; Zech 3:10). When the Messiah comes, there will be paradise-like splendor and abundance on the earth. • He ties his foal to a grapevine: Grapevines will be so abundant that they will be used for hitching posts, and wine will be as abundant as fresh water (see Amos 9:13-14; Zech 3:10). • The coming one will have eyes . . . darker than wine and teeth . . . whiter than milk: He will be vigorous and healthy, as will be the era of his rule. Jesus' miracle of changing water into wine (John 2:1-12), his first sign, was an announcement that the Messiah had come; it was a foretaste of even better things to come.

49:13 The oracle said Zebulun would dwell by the sea and be a safe harbor, but in the actual settlement they spread inland (see Josh 19:10-16). The oracle did not give specific borders for the tribes.

49:14-15 Like a sturdy donkey, the tribe of Issachar would be forced to work for others. Issachar was often subjugated by invading armies. • saddlepacks: Or sheepfolds, or hearths. The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain.

49:16-17 Dan was called to provide justice (Dan means "judge"), but the tribe would choose treachery, like a snake beside the road (see Judg 18).

49:21
Deut 33:12-13
49:22
Deut 33:13-17
49:23
Gen 37:24
49:24
Ps 132:2, 5
Isa 41:10; 49:26
bro'eh (7462)
• Exod 3:1
49:25
Gen 28:13
shadday (7706)
• Exod 6:3

that bites the horse's hooves
so its rider is thrown off.
18 I trust in you for salvation, O LORD!
19 "Gad will be attacked by marauding bands, but he will attack them when they retreat.
20 "Asher will dine on rich foods and produce food fit for kings.
21 "Naphtali is a doe set free that bears beautiful fawns.

22 "Joseph is the foal of a wild donkey, the foal of a wild donkey at a spring—
one of the wild donkeys on the ridge.
23 Archers attacked him savagely;
they shot at him and harassed him.
24 But his bow remained taut, and his arms were strengthened by the hands of the Mighty One of Jacob,
by the ^bShepherd, the Rock of Israel.
25 May the God of your father help you;
may the ^cAlmighty bless you

Death (49:29-33)

Gen 2:15-17; 3:19;
6:17; 9:5-6
Exod 21:12-17, 28-
29; 23:7; 31:14-15
Lev 24:16
Deut 32:39
Job 10:18-22;
19:25-27
Ps 90:1-12; 94:17
Prov 14:32
Eccl 12:1-7
Isa 25:6-9; 26:19;
40:6-8
Dan 12:2-3
Mark 12:26-27
Rom 5:12-17
1 Cor 15:20-26,
51-58
Rev 20:4-6, 11-15;
21:3-8

As Jacob lay dying in Egypt, he considered two promises regarding his death: that he would die peacefully (46:4) and that he would join his ancestors (49:29, 33). Humans are mortal, and death is the natural end of earthly life (Ps 90:1-6). Human identity began with the earth's dust being animated by the breath of God (2:7). This passive state returns at death as God withdraws his breath and the human body collapses again into dust (3:19; Job 4:19-21; Isa 40:6-8). Human life depends entirely and continuously on the Creator of life—his breath is a gift that sustains us in life for as long as he grants it (Ps 104:29).

Death entered the human race by sin and brought ruin to it; death comes suddenly, bringing mourning and an apparent end to hopes and dreams. Death is the severest penalty in human justice. In the OT, the death penalty was a punishment for murder (9:6; Exod 21:12) or blasphemy (Lev 24:16; John 10:30-31)—violations that threatened the living community.

In the OT, the opposite of "the land of the living" (Ps 27:13) was Sheol, the realm of the dead that was shrouded in darkness and silence (Job 10:21-22; Ps 94:17; Jon 2:6). Yet even in death, believers cannot be separated from God's presence (Ps 17:15; 49:15; Prov 14:32). God is sovereign and rules over death (Deut 32:39).

The OT mentions the fact of resurrection (see Job 19:25-27; Isa 25:6-9; 26:19; Dan 12:2). Eventually, God's redeemed people will triumph over death (1 Cor 15:54-55), the last enemy to be destroyed (1 Cor 15:26). Death results from sin (Rom 5:12), and sinners will be punished in the lake of fire, called the second death (Rev 21:8). Christ's death defeated death, making his resurrection the paradigm for all believers (Col 1:18). He is the Lord of the living and of the dead (Rom 14:9).

In Gen 49:29-33, death is joined with hope by faith. In life, the patriarchs were sojourners; in death, they were heirs of the promise and the occupied land. The patriarchs died without having received the promises (Heb 11:39-40), but that was not the end of the story. God's promises to people are not exhausted in this life, for God makes promises that necessitate a resurrection (see Matt 22:21-32 // Mark 12:26-27). The time of death—when the natural inclination is to mourn—should also be the time of the greatest demonstration of faith, for the recipient of God's promises has a hope beyond the grave.

49:18 At this point, Jacob interjected an expression of hope. He may have been indirectly reminding his sons of their need for dependence on the Lord or expressing his hope in the Messiah's reign, when he and his descendants would be rescued from all trouble, grief, and human treachery.

49:19 Three of the six Hebrew words in this verse are wordplays on the name Gad ("attack"). Gad will be attacked by marauding bands (attackers), but he will attack. The tribes that settled east of the Jordan River frequently experienced border raids (see Josh 13; 2 Kgs 10:32-33; 1 Chr 5:18-19).

49:20 Asher would be fertile and productive, providing rich foods. That tribe settled along the rich northern coast of Canaan.

49:21 Naphtali, like a doe, would be a free mountain people (cp. Judg 5:18). The tribe settled in the hilly region northwest of the Sea of Galilee.

49:22-26 This oracle treats Joseph more expansively than any of the others, for here the main blessing lay (see 1 Chr 5:1-2). Jacob lavished promises of victory and prosperity on Joseph's two tribes. Ephraimites recorded as victorious in battle include Joshua (Josh 6, 8, 10, 12) and Deborah (Judg 4). Victorious descendants of Manasseh include Gideon (Judg 6-8) and Jephthah (Judg 11:1-12:7).

49:22 Or Joseph is a fruitful tree, / a fruitful tree beside a spring. / His branches reach over the wall. The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain.

49:24-26 Five names for God introduce five blessings; God is the giver of all good things.

49:25 The blessings of the heavens above meant rain for crops. • The blessings of the watery depths were streams and wells of water. • The blessings of the breasts and womb were abundant offspring.

with the blessings of the heavens above, and blessings of the watery depths below, and blessings of the breasts and womb.

²⁶ May my fatherly blessings on you surpass the blessings of my ancestors, reaching to the heights of the eternal hills.

May these blessings rest on the head of Joseph,
who is a prince among his brothers.

²⁷ "Benjamin is a ravenous wolf, devouring his enemies in the morning and dividing his plunder in the evening."

²⁸ These are the twelve tribes of Israel, and this is what their father said as he told his sons good-bye. He ⁴blessed each one with an appropriate message.

Jacob's Death and Burial

²⁹ Then Jacob instructed them, "Soon I will die and join my ancestors. Bury me with my father and grandfather in the cave in the field of Ephron the Hittite. ³⁰ This is the cave in the field of Machpelah, near Mamre in Canaan, that Abraham bought from Ephron the Hittite as a permanent burial site. ³¹ There Abraham and his wife Sarah are buried. There Isaac and his wife, Rebekah, are buried. And there I buried Leah.
³² It is the plot of land and the cave that my grandfather Abraham bought from the Hittites."

³³ When Jacob had finished this charge to his sons, he drew his feet into the bed, breathed his last, and joined his ancestors in death.

50 Joseph threw himself on his father and wept over him and kissed him. ² Then Joseph told the physicians who served him to embalm his father's body;
so Jacob was embalmed. ³ The embalming process took the usual forty days. And the Egyptians mourned his death for seventy days.

⁴ When the period of mourning was over, Joseph approached Pharaoh's advisers and said, "Please do me this favor and speak to Pharaoh on my behalf. ⁵ Tell him that my father made me swear an oath. He said to me, 'Listen, I am about to die. Take my body back to the land of Canaan, and bury me in the tomb I prepared for myself.' So please allow me to go and bury my father. After his burial, I will return without delay."

⁶ Pharaoh agreed to Joseph's request. "Go and bury your father, as he made you promise," he said. ⁷ So Joseph went up to bury his father. He was accompanied by all of Pharaoh's officials, all the senior members of Pharaoh's household, and all the senior officers of Egypt. ⁸ Joseph also took his entire household and his brothers and their households. But they left their little children and flocks and herds in the land of Goshen. ⁹ A great number of chariots and charioteers accompanied Joseph.

¹⁰ When they arrived at the threshing floor of Atad, near the Jordan River, they held a very great and solemn memorial service, with a seven-day period of mourning for Joseph's father. ¹¹ The local residents, the Canaanites, watched them mourning at the threshing floor of Atad. Then they renamed that place (which is near the Jordan) Abel-mizraim, for they said, "This is a place of deep mourning for these Egyptians."

49:26
Deut 33:15-16

49:27
Deut 33:12

49:28
⁴ barak (1288)
¹ Num 6:23

49:29
Gen 23:16-20; 25:8-9

49:31
Gen 23:19; 25:9;
35:29

49:33
Gen 25:8
Acts 7:15

50:1
Gen 46:4

50:2
Gen 50:26

50:3
Num 20:29
Deut 34:8

50:5
Gen 47:29-31

50:8
Gen 45:10

50:9
Gen 41:43

49:26 of my ancestors: Or of the ancient mountains. • Joseph . . . is a prince among his brothers: A reflection of both his character and his position.

49:27 The oracle about Benjamin describes a violent tribe (see Judg 20; 1 Sam 9:1-2; 19:10; 22:17).

49:28 These prophecies are broad in scope, foretelling the future of the different tribes in general terms. Individuals, by faith and obedience, could find great blessing from God regardless of what happened to their clan.

49:29-33 Bury me with my father: This grave in the land of Canaan represented hope for the future (cp. 47:29-30). Others buried at the cave of Machpelah near Hebron were Sarah (23:19), Abraham (25:7-9), Isaac (35:27-29), Rebekah, and Leah.

49:33 Jacob died at the age of 147 (47:28), bringing his life of struggle and sorrow to an end. Jacob had always had an unquenchable desire for God's blessing. He had a deep piety that habitually relied on God despite all else. In the end, he died a man of genuine faith. He learned where real blessings come from, and through his faith would be able to hand these on to his sons (Heb 11:21).

50:1-6 As with his father and grandfather, Jacob's death brought the end of an era.

50:2 Jacob: Hebrew Israel; see note on 35:21. His body was embalmed for burial in typical Egyptian fashion.

50:3 The Egyptians mourned for Jacob for seventy days, just two days short of the mourning period for a pharaoh.

This showed the great respect that the Egyptians had for Joseph.

50:4-6 Joseph needed Pharaoh's permission to leave his post temporarily to bury his father in Canaan. Pharaoh readily granted this freedom to the former slave.

50:7-9 This was Joseph's first return to his homeland in thirty-nine years. The trip was temporary. Centuries later, the family of Israel would permanently leave Egypt, taking Joseph's bones with them for burial in the land of promise (see 50:25).

50:10-13 This journey into Canaan was made in sorrow to bury a man; the next journey into the land would be to live there. • Abel-mizraim means "mourning of the Egyptians."

50:12
Gen 49:29

50:13
Gen 23:16-18

50:15
Gen 42:21-22

50:16
Gen 49:29

50:17
Gen 45:5, 7

Matt 6:14

Luke 6:27

Rom 12:19

^anasa' (5375)

• Exod 10:17

^lpesha' (6588)

• Exod 34:7

50:18

Gen 37:7-10

50:19

Gen 30:2

50:20

Gen 37:26-27

50:21

Gen 45:11

50:24

Gen 13:15; 28:13

50:25

Exod 13:19

Josh 24:32

Heb 11:22

50:26

Exod 1:6

⁸aron' (0727)

• Exod 25:22

¹²So Jacob's sons did as he had commanded them. ¹³They carried his body to the land of Canaan and buried him in the cave in the field of Machpelah, near Mamre. This is the cave that Abraham had bought as a permanent burial site from Ephron the Hittite.

Joseph Reassures His Brothers

¹⁴After burying Jacob, Joseph returned to Egypt with his brothers and all who had accompanied him to his father's burial. ¹⁵But now that their father was dead, Joseph's brothers became fearful. "Now Joseph will show his anger and pay us back for all the wrong we did to him," they said.

¹⁶So they sent this message to Joseph: "Before your father died, he instructed us ¹⁷to say to you: 'Please ^eforgive your brothers for the great wrong they did to you—for their ⁱsin in treating you so cruelly.' So we, the servants of the God of your father, beg you to ^eforgive our ⁱsin." When Joseph received the message, he broke down and wept. ¹⁸Then his brothers came and threw themselves down before Joseph. "Look, we are your slaves!" they said.

¹⁹But Joseph replied, "Don't be afraid of me. Am I God, that I can punish you? ²⁰You intended to harm me, but God intended it all for good. He brought me to this position so I could save the lives of many people. ²¹No, don't be afraid. I will continue to take care of you and your children." So he reassured them by speaking kindly to them.

The Death of Joseph

²²So Joseph and his brothers and their families continued to live in Egypt. Joseph lived to the age of 110. ²³He lived to see three generations of descendants of his son Ephraim, and he lived to see the birth of the children of Manasseh's son Makir, whom he claimed as his own.

²⁴"Soon I will die," Joseph told his brothers, "but God will surely come to help you and lead you out of this land of Egypt. He will bring you back to the land he solemnly promised to give to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob."

²⁵Then Joseph made the sons of Israel swear an oath, and he said, "When God comes to help you and lead you back, you must take my bones with you." ²⁶So Joseph died at the age of 110. The Egyptians embalmed him, and his body was placed in a ⁸coffin in Egypt.

50:15-18 The brothers pleaded for Joseph's forgiveness, referring to themselves as Joseph's slaves (cp. 37:7; 44:16, 33). The brothers were afraid that Joseph's earlier reconciliation with them had been motivated only by his desire to see his father again. With neither Jacob nor Pharaoh to restrain him, they feared that he might now take revenge on them. But Joseph . . . wept because they still feared reprisal.

50:19-21 Joseph reassured his brothers that God planned to fulfill the promised blessing (cp. 45:5, 7-9), and he promised kindness and provision (cp. 45:11).

50:22-23 Joseph lived to see his great-great-grandchildren by Ephraim, and his great-grandchildren by Manasseh—a sign of God's blessing (see Ps 128:6; Prov 17:6; Isa 53:10).

50:23 whom he claimed as his own (literally who were born on Joseph's knees): Placing them on his knees at their birth was a symbolic act signifying that they came from him and belonged to him (cp. Job 3:12).

50:24-25 God will surely come to help you (literally visit you): These words of Joseph, given twice, summarize the hope expressed throughout both the OT and NT. God's visitation in the person of the Messiah, the offspring of Abraham, would bring the curse to an end and establish the long-awaited blessing of God in a new creation. The company of the faithful would wait in expectation for that to happen. • Like his father before him, Joseph made his brothers promise that his bones would be taken out of Egypt when God would come to take them (to help you and lead you . . . back) to Canaan (see Exod 13:19; Josh 24:32; Heb 11:22).

50:26 Joseph's death signified the end of his generation (see notes on 25:7-8; 35:1-29; 35:27-29) and of the patriarchal age. From this point forward, God dealt with Israel as a nation. • Joseph's body was kept in Egypt as a pledge of hope for slaves awaiting the Promised Land (see Exod 13:19; Heb 11:39-40). He was eventually buried in Shechem (see Josh 24:32), where Jacob had originally sent him (37:13).

THE CHRONOLOGY OF ABRAHAM TO JOSHUA

Serious study of the chronology of Israel's early history is rewarding, in spite of serious challenges. The Bible provides some information about the chronology of events and the ages of people. However, not enough information is available for us to be certain about the dates for various events and people's lives. Instead, we can discern a coherent general picture of how Israel's early history fits into the history of surrounding nations.

DATE OF THE EXODUS (1446 OR 1270 BC) The date of Israel's exodus from Egypt is the key question in determining Israel's early chronology. The Bible's focus on sequence of events and their meanings rather than a strict chronology makes it difficult, however, to assign exact dates for the Exodus. A number of chronological indicators help point the way.

First, according to 1 Kgs 14:25-26, Pharaoh Shishak raided Judah in the fifth year of King Rehoboam's reign. From sources outside the Bible, this date is known to be 926 BC. Earlier dates in Israel's history, such as the year Solomon began building the Temple (967 BC) and the date of the Exodus, are calculated by working backward from this fixed point and attempting to harmonize as much data as possible.

A second chronological indicator for the date of the Exodus is the "new king" who "knew nothing about Joseph" (Exod 1:8). This comment most likely signals the arrival of a new dynasty. In the 1700s BC, foreigners from Asia began migrating to Egypt. In 1648 BC, one group of such foreigners, the Hyksos, invaded Lower Egypt and gained control of the region. Joseph and Jacob very likely entered Egypt (Gen 39, 46) shortly before or during the Hyksos period. The Hyksos ruled until 1540 BC, when Pharaoh Ahmose (1550–1525 BC) expelled them. Ahmose and the pharaohs who followed him were probably the dynasty described by Exodus 1:8.

A third chronological indicator is the Merneptah Stela, an Egyptian monument dated to roughly 1209 BC, which mentions a clash with the Israelites in the southern part of Palestine. This is the first clear mention of Israel outside the Bible.

Based on the available data, two dates for Israel's exodus from Egypt appear to be possible: an earlier date around 1446 BC and a later date around 1270 BC.

Scenario 1: Early Exodus (about 1446 BC) The traditional scenario places the date of the Exodus around 1446 BC. According to 1 Kgs 6:1, Solomon began construction of the Temple in the fourth year of his reign (967 BC), 480 years after the Exodus from Egypt. If the number 480 refers to calendar years, then the date of the Exodus was about 1446 BC, and Israel's entry to Canaan was around 1406 BC. Archaeologists have discovered the Amarna letters, a cache of letters from Canaanite city chieftains asking Pharaoh Akhenaten (about 1352–1336 BC) to help them fight against certain rabble who were attacking them. This is a possible reference to the Israelites and would support the early dates for the Exodus and conquest. Additionally, in about 1100 BC Jephthah described Israel as having inhabited the Promised Land for 300 years (see Judg 11:26; cp. Num 21:21-35). The early date seems to fit best with the Bible's own chronological information. A date near 1446 BC, therefore, has long been accepted.

Scenario 2: Late Exodus (about 1270 BC) The late Exodus scenario places the Exodus from Egypt approximately 300 years before the dedication of Solomon's temple in 967 BC, early in the reign of Pharaoh Rameses II (1279–1213 BC). The city of Rameses, which the Israelites helped build (Exod 1:11), was named after this pharaoh, and there is evidence of significant construction activity dating to the early 1200s BC at the site. Additionally, archaeologists working in Palestine between World Wars I and II reported that they were unable to find any evidence of the conquest taking place in the early 1300s BC, as required by the early

Description	Scenario 1: Early Exodus (1446 BC)		Scenario 2: Late Exodus (about 1270 BC)
	Hebrew (MT)	Greek (LXX)	Hebrew (MT)	Greek (LXX)
Abraham is born	2166 BC	1951 BC	1990 BC	1775 BC
Abraham travels to Canaan	2091 BC	1876 BC	1915 BC	1700 BC
Jacob travels to Egypt	1876 BC	1661 BC	1700 BC	1485 BC
Hyksos (foreigners) rule Egypt	1648–1540 BC	1648–1540 BC	1648–1540 BC	1648–1540 BC
Moses is born (80 years before the Exodus, Exod 7:7)	1526 BC	1526 BC	1350 BC	1350 BC
The Exodus	1446 BC	1446 BC	1270 BC	1270 BC
Israel begins the conquest of Canaan (40 years after the Exodus, Num 14:33-34; 32:13)	1406 BC	1406 BC	1230 BC	1230 BC
Solomon begins building the Temple (1 Kgs 6:1)	967 BC	967 BC	967 BC	967 BC

▲ Scenarios: Dates for the Patriarchs. The dates of various key events from Abraham to Solomon depend on the date of the Exodus and the text of Exod 12:40. Each of the two scenarios for the date of the Exodus is shown with two columns of dates: one following the Hebrew text of Exod 12:40, the other following the Greek text. Fixed points of reference are shown in bold type; all other dates are relative to these events and the date of the Exodus.

OLD KINGDOM / DYNASTIES 3–8 (2700–2160 BC)

Great pyramids built at Giza date. They did, however, claim to have found evidence of conquest and increased settlement activity in the late 1200s BC. If these findings are accurate and reflect Israelite activity in the Promised Land, they would support the idea that the Exodus occurred around 1270 BC. Those who opt for this later date contend that the number 480 in 1 Kgs 6:1 is a symbolic number (12 generations x 40 years to symbolize a generation); in that case, the actual length of time would have been closer to 300 years (12 generations x 25 years, the approximate length of an actual generation).

DATES FOR THE PATRIARCHS

Genesis provides the relative ages of Israel's patriarchs, Abraham to Joseph, but it does not fix absolute dates for their lives (see "Abraham" at Gen 11:26–25:11, p. 46; and "Jacob" at Gen 27:1–35:29, p. 76). Israel's patriarchs (Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob) were powerful family chiefs who moved from place to place. Unlike the leaders of empires who created permanent records, the patriarchs did not have palaces or libraries in which to deposit records. Also, the climate of Palestine is not favorable to the preservation of documents.

The date of the Exodus is therefore a key for calculating dates for the patriarchs. Calculations also take into account the lifespan of each patriarch; the chronological notations in Gen 12:4; 21:5; 25:26; 47:9 suggest that the patriarchs spent 215 years in Canaan.

The length of Israel's stay in Egypt is an additional factor, and here there is a difference in texts. The Hebrew Masoretic Text (MT) for Exod 12:40 says that Israel spent 430 years in Egypt, from the year that Jacob entered Egypt to the year of Israel's Exodus. However, the early Greek OT translation (the Septuagint, or LXX) and the Samaritan Pentateuch (another significant manuscript) both say that the Egyptian Rulers, Dynasties 18–19

Dates bc*	Ruler
Dynasty 18
1550–1525	Ahmose
1525–1504	Amenhotep I
1504–1492	Thutmose I
1492–1479	Thutmose II
1479–1457	Hatshepsut
1479–1425	Thutmose III
1427–1400	Amenhotep II
1400–1390	Thutmose IV
1390–1352	Amenhotep III
1352–1336	Amenhotep IV (Akhenaten)
1336–1327	Tutankhamen
1327–1323	Ay
1323–1295	Horemheb
Dynasty 19
1295–1294	Rameses I
1294–1279	Seti I
1279–1213	Rameses II
1213–1203	Merneptah

* All Egyptian dates according to K. A. Kitchen, "Egypt, History of (Chronology)" in Anchor Bible Dictionary, vol. II, p. 329.

430-year period mentioned in Exodus 12:40 includes the time the Israelites spent in both Canaan and Egypt (a chronology that Paul apparently followed; see Gal 3:17). This chronology would reduce the time spent in Egypt to 215 years. Various biblical statements that Israel was in Egypt for 400 years or four generations (Gen 15:13-16; cp. Exod 6:16-20; Num 3:17-19; 26:58-59; 1 Chr 6:1-3; Acts 7:6) could support the reading of either the Hebrew or the Greek text. The chart on p. 119 provides a sense of how these variants play out.

Fitting all the data together is challenging. Still, although the two scenarios for dating the Exodus result in a 176-year difference, the middle two scenarios in the chart on p. 119 (Scenario 1 with the Greek text of Exod 12:40 and Scenario 2 with the Hebrew text) yield dates for Abraham and Jacob that are remarkably similar. Both of these scenarios also provide dates for the patriarchs that correlate well with information known from sources outside the Bible.

CONCLUSION

While the dates of the Exodus or the patriarchs cannot be determined with absolute certainty, perhaps they were never intended to be. The biblical authors did not set out to provide a complete chronological record. What we do have is an excellent correlation between Israel's historical records and those of the surrounding cultures.

THE BOOK OF Exodus

What does it mean to be in a relationship with God, the ultimate being in the universe? How does one establish that relationship? What is that relationship like, and what does it take to stay in it? These are questions that people around the world have been asking since the beginning of time. The book of Exodus provided the ancient Israelites with answers to such questions, revealing not only what was required of them in a relationship with God, but also what God had graciously done to make that relationship possible.

SETTING

The Exodus occurred sometime between 1450 and 1250 BC, when Egypt was arguably the greatest military and cultural power in the world. During Egypt's 18th dynasty (1550–1295 BC) the pharaohs built an empire beyond Egypt's borders, extending its control far into the north, up the Canaanite coast, and far to the south along the Nile. This imperial thrust seems to have fueled a megalomaniacal building program. As the house of the pharaoh grew in power, so the god of the royal house, Amon-Re, gained dominance. The land remained staunchly polytheistic, but worship of Amon-Re seems to have surpassed devotion to all other gods.

◀ The Exodus: Egypt to Sinai.

When the Israelites left Egypt following the first Passover, they traveled through the RED SEA and the SINAI PENINSULA to MOUNT SINAI. There they stayed for a full year (19:1; Num 10:11-12). Uncertainties exist regarding Israel's route and the location of Mount Sinai. Traditionally, Mount Sinai has been thought to be Jebel Musa in the southern Sinai peninsula, although other locations have been proposed. WAY TO THE LAND OF THE PHILISTINES see 13:17-18

RAMESIS 1:11; 12:37; Gen 47:11; Num 33:3

ZOAN Num 13:22; Ps 78:12, 43; Isa 19:11, 13; 30:3-5; Ezek 30:14

MIGDOL 14:2; Num 33:7; Jer 44:1; 46:14; Ezek 29:10; 30:6

MARAH 15:23-26; Num 33:8-9

ELIM 15:27; 16:1; Num 33:9-10; Deut 2:15

REPHIDIM 17:1-19:2; Num 33:14-15

PITHOM 1:11

MIDIAN 2:15-3:1; 18:1; Num 25:1-18; 31:1-54; Judg 6:1-14

It was during this period that the Israelites departed from Egypt. God did not sneak his people out during a time of Egyptian weakness; he led them forth when Egyptian strength was at its height.

SUMMARY

The term Exodus derives from the Greek word exodos, which means “the way out.” Chapters 1–15 are about the Hebrews’ “way out” of Egypt. The additional matters covered in the book (chs 16–40) reveal that the Hebrew people needed more than rescue from bondage in Egypt. They needed a way out of their sin and a way into fellowship with God. Exodus addresses Israel’s great needs: to be set free from bondage (chs 1–15), to know who God is and what he is like through the covenant at Sinai (chs 16–24), and to experience fellowship with God through the Tabernacle (chs 25–40). All of us have the same need to be set free, to know God, and to experience fellowship with him.

OUTLINE

1:1–18:27

The Exodus Rescue: God’s Power and Provision

19:1–24:18

The Sinai Covenant: God’s Principles

25:1–40:38

The Tabernacle: God’s Presence

AUTHORSHIP

Moses is traditionally considered the author of the Pentateuch (Genesis—Deuteronomy), though many scholars believe he was not. See “Introduction to the Pentateuch: Authorship,” p. 11.

THE DATE OF THE EXODUS

Considerable debate revolves around the date of the Exodus. The evidence points to two main possibilities—an early date of about 1446 BC and a later date of about 1270 BC. See “Chronology: Abraham to Joshua,” p. 118.

MEANING AND MESSAGE

The opening chapters of Genesis depict a serious problem: God made the world and human beings for blessing (Gen 1:27–28), but the world fell under a curse. Humanity had become deeply corrupted (Gen 6:5), alienated from their Creator (Gen 3:23–24) and from one another (Gen 4:14). Death, violence, and confusion were rampant (Gen 4:8, 23–24; 11:9). Was there a way back to the blessing that God originally intended?

In Gen 12–50, God’s plan to restore the world begins to unfold. God chose Abraham and his descendants to be in a special covenant relationship with him, promising to make them into a prosperous nation through which the entire world would be blessed (Gen 12:1–3). Abraham believed God despite the fact that his wife seemed hopelessly barren (Gen 15:6), and God soon began to fulfill his promises (Gen 21:1–7).

As the book of Exodus begins, however, the validity of God’s promises to Abraham is in question. Yes, Abraham’s descendants had grown to a great number, but they were now slaves in Egypt, and Pharaoh, the mightiest

TIMELINE

2166 / 1990 BC*

Abraham is born

2091 / 1915 BC

Abraham moves to Canaan

1876 / 1661 BC

Jacob moves to Egypt

1526 / 1350 BC

Moses is born

1446 / 1270 BC

*Israel leaves Egypt
(the Exodus), moves to Mount Sinai*

1406 / 1230 BC

Moses dies, Israel enters Canaan

* The two dates harmonize with the traditional “early” chronology and a more recent “late” chronology of the Exodus. All dates are approximate. Please see “Chronology: Abraham to Joshua,” p. 118.

Few events in history have had such far-reaching effects as Israel's Exodus out of Egypt. The Exodus event lies at the very heart of the Old Testament. The Exodus is to the Old Covenant what the resurrection is to the New.

Page H. Kelley
Exodus: Called for Redemptive Mission

king in the world, was committed to keeping them subjugated. As for the Promised Land, Abraham and his descendants had never actually owned any of it except for a burial plot (Gen 23). How would a group of slaves, slated to be absorbed into the Egyptian underclass, ever inherit the Promised Land and become a blessing to the world? Could God keep his promises? Did he even want to keep them? Did he really care for the Israelites, and did he even know what they were going through? If not, then the promises of Genesis were of no real value.

In answering those questions, Exodus moves us far down the road to understanding who God is. God really does know our situation, and he values us. The Lord is in an altogether different category from "all other gods" (18:11). He is revealed in Exodus as the greatest being in existence (3:5-6, 14-15; 6:3), superior to human kings who think of themselves as gods and to all the forces of nature. He is the one true God.

The people of Israel had spent some 400 years absorbing Egypt's mistaken pagan beliefs. Now they would have to unlearn them: There are not many gods, only one. God is not the same as the natural world around them; he stands apart from the world, which he created. God cannot be manipulated by magic. Existence is not defined by an eternal struggle between positive and negative forces. God is holy, absolutely other, profoundly ethical in all of his relationships, passionately loyal to his creatures, and desiring to do good for them (34:5-6).

God used a covenant (chs 19-23) to teach his people who he is and what their relationship with him should be like (see "The Purpose of God's Covenant" at 19:3-6, p. 157). The covenant teaches us God's ethical nature. In the ancient world, ethics and religion were largely unrelated (see "Ancient Law Codes" at 20:1-23:33, p. 163). By contrast, most of the requirements of God's covenant have to do with how people treat one another (see 20:3-17). Those who are in a covenant relationship with God must treat one another ethically.

God rescues his people and calls us into a life of holiness in order that we may have a living, personal relationship with him. The Tabernacle chapters (chs 25-40) are not an add-on; they are what the Exodus was all about. Yes, God would keep his promise of taking the people to the Promised Land, but his goal was for them to live in his presence without being destroyed by his holiness, and that is what happened (40:34-38). Salvation is not merely the forgiveness of sins. God's goal for us is that, having been rescued from the bondage of sin, we might live daily in the glory of his presence and manifest his holy character.

FURTHER READING

- R. ALAN COLE
Exodus (1973)
- JOHN I. DURHAM
Exodus (1987)
- PETER ENNS
Exodus (2001)
- ALEC MOTYER
The Message of Exodus (2004)
- JOHN OSWALT
Exodus in Cornerstone Biblical Commentary, vol. 1 (2008)

1:1
Gen 46:8-27

1:5
Gen 46:26-27

1:7
Gen 35:11-12; 47:27
*Acts 7:17

1:8
Acts 7:18-19
*melek (4428)
*1 Sam 18:6

1:9-10
Ps 105:24-25
Acts 7:18-19

1. THE EXODUS RESCUE: GOD'S POWER AND PROVISION (1:1-18:27) The Need for Rescue (1:1-22)

1 These are the names of the sons of Israel (that is, Jacob) who moved to Egypt with their father, each with his family: ²Reuben, Simeon, Levi, Judah, ³Issachar, Zebulun, Benjamin, ⁴Dan, Naphtali, Gad, and Asher. ⁵In all, Jacob had seventy descendants in Egypt, including Joseph, who was already there.

⁶In time, Joseph and all of his brothers died, ending that entire generation. ⁷But their descendants, the Israelites, had many children and grandchildren. In fact, they multiplied so greatly that they became extremely powerful and filled the land.

⁸Eventually, a new ^aking came to power in Egypt who knew nothing about Joseph or what he had done. ⁹He said to his people, "Look, the people of Israel now outnumber us and are stronger than we are. ¹⁰We must make a plan to keep them from growing even more. If we don't, and if war breaks out, they will join our enemies and fight

Pharaoh (1:8-22)

Exod 2:14-15, 23;
5:1-15:21

"Pharaoh" is an Egyptian word meaning "great house." It refers to the royal palace and is also used as a title for the king of Egypt. Two pharaohs appear in the book of Exodus. The first was king when Moses was born. Out of fear, he ordered the murder of all Hebrew baby boys. Moses not only escaped death, but was raised by Pharaoh's daughter in the king's palace! This pharaoh died after Moses had fled from Egypt (2:23).

Moses and Aaron later confronted the new pharaoh who came to power. This pharaoh was determined to prevent the Israelites from leaving Egypt; he remained stubborn even when confronted with God's power. The Bible describes his hardhearted unwillingness to change (8:32; 9:12, 34; see "A Hardened Heart" at 14:4, 8, p. 149; cp. Rom 1:18-32).

As king, the pharaoh personified the rule of the gods over Egypt, which gave him absolute authority. The plagues were God's attacks on the false gods of Egypt (12:12). The final plague—the death of the firstborn—was an attack on Pharaoh's household. This climactic plague convinced Pharaoh to let Israel go, but after the Israelites left, Pharaoh again changed his mind. He chased them until he had cornered them at the Red Sea. This event—the rescue of the defenseless Israelites and the destruction of the powerful Egyptians—is among the most dramatic rescues recorded in the OT. The Lord revealed himself at the Red Sea as a warrior who fought for his people (15:3).

Neither of the pharaohs in Exodus is mentioned by name, probably in keeping with Egyptian practice. However, speculation abounds regarding the identity of the pharaoh of the Exodus. If the Exodus took place in the 1400s BC, the pharaoh might have been Thutmose III (about 1479–1425 BC). If the Exodus occurred in the 1200s BC, the pharaoh of the Exodus might have been Ramses II (about 1279–1213 BC). See further "Old Testament Chronology: Abraham to Joshua," p. 118.

1:1-22 The need for deliverance was obviously related to the Israelites' condition (the Egyptians worked the people of Israel without mercy, 1:13); it also was related to promises God had made to the patriarchs years earlier. The Lord had promised Abraham that his descendants would be a great nation, living in freedom in the land of Canaan. At this point, Abraham's descendants were slaves in Egypt under a pharaoh determined to decimate them as a people. God would have to rescue the people if his promises were to be kept.

1:1 Israel is the name God had given to Jacob, son of Isaac and grandson of Abraham (Gen 32:28). • Many years earlier, Jacob and his family had moved to Egypt, seeking refuge from severe drought (see Gen 46:1-7). Thanks to Joseph's wisdom and leadership (see Gen 41:25-49), a steady grain supply had been stored (see Gen 42:1-2; 45:5-7).

1:2-4 For the births of Jacob's sons, see Gen 29:31–30:24; 35:16-18.

1:5 seventy descendants: The Dead Sea Scrolls and the Greek version read seventy-five; see notes on Gen 46:27. The larger number might include the five sons of Ephraim and Manasseh (Num 26:29, 35). • Jacob's eleventh son, Joseph, had been sold into Egyptian slavery by his jealous brothers (Gen 37:18-28). God accomplished good for his people in spite of the brothers' sin. With Joseph present in Egypt, God could use him to save the lives of the chosen people from the famine that would have destroyed them (Gen 42:1-2; 50:19-20).

1:6-7 The long sojourn of Jacob's family in Egypt was part of a divine design. God had told Abraham that his descendants could not receive the land of Canaan for 400 years—until the sin of the Canaanites had come to its full fruition (Gen 15:13-16). Even in Egypt, God's promises were at work, and the descendants of aged Abraham and barren Sarah multiplied . . . greatly as God had said (Gen 15:5), because God blessed them (Ps 105:24).

1:8-10 From about 1650 until about 1550 BC, the northern part of Egypt, where the Israelites lived, was ruled by Semitic invaders that the Egyptians called "shepherd kings," or Hyksos. Many scholars believe that these kings were sympathetic to the Israelites and that the Israelites may even have been allied with them. When these invaders were finally expelled about 1540 BC, it is easy to imagine that the new rulers (Egypt's 18th Dynasty) were very suspicious of any Semites, including the Israelites, who remained in the country.

1:10 The people whom Pharaoh referred to as our enemies would almost against us. Then they will escape from the country.”

¹¹So the Egyptians made the Israelites their slaves. They appointed brutal slave drivers over them, hoping to wear them down with crushing labor. They forced them to build the cities of Pithom and Rameses as supply centers for the king. ¹²But the more the Egyptians oppressed them, the more the Israelites multiplied and spread, and the more alarmed the Egyptians became. ¹³So the Egyptians worked the people of Israel without mercy. ¹⁴They made their lives bitter, forcing them to mix mortar and make bricks and do all the work in the fields. They were ruthless in all their demands.

¹⁵Then Pharaoh, the king of Egypt, gave this order to the Hebrew midwives, Shiprah and Puah: ¹⁶“When you help the Hebrew women as they give birth, watch as they deliver. If the baby is a boy, kill him; if it is a girl, let her live.” ¹⁷But because the midwives feared God, they refused to obey the king’s orders. They allowed the boys to live, too.

¹⁸So the king of Egypt called for the midwives. “Why have you done this?” he demanded. “Why have you allowed the boys to live?”

¹⁹“The Hebrew women are not like the Egyptian women,” the midwives replied. “They are more vigorous and have their babies so quickly that we cannot get there in time.”

²⁰So God was good to the midwives, and the Israelites continued to multiply, growing more and more powerful. ²¹And because the midwives feared God, he gave them families of their own.

²²Then Pharaoh gave this order to all his people: “Throw every newborn Hebrew boy into the Nile River. But you may let the girls live.”

Preparation of a Rescuer (2:1-25)

The Birth of Moses

2 About this time, a man and woman from the tribe of Levi got married. ²The woman became pregnant and gave birth to a son. She saw that he was a special baby and kept him hidden for three months. ³But when she could no longer hide him, she got a basket made of papyrus reeds and waterproofed it with tar and pitch. She put the baby in the basket and laid it among the

1:11
Exod 2:11; 3:7

1:14
Exod 2:23

1:16
Acts 7:19

1:17
byare' (3372)
• Lev 19:14

1:19
Josh 2:4-6
2 Sam 17:20

1:20
Exod 1:12

1:22
Acts 7:19

2:1
Exod 6:20
Num 26:59

2:2
Acts 7:20
Heb 11:23

2:3
Gen 6:14
Isa 18:2

certainly have been the remnants of the Hyksos (see note on 1:8-10). • will escape from the country: Or will take the country.

1:11 Pithom and Rameses have been identified with the modern cities of Tel el-Mashkutah and Qantir, which archaeology shows to have been built during the Late Bronze period (1550–1250 BC), the same period in which the Israelites were present.

1:12 In spite of the concerted Egyptian oppression, the Israelites multiplied and spread: God was keeping his promise about giving Abraham many descendants (Gen 15:5).

1:14 The only stone that the Egyptians could obtain for building purposes came from the far south of the country. Therefore, in the north where the Hebrews were settled, only the most important state and religious buildings were made of stone. The rest were constructed with mortar and bricks made of durable clay with a binder such as seashells or straw mixed in. After being sun dried in a form, they were surprisingly durable—especially in a land such as Egypt, where there was little rainfall or humidity.

1:15 Pharaoh is a title for the Egyptian ruler, not a personal name. • The origins of the word Hebrew are unclear. As used by the Egyptians and Philistines in reference to the Israelites, it was apparently a derogatory term for a despised underclass. • Whatever the number of Hebrew people (see note on 12:37), there were clearly more than two midwives for the whole nation. Probably the two named here, Shiprah and Puah, are representatives of the whole group. The differences between Pharaoh and the midwives are dramatic. He had great political and military power; they had none. He had great official prestige; they had very little. He was a man; they were women. He was of the ruling people; they were slaves. He was rich; they were poor. They could easily have been cowed into obedience, but they were not.

1:16 watch as they deliver (literally look upon the two stones): The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain, but perhaps the reference is to a birthstool. It might also refer to the genitalia. • If the baby is a boy, kill him; if it is a girl, let her live: Such selective genocide would not completely deprive the Egyptians of a free labor source. When grown, the girls would be married to slaves from other people groups, effectively destroying Hebrew cohesion while keeping the supply of slaves as high as possible.

1:17 The midwives . . . refused to obey the mighty Egyptian king because they feared God more than they feared Pharaoh (1:21). Fear of the Lord (reverent awe of him as the almighty Creator and Judge) is the foundation of true knowledge and of wisdom (Prov 1:7; 9:10). The Lord is a friend to those who fear him (Ps 25:14). The midwives understood that the Lord has more power than any human being.

1:19 It might trouble us that the midwives were not candid in giving their main reason for keeping the boy babies alive. Comprehensive honesty is less important to God than absolute faithfulness to him and to his believing community.

1:20-21 he gave them families: For most of history, children have had the worthy goal of growing up to raise a family. God graciously granted the universal wish of these women who served him courageously and faithfully.

2:1-25 Chapter 1 established the need for rescue; ch 2 describes the preparation of Moses, the rescuer. God used the destruction of the Hebrew boy babies to ensure that the rescuer would be trained (see note on 2:10) for his task.

2:1 The man and woman were named Amram and Jochebed (6:20). • Levi was Jacob’s third son by his wife Leah (Gen 29:34).

2:2 a special baby (literally he was good): This is probably a reference to his appearance: He was a “perfect” baby.

2:3 Papyrus reeds grew plentifully along the many streams into which the Nile River divided in the delta region of northern Egypt. They were light and

2:4
Exod 15:20
Num 26:59

2:5
Exod 7:15; 8:20
Acts 7:21

2:10
1 Sam 1:20
2 Sam 22:17

2:11
Acts 7:23-24
Heb 11:24-26

2:12
Acts 7:24

2:13
Acts 7:26-28

2:14
*Acts 7:27, 35
*Shaphat (8199)
*Exod 18:26

2:15
Acts 7:29

reeds along the bank of the Nile River. ⁴The baby's sister then stood at a distance, watching to see what would happen to him.

⁵Soon Pharaoh's daughter came down to bathe in the river, and her attendants walked along the riverbank. When the princess saw the basket among the reeds, she sent her maid to get it for her. ⁶When the princess opened it, she saw the baby. The little boy was crying, and she felt sorry for him. "This must be one of the Hebrew children," she said.

⁷Then the baby's sister approached the princess. "Should I go and find one of the Hebrew women to nurse the baby for you?" she asked.

⁸"Yes, do!" the princess replied. So the girl went and called the baby's mother.

⁹"Take this baby and nurse him for me," the princess told the baby's mother. "I will pay you for your help." So the woman took her baby home and nursed him.

¹⁰Later, when the boy was older, his mother brought him back to Pharaoh's daughter, who adopted him as her own son. The princess named him Moses, for she explained, "I lifted him out of the water."

Moses Escapes to Midian

¹¹Many years later, when Moses had grown up, he went out to visit his own people, the Hebrews, and he saw how hard they were forced to work. During his visit, he saw an Egyptian beating one of his fellow Hebrews. ¹²After looking in all directions to make sure no one was watching, Moses killed the Egyptian and hid the body in the sand.

¹³The next day, when Moses went out to visit his people again, he saw two Hebrew men fighting. "Why are you beating up your friend?" Moses said to the one who had started the fight.

¹⁴The man replied, "Who appointed you to be our prince and judge? Are you going to kill me as you killed that Egyptian yesterday?"

Then Moses was afraid, thinking, "Everyone knows what I did." ¹⁵And sure enough, Pharaoh heard what had happened, and he tried to kill Moses. But Moses fled from Pharaoh and went to live in the land of Midian.

When Moses arrived in Midian, he sat down beside a well. ¹⁶Now the priest of flexible, well-suited for basket weaving. It is possible that Moses' mother placed the basket in the water exactly where it was most likely to be found by the Egyptian princess.

2:5-6 Much like the Ganges River in modern India, the Nile was understood by the Egyptians to be a goddess who had life-giving and healing properties. When Pharaoh's daughter came down to bathe in the river, she was not merely washing but completing her morning devotions. The discovery of the baby floating on the river, in the embrace of the Nile goddess (as she saw it), would be very significant to her. It is also natural for a young woman to feel sorry for a crying baby. The combination of factors may account for her rescuing the child, though she recognized that he was Hebrew (Hebrews and Egyptians practiced circumcision differently).

2:7-9 It is ironic evidence of God's grace and sovereignty that Pharaoh's daughter paid Moses' mother to nurse her own baby rather than having him killed according to Pharaoh's command. The narrator seems to imply that the princess realized who the baby's mother was (since she didn't ask any embarrassing questions). Two women chose to understand each other while maintaining a legal fiction. Moses was saved because God was at work, not because anyone was fooled.

2:10 God not only saved Moses' life for his future calling, he also arranged for him to receive administrative, military, and leadership training from the oppressors of his people. A pharaoh was expected to sire as many children as was physically possible to prove his power. Male offspring were placed in civil and military positions. It is very likely that the adopted son of a princess would have had such experiences (see Acts 7:22). • Moses: The princess gave the child an Egyptian name that is found in the full names of many prominent Egyptians, including the 18th Dynasty pharaohs named Ahmose (1550–1525 bc) and Thutmose (1504–1390 bc). By naming the child Moses (meaning "to give birth"), the princess was perhaps saying that the Nile, revered as a source of life, had given birth to the baby. The Israelites drew a connection between the name Moses and the similar sounding Hebrew term mashah, which means "to lift out."

2:11-15 This section addresses Moses' first abortive attempt to rescue Israel in his own strength. This incident shows Moses' courage and decisiveness, but it also shows his tendency to assume the responsibility himself, which would later have tragic effects in his life (Num 20:1-13). Moses' concern for his people's welfare was good; his timing and manner did not accord with God's plan.

2:11-12 Moses had a privileged upbringing as compared with the toil and hardship of his own people, the Hebrews, but he was willing to identify with them and help them to the point of jeopardizing his own privileges.

2:13 Moses, who had put himself at risk to prevent an Egyptian from beating a Hebrew, must have been especially angered to see a Hebrew beating up a fellow Hebrew.

2:14 The arrogant response of the Hebrew man, "Who appointed you to be our prince and judge?" foreshadows how the rest of the Hebrews would respond to Moses in later years—they would not thank him for his efforts on their behalf. If Moses were to succeed, he would have to depend solely on a sense of his divine calling.

2:15 Moses fled: By trying to rescue Israel himself rather than through God's help, Moses made himself a fugitive rather than a leader in Egypt, forestalling God's purposes for him. Moses' life was drastically changed as a consequence of his actions (cp. Num 20:9-13; Deut 3:23-29). • Midian was located on both sides of the Gulf of Aqaba—in the southern Sinai Peninsula and on the western edge of the Arabian Peninsula. A major trade route from southern Arabia passed through this dry and barren area. Its people seem to have been nomadic shepherds and traders (see Gen 37:28). It was a good place for a fugitive to disappear.

2:16-25 This passage further reveals Moses' concern for the oppressed and Moses (2:1-22)

Exod 3:1–19:25;
20:19–21; 24:1–18;
31:18; 32:1–34:35;
39:42–43; 40:16
Lev 8:1–36; 10:1–20;
24:10–23
Num 7:1–11; 89;
9:1–14; 10:29–
14:45; 15:32–36;
16:1–17:13;
20:1–29; 21:4–9;
25:1–5; 27:1–23;
31:1–32:33; 33:1–2
Deut 1:1–5;
31:1–34:12
1 Chr 23:13–17
Ps 77:20; 90;
103:7; 105:26–27;
106:32–33
Mark 9:2–13
Acts 7:17–44
1 Cor 10:1–14
2 Cor 3:7–18
Gal 3:19
Heb 3:1–19; 8:5;
9:19–22; 11:23–28;
12:18–29

Moses was the founding leader of Israel as a nation. God used Moses at a critical juncture in the history of his people. He was the prophet who received the law and mediated God's covenant with Israel at Mount Sinai (19:3–6). He was also the first known writer of Scripture.

Moses, the younger brother of Miriam and Aaron, was born in Egypt under dangerous circumstances (1:15–2:2; 6:20). The Egyptian pharaoh, fearing a rebellion, had decreed that all Hebrew boys be killed at birth. Moses' mother, Jochebed, entrusted her infant son to God and set him afloat in the Nile in a reed basket (2:3–10). Pharaoh's daughter found him and took him into the palace to raise as her own child.

Little is known about Moses' upbringing. Jewish tradition holds that he received both administrative and military training in Pharaoh's household. When he was about forty years old, he killed an Egyptian to rescue a Hebrew slave, and then he fled to Midian (2:11–15; cp. Acts 7:23–29). There he rescued some young women who were being harassed as they watered their flocks. Their father, Jethro, invited him home. Moses married one of the women, Zipporah, and began a family as he cared for his father-in-law's flocks.

About forty years later (Acts 7:30), God revealed himself to Moses in a burning bush and commissioned Moses to return to Egypt to rescue his people from slavery (3:1–4:17). Moses hesitated, fearful that the Israelites would not accept him as their leader. God revealed his covenant name, Yahweh, and assigned Aaron as Moses' spokesman.

Moses and Aaron went to Egypt and confronted Pharaoh, who stubbornly resisted Moses' demand that he free the Israelite slaves. Moses then announced a series of plagues, which eventually convinced Pharaoh to let the Israelites leave. After they had left Egypt, Pharaoh changed his mind and pursued them to the edge of the Red Sea. God enabled the Israelites to cross safely to the other side by dividing the waters; the pursuing Egyptian army was destroyed when the waters closed over them.

Moses led Israel to Mount Sinai, where he had encountered God at the burning bush. God again revealed himself to Moses on that mountain, giving him the law (including the Ten Commandments; 20:1–23:19) and directions for building the Tabernacle. But when Moses came down from the mountain, he found that the people had already deserted the true God by worshiping a gold calf. Moses threw down and broke the two tablets of the law and rallied the Levites to execute some of the offenders. After praying for the people, he received a new copy of the law and led the people in building the Tabernacle.

Moses led a grumbling, rebellious, and distrustful people through the wilderness. Even his own brother and sister challenged his leadership (Num 12), using his marriage to a Cushite woman as an excuse. Moses responded with great humility (Num 12:3), while God made it clear that Moses was his spokesman and confidant.

Moses was a great man, but not a perfect one. When the people stretched his patience by complaining about water, Moses failed to follow God's guidance and struck a certain rock rather than speaking to it (Num 20:1–13). His actions failed to demonstrate God's holiness, and by what he said, Moses implied that he had brought the water by his own power (Num 20:10; cp. Ps 106:32–33). As a result, God did not allow him to enter the Promised Land.

Before his death, Moses delivered his final sermon, known to us as the book of Deuteronomy. The first generation had died in the wilderness, so Moses was addressing a new generation. Deuteronomy renewed the covenant with this generation, reminded them of its terms, and encouraged them to obey it and serve the Lord alone.

After giving this sermon and before Israel entered Canaan, Moses climbed Pisgah Peak on Mount Nebo, where he died. "There has never been another prophet in Israel like Moses, whom the LORD knew face to face" (Deut 34:10). Only Jesus surpassed Moses as a mediator between God and human beings (Acts 3:17–26; Heb 3).

Moses is mentioned in the NT more than any other OT figure, and he appeared at Jesus' transfiguration. The NT emphasizes his role as lawgiver and draws from Moses' experiences to show patterns of life under the new covenant. Like Moses, Jesus was rescued as an infant from the evil designs of a human despot (Matt 2:13–18). Jesus' proclamation of a new law in his Sermon on the Mount (Matt 5–7) parallels the giving of the law at Sinai and presents Jesus as the authoritative interpreter of God's will. The letter to the Hebrews compares Christ with Moses, while Paul's letter to the Galatians and the Gospel of John contrast the law of Moses with a believer's new relationship with God (see John 1:17; Heb 3:5–6; 9:11–22).

2:16
Gen 24:11
Exod 3:1; 18:1

2:17
Gen 29:10

2:18
Num 10:29

2:20
Gen 18:5

2:21
Exod 4:25; 18:2
Acts 7:29

2:22
Gen 23:4
Heb 11:13

2:23
Exod 6:5, 9
Acts 7:34

2:24
Gen 22:16-18; 26:2-3;
28:13
Ps 105:10, 42
zakar (2142)
• Lev 26:45

3:2
• Acts 7:30
• mal'ak (4397)
• Num 22:22

3:3
• Acts 7:31

Midian had seven daughters who came as usual to draw water and fill the water troughs for their father's flocks. ¹⁷But some other shepherds came and chased them away. So Moses jumped up and rescued the girls from the shepherds. Then he drew water for their flocks.

¹⁸When the girls returned to Reuel, their father, he asked, "Why are you back so soon today?"

¹⁹"An Egyptian rescued us from the shepherds," they answered. "And then he drew water for us and watered our flocks."

²⁰"Then where is he?" their father asked. "Why did you leave him there? Invite him to come and eat with us."

²¹Moses accepted the invitation, and he settled there with him. In time, Reuel gave Moses his daughter Zipporah to be his wife. ²²Later she gave birth to a son, and Moses named him Gershom, for he explained, "I have been a foreigner in a foreign land."

²³Years passed, and the king of Egypt died. But the Israelites continued to groan under their burden of slavery. They cried out for help, and their cry rose up to God. ²⁴God heard their groaning, and he ⁴remembered his covenant promise to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. ²⁵He looked down on the people of Israel and knew it was time to act.

The Call of the Rescuer (3:1–4:28)

Moses and the Burning Bush

3 One day Moses was tending the flock of his father-in-law, Jethro, the priest of Midian. He led the flock far into the wilderness and came to Sinai, the mountain of God. ²There the ⁴angel of the LORD appeared to him in a blazing fire from the middle of a bush. Moses stared in amazement. Though the bush was engulfed in flames, it didn't burn up. ³"This is amazing," Moses said to himself. "Why isn't that bush burning up? I must go see it."

⁴When the LORD saw Moses coming to take a closer look, God called to him from the middle of the bush, "Moses! Moses!"

"Here I am!" Moses replied.

Age	Event	References
birth	Moses is rescued by midwives	1:15-22
3 months	Moses is adopted by Pharaoh's daughter	2:1-10
40 years	Moses kills an Egyptian and flees to Midian	2:11-22; Acts 7:23
80	God commissions Moses; Israel is rescued from Egypt	7:7; Acts 7:30
120	Moses dies on Mount Nebo in Moab	Deut 34:1-8

▲ Moses' Life (2:1-22)

tells of his transition to a new land (2:18-22). He married, had a child, and lived there for forty years (Acts 7:30). From a human perspective, there was no way for the Israelites to be rescued through Moses, but it is the divine perspective that matters. The end of this section (2:23-25) tells us that God had not forgotten his people; he was only waiting for the time to act (2:25).

2:16 The priest of Midian was named Reuel (2:18), but later he is called Jethro (18:1). It was common for a person to have both an official name and a personal name, though in this case it is not clear which is which. Perhaps, like Melchizedek (Gen 14:18), he represented an indigenous religious class that had not fallen prey to a pagan religion. Reuel's actions in bringing an offering and sacrifices to God (18:12) suggest that this was so.

2:17 rescued: Now a stranger in a strange land, Moses still could not stand by and allow oppression to continue—he was, by nature, a rescuer. The NLT has captured the correct sense of the Hebrew word, sometimes translated deliver or save.

2:18-20 The father of seven daughters was not about to leave a generous and courageous male—excellent husband material—unaccounted for! We see here the well-known hospitality (see also Gen 18:1-8) that characterizes the residents of this region to this day.

2:22 Gershom sounds like a Hebrew term that means "a foreigner there."

2:23 The king of Egypt who died was possibly Thutmose III (1504~1450 BC; see "Old Testament Chronology: Abraham to Joshua," p. 118). The new pharaoh did not change his predecessor's oppressive policies.

2:24-25 The verbs here speak of a God who is sensitive to his people's needs (heard . . . looked down), who is faithful and reliable (remembered his covenant promise), and who accepts his obligations in a relationship (knew it was time to act). The last phrase could also be translated and acknowledged his obligation to help them.

3:1-4:28 This section presents Moses' call to rescue the Israelites from Egyptian bondage. It is divided into two subsections, 3:1-4:17 and 4:18-28. The first deals with the call itself, while the second addresses the full implications of accepting that call. Moses was not presented with a mere vocational change; he faced an entire reorientation of his life.

3:1-10 In these verses, the stage is set for the reorientation of Moses' life.

3:1 Jethro: Moses' father-in-law went by two names, Jethro and Reuel. See note on 2:16. • Sinai: Hebrew Horeb, another name for Sinai. Sinai is the name usually used for the mountain where God later revealed himself in the covenant (for example, see 16:1; 19:1-2). Here and in 17:6 and 33:6 the Hebrew text uses the proper name Horeb. Both names presumably refer to the same mountain, so the NLT consistently uses Sinai.

3:2 Technically, the angel of the LORD is the Lord's officially authorized envoy, but the expression may be used more broadly of other visible manifestations of the Lord (see Gen 16:9-13; Judg 13:3, 6, 21-22). • In the Bible, blazing fire often represents God's transcendent holiness (see 19:18; Gen 15:17; 1 Kgs 18:38-39; Isa 33:14). • didn't burn up: This may show that God does not wish to consume the vehicle that he sets ablaze for his purposes.

3:4 Moses! Moses! God knows his people by name, and individuals are important to him.

⁵"Do not come any closer," the LORD warned. "Take off your sandals, for you are standing on holy ground. ⁶I am the 'God of your father—the 'God of Abraham, the 'God of Isaac, and the 'God of Jacob." When Moses heard this, he covered his face because he was afraid to look at 'God.

⁷Then the LORD told him, "I have certainly seen the oppression of my people in Egypt. I have heard their cries of distress because of their harsh slave drivers. Yes, I am aware of their suffering. ⁸So I have come down to rescue them from the power of the Egyptians and lead them out of Egypt into their own fertile and spacious land. It is a land flowing with milk and honey—the land where the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites now live. ⁹Look! The cry of the people of Israel has reached me, and I have ⁸seen how harshly the Egyptians abuse them. ¹⁰Now go, for I am sending you to Pharaoh. You must lead my people Israel out of Egypt."

¹¹But Moses protested to God, "Who am I to appear before Pharaoh? Who am I to lead the people of Israel out of Egypt?"

¹²God answered, "I will be with you. And this is your sign that I am the one who has sent you: When you have brought the people out of Egypt, you will worship God at this very mountain."

¹³But Moses protested, "If I go to the people of Israel and tell them, 'The God of your ancestors has sent me to you,' they will ask me, 'What is his name?' Then what should I tell them?"

¹⁴God replied to Moses, "I AM WHO I AM. Say this to the people of Israel: I AM has sent me to you." ¹⁵God also said to Moses, "Say this to the people of Israel: Yahweh, the God

3:5
Gen 28:17
Josh 5:15
*Acts 7:33

3:6
*Matt 22:32
*Mark 12:26
*Luke 20:37
*Acts 3:13; 7:32
Elahim* (0430)
*Num 23:21

3:7
*Acts 7:34

3:8
Gen 15:18-19; 46:4;
50:24
Exod 3:17
Deut 6:3; 8:7-9; 11:9;
26:9

3:9
Bra'ah* (7462)
*1 Sam 16:11

3:10
*Acts 7:34

3:11
Exod 4:10; 6:12

3:12
Exod 4:12; 19:2
*Acts 7:7

3:5 The soil around the bush was holy ground, while the soil on the bottom of Moses' sandals was common. The common cannot touch the holy without being transformed or destroyed (see "Clean and Unclean" at Lev 11:1-15:33, p. 213). At the outset of the Exodus, God was making it plain that he is absolutely "other" than his creation, a reality that cannot be overlooked in a proper divine-human relationship. The word holy occurs only a few times in the Bible prior to 3:5. It now becomes the central descriptor of God in the OT. In other Semitic languages, the same root occurs infrequently. It does not describe a moral quality in these other languages but simply what is "other than" human. The pagan gods, for instance, were "holy" only in the sense of being "other"—they did everything humans do, good and evil, but on a larger scale. In the Bible, by contrast, moral perfection is a central idea of the term holy. The one true God is the only being in the universe who truly stands apart from this world and is worthy of being called "holy" in this general sense. The true God is perfectly consistent and moral in his character. Here, at the burning bush, God revealed his otherness (see also "God's Absolute Holiness" at Lev 10:3, p. 210). Later at Sinai, he revealed his moral character in his requirements for those who would be his covenant partners (see 19:6; 20:1-23:33; see also Lev 11:45; 1 Pet 1:13-16).

3:6 This transcendent God had committed himself to Moses' ancestors in a faithful promise maintained for hundreds of years. Moses was in awe of the one, holy, and transcendent God of Abraham. • your father: The Greek version reads your fathers. • Jesus quoted this verse when he was sparring with the Sadducees about the concept of resurrection (Matt 22:32; Mark 12:26; Luke 20:37).

3:7 The continued slavery and distress of Israel touched God's heart.

3:8 God would not only rescue them but would take them to their own . . . land that he had promised to Abraham (Gen 13:14-18). • flowing with milk and honey: The land was agriculturally rich, with pasturage for cattle and crops with blooms from which bees could make honey. • Canaanites . . . Jebusites: The list of peoples who lived in Canaan indicates the importance of this strip of land between the Mediterranean Sea and the Arabian Desert. As a vital crossroads for trade and communication between Egypt and the rest of the ancient Near East, it was a hotly contested prize. That Israel could end up in sole possession of it seemed an impossibility.

3:10 God would act compassionately to save his suffering people, but it would be through a human agency. Often God is known among us because of the way his people carry out his will.

3:11-4:17 Moses, in his response to God, presented four reasons why he was not the one to fulfill God's call. Although each reason supposedly relates to Moses and his ability, God's answers show that they were really questions about God.

3:11-12 Moses first protested that he was unworthy of such a great task, but God responded that this was not the issue. Human worthiness is of no significance if God's presence is with that person.

3:12 In the Bible, a sign often occurred after a person or a nation had already had to decide whether to act in faith or not (see Isa 7:14). A sign cannot create faith where there is none (see Matt 12:39; 16:4). Rather, it encourages the one who has exercised the faith he or she already has.

3:13-22 Moses' second protest was that he had inadequate knowledge. He did not know God's name. This might mean that God's personal name had not yet been revealed (see notes on 6:2-3). It is also possible that Moses meant he did not know the secret, magic formula that a man of power might have been expected to make use of. Interest in such things was common in the ancient Near East. God's direct response is almost a riddle, but the majority of his answer is a statement of his faithfulness in the past and a demonstration of his knowledge of the future. There is nothing magical about the name Yahweh. Knowledge of secret formulas and magic powers is not the issue; the issue is the character of God and his lordship of history. The reason there is "something about that name" is because of the incomparable character and nature of the one who bears it.

3:14 I AM WHO I AM: This name could also be translated I WILL BE WHAT I WILL BE. It speaks of a God who is self-sufficient, self-existent, all encompassing, and without limitations, the one being in the universe who is not dependent on something else for his existence.

3:15 Yahweh (also in 3:16) is a transliteration of the proper name YHWH. This name is probably a form of the Hebrew verb "to be," so it could mean "he causes to be," or "he who is," or "I am." Later Jews were not permitted to speak God's name aloud, so the Hebrew text supplies the vowels from the word 'adonay (which means "lord" or "master") whenever God's proper name, YHWH, appears. In oral reading, the Hebrew reader would pronounce 'adonay, even though the written text is

3:13
Exod 15:3
3:14
Exod 6:3
John 8:58
Rev 1:8; 4:8

3:15
Ps 72:17; 102:12;
135:13
*Acts 3:13

3:16
Exod 4:29

3:17
Exod 3:8
Josh 24:11

3:18
Exod 4:23; 5:1, 3
Num 23:4, 16

3:19
Exod 5:2; 6:1; 7:4

3:20
Exod 11:1; 12:31-33
Neh 9:10
Acts 7:36

3:21
Exod 11:2-3

3:22
Exod 11:2; 12:35

4:1
Exod 3:15-16, 18

4:3
Exod 7:8-12, 15

4:5
Exod 4:31; 19:9

4:6
Num 12:10
2 Kgs 5:27

4:7
2 Kgs 5:14
Matt 8:3
Luke 17:12-14

4:9
Exod 7:17-121

of your ancestors—the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob—has sent me to you.

This is my eternal name, my name to remember for all generations.

16“Now go and call together all the elders of Israel. Tell them, ‘Yahweh, the God of your ancestors—the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob—has appeared to me. He told me, “I have been watching closely, and I see how the Egyptians are treating you. 17I have promised to rescue you from your oppression in Egypt. I will lead you to a land flowing with milk and honey—the land where the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites now live.”’

18“‘The elders of Israel will accept your message. Then you and the elders must go to the king of Egypt and tell him, ‘The LORD, the God of the Hebrews, has met with us. So please let us take a three-day journey into the wilderness to offer sacrifices to the LORD, our God.’

19“‘But I know that the king of Egypt will not let you go unless a mighty hand forces him. 20So I will raise my hand and strike the Egyptians, performing all kinds of miracles among them. Then at last he will let you go. 21And I will cause the Egyptians to look favorably on you. They will give you gifts when you go so you will not leave empty-handed. 22Every Israelite woman will ask for articles of silver and gold and fine clothing from her Egyptian neighbors and from the foreign women in their houses. You will dress your sons and daughters with these, stripping the Egyptians of their wealth.”

Signs of the LORD's Power

4 But Moses protested again, “What if they won’t believe me or listen to me? What if they say, ‘The LORD never appeared to you?’”

2Then the LORD asked him, “What is that in your hand?”

“A shepherd’s staff,” Moses replied.

3“Throw it down on the ground,” the LORD told him. So Moses threw down the staff, and it turned into a snake! Moses jumped back.

4Then the LORD told him, “Reach out and grab its tail.” So Moses reached out and grabbed it, and it turned back into a shepherd’s staff in his hand.

5“Perform this sign,” the LORD told him. “Then they will believe that the LORD, the God of their ancestors—the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob—really has appeared to you.”

6Then the LORD said to Moses, “Now put your hand inside your cloak.” So Moses put his hand inside his cloak, and when he took it out again, his hand was white as snow with a severe skin disease. 7“Now put your hand back into your cloak,” the LORD said. So Moses put his hand back in, and when he took it out again, it was as healthy as the rest of his body.

8The LORD said to Moses, “If they do not believe you and are not convinced by the first miraculous sign, they will be convinced by the second sign. 9And if they don’t believe you or listen to you even after these two signs, then take some water from the Nile River and pour it out on the dry ground. When you do, the water from the Nile will turn to blood on the ground.”

YHWH. We do not know the pronunciation of the divine name. The widely used Yahweh is an informed guess. The English word “Jehovah” is an artificial term made by combining the vowels of ’adonay with the consonants Y-H-W-H. In the NLT, this name is usually translated “LORD” (with small capitals), but it is transliterated “Yahweh” in the few instances, like this verse, where a point is made about the name itself. Also in 6:2-3; 15:3; 33:19; 34:5-6.

3:16-17 Moses was to tell the people of Israel that the God who now spoke to them was the same God their ancestors knew and worshiped, and he would lead them into a fruitful land wrested from the hands of many others. Moses’ message was not a magical formula, but the word of a God who, standing outside of history, can yet enter and direct it.

3:18 Hebrews: See note on 1:15. • a three-day journey . . . to offer sacrifices: If we think of the primary purpose of the Exodus as rescuing the Israelites from bondage, this seems like a disingenuous request. But God’s primary purpose was to create a people for himself, and he was taking them into the wilderness to teach them to worship him.

3:19 I know: See “A Hardened Heart” at 14:4, 8, p. 149. • will not let you go unless a mighty hand forces him: As translated from the Greek and Latin versions; Hebrew reads will not let you go, not by a mighty hand.

3:20-21 God’s power would be obvious, and the Egyptians would not only allow the Hebrews to leave, they would pay them to do so.

4:1-9 Moses’ third protest was that he lacked power. God answered in a very convincing demonstration of divine power by instantaneous creation of a snake and of a severe skin disease.

4:3 Across the ancient Near East, the snake was a symbol of both death and healing. The person who demonstrated power in these areas was powerful indeed.

4:6 severe skin disease: The Hebrew word underlying this phrase has traditionally been translated “leprosy.” However, the symptoms of this condition as described in the Bible are not those of the disease we know as leprosy (Hansen’s disease). The biblical term seems to describe several kinds of highly contagious inflammations and skin lesions.

4:9 As with the previous two signs, the fact that the water from the Nile will turn to blood also demonstrated God’s power over life and death (see “The Plagues” at 7:14–11:10, p. 141).

¹⁰But Moses pleaded with the LORD, "O Lord, I'm not very good with words. I never have been, and I'm not now, even though you have spoken to me. I get tongue-tied, and my words get tangled."

¹¹Then the LORD asked Moses, "Who makes a person's mouth? Who decides whether people speak or do not speak, hear or do not hear, see or do not see? Is it not I, the LORD?" ¹²Now go! I will be with you as you speak, and I will instruct you in what to say."

¹³But Moses again pleaded, "Lord, please! Send anyone else."

¹⁴Then the LORD became angry with Moses. "All right," he said. "What about your brother, Aaron the Levite? I know he speaks well. And look! He is on his way to meet you now. He will be delighted to see you. ¹⁵Talk to him, and put the words in his mouth. I will be with both of you as you speak, and I will instruct you both in what to do. ¹⁶Aaron will be your spokesman to the people. He will be your mouthpiece, and you will stand in the place of God for him, telling him what to say. ¹⁷And take your shepherd's staff with you, and use it to perform the miraculous signs I have shown you."

Moses Returns to Egypt

¹⁸So Moses went back home to Jethro, his father-in-law. "Please let me return to my relatives in Egypt," Moses said. "I don't even know if they are still alive."

"Go in peace," Jethro replied.

¹⁹Before Moses left Midian, the LORD said to him, "Return to Egypt, for all those who wanted to kill you have died."

²⁰So Moses took his wife and sons, put them on a donkey, and headed back to the land of Egypt. In his hand he carried the staff of God.

²¹And the LORD told Moses, "When you arrive back in Egypt, go to Pharaoh and perform all the miracles I have empowered you to do. But I will harden his heart so he will refuse to let the people go. ²²Then you will tell him, 'This is what the LORD says: Israel is my firstborn son. ²³I commanded you, 'Let my son go, so he can worship me.' But since you have refused, I will now kill your firstborn son!'"

²⁴On the way to Egypt, at a place where Moses and his family had stopped for the night, the LORD confronted him and was about to kill him. ²⁵But Moses' wife, Zipporah, took a flint knife and circumcised her son. She touched his feet with the foreskin and said, "Now you are a bridegroom of blood to me." ²⁶(When she said "a bridegroom of blood," she was referring to the circumcision.) After that, the LORD left him alone.

²⁷Now the LORD had said to Aaron, "Go out into the wilderness to meet Moses." So Aaron went and met Moses at the mountain of God, and he embraced him. ²⁸Moses then told Aaron everything the LORD had commanded him to say. And he told him about the miraculous signs the LORD had commanded him to perform.

4:10
Exod 3:11
Jer 1:6

4:11
Ps 94:9
Matt 11:5

4:12
Deut 18:15, 18
Matt 10:19-20
Mark 13:11

4:14
Exod 4:27

4:15
Isa 51:16
Jer 1:9

4:16
Exod 7:1; 18:19-20

4:17
Exod 14:16; 17:9

4:19
Exod 2:15, 23

4:20
Exod 18:3
Acts 7:29

4:21
Exod 7:3, 13; 9:12
Deut 2:30
John 12:40

4:22
Isa 63:16; 64:8
Jer 31:9
Hos 11:1
Rom 9:4

4:23
Exod 5:1; 6:11; 7:16

4:24
Num 22:22
1 Chr 21:16

4:25-26
Josh 5:2-3

4:27
Exod 4:14

4:28
Exod 4:16

4:10-17 Moses' fourth and final protest was that he could not speak effectively. Moses was apparently grasping at straws in trying to escape this dangerous and unpleasant assignment, and God was becoming angry at Moses' refusal to grasp the truth. The outcome did not depend on Moses' ability, but upon his willingness to let God's power operate through him.

4:11 God created the organs of speech and has ordained every person's particular abilities in this area. He is able to use what he has made and ordained.

4:13 Having run out of protests, Moses simply asked to be excused.

4:14-17 God would not let Moses evade responsibility, but he would accommodate Moses' concern by allowing Moses' brother Aaron to become Moses' mouthpiece (14:16). As the narrative unfolds, the text records fewer and fewer occasions of Aaron serving in this capacity. Moses' speaking problem was perhaps not as serious as he made it out to be, or the problem began to dissipate as his experience increased.

4:18 Moses was now eighty years old (see 7:7), but he was still formally subject to his father-in-law.

4:20 he carried the staff of God: Whatever he may have said to Jethro, Moses was going to Egypt in obedience to God and in the expectation of being used by God (see 4:17).

4:21-23 These verses summarize the events of the next several chapters, beginning with the request to let the people go so that they could worship God (5:3) and concluding with the final plague, the death of the firstborn (11:4-6). God was preparing the rescuer for the difficult task ahead (see 11:9).

4:24-26 This incident is shrouded in mystery. That Zipporah responded immediately and circumcised her son suggests that she and Moses had discussed the possibility of doing so previously and had decided it was not necessary. Why would having an uncircumcised son lead to God's intent to kill the rescuer he had carefully prepared and called? Perhaps if Moses had arrived in Egypt claiming to represent the God of the Israelites' ancestors and yet had not done the one thing God had commanded of his followers to this point (Gen 17:10), then the people would have been less inclined to follow God in a radically exclusive way.

4:25 The Hebrew word for feet may refer here to the male sex organ. See also note on Gen 49:10. • a bridegroom of blood: The context suggests that this statement was part of the circumcision ritual of that time. Perhaps it reflects a practice among some Semites (as among certain African groups today) of performing circumcision when the child had attained puberty.

4:27 Aaron's coming to meet Moses is the first recorded confirmation of God's promises (see 4:14). • mountain of God: A reference to Mount Sinai.

4:29-7:7 In this section, the Lord offered to rescue the Israelites. The people initially gave a favorable response but ultimately faced a crisis of faith.

4:29
Exod 3:16

4:30
Exod 4:15

4:31
Exod 3:18; 12:27
^hkhawah (7812)
Num 25:2

5:1
Exod 3:18; 4:23

5:2
Exod 3:19
Job 21:15

5:3
Exod 3:18
Deut 28:21

5:4-5
Exod 1:11

The Offer of Rescue (4:29–7:7)

Moses and Aaron Speak to the People

²⁹Then Moses and Aaron returned to Egypt and called all the elders of Israel together.

³⁰Aaron told them everything the LORD had told Moses, and Moses performed the miraculous signs as they watched. ³¹Then the people of Israel were convinced that the LORD had sent Moses and Aaron. When they heard that the LORD was concerned about them and had seen their misery, they bowed down and ^hworshiped.

Moses and Aaron Speak to Pharaoh

5 After this presentation to Israel's leaders, Moses and Aaron went and spoke to Pharaoh. They told him, "This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: Let my people go so they may hold a festival in my honor in the wilderness."

²"Is that so?" retorted Pharaoh. "And who is the LORD? Why should I listen to him and let Israel go? I don't know the LORD, and I will not let Israel go."

³But Aaron and Moses persisted. "The God of the Hebrews has met with us," they declared. "So let us take a three-day journey into the wilderness so we can offer sacrifices to the LORD our God. If we don't, he will kill us with a plague or with the sword."

⁴Pharaoh replied, "Moses and Aaron, why are you distracting the people from their tasks? Get back to work! ⁵Look, there are many of your people in the land, and you are stopping them from their work."

Aaron (4:14-17, 27-31)

Exod 6:20-27; 7:1-2;
28:1-5; 32:1-25
Num 12:1-12;
20:1-13, 22-29
Acts 7:39-41

Moses' older brother, Aaron (6:20; 7:7), played a crucial role in founding Israel and its institutions, particularly the priesthood. He first appears after Moses' calling at the burning bush (3:1-4:17). Moses was reluctant to accept the divine commission, claiming that he was unfit to lead the Israelites out of Egypt because his words tended to "get tangled" (4:10). Despite God's assurances, Moses continued to object until God appointed Aaron as Moses' mouthpiece. Thereafter, Aaron was often at Moses' side, speaking to the Israelite leaders and demanding that Pharaoh let the Israelites leave Egypt (5:1-5).

During the Israelites' wilderness wanderings, Aaron became Israel's first high priest. God appointed Aaron and his sons to be set apart and dedicated as priests (28:1-5; 29:1-46; Lev 8:1-36). Aaron's role as high priest was especially prominent on the annual Day of Atonement, the only day on which the high priest entered the Most Holy Place to purify it from the effects of Israel's sins (Lev 16). Before he could do so, however, the high priest had to offer a sacrifice to atone for his own sins.

Aaron was an imperfect leader. While Moses was on Mount Sinai receiving the law from God, Aaron helped the people make an idol (ch 32). When Moses returned, Aaron gave poor excuses and blamed the people. Surprisingly, the Levite tribe, of whom Aaron and Moses were members, then supported Moses by executing many of the idol worshipers.

Aaron and his sister, Miriam, once wrongly challenged Moses' authority (Num 12). When other Levites later challenged Aaron's authority, God affirmed Aaron's role by making his staff bud with almond blossoms (Num 17). However, because Moses and Aaron challenged God's authority (Num 20:1-13), they both died in the wilderness without entering the Promised Land (Num 20:22-27).

Jesus has become the great high priest. Jesus far surpasses Aaron's priestly authority and effectiveness (see Heb 7–10).

◀ Aaron's Family (6:20-25). Profiles are given for Moses (p. 128) and ELEAZAR (p. 284).

4:31 the people of Israel were convinced: The initial response to the good news was one of faith and worship. Contrast the response of panic in 14:10-12, when they saw Pharaoh chasing them.

5:1-14 Pharaoh not only rejected Moses' request to release the Hebrew slaves, he also retaliated by making their work harder. The arrival of the rescuer had actually made the situation worse.

5:1 so they may hold a festival: See note on 3:18.

5:2 Pharaoh immediately moved to the heart of the issue. What god could possibly be superior to Pharaoh? What god could compel him to do what he did not want to do? This is a central issue for the whole human race. Is there someone or something greater than my self-interest?

5:3 he will kill us: God had not said this. Perhaps Moses and Aaron were trying to strengthen their case by saying that they had to obey God or die.

5:4-5 Evidently the people were anticipating their promised freedom and had stopped their work.

Pharaoh Increases Israel's Oppression

⁶That same day Pharaoh sent this order to the Egyptian slave drivers and the Israelite foremen: ⁷"Do not supply any more straw for making bricks. Make the people get it themselves! ⁸But still require them to make the same number of bricks as before. Don't reduce the quota. They are lazy. That's why they are crying out, 'Let us go and offer sacrifices to our God.' ⁹Load them down with more work. Make them sweat! That will teach them to listen to lies!"

¹⁰So the slave drivers and foremen went out and told the people: "This is what Pharaoh says: I will not provide any more straw for you. ¹¹Go and get it yourselves. Find it wherever you can. But you must produce just as many bricks as before!" ¹²So the people scattered throughout the land of Egypt in search of stubble to use as straw.

¹³Meanwhile, the Egyptian slave drivers continued to push hard. "Meet your daily quota of bricks, just as you did when we provided you with straw!" they demanded. ¹⁴Then they whipped the Israelite foremen they had put in charge of the work crews. "Why haven't you met your quotas either yesterday or today?" they demanded.

¹⁵So the Israelite foremen went to Pharaoh and pleaded with him. "Please don't treat your servants like this," they begged. ¹⁶"We are given no straw, but the slave drivers still demand, 'Make bricks!' We are being beaten, but it isn't our fault! Your own people are to blame!"

¹⁷But Pharaoh shouted, "You're just lazy! Lazy! That's why you're saying, 'Let us go and offer sacrifices to the LORD.' ¹⁸Now get back to work! No straw will be given to you, but you must still produce the full quota of bricks."

¹⁹The Israelite foremen could see that they were in serious trouble when they were told, "You must not reduce the number of bricks you make each day." ²⁰As they left Pharaoh's court, they confronted Moses and Aaron, who were waiting outside for them. ²¹The foremen said to them, "May the LORD judge and punish you for making us stink before Pharaoh and his officials. You have put a sword into their hands, an excuse to kill us!"

²²Then Moses went back to the LORD and protested, "Why have you brought all this trouble on your own people, LORD? Why did you send me? ²³Ever since I came to Pharaoh as your spokesman, he has been even more brutal to your people. And you have done nothing to rescue them!"

Promises of Rescue

6 Then the LORD told Moses, "Now you will see what I will do to Pharaoh. When he feels the force of my strong hand, he will let the people go. In fact, he will force them to leave his land!"

²And God said to Moses, "I am Yahweh—the LORD." ³I appeared to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob as El-Shaddai—"God Almighty"—but I did not reveal my name, Yahweh, to them. ⁴And I reaffirmed my covenant with them. Under its terms, I promised to give them the land of Canaan,

5:6
Exod 1:7, 5:10, 14

5:7
Gen 11:1

5:14
Isa 10:24

5:17
Exod 5:8

5:21
Gen 16:5, 14:10

5:22
Num 11:11
Jer 4:10

5:23
Exod 1:8

6:1
Exod 3:19, 20, 11:1, 12:11

6:2
Exod 1:14, 15

6:1
Gen 12:1
Ps 81:10
Isa 52:6
Shaddai (7706)
* Job 22:2's

5:6-14 Pharaoh made the work harder in retaliation for their insubordination; he also believed they had too much time on their hands (5:8). He could not conceive of a god who would reveal himself outside of the established royal system of worship, so the only explanation he could imagine for their strange religious ideas was that they had dreamed them up themselves—when they should have been working (see also 5:17).

5:7 Straw is a binder to help clay and mud bricks retain their form while drying in the sun.

5:22-23 This was the crisis point. After the initial burst of enthusiasm (4:29-31), the offer of rescue produced nothing but skepticism, hostility, and worse oppression than before. Moses, the rescuer, was himself reduced to doubt.

5:22 The phrase brought all this trouble could be translated even more strongly as done all this evil. Is God really good or not? Instead of rescuing the people out of their evil circumstances as he had promised, it seems that God had only made the situation worse. Is he faithful or not? Is he powerful or not? (cp. Ps 105:25-27).

6:1-13 God renewed his promises. The offer of rescue brought the true question to the fore, the question articulated by Pharaoh: Who is the Lord (5:2)? As much as the Israelites needed rescue from bondage, their greater need was to know the Lord. The climax of God's renewed promises was "you will know that I am the LORD your God" (6:7).

6:1 Now you will see: Far from being daunted by the questions being raised about his integrity, his ability, and his very character, God looked forward to the clash of worldviews that lay ahead. Pharaoh, thinking himself divine, would just be a pawn in the hand of the one true God.

6:2-8 Once again, God forcefully linked his promises to the patriarchs (Abraham's family) with what he was about to do. God's work in history shows his faithfulness. He has made promises, and he will keep them. God also wished to reveal more of himself than he had been able to do with the patriarchs. This generation would know more of God and his intentions than Abraham had, particularly regarding the implications of the covenant (6:4-5). Why does God redem (6:6)? Why did he reveal himself to Abraham in the first place? God wanted the Israelites to be his own people and he wanted to be their God (6:7). God's goal is for humanity to be in a lovingly submissive covenant relationship with God, where we can be what he made us to be.

6:2-3 I am Yahweh . . . El-Shaddai: Here the NLT transliterates the divine names Yahweh and El-Shaddai because God was emphasizing that he was now using a different name than the name by which he was known to Abraham,

6:4
Gen 15:18
6:5
Exod 2:23-24
6:6
Exod 3:17; 13:3, 14
Deut 6:12; 26:8
6:7
Exod 16:12
Deut 4:20
Isa 60:16
6:8
Num 14:30
Josh 24:13
6:11
Exod 5:1; 7:2
6:12
Exod 4:10; 6:30

where they were living as foreigners. ⁵You can be sure that I have heard the groans of the people of Israel, who are now slaves to the Egyptians. And I am well aware of my covenant with them.

⁶"Therefore, say to the people of Israel: 'I am the LORD. I will free you from your oppression and will rescue you from your slavery in Egypt. I will redeem you with a powerful arm and great acts of judgment. ⁷I will claim you as my own people, and I will be your God. Then you will know that I am the LORD your God who has freed you from your oppression in Egypt. ⁸I will bring you into the land I swore to give to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. I will give it to you as your very own possession. I am the LORD!'"

⁹So Moses told the people of Israel what the LORD had said, but they refused to listen anymore. They had become too discouraged by the brutality of their slavery.

¹⁰Then the LORD said to Moses, ¹¹"Go back to Pharaoh, the king of Egypt, and tell him to let the people of Israel leave his country."

¹²"But LORD!" Moses objected. "My own people won't listen to me anymore. How can I expect Pharaoh to listen? I'm such a clumsy speaker!"

¹³But the LORD spoke to Moses and Aaron and gave them orders for the Israelites and for Pharaoh, the king of Egypt. The LORD commanded Moses and Aaron to lead the people of Israel out of Egypt.

Hardship in Following God (5:1-23)

Exod 18:8
Gen 39:6-20
1 Kgs 18:3-4;
19:1-10
Ps 6:6-7; 22:11-18
Matt 5:11-12
Mark 8:34
John 15:20; 16:33
Rom 16:20
2 Cor 11:23-29
Eph 6:10-18
2 Tim 3:12
Heb 10:32-36
1 Pet 1:6-7; 3:9-17;
4:12-19

Sometimes people are urged to accept Christ because "he will solve your problems." But Christ did not promise to solve all of people's problems. In fact, he repeatedly warned people to consider what it would cost them to follow him (see, e.g., Luke 14:28), and he pointed out the hardships that would come into their lives as a result of choosing to follow him (see, e.g., Mark 8:34).

Exodus 5 gives us a case study: Pharaoh's earlier enslavement and persecution of the Hebrews was purely strategic. He worried that this growing sector of the population would cause trouble for him (1:8-22). In ch 5, the situation is different. Moses and Aaron had rallied the people's hopes that their God would soon rescue them (4:29-31). During their initial encounter with Pharaoh, Moses and Aaron confronted him with the reality of God's sovereign rule (5:2-3). Not surprisingly, Pharaoh considered this an affront to his own sovereignty and reacted strongly against the Israelites (5:6-21). When God's Kingdom clashes with God's enemies, there is often conflict and hardship for God's people.

We should not be surprised, therefore, when hardships come our way. Believers have changed allegiance from the realm of darkness to the realm of light (Col 1:12-13), and those who rule in the realm of darkness will certainly not let us leave their power without a fight. We, like the ancient Hebrews, must stand firm in our faith, knowing that God will secure the final victory on our behalf (6:1-8; see also Matt 5:11-12; John 16:33; Rom 16:20; Eph 6:10-18).

Isaac, and Jacob. To assist the English reader, the translators have also supplied the English terms usually used for these Hebrew terms: "the LORD" and "God Almighty." • Regarding the name Yahweh, see the note on 3:15. • El-Shaddai, which means "God Almighty," is the name for God used in Gen 17:1; 28:3; 35:11; 43:14; 48:3. • I did not reveal my name, Yahweh, to them: The name Yahweh in fact appears frequently in Genesis (translated "the LORD"). Two solutions are possible: (1) The name Yahweh was not known to the patriarchs, but Moses, the author of Genesis, was inspired to insert that name in those places in Genesis where God's grace and his nature as covenant-keeper were apparent. (2) While the patriarchs might have known the name Yahweh, it is possible that they had never seen God's nature displayed as it was in the Exodus and the Sinai Covenant. In Hebrew, a person's name has a broader significance than it does in English. People's names were intended to reflect their character and nature, not just serve as a label (see, e.g., Ps 8:1, 9; 148:13). Here reveal is a Hebrew word often translated "to know," which implies intimate knowledge and experience. In this case, the patriarchs knew God's name, but they did not know and experience his nature fully as he revealed himself in the Exodus.

6:7 Then you will know that I am the LORD: The Hebrew word translated know is always based on experience and relationship. The same word is used to describe human sexual relations. To know God as Yahweh is not just to know abstract facts about him, but to be in a relationship with him in which we are always learning who he is and what he wants us to do. This is the only true rescue from the human predicament of sin described in Gen 3-11. The importance of "knowing the Lord" in the book of Exodus is seen in its recurrence, especially in chs 5-18 (5:2; 7:5, 17; 8:10, 22; 9:29; 10:2; 11:7; 14:4, 18; 16:6, 12; 18:11).

6:9 The crisis deepened as the people refused to listen to the reaffirmation of the promises. They had not anticipated that their initial faith would produce greater problems for them.

6:10-13 The crisis hit bottom. Even Moses was back to the situation on Sinai, where he had first responded to God's call with protests of inadequacy (3:1-4:13): I'm such a clumsy speaker (literally I have uncircumcised lips; also in 6:30). But God renewed his orders.

The Ancestors of Moses and Aaron

¹⁴These are the ancestors of some of the clans of Israel:

The sons of Reuben, Israel's oldest son, were Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi. Their descendants became the clans of Reuben.

¹⁵The sons of Simeon were Jemuel, Jamin, Ohad, Jakin, Zohar, and Shaul. (Shaul's mother was a Canaanite woman.) Their descendants became the clans of Simeon.

¹⁶These are the descendants of Levi, as listed in their family records: The sons of Levi were Gershon, Kohath, and Merari. (Levi lived to be 137 years old.)

¹⁷The descendants of Gershon included Libni and Shimei, each of whom became the ancestor of a clan.

¹⁸The descendants of Kohath included Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel. (Kohath lived to be 133 years old.)

¹⁹The descendants of Merari included Mahli and Mushi.

These are the clans of the Levites, as listed in their family records.

²⁰Amram married his father's sister Jochebed, and she gave birth to his sons, Aaron and Moses. (Amram lived to be 137 years old.)

²¹The sons of Izhar were Korah, Nepheg, and Zicri.

²²The sons of Uzziel were Mishael, Elzaphan, and Sithri.

²³Aaron married Elisheba, the daughter of Amminadab and sister of Nahshon, and she gave birth to his sons, Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

²⁴The sons of Korah were Assir, Elkanah, and Abiasaph. Their descendants became the clans of Korah.

²⁵Eleazar son of Aaron married one of the daughters of Putiel, and she gave birth to his son, Phinehas.

These are the ancestors of the Levite families, listed according to their clans.

²⁶The Aaron and Moses named in this list are the same ones to whom the LORD said, "Lead the people of Israel out of the land of Egypt like an army." ²⁷It was Moses and Aaron who spoke to Pharaoh, the king of Egypt, about leading the people of Israel out of Egypt.

²⁸When the LORD spoke to Moses in the land of Egypt, ²⁹he said to him, "I am the LORD! Tell Pharaoh, the king of Egypt, everything I am telling you." ³⁰But Moses argued with the LORD, saying, "I can't do it! I'm such a clumsy speaker! Why should Pharaoh listen to me?"

The Lord's Command Renewed

7 Then the LORD said to Moses, "Pay close attention to this. I will make you seem like God to Pharaoh, and your brother, Aaron, will be your prophet. ²Tell Aaron everything I command you, and Aaron must command Pharaoh to let the people of Israel leave his country. ³But I will make Pharaoh's

6:14
Gen 46:9
Num 26:5-11

6:15
Gen 46:10

6:16
Gen 46:11
Num 3:17
1 Chr 6:1, 16-19

6:17
Num 3:18-20
1 Chr 6:17

6:18
Num 3:25-30
1 Chr 6:2, 18

6:19
1 Chr 6:19

6:20
Exod 2:1-2
Num 26:59

6:21
Num 16:1

6:22
Lev 10:4

6:23
Ruth 4:19-20

6:24
1 Chr 6:22-23, 37

6:25
Num 25:7, 11
Josh 24:33

6:26
Exod 6:13

6:29
Exod 6:2, 6, 8; 7:2

6:30
Exod 4:10; 6:12

7:1
Exod 4:16
inabi' (5030)
* Exod 15:20

6:14-30 This genealogical interlude places Moses and Aaron among the families of Israel. That it is an interlude is clear because 6:30 is a repetition of 6:12. There is a recurring emphasis in Exodus on Yahweh as the God of the ancestors, both explicitly (from 3:6 on) and implicitly (from 1:1 on). What was about to happen was not an unrelated action by some new god who was devaluing impotent older gods (a typical theme in ancient pagan literature). Unlike pagan gods, whose only purpose is personal power, and who are in constant conflict among themselves, the true God has a single, overarching purpose: He wants his creation to find its fulfillment in proper relation to him. Although he enacts that purpose in ever-expanding displays of creativity, the new activities are always consistent with what he has already revealed of himself. Moses and Aaron did not suddenly appear out of the unknown, but were an integral part of that same people to whom God first revealed himself and through whom he was about to give an even grander revelation. The genealogies of Jesus have a similar purpose (Matt 1:1-16; Luke 3:23-38).

6:14-16 The genealogy works its way through Jacob's first and second sons to the third, Levi, the ancestor of Moses and Aaron. Having reached Levi, it dispenses with the other nine sons.

6:16-20 This genealogy of Levi's descendants focuses on Aaron and Moses; four generations are given in the genealogy from Levi to Aaron and Moses (cp. Gen 15:16). Since the people of Israel had lived in Egypt for 430 years (see 12:40-41; Gen 15:13), this genealogy skips numerous generations. In Gen 46:11, Gershon, Kohath, and Merari are listed as the actual sons of Levi who moved down to Egypt with their father and the rest of Jacob's family. Amram's wife, Jochebed, gave birth to his sons (6:20). This is very concrete language, so there is no reason to believe that there were unnamed generations between Amram and Aaron and Moses. This suggests that the unnamed generations were between Kohath (son of Levi) and Amram (father of Aaron and Moses).

6:18 The descendants (literally sons) of Kohath included Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel: The Hebrew word for "sons" can also mean "descendants," which accommodates the possibility of unnamed generations.

6:20-25 The descendants of Kohath's sons now become the focus of the genealogy. The families of Aaron son of Amram and Korah son of Izhar are given a more detailed listing (6:23-24), followed by one of Aaron's sons, Eleazar (6:25). The focus is clearly on Aaron's line through Eleazar, who received the high priesthood (see "Eleazar" at Num 20:22-29, p. 284). The fact that Aaron and Korah were cousins makes it easier to see why Aaron's elevation to high priesthood was so galling to Korah (see Num 16:1-3); family rivalry is nothing new. The later rebellion might explain why Korah and his sons are given particular mention in this genealogy.

7:1-7 In this final scene in the offer of rescue, the Lord once again answered Moses' fears of not being able to speak eloquently. He would allow Moses to

7:3
Exod 4:21
7:4
Exod 11:9
7:5
Exod 8:19
7:7
Deut 34:7
Acts 7:23, 30
7:9
Exod 4:3
Isa 7:11
7:11
Gen 41:8
Exod 8:7, 18
2 Tim 3:8-9
7:13
Exod 4:21
7:14
Exod 8:15
7:15
Exod 2:5; 8:20
7:16
Exod 4:23
7:17
Rev 11:6; 16:4
7:19
Exod 14:21
7:20
Ps 78:44; 105:29
7:22
Exod 8:7

heart stubborn so I can multiply my miraculous signs and wonders in the land of Egypt. ⁴Even then Pharaoh will refuse to listen to you. So I will bring down my fist on Egypt. Then I will rescue my forces—my people, the Israelites—from the land of Egypt with great acts of judgment. ⁵When I raise my powerful hand and bring out the Israelites, the Egyptians will know that I am the LORD.” ⁶So Moses and Aaron did just as the LORD had commanded them. ⁷Moses was eighty years old, and Aaron was eighty-three when they made their demands to Pharaoh.

Opposition to Rescue and the Plagues (7:8–11:10)

Aaron's Staff Becomes a Serpent

⁸Then the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, ⁹“Pharaoh will demand, ‘Show me a miracle.’ When he does this, say to Aaron, ‘Take your staff and throw it down in front of Pharaoh, and it will become a serpent.’”

¹⁰So Moses and Aaron went to Pharaoh and did what the LORD had commanded them. Aaron threw down his staff before Pharaoh and his officials, and it became a serpent! ¹¹Then Pharaoh called in his own wise men and sorcerers, and these Egyptian magicians did the same thing with their magic. ¹²They threw down their staffs, which also became serpents! But then Aaron's staff swallowed up their staffs. ¹³Pharaoh's heart, however, remained hard. He still refused to listen, just as the LORD had predicted.

A Plague of Blood

¹⁴Then the LORD said to Moses, “Pharaoh's heart is stubborn, and he still refuses to let the people go. ¹⁵So go to Pharaoh in the morning as he goes down to the river. Stand on the bank of the Nile and meet him there. Be sure to take along the staff that turned into a snake. ¹⁶Then announce to him, ‘The LORD, the God of the Hebrews, has sent me to tell you, “Let my people go, so they can worship me in the wilderness.” Until now, you have refused to listen to him. ¹⁷So this is what the LORD says: “I will show you that I am the LORD.” Look! I will strike the water of the Nile with this staff in my hand, and the river will turn to blood. ¹⁸The fish in it will die, and the river will stink. The Egyptians will not be able to drink any water from the Nile.’”

¹⁹Then the LORD said to Moses: “Tell Aaron, ‘Take your staff and raise your hand over the waters of Egypt—all its rivers, canals, ponds, and all the reservoirs. Turn all the water to blood. Everywhere in Egypt the water will turn to blood, even the water stored in wooden bowls and stone pots.’”

²⁰So Moses and Aaron did just as the LORD commanded them. As Pharaoh and all of his officials watched, Aaron raised his staff and struck the water of the Nile. Suddenly, the whole river turned to blood! ²¹The fish in the river died, and the water became so foul that the Egyptians couldn't drink it. There was blood everywhere throughout the land of Egypt. ²²But again the magicians of Egypt used their magic, and they, too, turned water into blood. So Pharaoh's heart remained hard. He refused to listen to Moses and Aaron, just as the LORD had predicted. ²³Pharaoh returned to speaking through Aaron (see 4:16), but Pharaoh will refuse to listen regardless. God's power, not Moses' eloquence, was the important factor. Moses and Aaron then took the step of faith and did what God had commanded. The first crisis (see note on 5:22-23) had passed.

7:3 The Lord would use miraculous signs and wonders to convince Pharaoh, just as he had promised to use signs to convince the Israelites that they should follow Moses (3:12; 4:5, 8, 9).

7:5 my powerful hand: A further revelation of God would take place in the Exodus of the Israelites from Egypt, revealing God's incomparable power.

7:7 Although eighty seems old to us, the typical age of Moses and Aaron's ancestors at death had been between 130 and 140 years (see 6:16, 18, 20).

7:8–12:30 This section divides the events of rescue into two parts: the plagues (7:8–11:10) and the Passover (12:1-30). God demonstrated that he is the Lord of life and death and nothing has any power against him (see Isa 43:13). The God of the patriarchs is also the God of the universe.

7:8–11:10 God showed that all the Egyptians' so-called gods, supposed to be sources of life, were really sources of death apart from the life-giving power of the Lord (see 12:12; 18:11).

7:9 Serpent (Hebrew tannin) is a different word than the word translated “snake” in 4:3. Tannin is often used to refer to a sea monster (the Greek version translates it “dragon”). In various places, Egypt is referred to as an ultimately impotent sea monster (Isa 30:7; Ezek 29:3). The image of a cobra's head was on the pharaoh's headdress.

7:11 these Egyptian magicians did the same thing (see also 7:22; 8:7): While demonic power might have been involved, it is also possible that some sleight of hand was being practiced.

When they could not reproduce the plague of gnats, they declared that it was “the finger of God” (8:19), indicating that their own actions were not a manifestation of divine power. While the Egyptian magicians are not identified by name, tradition gives their names as Jannes and Jambres (see 2 Tim 3:8).

7:14–25 The first plague was the plague on the Nile, when the whole river turned to blood (7:20). The Egyptians correctly understood that without the Nile there would be no life in Egypt. They worshiped the Nile as the Mother of Egypt, but God showed that life is his to give or withhold.

7:14 stubborn (literally heavy): See “A Hardened Heart” at 14:4, 8, p. 149.

7:22 The Egyptian priests did not do anything as extensive as Moses and Aaron had done, but Pharaoh did not want to believe, so it took only the smallest thing to justify his unbelief.

his palace and put the whole thing out of his mind. ²⁴Then all the Egyptians dug along the riverbank to find drinking water, for they couldn't drink the water from the Nile.

²⁵Seven days passed from the time the LORD struck the Nile.

A Plague of Frogs

8 Then the LORD said to Moses, "Go back to Pharaoh and announce to him, 'This is what the LORD says: Let my people go, so they can worship me. ²If you refuse to let them go, I will send a plague of frogs across your entire land. ³The Nile River will swarm with frogs. They will come up out of the river and into your palace, even into your bedroom and onto your bed! They will enter the houses of your officials and your people. They will even jump into your ovens and your kneading bowls. ⁴Frogs will jump on you, your people, and all your officials.'"

⁵Then the LORD said to Moses, "Tell Aaron, 'Raise the staff in your hand over all the rivers, canals, and ponds of Egypt, and bring up frogs over all the land.' " ⁶So Aaron raised his hand over the waters of Egypt, and frogs came up and covered the whole land! ⁷But the magicians were able to do the same thing with their magic. They, too, caused frogs to come up on the land of Egypt.

⁸Then Pharaoh summoned Moses and Aaron and begged, "Plead with the LORD to take the frogs away from me and my people. I will let your people go, so they can offer sacrifices to the LORD."

⁹"You set the time!" Moses replied. "Tell me when you want me to pray for you, your officials, and your people. Then you and your houses will be rid of the frogs. They will remain only in the Nile River."

¹⁰"Do it tomorrow," Pharaoh said.

"All right," Moses replied, "it will be as you have said. Then you will know that there is no one like the LORD our God. ¹¹The frogs will leave you and your houses, your officials, and your people. They will remain only in the Nile River."

¹²So Moses and Aaron left Pharaoh's palace, and Moses cried out to the LORD about the frogs he had inflicted on Pharaoh. ¹³And the LORD did just what Moses had predicted. The frogs in the houses, the courtyards, and the fields all died. ¹⁴The Egyptians piled them into great heaps, and a terrible stench filled the land. ¹⁵But when Pharaoh saw that relief had come, he became stubborn. He refused to listen to Moses and Aaron, just as the LORD had predicted.

A Plague of Gnats

¹⁶So the LORD said to Moses, "Tell Aaron, 'Raise your staff and strike the ground. The dust will turn into swarms of gnats throughout the land of Egypt.' " ¹⁷So Moses and Aaron did just as the LORD had commanded them. When Aaron raised his hand and struck the ground with his staff, gnats infested the entire land, covering the Egyptians and their animals. All the dust in the land of Egypt turned into gnats. ¹⁸Pharaoh's magicians tried to do the same thing with their secret arts, but this time they failed. And the gnats covered everyone, people and animals alike.

¹⁹"This is the finger of God!" the magicians exclaimed to Pharaoh. But Pharaoh's heart remained hard. He wouldn't listen to them, just as the LORD had predicted.

A Plague of Flies

²⁰Then the LORD told Moses, "Get up early in the morning and stand in Pharaoh's way as he goes down to the river. Say to him, 'This

8:1
Exod 5:1

8:2
Ps 105:30

8:5
Exod 7:9-20

8:6
Ps 78:45; 105:30

8:7
Exod 7:11

8:10
Exod 9:14; 15:11
Deut 4:35
Isa 46:9

8:12
Exod 8:30; 9:33; 10:18

8:15
Exod 7:14
Eccl 8:11

8:16
Exod 4:2

8:17
Ps 105:31

8:18
Exod 7:11; 9:11

8:19
Exod 7:5
1 Sam 6:9

8:20
Exod 7:15

8:1-32 Verses 8:1-4 are numbered 7:26-29 in the Hebrew text, and verses 8:5-32 are numbered 8:1-28 in the Hebrew text.

8:1-15 The second plague was the plague of frogs (8:2). The Egyptians gave special reverence to amphibians because of their ability to live in two different worlds; Egyptians were deeply concerned with survival in the next world, after death. God showed that frogs have no special hold on life. This plague is sometimes said to have been a natural result of whatever happened to make the Nile River uninhabitable. However, the extent of the plague was more than a natural result.

8:7-8 The magicians were able to duplicate the plague in some sense, but Pharaoh did not ask them to rid the land of the frogs. Instead, he begged Moses to take them away. He already knew where the real power was.

8:9 In this instance, the evidence of God's power was not in the event per se but in the timing. God could keep the frogs alive or he could end their lives. Pharaoh needed only to say when.

8:10 you will know that there is no one like the LORD our God: Once more the issue is highlighted (see 7:17). These events were not primarily about rescue, but about the nature of reality. Who was rescuing these people—one of the gods, or the one true God, the Lord?

8:13 had predicted: Moses predicted that the plague would stop the next day; God predicted that Pharaoh would refuse to listen (see 8:15). The element of prediction is central to God's lordship. God sees and controls the future; he is the Lord.

8:15 became stubborn (literally made his heart heavy; also in 8:32): See "A Hardened Heart" at 14:4, 8, p. 149.

8:16-19 The third plague was the plague of gnats. The word translated "gnats" is very general. Technical OT dictionaries often translate it as "vermin." The English term "bugs" would come close. The whole land was infested with insects of one sort or another.

8:19 This is the finger of God! See note on 7:11.

8:20-32 The fourth plague was the plague of flies. The Egyptians worshiped

8:22
Exod 9:4; 10:23
8:24
Ps 78:45; 105:31
8:25
Exod 8:8; 10:8
8:27
Exod 3:18
8:28
Exod 8:8
8:30
Exod 8:12
8:32
Exod 8:8, 15
9:1
Exod 8:1; 10:3
9:3
Exod 7:4
9:4
Exod 8:23; 9:26
9:7
Exod 7:14; 8:32

is what the LORD says: Let my people go, so they can worship me. ²¹If you refuse, then I will send swarms of flies on you, your officials, your people, and all the houses. The Egyptian homes will be filled with flies, and the ground will be covered with them. ²²But this time I will spare the region of Goshen, where my people live. No flies will be found there. Then you will know that I am the LORD and that I am present even in the heart of your land. ²³I will make a clear distinction between my people and your people. This miraculous sign will happen tomorrow.”

²⁴And the LORD did just as he had said. A thick swarm of flies filled Pharaoh's palace and the houses of his officials. The whole land of Egypt was thrown into chaos by the flies.

²⁵Pharaoh called for Moses and Aaron. “All right! Go ahead and offer sacrifices to your God,” he said. “But do it here in this land.”

²⁶But Moses replied, “That wouldn't be right. The Egyptians detest the sacrifices that we offer to the LORD our God. Look, if we offer our sacrifices here where the Egyptians can see us, they will stone us. ²⁷We must take a three-day trip into the wilderness to offer sacrifices to the LORD our God, just as he has commanded us.”

²⁸“All right, go ahead,” Pharaoh replied. “I will let you go into the wilderness to offer sacrifices to the LORD your God. But don't go too far away. Now hurry and pray for me.”

²⁹Moses answered, “As soon as I leave you, I will pray to the LORD, and tomorrow the swarms of flies will disappear from you and your officials and all your people. But I am warning you, Pharaoh, don't lie to us again and refuse to let the people go to sacrifice to the LORD.”

³⁰So Moses left Pharaoh's palace and pleaded with the LORD to remove all the flies. ³¹And the LORD did as Moses asked and caused the swarms of flies to disappear from Pharaoh, his officials, and his people. Not a single fly remained. ³²But Pharaoh again became stubborn and refused to let the people go.

A Plague against Livestock

9“Go back to Pharaoh,” the LORD commanded Moses. “Tell him, ‘This is what the LORD, the God of the Hebrews, says: Let my people go, so they can worship me. ²If you continue to hold them and refuse to let them go, ³the hand of the LORD will strike all your livestock—your horses, donkeys, camels, cattle, sheep, and goats—with a deadly plague. ⁴But the LORD will again make a distinction between the livestock of the Israelites and that of the Egyptians. Not a single one of Israel's animals will die! ⁵The LORD has already set the time for the plague to begin. He has declared that he will strike the land tomorrow.’”

⁶And the LORD did just as he had said. The next morning all the livestock of the Egyptians died, but the Israelites didn't lose a single animal. ⁷Pharaoh sent his officials to investigate, and they discovered that the Israelites had not lost a single animal! But even so, Pharaoh's heart remained stubborn, and he still refused to let the people go.

insects such as flies that seemed to be able to turn death into life, as their young seemed to emerge from decaying matter. If the Egyptians thought that insects had the secret of life, God would let them have all the insects they wanted. Some say that this infestation was the natural result of all the dead frogs, but there were no flies in Goshen (8:22), the northeastern delta area where the Hebrews lived. God's miraculous power was clearly seen in his ability to infest one area while sparing another at will.

8:23 I will make a clear distinction between: As translated from the Greek and Latin versions; Hebrew reads I will set redemption between.

8:25 Pharaoh attempted to bargain with God. He wanted to obey partially while still retaining control. James says of such people, “Their loyalty is divided between God and the world” (Jas 1:8), and such a person cannot receive anything from the Lord.

8:26-27 Moses pointed out the impossibility of what Pharaoh was asking on the grounds of the Egyptians' own prejudice: They considered all Semites to be uncultured and uncouth (see Gen 43:32). • The Hebrews were leaving Egypt in order to worship God (see, e.g., 5:1; 7:16; 8:1, 20). God's purpose for the Exodus was to lead his people into a proper relationship with him.

8:29-30 I will pray: Moses was learning the role of intercessor that would be so much a part of his life in future years (see, e.g., 32:11-13, 30-32; Num 14:13-19). It must have been increasingly tempting to let the Egyptians continue to experience the results of their king's stubbornness, but Moses was willing to plead with God not to leave them in a permanent state of grief and distress.

9:1-7 The fifth plague was against the livestock. As with the withholding of flies from the area where the Hebrews lived (8:22-23), the distinction between the livestock of the Israelites and that of the Egyptians (9:4) shows that a natural explanation of this event is insufficient, even if the previous plagues contributed. The Egyptians, like many in the ancient Near East, worshiped the ram, the goat, and the bull as representing power and fertility. These animals had no power before the Lord, in whom true power resides.

9:3 Your livestock refers specifically to field animals. Other animals would have boils inflicted upon them in the next plague. • The term all (also in 9:6) is not absolute; it does not mean that every single livestock animal was killed. There were still some left to be protected from or struck down by the hail of the seventh plague (9:20, 25).

9:5-6 Prediction again played an important role. These events were being directed by the One who is sovereign over all that happens.

9:7 stubborn (literally heavy): See “A Hardened Heart” at 14:4, 8, p. 149.

A Plague of Festering Boils

⁸Then the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, "Take handfuls of soot from a brick kiln, and have Moses toss it into the air while Pharaoh watches. ⁹The ashes will spread like fine dust over the whole land of Egypt, causing festering boils to break out on people and animals throughout the land."

¹⁰So they took soot from a brick kiln and went and stood before Pharaoh. As Pharaoh watched, Moses threw the soot into the air, and boils broke out on people and animals alike. ¹¹Even the magicians were unable to stand before Moses, because the boils had broken out on them and all the Egyptians. ¹²But the LORD hardened Pharaoh's heart, and just as the LORD had predicted to Moses, Pharaoh refused to listen.

A Plague of Hail

¹³Then the LORD said to Moses, "Get up early in the morning and stand before Pharaoh. Tell him, 'This is what the LORD, the God of the Hebrews, says: Let my people go, so they can worship me. ¹⁴If you don't, I will send more plagues on you and your officials and your people. Then you will know that there is no one like me in all the earth. ¹⁵By now I could have lifted my hand and struck you and your people with a plague to wipe you off the face of the earth. ¹⁶But I have spared you for a purpose—to show you my power and to spread my fame throughout the earth. ¹⁷But you still lord it over my people and refuse to let them go. ¹⁸So tomorrow at this time I will send a hailstorm more devastating than any in all the history of Egypt. ¹⁹Quick! Order your livestock and servants to come in from the fields to find shelter. Any person or animal left outside will die when the hail falls.'"

²⁰Some of Pharaoh's officials were afraid because of what the LORD had said. They quickly brought their servants and livestock in from the fields. ²¹But those who paid no attention to the word of the LORD left theirs out in the open.

²²Then the LORD said to Moses, "Lift your hand toward the sky so hail may fall on the people, the livestock, and all the plants throughout the land of Egypt."

²³So Moses lifted his staff toward the sky, and the LORD sent thunder and hail, and lightning flashed toward the earth. The LORD sent a tremendous hailstorm against all the land of Egypt. ²⁴Never in all the history of Egypt had there been a storm like that, with such devastating hail and continuous lightning. ²⁵It left all of Egypt in ruins. The hail struck down everything in the open field—people, animals, and plants alike. Even the trees were destroyed. ²⁶The only place without hail was the region of Goshen, where the people of Israel lived.

²⁷Then Pharaoh quickly summoned Moses and Aaron. "This time I have sinned," he confessed. "The LORD is the righteous one, and my people and I are wrong. ²⁸Please beg the LORD to end this terrifying thunder and hail. We've had enough. I will let you go; you don't need to stay any longer."

²⁹"All right," Moses replied. "As soon as I leave the city, I will lift my hands and pray to the LORD. Then the thunder and hail will stop, and you will know that the earth belongs to the LORD. ³⁰But I know that you and your officials still do not fear the LORD God."

³¹(All the flax and barley were ruined by the hail, because the barley had formed heads and the flax was budding. ³²But the wheat and the emmer wheat were spared, because they had not yet sprouted from the ground.)

9:9

Lev 13:18

Rev 16:2

9:11

Exod 8:18

9:12

Exod 4:21

9:13

Exod 8:20

9:14

Exod 8:10; 15:11

9:16

Exod 14:4, 17

*Rom 9:17

9:18

Exod 9:23, 24

9:20

Prov 13:11

9:22

Rev 16:21

9:23

Gen 19:24

Josh 10:11

Ps 78:47

Rev 8:7, 16:21

9:25

Ps 105:32

9:26

Exod 8:22, 10:21

9:27

2 Chr 12:6

Ps 129:4

9:28

Exod 8:8, 10:16, 17

9:29

Ps 24:1

1 Cor 10:26

9:30

Exod 8:29

9:8-12 The sixth plague brought festering boils on humans and animals. At this point the magicians, far from being able to duplicate the sign, were unable to spare themselves from it. Their defeat was complete.

9:12 Plagues five and six apparently dissipated on their own, since there was no plea by Pharaoh to bring them to an end.

9:13-33 The seventh plague was a hailstorm (9:18). It rains in Egypt only a few days each year, and hail and thunderstorms are largely unknown, so this storm would have been terrifying. That may be why there is more theological reflection associated with it. The devastating effect of the plague was to destroy the flax and barley crops (9:31).

9:13 so they can worship me: See note on 8:26-27.

9:14-17 God explained the purpose of the plagues to Pharaoh: They were revelatory, designed to demonstrate (especially to Pharaoh) that there is no one like me in all the earth (9:14; see also Isa 46:9; Jer 10:6-7). God had not destroyed Pharaoh and Egypt in a single blow, as he could have done. Rather he had spared them (9:16), giving them an opportunity to submit to his power. But Pharaoh refused to humble himself and stop lording it over the Lord's people (9:17).

9:14 on you: Literally on your heart.

9:16 to show you my power: Greek version reads to display my power in you; cp. Rom 9:17, where Paul quotes from the Greek version of this verse as he describes the sovereignty of God.

9:20-21 Some of Pharaoh's officials were beginning to make appropriate deductions from their experiences thus far and to take precautions, while others imitated their master's refusal to submit. Pride often dominates reason.

9:26 The hail was not a natural event, either in extent or in selectivity (see note on 9:1-7).

9:27 Pharaoh was driven to a logical conclusion. In the face of such clear evidence to the contrary, pride was not merely a failure; it was a sin.

9:29 There is no one like the Lord in all the earth (9:14), and all the earth belongs to the LORD. This was the incapable message of the plagues, though

9:35
Exod 4:21
10:1
Exod 4:21; 7:14
10:2
Exod 13:8, 14
Deut 4:9
Ps 44:1
10:3
Exod 4:23
10:4
Rev 9:3
K'arbeh (0697)
• Exod 10:12
10:5
Exod 9:32
Joel 1:4; 2:25
10:7
Exod 7:5

³³So Moses left Pharaoh's court and went out of the city. When he lifted his hands to the LORD, the thunder and hail stopped, and the downpour ceased. ³⁴But when Pharaoh saw that the rain, hail, and thunder had stopped, he and his officials sinned again, and Pharaoh again became stubborn. ³⁵Because his heart was hard, Pharaoh refused to let the people leave, just as the LORD had predicted through Moses.

A Plague of Locusts

10 Then the LORD said to Moses, "Return to Pharaoh and make your demands again. I have made him and his officials stubborn so I can display my miraculous signs among them. ²¹I've also done it so you can tell your children and grandchildren about how I made a mockery of the Egyptians and about the signs I displayed among them—and so you will know that I am the LORD."

³So Moses and Aaron went to Pharaoh and said, "This is what the LORD, the God of the Hebrews, says: How long will you refuse to submit to me? Let my people go, so they can worship me. ⁴If you refuse, watch out! For tomorrow I will bring a swarm of ⁵locusts on your country. ⁵They will cover the land so that you won't be able to see the ground. They will devour what little is left of your crops after the hailstorm, including all the trees growing in the fields. ⁶They will overrun your palaces and the homes of your officials and all the houses in Egypt. Never in the history of Egypt have your ancestors seen a plague like this one!" And with that, Moses turned and left Pharaoh.

⁷Pharaoh's officials now came to Pharaoh and appealed to him. "How long will you let this man hold us hostage? Let the men go to worship the LORD their God! Don't you realize that Egypt lies in ruins?"

The Plagues (7:14–11:10)

Exod 7:3-5; 12:28-33; 32:35
Gen 12:15-20;
20:1-18
Num 11:33; 12:1-15; 16:43-50
1 Kgs 13:4
2 Kgs 2:24
2 Chr 26:16-21
Acts 5:1-11

Rescuing the Hebrew people from oppression by the Egyptians was not the main purpose of the plagues. If that had been the case, one climactic miracle would have been sufficient. The real purpose of the plagues was to communicate who God is—to Israel, to Egypt, and to the surrounding nations.

The Israelites did not know who the Lord was. They had lived for hundreds of years in Egypt, one of the most polytheistic religious environments the world has ever known. Whatever they may have believed about God when they arrived in Egypt, it is certain that they were infected with the prevailing pagan views during their sojourn there (see ch 32).

The plagues revealed the Lord's absolute superiority over everything in creation. These cataclysmic events were specifically aimed at elements the Egyptians particularly revered and worshiped, such as the Nile River (plague one, 7:14-25), amphibians (plague two, 8:1-15), insects (plagues three and four, 8:16-32), animals (plagues five and six, 9:1-12), plants (plagues seven and eight, 9:13-10:20), the sun (plague nine, 10:21-29), and life itself (plague ten, 11:1-10; 12:29-32). Thus Yahweh demonstrated to both the Egyptians and the Israelites that he alone is God.

The plagues are often referred to as "signs," just as Jesus' miracles were (e.g., 7:3; 10:1-2; John 2:23; 4:48; 12:37). The plagues show that worship of the created order brings God's judgment. Jesus' miracles, on the other hand, show that with the Lord, all that is deadly in creation—illness, the demonic, nature run amok, and even death itself—can be overcome by life.

the Egyptians had difficulty accepting it.
9:34 became stubborn (literally made his heart heavy): See "A Hardened Heart" at 14:4, 8, p. 149.

10:1-20 The eighth plague was the plague of locusts (10:4). Evidently enough time had elapsed between this plague and the previous one that the wheat and emmer wheat had sprouted (see 9:32). The Egyptian god Osiris was especially revered as the god who descended into the underworld and brought plant life back in the spring. This second, climactic attack on the plant life demonstrated that even Osiris was helpless before the Lord. There is no eternal life in sprouting plants.

10:1 have made him and his officials stubborn (literally have made his heart and his officials' hearts heavy): See "A Hardened Heart" at 14:4, 8, p. 149.

10:2 The plagues were sent so that Israel will know that I am the LORD (similarly, with respect to Egypt, see 9:14-16).

10:4 These locusts were not the insects called locusts in North America, but a form of migratory grasshopper. Swarming out of desert regions, they could devastate large areas of land, devouring all the plant life before them.

10:7-11 The officials, with no royal prestige on the line, were willing to learn the lessons of God's sovereignty and let the men go. Pharaoh again resisted, in an effort to save face somehow. He would let them go only if they left their families behind and were thus bound to return, but Moses had never said they would return. While the purpose for going into the wilderness was to worship God, it was unthinkable that oppressed slaves would willingly return to their oppressors once they were free, and Pharaoh knew it.

⁸So Moses and Aaron were brought back to Pharaoh. "All right," he told them, "go and worship the LORD your God. But who exactly will be going with you?"

⁹Moses replied, "We will all go—young and old, our sons and daughters, and our flocks and herds. We must all join together in celebrating a festival to the LORD."

¹⁰Pharaoh retorted, "The LORD will certainly need to be with you if I let you take your little ones! I can see through your evil plan. ¹¹Never! Only the men may go and worship the LORD, since that is what you requested." And Pharaoh threw them out of the palace.

¹²Then the LORD said to Moses, "Raise your hand over the land of Egypt to bring on the ^alocusts. Let them cover the land and devour every plant that survived the hailstorm."

¹³So Moses raised his staff over Egypt, and the LORD caused an east wind to blow over the land all that day and through the night. When morning arrived, the east wind had brought the locusts. ¹⁴And the locusts swarmed over the whole land of Egypt, settling in dense swarms from one end of the country to the other. It was the worst locust plague in Egyptian history, and there has never been another one like it. ¹⁵For the locusts covered the whole country and darkened the land. They devoured every plant in the fields and all the fruit on the trees that had survived the hailstorm. Not a single leaf was left on the trees and plants throughout the land of Egypt.

¹⁶Pharaoh quickly summoned Moses and Aaron. "I have ^bsinned against the LORD your God and against you," he confessed. ¹⁷"Forgive my sin, just this once, and plead with the LORD your God to take away this death from me."

¹⁸So Moses left Pharaoh's court and pleaded with the LORD. ¹⁹The LORD responded by shifting the wind, and the strong west wind blew the locusts into the Red Sea. Not a single locust remained in all the land of Egypt. ²⁰But the LORD hardened Pharaoh's heart again, so he refused to let the people go.

A Plague of Darkness

²¹Then the LORD said to Moses, "Lift your hand toward heaven, and the land of Egypt will be covered with a darkness so thick you can feel it." ²²So Moses lifted his hand to the sky, and a deep darkness covered the entire land of Egypt for three days. ²³During all that time the people could not see each other, and no one moved. But there was light as usual where the people of Israel lived.

²⁴Finally, Pharaoh called for Moses. "Go and worship the LORD," he said. "But leave your flocks and herds here. You may even take your little ones with you."

²⁵"No," Moses said, "you must provide us with animals for sacrifices and burnt offerings to the LORD our God. ²⁶All our livestock must go with us, too; not a hoof can be left behind. We must choose our sacrifices for the LORD our God from among these animals. And we won't know how we are to worship the LORD until we get there."

²⁷But the LORD hardened Pharaoh's heart once more, and he would not let them go. ²⁸"Get out of here!" Pharaoh shouted at Moses. "I'm warning you. Never come back to see me again! The day you see my face, you will die!"

²⁹"Very well," Moses replied. "I will never see your face again."

10:8
Exod 8:8, 25

10:9
Exod 12:37

10:10
Gen 50:8
Exod 12:31

10:11
Exod 10:28

10:12
Exod 7:19
^a*arbeh* (0697)
^b Lev 11:22

10:13
Ps 78:46; 105:34

10:14
Joel 1:4, 7; 2:1-11

10:15
Exod 10:5
Ps 105:35

10:16
Exod 8:8, 9:27
^b*khata'* (2398)
^c Deut 20:18

10:17
Exod 8:8, 29
1 Sam 15:25
^d*nasa'* (5375)
^e Exod 32:32

10:18
Exod 8:30

10:20
Exod 4:21; 11:10

10:21
Deut 28:29

10:22
Ps 105:28

10:23
Exod 8:22

10:24
Exod 8:8, 10

10:26
Exod 10:9

10:27
Exod 4:21; 14:4

10:28
Exod 10:11

10:29
Heb 11:27

10:13-15 The miraculous nature of the locust plague was indicated by its timing (when Moses raised his staff) and by its extent and intensity (from one end of the country to the other, and there has never been another one like it).

10:13 an east wind: The grasshopper swarms came from the Arabian Desert, across the Red Sea to the east.

10:17 Forgive my sin: Pharaoh's recognition grew deeper; he admitted that his pride and refusal to keep his word were sins, and he recognized that sin cannot be ignored but must be forgiven. Unfortunately, his correct theological understanding did not in itself change his heart.

10:19 Red Sea: Literally sea of reeds. See note on 13:18.

10:21-29 The ninth plague was the plague of darkness (10:21). The chief god of Egypt through the centuries, who appeared under several different names, was the sun. At this time he was known as Amon-Re. He was supreme over all the other gods and was considered to be the ultimate source of life. The Lord showed that the sun's light is completely under his control; he could shut it off from Egypt proper, while leaving it to shine in Goshen in the northeast part of the country (10:23; see note on 9:1-7).

10:24 leave your flocks and herds: Pharaoh again attempted to save some scrap of his prestige and authority from the debacle.

10:25-26 Moses was unrelenting. He knew that the Israelites, far from leaving any of their possessions behind, would be receiving gifts from the Egyptians in order to hurry them away (3:21-22). He also kept the focus on the worship of God. This continual refrain about the purpose for leaving Egypt (see note on 8:26-27) reflects the key purpose of their Exodus, to become the people of God.

10:27-29 Pharaoh seemed to realize that he had reached a point of no return. If he would not submit—the only action appropriate to what he had learned from the plagues—then he must kill the messenger. This reasoning is similar to that of the religious leaders later during the life of Christ. They refused to draw the appropriate conclusions from Jesus' life and ministry, so they decided to kill him (see John 11:45-53).

11:1
Exod 12:31, 33, 39
11:2
Exod 3:22; 12:35-36
11:3
Exod 3:21; 12:36
Deut 34:10-12
11:4
Exod 12:29
11:5
Exod 12:12, 29
Ps 78:51; 105:36;
135:8; 136:10
11:6
Exod 12:30
Amos 5:17
11:7
Exod 8:22
11:8
Exod 12:31-33
Heb 11:27
11:9
Exod 7:3-4
11:10
Exod 4:21
Rom 2:5; 9:17
12:2
Exod 13:4; 23:15;
34:18
Deut 16:1
12:3
Mark 14:12
1 Cor 5:7
12:5
Lev 22:18-20
Heb 9:14
tamim (8549)
Deut 32:4
12:6
Lev 23:5
Num 9:3
Deut 16:4, 6
12:7
Exod 12:22
12:8
Exod 34:25
Num 9:11-12
Deut 16:7
12:10
Exod 23:18; 34:25

Death for Egypt's Firstborn

11 Then the LORD said to Moses, "I will strike Pharaoh and the land of Egypt with one more blow. After that, Pharaoh will let you leave this country. In fact, he will be so eager to get rid of you that he will force you all to leave. ²Tell all the Israelite men and women to ask their Egyptian neighbors for articles of silver and gold." ³(Now the LORD had caused the Egyptians to look favorably on the people of Israel. And Moses was considered a very great man in the land of Egypt, respected by Pharaoh's officials and the Egyptian people alike.)

⁴Moses had announced to Pharaoh, "This is what the LORD says: At midnight tonight I will pass through the heart of Egypt. ⁵All the firstborn sons will die in every family in Egypt, from the oldest son of Pharaoh, who sits on his throne, to the oldest son of his lowliest servant girl who grinds the flour. Even the firstborn of all the livestock will die. ⁶Then a loud wail will rise throughout the land of Egypt, a wail like no one has heard before or will ever hear again. ⁷But among the Israelites it will be so peaceful that not even a dog will bark. Then you will know that the LORD makes a distinction between the Egyptians and the Israelites. ⁸All the officials of Egypt will run to me and fall to the ground before me. 'Please leave!' they will beg. 'Hurry! And take all your followers with you.' Only then will I go!" Then, burning with anger, Moses left Pharaoh.

⁹Now the LORD had told Moses earlier, "Pharaoh will not listen to you, but then I will do even more mighty miracles in the land of Egypt." ¹⁰Moses and Aaron performed these miracles in Pharaoh's presence, but the LORD hardened Pharaoh's heart, and he wouldn't let the Israelites leave the country.

Prelude to Rescue: The Passover (12:1-30)

12 While the Israelites were still in the land of Egypt, the LORD gave the following instructions to Moses and Aaron: ²"From now on, this month will be the first month of the year for you. ³Announce to the whole community of Israel that on the tenth day of this month each family must choose a lamb or a young goat for a sacrifice, one animal for each household. ⁴If a family is too small to eat a whole animal, let them share with another family in the neighborhood. Divide the animal according to the size of each family and how much they can eat. ⁵The animal you select must be a one-year-old male, either a sheep or a goat, with ⁶no defects.

⁶"Take special care of this chosen animal until the evening of the fourteenth day of this first month. Then the whole assembly of the community of Israel must slaughter their lamb or young goat at twilight. ⁷They are to take some of the blood and smear it on the sides and top of the doorframes of the houses where they eat the animal. ⁸That same night they must roast the meat over a fire and eat it along with bitter salad greens and bread made without yeast. ⁹Do not eat any of the meat raw or boiled in water. The whole animal—including the head, legs, and internal organs—must be roasted over a fire. ¹⁰Do not leave any of it until the next 11:1-9 The final plague was the death of the firstborn sons. The Egyptians worshiped life. They gave so much attention to preparations for life after death because they wanted to ensure that it would be at least as good as their lives in Egypt. Death itself is in God's hand. There is no underworld god who can ultimately defeat the God of life. Both life and death belong to the Lord.

11:3 Pharaoh refused to recognize the truth, but the Lord ensured that the rest of Egypt would recognize it.

11:5 In much of the world, the issue of survival is addressed through children, and it is through the firstborn sons that the family line is carried on. If we have a child, there is a sense of satisfaction that even when we are dead, we will live on through our children. In the death of the Egyptian firstborn, God was showing that humans can do nothing by themselves to guarantee survival. Life is a gift, and that gift is in the hand of the one Lord, the "I Am."

11:7 As stated explicitly in the fourth, fifth, seventh, and ninth plagues (8:23; 9:6; 9:26; 10:23), the Lord distinguished between his people and the Egyptians. These events clearly resulted from the express activity of God and were not just a chance collection of natural tragedies.

11:8 Pharaoh had lost control. Moses was no longer asking; he was now in a position to dictate the terms of the Israelites' departure from the country.

12:1-30 The Lord gave Moses instructions for the Passover meal and the Festival of Unleavened Bread (12:14-20), and Moses and the people observed the first Passover (12:21-30).

12:2 This month was the month Abib (13:4; 23:15; 34:18; Deut 16:1; later called by the Babylonian name, Nisan, Neh 2:1; Esth 3:7), which falls within the months of March and April. See chart, "Israel's Annual Calendar," p. 145. Many cultures held festivals about this time of the year, celebrating the renewal of plant life. Israel's festival celebrated the historic event in which God defeated death and rescued his people from bondage in Egypt.

12:5 with no defects: We must give God our best, just as he gave us his best: "the sinless, spotless Lamb of God" (1 Pet 1:19).

12:6 the whole assembly of the community: Both the benefits and the responsibility of a relationship with God are realized in community.

12:7 blood: God could not simply exempt his people from this plague as he had preserved them from the other plagues. Death reigns in the world because of sin, and in light of God's justice, sin cannot be ignored; it must be either punished or atoned for. Since the blood represents life (Lev 17:11), it alone is acceptable for the forgiveness of sins (Heb 9:22). As Deut 6:9 suggests, doorframes represent the totality of life as the place of going in and coming out.

12:10 Since this was not a regular meal, none of the meat was to be saved for another day.

morning. Burn whatever is not eaten before morning.

¹¹"These are your instructions for eating this meal: Be fully dressed, wear your sandals, and carry your walking stick in your hand. Eat the meal with urgency, for this is the LORD's ^aPassover. ¹²On that night I will pass through the land of Egypt and strike down every firstborn son and firstborn male animal in the land of Egypt. I will execute judgment against all the gods of Egypt, for I am the LORD! ¹³But the blood on your doorposts will serve as a sign, marking the houses where you are staying. When I see the blood, I will pass over you. This plague of death will not touch you when I strike the land of Egypt.

¹⁴"This is a day to remember. Each year, from generation to generation, you must celebrate it as a special festival to the LORD. This is a law for all time. ¹⁵For seven days the bread you eat must be made without yeast. On the first day of the festival, remove every trace of yeast from your homes. Anyone who eats bread made with yeast during the seven days of the festival will be cut off from the community of Israel. ¹⁶On the first day of the festival and again on the seventh day, all the people must observe an official day for holy assembly. No work of any kind may be done on these days except in the preparation of food.

¹⁷"Celebrate this Festival of Unleavened Bread, for it will remind you that I brought your forces out of the land of Egypt on this very day. This festival will be a permanent law for you; celebrate this day from generation to generation. ¹⁸The bread you eat must be made without yeast from the evening of the fourteenth day of the first month until the evening of the twenty-first day of that month. ¹⁹During those seven days, there must be no trace of yeast in your homes. Anyone who eats anything made with yeast during this week will be cut off from the community of Israel. These regulations apply both to the foreigners living among you and to the native-born Israelites. ²⁰During those days you must not eat anything made with yeast. Wherever you live, eat only bread made without yeast."

²¹Then Moses called all the ^aelders of Israel together and said to them, "Go, pick out a lamb or young goat for each of your families, and slaughter the ^aPassover animal. ²²Drain the blood into a basin. Then take a bundle of hyssop branches and dip it into the blood. Brush the hyssop across the top and sides of the doorframes of your houses. And no one may go out through the door until morning. ²³For the LORD will pass

12:11
Num 28:16
^apesakh (6453)
• Exod 12:21

12:12
Exod 11:4-5
Num 33:4

12:13
Heb 11:28

12:14-20
//Lev 23:4-8
//Num 28:16-25
//Deut 16:1-8

12:15
Exod 23:15; 34:18
Lev 23:5-6
Deut 16:3

12:16
Lev 23:7-8

12:17
Exod 13:3

12:18
Lev 23:5-8
Num 28:16-25

12:19
Exod 12:15

12:21
Mark 14:12-16
Heb 11:28

^azaqen (2205)
• Lev 4:15
^apesakh (6453)
• Exod 12:27

12:22
Lev 14:4, 6
Num 19:18
Ps 51:7
Heb 11:28

12:23
Exod 12:12
Isa 37:36

The Passover (12:1-51)

Lev 23:4-8
Num 9:1-14;
28:16-25
Deut 16:1-7
Matt 26:17-30
Luke 22:15-20
1 Cor 5:6-8

The major festival associated with the Exodus does not celebrate political independence, but deliverance from death. Israel's main enemy was not bondage to Egypt but bondage to death, as it is for all people. The most fundamental problem facing humans is not political, but spiritual. Of course, only the death of the firstborn was prevented in Egypt. So was death really conquered? Furthermore, why did the Passover require that the Israelites apply blood to their doorposts? They were not required to perform such a ritual to escape harm in any of the other plagues.

These questions highlight the significance of Jesus' death and resurrection as associated with the Passover season. Death is the effect of sin (1 Cor 15:56). Passover shows that we can be delivered from death only by means of a sacrifice that takes our place. The Passover lamb took the place of the firstborn son of every family of Israel (12:12-13, 23; 13:2, 11-16). The Passover symbolizes the reality that would come later in Jesus Christ, who gave his life as "a ransom for many" (Matt 20:28; Mark 10:45) and became "the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world" (John 1:29). Jesus says to his disciples, "this is my blood, which confirms the covenant. . . . It is poured out as a sacrifice to forgive the sins of many" (Matt 26:28). He brings to reality the truths that were first symbolized in the Passover celebration: Through his sacrifice, sin and death were fully and finally defeated (see also Isa 25:7-8).

12:11 Be fully dressed (literally Bind up your loins): The Israelites were to be ready to depart at a moment's notice.

12:12 The plagues were primarily the LORD's judgment against all the gods of Egypt (see also Num 33:4).

12:14 The Jewish people still commemorate Passover, since it was instituted as a law for all time.

12:15 without yeast: Israel needed unleavened bread for traveling (see 12:34, 39), which the festival commemorated. Later, yeast was seen as an image of sin, probably because it is an agent of fermentation ("Beware of the yeast of the Pharisees," Matt 16:6). • cut off from the community: This means either death or expulsion from the community.

12:22 Hyssop is a small bush with stiff, compact branches that can serve as a brush (see also Ps 51:7 and note).

12:24
Exod 13:4-5, 10
12:25
Exod 3:17
12:26
Exod 10:2; 13:14-15
12:27
Exod 4:31
^h*pesakh* (6453)
• Exod 12:43
12:29
Exod 4:23; 11:4
Ps 78:51; 105:36
12:30
Exod 11:6
12:31
Exod 8:8, 25
12:33
Exod 10:7; 11:1
12:35
Exod 3:22

through the land to strike down the Egyptians. But when he sees the blood on the top and sides of the doorframe, the LORD will pass over your home. He will not permit his death angel to enter your house and strike you down.

²⁴"Remember, these instructions are a permanent law that you and your descendants must observe forever. ²⁵When you enter the land the LORD has promised to give you, you will continue to observe this ceremony. ²⁶Then your children will ask, 'What does this ceremony mean?' ²⁷And you will reply, 'It is the ^hPassover sacrifice to the LORD, for he passed over the houses of the Israelites in Egypt. And though he struck the Egyptians, he spared our families.'" When Moses had finished speaking, all the people bowed down to the ground and worshiped.

²⁸So the people of Israel did just as the LORD had commanded through Moses and Aaron. ²⁹And that night at midnight, the LORD struck down all the firstborn sons in the land of Egypt, from the firstborn son of Pharaoh, who sat on his throne, to the firstborn son of the prisoner in the dungeon. Even the firstborn of their livestock were killed. ³⁰Pharaoh and all his officials and all the people of Egypt woke up during the night, and loud wailing was heard throughout the land of Egypt. There was not a single house where someone had not died.

The Rescue Realized (12:31–14:31) Israel's Exodus from Egypt

³¹Pharaoh sent for Moses and Aaron during the night. "Get out!" he ordered. "Leave my people—and take the rest of the Israelites with you! Go and worship the LORD as you have requested. ³²Take your flocks and herds, as you said, and be gone. Go, but bless me as you leave." ³³All the Egyptians urged the people of Israel to get out of the land as quickly as possible, for they thought, "We will all die!"

³⁴The Israelites took their bread dough before yeast was added. They wrapped their kneading boards in their cloaks and carried them on their shoulders. ³⁵And the people

Hebrew (Babylonian) Month	References	Gregorian Month	Annual Festivals*
1 Abib (Nisan)	Exod 12:2; 13:4; 23:15; 34:18; Deut 16:1	Mar~Apr	Passover, Unleavened Bread, First Harvest
2 Ziv (Iyyar)	1 Kgs 6:1, 37	Apr~May
3 (Sivan)	Esth 8:9	May~June	Harvest/Pentecost
4 (Tammuz)		June~July
5 (Ab)		July~Aug
6 (Elul)	Neh 6:15	Aug~Sept
7 Ethanim (Tishri)	1 Kgs 8:2	Sept~Oct	Trumpets, Day of Atonement, Final Harvest, Shelters
8 Bul (Marheshvan)	1 Kgs 6:38	Oct~Nov
9 (Kislev)	Neh 1:1	Nov~Dec	Dedication
10 (Tebeth)	Esth 2:16	Dec~Jan
11 Shebat (Sebat)	Zech 1:7	Jan~Feb
12 (Adar)	Esth 3:7	Feb~Mar	Purim
13 Second Adar			[see caption at right]

* See also chart, "Israel's Festivals," p. 235.

12:25 The land the LORD has promised to give you refers to the land of Canaan, which God had promised to Abraham (Gen 12:7; 13:14-17).

12:26-27 In the future, the Passover celebration would be a memorial reminding future generations of Israelites of God's grace in providing them a way of escape from death. For more than 3,000 years the Jewish people have celebrated this great formative event in their history.

12:28-30 The predicted plague was fulfilled. Just as death exempts no one, so no one in Egypt, from Pharaoh to the lowest prisoner, escaped the effects of Pharaoh's pride.

12:31–14:31 The Lord delivered on his promises and rescued Israel, bringing them out of Egypt.

12:31-33 The same Pharaoh who had said that Moses would never again ◀ Israel's Annual Calendar (12:2).

The Exodus marked the first month of ancient Israel's annual calendar (12:2). Preexilic month names are shown, with postexilic (Babylonian) names in parentheses. Ancient Israel marked the beginning of each month at the new moon, which occurs every 29.5 days, resulting in a 354-day annual calendar, 11 days shorter than the solar year; thus the months in Israel's calendar do not align with modern (Gregorian) months. In later Judaism, an extra month, called "Second Adar," was an intercalary "leap month," inserted seven times every nineteen years to realign the calendar with the solar year. Such intercalation of a month occurs in many lunar calendars. In our modern solar calendar, intercalation is unnecessary because the months are not tied to the lunar cycle.

see his face and live (see 10:28) now asked for Moses to come and see him. Just as God had predicted, Pharaoh then ordered the Israelites to leave his land. He implicitly recognized the Lord's power as he asked Moses to bless him. He never formally admitted that the Lord is God and that he, Pharaoh, was not.

12:35 they asked the Egyptians: See 3:22; 11:2.

of Israel did as Moses had instructed; they asked the Egyptians for clothing and articles of silver and gold. ³⁶The LORD caused the Egyptians to look favorably on the Israelites, and they gave the Israelites whatever they asked for. So they stripped the Egyptians of their wealth!

³⁷That night the people of Israel left Ramesses and started for Succoth. There were about 600,000 men, plus all the women and children. ³⁸A rabble of non-Israelites went with them, along with great flocks and herds of livestock. ³⁹For bread they baked flat cakes from the dough without yeast they had brought from Egypt. It was made without yeast because the people were driven out of Egypt in such a hurry that they had no time to prepare the bread or other food.

⁴⁰The people of Israel had lived in Egypt for 430 years. ⁴¹In fact, it was on the last day of the 430th year that all the LORD's forces left the land. ⁴²On this night the LORD kept his promise to bring his people out of the land of Egypt. So this night belongs to him, and it must be commemorated every year by all the Israelites, from generation to generation.

Further Instructions for Passover

⁴³Then the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, "These are the instructions for the festival of Passover. No outsiders are allowed to eat the Passover meal. ⁴⁴But any slave who has been purchased may eat it if he has been circumcised. ⁴⁵Temporary residents and hired servants may not eat it. ⁴⁶Each Passover lamb must be eaten in one house. Do not carry any of its meat outside, and do not break any of its bones. ⁴⁷The whole community of Israel must celebrate this Passover festival.

⁴⁸"If there are foreigners living among you who want to celebrate the LORD's Passover, let all their males be circumcised. Only then may they celebrate the Passover with you like any native-born Israelite. But no uncircumcised male may ever eat the Passover meal. ⁴⁹This instruction applies to everyone, whether a native-born Israelite or a foreigner living among you."

⁵⁰So all the people of Israel followed all the LORD's commands to Moses and Aaron. ⁵¹On that very day the LORD brought the people of Israel out of the land of Egypt like an army.

Dedication of the Firstborn

13 Then the LORD said to Moses, ²"Dedicate to me every firstborn among the Israelites. The first offspring to be born, of both humans and animals, belongs to me."

³So Moses said to the people, "This is a day to remember forever—the day you left Egypt, the place of your slavery. Today the LORD has brought you out by the power of his mighty hand. (Remember, eat no food containing yeast.) ⁴On this day in early

12:36
Exod 3:22

12:37
Exod 38:26
Num 1:46

12:38
Num 11:4

12:39
Exod 11:1

12:40-41
Gen 15:13, 16
Acts 7:6
Gal 3:17

12:42
Exod 3:10
Deut 16:1

12:43
Num 9:14
Pesakh (6453)
Exod 12:48

12:44
Gen 17:12-13
Lev 22:11

12:46
Num 9:12
John 19:33, 36

12:48
Num 9:13-14
Gal 3:28
Pesakh (6453)
Deut 16:1

12:49
Lev 24:22
Num 15:15-16

12:50
Exod 12:28

13:2
Exod 13:12-13; 22:29;
34:20

Lev 27:26
Num 3:13
Deut 15:19
Luke 2:23

13:3
Exod 3:20; 6:1

13:4
Exod 12:2

12:37 Succoth is usually identified with Tell el-Maskhuta. • 600,000 men (or fighting men; literally men on foot): See also Num 1:46. This large number implies about 2.5 million people in the community as a whole, which raises logistical problems: (1) The area of encampment would be 400 sq. mi.; (2) A column of people 1,000 across would be nearly a mile wide and would take 20 hours to pass a single point; (3) As best we know, there were no other armies nearly so large in the ancient Near East at that time. As a result, scholars have proposed two viable alternatives: (1) The number might be symbolic, communicating not an actual number but the fact that God had greatly blessed Israel. While this use of a number seems strange to us, it would be acceptable in the ancient world. (2) The Hebrew word for "thousand" (elep) might have been confused with the word for "troop" (allup). If so, the original would have read "600 troops of fighting men." With a troop size of approximately 100 men, the total population would be significantly reduced. But despite the logistical difficulties, it is possible that there were in fact 2.5 million Israelites.

12:38 A rabble of non-Israelites: Some of these people later became disaffected and led the Israelites into complaining about their difficulties (see Num 11:4). We are never told their motivation for joining with the Israelites. Perhaps some had come to faith in the LORD as a result of the plagues. Others probably saw it as an opportunity for a better life elsewhere.

12:40 had lived in Egypt for 430 years: The Greek translation of the OT (the Septuagint) says that Israel had lived in Egypt and Canaan for 430 years. The Samaritan Pentateuch reads in Canaan and Egypt. According to these versions, 430 years would cover the full period from the promise to Abraham (Gen 12; 15) until the Exodus. Cp. Gal 3:17; see further "Old Testament Chronology: Abraham to Joshua," p. 118.

12:43-50 These additional instructions for the observance of Passover relate primarily to outsiders (12:43) and foreigners (12:48). Perhaps the presence of the non-Israelite rabble (12:38) in the community prompted these instructions. The key factor was whether or not the person was willing to become fully identified with Israel and with the LORD by submitting to circumcision.

12:46 do not break any of its bones: The apostle John makes reference to this instruction regarding the Passover lambs when reporting that Jesus' legs were not broken on the cross (John 19:36).

12:51 The Israelites left Egypt like an army, with the LORD as their commander-in-chief.

13:1-16 Like the Passover celebration, the practice of dedicating the firstborn memorialized what God did in the Passover event. Because he spared the firstborn, they now belonged to him and must be redeemed. The annual sacrifice and eating of the lamb symbolized what God would do in providing a substitute in his Son, Jesus Christ; we who deserve death must be redeemed with a price, the life of the Son.

13:1-10 This rehearsal of the customs surrounding Passover and the Festival of Unleavened Bread sets the stage for discussing the dedication of the firstborn (13:11-16).

13:5
Exod 3:8, 17; 12:25-26

13:6
Exod 12:15-20

13:9
Exod 12:14
Deut 6:8
⁴Torah (8451)
• Exod 18:20

13:10
Exod 12:24-25

13:12
Exod 13:2; 22:29
Num 3:13
*Luke 2:23

13:13
Exod 34:20
Num 18:15-16

13:14
Exod 12:26-27
Deut 6:20-23

13:15
Exod 12:29

13:16
Exod 13:9
Deut 6:8

13:17
Exod 14:11
Num 14:1-4
Deut 17:16

13:18
Josh 1:14; 4:13

13:19
Gen 50:24-25
Josh 24:32
Acts 7:16

13:20
Exod 12:37
Num 33:6-8

13:21
Exod 14:19, 24;
33:9-10
Ps 105:39
1 Cor 10:1

spring, in the month of Abib, you have been set free. ⁵You must celebrate this event in this month each year after the LORD brings you into the land of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Hivites, and Jebusites. (He swore to your ancestors that he would give you this land—a land flowing with milk and honey.) ⁶For seven days the bread you eat must be made without yeast. Then on the seventh day, celebrate a feast to the LORD. ⁷Eat bread without yeast during those seven days. In fact, there must be no yeast bread or any yeast at all found within the borders of your land during this time.

⁸“On the seventh day you must explain to your children, ‘I am celebrating what the LORD did for me when I left Egypt.’ ⁹This annual festival will be a visible sign to you, like a mark branded on your hand or your forehead. Let it remind you always to recite this ¹⁰teaching of the LORD: ‘With a strong hand, the LORD rescued you from Egypt.’ ¹¹So observe the decree of this festival at the appointed time each year.

¹²“This is what you must do when the LORD fulfills the promise he swore to you and to your ancestors. When he gives you the land where the Canaanites now live, ¹³you must present all firstborn sons and firstborn male animals to the LORD, for they belong to him. ¹⁴A firstborn donkey may be bought back from the LORD by presenting a lamb or young goat in its place. But if you do not buy it back, you must break its neck. However, you must buy back every firstborn son.

¹⁵“And in the future, your children will ask you, ‘What does all this mean?’ Then you will tell them, ‘With the power of his mighty hand, the LORD brought us out of Egypt, the place of our slavery. ¹⁶Pharaoh stubbornly refused to let us go, so the LORD killed all the firstborn males throughout the land of Egypt, both people and animals. That is why I now sacrifice all the firstborn males to the LORD—except that the firstborn sons are always bought back.’ ¹⁷This ceremony will be like a mark branded on your hand or your forehead. It is a reminder that the power of the LORD’s mighty hand brought us out of Egypt.”

Israel's Wilderness Detour

¹⁸When Pharaoh finally let the people go, God did not lead them along the main road that runs through Philistine territory, even though that was the shortest route to the Promised Land. God said, “If the people are faced with a battle, they might change their minds and return to Egypt.” ¹⁹So God led them in a roundabout way through the wilderness toward the Red Sea. Thus the Israelites left Egypt like an army ready for battle.

²⁰Moses took the bones of Joseph with him, for Joseph had made the sons of Israel swear to do this. He said, “God will certainly come to help you. When he does, you must take my bones with you from this place.”

²¹The Israelites left Succoth and camped at Etham on the edge of the wilderness. ²²The LORD went ahead of them. He guided them during the day with a pillar of cloud, 13:4 On this day in early spring, in the month of Abib (literally On this day in the month of Abib): See note on 12:2.

13:5 A land flowing with milk and honey refers to a land that was agriculturally rich, where there was pasturage for cattle and crops with blooms from which bees could make honey.

13:9 The annual celebration of the Passover was a visible sign to identify oneself as the Lord’s possession. It was a mark of his ownership, the physical reinforcement of a spiritual reality.

• Let it remind you always to recite this teaching of the LORD: The second part of the verse may be interpreted either as a statement to be recited (as in the NLT text) or simply as a description of the Lord’s work (Let it remind you always to keep the instructions of the LORD on the tip of your tongue, because with a strong hand, the LORD rescued you from Egypt).

13:13 A firstborn son had to be bought back, or redeemed. He could not be sacrificed to the Lord, as child sacrifice is condemned throughout Scripture (see Lev 18:21; 20:2; Ezek 23:37-39).

13:16 Like the annual Passover celebration (13:9), dedicating the firstborn to the Lord was like a mark, a visible way to identify oneself as the Lord’s possession.

13:17–14:4 The Lord’s redemptive power was demonstrated as he brought Israel into a place where they were completely helpless and had to either rely on him for rescue or die. Although at the time it must have seemed completely foolish, Israel would thank God for the rest of its history for maneuvering them into such a spot (see Ps 106:7-12; cp. Isa 12:2-6).

13:17–18 faced with a battle: The Israelites had not yet seen God fight on their behalf. Even though they left Egypt like an army ready for battle (13:18; see also 12:51), it was only an appearance. Until they experienced the Lord as fighting for them (14:14) in the crossing of the sea, they were not ready to face enemies in the Promised Land.

13:18 roundabout way: There is disagreement among scholars about the identification of some of the sites mentioned (13:20; 14:2), so there is little consensus about the precise route the Israelites took. • Red Sea: Literally sea of reeds. The Red Sea proper is too far south. The Sea of Reeds was part of the Red Sea, probably located at the northern end of the Gulf of Suez. • left Egypt like an army ready for battle: Greek version reads left Egypt in the fifth generation.

13:19 Joseph had recognized that God would not leave his people in Egypt indefinitely because he had promised Canaan to them (see Gen 50:24-25).

13:20 The locations of Succoth and Etham are uncertain, although the reference to the edge of the wilderness suggests that they were in the region southeast of the Nile delta toward the Gulf of Suez.

13:21 The pillar of cloud and the pillar of fire were to be the Israelites’ constant companions for the next forty years.

and he provided light at night with a pillar of fire. This allowed them to travel by day or by night. ²²And the LORD did not remove the pillar of cloud or pillar of fire from its place in front of the people.

14 Then the LORD gave these instructions to Moses: ²"Order the Israelites to turn back and camp by Pi-hahiroth between Migdol and the sea. Camp there along the shore, across from Baal-zephon. ³Then Pharaoh will think, 'The Israelites are confused. They are trapped in the wilderness!' ⁴And once again I will harden Pharaoh's heart, and he will chase after you. I have planned this in order to display my glory through Pharaoh and his whole army. After this the Egyptians will know that I am the LORD!" So the Israelites camped there as they were told.

The Egyptians Pursue Israel

⁵When word reached the king of Egypt that the Israelites had fled, Pharaoh and his officials changed their minds. "What have we done, letting all those Israelite slaves get away?" they asked. ⁶So Pharaoh harnessed his chariot and called up his troops. ⁷He took with him 600 of Egypt's best chariots, along with the rest of the chariots of Egypt, each with its commander. ⁸The LORD hardened the heart of Pharaoh, the king of Egypt, so he chased after the people of Israel, who had left with fists raised in defiance. ⁹The Egyptians chased after them with all the forces in Pharaoh's army—all his horses and chariots, his charioteers, and his troops. The Egyptians caught up with the people of Israel as they were camped beside the shore near Pi-hahiroth, across from Baal-zephon.

¹⁰As Pharaoh approached, the people of Israel looked up and panicked when they saw the Egyptians overtaking them. They cried out to the LORD, ¹¹and they said to Moses, "Why did you bring us out here to die in the wilderness? Weren't there enough graves for us in Egypt? What have you done to us? Why did you make us leave Egypt? ¹²Didn't we tell you this would happen while we were still in Egypt? We said, 'Leave us alone! Let us be slaves to the Egyptians. It's better to be a slave in Egypt than a corpse in the wilderness!'"

¹³But Moses told the people, "Don't be afraid. Just stand still and watch the LORD rescue you today. The Egyptians you see today will never be seen again. ¹⁴The LORD himself will fight for you. Just stay calm."

Escape through the Red Sea

¹⁵Then the LORD said to Moses, "Why are you crying out to me? Tell the people to get moving! ¹⁶Pick up your staff and raise your hand over the sea. Divide the water so the Israelites can walk through the middle of the sea on dry ground. ¹⁷And I will harden the hearts of the Egyptians, and they will charge in after the Israelites. My great glory will be displayed through Pharaoh and his troops, his chariots, and his charioteers. ¹⁸When my glory is displayed through them, all Egypt will see my glory and know that I am the LORD!"

¹⁹Then the angel of God, who had been leading the people of Israel, moved to the 14:2

Num 33:7-8
Jer 44:1

14:4
Exod 4:21; 7:5
Rom 9:17, 22-23

14:5
Ps 105:25

14:7
Exod 15:4

14:8
Num 33:3
Acts 13:17

14:9
Exod 14:2; 15:9
Josh 24:6

14:10
Josh 24:7
Neh 9:9

14:11
Exod 5:21; 15:24
Ps 106:7-8

14:13
Gen 15:1
Exod 14:30; 15:2
ayeshu'ah (3444)
Exod 15:2

14:14
Exod 15:3
Deut 1:30; 3:22
Isa 30:15

14:15
Josh 7:10

14:16
Exod 4:17, 20
Num 20:8-9, 11

14:18
Exod 14:25

14:19
Exod 13:21-22

14:2 The precise locations of Pi-hahiroth, Migdol, and Baal-zephon are unknown. • the sea: See note on 13:18.

14:4 after you: Literally after them. • to display my glory through Pharaoh: See note on 9:16. • know that I am the LORD: This event was the climactic demonstration of the Lord's character and power in the Exodus. Rescue for humans is by means of God's self-revelation as he incarnates himself in our life and experience. • as they were told: In this part of the book, the Israelites were obedient to God's commands (12:35, 50). Unfortunately, this was not their continued pattern after the crossing.

14:5-14 Because there was no real repentance on the part of Pharaoh and his officials, once the immediate terror of their experience had worn off, their self-interest reasserted itself and they determined to recapture their slave labor.

14:6-7 chariot: At this point in history, the Egyptian light chariot was the ultimate weapon. Pulled by three horses, it was swift and highly maneuverable. Sometimes it was manned by only one person, but some ancient illustrations show a driver with a warrior. The reference to a commander may indicate such two-man teams. The greatest military power in the world of that day was being marshaled against the Hebrews.

14:9 Even though today we don't know exactly where these events took place (see note on 14:2), there is no question that the narrator and his readers did. This account is history and not literary fantasy.

14:10-12 This complaint is the first occurrence of what was to become a sad refrain over the next forty years. Instead of believing that the God who had demonstrated his power so overwhelmingly could now save them, the Israelites turned on their rescuer. The cry of the unsundered heart is always, "Give me the security of slavery rather than the risk of faith."

14:13-14 One person, at least, had learned the lessons of the plagues and applied it to this crisis of faith. Moses did not know what God would do, but in one of the great statements of faith in the Bible, Moses declared his confidence in God. It was not the LORD who would fail, but the Egyptians.

14:15-31 The escape through the Red Sea was the climactic moment of rescue.

14:17 My great glory: The Hebrew word translated "glory" (kabod) connotes weightiness, significance, and reality (see "The Glory of God" at 24:15-17, p. 167). God demonstrated his authenticity while showing that all the political, military, and material glory of one of the greatest human cultures was only the thinnest of veils.

14:19-25 Whereas the Hebrews had been in a panic the night before, now the highly disciplined Egyptian army was thrown into disarray. They knew they were dealing with something far beyond their ability to comprehend or control.

14:21
Exod 7:19
Ps 106:9; 114:3, 5
Isa 63:12-13

14:22
Exod 15:19
Neh 9:11
Ps 66:6; 78:13
Heb 11:29

14:24
Exod 13:21

14:26
Exod 14:16

14:27
Exod 15:1, 7
Deut 11:4
Heb 11:29

14:28
Exod 15:19
Neh 9:11
Ps 78:53; 106:11

14:29
Ps 66:6
Isa 11:15

14:30
Ps 106:8
Isa 63:8, 11

14:31
Exod 4:31; 19:9
Ps 106:12

rear of the camp. The pillar of cloud also moved from the front and stood behind them. ²⁰The cloud settled between the Egyptian and Israelite camps. As darkness fell, the cloud turned to fire, lighting up the night. But the Egyptians and Israelites did not approach each other all night.

²¹Then Moses raised his hand over the sea, and the LORD opened up a path through the water with a strong east wind. The wind blew all that night, turning the seabed into dry land. ²²So the people of Israel walked through the middle of the sea on dry ground, with walls of water on each side!

²³Then the Egyptians—all of Pharaoh's horses, chariots, and charioteers—chased them into the middle of the sea. ²⁴But just before dawn the LORD looked down on the Egyptian army from the pillar of fire and cloud, and he threw their forces into total confusion. ²⁵He twisted their chariot wheels, making their chariots difficult to drive. "Let's get out of here—away from these Israelites!" the Egyptians shouted. "The LORD is fighting for them against Egypt!"

²⁶When all the Israelites had reached the other side, the LORD said to Moses, "Raise your hand over the sea again. Then the waters will rush back and cover the Egyptians and their chariots and charioteers." ²⁷So as the sun began to rise, Moses raised his hand over the sea, and the water rushed back into its usual place. The Egyptians tried to escape, but the LORD swept them into the sea. ²⁸Then the waters returned and covered all the chariots and charioteers—the entire army of Pharaoh. Of all the Egyptians who had chased the Israelites into the sea, not a single one survived.

²⁹But the people of Israel had walked through the middle of the sea on dry ground, as the water stood up like a wall on both sides. ³⁰That is how the LORD rescued Israel from the hand of the Egyptians that day. And the Israelites saw the bodies of the Egyptians washed up on the seashore.

³¹When the people of Israel saw the mighty

A Hardened Heart (14:4, 8)

Exod 3:19; 4:21;
8:15, 19, 32; 9:12;
10:1, 20; 11:10
Gen 8:21
Josh 11:19-20
2 Chr 36:11-13
Ps 95:8-11
Isa 6:9-10
Ezek 11:18-21;
36:22-27
Matt 12:34-35;
13:10-17
Luke 8:4-15
John 12:37-40
Acts 28:23-28
Rom 2:14-16;
11:7-12
2 Cor 3:13-18
Eph 4:17-24
Heb 3:6-19; 6:4-8

Exodus repeatedly states that the Lord hardened Pharaoh's heart (4:21; 9:12; 10:1, 20; 11:10; 14:4, 8). These statements are troubling to some. Was Pharaoh forced to sin against God?

Other facts from Exodus need to be taken into account: (1) The Lord knew ahead of time that Pharaoh would harden his heart (3:19); (2) Pharaoh himself became stubborn (8:15, 32); and (3) Pharaoh remained stubborn despite clear warnings (8:19). Pharaoh was not a well-meaning, misguided individual who was not allowed to repent. Although God was ultimately in control of Pharaoh, Pharaoh himself was accountable for his actions.

This interplay between human choice and divine sovereignty is found in other places in Scripture. (See Josh 11:20; Isa 6:9-10; Matt 13:15; John 12:40; Acts 28:27; Rom 11:7; 2 Cor 3:14; Eph 4:18; Heb 3:13.) The Israelites hardened their hearts and refused to believe God in the wilderness. God is said to have hardened the hearts of the Canaanites so that they did not seek to make peace with the Hebrews. The message God gave to Isaiah hardened the hearts of his hearers, and that Isaiah passage is referred to several times in the New Testament to explain the people's negative response to the message of the gospel. People are responsible for their choices, but no one makes choices in a vacuum. Rather, they make them in the context of the way God has made his world and providentially directs it.

The emphasis in Exodus on God's control of Pharaoh puts the conflict between the two belief systems into stark contrast. Pharaoh believed that he was sovereign and divine, able to do whatever he pleased. God showed that this was not the case; Pharaoh was dependent, as much the prisoner of his choices as any other creature on the planet. There is only one absolutely independent "I AM," and that is Yahweh (see 3:6-14; 6:2-8; 20:2; 34:6-7; Isa 45:3-7; 48:17; Mark 14:62; John 8:23-28).

14:22 As with the plagues, naturalistic explanations for this event are beside the point. A strong, steady wind blowing across a relatively shallow, contained body of water can change its depth dramatically, but that does not produce dry ground, with walls of water on each side. The Lord can intervene in nature and do with it as he wishes.

14:25 He twisted their chariot wheels:

As translated from the Greek and Syriac versions and the Samaritan Pentateuch. Hebrew reads He removed their chariot wheels. The ancient versions differ among themselves on the translation of this phrase. Perhaps there was deep sand where the water had been, and this broke the light wheels of the chariots. At any rate, the Egyptian charge through the sea failed, and they became terrified. • The LORD is fighting for them: Certainly by this time everyone in Egypt was aware of the special relationship between the Lord and his people.

14:31 Finally, the people of Israel were moved to put their faith in the LORD: Sadly, it was very short-lived (see 15:24; 16:3). • To be the Lord's servant is a position of high honor (see Isa 42:1-4; Matt 12:18).

power that the LORD had unleashed against the Egyptians, they were filled with awe before him. They put their faith in the LORD and in his servant Moses.

A Song of Rescue (15:1-21)

15 Then Moses and the people of Israel sang this song to the LORD:

- "I will sing to the LORD,
for he has triumphed gloriously;
he has hurled both horse and rider
into the sea.
2 The LORD is my strength and my song;
he has given me victory.
This is my God, and I will praise him—my father's God, and I will exalt him!
3 The LORD is a warrior;
Yahweh is his name!
4 Pharaoh's chariots and army
he has hurled into the sea.
The finest of Pharaoh's officers are drowned in the Red Sea.
5 The deep waters gushed over them;
they sank to the bottom like a stone.
6 "Your right hand, O LORD, is glorious in power.
Your right hand, O LORD,
smashes the enemy.
7 In the greatness of your majesty, you overthrow those who rise against you.

- You unleash your blazing fury;
it consumes them like straw.
8 At the blast of your breath,
the waters piled up!
The surging waters stood straight like a wall;
in the heart of the sea the deep waters became hard.
9 "The enemy boasted, 'I will chase them and catch up with them.
I will plunder them
and consume them.
I will flash my sword;
my powerful hand will destroy them.'
10 But you blew with your breath, and the sea covered them.
They sank like lead in the mighty waters.
11 "Who is like you among the gods,
O LORD—
glorious in holiness, awesome in splendor,
performing great wonders?
12 You raised your right hand, and the earth swallowed our enemies.

^baman (0539)
• Num 14:11

15:1
Ps 106:12
Jer 51:21
Rev 15:3

15:2
Exod 3:15-16
Deut 10:21
Isa 12:2
^cyesu'ah (3444)
• Ps 6:4
^drum (7311)
• 1 Sam 2:7

15:3
Exod 14:14
Ps 24:8; 83:18

15:4
Exod 14:6-7, 17, 28

15:5
Exod 14:28
Neh 9:11

15:6
Exod 3:20
Ps 118:15-16

15:7
Exod 9:16, 14:24
Ps 78:49-50

15:8
Exod 14:22, 29
Ps 78:13
^eleb (3820)
• Deut 6:5

15:9
Exod 14:5-9

15:10
Exod 14:27-28

15:11
Exod 8:10
Deut 3:24
1 Sam 2:2
2 Sam 7:22
Isa 6:3

15:1-18 Scholars believe this song of rescue to be one of the oldest preserved examples of the Hebrew language, attesting to its importance in Israel's thought and faith. It is divided into three stanzas: 15:1-5, 6-12, 13-18. The first stanza rejoices in the Lord's personal rescue of Moses and his people (note the recurrence of the first-person pronouns). The second exults in the great contrast between the Lord and the Egyptians. The third stanza reflects on what these events would mean for the future.

15:1-5 God's salvation and rescue had implications for personal faith.

15:1 Moses and the people: In this triumphant moment there was no division between them; they sang as one. • I will sing: The highly personal declarations of the first two verses emphasize the personal nature of God's relation to humans. He is not an impersonal force, but relates to us as one person relates to another. The songs of thanks and hymns of praise in the Bible characteristically give the reason for the thanks or praise early in the piece (see Ps 95:1-3; 96:1-4). The reason for the song is that the LORD . . . has triumphed gloriously. The community's faith in God through the dark night had been dramatically vindicated.

15:2 This statement is quoted in two other places, Ps 118:14 and Isa 12:2, which shows its importance. The "God of your father" (3:6) had become my God. The Israelites now knew God for themselves and not just as a historical memory.

15:3 The LORD is a warrior: He will aggressively defend his own. He is not an oppressor, nor does he fight for the love of violence. But when his people are helpless before the enemy, whether external or internal, they can know that Yahweh, "He Who Is," is their defender (Isa 59:15-19; 63:1-6; Rev 11:17-18). Regarding the name Yahweh, see the note on 3:15. The NLT usually translates this name "the LORD" (with small capitals). Here the translators chose to transliterate the name because Moses was emphasizing the personal name of God.

15:4 Red Sea: Literally sea of reeds; also in 15:22. See note on 13:18.

15:6-12 The personal tone continues as the Lord is referred to as you and is contrasted dramatically with them (15:7). All that the enemy intended (15:9) was brought to nothing (15:10) before the mighty power of God.

15:6 Your right hand: This was typically a warrior's sword arm.

15:8 blast (literally nostrils): In other contexts, the same word may be translated "anger." The hot breath from God's nose is an image of God's anger. • your breath: The Hebrew word translated as "breath" (ruakh) is the same one translated as "wind" in 14:21 and as "Spirit" in Gen 1:2. Nature is not God, but God is everywhere at work in nature.

15:9-10 Compared to the Creator, all the plans of even the most powerful humans are nothing (see Ps 2:2-5). They are like dust that can be blown away with one puff of his breath (see Isa 40:15-17).

15:11 The gods of the pagan nations are not in the same category as the LORD. They do not deserve to be called holy (see note on 3:5).

15:13-18 The people God has redeemed have confidence for the future. In light of what the Lord had done in rescuing Israel from his enemies, there was no question that he would be able to carry through on his promise to take them safely into the Promised Land.

15:13 When God's unfailing love and his might are combined, there is no reason to doubt that he will be able to keep his promises. "Unfailing love" is a translation of the Hebrew word khesed, which

15:13
Neh 9:12
Ps 77:15, 20

15:14
Deut 2:25
Hab 3:7

15:15
Num 22:3
Deut 2:4
Josh 2:11; 5:1

15:17
Exod 23:20; 32:34
Ps 2:6; 78:54, 68

15:18
Ps 10:16; 29:10
Isa 57:15

15:19
Exod 14:22, 28

15:20
1 Sam 18:6
Ps 30:11; 150:4
'nebi'ah (5031)
• Deut 13:1

- 13 "With your unfailing love you lead the people you have redeemed.
In your might, you guide them to your sacred home.
- 14 The peoples hear and tremble; anguish grips those who live in Philistia.
- 15 The leaders of Edom are terrified;
the nobles of Moab tremble.
All who live in Canaan melt away;
- 16 terror and dread fall upon them.
The power of your arm makes them lifeless as stone until your people pass by, O LORD, until the people you purchased pass by.

- 17 You will bring them in and plant them on your own mountain—the place, O LORD, reserved for your own dwelling,
the sanctuary, O Lord, that your hands have established.
- 18 The LORD will reign forever and ever!"
- 19 When Pharaoh's horses, chariots, and charioteers rushed into the sea, the LORD brought the water crashing down on them.
But the people of Israel had walked through the middle of the sea on dry ground!
- 20 Then Miriam the prophet, Aaron's sister, took a tambourine and led all the women as they played their tambourines and danced.
- 21 And Miriam sang this song:

The Exodus as History (14:15–15:21)

Exod 18:8-12
Judg 11:12-27
Acts 7:1-56

Israel's understanding of reality was radically different from that of all other ancient cultures. All of the other brilliant cultures surrounding Israel—from Sumer in southern Mesopotamia in 2000 BC to Rome in 200 AD—reached their views of reality by observing the world of nature. They concluded that there were many gods and that all events go in unending cycles. Ancient Israel believed that there is one God who is distinct from the world, who made the world with purpose, and who is guiding its events to realize his purposes. How did the Israelites come to their unique concept of reality? Was it not through encounters with the true God in actual events of history? The most reasonable explanation for the distinctiveness of Israel's understanding is that, as the Bible describes, God broke into their experience and showed himself to them in events that have been recorded as history.

There is nothing else like Israel's account of its past in the literature of the entire ancient world. There is no report in Egyptian texts of the kinds of events the Bible describes—but no ancient people except Israel ever reported the disasters they themselves experienced. Other ancient peoples only reported good things, with the belief that the reporting itself would determine the final outcome. The Bible's historical reporting is unlike anything else found in the ancient Near East.

Archaeology cannot prove that certain events happened, but it can demonstrate that conditions would have permitted the events to occur. That is true of the book of Exodus and of the Bible in general. Egyptian records and archaeology neither confirm nor contradict the Bible's record. However, the text of Exodus shows an intimate familiarity with Egyptian thought and culture.

The writers of the Bible believed they were reporting actual events, and they expected their readers to take them as such. If the Bible is in fact God's inspired word (2 Tim 3:16; 2 Pet 1:20-21), then these events cannot be fiction. Exodus 18:8-12 gives the first example of someone who put his faith in God because of a testimony to what had actually happened. Faith in God and in the Bible has a strong historical basis. God really has entered into history to act for the salvation of humanity. His acts include Israel's exodus from Egypt and climax in the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ.

speaks of the undeserved kindness and loyalty of a superior to an inferior. It is the most frequent descriptor of God's character in the OT (see Ps 136). If God had such a character but did not have the might to carry out his good intentions toward his people, his character would be of little value to us. The good news is that he has both a loving character and all power. • sacred home: God has chosen his people and gathered them to himself in order to dwell in their midst (see also 15:17).

15:14-15 Philistia, Edom, Moab, and Canaan are the four peoples that would most feel the hand of God's judgment as he dispossessed them to give the land to the people of Israel. What God had done to Egypt would have been common news throughout that part of the world (see Rahab's report in Josh 2:9-11, where the same imagery as in 15:15, to melt away, is used).

15:17 your own mountain: Deities were believed to have their residence on mountains. Thus Canaan is figuratively portrayed as God's residence.

15:19-21 Miriam led the women in praise. In many ancient societies, men and women performed ceremonies separately. Women had special roles in ritual praise and lamentation.

"Sing to the LORD,
for he has triumphed gloriously;
he has hurled both horse and rider
into the sea."

En Route to Sinai (15:22–18:27)
Bitter Water at Marah

²²Then Moses led the people of Israel away from the Red Sea, and they moved out into the desert of Shur. They traveled in this desert for three days without finding any water.

²³When they came to the oasis of Marah, the water was too bitter to drink. So they called the place Marah (which means "bitter").

²⁴Then the people complained and turned against Moses. "What are we going to drink?" they demanded. ²⁵So Moses cried out to the LORD for help, and the LORD showed him a piece of wood. Moses threw it into the water, and this made the water good to drink.

It was there at Marah that the LORD set before them the following decree as a standard to test their faithfulness to him. ²⁶He said, "If you will listen carefully to the voice of the LORD your God and do what is right in his sight, obeying his commands and keeping all his decrees, then I will not make you suffer any of the diseases I sent on the Egyptians; for I am the LORD who heals you."

²⁷After leaving Marah, the Israelites traveled on to the oasis of Elim, where they found twelve springs and seventy palm trees. They camped there beside the water.

Manna and Quail from Heaven

16 Then the whole community of Israel set out from Elim and journeyed into the wilderness of Sin, between Elim and Mount Sinai. They arrived there on the fifteenth day of the second month, one month after leaving the land of Egypt. ²There, too, the whole community of Israel complained about Moses and Aaron.

³"If only the LORD had killed us back in Egypt," they moaned. "There we sat around pots filled with meat and ate all the bread we wanted. But now you have brought us into this wilderness to starve us all to death."

⁴Then the LORD said to Moses, "Look, I'm going to rain down food from ⁴heaven for you. Each day the people can go out and pick up as much food as they need for that day. I will test them in this to see whether or not they will follow my instructions. ⁵On the sixth day they will gather food, and when they prepare it, there will be twice as much as usual."

⁶So Moses and Aaron said to all the people of Israel, "By evening you will realize it was the LORD who brought you out of the land of Egypt. ⁷In the morning you will see the glory of the LORD, because he has heard your complaints, which are against him, not against us. What have we done that you should complain about us?" ⁸Then Moses added, "The LORD will give you meat to eat in the evening and bread to satisfy you in the morning, for he has heard all your complaints against him. What have we done? Yes, your complaints are against the LORD, not against us."

⁹Then Moses said to Aaron, "Announce this to the entire community of Israel: 'Present yourselves before the LORD, for he has heard your complaining.'" ¹⁰And as Aaron spoke to the whole community of Israel,

15:21
Exod 15:1
15:22
Num 33:8
Ps 77:20; 78:52

15:23
Num 33:8
Ruth 1:20

15:24
Exod 14:11
Ps 106:13

15:25
Exod 14:10; 16:4

15:26
Exod 19:5-6
Deut 7:15
Ps 103:3

15:27
Num 33:9

16:1
Exod 17:1
Num 33:11-12

16:2
Exod 14:11
1 Cor 10:10

16:4
Deut 8:2-3, 16
Ps 78:24; 105:40
John 6:31
1 Cor 10:3
8shamayim (8064)
2 Kgs 1:10

16:5
Exod 16:22

16:6
Exod 6:6

16:7
Exod 16:12
Num 14:27; 16:11

15:22–18:27 On the journey from the sea to Sinai, God continued his providential care for the people's needs. In the events of rescue, he primarily revealed his power. Here he revealed that he cares about his people's basic needs.

15:22-27 First at Marah and then at Elim, God provided water for the people. • The precise location of the desert of Shur (15:22) is unknown.

15:23 The water was probably heavily alkaline, as is typical in the Sinai Desert.

15:24 Instead of reflecting on the lessons of faith so recently experienced, the people lost heart and began to complain, as we often do under adverse circumstances. If this complaining becomes a pattern, disaster can befall us in the ultimate test, as it did the Israelites (see Num 14; Ps 95:7-11; Heb 3:7-11).

15:25 See 2 Kgs 2:19-22 for a similar incident.

15:26 The connection between obedience to God's commands and health is not arbitrary. God made the body, and our bodies will last longer if we follow the Creator's guidelines. Since this statement was made in the context of a need for water, it might indicate that the Egyptians had been drinking polluted water.

16:1-36 God demonstrated care for his people by providing manna and quail as food for them.

16:1 The geographical name Sin is related to Sinai and should not be confused with the English word sin. • one month after leaving the land of Egypt: The Exodus had occurred on the fifteenth day of the first month (see Num 33:3).

16:2 complained: The people were developing a pattern of faithlessness manifested in complaining.

16:3 all the bread we wanted: The Israelites had been oppressed slaves in Egypt! One of the great dangers of complaining is that it blinds us to reality. Faith is grateful for what is, and believes the best is yet to come. Complaint focuses on what is wrong with the present and glorifies an unreal past.

16:4-5 These are the Lord's instructions for gathering the food that he would provide in the wilderness. Enough was provided for each day, with a double amount provided on the sixth day so that the people would not have to gather any on the Sabbath (see 16:21-30). The Israelites thus observed the Sabbath even before it was codified in the Decalogue. We instinctively resist a style of life in which it is necessary to depend on God each day to supply our needs. We wish to have supplies in advance so that we can feel independent. God was training the people for a life of faith (cp. Matt 6:11).

16:7 The Hebrew word translated glory connotes weightiness, substance, and reality. It is not the flimsy, ephemeral quality we often associate with the English term glory. It is more the idea of royal grandeur. See also "The Glory of God" at 24:15-17, p. 167.

16:10
Num 16:19
^h*kabod* (3519)
• Num 14:10

16:12
Exod 16:7

16:13
Num 11:31
Ps 78:27-28; 105:40

16:14
Num 11:7-9
Deut 8:3

16:15
Exod 16:31
Neh 9:15
John 6:31
1 Cor 10:3
^h*man* (4478)
• Exod 16:31

16:16
Exod 16:33, 36

16:18
*2 Cor 8:15

16:19
Exod 12:10; 23:18

16:22
Exod 16:5, 34:31

16:23
Gen 2:3
Exod 20:8; 23:12
Neh 9:14
Shabbath (7676)
• Exod 20:11

16:24
Exod 16:20

16:28
Ps 78:10

16:31
Num 11:7-9
Deut 8:3, 16
^h*man* (4478)
• Exod 16:33

16:33
Heb 9:4
Rev 2:17
^h*man* (4478)
• Exod 16:35

16:34
Exod 25:16, 21
Num 1:50

16:35
Josh 5:12
Neh 9:20-21
^h*man* (4478)
• Num 11:6

they looked out toward the wilderness. There they could see the awesome ^hglory of the LORD in the cloud.

¹¹Then the LORD said to Moses, ¹²"I have heard the Israelites' complaints. Now tell them, 'In the evening you will have meat to eat, and in the morning you will have all the bread you want. Then you will know that I am the LORD your God.'"

¹³That evening vast numbers of quail flew in and covered the camp. And the next morning the area around the camp was wet with dew. ¹⁴When the dew evaporated, a flaky substance as fine as frost blanketed the ground. ¹⁵The Israelites were puzzled when they saw it. "What is it?" they asked each other. They had no idea what it was.

And Moses told them, "It is the food the LORD has given you to eat. ¹⁶These are the LORD's instructions: Each household should gather as much as it needs. Pick up two quarts for each person in your tent."

¹⁷So the people of Israel did as they were told. Some gathered a lot, some only a little. ¹⁸But when they measured it out, everyone had just enough. Those who gathered a lot had nothing left over, and those who gathered only a little had enough. Each family had just what it needed.

¹⁹Then Moses told them, "Do not keep any of it until morning." ²⁰But some of them didn't listen and kept some of it until morning. But by then it was full of maggots and had a terrible smell. Moses was very angry with them.

²¹After this the people gathered the food morning by morning, each family according to its need. And as the sun became hot, the flakes they had not picked up melted and disappeared. ²²On the sixth day, they gathered twice as much as usual—four quarts for each person instead of two. Then all the leaders of the community came and asked Moses for an explanation. ²³He told them, "This is what the LORD commanded:

Tomorrow will be a day of complete rest, a holy ^hSabbath day set apart for the LORD. So bake or boil as much as you want today, and set aside what is left for tomorrow."

²⁴So they put some aside until morning, just as Moses had commanded. And in the morning the leftover food was wholesome and good, without maggots or odor. ²⁵Moses said, "Eat this food today, for today is a Sabbath day dedicated to the LORD. There will be no food on the ground today. ²⁶You may gather the food for six days, but the seventh day is the Sabbath. There will be no food on the ground that day."

²⁷Some of the people went out anyway on the seventh day, but they found no food. ²⁸The LORD asked Moses, "How long will these people refuse to obey my commands and instructions? ²⁹They must realize that the Sabbath is the LORD's gift to you. That is why he gives you a two-day supply on the sixth day, so there will be enough for two days. On the Sabbath day you must each stay in your place. Do not go out to pick up food on the seventh day." ³⁰So the people did not gather any food on the seventh day.

³¹The Israelites called the food ^hmanna. It was white like coriander seed, and it tasted like honey wafers.

³²Then Moses said, "This is what the LORD has commanded: Fill a two-quart container with manna to preserve it for your descendants. Then later generations will be able to see the food I gave you in the wilderness when I set you free from Egypt."

³³Moses said to Aaron, "Get a jar and fill it with two quarts of ^hmanna. Then put it in a sacred place before the LORD to preserve it for all future generations." ³⁴Aaron did just as the LORD had commanded Moses. He eventually placed it in the Ark of the Covenant—in front of the stone tablets inscribed with the terms of the covenant. ³⁵So the people of Israel ate ^hmanna for forty years until they arrived at the land

16:15 The Hebrew man hu' (What is it?) came to be the name of the miraculous food ("manna," see 16:31). For forty years, the people ate what is it? Jesus referred to himself as the fulfillment of the meaning of this miracle. He was the "true bread from heaven" that gives life (John 6:32-35, 48, 51, 63).

16:16 two quarts: Hebrew 1 omer [2.2 liters]; also in 16:32, 33.

16:18 measured it out: Hebrew measured it with an omer; see note on 16:16.

16:19-20 Regarding these instructions, see note on 16:4-5.

16:21-30 Although the Sabbath was a day set apart for the LORD (16:23), it was also the LORD's gift to his people (16:29). Rest and worship are not meant to be an obligation, but a privilege. However, given the human determination to meet our needs in our own way, rest and worship are given as commands (16:28).

16:22 four quarts: Hebrew 2 omers [4.4 liters].

16:31 Manna means "What is it?" See 16:15.

16:32-36 The container of manna was to be preserved as a reminder of God's providential care for his people. He is powerful and deeply caring. Not only can he supply our needs, he wants to do so.

16:34 Aaron was to place a jar of the manna in the Ark of the Covenant (literally in front of the Testimony; see note on 25:16), along with the stone tablets inscribed with the terms of the covenant.

16:35 until they arrived at the land: God's care for us is normally demonstrated in ordinary ways, as it would usually be for Israel after they arrived in Canaan (see Josh 5:10-12). That care is just as real as when it comes in extraordinary ways, as it did while Israel was in the wilderness.

where they would settle. They ate ^bmanna until they came to the border of the land of Canaan.

³⁶The container used to measure the manna was an omer, which was one-tenth of an ephah; it held about two quarts.

Water from the Rock

17 At the LORD's command, the whole community of Israel left the wilderness of Sin and moved from place to place. Eventually they camped at Rephidim, but there was no water there for the people to drink. ²So once more the people complained against Moses. "Give us water to drink!" they demanded.

"Quiet!" Moses replied. "Why are you complaining against me? And why are you testing the LORD?"

³But tormented by thirst, they continued to argue with Moses. "Why did you bring us out of Egypt? Are you trying to kill us, our children, and our livestock with thirst?"

⁴Then Moses cried out to the LORD, "What should I do with these people? They are ready to stone me!"

⁵The LORD said to Moses, "Walk out in front of the people. Take your staff, the one you used when you struck the water of the Nile, and call some of the elders of Israel to join you. ⁶I will stand before you on the rock at Mount Sinai. Strike the rock, and water will come gushing out. Then the people will be able to drink." So Moses struck the rock as he was told, and water gushed out as the elders looked on.

⁷Moses named the place Massah (which means "test") and Meribah (which means "arguing") because the people of Israel argued with Moses and tested the LORD by saying, "Is the LORD here with us or not?"

Israel Enabled to Defeat the Amalekites

⁸While the people of Israel were still at Rephidim, the warriors of Amalek attacked them. ⁹Moses commanded Joshua, "Choose some men to go out and fight the army of Amalek for us. Tomorrow, I will stand at the top of the hill, holding the staff of God in my hand."

¹⁰So Joshua did what Moses had commanded and fought the army of Amalek. Meanwhile, Moses, Aaron, and Hur climbed to the top of a nearby hill. ¹¹As long as Moses held up the staff in his hand, the Israelites had the advantage. But whenever he dropped his hand, the Amalekites gained the advantage. ¹²Moses' arms soon became so tired he could no longer hold them up. So Aaron and Hur found a stone for him to sit on. Then they stood on each side of Moses, holding up his hands. So his hands held steady until sunset. ¹³As a result, Joshua overwhelmed the army of Amalek in battle.

¹⁴After the victory, the LORD instructed Moses, "Write this down on a scroll as a permanent reminder, and read it aloud to Joshua: I will erase the memory of Amalek from under heaven." ¹⁵Moses built an altar there and named it Yahweh-Nissi (which means "the LORD is my banner"). ¹⁶He said,

^bman (4478)
• Num 11:6

17:1
Exod 16:1; 19:2
Num 33:15

17:2
Exod 14:11-12
Num 20:3
Deut 6:16
1 Cor 10:10

17:3
Exod 16:2-3

17:4
Num 14:10; 16:19

17:5
Exod 7:20; 14:16

17:6
Num 20:8-10
Ps 78:15-16; 105:41
1 Cor 10:4

17:7
Deut 6:16; 9:22
Ps 81:7; 95:8

17:8
Gen 36:12, 16
Num 24:20
Deut 25:17-19

17:9
Exod 24:13
Num 11:28

17:10
Exod 24:14; 31:2

17:12
Isa 35:3

17:14
Exod 24:4; 34:27
Num 33:2

17:15
Gen 22:14

16:36 The Hebrew text of this verse reads An omer is one-tenth of an ephah.

17:1 Sin: See note on 16:1. • from place to place: With a large and diverse group, travel was undoubtedly slow and arduous. It is also possible that God was using this time to demonstrate his care by miraculously providing for their needs before bringing them to Mount Sinai and offering his covenant to them.

17:2 testing the LORD is explained in 17:7. They doubted that God was really with them or cared for them, and they demanded that he prove his presence and care. God invites a test based on faith ("I do believe, but help me overcome my unbelief," Mark 9:24), but he abhors a test based on doubt (i.e., I don't believe, and I think God should prove himself to me, as in John 6:30). The test based on doubt makes us the judge and God the defendant.

17:3 Regarding a similar complaint, see note on 16:3.

17:6 Mount Sinai: Hebrew Horeb. See note on 3:1. • water gushed out: Note the similar provision in Num 20:11 (see also Ps 78:15-16; 105:41; 114:8; Isa 48:21).

17:8-16 Israel was enabled to defeat the Amalekites only by God's blessing and providential care.

17:8 Amalek was Esau's grandson (Gen 36:11-12). His descendants were nomadic, though loosely based in the land of Edom. They seem to have supported themselves by raiding more settled peoples.

17:9-13 This victory was a gift from God, as the description here makes clear. The determining factor was God's blessing, as indicated by Moses' upraised hands. This principle was illustrated again and again in the conquest of the land of Canaan. Without God's blessing, Israel could do nothing (see Num 14:42-45; Josh 7:10-12).

17:9 Joshua was Moses' trusted assistant (33:11) who would eventually become his successor (Deut 31:7-8). This early experience was important training for leading the people later in the conquest of the land. The Hebrew name Joshua, which means "savior," is equivalent to the Greek name Jesus (see also note on Heb 4:8).

17:14-16 By their unprovoked attack on the people through whom God was extending his blessing, the Amalekites incurred the unending wrath of God. God's hand can be extended in blessing, or it can be extended in curse. Those who reject the hand of blessing experience the curse (see 1 Sam 15).

17:15 This banner was a battle flag. In Isa 5:26, God lifted up a banner to call the nations to war against Israel. In Isa 11:10, 12, the Messiah would be the banner calling the nations to bring his people home.

17:16 They have raised their fist against the LORD's throne, so now (or Hands have been lifted up to the LORD's throne, and now): The NLT sees the fist raised against the Lord's throne as Amalek's aggression against the Lord and his

18:1
Exod 2:16, 18; 3:1
(kohen (3548))
+ Exod 19:6

18:2
Exod 2:21; 4:25

18:3
Exod 2:22
Acts 7:29

18:4
Gen 49:25

18:5
Exod 3:1

18:7
Gen 43:28

18:8
Exod 15:6, 16
Num 20:14

18:9
Isa 63:7-14

18:10
1 Kgs 8:56
Ps 68:19-20

18:11
Exod 12:12; 15:11

18:12
Gen 31:54
Exod 24:5

"They have raised their fist against the LORD's throne, so now the LORD will be at war with Amalek generation after generation."

Jethro's Visit to Moses

18 Moses' father-in-law, Jethro, the priest of Midian, heard about everything God had done for Moses and his people, the Israelites. He heard especially about how the LORD had rescued them from Egypt.

²Earlier, Moses had sent his wife, Zipporah, and his two sons back to Jethro, who had taken them in. ³(Moses' first son was named Gershom, for Moses had said when the boy was born, "I have been a foreigner in a foreign land.") ⁴His second son was named Eliezer, for Moses had said, "The God of my ancestors was my helper; he rescued me from the sword of Pharaoh.") ⁵Jethro, Moses' father-in-law, now came to visit Moses in the wilderness. He brought Moses' wife and two sons with him, and they arrived while Moses and the people were camped near the mountain of God. ⁶Jethro had sent a message to Moses, saying, "I, Jethro, your father-in-law, am coming to see you with your wife and your two sons."

⁷So Moses went out to meet his father-in-law. He bowed low and kissed him. They asked about each other's welfare and then went into Moses' tent. ⁸Moses told his father-in-law everything the LORD had done to Pharaoh and Egypt on behalf of Israel. He also told about all the hardships they had experienced along the way and how the LORD had rescued his people from all their troubles. ⁹Jethro was delighted when he heard about all the good things the LORD had done for Israel as he rescued them from the hand of the Egyptians.

¹⁰"Praise the LORD," Jethro said, "for he has rescued you from the Egyptians and from Pharaoh. Yes, he has rescued Israel from the powerful hand of Egypt! ¹¹I know now that the LORD is greater than all other gods, because he rescued his people from the oppression of the proud Egyptians."

¹²Then Jethro, Moses' father-in-law, brought a burnt offering and sacrifices to God. Aaron and all the elders of Israel came out and joined him in a sacrificial meal in God's presence.

Jethro/Reuel (18:1-27)

Exod 2:16-25; 3:1
Num 10:29
Judg 1:16; 4:11

Jethro, also called Reuel (2:16-18; Num 10:29), was "the priest of Midian" (2:16). We first encounter Jethro when Moses rescued his seven daughters from the rough treatment of other shepherds at a well and helped them water their flocks. At home they told their father of their surprising encounter with "an Egyptian." Jethro responded gratefully by inviting Moses for a meal. Moses married Jethro's daughter Zipporah, with whom he had two sons.

While Moses was living in Midian near his father-in-law (3:1), he encountered God at the burning bush. Before leaving for Egypt, Moses asked Jethro's permission to go; he later sent his family to stay with Jethro during the Exodus.

When Moses and the Israelites were in the wilderness, Jethro returned with Moses' family. Jethro, having heard of Yahweh's deliverance of his people from Egypt, acknowledged him as the God of all gods. He worshiped Yahweh with a burnt offering and sacrifices, thereby identifying himself with Israel (18:11). In response, Israel's leaders joined him for "a sacrificial meal in God's presence" (18:12).

Moses was overwhelmed with caring for the vast numbers of Israelites. Jethro gave Moses good administrative advice about organizing the people more efficiently and about judging disputes among the people (18:13-23). Moses listened to this counsel and appointed able men to assist him as leaders and judges over the people (18:24-27). Jethro returned to Midian and seems not to have interacted further with Israel, but his son (Num 10:29-33) and other descendants later became Israelites (Judg 1:16; 4:11).

people. The alternate interpretation sees a reference to Moses' own hands that were lifted to the Lord in prayer (17:15).

18:1-12 Moses had apparently sent his wife and children back from Egypt at some point to stay with his father-in-law. In the intense confrontation with Pharaoh, Moses might have been afraid for their lives. Jethro now came to meet Moses and the Israelites, bringing Moses' family with him (18:2-6). In the context of the visit, Moses gave him a report, and Jethro was brought to faith through the testimony of the Lord's work.

18:1 Jethro: See note on 2:16.

18:3-4 Gershom sounds like a Hebrew term that means "a foreigner there." Eliezer means "God is my helper." Hebrew parents often used names related to the circumstances of a child's birth.

18:7 bowed low and kissed him. They asked about each other's welfare: These were all typical customs of greeting in that society.

Jethro's Wise Advice

¹³The next day, Moses took his seat to hear the people's disputes against each other. They waited before him from morning till evening.

¹⁴When Moses' father-in-law saw all that Moses was doing for the people, he asked, "What are you really accomplishing here? Why are you trying to do all this alone while everyone stands around you from morning till evening?"

¹⁵Moses replied, "Because the people come to me to get a ruling from God. ¹⁶When a dispute arises, they come to me, and I am the one who settles the case between the quarreling parties. I inform the people of God's decrees and give them his instructions."

¹⁷"This is not good!" Moses' father-in-law exclaimed. ¹⁸"You're going to wear yourself out—and the people, too. This job is too heavy a burden for you to handle all by yourself. ¹⁹Now listen to me, and let me give you a word of advice, and may God be with you. You should continue to be the people's representative before God, bringing their disputes to him. ²⁰Teach them God's decrees, and give them his ^dinstructions. Show them how to conduct their lives. ²¹But select from all the people some capable, honest men who fear God and hate bribes. Appoint them as leaders over groups of one thousand, one hundred, fifty, and ten. ²²They should always be available to solve the people's common disputes, but have them bring the major cases to you. Let the leaders decide the smaller matters themselves. They will help you carry the load, making the task easier for you. ²³If you follow this advice, and if God commands you to do so, then you will be able to endure the pressures, and all these people will go home in peace."

²⁴Moses listened to his father-in-law's advice and followed his suggestions. ²⁵He ^cchose capable men from all over Israel and appointed them as leaders over the people. He put them in charge of groups of one thousand, one hundred, fifty, and ten. ²⁶These men were always available to 'solve the people's common disputes. They brought the major cases to Moses, but they ^ftook care of the smaller matters themselves.

²⁷Soon after this, Moses said good-bye to his father-in-law, who returned to his own land.

THE SINAI COVENANT: GOD'S PRINCIPLES (19:1–24:18)

Preparation to Receive the Covenant (19:1–25)

19 Exactly two months after the Israelites left Egypt, they arrived in the wilderness of Sinai. ²After breaking camp at Rephidim, they came to the wilderness of Sinai and set up camp there at the base of Mount Sinai.

³Then Moses climbed the mountain to appear before God. The LORD called to him from the mountain and said, "Give these instructions to the family of Jacob; announce it to the descendants of Israel: ⁴'You have seen what I did to the Egyptians. You know how I carried you on eagles' wings and brought you to myself. ⁵Now if you will obey me and keep my ^gcovenant, you will be my own special treasure from among all the peoples on earth; for all the earth belongs to me. ⁶And you will be my kingdom of ^hpriests, my holy nation.' This is the message you must give to the people of Israel."

18:15
Num 9:8
Deut 17:8-13

18:16
Exod 24:14

18:18
Num 11:14, 17
Deut 1:9

18:19-20
Deut 1:18

18:20
^a*torah* (8451)
• Deut 30:10

18:21
Deut 1:13, 15
Ps 15:1-5

18:22
Num 11:17
Deut 1:17-18

18:25
Deut 1:15, 16:18
^b*bakhar* (0977)
• Deut 7:6

18:26
Deut 16:18
ⁱ*shapat* (8199)
• Lev 19:15

18:27
Num 10:29-30

19:1
Exod 12:51, 16:1

19:2
Exod 17:1, 18:5

19:3
Exod 20:21
Acts 7:38

19:4
Deut 29:2
Isa 40:31, 63:9
Rev 12:14

19:5
Exod 15:26
Deut 10:14
^s*sherith* (1285)
• Num 25:12

19:6
Lev 11:44-45
Deut 33:3
^{*1} Pet 2:5, 9
Rev 1:6, 5:10
^h*kohen* (3548)
• Lev 1:5

18:13-27 Jethro's wise advice is a further example of God's providence, although it was not given in a miraculous way. Jethro introduced Moses to a style of leadership that involved delegation of authority. It appears that Moses had been following an Egyptian style of leadership that was heavily hierarchical and based on circumstances. No Egyptian law code has yet been discovered. It appears that all authority flowed downward from the Pharaoh, who ruled by fiat. Jethro proposed a structure of delegation that would make Moses' life easier.

18:13-16 Moses had set himself up in place of Pharaoh, making himself indispensable to the people.

18:17-18 Such a leader-centered approach is not good for either the leader or the people (see also 18:23).

18:19-22 Moses needed to distinguish between his teaching function, in which he received and declared God's decrees and instructions (18:19-20), and an administrative function, in which he applied all of those decrees and instructions (18:21-22).

19:1-9 God prepared his people to receive the covenant by first reminding them of the past and of what they had learned about him (19:4). He then made promises concerning the future, which were contingent upon obedience (19:5-6). The final result was their promise to obey what the LORD has commanded (19:8).

19:1 Exactly two months after the Israelites left Egypt: Literally In the third month after the Israelites left Egypt, on the very day, i.e., two lunar months to the day after leaving Egypt. Cp. Num 33:3. See also chart, "Israel's Annual Calendar," p. 145. It was now the fifteenth day of the third month.

19:2 The arrival at Sinai was a fulfillment of the promise made earlier to Moses at this same spot (3:12).

19:3 the family of Jacob . . . the descendants of Israel: The link between Jacob and the present generation reflected continuity with the past. God had kept all his promises thus far, and the promises he was yet to make would be equally trustworthy.

19:5-6 God, to whom all the earth belongs, promised to make Israel his own special treasure. This promise was contingent upon their accepting a covenant with God and keeping it faithfully. • my kingdom of priests, my holy nation: The nation was to become intermediaries between a holy God and a lost world. Through them God would reveal himself (see 1 Pet 2:9-10).

19:7
Exod 4:29-30; 24:9

19:8
Exod 24:3, 7
Deut 5:27; 26:17

19:9
Exod 19:16; 24:15
Deut 4:11
Ps 99:7

19:10
Gen 35:2
Lev 11:44-45
Num 8:7; 19:19
Heb 10:22
Rev 22:14

19:11
Exod 19:16

19:13
*Heb 12:20

19:15
1 Sam 21:4
1 Cor 7:5

⁷So Moses returned from the mountain and called together the elders of the people and told them everything the LORD had commanded him. ⁸And all the people responded together, "We will do everything the LORD has commanded." So Moses brought the people's answer back to the LORD.

⁹Then the LORD said to Moses, "I will come to you in a thick cloud, Moses, so the people themselves can hear me when I speak with you. Then they will always trust you."

Moses told the LORD what the people had said. ¹⁰Then the LORD told Moses, "Go down and prepare the people for my arrival. Consecrate them today and tomorrow, and have them wash their clothing. ¹¹Be sure they are ready on the third day, for on that day the LORD will come down on Mount Sinai as all the people watch. ¹²Mark off a boundary all around the mountain. Warn the people, 'Be careful! Do not go up on the mountain or even touch its boundaries. Anyone who touches the mountain will certainly be put to death. ¹³No hand may touch the person or animal that crosses the boundary; instead, stone them or shoot them with arrows. They must be put to death.' However, when the ram's horn sounds a long blast, then the people may go up on the mountain."

¹⁴So Moses went down to the people. He consecrated them for worship, and they washed their clothes. ¹⁵He told them, "Get ready for the third day, and until then abstain from having sexual intercourse."

The Purpose of God's Covenant (19:3-6)

Exod 9:1
Lev 11:44-45
Jer 31:33-34; 32:40
John 16:5-11

Nearly everything the Israelites had learned about ultimate reality from the Egyptians was wrong (see "The Plagues" at 7:14–11:10, p. 141). There are not many gods; there is only one God. The Creator is perfectly good, and evil is the result of rebellion against him. God's blessings cannot be obtained through magic and manipulation; instead, they are free to those who lovingly submit to him.

The Israelites' real problem was not primarily their being slaves in Egypt; it was that they did not yet know God in the way that he intended. They left Egypt to worship the Lord (4:23; 5:3; 7:16; 8:1, 20, 26; 9:1, 13; 10:7, 24; 12:31). In the plagues and the Red Sea crossing, they learned of God's unique power. In the wilderness, they learned about God's providential care, but they still did not know God's character. The covenant at Sinai was designed to teach the Israelites about God's nature and character as they lived out his Torah, his instructions.

The covenant used a familiar political form, the suzerain-vassal treaty, in which a "great king" (the suzerain) made a treaty with a nation he had subjected as a vassal people. In such a treaty, the conquered people would declare their absolute loyalty to the king and obedience to his demands. The king, for his part, would promise to care for the conquered people and protect them from any enemies who might attack them (see also note on 20:1–23:33). In the covenant at Sinai, God called the people to absolute loyalty to himself as the only God and to a lifestyle that reflected his will and nature as their sovereign Creator.

Ever since the Fall (Gen 3), there has been something fundamentally wrong with the human spirit. Humans by nature oppose surrendering control to someone else. God wanted a very simple and straightforward response from the Israelites that was impossible for the unchanged human spirit. The covenant was a good thing, but it was weak in that it was incapable of making the Israelites able to follow it (Rom 7:12; 8:3). Unless God graciously bestows his Spirit upon us, we will never be able to do the things we must do; we will never share the character of the Creator. Through the cross of Christ, God has made it possible for us to be empowered by the Spirit and thus to fulfill his covenant purpose by sharing his holy character (see Jer 31:33-34; 32:40; John 16:8; Rom 8:5-14; 10:8-17; Gal 5:1-26).

19:7-8 The first phase of preparation was successful. The people agreed to do everything the LORD has commanded.

19:9 See also Deut 4:12, 33.

19:10-15 In the second phase of preparation, the people received commands that would prepare them to receive God's covenant. They were to wash their clothing (19:10, 14) because God is pure. They were to prepare a boundary all around the mountain (19:12-13) and be careful not to cross it because God is holy. They were to abstain from having sexual intercourse (19:15) because God is not a sexual being, and his blessings are not produced through sexual activity. Things that are natural and right under ordinary circumstances were to be set aside for the extraordinary purpose of concentrating on the Lord, the King who was about to appear before the people. Only their compliance with the second of these commands is specifically reported (19:23), but it is safe to assume that they obeyed the other two as well since no negative response from the Lord is recorded. • Hebrews 12:18-22 contrasts this experience at Mount Sinai with the believer's experience at Mount Zion, "the heavenly Jerusalem."

19:13 up on the mountain: Or up to the mountain.

¹⁶On the morning of the third day, thunder roared and lightning flashed, and a dense cloud came down on the mountain. There was a long, loud blast from a ram's horn, and all the people trembled. ¹⁷Moses led them out from the camp to meet with God, and they stood at the foot of the mountain. ¹⁸All of Mount Sinai was covered with smoke because the LORD had descended on it in the form of fire. The smoke billowed into the sky like smoke from a brick kiln, and the whole mountain shook violently. ¹⁹As the blast of the ram's horn grew louder and louder, Moses spoke, and God thundered his reply. ²⁰The LORD came down on the top of Mount Sinai and called Moses to the top of the mountain. So Moses climbed the mountain.

²¹Then the LORD told Moses, "Go back down and warn the people not to break through the boundaries to see the LORD, or they will die. ²²Even the priests who regularly come near to the LORD must purify themselves so that the LORD does not break out and destroy them."

²³"But LORD," Moses protested, "the people cannot come up to Mount Sinai. You already warned us. You told me, 'Mark off a boundary all around the mountain to set it apart as holy.'"

²⁴But the LORD said, "Go down and bring Aaron back up with you. In the meantime, do not let the priests or the people break through to approach the LORD, or he will break out and destroy them."

²⁵So Moses went down to the people and told them what the LORD had said.

Ten Commandments (20:1-21)

EXOD 20:2-17 // DEUT 5:6-21

20 Then God gave the people all these instructions:

²⁴"I am the LORD your God, who rescued you from the land of Egypt, the place of your slavery.

³⁴"You must not have any other god but me.

19:16-19
Deut 4:11; 5:4
Ps 68:7-8; 81:7;
104:32
Heb 12:18-19

19:20
Neh 9:13

19:21
Exod 3:5

19:22
Lev 10:3; 21:6-8

19:24
Exod 24:1, 9

20:1-17
//Deut 5:6-21

20:3
Deut 5:7; 6:14

20:4
Exod 23:13, 24; 34:14
Lev 26:1
Deut 4:15-19

20:5
Exod 34:6-7
Num 14:18
Deut 7:9-10

19:16-25 The final phase of preparation involved phenomena that moved the people toward acceptance of the covenant. Some of the experiences were visual: lightning and a cloud (19:16), smoke and fire (19:18). The people also heard thunder, a ram's horn, and the voice of God (19:16, 19), and the whole mountain shook violently (19:18). In the Bible, such phenomena are often associated with a theophany, which is a visible manifestation of God's holy presence.

19:21-25 The repeated warnings that no one should break through to approach the LORD reinforced the impact of the phenomena the people had just witnessed. God is utterly transcendent, and he must be approached in the way he ordains or not at all.

20:1-23:33 The Sinai Covenant follows very closely the form of the covenants, or suzerain-vassal treaties, that great kings (the suzerains) in the ancient Near East offered to subject peoples (the vassals) as follows: (1) An introduction named the Great King who was offering the covenant (20:1). (2) A historical preamble set out the circumstances that had led to the offer of a treaty (20:2). (3) Stipulations, the terms upon which the two parties were to agree, typically included the king's offer of protection from enemies and care during emergency, while the people would agree to behave in conformance to the preferences of that king. Exodus includes a brief setting forth of the terms of the covenant (20:3-17) followed by expanded terms (21:1-23:33). (4) Another statement indicated where a written copy of the covenant should be kept and when it should be read (24:7; 25:16). (5) The gods were called upon to witness the agreement (in Exodus, historical markers are substituted for the gods, 24:4). (6) The blessings and curses were stated that would follow upon obedience or disobedience to the covenant (23:20-33). Utilizing the political form of the covenant, God invited his people into a formal relationship with himself as king while avoiding the pagan overtones that contaminated religious forms of the time. Jesus' Sermon on the Mount (Matt 5:1-7:28) is a NT parallel to this section of Exodus, with the Beatitudes (Matt 5:3-12) paralleling the Ten Commandments.

20:1-17 The brief statement of the terms of the covenant (see also Deut 5:6-21).

20:1 This corresponds to the introductory statement in the ancient covenant format. • all these instructions (literally all these words): When these statements are referred to elsewhere (34:28; Deut 4:13; 10:4), the Hebrew text refers to them as the "Ten Words." These are not arbitrary commandments, but an explanation of God's basic instructions for human living given by the Creator of human life.

20:2 This sentence corresponds to the preamble in the ancient covenant format. It gives the historical setting that makes such an agreement between two parties both possible and reasonable. We are told that the LORD your God was offering the covenant. It was not some unknown deity that offered this special relationship, but the God of Israel's ancestors who had revealed his power and his care directly to them. Furthermore, that revelation was an act of gracious rescue on their behalf, demonstrating that he is the only God.

20:3-17 The terms of the covenant specify the behavior the people were expected to manifest if they were to be in a covenant with God. Only the first four instructions (20:2-11) relate directly to God, while the remaining six (20:12-17) have to do with human-to-human relationships. A covenant with God stipulates how we are to treat each other because God is profoundly ethical, and he expects us to manifest his character in all our relationships. Other law codes in the ancient Near East did not incorporate such absolute prohibitions, probably because polytheism mitigated against absolute principles. In contrast, covenants with a king did include absolute prohibitions because a single king could demand whatever he wished of his subjects. Here the single king is the sole Creator of the universe, who truly has authority to state absolute principles, demands, and prohibitions.

20:3-11 The first four commandments relate to one's relationship with God. Observing them would foster a correct understanding of God in contrast to the idolatrous notions of deity that the Israelites had encountered in Egypt and would yet encounter in Canaan.

20:3 Not recognizing any other god is the first step toward learning the truth that there are no other gods besides the Lord (see Deut 4:35; 6:4; Isa 43:10-11; 45:21-22).

¹*qanna'* (7067)
• Exod 34:14

20:6
¹*ikhesed* (2617)
• Josh 2:12

20:10
¹*ebed* (5650)
• Exod 21:2

20:11
• Acts 4:24
¹*shabbath* (7676)
• Exod 31:15

20:12
• Matt 15:4
• Mark 7:10
• Luke 18:20
• Eph 6:2

20:13
Gen 9:5
• Matt 5:21; 19:18
• Rom 13:9
• Jas 2:11

20:14
• Matt 5:27

20:15
• Matt 19:18
• Mark 10:19
• Luke 18:20
• Rom 13:9

20:17
• Rom 7:7

⁴"You must not make for yourself an idol of any kind or an image of anything in the heavens or on the earth or in the sea. ⁵You must not bow down to them or worship them, for I, the LORD your God, am a jealous God who will not tolerate your affection for any other gods. I lay the sins of the parents upon their children; the entire family is affected—even children in the third and fourth generations of those who reject me. ⁶But I lavish unfailing love for a thousand generations on those who love me and obey my commands. ⁷"You must not misuse the name of the LORD your God. The LORD will not let you go unpunished if you misuse his name. ⁸"Remember to observe the Sabbath day by keeping it holy. ⁹You have six days each week for your ordinary work, ¹⁰but the seventh day is a Sabbath day of rest dedicated to the LORD your God. On that day no one in your household may do any work. This includes you, your sons and daughters, your male and female servants, your livestock, and any foreigners living among you. ¹¹For in six days the LORD made the heavens, the earth, the sea, and everything in them; but on the seventh day he rested. That is why the LORD blessed the Sabbath day and set it apart as holy.

¹²"Honor your father and mother. Then you will live a long, full life in the land the LORD your God is giving you.

¹³"You must not murder.

¹⁴"You must not commit adultery.

¹⁵"You must not steal.

¹⁶"You must not testify falsely against your neighbor.

¹⁷"You must not covet your neighbor's house. You must not covet your neighbor's wife, male or female servant, ox or donkey, or anything else that belongs to your neighbor."

20:4 Not making an image of God is the first step toward recognizing that he is transcendent—that he is the Creator of the universe and distinct from it. To represent God as something in creation was inevitably to end up worshipping the creation rather than the Creator, and this had deadly moral consequences (Rom 1:18-25).

20:5-6 jealous God: God is passionately opposed to our prostituting ourselves with false gods (see Josh 24:19-20). • in the third and fourth generations . . . for a thousand generations: It is important to keep both sides of this equation together. God does not punish children for their parents' sins. Rather, he is saying that our sins affect future generations of descendants. But he is also restricting the natural effects of those sins to three or four generations, while graciously extending the effects of obedience to a thousand generations (literally for thousands; see also Exod 34:6-7; Deut 7:9). • reject (literally hate): The Hebrew words commonly translated "love" (20:6) and "hate" are difficult to translate into English because they include an act of the will as well as the emotional element we are familiar with. In biblical thinking, to "love" is to choose something and to act consistently in accord with that choice. To "hate" is to reject something and to act in ways consistent with that choice. The choice is connected to emotion: Feeling expresses itself in choices, and our choices show how we really feel.

20:7 In Hebrew, one's name connotes nature and character (see note on 3:13-22). To make the name of God empty (NLT, misuse) is to do anything that makes him appear insignificant or worthless. One way to do this is to invoke his name in an oath we do not mean to keep. But there are other, even more significant ways to bring shame on God's name (see Num 20:12; Amos 2:7; cp. Matt 6:9).

20:8-11 The Sabbath day is kept holy when it is dedicated to the LORD (20:10). Whatever belongs exclusively to God shares his character. This is not to say that the other six days are unholy, but simply that they are for ordinary work (20:9). On this day set apart, we are reminded that it is not our work that supplies our needs. Our needs are supplied by God as an act of his grace (see 20:6, unfailing love).

20:11 To be in covenant with God is to do what God does; since he rested from his work (Gen 2:1-3), how can we think that we need no rest?

20:12-17 The remaining six instructions all have to do with human relationships. Many of the stipulations of the covenant with God relate to how people treat each other. This connection of ethical behavior with religious duty is unique in the OT world. There are several ethical law codes known in the ancient Near East, and several of these predate Moses, but all of them are imposed by a human king and have little to do with religion. The pagan gods, meanwhile, were all patently unethical and untrustworthy, unlike the God of Israel, whose people worship him by treating others as he does. See also Matt 19:17-19.

20:12 To honor your father and mother is to recognize that you are not self-sufficient and self-existent. This is one important step on the road to humility. Arrogance may produce notoriety, but humility and gratitude are the foundations of a long, full life. Both Jesus and Paul refer to this command (see Matt 15:4; Mark 7:10; Eph 6:1-3).

20:13 murder: This is the correct rendering of the Hebrew word. There is another word that connotes mere killing. Taking human life is not prohibited, per se, but the intentional killing of another for personal reasons is prohibited. This principle tells us that God values our individual, physical lives. Jesus expanded on this command in Matt 5:21-26.

20:14 adultery: Here this term represents all sexual sins, among which adultery most clearly indicates breaking faith. Adulterers satisfy their sexual desires as they please, and they break faith with their spouse in so doing. Jesus expanded on this command in Matt 5:27-30.

20:15 Stealing is another way of saying that I have an absolute right to my own way, whether I have earned it or not. From the divine side, the prohibition says that God values us even down to our possessions.

20:16 Not telling a lie can be a very individual act, and even a prideful one. But refusing to testify falsely against your neighbor is an unselfish act, in which your neighbor's reputation and well-being is more important to you than your own.

20:17 This final principle circles back to the first, for "a greedy person is an idolater" (Col 3:5). Covetousness is the worship of this world, the belief that possessions, especially those my neighbor possesses, will give me lasting happiness. To believe this is to break one's covenant of absolute loyalty to God, who alone supplies our needs. See also Rom 7:7.

¹⁸When the people heard the thunder and the loud blast of the ram's horn, and when they saw the flashes of lightning and the smoke billowing from the mountain, they stood at a distance, trembling with fear.

¹⁹And they said to Moses, "You speak to us, and we will listen. But don't let God speak directly to us, or we will die!"

²⁰"Don't be afraid," Moses answered them, "for God has come in this way to test you, and so that your fear of him will keep you from sinning!"

²¹As the people stood in the distance, Moses approached the dark cloud where God was.

Covenant Requirements for the People

(20:22–23:19)

Proper Use of Altars

²²And the LORD said to Moses, "Say this to the people of Israel: You saw for yourselves that I spoke to you from heaven. ²³Remember, you must not make any idols of silver or gold to rival me.

²⁴"Build for me an altar made of earth, and offer your sacrifices to me—your burnt offerings and peace offerings, your sheep and goats, and your cattle. Build my altar wherever I cause my name to be remembered, and I will come to you and bless you.

²⁵If you use stones to build my altar, use only natural, uncut stones. Do not shape the stones with a tool, for that would make the altar unfit for holy use. ²⁶And do not approach my altar by going up steps. If you do, someone might look up under your clothing and see your nakedness.

Fair Treatment of Slaves

21 "These are the regulations you must present to Israel.

²²"If you buy a Hebrew^a slave, he may serve for no more than six years. Set him free in the seventh year, and he will owe you nothing for his freedom. ³If he was single when he became your slave, he shall leave single. But if he was married before he became a slave, then his wife must be freed with him.

⁴"If his master gave him a wife while he was a slave and they had sons or daughters, then only the man will be free in the seventh year, but his wife and children will still belong to his master. ⁵But the 'slave may declare, 'I love my master, my wife, and my children. I don't want to go free.' ⁶If he does this, his master must present him before God. Then his master must take him to the door or doorpost and publicly pierce his ear with an awl. After that, the slave will serve his master for life.

⁷"When a man sells his daughter as a slave, she will not be freed at the end of six years

20:18

Exod 19:18

Heb 12:18

20:19

Deut 5:23-27

20:21

Deut 5:22

Ps 97:2

20:23

Exod 32:4

Deut 29:17-18

20:24

Exod 10:25; 18:12;

24:5

Lev 1:2

Deut 12:5

20:25

Deut 27:5-6

Josh 8:31

20:26

Exod 28:42

21:1

Deut 4:14

21:2-6

Lev 25:39-41

//Deut 15:12-18

21:2

Jer 34:14

^bebed (5650)

→ Exod 21:5

21:5

Deut 15:16

^cebed (5650)

→ Exod 21:20

21:6

Exod 22:8-9

Deut 15:17

21:7

Neh 5:5

20:18-26 This interlude is about access to God. The first part (20:18-21) deals with the need for a mediator between the people and God. In 20:22-26, we find the appropriate form for an altar in the interval before God revealed his plans for a more permanent sanctuary (see 25:1–30:28).

20:18-21 The people were very conscious of their sinfulness before a holy God and begged Moses to stand between them and God. Moses pointed out that God's goal was neither to overawe them nor to destroy them. Rather, he wanted their awe of him to keep them from sinning (20:20). Jesus is the ultimate mediator between God and people (1 Tim 2:5).

20:22-26 The LORD is transcendent, as shown by his speaking to the people in a disembodied voice from heaven (20:22). This would have two effects upon their practice: They were not to use silver or gold to make gods in human form (idols, 20:23), and they were not to carve stones for an altar (20:25). Perhaps this is because they would be tempted to carve stone gods in the process. The altar was to be made of earth (20:24) and uncut stones (20:25). • The prohibition against revealing one's nakedness (20:26) might have been to separate Israelite religious practice from the nature worship around them. Sexual activity was an integral part of many Canaanite rituals.

21:1–23:33 The terms of the covenant are now expanded. The beginning section (21:1–23:19) gives specific examples of the general principles stated in 20:3-17. The commitments to which God bound himself if the Israelites kept their side of the covenant are stated in 23:20-33, as are the blessings of obedience.

21:1–23:19 The statements found here are in the typical case-law format of ancient Near Eastern law codes (see "Ancient Law Codes" at 20:1–23:33, p. 163). This format begins with a hypothetical situation introduced by the word "if." The following statement of what is to be done in such a case is introduced by "then." While some cases are grouped into categories in these chapters, there is little attempt to separate personal, civil, or ceremonial laws from one another. For God, life is not compartmentalized. All of life is lived in relationship to God, so all kinds of behavior signify whether we are in loving submission to him or in defiance of him.

21:1-11 Slavery was a fact of life in the ancient world. In some cases, it was the only resort for those who were destitute.

In much of the ancient world, people who were slaves felt that the gods had abandoned them. But the Lord cares about those who are in this helpless condition, so his covenant people must care also. Ultimately, the revelation that Jesus Christ had died for all people everywhere would make the practice of slavery untenable (Gal 3:28).

21:2 A man might sell himself into slavery in order to get money to pay his debts. This law states that the man was never to become the permanent property of the master.

21:3 If a man and a wife went into slavery together, they were also to go free together.

21:4-6 The master was not required to provide a slave with a wife who would then be freed with him. The slave in such a situation had to either abandon the family he began while he was a slave or become a permanent slave.

21:6 before God: Or before the judges.

21:7-9 A female slave was treated differently from a male, possibly because it was understood that she was sold to become a concubine. For such a woman to be released after seven years would not be just. She would either have to return to her father

21:10
1 Cor 7:3, 5

21:12
Gen 9:6
Lev 24:21

21:13
Num 35:22
Deut 19:4-5
Josh 20:9

21:14
Num 35:30-31
1 Kgs 2:28-34

21:16
Deut 24:7

21:17
Lev 20:9
Deut 5:16
*Matt 15:4
*Mark 7:10

21:20
*ebed (5650)
*Exod 21:26

21:21
Lev 25:44-46

21:23
Lev 24:19

21:24
Lev 24:20
*Matt 5:38

21:26
Job 31:13
*ebed (5650)
*Exod 21:32

21:28
Gen 9:5

21:32
Gen 37:28
Zech 11:12-13
Matt 26:15; 27:3, 9
*ebed (5650)
*Lev 25:6

as the men are. ⁸If she does not satisfy her owner, he must allow her to be bought back again. But he is not allowed to sell her to foreigners, since he is the one who broke the contract with her. ⁹But if the slave's owner arranges for her to marry his son, he may no longer treat her as a slave but as a daughter.

¹⁰If a man who has married a slave wife takes another wife for himself, he must not neglect the rights of the first wife to food, clothing, and sexual intimacy. ¹¹If he fails in any of these three obligations, she may leave as a free woman without making any payment.

Cases of Personal Injury

¹²"Anyone who assaults and kills another person must be put to death. ¹³But if it was simply an accident permitted by God, I will appoint a place of refuge where the slayer can run for safety. ¹⁴However, if someone deliberately kills another person, then the slayer must be dragged even from my altar and be put to death.

¹⁵"Anyone who strikes father or mother must be put to death.

¹⁶"Kidnappers must be put to death, whether they are caught in possession of their victims or have already sold them as slaves.

¹⁷"Anyone who dishonors father or mother must be put to death.

¹⁸"Now suppose two men quarrel, and one hits the other with a stone or fist, and the injured person does not die but is confined to bed. ¹⁹If he is later able to walk outside again, even with a crutch, the assailant will not be punished but must compensate his victim for lost wages and provide for his full recovery.

²⁰"If a man beats his male or female ^aslave with a club and the slave dies as a result, the owner must be punished. ²¹But if the slave recovers within a day or two, then the owner shall not be punished, since the slave is his property.

²²"Now suppose two men are fighting, and in the process they accidentally strike a pregnant woman so she gives birth prematurely. If no further injury results, the man who struck the woman must pay the amount of compensation the woman's husband demands and the judges approve. ²³But if there is further injury, the punishment must match the injury: a life for a life, ²⁴an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, a hand for a hand, a foot for a foot, ²⁵a burn for a burn, a wound for a wound, a bruise for a bruise.

²⁶"If a man hits his male or female ^aslave in the eye and the eye is blinded, he must let the slave go free to compensate for the eye. ²⁷And if a man knocks out the tooth of his male or female slave, he must let the slave go free to compensate for the tooth.

²⁸"If an ox gores a man or woman to death, the ox must be stoned, and its flesh may not be eaten. In such a case, however, the owner will not be held liable. ²⁹But suppose the ox had a reputation for goring, and the owner had been informed but failed to keep it under control. If the ox then kills someone, it must be stoned, and the owner must also be put to death. ³⁰However, the dead person's relatives may accept payment to compensate for the loss of life. The owner of the ox may redeem his life by paying whatever is demanded.

³¹"The same regulation applies if the ox gores a boy or a girl. ³²But if the ox gores a slave, either male or female, the animal's

(who clearly did not want her, having previously sold her), marry (an unlikely prospect for a former concubine), or become a prostitute. Thus, it was best for her to remain in the home of her master. Presumably, if a man bought a girl to be his son's wife (21:9), it was understood that the purchase price was not actually buying her, but was the equivalent of a bride-price. Typically, a young man wishing to marry a girl had to give her father a gift of some sort, either money or a gift in kind (see 22:16; Gen 24:53). A woman for whom a bride-price had been paid was not a slave.

21:12-17 The crimes of murder, kidnapping, and dishonoring one's parents warranted the death penalty. A murderer forfeits his own life, and human life is so precious that even an accidental death cannot be overlooked.

The place of refuge (see Num 35:6-28) was a place where an accidental killer could go so that the family of the deceased could not take vengeance on him (see notes on Num 35:6-34).

21:14 dragged . . . from my altar: See 1 Kgs 2:28-33.

21:17 Anyone who dishonors: Greek version reads Anyone who speaks disrespectfully of. Cp. Matt 15:4; Mark 7:10. See note on Lev 20:9; see also Exod 20:12; Deut 5:16; 21:18-21; Eph 6:1-4.

21:18-27 These laws governed compensation for injuries that did not lead to death.

21:22-25 so she gives birth prematurely: Or so she has a miscarriage; literally so her children come out. • It appears that if a child's birth was caused prematurely and the child died (i.e., there was further injury), the penalty for murder was to be enacted. The law of retaliation (the lex talionis) called for a penalty that matched the injury inflicted on a victim. But this law also served to limit the punishment so it was not more severe than the original injury. Cp. Matt 5:38-39.

21:28-32 If an animal caused a person's death and the owner was judged to be negligent, the relatives of the deceased could demand the death penalty for both the animal and its owner. However, that penalty was not mandatory, and the relatives could elect to accept compensation (21:30).

21:28 ox: Or bull, or cow; also in 21:29-36.

21:32 thirty silver coins: Literally 30 shekels of silver, about 12 ounces or 342 grams in weight.

owner must pay the slave's owner thirty silver coins, and the ox must be stoned.

³³Suppose someone digs or uncovers a pit and fails to cover it, and then an ox or a donkey falls into it. ³⁴The owner of the pit must pay full compensation to the owner of the animal, but then he gets to keep the dead animal.

³⁵If someone's ox injures a neighbor's ox and the injured ox dies, then the two owners must sell the live ox and divide the price equally between them. They must also divide the dead animal. ³⁶But if the ox had a reputation for goring, yet its owner failed to keep it under control, he must pay full compensation—a live ox for the dead one—but he may keep the dead ox.

Protection of Property

22“If someone steals an ox or sheep and then kills or sells it, the thief must pay back five oxen for each ox stolen, and four sheep for each sheep stolen.

²²If a thief is caught in the act of breaking into a house and is struck and killed in the process, the person who killed the thief is not guilty of murder. ³But if it happens in daylight, the one who killed the thief is guilty of murder.

“A thief who is caught must pay in full for everything he stole. If he cannot pay, he must be sold as a slave to pay for his theft. ⁴If someone steals an ox or a donkey or a sheep and it is found in the thief's possession, then the thief must pay double the value of the stolen animal.

⁵If an animal is grazing in a field or vineyard and the owner lets it stray into someone else's field to graze, then the animal's owner must pay compensation from the best of his own grain or grapes.

⁶If you are burning thornbushes and the fire gets out of control and spreads into another person's field, destroying the sheaves or the uncut grain or the whole crop, the one who started the fire must pay for the lost crop.

⁷Suppose someone leaves money or goods with a neighbor for safekeeping, and they are stolen from the neighbor's house. If the thief is caught, the compensation is double the value of what was stolen. ⁸But if the thief is not caught, the neighbor must appear before God, who will determine if he stole the property.

⁹Suppose there is a dispute between two people who both claim to own a particular ox, donkey, sheep, article of clothing, or any lost property. Both parties must come before God, and the person whom God declares guilty must pay double compensation to the other.

¹⁰Now suppose someone leaves a donkey, ox, sheep, or any other animal with a neighbor for safekeeping, but it dies or is injured or is taken away, and no one sees what happened.

¹¹The neighbor must then take an oath in the presence of the LORD. If the LORD confirms that the neighbor did not steal the property, the owner must accept the verdict, and no payment will be required. ¹²But if the animal was indeed stolen, the guilty person must pay compensation to the owner. ¹³If it was torn to pieces by a wild animal, the remains of the carcass must be shown as evidence, and no compensation will be required.

¹⁴If someone borrows an animal from a neighbor and it is injured or dies when the owner is absent, the person who borrowed it must pay full compensation. ¹⁵But if the owner was present, no compensation is required. And no compensation is required if the animal was rented, for this loss is covered by the rental fee.

Social Responsibility

¹⁶If a man seduces a virgin who is not engaged to anyone and has sex with her, he must pay the customary bride price and marry her. ¹⁷But if her father refuses to let him marry her, the man must still pay him an amount equal to the bride price of a virgin.

¹⁸You must not allow a sorceress to live.

¹⁹Anyone who has sexual relations with an animal must certainly be put to death.

²⁰Anyone who ^asacrifices to any god other than the LORD must be ^bdestroyed.

21:33
Luke 14:5

22:1
Lev 6:1-7
2 Sam 12:6
Prov 6:31
Luke 19:8

22:2
Num 35:26-27

22:3
Exod 21:2

22:4
Prov 6:31
Jer 2:26
John 12:6

22:5
Exod 21:34

22:7
Lev 6:1-7

22:8
Exod 21:6
Deut 17:8-9; 19:17

22:9
Deut 25:1

22:13
Gen 31:39

22:16-17
Deut 22:28-29

22:18
Lev 20:27
Deut 18:10

22:19
Lev 18:23; 20:15

22:20
Exod 32:8; 34:15
^a*ʿazabakh* (2076)
^bExod 23:18
^c*ḥkham* (2763)
^dLev 27:28

21:33–22:15 In cases involving loss of property, the responsible person had to pay compensation equal to the value of what was lost. If the person had actually stolen the property, the compensation was multiplied (22:1, 4, 7). Where there was a question of responsibility, the parties were to appear before God for adjudication (22:8). The means by which the judgment was reached is not reported.

22:1 Verse 22:1 is numbered 21:37 in the Hebrew text. • ox: Or bull, or cow; also in 22:4, 9, 10.

22:2-31 Verses 22:2-31 are numbered 22:1-30 in the Hebrew text.

22:8 before God: Or before the judges.

22:9 before God, and the person whom God declares guilty: Or before the judges, and the person whom the judges declare guilty.

22:16-31 These miscellaneous cases involving social responsibility are not categorized. All parts of life are an expression of one's obedience to God (see note on 21:1–23:19).

22:16-17 bride price: See note on 21:7-9.

22:18 The practices of a sorceress represented the pagan worldview from which God was delivering his people. That worldview was utterly incompatible with the biblical one (see 20:3; 23:13).

22:20 must be destroyed: The Hebrew term used here refers to the complete

22:21
Lev 19:33

22:22
Deut 24:17-18

22:25
Lev 25:35-37
Deut 23:19-20

22:26
Deut 24:6, 10-13

22:28
Lev 24:15-16
Acts 23:5

22:29
Exod 13:2; 23:16, 19;
34:20
Deut 26:2

22:30
Gen 17:12
Lev 12:3; 22:27

22:31
Exod 19:6
Lev 7:24; 17:15; 22:8

21" You must not mistreat or oppress foreigners in any way. Remember, you yourselves were once foreigners in the land of Egypt.

22" You must not exploit a widow or an orphan. 23 If you exploit them in any way and they cry out to me, then I will certainly hear their cry. 24 My anger will blaze against you, and I will kill you with the sword. Then your wives will be widows and your children fatherless.

25 If you lend money to any of my people who are in need, do not charge interest as a money lender would. 26 If you take your neighbor's cloak as security for a loan, you must return it before sunset. 27 This coat may be the only blanket your neighbor has. How can a person sleep without it? If you do not return it and your neighbor cries out to me for help, then I will hear, for I am merciful.

28" You must not dishonor God or curse any of your rulers.

29" You must not hold anything back when you give me offerings from your crops and your wine.

"You must give me your firstborn sons.

30" You must also give me the firstborn of your cattle, sheep, and goats. But leave the newborn animal with its mother for seven days; then give it to me on the eighth day.

31" You must be my holy people. Therefore, do not eat any animal that has been torn up and killed by wild animals. Throw it to the dogs.

Ancient Law Codes (20:1–23:33)

Exod 34:1–35:3
Lev 1:1–27:34
Deut 4:1–33:29
Ezra 1:1–4
Esth 1:13–19; 8:9–14
Dan 6:6–9
Luke 2:1–3

Until the late 1800s, the law of Moses was believed to be a unique code of law, existing nearly a thousand years before anything comparable in the Greek and Roman laws. Excavations in Persia in the late 1800s, however, uncovered laws set forth by the Babylonian king Hammurabi (the 1700s BC) some 300 years prior to Moses. Surprisingly, a number of the laws in that list are almost identical to those in the Bible. Though this seemed to imply that the biblical laws had been taken from Hammurabi, subsequent discoveries produced law codes preceding Hammurabi's by at least 500 years, and several laws are common to all of them, so Hammurabi did not originate them either.

What does this mean for the Bible? First, it is not surprising that we find similar laws from cultures neighboring Israel; similar societies require similar codes of conduct in order to ensure justice. Second, it is unique that the biblical laws are incorporated in a covenant with God. Elsewhere in the ancient Near East, religious laws (about sacrifice, prayers, offerings, etc.) and civil laws (covering theft, lying, sexual conduct, murder, etc.) were completely unrelated because ethics and religion were considered separate domains. Religion was a matter of prayer, devotion, offerings, and ritual behavior—the territory of priests. Ethics concerned social and civil behavior—the business of the king. The biblical view of things is different. A person who is in a relationship with the true God must not only participate in proper worship (religion), but also treat other people rightly (ethics).

Israel's covenant with God made use of existing forms but invested them with new meaning. For example, the basic layout of Israel's Tabernacle (chs 26–27) and Temple (see 1 Kgs 6–7) were the same as elsewhere in the ancient world, and the basic forms of the Hebrew sacrifices (see Lev 1–7) were largely identical to the forms of pagan sacrifices. But the meaning and purpose of the Temple and the sacrifices were significantly different from the meaning and purpose of such things in paganism (see notes on 20:3–17; 25:1–40:38; Lev 1–7).

While many of the laws of Moses were not new to the world at that time, the idea that the behavior they called for is written into the very fabric of the universe by its Creator was radically new.

consecration of things or people to the LORD, either by destroying them or by giving them as an offering. See also Lev 27:28–29.

22:21 The Hebrews were to treat foreigners kindly because they, too, had once been foreigners (see also 23:9; Deut 10:18–19). For further development of the principle, see Luke 6:31.

22:22–23 The widow, the orphan, and the foreigner were in a helpless and economically disadvantaged position. God, by his protective stance toward these persons, demonstrated that he does not value people on the basis of their power or wealth, the standards accepted by most humans. Instead, God values people because they share his image (Gen 1:27).

22:25–27 Although interest could not be charged on a loan to another Israelite, collateral, or security, could be required.

However, even the security had to be handled in a humane way. The requirements of the covenant mirrored the character of God.

22:30 God is considerate even of animals (see Jon 4:11).

22:31 Because of the symbolic significance of blood as life itself, God forbade eating meat with the blood still in it (see Lev 17:10–16).

A Call for Justice

23“You must not pass along false rumors. You must not cooperate with evil people by lying on the witness stand.

²“You must not follow the crowd in doing wrong. When you are called to testify in a dispute, do not be swayed by the crowd to twist justice. ³And do not slant your testimony in favor of a person just because that person is poor.

⁴“If you come upon your enemy’s ox or donkey that has strayed away, take it back to its owner. ⁵If you see that the donkey of someone who hates you has collapsed under its load, do not walk by. Instead, stop and help.

⁶“In a lawsuit, you must not deny justice to the poor.

⁷“Be sure never to charge anyone falsely with evil. Never sentence an innocent or blameless person to death, for I never declare a guilty person to be innocent.

⁸“Take no bribes, for a bribe makes you ignore something that you clearly see. A bribe makes even a righteous person twist the truth.

⁹“You must not oppress foreigners. You know what it’s like to be a foreigner, for you yourselves were once foreigners in the land of Egypt.

Ceremonial Requirements

¹⁰“Plant and harvest your crops for six years, ¹¹but let the land be renewed and lie uncultivated during the seventh year. Then let the poor among you harvest whatever grows on its own. Leave the rest for wild animals to eat. The same applies to your vineyards and olive groves.

¹²“You have six days each week for your ordinary work, but on the seventh day you must stop working. This gives your ox and your donkey a chance to rest. It also allows your slaves and the foreigners living among you to be refreshed.

¹³“Pay close attention to all my instructions. You must not call on the name of any other gods. Do not even speak their names.

¹⁴“Each year you must celebrate three festivals in my honor. ¹⁵First, celebrate the Festival of Unleavened Bread. For seven days the bread you eat must be made without yeast, just as I commanded you. Celebrate this festival annually at the appointed time in early spring, in the month of Abib, for that is the anniversary of your departure from Egypt. No one may appear before me without an offering.

¹⁶“Second, celebrate the Festival of Harvest, when you bring me the first crops of your harvest.

“Finally, celebrate the Festival of the Final Harvest at the end of the harvest season, when you have harvested all the crops from your fields. ¹⁷At these three times each year, every man in Israel must appear before the Sovereign, the LORD.

¹⁸“You must not offer the blood of my sacrificial offerings together with any baked goods containing yeast. And do not leave the fat from the festival offerings until the next morning.

23:1
Exod 20:16
Ps 35:11

23:2
Deut 1:17; 16:19

23:4-5
Deut 22:1-4

23:6
Exod 23:2-3

23:7
Exod 20:13, 16
Deut 27:25

23:8
Deut 16:19

23:9
Exod 22:21
Lev 19:33-34

23:10
Lev 25:3

23:11
Lev 25:1-7

23:12
Exod 20:8-11

23:13
Deut 4:9, 23

23:14
Exod 34:23-24
Deut 16:16

23:15
Exod 12:15; 13:4
Lev 23:5
khag (2282)
→ Exod 23:16

23:16
Exod 34:22
Lev 23:34
Deut 16:13
khag (2282)
→ Deut 16:10

23:17
Deut 16:16

23:18
Exod 12:8; 34:25
Lev 2:11
kzabakh (2076)
→ Num 15:8

23:1-9 This call for justice includes a miscellaneous list of covenant requirements, most of which have to do with fairness and integrity.

23:1-3 It is necessary to give true witness, even under the pressure of evil people (23:1), the crowd (23:2), or misguided motives (23:3, 7-8).

23:7 God’s character is the motive for righteous behavior (see 22:22-24, 27).

23:9 See note on 22:21.

23:10-12 Renewal, rest (23:12), and refreshment are important. Just as humans and animals are to enjoy these in the weekly Sabbath, so the land is to be given rest every seven years (23:10-11; see note on 20:8-11).

23:13 See 20:3; 22:18 and notes.

23:14-17 God’s command was that every man in Israel must appear before . . . the LORD (23:17), that is, at the Tabernacle, three times each year. While all the people were camped around the Tabernacle in the wilderness, this requirement did not create any problems. Later, when the people were dispersed throughout the land at a distance from the Tabernacle (later the Temple), it was more difficult. The stipulation seems to have been intended to keep the people from building local worship centers, which would splinter them as a people and allow for pagan influences on the worship of Yahweh. Sadly, these stipulations were not carefully carried out (see, e.g., 2 Kgs 23:21-23).

23:15 appointed time in early spring, in the month of Abib: Literally appointed time in the month of Abib. This first month of the ancient Hebrew lunar calendar usually occurs within the months of March and April. See also 13:4-5; Lev 23:5-8; Deut 16:1-8.

23:16 Festival of Harvest: Or Festival of Weeks. This festival was later called the Festival of Pentecost (see Acts 2:1). It is celebrated today as Shavuot (or Shabuoth). The Festival of Harvest was celebrated seven weeks after Passover, around the end of the barley harvest and the beginning of the wheat harvest (mid-May to mid-June). In postbiblical Judaism, this festival commemorated the giving of the Sinai Covenant, which was calculated to have occurred fifty days after the first Passover in Egypt (see Lev 23:15-21; Deut 16:9-12). • Festival of the Final Harvest: Or Festival of Ingathering. This festival was later called the Festival of Shelters or Festival of Tabernacles (see Lev 23:33-36). It is celebrated today as Sukkot (or Succoth). The Festival of Final Harvest was celebrated on the fifteenth day of the seventh month of the Hebrew calendar (mid-September to mid-October), after the final harvest of grapes was complete. This festival commemorated the wilderness wanderings when God provided for his people.

23:18 Blood symbolized life (Lev 17:11-14; Deut 12:23), so blood must not be mixed with yeast, which was not normally included in offerings (see note on Lev 2:11). • The fat, considered the best part of the offering, was to be burned at once (see Lev 3:3-5).

23:19
Exod 22:29
Deut 14:21

23:20
Exod 32:34

23:21
Exod 3:14; 34:5
Num 14:10-11

23:22
Num 24:9
Deut 30:7

23:23
Josh 24:8, 11

23:24
Exod 20:5; 34:13

23:25
Exod 15:26
Lev 26:3-13
Deut 7:12-15; 28:1-14

23:27
Gen 35:5
Exod 15:14
Deut 7:23

23:28
Deut 7:20

23:29-30
Deut 7:22

23:31
Gen 15:18
Josh 21:44; 24:12, 18

23:32
Deut 7:2

23:33
Deut 7:1-5, 16

24:1
Exod 6:23; 19:24

24:2
Num 12:6-8

24:3
Exod 19:8; 24:7
Deut 5:27; 11:1

¹⁹As you harvest your crops, bring the very best of the first harvest to the house of the LORD your God.

"You must not cook a young goat in its mother's milk.

The Lord's Covenant Promises (23:20-33)

²⁰See, I am sending an angel before you to protect you on your journey and lead you safely to the place I have prepared for you. ²¹Pay close attention to him, and obey his instructions. Do not rebel against him, for he is my representative, and he will not forgive your rebellion. ²²But if you are careful to obey him, following all my instructions, then I will be an enemy to your enemies, and I will oppose those who oppose you. ²³For my angel will go before you and bring you into the land of the Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, Canaanites, Hivites, and Jebusites, so you may live there. And I will destroy them completely. ²⁴You must not worship the gods of these nations or serve them in any way or imitate their evil practices. Instead, you must utterly destroy them and smash their sacred pillars.

²⁵"You must serve only the LORD your God. If you do, I will bless you with food and water, and I will protect you from illness. ²⁶There will be no miscarriages or infertility in your land, and I will give you long, full lives.

²⁷"I will send my terror ahead of you and create panic among all the people whose lands you invade. I will make all your enemies turn and run. ²⁸I will send terror ahead of you to drive out the Hivites, Canaanites, and Hittites. ²⁹But I will not drive them out in a single year, because the land would become desolate and the wild animals would multiply and threaten you. ³⁰I will drive them out a little at a time until your population has increased enough to take possession of the land. ³¹And I will fix your boundaries from the Red Sea to the Mediterranean Sea, and from the eastern wilderness to the Euphrates River. I will hand over to you the people now living in the land, and you will drive them out ahead of you.

³²"Make no treaties with them or their gods. ³³They must not live in your land, or they will cause you to sin against me. If you serve their gods, you will be caught in the trap of idolatry."

Israel Accepts the Lord's Covenant (24:1-18)

24 Then the LORD instructed Moses: "Come up here to me, and bring along Aaron, Nadab, Abihu, and seventy of Israel's elders. All of you must worship from a distance. ²Only Moses is allowed to come near to the LORD. The others must not come near, and none of the other people are allowed to climb up the mountain with him."

³Then Moses went down to the people and repeated all the instructions and 23:19 The significance of the command not to cook a young goat in its mother's milk is unknown. Its inclusion at this point suggests that it may have been a pagan religious practice.

23:20-33 If the people kept the covenant stipulations just listed, the Covenant Lord agreed to protect them from enemies (23:22-23) and from illness (23:25-26) and give them a land to possess (23:27-31). These covenant promises were contingent upon absolute loyalty to the Covenant Lord. In particular, it would be an act of rebellion (23:21) to worship the gods (23:24, 32-33) of the dispossessed peoples.

23:20-23 an angel: Probably the "Angel of the Lord," who was often a manifestation of the Lord himself (see 3:2).

23:23 See note on 3:8.

23:24 In Canaanite worship, sacred pillars were erected to represent the deities. Sometimes they would have a human likeness carved on them.

23:25 I will bless: As translated from the Greek and Latin versions; Hebrew reads he will bless.

23:26 Pagan rites were carried out in an attempt to manipulate the forces of fertility and reproduction. God promised to give these gifts freely if the people would faithfully carry out the terms of their covenant with him.

23:28 terror: Often rendered the hornet. The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain, but it probably does not refer to stinging insects.

23:29-31 I will: God, not Israel, would take the land. The land would be a gift from their Covenant Lord. Israel was being granted possession of it as long as they faithfully fulfilled the covenant.

23:31 from the Red Sea to the Mediterranean Sea (literally from the sea of reeds to the sea of the Philistines) . . . from the eastern wilderness to the Euphrates River (literally from the wilderness to the river): See Gen 15:18; Num 34:2-12; Deut 11:24; 2 Chr 9:26.

• I will hand over to you the people: God had promised the land to Abraham (Gen 15:16). At that time, "the sin of the Amorites" had not yet run its course. Now it had. God was not arbitrarily dispossessing the Amorites (i.e., the Canaanites), but was using his people, the Israelites, to judge their wickedness.

23:33 they will cause you to sin against me: The Canaanites were to be destroyed because there could be no truce between a holy God and sin. Furthermore, the continuance of God's revelation, which was to culminate in the incarnation of Jesus Christ, depended on the survival of that revelation through the people of Israel. If they fell back into paganism, that could not happen.

24:1-18 Israel agreed to the terms of the covenant (24:3), which was then ratified in several ceremonial activities. This included the formal writing and reading of the covenant (24:4, 7), the splattering of blood (24:6), a covenant meal (24:11), and the appearing of the glory of the LORD on the mountain (24:15-18).

24:1-2 Some commentators suggest that Moses, Aaron, Nadab, Abihu, and the elders made two trips up the mountain, here and in 24:9-11. However, this command was probably given in advance and obeyed at the proper time in 24:9.

24:3 went down: At this critical moment, would the people accept this relationship with God in which they would swear absolute loyalty to him and agree to live in ways that are in keeping with his character? Fortunately, they answered unanimously, with one voice, that they would abide by the covenant.

regulations the LORD had given him. All the people answered with one voice, "We will do everything the LORD has commanded."

⁴Then Moses carefully wrote down all the LORD's instructions. Early the next morning Moses got up and built an altar at the foot of the mountain. He also set up twelve pillars, one for each of the twelve tribes of Israel. ⁵Then he sent some of the young Israelite men to present burnt offerings and to sacrifice bulls as peace offerings to the LORD. ⁶Moses drained half the blood from these animals into basins. The other half he splattered against the altar.

⁷Then he took the Book of the Covenant and read it aloud to the people. Again they all responded, "We will do everything the LORD has commanded. We will obey."

⁸Then Moses took the blood from the basins and splattered it over the people, declaring, "Look, this blood confirms the covenant the LORD has made with you in giving you these instructions."

⁹Then Moses, Aaron, Nadab, Abihu, and the seventy elders of Israel climbed up the mountain. ¹⁰There they saw the God of Israel. Under his feet there seemed to be a surface of brilliant blue lapis lazuli, as clear as the sky itself. ¹¹And though these nobles of Israel gazed upon God, he did not destroy them. In fact, they ate a covenant meal, eating and drinking in his presence!

¹²Then the LORD said to Moses, "Come up to me on the mountain. Stay there, and I will give you the tablets of stone on which I have inscribed the instructions and commands so you can teach the people." ¹³So Moses and his assistant Joshua set out, and Moses climbed up the mountain of God.

¹⁴Moses told the elders, "Stay here and wait for us until we come back. Aaron and Hur are here with you. If anyone has a dispute while I am gone, consult with them."

¹⁵Then Moses climbed up the mountain, and the cloud covered it. ¹⁶And the glory of the LORD settled down on Mount Sinai, and the cloud covered it for six days. On the seventh day the LORD called to Moses from inside the cloud. ¹⁷To the Israelites at the foot of the mountain, the glory of the LORD appeared at the summit like a consuming fire. ¹⁸Then Moses disappeared into the cloud as he climbed higher up the mountain. He remained on the mountain forty days and forty nights.

THE TABERNACLE: GOD'S PRESENCE (25:1–40:38)

Instructions for the Primary Structure (25:1–27:19)

Offerings for the Tabernacle

25 The LORD said to Moses, ²"Tell the people of Israel to bring me their sacred offerings. Accept the contributions

24:4
Deut 31:9

24:5
Exod 18:12

24:6
Heb 9:18

24:7
Exod 19:8; 24:3
Heb 9:19

24:8
Zech 9:11
Matt 26:28
1 Cor 11:25
*Heb 9:20
1 Pet 1:2

24:10
Exod 33:20
Num 12:8
Isa 6:5
Ezek 1:26

24:12
Exod 31:18; 32:15-16
Jer 31:33
2 Cor 3:3

24:13
Exod 17:9-14; 33:11
*Shurath (8334)
* Num 1:50

24:15
Exod 19:9

24:16
Exod 16:10
Num 14:10

24:17
Exod 3:2
Deut 4:24, 36
Heb 12:18, 29

24:18
Exod 34:28
Deut 9:9; 10:10
1 Kgs 19:8

25:1-7
//Exod 35:4-9

25:2
1 Chr 29:2-5
Ezra 2:68
Neh 7:70-72
2 Cor 8:11-12; 9:7

24:4 Pillars were erected as historical markers, witnessing in history that something momentous had occurred at a certain time at this place. In Hittite treaties, pagan gods were called upon to witness the agreement. In this case, the Hebrews were forbidden to recognize other gods, so pillars served the purpose.

24:6 When Moses splattered half of the blood of the sacrificial animals against the altar, he symbolized God's formal oath to keep the covenant (see Gen 15:9-18; Heb 6:13).

24:7 Treaties were required to be written down and publicly read . . . aloud. Very likely Moses began at this time to write down, under God's inspiration, all the things that he believed were authoritative documents for his people.

24:8 Look, this blood confirms the covenant (literally behold the blood of the covenant): Jesus repeated this sentence almost verbatim at the Last Supper (Matt 26:28), when he said, "This is my blood, which confirms the covenant" (literally "This is my blood of the covenant"). See also Heb 9:20.

24:10 There they saw . . . God: This statement must be interpreted in the light of 33:20. They saw some representation of God, the description of which is limited to the surface under his feet. When Isaiah saw God, the only description given was of the hem of his robe (Isa 6:1).

24:11 Around the world, then and now, the act of eating a meal together is often a sign of peace and good relations.

24:12 The instructions and commands to be inscribed on the tablets of stone were the ten basic principles of 20:3-17 (see 34:28) on which the specific stipulations of 21:1-23:33 depended.

24:14 See 18:13-27 and notes.

24:16 the glory of the LORD: See 16:7.

24:17 consuming fire: See 3:2 and note.

25:1–40:38 Unlike our churches, the Tabernacle functioned primarily as a residence or palace of God, the divine king, rather than as a place for people to congregate. In this respect, churches are more like the later Jewish synagogues (see also note on 40:2). This last section of Exodus completes the revelation of God necessary for the people of Israel to come out of the theological darkness that had held them in bondage. This final section includes instructions for building the Tabernacle (25:1–31:18), the story of the gold calf (a wrong attempt to secure God's presence, 32:1–34:35), and the report of building the Tabernacle (the proper way to secure God's presence, 35:1–40:38). God's ultimate goal in delivering the people from bondage was to share his presence with them. Because of his holiness, that presence could only be experienced in his way, not through the pagan way of human manipulation. The construction of the Tabernacle is reported here, even though some of the instructions in Leviticus were actually given before this event (see 40:1-2; Lev 25:1; 27:34; Num 7:1). This event expresses the goal of the entire Exodus sequence, which is God taking up residence among his people.

25:1–27:19 These instructions first indicate the materials the Israelites could contribute for the construction of the Tabernacle (25:3-7). The instructions then move from the center outward, beginning with the Ark of the Covenant (25:10-22) and concluding with the courtyard (27:9-19). Two items, the altar of incense in the sanctuary and the washbasin in the courtyard, are included later (30:1-10, 17-21), in the section relating to the priesthood, perhaps

25:6
Exod 27:20; 30:23, 34
25:8
Exod 29:45; 36:1-5
Deut 12:11
Rev 21:3

25:9
Acts 7:44
Heb 8:5
mishkan (4908)
Exod 35:11

25:10-20
//Exod 37:1-9

25:12
Exod 26:29; 27:7;
37:5; 38:7

25:13
Exod 30:5; 37:4; 40:20

25:15
1 Kgs 8:8

25:16
Exod 16:34
Heb 9:4

from all whose hearts are moved to offer them. ³Here is a list of sacred offerings you may accept from them:

- gold, silver, and bronze;
- ⁴ blue, purple, and scarlet thread;
- fine linen and goat hair for cloth;
- ⁵ tanned ram skins and fine goatskin leather;
- acacia wood;
- ⁶ olive oil for the lamps;
- spices for the anointing oil and the fragrant incense;
- ⁷ onyx stones, and other gemstones to be set in the ephod and the priest's chest-piece.

⁸"Have the people of Israel build me a holy sanctuary so I can live among them. ⁹You must build this ⁹Tabernacle and its furnishings exactly according to the pattern I will show you.

Plans for the Ark of the Covenant

¹⁰"Have the people make an Ark of acacia wood—a sacred chest 45 inches long, 27 inches wide, and 27 inches high. ¹¹Overlay it inside and outside with pure gold, and run a molding of gold all around it. ¹²Cast four gold rings and attach them to its four feet, two rings on each side. ¹³Make poles from acacia wood, and overlay them with gold. ¹⁴Insert the poles into the rings at the sides of the Ark to carry it. ¹⁵These carrying poles must stay inside the rings; never remove them. ¹⁶When the Ark is finished,

The Glory of God (24:15-17)

Exod 14:17-18; 16:6-12; 33:17-23
Lev 9:23-24; 10:1-3
Num 14:21-22
Deut 5:24
Josh 7:19
1 Kgs 8:11
2 Chr 7:1-3
Job 37:2-5
Ps 3:3; 8:4-6; 19:1; 29:3; 7:9; 48:8
Isa 6:3-5; 42:8; 43:7; 66:18-19
Jer 13:16
Ezek 1:28; 10:4
Hos 4:7
John 17:1-5
Rom 5:2
2 Cor 4:4
Col 1:27
Rev 21:10-11, 23-25

Glory has a rather different connotation in the OT than it does in English usage. The English word suggests something thin and passing—the glory of a sunset, the glory of last year's winning team. The root idea of the Hebrew word for glory is "heaviness" or "solidity." It connotes "significance" or "worth," the absolute opposite of "vanity" or "nothingness." When God's glory appears, it is not merely a bright light or a glittering cloud, but a visible expression of his absolute reality.

God's glory is the manifestation of his person, his power, and his majesty (see Ezek 1:28; 10:4). God's glory may be revealed in nature, such as in a thunderstorm (Job 37:2-5; Ps 29:3, 7) or in the plagues sent on the Egyptians (Num 14:21-22). God's glory can also be a unique manifestation, such as the revelation on Mount Sinai (Deut 5:24). At the dedication of the Tabernacle (40:34-35) and Solomon's Temple (1 Kgs 8:11), God's glory filled those structures, indicating his approval of them and that his presence would now reside there. Similarly, the glory of the Lord sent the fire that kindled the first sacrifices of the sanctuary (Lev 9:22-24).

When God reveals his glory to his creation (see, e.g., 24:16-18), it is often called a theophany. God gives limited (or veiled) glimpses of his glory because no one can see God and live (33:18-23; see also Isa 6:5). To "give glory" to God (Josh 7:19; Isa 24:15; Jer 13:16) means to speak or act in a manner that acknowledges who God is.

Christ is the glory and image of God (2 Cor 4:4), and he was glorified in his death and resurrection (John 17:1-5). When Christ appears again at last, he will further manifest God's glory in his restored Kingdom (Rev 21:11, 23). Paul declares that the presence of Christ in the lives of believers provides assurance that we will share in that glory (Rom 5:2; Col 1:27).

because their use was especially related to functions of the priests.

25:2 all whose hearts are moved: There is a marked difference in motivation between meeting needs in God's way and attempting to meet them in our own way, as when Aaron used coercion in creating the gold calf (see 32:1-4).

25:7 ephod: See 28:6-14 and notes.
• chestpiece: See 28:15-30 and notes.

25:8 a holy sanctuary: If the people were to have a life-giving relationship with God, it was absolutely vital that they learn how utterly different God was from them (see note on 3:5). • The purpose of this activity was so God could live among them.

25:9 exactly according to the pattern:

We do not determine for ourselves how we want to come into the presence of a holy God. If we come into his presence at all, it will be on his terms and in accord with his desires and character.

25:10-22 an Ark of acacia wood: In translating the plans for the Ark of the Covenant, the NLT continues to use the word Ark because of its traditional associations. However, ark is simply an archaic English word meaning "box." The Ark was Israel's "covenant box." It was the most significant item in the whole complex, because it was there that God made his presence available (25:22). The presence of the stone tablets of the covenant in the box (25:16, 21) underlined the truth that God reveals himself in the context of a mutually binding commitment between himself and his people. See illustration, p. 170.

25:10 45 inches long, 27 inches wide, and 27 inches high: Hebrew 2.5 cubits [115 centimeters] long, 1.5 cubits [69 centimeters] wide, and 1.5 cubits [69 centimeters] high.

25:12-15 The carrying poles were there so that no one would touch this representation of God's devastating holiness. Later, a death occurred when someone instinctively reached out to steady the Ark as it was being moved from one place to another (see 2 Sam 6:6-7).

25:16 When the Ark is finished, place inside it the stone tablets inscribed with place inside it the stone tablets inscribed with the terms of the covenant, which I will give to you.

¹⁷Then make the Ark's cover—the place of atonement—from pure gold. It must be 45 inches long and 27 inches wide. ¹⁸Then make two cherubim from hammered gold, and place them on the two ends of the atonement cover. ¹⁹Mold the cherubim on each end of the atonement cover, making it all of one piece of gold. ²⁰The cherubim will face each other and look down on the atonement cover. With their wings spread above it, they will protect it. ²¹Place inside the Ark the stone tablets inscribed with the terms of the covenant, which I will give to you. Then put the atonement cover on top of the Ark. ²²I will meet with you there and talk to you from above the atonement cover between the gold cherubim that hover over the Ark of the Covenant. From there I will give you my commands for the people of Israel.

Plans for the Table

²³Then make a table of acacia wood, 36 inches long, 18 inches wide, and 27 inches high. ²⁴Overlay it with pure gold and run a gold molding around the edge. ²⁵Decorate it with a 3-inch border all around, and run a gold molding along the border. ²⁶Make four gold rings for the table and attach them at the four corners next to the four legs. ²⁷Attach the rings near the border to hold the poles that are used to carry the table. ²⁸Make these poles from acacia wood, and overlay

25:17
Exod 37:6
Lev 16:13
Rom 3:25
Heb 9:5

25:18
kerub (3742)
Exod 25:20

25:20
1 Kgs 8:7
Heb 9:5
kerub (3742)
Num 7:89

25:21
Exod 26:34

25:22
Exod 30:6, 36
Lev 1:1
aron (0727)
Exod 40:20

25:23-29
Exod 37:10-16

The Tabernacle (25:1-9)

Exod 26:1-37;
35:4-36:38; 38:21-31;
39:32-40:35
2 Chr 3:1-7:22
Heb 9:1-28

From the very beginning of creation, God's plan was to share his life with humanity and allow people the joy of fellowship with him. However, the entrance of sin into the world (Gen 3) created a serious obstacle to realizing that goal, for if sinful people were to come into the presence of God, his holiness would destroy them. The Tabernacle provided a temporary means by which the Israelites could enjoy God's presence without being destroyed by it (25:8).

The Tabernacle shows us in tangible ways what is required to enter God's presence. The altar shows us that sin must be removed through a sacrificial death. The washbasin shows that fellowship with God demands removing uncleanness, that is, anything that conflicts with God's ethical perfection. In the Holy Place, the lampstand and the table show that we must walk in God's light and rely on him to provide for our needs. The incense altar represents prayer, and the constantly rising incense reminds those who are forgiven and washed, who are walking in his light and relying constantly on him, that they have unlimited access to him. The curtain between the Holy Place and the Most Holy Place reminds us that the Almighty, the most holy God who invites us into fellowship, cannot be approached casually. Behind the curtain, there is no idol, but the glorious Ark of the Covenant, over which God's glory appeared, symbolizing his enthronement as Israel's king. The centrality of the Ark reflects God's central purpose for his people—a covenant relationship with the living God.

Our new covenant relationship with God is made possible by Jesus' perfect sacrifice for sin and his ministry as our high priest before God (see especially Heb 9–10). He has fulfilled the requirements that are illustrated by the ancient Tabernacle.

the terms of the covenant (literally Place inside the Ark the Testimony; similarly in 25:21): The Hebrew word for "testimony" refers to the terms of the Lord's covenant with Israel as written on the stone tablets, and also to the covenant itself.

25:17 The word translated atonement means "to cover over." The cover of the covenant box was the place of "covering over" sin (see Lev 16:14-16). • 45 inches long and 27 inches wide: Hebrew 2.5 cubits [115 centimeters] long and 1.5 cubits [69 centimeters] wide.

25:18 The appearance of the cherubim is not described except to say that they had wings (25:20; see 2 Chr 3:10-13).

25:22 I will meet with you there: The Ark was located in the innermost part of the sanctuary (26:33), which was in effect God's throne room (see note on Lev 16:2). In a comparable pagan sanctuary, one would find an idol in this location. The Tabernacle had no idol, only a box that physically represented the covenant faithfulness and grace of God. God meets his people in that context, not in the context of idolatry. An idol reflects the belief that a deity is continuous with the created order and that it can be manipulated with the right ritual. It assumes that we can secure blessings from the deity without regard to our own character or commitment. But God is completely distinct from this world, and he cannot be manipulated in any way. He wants to bless us, but those blessings can only be given to those who receive his grace as a gift and surrender to him in trust.

• Ark of the Covenant: Or Ark of the Testimony; see note on 25:16.

25:23-30 The table of acacia wood stood on the north side of the main room of the sanctuary, the Holy Place (26:35). It reminded the people that God would provide sustenance for them. Above all, that sustenance was his presence (25:30). See illustration, p. 171.

25:23 36 inches long, 18 inches wide, and 27 inches high: Hebrew 2 cubits [92 centimeters] long, 1 cubit [46 centimeters] wide, and 1.5 cubits [69 centimeters] high.

25:25 a 3-inch border: Literally a border of a handbreadth [8 centimeters].

25:29
Exod 37:16
Num 4:7

25:30
Exod 39:36; 40:23
Lev 24:5-9
Num 4:7

25:31-39
//Exod 37:17-24

25:31
Exod 37:17
1 Kgs 7:49
Heb 9:2
Rev 1:12

25:37
Exod 27:21
Zech 4:2
Rev 1:4, 12, 20; 4:5

25:40
Acts 7:44
*Heb 8:5

26:1-37
//Exod 36:8-38

26:3
Exod 36:10

26:5
Exod 36:12

26:7
Exod 36:14

them with gold. ²⁹Make special containers of pure gold for the table—bowls, ladles, pitchers, and jars—to be used in pouring out liquid offerings. ³⁰Place the Bread of the Presence on the table to remain before me at all times.

Plans for the Lampstand

³¹"Make a lampstand of pure, hammered gold. Make the entire lampstand and its decorations of one piece—the base, center stem, lamp cups, buds, and petals. ³²Make it with six branches going out from the center stem, three on each side. ³³Each of the six branches will have three lamp cups shaped like almond blossoms, complete with buds and petals. ³⁴Craft the center stem of the lampstand with four lamp cups shaped like almond blossoms, complete with buds and petals. ³⁵There will also be an almond bud beneath each pair of branches where the six branches extend from the center stem. ³⁶The almond buds and branches must all be of one piece with the center stem, and they must be hammered from pure gold. ³⁷Then make the seven lamps for the lampstand, and set them so they reflect their light forward. ³⁸The lamp snuffers and trays must also be made of pure gold. ³⁹You will need seventy-five pounds of pure gold for the lampstand and its accessories.

⁴⁰"Be sure that you make everything according to the pattern I have shown you here on the mountain.

Plans for the Tabernacle

26"Make the Tabernacle from ten curtains of finely woven linen. Decorate the curtains with blue, purple, and scarlet thread and with skillfully embroidered cherubim. ²These ten curtains must all be exactly the same size—42 feet long and 6 feet wide. ³Join five of these curtains together to make one long curtain, then join the other five into a second long curtain. ⁴Put loops of blue yarn along the edge of the last curtain in each set. ⁵The fifty loops along the edge of one curtain are to match the fifty loops along the edge of the other curtain. ⁶Then make fifty gold clasps and fasten the long curtains together with the clasps. In this way, the Tabernacle will be made of one continuous piece.

⁷"Make eleven curtains of goat-hair cloth to serve as a tent covering for the Tabernacle. ⁸These eleven curtains must all be

◀ The Tabernacle (26:1-37). The construction of the Tabernacle and its accessories is described in chs 36–40.

25:29 The liquid offerings included olive oil and wine (see 29:40).

25:31-39 The lampstand of pure, hammered gold stood on the south side of the Holy Place (26:35). It showed the light of God's presence to his people. The lamps (25:37) were flat dishes containing olive oil. A wick extended into the oil and hung down from a lip on one side of the dish. The dishes, resting on the upturned almond blossoms (25:33), were to be turned so that all their wicks faced the center of the room (25:37). The total number of lamps is not clear. Although seven lamps are mentioned in 25:37, there seem to be 22 lamp cups in 25:33-34. See illustration, p. 172.

25:39 seventy-five pounds: Hebrew 1 talent [34 kilograms].

26:1-37 The Tabernacle proper (as distinct from the surrounding courtyard) was not very large. It was approximately 15 feet wide and 45 feet long. The supporting framework consisted of 48 vertical frames, 15 feet high and 27 inches wide (26:16). They were made of acacia wood overlaid with gold (26:15, 29). The frames were locked together with horizontal crossbars to form a three-sided rectangle with an open end (26:26-28). Two large linen curtains (each composed of five smaller ones) were then linked together into one and draped across the top of this framework. The combined total was long enough to hang down on the sides and rear (26:1-6), forming coverings for the walls as well as the roof. Over the linen curtain was draped a curtain of goat-hair cloth constructed in the same way. It was three feet wider and six feet longer than the linen curtain (26:7-13), so that it hung down further than the linen curtain on all sides. Over these two curtains were two protective coverings, one of tanned ram skins and one of fine goatskin leather (26:14). The space so enclosed was divided in two with another beautifully embroidered curtain hanging crosswise on four posts of acacia wood. The resulting two spaces were the Holy Place and the Most Holy Place (26:31-33).

26:2-6 42 feet long and 6 feet wide: Hebrew 28 cubits [12.9 meters] long and 4 cubits [1.8 meters] wide. A width of 6 feet may have been dictated by the size of the largest loom available. Five of the six-foot strips were joined, probably by being sewn together, making one continuous piece of cloth 42 feet long and 30 feet wide. When joined to each other with the loops and clasps (26:5-6), the two cloths formed a single unit 42 feet by 60 feet.

26:8 45 feet long and 6 feet wide: Hebrew 30 cubits [13.8 meters] long and 4 cubits [1.8 meters] wide.

exactly the same size—45 feet long and 6 feet wide. ⁹Join five of these curtains together to make one long curtain, and join the other six into a second long curtain. Allow 3 feet of material from the second set of curtains to hang over the front of the sacred tent. ¹⁰Make fifty loops for one edge of each large curtain. ¹¹Then make fifty bronze clasps, and fasten the loops of the long curtains with the clasps. In this way, the tent covering will be made of one continuous piece. ¹²The remaining 3 feet of this tent covering will be left to hang over the back of the Tabernacle. ¹³Allow 18 inches of remaining material to hang down over each side, so the Tabernacle is completely covered. ¹⁴Complete the tent covering with a protective layer of tanned ram skins and a layer of fine goatskin leather.

¹⁵For the framework of the Tabernacle, construct frames of acacia wood. ¹⁶Each frame must be 15 feet high and 27 inches wide, ¹⁷with two pegs under each frame. Make all the frames identical. ¹⁸Make twenty of these frames to support the curtains on the south side of the Tabernacle. ¹⁹Also make forty silver bases—two bases under each frame, with the pegs fitting securely into the bases. ²⁰For the north side of the Tabernacle, make another twenty frames, ²¹with their forty silver bases, two bases under each frame. ²²Make six frames for the rear—the west side of the Tabernacle—²³along with two additional frames to reinforce the rear corners of the Tabernacle. ²⁴These corner frames will be matched at the bottom and firmly attached at the top with a single ring, forming a single corner unit. Make both of these corner units the same way. ²⁵So there will be eight frames at the rear of the Tabernacle, set in sixteen silver bases—two bases under each frame.

²⁶Make crossbars of acacia wood to link the frames, five crossbars for the north side of the Tabernacle ²⁷and five for the south side. Also make five crossbars for the rear of the Tabernacle, which will face west. ²⁸The middle crossbar, attached halfway up the frames, will run all the way from one end of the Tabernacle to the other. ²⁹Overlay the frames with gold, and make gold rings to hold the crossbars. Overlay the crossbars with gold as well.

³⁰Set up this Tabernacle according to the pattern you were shown on the mountain.

³¹For the inside of the Tabernacle, make a special curtain of finely woven linen. Decorate it with blue, purple, and scarlet thread and with skillfully embroidered cherubim. ³²Hang this curtain on gold hooks attached to four posts of acacia wood. Overlay the posts with gold, and set them in four silver bases. ³³Hang the inner curtain from clasps, and put the Ark of the Covenant in the room behind it. This curtain will separate the Holy Place from the Most Holy Place.

³⁴Then put the Ark's cover—the place of atonement—on top of the Ark of the Covenant inside the Most Holy Place. ³⁵Place the table outside the inner curtain on the north side of the Tabernacle, and place the lampstand across the room on the south side.

³⁶Make another curtain for the entrance to the sacred tent. Make it of finely woven linen and embroider it with exquisite designs, using blue, purple, and scarlet thread. ³⁷Craft five posts from acacia wood. Overlay them with gold, and hang the curtain from them with gold hooks. Cast five bronze bases for the posts.

26:11
Exod 36:18

26:14
Exod 36:19

26:15
Exod 36:20-34

26:20
Exod 36:23

26:25
Exod 36:30

26:30
Exod 25:9, 40
Acts 7:44
*Heb 8:5

26:31
Exod 36:35

2 Chr 3:14
Matt 27:51
Heb 9:3

26:33
Exod 25:16, 40:21
Heb 9:2-3

26:34
Exod 25:21; 37:6
Heb 9:5

26:36
Exod 40:28

26:37
Exod 36:38

◀ The Ark of the Covenant (25:10-22).

26:12 The remaining 3 feet: Literally The half sheet that is left over.

26:13 18 inches: Hebrew 1 cubit [46 centimeters].

26:15 acacia wood: A hard wood found in the region of Sinai.

26:16 15 feet high and 27 inches wide: Hebrew 10 cubits [4.6 meters] high and 1.5 cubits [69 centimeters] wide.

26:19 Apparently each of the bases stood beneath the junction where the frames met. The right peg of one frame and the left peg of the next frame went into one base. Along with the crossbars (26:27-28), this arrangement would contribute to the stability of the whole.

26:31 While blue, purple, and scarlet are rich colors appropriate for the palace of a divine king, they may also have been specified because these dyes were easiest to procure in the desert.

26:33 Ark of the Covenant: Or Ark of the Testimony; also in 26:34; see note on 25:16. • The Most Holy Place was the earthly dwelling of the Lord. It contained the Ark of the Covenant, from which the Lord would give his commands for the people of Israel (25:22). The Most Holy Place was approximately 15 feet wide, 15 feet deep, and 15 feet high.

26:34 atonement: See note on 25:17.

26:36-37 The curtain that covered the opening at the eastern end of the structure was similar to the one separating the Holy Place and the Most Holy Place. The bases of these supporting posts were of bronze instead of silver.

26:9 The two goat-hair curtains (26:7) totaled 45 feet by 66 feet. The extra 6 feet were equally distributed to hang down over the front and back of the framework. • Allow 3 feet of material . . . to hang over the front: Literally Double over the sixth sheet at the front.

27:1-8
//Exod 38:1-7

27:1
Ezek 43:13

27:2
Exod 29:12
Lev 4:7

27:3
Num 4:14

27:6
Exod 25:13

27:8
Exod 25:40; 26:30

27:9-19
//Exod 38:9-20

27:10
Exod 38:17

27:14
Exod 38:15

27:16
Exod 36:37

27:20-21
//Lev 24:1-3
Zech 4:11-12

Plans for the Altar of Burnt Offering

27 "Using acacia wood, construct a square altar 7½ feet wide, 7½ feet long, and 4½ feet high. ²Make horns for each of its four corners so that the horns and altar are all one piece. Overlay the altar with bronze. ³Make ash buckets, shovels, basins, meat forks, and firepans, all of bronze. ⁴Make a bronze grating for it, and attach four bronze rings at its four corners. ⁵Install the grating halfway down the side of the altar, under the ledge. ⁶For carrying the altar, make poles from acacia wood, and overlay them with bronze. ⁷Insert the poles through the rings on the two sides of the altar. ⁸The altar must be hollow, made from planks. Build it just as you were shown on the mountain.

Plans for the Courtyard

⁹"Then make the courtyard for the Tabernacle, enclosed with curtains made of finely woven linen. On the south side, make the curtains 150 feet long. ¹⁰They will be held up by twenty posts set securely in twenty bronze bases. Hang the curtains with silver hooks and rings. ¹¹Make the curtains the same on the north side—150 feet of curtains held up by twenty posts set securely in bronze bases. Hang the curtains with silver hooks and rings. ¹²The curtains on the west end of the courtyard will be 75 feet long, supported by ten posts set into ten bases. ¹³The east end of the courtyard, the front, will also be 75 feet long. ¹⁴The courtyard entrance will be on the east end, flanked by two curtains. The curtain on the right side will be 22½ feet long, supported by three posts set into three bases. ¹⁵The curtain on the left side will also be 22½ feet long, supported by three posts set into three bases.

¹⁶"For the entrance to the courtyard, make a curtain that is 30 feet long. Make it from finely woven linen, and decorate it with beautiful embroidery in blue, purple, and scarlet thread. Support it with four posts, each securely set in its own base. ¹⁷All the posts around the courtyard must have silver rings and hooks and bronze bases. ¹⁸So the entire courtyard will be 150 feet long and 75 feet wide, with curtain walls 7½ feet high, made from finely woven linen. The bases for the posts will be made of bronze.

¹⁹"All the articles used in the rituals of the Tabernacle, including all the tent pegs used to support the Tabernacle and the courtyard curtains, must be made of bronze.

Instructions Relating to the Priesthood (27:20–28:43)

Light for the Tabernacle

²⁰"Command the people of Israel to bring you pure oil of pressed olives for the light, to horns of the altar were protrusions sticking up from the corners of the structure. Perhaps they kept wood and offerings from falling off (see Ps 118:27). They also seem to have had a theological significance, representing God's gracious care. A person who held onto the horns of the altar was requesting leniency in judgment (see 1 Kgs 1:50-51; 2:28). The horns were anointed with blood in atonement and purification ceremonies (29:12; Lev 4:7).

◀ Table for the Bread of the Presence (25:23-30).

27:5 The altar was evidently a hollow square (27:1, 8), with the grating placed inside it to allow ashes to fall to the ground underneath.

27:9-19 The plans for the courtyard called for walls of curtains made of finely woven linen hanging on posts with bronze bases. The posts seem to have been 7½ feet apart and 7½ feet high. The curtains formed a rectangle 150 feet long and 75 feet wide, with a 30-foot opening centered in the east end.

27:9 150 feet long: Hebrew 100 cubits [46 meters]; also in 27:11.

27:12 75 feet long: Hebrew 50 cubits [23 meters]; also in 27:13.

27:14 22½ feet long: Hebrew 15 cubits [6.9 meters]; also in 27:15.

27:16 The curtain shielding the entry to the courtyard was similar in color and workmanship to the entry curtain and the dividing curtain of the Tabernacle (26:31, 36). • 30 feet long: Hebrew 20 cubits [9.2 meters].

27:18 150 feet long and 75 feet wide, with curtain walls 7½ feet high: Hebrew 100 cubits [46 meters] long and 50 by 50 [23 meters] wide and 5 cubits [2.3 meters] high.

27:19 The use of tent pegs suggests that the courtyard posts were not freestanding but were stabilized with guy wires.

27:20–30:38 Following the instructions for Tabernacle structure, instructions are now given for those who would serve in the Tabernacle and for the elements involved in that service. Included are priestly functions (27:20-21; 29:38-46), clothing (28:1-43), dedication ceremonies (29:1-37), furnishings (30:1-10, 17-21), and supplies (30:11-16, 22-38).

27:20-21 The first thing said about the function of the priests, Aaron and his sons, is that they were to keep the lamps burning continually through the night

27:1-19 These plans for the altar of burnt offering and the courtyard continue the movement outward from the center. As with the sanctuary, the plans for the furniture of the courtyard are given (27:1-8) before the plans for the courtyard itself (27:9-19).

27:1-8 Like the frames of the Tabernacle, the square altar of burnt offerings was made of acacia wood overlaid with metal. However, in keeping with the other features outside the sanctuary, it was overlaid with bronze (27:2-3; see 27:10, 17, 19). See illustration, p. 173.

27:1 7½ feet wide, 7½ feet long, and 4½ feet high: Hebrew 5 cubits [2.3 meters] wide, 5 cubits [2.3 meters] long, a square, and 3 cubits [1.4 meters] high.

27:2 Archaeology has shown that the keep the lamps burning continually. ²¹The lampstand will stand in the Tabernacle, in front of the inner curtain that shields the Ark of the Covenant. Aaron and his sons must keep the lamps burning in the LORD's presence all night. This is a permanent law for the people of Israel, and it must be observed from generation to generation.

Clothing for the Priests

28 "Call for your brother, Aaron, and his sons, Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. Set them apart from the rest of the people of Israel so they may minister to me and be my priests. ²Make sacred garments for Aaron that are glorious and beautiful. ³Instruct all the skilled craftsmen whom I have filled with the spirit of wisdom. Have them make garments for Aaron that will distinguish him as a priest set apart for my service. ⁴These are the garments they are to make: a chestpiece, an ephod, a robe, a patterned tunic, a turban, and a sash. They are to make these sacred garments for your brother, Aaron, and his sons to wear when they serve me as priests. ⁵So give them fine linen cloth, gold thread, and blue, purple, and scarlet thread.

Design of the Ephod

⁶"The craftsmen must make the ephod of finely woven linen and skillfully embroider it with gold and with blue, purple, and scarlet thread. ⁷It will consist of two pieces, front and back, joined at the shoulders with two shoulder-pieces. ⁸The decorative sash will be made of the same materials: finely woven linen embroidered with gold and with blue, purple, and scarlet thread.

⁹"Take two onyx stones, and engrave on them the names of the tribes of Israel. ¹⁰Six names will be on each stone, arranged in the order of the births of the original sons of Israel. ¹¹Engrave these names on the two stones in the same way a jeweler engraves a seal. Then mount the stones in settings of gold filigree. ¹²Fasten the two stones on the shoulder-pieces of the ephod as a reminder that Aaron represents the people of Israel. Aaron will carry these names on his shoulders as a constant reminder whenever he goes before the LORD. ¹³Make the settings of gold filigree, ¹⁴then braid two cords of pure gold and attach them to the filigree settings on the shoulders of the ephod.

Design of the Chestpiece

¹⁵"Then, with great skill and care, make a chestpiece to be worn for seeking a decision from God. Make it to match the ephod, using finely woven linen embroidered with gold and with blue, purple, and scarlet thread. ¹⁶Make the chestpiece of a single piece of cloth folded to form a pouch nine inches

27:21
Exod 25:22
Lev 3:17; 16:34

28:1
Exod 24:1, 9
Num 18:7
Ps 99:6
Heb 5:1, 4

28:2
Exod 29:5, 9; 31:10
Lev 8:7, 30
Num 20:26

28:5
Exod 25:3-4

28:6-14
//Exod 39:2-7

28:12
Exod 39:7

28:15-28
//Exod 39:8-21

◀ The Golden Lampstand (25:31-39).

the Testimony. See note on 25:16.

28:1-43 These glorious and beautiful (28:2) garments for Aaron were to distinguish him as a priest set apart (Hebrew qadash, "consecrated") for [the LORD's] service (28:3). See illustration, p. 174. The magnificence of these garments is in keeping with the grandeur of the Tabernacle, which functioned as a portable earthly palace for God. There would come a day when Jesus Christ, the true High Priest, would enter the Most Holy Place once for all, and the distinction between priests and people would fade away (Heb 10:11-22). Until that time, human mediators were needed to symbolize the wonderful thing that God was planning to do in the hearts, lives, and behavior of those with whom he shared his presence.

28:1-2 The garments described in this chapter are primarily those for Aaron, the first high priest. The clothing for Aaron's sons, who functioned as his assistants, is described in 28:40-43.

28:6-14 The ephod was a kind of apron consisting of front and back pieces joined by shoulder straps (28:7) and secured by a decorative sash (28:8, 27-28). Perhaps it is mentioned first because it was understood to be the distinctive high priestly garment. The fact that Gideon later made a gold ephod (Judg 8:27) suggests that the garment was thought to have special powers.

28:12 names on his shoulders (cp. Isa 9:6): The badge of office on the shoulder indicated what the person was really carrying. Thus, the high priest represented the people before God, and with his royal garments he represented the glory of God before the people.

28:15-30 More attention is given to the chestpiece than to any other item, suggesting the importance attached to it. It apparently symbolized the priest's representation of Israel (28:17-21, 29) and was a container for the Urim and Thummim, by which God made his will known (28:30). The chestpiece represented the totality of the high priest's tasks of bringing the people to God and bringing God's word to the people.

28:15 a chestpiece to be worn for seeking a decision from God: Literally a chestpiece for decision.

28:16 nine inches: Hebrew 1 span [23 centimeters].

(see 30:8). As the lamps burned in the LORD's presence, they would indicate the continuity of his presence.

27:21 the Tabernacle (literally the Tent of Meeting): The term Tent of Meeting sometimes refers to the Tabernacle tent; in these cases the term is essentially synonymous with Tabernacle, and the NLT consistently renders it Tabernacle. In addition, a temporary tent also called the "Tent of Meeting" is mentioned in 33:7-11. See note on 40:2. • in front of the inner curtain that shields the Ark of the Covenant: Literally outside the inner curtain that is in front of 28:17

Exod 39:10

28:21
Exod 39:14

28:24
Exod 39:17

28:26
Exod 39:17

28:29
Exod 28:12

28:30
Lev 8:8
Num 27:21

28:31-43
//Exod 39:22-31

28:36
Exod 39:30-31
Lev 8:9

28:38
Lev 10:17; 22:16
Num 18:1
Heb 9:28
1 Pet 2:24

square. ¹⁷Mount four rows of gemstones on it. The first row will contain a red carnelian, a pale-green peridot, and an emerald. ¹⁸The second row will contain a turquoise, a blue lapis lazuli, and a white moonstone. ¹⁹The third row will contain an orange jacinth, an agate, and a purple amethyst. ²⁰The fourth row will contain a blue-green beryl, an onyx, and a green jasper. All these stones will be set in gold filigree. ²¹Each stone will represent one of the twelve sons of Israel, and the name of that tribe will be engraved on it like a seal.

²²"To attach the chestpiece to the ephod, make braided cords of pure gold thread. ²³Then make two gold rings and attach them to the top corners of the chestpiece. ²⁴Tie the two gold cords to the two rings on the chestpiece. ²⁵Tie the other ends of the cords to the gold settings on the shoulder-pieces of the ephod. ²⁶Then make two more gold rings and attach them to the inside edges of the chestpiece next to the ephod. ²⁷And make two more gold rings and attach them to the front of the ephod, below the shoulder-pieces, just above the knot where the decorative sash is fastened to the ephod. ²⁸Then attach the bottom rings of the chestpiece to the rings on the ephod with blue cords. This will hold the chestpiece securely to the ephod above the decorative sash.

²⁹"In this way, Aaron will carry the names of the tribes of Israel on the sacred chestpiece over his heart when he goes into the Holy Place. This will be a continual reminder that he represents the people when he comes before the LORD. ³⁰Insert the Urim and Thummim into the sacred chestpiece so they will be carried over Aaron's heart when he goes into the LORD's presence. In this way, Aaron will always carry over his heart the objects used to determine the LORD's will for his people whenever he goes in before the LORD.

Additional Clothing for the Priests

³¹"Make the robe that is worn with the ephod from a single piece of blue cloth, ³²with an opening for Aaron's head in the middle of it. Reinforce the opening with a woven collar so it will not tear. ³³Make pomegranates out of blue, purple, and scarlet yarn, and attach them to the hem of the robe, with gold bells between them. ³⁴The gold bells and pomegranates are to alternate all around the hem. ³⁵Aaron will wear this robe whenever he ministers before the LORD, and the bells will tinkle as he goes in and out of the LORD's presence in the Holy Place. If he wears it, he will not die.

³⁶"Next make a medallion of pure gold, and engrave it like a seal with these words: HOLY TO THE LORD. ³⁷Attach the medallion with a blue cord to the front of Aaron's turban, where it must remain. ³⁸Aaron must that the priest was still moving and had not been struck dead by God's presence (see Lev 10:1-2). Jewish tradition tells us that the priest had a cord tied to his ankle so that if he died in the Holy Place (28:35), his body could be dragged out.

◀ The Altar of Burnt Offering (27:1-8).

28:32 a woven collar: The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain.

28:36-38 Like all the other elements of the high priest's clothing and activities, the medallion worn on the front of the turban was to remind the people that God is holy, and his holiness had implications for their entering his presence. God wished to dwell with his people, but his holiness would destroy them unless he took preventative steps. God determines the way into his presence; we do not. The central question of the Bible is how a sinful people can live in the presence of a holy God so that God can share his holy character with them. Ultimately, the answer is provided in Jesus Christ, the Holy One of God who is the perfect mediator (Luke 4:34; Heb 9:11-15). He did not die only to rescue us from the consequences of our sin, but so that God can live in us, reproducing his holy character in us (Eph 2:10; 4:22; Phil 1:27; 1 Pet 1:13-16).

28:17-20 The identification of some of these gemstones is uncertain. Cp. Rev 21:19-20.

28:29 the sacred chestpiece: Literally the chestpiece for decision; also in 28:30. See 28:15. • The high priest would go into the Holy Place (the outer room of the sanctuary) to trim the lamp, replace the bread on the table, and replenish the incense on the altar that stood outside the Most Holy Place.

28:30 The Urim and Thummim (Hebrew terms that might translate as lights [or curses] and perfections) were apparently a pair of stones that were thrown down to get a yes or no answer from God. No physical description of these objects exists; their use is further explained in Num 27:21; Deut 33:8; 1 Sam 28:6; Ezra 2:63; and Neh 7:65.

28:31-35 The robe worn under the ephod is described. The bells signaled wear it on his forehead so he may take on himself any guilt of the people of Israel when they consecrate their sacred offerings. He must always wear it on his forehead so the LORD will accept the people.

³⁹"Weave Aaron's patterned tunic from fine linen cloth. Fashion the turban from this linen as well. Also make a sash, and decorate it with colorful embroidery.

⁴⁰"For Aaron's sons, make tunics, sashes, and special head coverings that are glorious and beautiful. ⁴¹Clothe your brother, Aaron, and his sons with these garments, and then anoint and ordain them. Consecrate them so they can serve as my priests. ⁴²Also make linen undergarments for them, to be worn next to their bodies, reaching from their hips to their thighs. ⁴³These must be worn whenever Aaron and his sons enter the Tabernacle or approach the altar in the Holy Place to perform their priestly duties. Then they will not incur guilt and die. This is a permanent law for Aaron and all his descendants after him.

Instructions for Ordination of the Priests (29:1-37)

29"This is the ceremony you must follow when you consecrate Aaron and his sons to serve me as priests: Take a young bull and two rams with no defects. ²Then, using choice wheat flour and no yeast, make loaves of bread, thin cakes mixed with olive oil, and wafers spread with oil. ³Place them all in a single basket, and present them at the entrance of the Tabernacle, along with the young bull and the two rams.

⁴"Present Aaron and his sons at the entrance of the Tabernacle, and wash them with water. ⁵Dress Aaron in his priestly garments—the tunic, the robe worn with the ephod, the ephod itself, and the chestpiece. Then wrap the decorative sash of the ephod around him. ⁶Place the turban on his head, and fasten the sacred medallion to the turban. ⁷Then anoint him by pouring the anointing oil over his head. ⁸Next present his sons, and dress them in their tunics. ⁹Wrap the sashes around the waists of Aaron and his sons, and put their special head coverings on them. Then the right to the priesthood will be theirs by law forever. In this way, you will ordain Aaron and his sons.

¹⁰"Bring the young bull to the entrance of the Tabernacle, where Aaron and his sons will lay their hands on its head. ¹¹Then slaughter the bull in the LORD's presence at the entrance of the Tabernacle. ¹²Put some of its blood on the horns of the altar with your finger, and pour out the rest at the base

28:40
Exod 39:27-29
Lev 8:13

28:41
Exod 29:7-9
Lev 8:1-36
Heb 7:28

28:42
Lev 6:10; 16:4
Ezek 44:18

28:43
Exod 20:26; 27:21

29:1-37
//Lev 8:1-36

29:2
Lev 6:19-23

29:4
Exod 40:12
Heb 10:22

29:5
Exod 28:2, 5

29:6
Exod 28:36

29:7
Exod 28:41
Lev 8:12-13
Ps 133:2

29:9
Exod 40:15
Num 3:10; 18:7;
25:13
Deut 18:5

29:10
Lev 1:4; 8:14

29:12
Exod 27:2
Lev 8:15

◀ The High Priest's Clothing (28:1-43).

acceptable in the worship of the Lord. His blessings could not be achieved through magical manipulation. Thus, even unintentional display of the genitals was guarded against.

28:43 Tabernacle: Literally Tent of Meeting. See note on 27:21.

29:1-37 Moses was required to consecrate (or sanctify) Aaron and his sons to serve the Lord. This emphasis on making the priests holy is found throughout the ceremonies (29:6, 21, 28, 29, 34, 36, 37). They were set apart not merely for service, but to serve a God whose nature is utterly different from that of fallen, sinful humans. The report of how these instructions were carried out is found in Lev 8.

29:1 with no defects: The same word is translated "blameless" and "perfect" in reference to human and divine behavior (e.g., Gen 17:1; Ps 18:30, 32). The sacrifice is representative of God's own character and the character he seeks in humans.

29:4 Tabernacle: Literally Tent of Meeting; also in 29:10, 11, 30, 32, 42, 44. See note on 27:21. • wash them with water: This act dramatized the truth that no one can live in God's presence with the filth of sin in their lives (29:21).

29:7 The anointing oil empowered a person for a task through the Holy Spirit (see Isa 61:1).

29:9 forever: The fulfillment of this promise, as with the one to David, clearly leads beyond the merely human. Aaron's own behavior was less than sterling (e.g., Exod 32; Num 11), and the behavior of his sons and descendants was no better (1 Sam 2:12-17; Isa 28:7; Ezek 8:15-16; Mal 2:1-9). The promise could only find its ultimate fulfillment in Jesus Christ (see Heb 7:26; 9:11). • To ordain (literally to fill the hands) means to give a person a task to perform.

29:10-34 The consecration of the priesthood of Aaron involved a sin offering (29:10-14), a burnt offering (29:15-18), and an ordination offering (29:19-28). The same patterns established here are expanded to the regular offerings of the people (see 29:38-46; Lev 1-5). In all three cases, Aaron and his sons lay their hands on [the] head of the sacrificial animals (29:10, 15, 19), indicating that sin is a matter of life and death, and that it can only be removed by a death. Because it represents life, blood is prominent in these ceremonies (29:12, 16, 20, 21).

29:12 horns: See note on 27:2.

28:39 Apparently the tunic was a shirt worn under the robe (see 29:5).

28:42-43 Expressions of sexuality were a frequent part of pagan religion, as worshipers attempted to control the powers of fertility. In some cases, priests served their deities in the nude. Not even a hint of sexual manipulation was

29:13

Lev 3:3-5

29:14

Lev 4:11-12, 21

Heb 13:11

29:15

Exod 29:10

29:18

Gen 8:21

29:21

Exod 30:25, 31

Heb 9:22

29:23

Lev 8:26

29:24

Lev 7:30

29:26

Lev 7:31, 34; 8:29

29:27

Lev 7:31, 34

Num 18:11-12

Deut 18:3

29:29

Num 20:26, 28

29:28

Lev 10:15

29:30

Lev 8:35

29:33

Lev 22:10, 13

29:34-35

Lev 8:32-33

29:36

Exod 40:10

Heb 10:11

of the altar. ¹³Take all the fat around the internal organs, the long lobe of the liver, and the two kidneys and the fat around them, and burn it all on the altar. ¹⁴Then take the rest of the bull, including its hide, meat, and dung, and burn it outside the camp as a sin offering.

¹⁵Next Aaron and his sons must lay their hands on the head of one of the rams. ¹⁶Then slaughter the ram, and splatter its blood against all sides of the altar. ¹⁷Cut the ram into pieces, and wash off the internal organs and the legs. Set them alongside the head and the other pieces of the body, ¹⁸then burn the entire animal on the altar. This is a burnt offering to the LORD; it is a pleasing aroma, a special gift presented to the LORD.

¹⁹Now take the other ram, and have Aaron and his sons lay their hands on its head. ²⁰Then slaughter it, and apply some of its blood to the right earlobes of Aaron and his sons. Also put it on the thumbs of their right hands and the big toes of their right feet. Splatter the rest of the blood against all sides of the altar. ²¹Then take some of the blood from the altar and some of the anointing oil, and sprinkle it on Aaron and his sons and on their garments. In this way, they and their garments will be set apart as holy.

²²Since this is the ram for the ordination of Aaron and his sons, take the fat of the ram, including the fat of the broad tail, the fat around the internal organs, the long lobe of the liver, and the two kidneys and the fat around them, along with the right thigh. ²³Then take one round loaf of bread, one thin cake mixed with olive oil, and one wafer from the basket of bread without yeast that was placed in the LORD's presence. ²⁴Put all these in the hands of Aaron and his sons to be lifted up as a special offering to the LORD. ²⁵Afterward take the various breads from their hands, and burn them on the altar along with the burnt offering. It is a pleasing aroma to the LORD, a special gift for him. ²⁶Then take the breast of Aaron's ordination ram, and lift it up in the LORD's presence as a special offering to him. Then keep it as your own portion.

²⁷Set aside the portions of the ordination ram that belong to Aaron and his sons. This includes the breast and the thigh that were lifted up before the LORD as a special offering. ²⁸In the future, whenever the people of Israel lift up a peace offering, a portion of it must be set aside for Aaron and his descendants. This is their permanent right, and it is a sacred offering from the Israelites to the LORD.

²⁹Aaron's sacred garments must be preserved for his descendants who succeed him, and they will wear them when they are anointed and ordained. ³⁰The descendant who succeeds him as high priest will wear these clothes for seven days as he ministers in the Tabernacle and the Holy Place.

³¹Take the ram used in the ordination ceremony, and boil its meat in a sacred place. ³²Then Aaron and his sons will eat this meat, along with the bread in the basket, at the Tabernacle entrance. ³³They alone may eat the meat and bread used for their purification in the ordination ceremony. No one else may eat them, for these things are set apart and holy. ³⁴If any of the ordination meat or bread remains until the morning, it must be burned. It may not be eaten, for it is holy.

³⁵This is how you will ordain Aaron and his sons to their offices, just as I have commanded you. The ordination ceremony will go on for seven days. ³⁶Each day you must sacrifice a young bull as a sin offering to purify them, making them right with the LORD.

29:13 The fat was considered the best part and so was given to God.

29:14 The remains represented what was unclean in human behavior. * sin offering: See Lev 4:1-35 and notes.

29:15-18 The next offering was a gift of thanks to God; it also represented the complete giving of oneself to God.

29:18 pleasing aroma: Such language is anthropomorphism, describing God with human terms and experiences. God's delight in an appropriately offered sacrifice is like a human's enjoyment of a pleasing smell.

29:19-28 This ordination offering is very similar to the peace (or fellowship) offering later described in Lev 3. The fat was burned as a gift to the Lord, but the breast and the thigh, after having been dedicated to the Lord by lifting them up before him (29:24-26), became the portion for the priests to eat (29:26-28). In the regular peace offering, the remainder of the meat was to be eaten by the person making the offering in a fellowship meal (Lev 7:11-18), as the priests did here (29:31-34).

29:20-21 The placing of the blood on the earlobes, thumbs, and big toes represented dedication of the entire person to God. Sprinkling it on their clothes indicated that the clothing, too, could be used only for holy purposes.

29:30 The descendant who succeeds him: Each succeeding high priest was to be ordained in the same way.

29:31 This sacred place was probably in the courtyard of the Tabernacle.

29:32-34 Eating in the presence of the Lord signified an intimate relationship with him (as in 24:9-11).

29:33 their purification: Or their atonement. Traditionally, atonement has been described as a "covering over." Some more recent commentators seek to derive the term from another Semitic root (which does not occur elsewhere in the Hebrew Bible) and thus arrive at "blot out, erase, or cleanse." In either case, the effect is the same: Persons and objects are made capable of surviving in God's presence because of a negation of the effects of their sin.

29:36 to purify them, making them

Afterward, cleanse the altar by purifying it; make it holy by anointing it with oil. ³⁷Purify the altar, and consecrate it every day for seven days. After that, the altar will be absolutely holy, and whatever touches it will become holy.

Instructions for Priestly Activities

(29:38–30:38)

The Daily Offerings

³⁸“These are the sacrifices you are to offer regularly on the altar. Each day, offer two lambs that are a year old, ³⁹one in the morning and the other in the evening. ⁴⁰With one of them, offer two quarts of choice flour mixed with one quart of pure oil of pressed olives; also, offer one quart of wine as a liquid offering. ⁴¹Offer the other lamb in the evening, along with the same offerings of flour and wine as in the morning. It will be a pleasing aroma, a special gift presented to the LORD.

⁴²“These burnt offerings are to be made each day from generation to generation. Offer them in the LORD’s presence at the Tabernacle entrance; there I will meet with you and speak with you. ⁴³I will meet the people of Israel there, in the place made holy by my glorious presence. ⁴⁴Yes, I will consecrate the Tabernacle and the altar, and I will consecrate Aaron and his sons to serve me as priests. ⁴⁵Then I will live among the people of Israel and be their God, ⁴⁶and they will know that I am the LORD their God. I am the one who brought them out of the land of Egypt so that I could live among them. I am the LORD their God.

Plans for the Incense Altar

30“Then make another altar of acacia wood for burning incense. ²Make it 18 inches square and 36 inches high, with horns at the corners carved from the same piece of wood as the altar itself. ³Overlay the top, sides, and horns of the altar with pure gold, and run a gold molding around the entire altar. ⁴Make two gold rings, and attach them on opposite sides of the altar below the gold molding to hold the carrying poles. ⁵Make the poles of acacia wood and overlay them with gold. ⁶Place the incense altar just outside the inner curtain that shields the Ark of the Covenant, in front of the Ark’s cover—the place of atonement—that covers the tablets inscribed with the terms of the covenant. I will meet with you there.

⁷“Every morning when Aaron maintains the lamps, he must burn fragrant incense on the altar. ⁸And each evening when he lights the lamps, he must again burn incense in the LORD’s presence. This must be done from generation to generation. ⁹Do not offer any unholy incense on this altar, or any burnt offerings, grain offerings, or liquid offerings.

¹⁰“Once a year Aaron must purify the altar by smearing its horns with blood from the offering made to purify the people from their sin. This will be a regular, annual event from generation to generation, for this is the LORD’s most holy altar.”

Money for the Tabernacle

¹¹Then the LORD said to Moses, ¹²“Whenever you take a census of the people of Israel,

29:37
Exod 40:10
Malt 23:19
29:38
Num 28:3-31; 29:6-38
1 Chr 16:40
Dan 12:11
29:41
2 Kgs 16:15
Ezra 9:4-5
Ps 141:2
29:42
Exod 30:8
29:43
1 Kgs 8:11
29:45
Exod 25:8
Lev 26:12
Num 5:3
Deut 12:11
Ps 68:18
Zech 2:10
2 Cor 6:16
Rev 21:3
29:46
Exod 20:2
30:1-5
//Exod 37:25-28
1 Kgs 6:20
Rev 8:3
30:6
Exod 25:21-22
30:7
Exod 27:21; 30:34-35
1 Sam 2:28
Luke 1:9
30:10
Lev 16:8
30:12
Exod 38:25-26
Num 1:2; 26:2
2 Sam 24:1
Malt 20:28

◀ The Incense Altar (30:1-10).

right with the LORD: Or to make atonement. See note on 29:33. • by purifying it: Or by making atonement for it; similarly in 29:37.

29:37 As with the priests, the altar was to be made holy so it could be used in service of the holy God.

29:38-41 Offering the daily sacrifices was one of the priest’s chief functions.

29:40 two quarts of choice flour . . . one quart of pure oil . . . one quart of wine: Hebrew $\frac{1}{6}$ [of an ephah] [2.2 liters] of choice flour . . . $\frac{1}{4}$ of a hin [1 liter] of pure oil . . . $\frac{1}{4}$ of a hin [1 liter] of wine.

29:42-46 The purpose of the Tabernacle, the priesthood, and the sacrificial system was to facilitate human fellowship with God. The Lord would meet with his people there (29:42, 43) and speak with them (29:42). He would live among them as their God (29:45, 46).

29:46 The purpose of the Exodus was to reveal the grace, power, and holiness of God and to enable humans to experience God’s presence in their lives.

30:1-10 Plans for the altar of acacia wood are included here rather than with the plans for the other items in the sanctuary (25:23-40), perhaps because of the reference to the priest’s use of it in 30:7-10. See illustration at left.

30:2 18 inches square and 36 inches high: Hebrew 1 cubit [46 centimeters] long and 1 cubit wide, a square, and

2 cubits [92 centimeters] high. • horns: See note on 27:2.

30:6 outside the inner curtain: That is, in the Holy Place, just outside the Most Holy Place where the ark was located.

• The rising smoke of the incense symbolized prayer. Believers now have constant access to God in prayer through Christ (see Ps 141:2; Luke 1:10; Rev 5:8; 8:3-4). • Ark of the Covenant: Or Ark of the Testimony; also in 30:26.

• that covers the tablets inscribed with the terms of the covenant: Literally that covers the Testimony. See note on 25:16.

30:10 purify: Or make atonement for; also in 30:10b. See note on 29:33.

30:12 no plague: Cp. 2 Sam 24, when a plague followed upon David’s unauthorized census. Perhaps a census was often taken for reasons of pride and domination. Here the people are giving God a ransom for themselves. This standard payment would go into the Tabernacle treasury and initially be used in the construction of the Tabernacle (see 38:25-26).

30:13
Matt 17:24
30:15
Prov 22:2
30:18
Exod 38:8; 40:7, 30
30:19
Exod 40:31-32
30:21
Exod 28:43
30:25
Exod 27:29; 40:9
30:26
Lev 8:10
Num 7:1
30:29
Exod 29:37
30:30
Lev 8:2, 12, 30
30:33
Gen 17:14
Exod 12:15
Lev 7:20-21
30:36
Lev 2:3

each man who is counted must pay a ransom for himself to the LORD. Then no plague will strike the people as you count them. ¹³Each person who is counted must give a small piece of silver as a sacred offering to the LORD. (This payment is half a shekel, based on the sanctuary shekel, which equals twenty gerahs.) ¹⁴All who have reached their twentieth birthday must give this sacred offering to the LORD. ¹⁵When this offering is given to the LORD to purify your lives, making you right with him, the rich must not give more than the specified amount, and the poor must not give less. ¹⁶Receive this ransom money from the Israelites, and use it for the care of the Tabernacle. It will bring the Israelites to the LORD's attention, and it will purify your lives."

Plans for the Washbasin

¹⁷Then the LORD said to Moses, ¹⁸"Make a bronze washbasin with a bronze stand. Place it between the Tabernacle and the altar, and fill it with water. ¹⁹Aaron and his sons will wash their hands and feet there. ²⁰They must wash with water whenever they go into the Tabernacle to appear before the LORD and when they approach the altar to burn up their special gifts to the LORD—or they will die! ²¹They must always wash their hands and feet, or they will die. This is a permanent law for Aaron and his descendants, to be observed from generation to generation."

The Anointing Oil

²²Then the LORD said to Moses, ²³"Collect choice spices— $12\frac{1}{2}$ pounds of pure myrrh, $6\frac{1}{4}$ pounds of fragrant cinnamon, $6\frac{1}{4}$ pounds of fragrant calamus, ²⁴and $12\frac{1}{2}$ pounds of cassia—as measured by the weight of the sanctuary shekel. Also get one gallon of olive oil. ²⁵Like a skilled incense maker, blend these ingredients to make a holy anointing oil. ²⁶Use this sacred oil to anoint the Tabernacle, the Ark of the Covenant, ²⁷the table and all its utensils, the lampstand and all its accessories, the incense altar, ²⁸the altar of burnt offering and all its utensils, and the washbasin with its stand. ²⁹Consecrate them to make them absolutely holy. After this, whatever touches them will also become holy.

³⁰"Anoint Aaron and his sons also, consecrating them to serve me as priests. ³¹And say to the people of Israel, 'This holy anointing oil is reserved for me from generation to generation. ³²It must never be used to anoint anyone else, and you must never make any blend like it for yourselves. It is holy, and you must treat it as holy. ³³Anyone who makes a blend like it or anoints someone other than a priest will be cut off from the community.'"

The Incense

³⁴Then the LORD said to Moses, "Gather fragrant spices—resin droplets, mollusk shell, and galbanum—and mix these fragrant spices with pure frankincense, weighed out in equal amounts. ³⁵Using the usual techniques of the incense maker, blend the spices together and sprinkle them with salt to produce a pure and holy incense. ³⁶Grind some of the mixture into a very fine powder and put it in front of the Ark of the Covenant, where I will meet with you in the Tabernacle. You must treat this incense as most holy. ³⁷Never use this formula to make this incense for yourselves. It is reserved for the LORD, and you must treat it as holy. ³⁸Anyone who makes incense like this for personal use will be cut off from the community."

◀ The Bronze Washbasin (30:17-21).

for your lives; similarly in 30:16. See note on 29:33.

30:16 Tabernacle: Literally Tent of Meeting; also in 30:18, 20, 26, 36. See note on 27:21.

30:17-21 On why the plans for the bronze washbasin are included here, see note on 30:1-10. See illustration at left.

30:20 wash with water: See note on 29:4.

30:22-38 Because God is absolutely unique (holy), what is used for his service cannot be used for any other purpose. This was the point made to Moses at the burning bush (see note on 3:5). It was so vital for the people to understand this point that disobedience in this matter involved a severe punishment (30:33).

30:23 $12\frac{1}{2}$ pounds of pure myrrh, $6\frac{1}{4}$ pounds of fragrant cinnamon, $6\frac{1}{4}$ pounds of fragrant calamus: Hebrew 500 [shekels] [5.7 kilograms] of pure myrrh, 250 [shekels] [2.9 kilograms] of fragrant cinnamon, 250 [shekels] of fragrant calamus.

30:24 $12\frac{1}{2}$ pounds of cassia: Hebrew 500 [shekels] [5.7 kilograms] of cassia. * one gallon of olive oil: Hebrew 1 hin [3.8 liters] of olive oil.

30:33 cut off from the community: Either by death or by expulsion.

30:36 in front of the Ark of the Covenant: Literally in front of the Testimony. See note on 25:16.

30:13 half a shekel: Or 0.2 ounces [6 grams].

30:15 to purify your lives, making you right with him: Or to make atonement

Craftsmen: Bezalel and Oholiab (31:1-11)

31 Then the LORD said to Moses, ²"Look, I have specifically chosen Bezalel son of Uri, grandson of Hur, of the tribe of Judah. ³I have filled him with the 'Spirit of God, giving him great wisdom, ability, and expertise in all kinds of crafts. ⁴He is a master craftsman, expert in working with gold, silver, and bronze. ⁵He is skilled in engraving and mounting gemstones and in carving wood. He is a master at every craft!

⁶"And I have personally appointed Oholiab son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan, to be his assistant. Moreover, I have given special skill to all the gifted craftsmen so they can make all the things I have commanded you to make:

- ⁷ the Tabernacle;
- the Ark of the Covenant;
- the Ark's cover—the place of atonement;
- all the furnishings of the Tabernacle;
- ⁸ the table and its utensils;
- the pure gold lampstand with all its accessories;
- the incense altar;
- ⁹ the altar of burnt offering with all its utensils;
- the washbasin with its stand;
- ¹⁰ the beautifully stitched garments—the sacred garments for Aaron the priest, and the garments for his sons to wear as they minister as priests;
- ¹¹ the anointing oil;
- the fragrant incense for the Holy Place.

The craftsmen must make everything as I have commanded you."

Instructions for the Sabbath (31:12-18)

¹²The LORD then gave these instructions to Moses: ¹³"Tell the people of Israel: 'Be careful to keep my Sabbath day, for the Sabbath is a sign of the covenant between me and you from generation to generation. It is given so you may know that I am the LORD, who makes you holy. ¹⁴You must keep the Sabbath day, for it is a holy day for you. Anyone who desecrates it must be put to death; anyone who works on that day will be cut off from the community. ¹⁵You have six days each week for your ordinary work, but the seventh day must be a 'Sabbath day of complete rest, a holy day dedicated to the LORD. Anyone who works on the 'Sabbath must be put to death. ¹⁶The people of Israel must keep the 'Sabbath day by observing it from generation to generation. This is a covenant obligation for all time. ¹⁷It is a permanent sign of my covenant with the people of Israel. For in six days the LORD made heaven and earth, but on the seventh day he stopped working and was refreshed.' "

¹⁸When the LORD finished speaking with Moses on Mount Sinai, he gave him the two stone tablets inscribed with the terms of the covenant, written by the finger of God.

The Gold Calf: A Wrong Attempt to Secure God's Presence (32:1–34:35)

Making the Gold Calf

32 When the people saw how long it was taking Moses to come back down the mountain, they gathered around Aaron. "Come on," they said, "make us some

31:2-6
//Exod 35:30–36:1
1 Chr 2:20

31:3
1 Kgs 7:14
'ruakh (7307)
• Num 11:25

31:6
Exod 35:31-34; 36:1

31:7
Exod 37:1-9

31:8
Exod 37:10-16
Lev 24:4

31:11
Exod 30:23-32

31:13
Lev 19:3, 30
Ezek 20:12-13

31:14
Exod 16:23; 35:2
John 7:23

31:15
'shabbath (7676)
• Exod 31:16

31:16
Exod 20:8
'shabbath (7676)
• Lev 23:32

31:17
Gen 2:2-3
Exod 20:11

31:18
Exod 24:12; 32:15-16;
34:1, 28

32:1
Exod 24:18
Deut 9:9-12
*Acts 7:40

31:1-11 God gave instructions for the Tabernacle complex and for those who would serve in it. He also chose and empowered those who would do the work.

31:3 I have filled him with the Spirit of God: This is one of the earliest references to being filled with the Spirit as an expression of divine empowerment for activities that are clearly beyond normal human abilities (see also Gen 41:38; Num 11:17; Judg 6:34; 14:19; 1 Sam 10:6; 16:13; Joel 2:28-29; Mic 3:8).

31:6 God commanded remarkable things, but he also provided gifted craftsmen who would be able to carry out all those instructions—much as Augustine prayed, "Give what you command, and command what you will" (Augustine, Confessions 10.29).

31:7 Tabernacle: Literally Tent of Meeting. See note on 27:21. • Ark of the Covenant: Literally Ark of the Testimony. See note on 25:16.

31:11 The point throughout this entire section (25:1–40:38) is that God intends to meet his people's need for some tangible representation of his presence, but it must be done in the way he has commanded. He, not we, determines the terms by which we come to him.

31:12-18 The Sabbath was understood to be the unique sign of the covenant (31:13, 16, 17; see also 20:8-11; Isa 58:13-14; Jer 17:21-27; Neh 13:15-22). The Sabbath is also said to figure significantly in the achievement of God's underlying purpose of making his people holy, that is, set apart for his exclusive use and sharing his character (31:13, 14, 15). Resting from their own work (31:15, 17) was also a practical way of demonstrating genuine dependence on God to meet their needs (see 20:8-11 and notes).

31:14-15 It is absolutely important to learn that we can find life in God only by coming to him in his way. This is underlined by the death sentence for disobedience (see also Num 15:32-36).

This is not to say that followers of God must always punish those who commit these offenses in this way; but here at the outset, it was vital to make this truth clear (see Acts 5:1-11). If the spiritual truth of this lesson has not been learned, mere ritual obedience will be of no value (see Col 2:16-19).

31:17 refreshed: See note on 29:18.

31:18 Normally, each party to a covenant received a written copy of the terms of the covenant. So it may be that the two stone tablets were identical, one being God's copy and the other the people's copy, to be kept together in the Ark of the Covenant. • the two stone tablets inscribed with the terms of the covenant: Literally the two tablets of the Testimony. See note on 25:16. • finger of God: See 34:28.

32:1-35 At the foot of Mount Sinai, after Moses had been absent for many days, the people felt the need for protection, guidance, and a tangible way to express

32:2
Exod 35:22

32:4
Exod 20:23
Deut 9:16
Ps 106:19
Acts 7:41

32:6
Num 25:2
Acts 7:41
1 Cor 10:7

32:7
Exod 19:24; 33:1
Deut 9:12

32:8
Exod 22:20; 34:15
Deut 32:17

32:9
Exod 33:5
Num 14:11
Acts 7:51

32:10
Num 14:12
Deut 9:14

32:11
Deut 9:18, 26
Ps 106:23

32:12
Num 14:13-16
Deut 9:28

gods who can lead us. We don't know what happened to this fellow Moses, who brought us here from the land of Egypt."

²So Aaron said, "Take the gold rings from the ears of your wives and sons and daughters, and bring them to me."

³All the people took the gold rings from their ears and brought them to Aaron.

⁴Then Aaron took the gold, melted it down, and molded it into the shape of a calf. When the people saw it, they exclaimed, "O Israel, these are the gods who brought you out of the land of Egypt!"

⁵Aaron saw how excited the people were, so he built an altar in front of the calf. Then he announced, "Tomorrow will be a festival to the LORD!"

⁶The people got up early the next morning to sacrifice burnt offerings and peace offerings. After this, they celebrated with feasting and drinking, and they indulged in pagan revelry.

The LORD's Response and Moses' Intercession

⁷The LORD told Moses, "Quick! Go down the mountain! Your people whom you brought from the land of Egypt have corrupted themselves. ⁸How quickly they have turned away from the way I commanded them to live! They have melted down gold and made a calf, and they have bowed down and sacrificed to it. They are saying, 'These are your gods, O Israel, who brought you out of the land of Egypt.'"

⁹Then the LORD said, "I have seen how stubborn and rebellious these people are. ¹⁰Now leave me alone so my fierce anger can blaze against them, and I will destroy them. Then I will make you, Moses, into a great nation."

¹¹But Moses tried to pacify the LORD his God. "O LORD!" he said. "Why are you so angry with your own people whom you brought from the land of Egypt with such great power and such a strong hand? ¹²Why let the Egyptians say, 'Their God rescued them with the evil intention of slaughtering them in the mountains and wiping them from the face of the earth'? Turn away from your fierce anger. Change your mind about this terrible disaster you have threatened their worship. God knew this and was eager to meet these needs (chs 25–31). The Israelites, however, tried to meet their needs for themselves. Fellowship with God requires depending on him (see John 15:5; 2 Cor 3:5).

32:1–6 The people were not willing to wait and see what God had been saying to Moses on the mountain for the forty days while he was there (see 24:18).

32:1 The Israelites' actions were motivated by fear, disrespect for this fellow Moses, disbelief in God's leadership, and denial of responsibility. They were unwilling to wait for God to reveal his plans of care for them. Refusal to wait on God is often a cause of sin (see 1 Sam 13:7–13; Isa 30:15–18).

32:2–4 The religious professional, Aaron, demanded a specific contribution of gold rings and then excluded the people from any further involvement in the process. This is very different from what God had commanded regarding the construction of the Tabernacle, where the people were invited to bring many different kinds of things as they felt led (25:1–9; 35:4–36:7) and to share in the work under the guidance of a Spirit-filled layperson (31:1–6; 36:1–2).

32:4 the shape of a calf: The idol might actually have been an image of a bull, like the images of the Egyptian god Amon-Re that the people had known in Egypt. The bull represented power, domination, and fertility. The writer would then be using the term calf as a way of expressing contempt for the idol.

Alternatively, Aaron might have made a calf, feeling that this sin was not as serious as if the idol were a full-sized bull.

• these are the gods who brought you out: The people attributed to the idol what they had just said that Moses had done (32:1). Idolatry expresses the belief that the divine realm and the visible world are continuous with one another. This worldview sees it as possible to lay hold of divine power through ritual manipulation of the god by means of the idol. God had been insisting that the very opposite is true: God is not contained in or restrained by his creation, and his blessings cannot be procured by manipulating creation, either ritually or otherwise. The blessings of God are for those who surrender their own efforts to make themselves secure and come to him using the ways and means that he has decreed.

32:5 Aaron attempted to control the process, but he was actually abdicating leadership by simply doing what he thought the people wanted. • Although the idol was referred to as "the gods" (32:4), Aaron also implied that it was a physical manifestation of the LORD.

32:6 The Hebrew term translated pagan revelry is traditionally rendered they got up to play. As in English, the Hebrew word for play can have sexual overtones (see Gen 26:8, "caressing"), which is likely the case here. Worship of a fertility symbol such as a bull was often accompanied by sexual activities on the part of the worshipers (see 1 Cor 10:7–8).

32:7 Your people whom you brought from the land of Egypt: God here attributes his own work to Moses, which suggests that he was testing Moses, giving him an opportunity to make the same mistake the people had made (32:1). God was not "tempting" Moses in the sense of "seducing him to do evil" (see Jas 1:13–14), but he was putting Moses into a situation where he was faced with a clear choice that could take him in opposing directions (cp. 1 Kgs 22:19–23).

32:9–10 God was apparently prepared to disown his people, since they had broken their covenant with him.

32:10 Now leave me alone: This apparent command was in fact an invitation to Moses to intercede for his people. Although the people deserved destruction, God was willing not to destroy them if Moses continued to stand before him as an intercessor. • I will make you, Moses, into a great nation: If Moses were willing, God would start over again, abandoning the rest of the children of Abraham and beginning now with the children of Moses. This was apparently a test of Moses' understanding of God.

32:11–13 If a test was involved, Moses passed it. He refused to put himself in God's place (32:11). He knew that God is just and faithful and that he would not deliver people only to destroy them (32:12). He refused to accept the invitation to become the father of a great nation, since that would involve God's breaking his promises to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob (32:13). Moses had learned who God really is.

against your people! ¹³Remember your servants Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. You bound yourself with an oath to them, saying, 'I will make your 'descendants as numerous as the stars of heaven. And I will give them all of this land that I have promised to your 'descendants, and they will possess it forever.' " ¹⁴So the LORD changed his mind about the terrible disaster he had threatened to bring on his people.

Moses' Response

¹⁵Then Moses turned and went down the mountain. He held in his hands the two stone tablets inscribed with the terms of the covenant. They were inscribed on both sides, front and back. ¹⁶These tablets were God's work; the words on them were written by God himself.

¹⁷When Joshua heard the boisterous noise of the people shouting below them, he exclaimed to Moses, "It sounds like war in the camp!"

¹⁸But Moses replied, "No, it's not a shout of victory nor the wailing of defeat. I hear the sound of a celebration."

¹⁹When they came near the camp, Moses saw the calf and the dancing, and he burned with anger. He threw the stone tablets to the ground, smashing them at the foot of the mountain. ²⁰He took the calf they had made and burned it. Then he ground it into powder, threw it into the water, and forced the people to drink it.

²¹Finally, he turned to Aaron and demanded, "What did these people do to you to make you bring such terrible sin upon them?"

²²"Don't get so upset, my lord," Aaron replied. "You yourself know how evil these people are. ²³They said to me, 'Make us gods who will lead us. We don't know what happened to this fellow Moses, who brought us here from the land of Egypt.' ²⁴So I told them, 'Whoever has gold jewelry, take it off.' When they brought it to me, I simply threw it into the fire—and out came this calf!"

²⁵Moses saw that Aaron had let the people get completely out of control, much to the amusement of their enemies. ²⁶So he stood at the entrance to the camp and shouted, "All of you who are on the LORD's side, come here and join me." And all the Levites gathered around him.

²⁷Moses told them, "This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: Each of you, take your swords and go back and forth from one end of the camp to the other. Kill everyone—even your brothers, friends, and neighbors." ²⁸The Levites obeyed Moses' command, and about 3,000 people died that day.

²⁹Then Moses told the Levites, "Today you have ordained yourselves for the service of the LORD, for you obeyed him even though it meant killing your own sons and brothers. Today you have earned a blessing."

32:13
Gen 15:5; 22:16-18
Heb 6:13
'zera' (2233)
' Deut 34:4

32:14
2 Sam 24:16
Ps 106:45

32:15
Exod 24:18
Deut 9:15

32:16
Exod 31:18

32:19
Exod 32:6
Deut 9:16-17

32:20
Deut 9:21

32:22
Deut 9:24

32:23
Exod 32:1

32:25
1 Kgs 12:28-30

32:26
2 Sam 20:11

32:27
Num 25:5
Deut 33:9

32:28
Num 16:32; 25:9

32:29
Deut 13:6; 33:9

32:13 Jacob: Literally Israel. The names "Jacob" and "Israel" are often interchanged throughout the OT, referring sometimes to the individual patriarch and sometimes to the nation; see Gen 32:28.

32:14 In response to Moses' argument, the Lord changed his mind. This is not the picture of a raging tyrant who is, with great difficulty, finally persuaded to back down. The Lord is much more inclined to be merciful than to insist on vengeance, and he invites those who are near him, like Moses, to give him an occasion for his mercy through faithful intercession.

32:15-29 When Moses actually saw what was going on, he was much less calm than he had been on the mountain. He smashed the tablets (32:15-19), destroyed the calf (32:20), confronted Aaron (32:21-25), and had the ring-leaders killed (32:26-29).

32:15 the two stone tablets inscribed with the terms of the covenant: Literally the two tablets of the Testimony. See note on 25:16.

32:16 These tablets were God's work: The covenant was not merely a human agreement.

32:19 While the act of smashing the tablets might simply have been a reaction of fury, it might also have been Moses' way of saying that the covenant with God was now irrevocably broken. God later reminded Moses rather pointedly that Moses was the one who had smashed the tablets (see 34:1).

32:20 Passing the gold powder of the image through the bodies of the people effectively rendered it unclean.

32:21-25 Aaron denied responsibility even though he himself had made the molds and poured the gold (32:4). Aaron wanted Moses to believe that it all "just happened" (32:24) and that he had no choice because the people were so evil (32:22). Moses was not misled. He knew that Aaron could have led the people but had let them get completely out of control (32:25).

32:25 much to the amusement of their enemies: Or and they mocked anyone who opposed them; the meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain. After the Israelites' great show of worshiping the Lord as a different kind of God, their actions proclaimed that he was merely another of the idols that their enemies had been worshiping all along (see Ezek 36:19-20).

32:26-29 Moses had asked God to spare the people, but now he called on those who followed the Lord to kill those who had sinned. The Levites (32:26) were willing to confront the sin that Aaron had let loose. Although Moses commanded them to kill everyone (32:27), the number 3,000 (32:28) makes it clear that the word everyone had a restricted meaning. The reference to your own sons and brothers suggests that as Aaron had led in the idolatry, many of the Levites had led in the worship of the idol, and they were the ones that the rest of the Levites killed. Aaron may have escaped because God had already designated him as high priest (28:1). • Today you have ordained yourselves: As in Greek and Latin versions; Hebrew reads Today ordain yourselves.

32:30
ikapar (3722)
 • Lev 4:26

32:31
 Exod 20:23

32:32
 Ps 69:28
 Isa 4:3
 Dan 12:1
 Mal 3:16-17
 Phil 4:3
 Rev 3:5; 21:27
knasa' (5375)
 • Exod 34:7

32:33
 Deut 29:20
 Ps 9:5
 Rev 3:5

32:34
 Exod 3:17; 23:20
 Ps 99:8

33:1
 Gen 12:7
 Exod 32:7, 13

33:2
 Exod 23:27-31

33:3
 Exod 3:8, 17; 32:9-10

33:4
 Num 14:1, 39
abab (0056)
 • 1 Sam 6:19

33:5
 Exod 33:3

33:7
 Exod 29:42-43

33:8
 Num 16:27

33:9
 Exod 13:21; 19:9;
 25:22
 Ps 99:7

33:11
 Num 12:8
 Deut 34:10

Moses Intercedes for Israel

³⁰The next day Moses said to the people, "You have committed a terrible sin, but I will go back up to the LORD on the mountain. Perhaps I will be able to obtain forgiveness for your sin."

³¹So Moses returned to the LORD and said, "Oh, what a terrible sin these people have committed. They have made gods of gold for themselves. ³²But now, if you will only ^kforgive their sin—but if not, erase my name from the record you have written!"

³³But the LORD replied to Moses, "No, I will erase the name of everyone who has sinned against me. ³⁴Now go, lead the people to the place I told you about. Look! My angel will lead the way before you. And when I come to call the people to account, I will certainly hold them responsible for their sins."

³⁵Then the LORD sent a great plague upon the people because they had worshiped the calf Aaron had made.

The LORD Will Go with Them

33 The LORD said to Moses, "Get going, you and the people you brought up from the land of Egypt. Go up to the land I swore to give to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. I told them, 'I will give this land to your descendants.' ²And I will send an angel before you to drive out the Canaanites, Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites.

³Go up to this land that flows with milk and honey. But I will not travel among you, for you are a stubborn and rebellious people. If I did, I would surely destroy you along the way."

⁴When the people heard these stern words, they ^awent into mourning and stopped wearing their jewelry and fine clothes. ⁵For the LORD had told Moses to tell them, "You are a stubborn and rebellious people. If I were to travel with you for even a moment, I would destroy you. Remove your jewelry and fine clothes while I decide what to do with you." ⁶So from the time they left Mount Sinai, the Israelites wore no more jewelry or fine clothes.

⁷It was Moses' practice to take the Tent of Meeting and set it up some distance from the camp. Everyone who wanted to make a request of the LORD would go to the Tent of Meeting outside the camp.

⁸Whenever Moses went out to the Tent of Meeting, all the people would get up and stand in the entrances of their own tents. They would all watch Moses until he disappeared inside. ⁹As he went into the tent, the pillar of cloud would come down and hover at its entrance while the LORD spoke with Moses. ¹⁰When the people saw the cloud standing at the entrance of the tent, they would stand and bow down in front of their own tents. ¹¹Inside the Tent of Meeting, the LORD would speak to Moses face to face, as 32:30-35 This further intercession for the people may have been needed because of Moses' new recognition of how serious the sin really was.

32:30 to obtain forgiveness: Or to make atonement. See note on 29:33.

32:32 As if underlining his earlier refusal of God's invitation to become a great nation at the people's expense, Moses here rather piously asked God to destroy him, too, if he chose not to forgive the people.

32:33 God dismissed Moses' request. He would bring judgment only on those who had sinned in the incident.

32:34 the place I told you about: Canaan, which God had promised to give to Abraham's descendants (see 3:17; 32:13; 33:1). • when I come to call the people to account: Because of God's mercy, judgment may not always come immediately (though in this instance God soon sent a plague, 32:35), but it will come for those who persist in sin (see Matt 13:24-30).

33:1-6 God would not lead the people up to Canaan as he had previously led them (see 33:3; but see also 33:14-17).

Instead, he would send an angel (33:2).

33:2-3 an angel. . . . But I will not travel: This angel was possibly not the "Angel of the Lord," since in Exodus and other parts of the OT, the Angel of the Lord is closely associated with the presence of the Lord himself (see 3:2; 23:20-23). Or, God might have been saying that while he would go before them in the person of the Angel (33:2), he would not dwell among them (33:3) in the Tabernacle, as he had planned. • Canaanites . . . Jebusites: See note on 3:8.

33:3 land that flows with milk and honey: Although Canaan was not as fertile as the Nile Valley in Egypt, it was a great deal more productive agriculturally than the Sinai Desert where they were. • stubborn and rebellious: They were covenant-breakers. • I would surely destroy you: As the Covenant Lord (see note on 23:20-33), he would enforce the terms of the covenant that called for the destruction of covenant-breakers (see 24:7-8 and notes).

33:4-6 The jewelry and fine clothes might have been worn while worshiping the gold calf. Here their removal signifies mourning (33:4) and repentance.

33:6 Sinai: Hebrew Horeb, another name for Sinai. See note on 3:1.

33:7-11 The means of communication between God and his people before the completion of the Tabernacle are probably recorded here to explain the communications in 33:1-6 and 33:12-23.

33:7 This Tent of Meeting is different from the Tabernacle described in chs 26 and 36. Although the Tabernacle is often referred to as the Tent of Meeting (see note on 27:21), the "Tent of Meeting" referred to here was another, temporary tent. When the Tabernacle was completed, it was located in the center of the camp (see Num 2:1-31).

33:8-11 get up and stand . . . stand and bow down: The people were awed by the thought that Moses was talking directly to God, face to face (33:11).

33:11 Just as Joshua had previously gained experience as a military leader (see 17:9-13), he was now gaining experience as a spiritual leader (see also 24:13). Here he may have remained behind to guard the tent, a function the Levites would later fulfill with the Tabernacle (1 Chr 26).

one speaks to a friend. Afterward Moses would return to the camp, but the young man who assisted him, Joshua son of Nun, would remain behind in the Tent of Meeting.

¹²One day Moses said to the LORD, "You have been telling me, 'Take these people up to the Promised Land.' But you haven't told me whom you will send with me. You have told me, 'I know you by name, and I look favorably on you.' ¹³If it is true that you look favorably on me, let me know your ways so I may understand you more fully and continue to enjoy your favor. And remember that this nation is your very own people."

¹⁴The LORD replied, "I will personally go with you, Moses, and I will give you rest—everything will be fine for you."

¹⁵Then Moses said, "If you don't personally go with us, don't make us leave this place. ¹⁶How will anyone know that you look favorably on me—on me and on your people—if you don't go with us? For your presence among us sets your people and me apart from all other people on the earth."

¹⁷The LORD replied to Moses, "I will indeed do what you have asked, for I look favorably on you, and I know you by name."

¹⁸Moses responded, "Then show me your glorious presence."

¹⁹The LORD replied, "I will make all my goodness pass before you, and I will call out my name, Yahweh, before you. For I will show mercy to anyone I choose, and I will ^bshow compassion to anyone I choose. ²⁰But you may not look directly at my face, for no one may see me and live." ²¹The LORD continued, "Look, stand near me on this rock. ²²As my glorious presence passes by, I will hide you in the crevice of the rock and cover you with my hand until I have passed by. ²³Then I will remove my hand and let you see me from behind. But my face will not be seen."

Moses Sees the Goodness of the Lord

34 Then the LORD told Moses, "Chisel out two stone tablets like the first ones. I will write on them the same words that were on the tablets you smashed. ²Be ready in the morning to climb up Mount Sinai and present yourself to me on the top of the mountain. ³No one else may come with you. In fact, no one is to appear anywhere on the mountain. Do not even let the flocks or herds graze near the mountain."

⁴So Moses chiseled out two tablets of stone like the first ones. Early in the morning he climbed Mount Sinai as the LORD had commanded him, and he carried the two stone tablets in his hands.

⁵Then the LORD came down in a cloud and stood there with him; and he called out his own name, Yahweh. ⁶The LORD passed in front of Moses, calling out,

33:12
Exod 3:10; 32:34
John 10:14-15
2 Tim 2:19

33:13
Exod 34:9
Ps 25:4; 27:11

33:14
Exod 13:21
Josh 22:4
Isa 63:9

33:15
Ps 80:3, 7, 19

33:16
Exod 34:10
Lev 20:24, 26
Num 14:14

33:17
Exod 33:12

33:18
Exod 33:20, 23

33:19
*Rom 9:15
*Brakham (7355)
*2 Kgs 13:23

33:20
Isa 6:5
John 1:18
1 Tim 6:16

33:22
Ps 91:1, 4
Isa 49:2; 51:16
*tsur (6697)
*Deut 32:4

33:23
John 1:18

34:1
Exod 24:12; 32:19
Deut 10:2, 4

34:3
Exod 19:12-13

34:5
Exod 33:19

34:6
Num 14:18
Neh 9:17

33:12-23 Moses begged for God to go with him and the people to the Promised Land. In these verses the word personally (33:14-15) usually reflects a Hebrew term literally rendered face. Moses wanted to continue experiencing the "face to face" relationship he had begun to have (33:11). He also wanted the people to have that experience in some sense.

33:12 I know you by name: Moses had been appointed by God himself.

33:13 let me know your ways: Moses did not merely want God's blessings; he wanted to know God's nature and character, as well as the manner of and reasons for his actions. God's goal of revealing himself was beginning to be realized, at least in one person. • Moses wanted God himself to accompany them, because they were the Lord's own people.

33:14 I will give you rest: Literally a place to roost, as in a place where a bird can land and be at peace. Ever since Abraham left Ur, he and his descendants had had no such place.

33:15-16 Moses made his request even more direct. Again he showed his understanding of what God was doing. The Exodus was not merely about getting the Israelites out of Egypt so they could go to Canaan. It was about a personal experience of God that would change how they lived. If that was not possible, then they might just as well have stayed at Sinai. Going on to Canaan would be disastrous without the Lord.

33:17 The LORD reaffirmed his agreement to go with them and his personal appointment of Moses.

33:18 Moses asked for confirmation of God's promises. He asked to see God's glorious presence (literally glory). He was asking for an experience of seeing the very essence of God (see note on 16:7).

33:19 In his positive reply, God subtly changed the terms. He would grant Moses a glorious experience, but he would not show Moses his face. Rather, he would show him his goodness and express his character (my name), marked above all by mercy and compassion (see Rom 9:14-16). • Yahweh: See note on 3:15. Here God is emphasizing his own personal name.

33:20-23 God longs to show us his character, but to see his face (his essence) and his glorious presence (33:22) would be to die. Moses was permitted a glimpse of that, but nothing more.

34:1-35 God granted Moses' request (33:18), showed Moses his goodness (34:1-9), and renewed the covenant (34:10-35). This renewal was a unilateral statement by God. God would indeed go with his people, maintaining his covenant promises even though they had broken the covenant (32:1-6) and deserved nothing better than death and abandonment.

34:1-3 God called Moses to come back up Mount Sinai with two new stone tablets. The restrictions for the rest of the people are like those made at first (see 19:12-13, 21-25).

34:5-9 Moses experienced God's presence in a revelation of the name, or character, of God. As God had promised (33:19), he showed Moses the glory of his goodness.

34:5-6 Yahweh: See note on 3:15. Here God is emphasizing his personal name.

34:6 compassion and mercy (see 20:5-6; 33:19 and notes): The Creator who was revealing himself to the Israelites, and through them to the world, is a God of grace. Neither his justice nor his sovereignty are underlined here, as true as those attributes are. If God were merely just, the OT would have ended at this

Ps 86:15; 103:8
 d'arek 'appayim (0750, 0639)

Num 14:18
 e'emet (0571)
 Ps 25:5

34:7

Exod 20:6-7

Deut 5:10

Nah 1:3

'nasa' (5375)

Josh 24:19

špeshā' (6588)

Ps 32:1

34:9

Num 14:19

Deut 4:20; 32:9

Ps 25:11

34:10

Deut 5:2-3

Ps 72:18; 136:4

34:11

Exod 33:2

Deut 6:3

34:12

Exod 23:32-33

34:13

Exod 23:24

Deut 7:5; 12:3; 16:21

2 Chr 34:3-4

34:14

Exod 20:3

Deut 4:24

hanna' (7067)

Deut 4:24

34:15

Num 25:2

Judg 2:17

34:16

Deut 7:3

Josh 23:12

34:17

Exod 20:4, 23

34:18

Exod 12:2, 15-17

34:19

Exod 13:2; 22:29

34:20

Exod 13:13, 15

Num 3:45

"Yahweh! The LORD!

The God of compassion and mercy!

I am ^dslow to anger and filled with unfailing love and ^efaithfulness.

⁷ I lavish unfailing love to a thousand generations.

I ^fforgive iniquity, ^grebellion, and sin.

But I do not excuse the guilty.

I lay the sins of the parents upon their children and grandchildren;

the entire family is affected—even children in the third and fourth generations."

⁸Moses immediately threw himself to the ground and worshiped. ⁹And he said, "O Lord, if it is true that I have found favor with you, then please travel with us. Yes, this is a stubborn and rebellious people, but please forgive our iniquity and our sins. Claim us as your own special possession."

The LORD Renews the Covenant

¹⁰The LORD replied, "Listen, I am making a covenant with you in the presence of all your people. I will perform miracles that have never been performed anywhere in all the earth or in any nation. And all the people around you will see the power of the LORD—the awesome power I will display for you. ¹¹But listen carefully to everything I command you today. Then I will go ahead of you and drive out the Amorites, Canaanites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites.

¹²"Be very careful never to make a treaty with the people who live in the land where you are going. If you do, you will follow their evil ways and be trapped. ¹³Instead, you must break down their pagan altars, smash their sacred pillars, and cut down their Asherah poles. ¹⁴You must worship no other gods, for the LORD, whose very name is ^hjealous, is a God who is ^hjealous about his relationship with you.

¹⁵"You must not make a treaty of any kind with the people living in the land. They lust after their gods, offering sacrifices to them. They will invite you to join them in their sacrificial meals, and you will go with them. ¹⁶Then you will accept their daughters, who sacrifice to other gods, as wives for your sons. And they will seduce your sons to commit adultery against me by worshiping other gods. ¹⁷You must not make any gods of molten metal for yourselves.

¹⁸"You must celebrate the Festival of Unleavened Bread. For seven days the bread you eat must be made without yeast, just as I commanded you. Celebrate this festival annually at the appointed time in early spring, in the month of Abib, for that is the anniversary of your departure from Egypt.

¹⁹"The firstborn of every animal belongs to me, including the firstborn males from your herds of cattle and your flocks of sheep and goats. ²⁰A firstborn donkey may be bought back from the LORD by presenting a lamb or young goat in its place. But if point, or it would have picked up and started again with an entirely new family. This did not happen because God, in his unique character, is slow to anger and full of unfailing love and faithfulness. These qualities were the basis for his renewal of the covenant.

34:7 God's unfailing love and his generous desire to forgive are not weakness or indecisiveness, nor are they reason to sin. Sin will have its effects, because God created a world of cause and effect. The murderer may repent, be forgiven, and lead a new life, but the effects of his previous choices will continue to play out. We should not sin just because we know that God will forgive. • a thousand generations: Literally for thousands. See Deut 7:9-11. • I lay the sins of the parents: Our sins affect future generations of descendants, but God restricts the natural effect of those sins to three or four generations.

34:8-9 Since the Lord had already twice promised to go with them (33:14, 17), this renewed request seems to show a lack of faith. It may also be that God's presence had driven home to Moses how absolutely holy God is and how very different he is from this stubborn and rebellious people. Here Moses took his request a step further and asked God to travel with the people and make them his own special possession (see 19:6). Moses asked for the complete restoration of the relationship.

34:10-26 Some of the terms of the covenant are restated, particularly those that prohibit the worship of other gods and that describe the proper worship of the Lord.

34:10-11 God committed himself again to the miraculous care of his people in bringing them into the land of Canaan. That care was contingent on obedience. In Hebrew, the word translated listen (34:11) also means obey. There is no distinction as there is in English, in which a disobedient person can hear a command but not obey.

34:12-17 Worship of idols was prohibited, particularly the idols of the peoples into whose lands the Israelites were going. Central to this restriction was the prohibition of treaties, or covenants, with these idol-worshipping peoples. Not only would the making of a treaty involve recognizing those peoples' gods (because ancient treaties would call upon the gods as witnesses; see note on 20:1-23:33), but the very existence of the treaties would predispose the Israelites to accept the ways of their treaty partners (34:12, 15-16).

34:13 Asherah was a Canaanite fertility goddess who would continue to be a temptation throughout Israel's history (see, e.g., Judg 6:25; 1 Kgs 14:15; 2 Kgs 23:15). • The poles seem to have been fertility symbols.

34:16 Intermarriage with pagans was a problem throughout the OT (see Gen 24:3; Ezra 9:1-2; cp. 2 Cor 6:14-18).

34:18 appointed time in early spring, in the month of Abib: Literally appointed time in the month of Abib. See note on 23:15. See also chart, "Israel's Annual Calendar," p. 145.

34:19 firstborn males: As in Greek version; the meaning of the Hebrew word is uncertain.

you do not buy it back, you must break its neck. However, you must buy back every firstborn son.

¹⁹"No one may appear before me without an offering.

²¹"You have six days each week for your ordinary work, but on the seventh day you must stop working, even during the seasons of plowing and harvest.

²²"You must celebrate the Festival of Harvest with the first crop of the wheat harvest, and celebrate the Festival of the Final Harvest at the end of the harvest season.

²³Three times each year every man in Israel must appear before the Sovereign, the LORD, the God of Israel. ²⁴I will drive out the other nations ahead of you and expand your territory, so no one will covet and conquer your land while you appear before the LORD your God three times each year.

²⁵"You must not offer the blood of my sacrificial offerings together with any baked goods containing yeast. And none of the meat of the Passover sacrifice may be kept over until the next morning.

²⁶"As you harvest your crops, bring the very best of the first harvest to the house of the LORD your God.

"You must not cook a young goat in its mother's milk."

²⁷Then the LORD said to Moses, "Write down all these instructions, for they represent the terms of the covenant I am making with you and with Israel."

²⁸Moses remained there on the mountain with the LORD forty days and forty nights. In all that time he ate no bread and drank no water. And the LORD wrote the terms of the covenant—the Ten Commandments—on the stone tablets.

²⁹When Moses came down Mount Sinai carrying the two stone tablets inscribed with the terms of the covenant, he wasn't aware that his face had become radiant because he had spoken to the LORD. ³⁰So when Aaron and the people of Israel saw the radiance of Moses' face, they were afraid to come near him.

³¹But Moses called out to them and asked Aaron and all the leaders of the community to come over, and he talked with them.

³²Then all the people of Israel approached him, and Moses gave them all the instructions the LORD had given him on Mount Sinai. ³³When Moses finished speaking with them, he covered his face with a veil.

³⁴But whenever he went into the Tent of Meeting to speak with the LORD, he would remove the veil until he came out again. Then he would give the people whatever instructions the LORD had given him, ³⁵and the people of Israel would see the radiant glow of his face. So he would put the veil over his face until he returned to speak with the LORD.

Constructing the Tabernacle: Securing God's Presence in God's Way (35:1–40:38) Instructions for the Sabbath

35 Then Moses called together the whole community of Israel and told them, "These are the instructions the LORD has commanded you to follow. ²You have six days each week for your ordinary work, but the seventh day must be a Sabbath day of complete rest, a holy day dedicated to the LORD. Anyone who works on that day must be put to death. ³You must not even light a fire in any of your homes on the Sabbath."

Offerings for the Tabernacle

⁴Then Moses said to the whole community of Israel, "This is what the LORD has commanded: ⁵Take a sacred offering for the LORD. Let those with generous hearts present the following gifts to the LORD:

34:21
Exod 31:15; 35:2

34:22
Exod 23:16

34:23
Exod 23:14-17
Deut 16:16

34:24
Exod 33:2
Josh 11:23

34:25
Exod 12:10; 23:18

34:26
Exod 23:19
Deut 26:2

34:27
Exod 17:14; 24:4

34:28
Exod 24:18
Deut 4:13; 10:4

34:29
Exod 32:15
Matt 17:2
2 Cor 3:7, 13

34:33
2 Cor 3:13

34:34
2 Cor 3:16

34:35
2 Cor 3:13

35:1
Exod 34:32

35:2
Exod 20:9-10; 23:12;
31:15; 34:21
Num 15:32-36
Deut 5:13-14

35:3
Exod 16:23

35:4-9
//Exod 25:1-9

34:22 Festival of Harvest: Literally Festival of Weeks. • Festival of the Final Harvest: Or Festival of Ingathering. See notes on 23:16; Lev 23:15-19, 33-36, 39-43.

34:23 Three times: See 23:14-17.

34:24 No one will . . . conquer your land: If Israel would trust God and obey him, he would protect them.

34:27-28 Moses wrote down this reiteration of the general terms of the covenant (34:27), while the LORD (literally he) miraculously wrote . . . the Ten Commandments (literally the ten words), the summary of the terms, on the new tablets (34:28).

34:29-35 Moses, who had asked to see the glory of God, wasn't aware that his own face reflected that glory.

34:29 the two stone tablets inscribed with the terms of the covenant: Literally the two tablets of the Testimony. See note on 25:16.

34:33 covered his face with a veil: While Moses was reporting what God had said to him, he left his face unveiled. Then he covered it, perhaps because of the fright (34:30) its radiance caused during ordinary discourse (see 2 Cor 3:7-18 for Paul's reflection on this incident).

35:1–40:38 Much of the report of the building of the Tabernacle reiterates what was said in 25:1–31:18. There is a change from the imperative mood to the indicative, and there are certain changes in the order. This repetition underlines the point that the work was done exactly as God had commanded (see 40:16). The people had tried to secure God's presence in their own way with the gold calf, and the result was disaster. Now they were doing it in God's way, resulting in blessing (40:34-38).

35:4–36:7 Unlike the creation of the gold calf, where Aaron demanded that one type of material (earrings) be given (see note on 32:2-4), the people were again invited to bring a variety of gifts (35:4-9) as their hearts were stirred and

35:10-19
//Exod 39:32-41

35:11
'mishkan (4908)
• Lev 8:10

35:21
Exod 25:2; 35:5

35:23
Exod 39:1

35:25
Exod 28:3

35:27
1 Chr 29:6
Ezra 2:68

35:29
1 Chr 29:9

35:30-35
//Exod 31:2-6

35:34
Exod 31:6

35:35
Exod 31:3, 6; 35:31
1 Kgs 7:14

36:1
Exod 25:8
ikhokmah (2451)
• 1 Kgs 4:29

- gold, silver, and bronze;
⁶ blue, purple, and scarlet thread;
 fine linen and goat hair for cloth;
⁷ tanned ram skins and fine goatskin leather;
 acacia wood;
⁸ olive oil for the lamps;
 spices for the anointing oil and the fragrant incense;
⁹ onyx stones, and other gemstones to be set in the ephod and the priest's chest-piece.
¹⁰ "Come, all of you who are gifted craftsmen. Construct everything that the LORD has commanded:
¹¹ the Tabernacle and its sacred tent, its covering, clasps, frames, crossbars, posts, and bases;
¹² the Ark and its carrying poles;
 the Ark's cover—the place of atonement;
 the inner curtain to shield the Ark;
¹³ the table, its carrying poles, and all its utensils;
 the Bread of the Presence;
¹⁴ for light, the lampstand, its accessories, the lamp cups, and the olive oil for lighting;
¹⁵ the incense altar and its carrying poles;
 the anointing oil and fragrant incense;
 the curtain for the entrance of the Tabernacle;
¹⁶ the altar of burnt offering; the bronze grating of the altar and its carrying poles and utensils;
 the washbasin with its stand;
¹⁷ the curtains for the walls of the courtyard;
 the posts and their bases;
 the curtain for the entrance to the courtyard;
¹⁸ the tent pegs of the Tabernacle and courtyard and their ropes;
¹⁹ the beautifully stitched garments for the priests to wear while ministering in the Holy Place—the sacred garments for Aaron the priest, and the garments for his sons to wear as they minister as priests."

²⁰ So the whole community of Israel left Moses and returned to their tents. ²¹ All whose hearts were stirred and whose spirits were moved came and brought their sacred offerings to the LORD. They brought all the materials needed for the Tabernacle, for the performance of its rituals, and for the sacred garments. ²² Both men and women came, all whose hearts were willing.

 They brought to the LORD their offerings of gold—brooches, earrings, rings from their fingers, and necklaces. They presented gold objects of every kind as a special offering to the LORD. ²³ All those who owned the following items willingly brought them: blue, purple, and scarlet thread; fine linen and goat hair for cloth; and tanned ram skins and fine goatskin leather. ²⁴ And all who had silver and bronze objects gave them as a sacred offering to the LORD. And those who had acacia wood brought it for use in the project.

²⁵ All the women who were skilled in sewing and spinning prepared blue, purple, and scarlet thread, and fine linen cloth.
²⁶ All the women who were willing used their skills to spin the goat hair into yarn.
²⁷ The leaders brought onyx stones and the special gemstones to be set in the ephod and the priest's chestpiece. ²⁸ They also brought spices and olive oil for the light, the anointing oil, and the fragrant incense.
²⁹ So the people of Israel—every man and woman who was eager to help in the work the LORD had given them through Moses—brought their gifts and gave them freely to the LORD.

Craftsmen: Bezalel and Oholiab

³⁰ Then Moses told the people of Israel, "The LORD has specifically chosen Bezalel son of Uri, grandson of Hur, of the tribe of Judah.
³¹ The LORD has filled Bezalel with the Spirit of God, giving him great wisdom, ability, and expertise in all kinds of crafts. ³² He is a master craftsman, expert in working with gold, silver, and bronze. ³³ He is skilled in engraving and mounting gemstones and in carving wood. He is a master at every craft. ³⁴ And the LORD has given both him and Oholiab son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan, the ability to teach their skills to others. ³⁵ The LORD has given them special skills as engravers, designers, embroiderers in blue, purple, and scarlet thread on fine linen cloth, and weavers. They excel as craftsmen and as designers.

36 "The LORD has gifted Bezalel, Oho-liab, and the other skilled craftsmen with wisdom and ability to perform any task involved in building the sanctuary.

their spirits were moved (35:21). Perhaps because the variety of gifts meant that everyone could bring something and because the giving was voluntary, the people gave too much and had to be commanded to stop (36:4-7).

35:21 Tabernacle: Literally Tent of Meeting. See note on 27:21.

Let them construct and furnish the Tabernacle, just as the LORD has commanded."

²So Moses summoned Bezalel and Oholiab and all the others who were specially gifted by the LORD and were eager to get to work. ³Moses gave them the materials donated by the people of Israel as sacred offerings for the completion of the sanctuary. But the people continued to bring additional gifts each morning. ⁴Finally the craftsmen who were working on the sanctuary left their work. ⁵They went to Moses and reported, "The people have given more than enough materials to complete the job the LORD has commanded us to do!"

⁶So Moses gave the command, and this message was sent throughout the camp: "Men and women, don't prepare any more gifts for the sanctuary. We have enough!" So the people stopped bringing their sacred offerings. ⁷Their contributions were more than enough to complete the whole project.

Building the Tabernacle

⁸The skilled craftsmen made ten curtains of finely woven linen for the Tabernacle. Then Bezalel decorated the curtains with blue, purple, and scarlet thread and with skillfully embroidered cherubim. ⁹All ten curtains were exactly the same size—42 feet long and 6 feet wide. ¹⁰Five of these curtains were joined together to make one long curtain, and the other five were joined to make a second long curtain. ¹¹He made fifty loops of blue yarn and put them along the edge of the last curtain in each set. ¹²The fifty loops along the edge of one curtain matched the fifty loops along the edge of the other curtain. ¹³Then he made fifty gold clasps and fastened the long curtains together with the clasps. In this way, the Tabernacle was made of one continuous piece.

¹⁴He made eleven curtains of goat-hair cloth to serve as a tent covering for the Tabernacle. ¹⁵These eleven curtains were all exactly the same size—45 feet long and 6 feet wide. ¹⁶Bezalel joined five of these curtains together to make one long curtain, and the other six were joined to make a second long curtain. ¹⁷He made fifty loops for the edge of each large curtain. ¹⁸He also made fifty bronze clasps to fasten the long curtains together. In this way, the tent covering was made of one continuous piece. ¹⁹He completed the tent covering with a layer of tanned ram skins and a layer of fine goat-skin leather.

²⁰For the framework of the Tabernacle, Bezalel constructed frames of acacia wood. ²¹Each frame was 15 feet high and 27 inches wide, ²²with two pegs under each frame. All the frames were identical. ²³He made twenty of these frames to support the curtains on the south side of the Tabernacle. ²⁴He also made forty silver bases—two bases under each frame, with the pegs fitting securely into the bases. ²⁵For the north side of the Tabernacle, he made another twenty frames, ²⁶with their forty silver bases, two bases under each frame. ²⁷He made six frames for the rear—the west side of the Tabernacle—²⁸along with two additional frames to reinforce the rear corners of the Tabernacle. ²⁹These corner frames were matched at the bottom and firmly attached at the top with a single ring, forming a single corner unit. Both of these corner units were made the same way. ³⁰So there were eight frames at the rear of the Tabernacle, set in sixteen silver bases—two bases under each frame.

³¹Then he made crossbars of acacia wood to link the frames, five crossbars for the north side of the Tabernacle ³²and five for the south side. He also made five crossbars for the rear of the Tabernacle, which faced west. ³³He made the middle crossbar to attach halfway up the frames; it ran all the way from one end of the Tabernacle to the other. ³⁴He overlaid the frames with gold and made gold rings to hold the crossbars. Then he overlaid the crossbars with gold as well.

³⁵For the inside of the Tabernacle, Bezalel made a special curtain of finely woven linen. He decorated it with blue, purple, and scarlet thread and with skillfully embroidered cherubim. ³⁶For the curtain, he made four posts of acacia wood and four gold hooks. He overlaid the posts with gold and set them in four silver bases.

³⁷Then he made another curtain for the entrance to the sacred tent. He made it of finely woven linen and embroidered it with exquisite designs using blue, purple, and scarlet thread. ³⁸This curtain was hung on gold hooks attached to five posts. The posts with their decorated tops and hooks were overlaid with gold, and the five bases were cast from bronze.

36:2

Exod 35:21, 26

1 Chr 29:5

36:5

2 Chr 24:14, 31:6, 10

2 Cor 11:2, 3

36:7

1 Kgs 11:6, 4

36:8-10

2 Cor 11:2, 3

36:14

Exod 26:2

36:20-24

Exod 26:15, 29,

40:10, 19

36:15-18

Exod 26:31, 37

36:8 Bezalel: literally he; also in 36:16, 20, 35. See 37:1.

36:9 42 feet long and 6 feet wide:

Hebrew 28 cubits [12.9 meters] long and 4 cubits [1.8 meters] wide.

36:15 45 feet long and 6 feet wide: Hebrew 10 cubits [3.3 meters] long and 4 cubits [1.8 meters] wide.

36:21 15 feet high and 27 inches wide: Hebrew 10 cubits [4.6 meters] high and 1.5 cubits [69 centimeters] wide.

37:1-9
//Exod 25:10-20

37:1
Deut 10:3

37:10-16
//Exod 25:23-29;
40:22

37:17-24
//Exod 25:31-39;
40:24

37:17
Heb 9:2
Rev 1:12

37:25-28
//Exod 30:1-5

37:25
Heb 9:4
Rev 8:3

37:29
Exod 30:22-23; 40:9
Lev 8:10

38:1-7
//Exod 27:1-8;
40:10, 29

Building the Ark of the Covenant

37 Next Bezalel made the Ark of acacia wood—a sacred chest 45 inches long, 27 inches wide, and 27 inches high. ²He overlaid it inside and outside with pure gold, and he ran a molding of gold all around it. ³He cast four gold rings and attached them to its four feet, two rings on each side. ⁴Then he made poles from acacia wood and overlaid them with gold. ⁵He inserted the poles into the rings at the sides of the Ark to carry it.

⁶Then he made the Ark's cover—the place of atonement—from pure gold. It was 45 inches long and 27 inches wide. ⁷He made two cherubim from hammered gold and placed them on the two ends of the atonement cover. ⁸He molded the cherubim on each end of the atonement cover, making it all of one piece of gold. ⁹The cherubim faced each other and looked down on the atonement cover. With their wings spread above it, they protected it.

Building the Table

¹⁰Then Bezalel made the table of acacia wood, 36 inches long, 18 inches wide, and 27 inches high. ¹¹He overlaid it with pure gold and ran a gold molding around the edge. ¹²He decorated it with a 3-inch border all around, and he ran a gold molding along the border. ¹³Then he cast four gold rings for the table and attached them at the four corners next to the four legs. ¹⁴The rings were attached near the border to hold the poles that were used to carry the table. ¹⁵He made these poles from acacia wood and overlaid them with gold. ¹⁶Then he made special containers of pure gold for the table—bowls, ladles, jars, and pitchers—to be used in pouring out liquid offerings.

Building the Lampstand

¹⁷Then Bezalel made the lampstand of pure, hammered gold. He made the entire lampstand and its decorations of one piece—the base, center stem, lamp cups, buds, and petals. ¹⁸The lampstand had six branches going out from the center stem, three on each side. ¹⁹Each of the six branches had three lamp cups shaped like almond blossoms, complete with buds and petals. ²⁰The center stem of the lampstand was crafted with four lamp cups shaped like almond blossoms, complete with buds and petals. ²¹There was an almond bud beneath each pair of branches where the six branches extended from the center stem, all made of one piece. ²²The almond buds and branches were all of one piece with the center stem, and they were hammered from pure gold.

²³He also made seven lamps for the lampstand, lamp snuffers, and trays, all of pure gold. ²⁴The entire lampstand, along with its accessories, was made from seventy-five pounds of pure gold.

Building the Incense Altar

²⁵Then Bezalel made the incense altar of acacia wood. It was 18 inches square and 36 inches high, with horns at the corners carved from the same piece of wood as the altar itself. ²⁶He overlaid the top, sides, and horns of the altar with pure gold, and he ran a gold molding around the entire altar. ²⁷He made two gold rings and attached them on opposite sides of the altar below the gold molding to hold the carrying poles. ²⁸He made the poles of acacia wood and overlaid them with gold.

²⁹Then he made the sacred anointing oil and the fragrant incense, using the techniques of a skilled incense maker.

Building the Altar of Burnt Offering

38 Next Bezalel used acacia wood to construct the square altar of burnt offering. It was 7½ feet wide, 7½ feet long, and 4½ feet high. ²He made horns for each of its four corners so that the horns and altar were all one piece. He overlaid the altar with bronze. ³Then he made all the altar utensils of bronze—the ash buckets, shovels, basins, meat forks, and firepans. ⁴Next he made a bronze grating and installed it halfway down the side of the altar, under 37:1-29 While it is said that Bezalel made the Ark and all the rest of the furnishings (37:1, 10, 17, 25) as well as the courtyard and its furnishings (38:1, 8, 9, 18), this is probably only a way of saying that he was responsible and directed the other craftsmen and seamstresses.

37:1 45 inches long, 27 inches wide, and 27 inches high: Hebrew 2.5 cubits [115 centimeters] long, 1.5 cubits [69 centimeters] wide, and 1.5 cubits high.

37:6 45 inches long and 27 inches wide:

Hebrew 2.5 cubits [115 centimeters] long and 1.5 cubits [69 centimeters] wide.

37:10 Bezalel: Literally he; also in 37:17, 25. See 37:1. • 36 inches long, 18 inches wide, and 27 inches high: Hebrew 2 cubits [92 centimeters] long, 1 cubit [46 centimeters] wide, and 1.5 cubits [69 centimeters] high.

37:12 a 3-inch border: Hebrew a border of a handbreadth [8 centimeters].

37:24 seventy-five pounds: Hebrew 1 talent [34 kilograms].

37:25 18 inches square and 36 inches high: Hebrew 1 cubit [46 centimeters] long and 1 cubit wide, a square, and 2 cubits [92 centimeters] high.

38:1-20 This section reports on building the courtyard (38:9-20) and its equipment, including the altar of burnt offering (38:1-7) and the washbasin (38:8).

38:1 Bezalel: Literally he; also in 38:8, 9. See 37:1. • 7½ feet wide, 7½ feet long, and 4½ feet high: Hebrew 5 cubits [2.3 meters] wide, 5 cubits long, a square, and 3 cubits [1.4 meters] high.

the ledge. ⁵He cast four rings and attached them to the corners of the bronze grating to hold the carrying poles. ⁶He made the poles from acacia wood and overlaid them with bronze. ⁷He inserted the poles through the rings on the sides of the altar. The altar was hollow and was made from planks.

Building the Washbasin

⁸Bezalel made the bronze washbasin and its bronze stand from bronze mirrors donated by the women who served at the entrance of the Tabernacle.

Building the Courtyard

⁹Then Bezalel made the courtyard, which was enclosed with curtains made of finely woven linen. On the south side the curtains were 150 feet long. ¹⁰They were held up by twenty posts set securely in twenty bronze bases. He hung the curtains with silver hooks and rings. ¹¹He made a similar set of curtains for the north side—150 feet of curtains held up by twenty posts set securely in bronze bases. He hung the curtains with silver hooks and rings. ¹²The curtains on the west end of the courtyard were 75 feet long, hung with silver hooks and rings and supported by ten posts set into ten bases. ¹³The east end, the front, was also 75 feet long.

¹⁴The courtyard entrance was on the east end, flanked by two curtains. The curtain on the right side was 22½ feet long and was supported by three posts set into three bases. ¹⁵The curtain on the left side was also 22½ feet long and was supported by three posts set into three bases. ¹⁶All the curtains used in the courtyard were made of finely woven linen. ¹⁷Each post had a bronze base, and all the hooks and rings were silver. The tops of the posts of the courtyard were overlaid with silver, and the rings to hold up the curtains were made of silver.

¹⁸He made the curtain for the entrance to the courtyard of finely woven linen, and he decorated it with beautiful embroidery in blue, purple, and scarlet thread. It was 30 feet long, and its height was 7½ feet, just like the curtains of the courtyard walls. ¹⁹It was supported by four posts, each set securely in its own bronze base. The tops of the posts were overlaid with silver, and the hooks and rings were also made of silver.

²⁰All the tent pegs used in the Tabernacle and courtyard were made of bronze.

Inventory of Materials

²¹This is an inventory of the materials used in building the Tabernacle of the Covenant. The Levites compiled the figures, as Moses directed, and Ithamar son of Aaron the priest served as recorder. ²²Bezalel son of Uri, grandson of Hur, of the tribe of Judah, made everything just as the LORD had commanded Moses. ²³He was assisted by Oholiab son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan, a craftsman expert at engraving, designing, and embroidering with blue, purple, and scarlet thread on fine linen cloth.

²⁴The people brought special offerings of gold totaling 2,193 pounds, as measured by the weight of the sanctuary shekel. This gold was used throughout the Tabernacle.

²⁵The whole community of Israel gave 7,545 pounds of silver, as measured by the weight of the sanctuary shekel. ²⁶This silver came from the tax collected from each man registered in the census. (The tax is one beka, which is half a shekel, based on the sanctuary shekel.) The tax was collected from 603,550 men who had reached their twentieth birthday. ²⁷The hundred bases for the frames of the sanctuary walls and for the posts supporting the inner curtain required 7,500 pounds of silver, about 75 pounds for each base. ²⁸The remaining 45 pounds of 38:8

Exod 30:18

38:9-20
//Exod 27:9-19; 40:8

38:25-26
Exod 12:37; 30:11-16
Num 1:46; 26:51

38:8 While the plans for the washbasin (30:17-21) were included in the instructions to the priests (29:38–30:38), here its construction is reported in logical sequence. • This bronze, which could be polished to a mirror-like finish, was probably of especially high quality, as was fitting for use in God's Tabernacle. • Tabernacle: Literally Tent of Meeting; also in 38:30. See note on 27:21.

38:9 150 feet long: Hebrew 100 cubits [46 meters]; also in 38:11.

38:12 75 feet long: Hebrew 50 cubits [23 meters]; also in 38:13.

38:14 22½ feet long: Hebrew 15 cubits [6.9 meters]; also in 38:15.

38:18 30 feet long, and its height was

7½ feet: Hebrew 20 cubits [9.2 meters] long and 5 cubits [2.3 meters] high.

38:21-29 The immense amount of metal reported in this inventory of materials (more than a ton of gold, almost four tons of silver, and two and a half tons of bronze) reflects the Egyptians' eagerness to get the Israelites out of Egypt, giving the Israelites anything they asked for in order to hurry them on their way (see 12:35-36).

38:21 Since the Tabernacle contained the Ark of the Covenant, it is called the Tabernacle of the Covenant (literally the Tabernacle, the Tabernacle of the Testimony; see note on 25:16).

38:24 2,193 pounds: Hebrew 29 talents and 730 shekels [994 kilograms]. Each shekel weighed about 0.4 ounces or 11 grams.

38:25 7,545 pounds: Hebrew 100 talents and 1,775 shekels [3,420 kilograms].

38:26 For the earlier discussion of this tax, see 30:11-16. • one beka, which is half a shekel: Or 0.2 ounces [6 grams]. The sanctuary shekel was evidently the standard against which other weights were measured for accuracy. • 603,550: See note on 12:37.

38:27 7,500 pounds of silver, about 75 pounds for each base: Hebrew 100 talents [3,400 kilograms] of silver, 1 talent [34 kilograms] for each base.

38:28 45 pounds: Hebrew 1,775 [shekels] [20.2 kilograms].

39:1
Exod 35:23

39:2-7
//Exod 28:6-14

39:8-21
//Exod 28:15-28

39:14
Rev 21:12

39:22-31
//Exod 28:31-43

39:27
Exod 28:39-40, 42

silver was used to make the hooks and rings and to overlay the tops of the posts.

²⁹The people also brought as special offerings 5,310 pounds of bronze, ³⁰which was used for casting the bases for the posts at the entrance to the Tabernacle, and for the bronze altar with its bronze grating and all the altar utensils. ³¹Bronze was also used to make the bases for the posts that supported the curtains around the courtyard, the bases for the curtain at the entrance of the courtyard, and all the tent pegs for the Tabernacle and the courtyard.

Clothing for the Priests

39 The craftsmen made beautiful sacred garments of blue, purple, and scarlet cloth—clothing for Aaron to wear while ministering in the Holy Place, just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

Making the Ephod

²Bezalel made the ephod of finely woven linen and embroidered it with gold and with blue, purple, and scarlet thread. ³He made gold thread by hammering out thin sheets of gold and cutting it into fine strands. With great skill and care, he worked it into the fine linen with the blue, purple, and scarlet thread.

⁴The ephod consisted of two pieces, front and back, joined at the shoulders with two shoulder-pieces. ⁵The decorative sash was made of the same materials: finely woven linen embroidered with gold and with blue, purple, and scarlet thread, just as the LORD had commanded Moses. ⁶They mounted the two onyx stones in settings of gold filigree. The stones were engraved with the names of the tribes of Israel, just as a seal is engraved. ⁷He fastened these stones on the shoulder-pieces of the ephod as a reminder that the priest represents the people of Israel. All this was done just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

Making the Chestpiece

⁸Bezalel made the chestpiece with great skill and care. He made it to match the ephod, using finely woven linen embroidered with gold and with blue, purple, and scarlet thread. ⁹He made the chestpiece of a single piece of cloth folded to form a pouch nine inches square. ¹⁰They mounted four rows of gemstones on it. The first row contained a red carnelian, a pale-green peridot, and an emerald. ¹¹The second row contained a turquoise, a blue lapis lazuli, and a white moonstone. ¹²The third row contained an orange jacinth, an agate, and a purple amethyst. ¹³The fourth row contained a blue-green beryl, an onyx, and a green jasper. All these stones were set in gold filigree. ¹⁴Each stone represented one of the twelve sons of Israel, and the name of that tribe was engraved on it like a seal.

¹⁵To attach the chestpiece to the ephod, they made braided cords of pure gold thread. ¹⁶They also made two settings of gold filigree and two gold rings and attached them to the top corners of the chestpiece. ¹⁷They tied the two gold cords to the rings on the chestpiece. ¹⁸They tied the other ends of the cords to the gold settings on the shoulder-pieces of the ephod. ¹⁹Then they made two more gold rings and attached them to the inside edges of the chestpiece next to the ephod. ²⁰Then they made two more gold rings and attached them to the front of the ephod, below the shoulder-pieces, just above the knot where the decorative sash was fastened to the ephod. ²¹They attached the bottom rings of the chestpiece to the rings on the ephod with blue cords. In this way, the chestpiece was held securely to the ephod above the decorative sash. All this was done just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

Additional Clothing for the Priests

²²Bezalel made the robe that is worn with the ephod from a single piece of blue woven cloth, ²³with an opening for Aaron's head in the middle of it. The opening was reinforced with a woven collar so it would not tear. ²⁴They made pomegranates of blue, purple, and scarlet yarn, and attached them to the hem of the robe. ²⁵They also made bells of pure gold and placed them between the pomegranates along the hem of the robe, ²⁶with bells and pomegranates alternating all around the hem. This robe was to be worn whenever the priest ministered before the LORD, just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

²⁷They made tunics for Aaron and his sons from fine linen cloth. ²⁸The turban and the special head coverings were made of fine linen, and the undergarments were 38:29 5,310 pounds: Hebrew 70 talents and 2,400 shekels [2,407 kilograms].

39:1-31 See 28:1-43 and notes.

39:2 Bezalel: Literally He; also in 39:8,

22. See 36:1-3.

39:9 nine inches: Hebrew 1 span [23 centimeters].

39:10 The identification of some of these gemstones is uncertain.

39:23 The opening was reinforced with a woven collar: The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain.

also made of finely woven linen. ²⁹The sashes were made of finely woven linen and embroidered with blue, purple, and scarlet thread, just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

³⁰Finally, they made the sacred medallion—the badge of holiness—of pure gold. They engraved it like a seal with these words: HOLY TO THE LORD. ³¹They attached the medallion with a blue cord to Aaron's turban, just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

Moses Inspects the Work

³²And so at last the Tabernacle was finished. The Israelites had done everything just as the LORD had commanded Moses. ³³And they brought the entire Tabernacle to Moses:

the sacred tent with all its furnishings, clasps, frames, crossbars, posts, and bases;

³⁴the tent coverings of tanned ram skins and fine goatskin leather;

the inner curtain to shield the Ark;

³⁵the Ark of the Covenant and its carrying poles;

the Ark's cover—the place of atonement;

³⁶the table and all its utensils;

the Bread of the Presence;

³⁷the pure gold lampstand with its symmetrical lamp cups, all its accessories, and the olive oil for lighting;

³⁸the gold altar;

the anointing oil and fragrant incense;

the curtain for the entrance of the sacred tent;

³⁹the bronze altar;

the bronze grating and its carrying poles and utensils;

the washbasin with its stand;

⁴⁰the curtains for the walls of the courtyard;

the posts and their bases;

the curtain for the entrance to the courtyard;

the ropes and tent pegs;

all the furnishings to be used in worship at the Tabernacle;

⁴¹the beautifully stitched garments for the priests to wear while ministering in the Holy Place—the sacred garments for Aaron the priest, and the garments for his sons to wear as they minister as priests.

⁴²So the people of Israel followed all of the LORD's instructions to Moses. ⁴³Then Moses inspected all their work. When he found it had been done just as the LORD had commanded him, he blessed them.

Setting Up the Tabernacle

40 Then the LORD said to Moses, ²"Set up the Tabernacle on the first day of the new year. ³Place the Ark of the Covenant inside, and install the inner curtain to enclose the Ark within the Most Holy Place. ⁴Then bring in the table, and arrange the utensils on it. And bring in the lampstand, and set up the lamps.

⁵"Place the gold incense altar in front of the Ark of the Covenant. Then hang the curtain at the entrance of the Tabernacle. ⁶Place the altar of burnt offering in front of the Tabernacle entrance. ⁷Set the washbasin between the Tabernacle and the altar, and fill it with water. ⁸Then set up the courtyard around the outside of the tent, and hang the curtain for the courtyard entrance.

⁹"Take the anointing oil and ^kanoint the Tabernacle and all its furnishings to consecrate them and make them holy. ¹⁰Anoint

39:30
Exod 28:36-37

39:32-41
//Exod 35:10-19

39:43
Lev 9:22-23
Num 6:23-26
1 Kgs 8:14
2 Chr 30:27

40:2
Exod 12:2; 40:17
Num 1:1

40:3
Exod 26:33; 40:21-30
Num 4:5

40:4
Exod 25:30

40:7
Exod 30:18

40:9
Exod 30:26
^k*mashakh* (4886)
¹ Lev 8:11

39:30 The designation badge of holiness is perhaps a formal title; it does not appear in the first description of the sacred medallion in 28:36.

39:32-43 Moses inspected the finished work and confirmed that everything had been done just as the LORD had commanded (39:43). As a result, Moses blessed them instead of pronouncing judgment upon them, as when they had tried to meet their need for God's presence in their own ways (32:27).

39:32 the Tabernacle: Literally the Tabernacle, the Tent of Meeting; also in 39:40. See note on 27:21.

39:35 Ark of the Covenant: Literally Ark of the Testimony. See note on 25:16.

40:1-33 The report on setting up the Tabernacle begins with the Lord's commands to do so (40:1-15) and continues with the report on how Moses obeyed those commands (40:16-33). • The repeated statement that Moses did everything just as the LORD had commanded him (40:16, 19, 21, 23, 25, 27, 29, 32) is in radical contrast to Aaron's self-serving statement in 32:22-24. God wishes to share his presence with us, but his holiness is such that this can occur only if we renounce our own efforts to secure his presence and gifts.

40:2 the Tabernacle: Literally the Tabernacle, the Tent of Meeting; also in 40:6, 29. See note on 27:21. In the Tabernacle, the Tent of Meeting, the divine King met with Israel to communicate his will to them (see also notes on 25:1-40:38; 25:22). • the first day of the new year (literally the first day of the first month): This day of the ancient Hebrew lunar calendar occurred in March or April. The Tabernacle was set up one year after God announced the Passover and the start of Israel's calendar (see chart, "Israel's Annual Calendar," p. 145).

40:3 Ark of the Covenant: Or Ark of the Testimony; also in 40:5, 21. The Hebrew word translated Covenant is 'eduth ("testimony"), which refers particularly to the covenant stipulations; see note on 25:16. The written copy of these stipulations contained in the Ark would serve as a testimony to the covenant Israel had entered into with God.

40:7 Tabernacle: Literally Tent of Meeting; also in 40:12, 22, 24, 26, 30, 32, 34, 35. See note on 27:21.

40:12
Lev 8:1-13

40:15
Exod 29:9
Num 25:13

40:17
Exod 40:2
Num 7:1

40:20
Exod 25:16
Deut 10:5
1 Kgs 8:9
2 Chr 5:10
Heb 9:4
^aAaron (0727)
+ Num 10:33

40:23
Exod 25:30
Lev 24:5-8

40:31
Exod 30:19-21

40:34
Num 9:15-23
1 Kgs 8:11

40:35
1 Kgs 8:10-11

40:36
Num 9:17; 10:11

40:37
Num 9:19-22

40:38
1 Cor 10:1

the altar of burnt offering and its utensils to consecrate them. Then the altar will become absolutely holy. ¹¹Next anoint the washbasin and its stand to consecrate them.

¹²"Present Aaron and his sons at the entrance of the Tabernacle, and wash them with water. ¹³Dress Aaron with the sacred garments and anoint him, consecrating him to serve me as a priest. ¹⁴Then present his sons and dress them in their tunics. ¹⁵Anoint them as you did their father, so they may also serve me as priests. With their anointing, Aaron's descendants are set apart for the priesthood forever, from generation to generation."

¹⁶Moses proceeded to do everything just as the LORD had commanded him. ¹⁷So the Tabernacle was set up on the first day of the first month of the second year. ¹⁸Moses erected the Tabernacle by setting down its bases, inserting the frames, attaching the crossbars, and setting up the posts. ¹⁹Then he spread the coverings over the Tabernacle framework and put on the protective layers, just as the LORD had commanded him.

²⁰He took the stone tablets inscribed with the terms of the covenant and placed them inside the ^aArk. Then he attached the carrying poles to the ^aArk, and he set the Ark's cover—the place of atonement—on top of it. ²¹Then he brought the Ark of the Covenant into the Tabernacle and hung the inner curtain to shield it from view, just as the LORD had commanded him.

²²Next Moses placed the table in the Tabernacle, along the north side of the Holy Place, just outside the inner curtain. ²³And he arranged the Bread of the Presence on the table before the LORD, just as the LORD had commanded him.

²⁴He set the lampstand in the Tabernacle across from the table on the south side of the Holy Place. ²⁵Then he lit the lamps in the LORD's presence, just as the LORD had commanded him. ²⁶He also placed the gold incense altar in the Tabernacle, in the Holy Place in front of the inner curtain. ²⁷On it he burned the fragrant incense, just as the LORD had commanded him.

²⁸He hung the curtain at the entrance of the Tabernacle, ²⁹and he placed the altar of burnt offering near the Tabernacle entrance. On it he offered a burnt offering and a grain offering, just as the LORD had commanded him.

³⁰Next Moses placed the washbasin between the Tabernacle and the altar. He filled it with water so the priests could wash themselves. ³¹Moses and Aaron and Aaron's sons used water from it to wash their hands and feet. ³²Whenever they approached the altar and entered the Tabernacle, they washed themselves, just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

³³Then he hung the curtains forming the courtyard around the Tabernacle and the altar. And he set up the curtain at the entrance of the courtyard. So at last Moses finished the work.

The LORD's Glory Fills the Tabernacle

³⁴Then the cloud covered the Tabernacle, and the glory of the LORD filled the Tabernacle. ³⁵Moses could no longer enter the Tabernacle because the cloud had settled down over it, and the glory of the LORD filled the Tabernacle.

³⁶Now whenever the cloud lifted from the Tabernacle, the people of Israel would set out on their journey, following it. ³⁷But if the cloud did not rise, they remained where they were until it lifted. ³⁸The cloud of the LORD hovered over the Tabernacle during the day, and at night fire glowed inside the cloud so the whole family of Israel could see it. This continued throughout all their journeys.

40:20 He took the stone tablets inscribed with the terms of the covenant: Literally He placed the Testimony. See note on 25:16.

40:33 So at last Moses finished the work: See note on 37:1-29.

40:34-38 The climax of the Exodus occurred when the glory of the LORD filled the Tabernacle. God's goal from the outset was not merely to deliver his people from their bondage, but to bring them into a relationship with himself. Their real need was to know God personally in their lives. Without that, the Promised Land would not be a land of promise. Now it would be, because the glory that had been on Mount Sinai was in Israel's midst; it would not be left behind, but would travel with them wherever they might go.

40:38 the whole family of Israel: This description is reminiscent of the way the book began (see 1:1-7). Jacob's family had become slaves in Egypt. What a dramatic change had occurred! They were no longer slaves. They were now in a position to be a blessing to the earth, as God had promised to Abraham generations earlier (Gen 12:3).

THE BOOK OF Leviticus

Leviticus enabled ancient Israel to live in relationship with a holy God. But what do laws governing ancient Israel's system of worship, with its priests and animal sacrifices, have to do with us? Jesus Christ became our High Priest and ultimate sacrifice, thereby fulfilling many of these requirements. Yet Leviticus is important to us today because it increases our understanding of God's holiness. God's demand for those who know him remains the same: "I am the LORD your God. . . . You must be holy because I am holy" (11:44-45; 1 Pet 1:15-16).

SETTING

Leviticus continues the great redemptive story that began with the promises made to Abraham (Gen 12, 15, 17) and the liberation of the Israelites from bondage in Egypt. The Israelites had not yet wandered in the wilderness or entered the Promised Land of Canaan. At the writing of this book, Israel was camped at the foot of Mount Sinai. With Moses as his mediator, God had already established his covenant with Israel, declaring the Israelites as his special treasure, royal priesthood, and chosen people (Exod 19:5-6). The people had received the Ten Commandments (Exod 20:1-17), the plans for the Tabernacle (Exod 25-27, 30), and the institution of the priesthood (Exod 28-29). The Tabernacle had been completed and dedicated (Exod 35-40). Here, in Leviticus, God spoke to Moses about his nature, providing instructions about worship and conduct appropriate for Israel as his covenant people.

◀ Israel at Sinai. After leaving slavery in EGYPT, Israel camped at MOUNT SINAI for about a year (Exod 19:1; Num 10:11-12). The Lord gave many of his instructions to Israel during this time, including those recorded in the book of Leviticus. For information about Israel's route to and from Sinai, see map on p. 122 and map on p. 246.

SUMMARY

The regulations in Leviticus deal primarily with the activities and responsibilities of the priestly tribe of Levi, especially the high priest (Exod 28:1-43; Num 3:44-4:49). Moses recorded God's instructions about the Tabernacle, the priesthood, sacrifices, holy days, and ceremonial purity. Three main concerns are evident throughout Leviticus: the holiness of God, what is appropriate in worshiping a holy God, and how Israel was to be holy in relation to God.

A proper relationship with God begins with knowing who God is and understanding his nature. Yet finite human minds cannot fully comprehend God, the Eternal One. Worse, if left to our own intuition, we inevitably begin to worship idols rather than the true God. In Leviticus, God graciously reveals his holiness in tangible ways and instructs the people how to worship him acceptably. Each sacrifice and holy day teaches the Israelites something about God and what he requires of them.

God calls Israel to know him and to lovingly serve him (Deut 6:5; 11:1).

OUTLINE

1:1-7:38

The Offering System

8:1-10:20

The Institution of the Priesthood

11:1-15:33

Regulations Pertaining to Purity

16:1-34

The Day of Atonement

17:1-26:46

Expressions of Holiness in the Community

27:1-34

Regulations Pertaining to Vows and Tithes

As a result, they will also love and serve one another (Lev 19:18, 33-34). The rituals and regulations revealed in Leviticus teach the Israelites how to integrate love and service into their lives, both as individuals and as a nation.

AUTHORSHIP

Some modern scholars believe that Leviticus was written during Israel's exile in Babylon (about 586-539 BC), long after the time of Moses. This view, however, does not explain why Judaism during the Exile, which was increasingly oriented around the rabbi and the synagogue, would be concerned with the priesthood and the Tabernacle. Nor does it explain the rituals followed in Israelite worship prior to the Exile, aside from the liturgy contained or implied in the Psalms.

It is most likely that Moses wrote Leviticus during Israel's time in the wilderness after the Exodus. Both Jewish tradition and the early Christian church identified Moses as the author of Leviticus. Moses, raised in the court of Egypt's king, would have been skilled in reading, writing, and mathematics (see Acts 7:20-22) and quite capable of writing Leviticus. The book begins (1:1) and ends (27:34) with statements affirming that the contents of Leviticus were given to Israel by God through Moses. Leviticus repeatedly describes how Moses received the Lord's instructions (e.g., 4:1; 5:14; 6:1, 8, 19, 24; 7:22, 28; 8:1) and carried them out (8:1-10:20). The OT often refers to Moses as the author of the Pentateuch (Genesis-Deuteronomy; see Josh 8:31-32; 23:6; 1 Kgs 2:3; 2 Kgs 14:6;

TIMELINE

1500-1200 BC

Late Bronze Age

1446 / 1270 BC*

Israel leaves Egypt (the Exodus), moves to Mount Sinai

The covenant at Sinai

1406 / 1230 BC

Genesis—

Deuteronomy are drafted

Moses dies

Israel enters Canaan

* The two dates

harmonize with the traditional "early" chronology and a more recent "late" chronology of the Exodus. All dates are approximate. Please see "Chronology: Abraham to Joshua," p. 118.

God ordained diverse kinds of oblations and sacrifices. . . . He declared by these sacrifices and ceremonies that the reward of sin is death and that without the blood of Christ, the innocent Lamb of God, there can be no forgiveness of sins.

Matthew Henry

Commentary on the Bible

No person can be his own saviour or mediator. An individual must come before God in penitence, confess his sin and obtain pardon from a merciful God who repudiates sin but shows covenant love to the sinner.

R. K. Harrison

Leviticus, p. 32

FURTHER READING

R. K. HARRISON

Leviticus (1980)

G. J. WENHAM

The Book of Leviticus (1979)

A. NOORDTJIZ

Leviticus (1982)

DAVID BAKER

Leviticus in Cornerstone Biblical Commentary, vol. 2 (2008)

23:25; 2 Chr 23:18; 30:16; Ezra 3:2; 7:6; Neh 8:1; Dan 9:11-13). The NT does the same (Matt 19:7-8; Luke 2:22; 24:44; John 7:19, 23; 28:23; Rom 10:5; 1 Cor 9:9; Heb 10:28). See further "Introduction to the Pentateuch: Authorship," p. 11.

MEANING AND MESSAGE

"You must be holy because I, the LORD your God, am holy."— Lev 19:2

Although it is set in an ancient time and culture, Leviticus communicates a timeless and vibrant message: God is holy, and he expects his people to be like him. God's holiness and his gracious redemption provide both the grounds and the motivation for his people's own holiness (11:44-45).

The priests, as mediators of the covenant, stood between God and the people. The priests interpreted what was holy and how holiness should be expressed in the community. The atoning sacrifices provided the way for the people to have their sins forgiven and to be made right with God (atonement). The non-atoning sacrifices celebrated the people's relationship with God through gifts and shared meals. While surrounding nations offered sacrifices to their gods to appease them and gain their favor, Israel's worship was not designed to manipulate God. Rather, the worship prepared and purified the people so they could approach their holy God. Each of the laws, ceremonies, and holy days teaches that God is holy and that he expects his people to be holy, a motif that embraces both Old and New Covenants (see 1 Cor 3:17; 1 Pet 1:15).

Forgiveness of sin and reconciliation to God directly relate to how people treat one another. Concern for social justice pervades Leviticus, which sets forth obligations to one's neighbor, to the poor, and to foreigners. God loves people (Exod 34:6-7), especially the people he calls his own. He expects those in covenant with him to love each other as an expression of his love (cp. Matt 22:39; Mark 12:31; Luke 10:27; Rom 13:9; Gal 5:14; Jas 2:8). Atonement and social justice are closely connected with the holiness that God requires of his people.

1. THE OFFERING SYSTEM (1:1-7:38)

The Whole Burnt Offering (1:1-17)

1 The LORD called to Moses from the Tabernacle and said to him, "Give the following instructions to the people of Israel. When you present an animal as an offering to the LORD, you may take it from your herd of cattle or your flock of sheep and goats.

³"If the animal you present as a burnt offering is from the herd, it must be a male with no defects. Bring it to the entrance of

1:1
Exod 25:22
Num 7:89

1:2
Lev 6:9-13; 17:1-8;
22:19-25

1:3
Heb 9:14

1:1-7:38 The first major section of Leviticus deals with the institution of the sacrificial system and the priesthood. The sacrifices were either for atonement (the whole burnt offering, sin offering, and guilt offering) or for worship (grain offering and peace offering). Each one taught theology through a hands-on approach. Priests were required to officiate in the sacrificial worship at the Tabernacle, to instruct God's people in the revelation given to Moses at Sinai, and to represent the people before God, such as on the Day of Atonement (ch 16). Priests were provided for by receiving a portion of the offerings.

1:1 The LORD called to Moses from the Tabernacle: Leviticus is part of the ongoing narrative of the Pentateuch (Gen—Deut). It is part of the history of God's saving acts: God chose Israel to be his people, delivered them from slavery in Egypt, entered into a covenant relationship with them, and guided them through the desert to the Promised Land. Specifically, Leviticus picks up with events recorded in Exod 40:34-38, when construction of the Tabernacle is completed. It has been dedicated, and the Lord has filled it with his glory. Now the Lord gives Moses instructions for conducting worship at the Tabernacle. • The Tabernacle (literally Tent of Meeting; also in 1:3, 5) was an earthly representation of God's palace. Inside the Most Holy Place, the Ark of the Covenant represented God's throne (Exod 40:1-33). The Lord's glory resided between the outstretched wings of the cherubim. There he would meet with Israel to communicate his will to them (see Exod 25:22). The term "Tent of Meeting" sometimes refers to the actual tent of the Tabernacle and sometimes to the entire complex, including

1:4
Exod 29:10, 15, 19
Lev 4:13-35
Num 8:10-12; 15:25
2 Chr 29:23-24

1:5
Lev 1:11; 3:8
Heb 12:24
^akohen (3548)
• Num 3:6

1:6
Lev 7:8

1:8
Exod 29:13

1:9
Gen 8:21
Exod 29:17
Eph 5:2

the Tabernacle so you may be accepted by the LORD. ⁴Lay your hand on the animal's head, and the LORD will accept its death in your place to purify you, making you right with him. ⁵Then slaughter the young bull in the LORD's presence, and Aaron's sons, the ^apriests, will present the animal's blood by splattering it against all sides of the altar that stands at the entrance to the Tabernacle. ⁶Then skin the animal and cut it into pieces. ⁷The sons of Aaron the priest will build a wood fire on the altar. ⁸They will arrange the pieces of the offering, including the head and fat, on the wood burning on the altar. ⁹But the internal organs and the legs must first be washed with water. Then the priest will burn the entire sacrifice on the altar as a burnt offering. It is a special gift, a pleasing aroma to the LORD.

¹⁰If the animal you present as a burnt offering is from the flock, it may be either a sheep or a goat, but it must be a male with no defects. ¹¹Slaughter the animal on the north side of the altar in the LORD's presence, and Aaron's sons, the priests, will splatter its blood against all sides of the altar. ¹²Then cut the animal in pieces, and the priests will arrange the pieces of the offering, including the head and fat, on the wood burning on the altar. ¹³But the internal organs and the legs must first be washed with water. Then the priest will burn the entire sacrifice on the altar as a burnt offering. It is a special gift, a pleasing aroma to the LORD.

the courtyard. The term is essentially synonymous with "Tabernacle," so the NLT consistently renders it "Tabernacle."

1:2-3 When: This word introduces a major category (the process of presenting an offering), followed by a series of conditions introduced by if (1:3, 10, 14). This when/if pattern is generally followed through all the major offerings described in 1:2-6:7. • offering (Hebrew qorban; see note on Mark 7:11) is a general term referring to all kinds of offerings and gifts, including the various offerings described in Lev 1-7.

1:3-17 burnt offering (Hebrew 'olah, "what goes up"): The Hebrew word implies the ascent of the animal in flame and smoke. Except for its hide, given in payment to the officiating priest (7:8), this offering was burned completely on the altar (1:9). Its purpose was to satisfy God's wrath against sin, ceremonially cleansing the worshiper and restoring him or her to fellowship with God (cp. Rom 3:25; 8:3; 2 Cor 5:18-21). The whole burnt offering occurs first in this list of offerings (1:1-7:38), providing a pattern for offerings that follow. It is the most common and most general atoning offering.

1:3 male with no defects: God allowed female and slightly deformed animals for certain types of non-atoning offerings (see 3:1; 4:27-31; 22:23), but not for the whole burnt offering. In the dry, brush-encrusted hills of southern Palestine, cattle were much more difficult to raise than sheep or goats. This meant a bull without defect was an animal of great value. Centuries later, the prophet Malachi confronted the people for offering sick and lame animals instead of those without defect (Mal 1:6-14). • so you may be accepted: Or so it may be accepted.

1:4 Lay your hand on the animal's head: The sacrificial animal represented the worshiper in the ceremony (4:4, 15, 24, 29, 33; 16:21). This act signified that the animal's death represented the death of its owner. In the ritual for the Day of Atonement, it signified that the sins of the owner were transferred to the animal (16:20-22). With the peace offering (3:2, 8, 13), the act seems to have indicated ownership of the animal being sacrificed. • The phrase in your place may mean "in payment for sin" (sometimes called expiation) or "as a substitute for the sinner's death" (sometimes called propitiation). • to purify you, making you right with him (or to make atonement for you): Although older commentaries describe this process as "covering over" sin, recent scholarship defines it as "blotting out, erasing, or cleansing from" sin. The concept involves satisfying God's wrath against sin, ceremonially cleansing the worshiper, and restoring fellowship with God in the community of God's people.

1:5 Aaron's sons: The descendants of Levi, Moses' own tribe, were divided into two categories: (1) priests, who were descendants of Aaron, the first high priest; and (2) Levites, who served in subordinate roles (Exod 28:1-4; Num 18:1-7). The instructions given here applied to later generations as well. • The blood was a symbol of life, not of death. The Israelite system of sacrifice was based on the principle of substitution, and the shedding of sacrificial blood was essential for atonement. It represented sacrificing the life of the animal as a substitute for the life of the worshiper (17:10-14; Heb 9:22). The blood of Jesus Christ was shed as the ultimate sacrifice for sin (Heb 9:11-14). • The altar of burnt offering was located in the east end of the courtyard, outside the Tabernacle but inside the entrance to the courtyard (Exod 40:6, 29).

1:6 The entire animal was to be burned, except for the skin, which was the priest's share of the offering (7:8).

1:8 The Hebrew word translated fat describes the suet, or hard fat, from around the kidneys and loins. This specific term occurs only here and in 1:12 and 8:20. All fat—not just this special fat—was considered God's portion (3:14-17; 7:23-25; see 1 Sam 2:15-17). Only the whole burnt offering was entirely consumed on the altar. With other offerings, the fatty portions and certain internal organs were burned; the rest belonged to the officiating priests and sometimes to the worshiper (7:11-18).

1:9 The offering was washed with water to remove dirt or debris that might contaminate the offering. Washing was also part of purification from ritual uncleanness, a prerequisite for Tabernacle service (6:27; 11:28). • special gift: The Hebrew term ('isheh) has traditionally been rendered "offering made by fire." Although the offering was to be burned (1:13, 17), recent scholarship suggests that the word had the more generic meaning of "gift." • pleasing aroma to the LORD (literally a restful odor; also in 1:13, 17): Pagan people of the ancient Near East believed that their gods smelled the offerings because they needed to eat them to sustain their lives. Although God's response is sometimes represented in language that reflects the cultural setting (e.g., 21:6; Num 28:2), the Bible is clear that God did not need offerings as food (Ps 50:9-13). Instead, they pleased him as sincere offerings for the purpose of atonement.

1:10-13 Permission to offer lesser animals was to make the animal, and therefore atonement, more affordable to common Israelites. The method of offering these animals closely parallels the offering of bulls outlined in 1:3-9.

¹⁴"If you present a bird as a burnt offering to the LORD, choose either a turtledove or a young pigeon. ¹⁵The priest will take the bird to the altar, wring off its head, and burn it on the altar. But first he must drain its blood against the side of the altar. ¹⁶The priest must also remove the crop and the feathers and throw them in the ashes on the east side of the altar. ¹⁷Then, grasping the bird by its wings, the priest will tear the bird open, but without tearing it apart. Then he will burn it as a burnt offering on the wood burning on the altar. It is a special gift, a pleasing aroma to the LORD.

The Grain Offering (2:1-16)

2"When you present grain as an offering to the LORD, the offering must consist of choice flour. You are to pour olive oil on it, sprinkle it with frankincense, ²and bring it to Aaron's sons, the priests. The priest will scoop out a handful of the flour moistened with oil, together with all the frankincense, and burn this representative portion on the altar. It is a special gift, a pleasing aroma to the LORD. ³The rest of the grain offering will then be given to Aaron and his sons. This offering will be considered a most holy part of the special gifts presented to the LORD.

⁴"If your offering is a grain offering baked in an oven, it must be made of choice flour, but without any yeast. It may be presented in the form of thin cakes mixed with olive oil or wafers spread with olive oil. ⁵If your grain offering is cooked on a griddle, it must be made of choice flour mixed with olive oil but without any yeast. ⁶Break it in pieces and pour olive oil on it; it is a grain offering. ⁷If your grain offering is prepared in a pan, it must be made of choice flour and olive oil.

⁸"No matter how a grain offering for the LORD has been prepared, bring it to the priest, who will present it at the altar. ⁹The priest will take a representative portion of the grain offering and burn it on the altar. It is a special gift, a pleasing aroma to the LORD. ¹⁰The rest of the grain offering will then be given to Aaron and his sons as their food. This offering will be considered a most holy part of the special gifts presented to the LORD.

¹¹"Do not use yeast in preparing any of the grain offerings you present to the LORD, because no yeast or honey may be burned as a special gift presented to the LORD.

1:14
Gen 15:9
Lev 12:8

1:15
Lev 5:8-9

2:1
Exod 29:2
Lev 6:14-18; 24:7
Num 15:4-21

2:2
Lev 5:12-13; 6:15-18

2:3
Lev 10:12-13

2:4
Exod 29:2
Lev 7:12

2:9
Gen 8:21
Lev 2:2; 6:15

2:10
Lev 2:3

2:11
Lev 6:16-17

1:14-17 Birds were plentiful, cheap, and easy to catch. This meant that atonement and worship through sacrifices were not only for the rich and privileged; the poor were also included (see also 5:7; 12:8; see Luke 2:24).

1:16 the crop and the feathers: Or the crop and its contents. The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain.

1:17 tear . . . without tearing it apart: Cutting larger animals into pieces (1:6, 12) probably reflects the ancient rite of covenant-making, in which the participant passed between the two halves of a sacrificed animal (see Gen 15:10). Because of their small size, birds were not cut in half. If it was necessary to pass between them, they were arranged in pairs.

2:1-16 The grain offering (Hebrew minkhah, "gift, present") was a way to express worship to the Lord through a gift, recognizing him as Lord over the life of the worshiper. The grain offering was to accompany each whole burnt offering (Num 28:3-6, 12-13), sin offering (Num 6:14-15), and peace offering (9:4; Num 6:17). The grain offering supplied the priest with bread for his daily sustenance, because no farmland was allocated to priests.

2:1 Choice flour was fine wheat flour (in contrast with common barley flour). See also 1 Kgs 4:22; Ezek 16:13, 19. • Israelites used olive oil as shortening in their cooking, as lamp fuel, and for medicinal and cosmetic purposes. Accordingly, it was associated with the rich produce of the land and with God's provision (Deut 8:8). • Like choice flour, frankincense was frequently connected with the Tabernacle (Exod 30:34; Lev 24:7) or the Temple (1 Chr 9:29). This fragrant tree resin was also used by individuals on special occasions (Song 3:6; Matt 2:11). It was a primary ingredient of the holy incense burned in the Holy Place as a tangible expression of worship (Exod 30:34-38).

2:2 The representative portion of the grain offering was burned on the altar to remind the worshiper that the whole offering belonged to God.

2:3 rest of the grain offering: A portion of the fire offerings was generally reserved for the priest as food (see 6:16-17). Exceptions included the whole burnt offering (the priest received only the hide; see 7:8), offerings given by the priest for himself (4:3-12; 6:19-23), or offerings made for the entire community (4:13-21). In these cases, the offering was to be entirely burned. The grain offering provided the priests with bread for their diet. • most holy (Hebrew qodesh qodashim, "holy of holies"): Both God and what belongs to him are holy. "Most holy" designates the priestly share as taken from the holy offering and reserved for a special function. This description is used for the priest's share of any gifts dedicated to the Lord (Num 18:8-10).

2:4 A large ceramic oven was placed in a hole, and around it a fire was kindled. Once the oven was hot, the flat bread baked against the inside of its wall. • without any yeast: See note on 2:11; see also Exod 12:8.

2:5 A griddle was a flat stone or clay surface propped above a fire and heated. Later griddles were made of metal (Ezek 4:3).

2:7 Dough prepared in a pan was fried with oil until crisp.

2:11 yeast: The bread commonly eaten in biblical times was comparable to modern sourdough. The substance that is often called "leaven" consisted of wild yeast spores mixed into moist dough or a flour mixture. The yeast would grow and cause the dough to ferment, souring and raising it. A reserved portion of the sour dough would be kneaded into subsequent batches (Matt 13:33). Unleavened bread was required for the Passover (Exod 12:8), in remembrance of Israel's bondage in Egypt (Deut 16:3) and their speedy departure from that land (Exod 12:34; 13:3). Following the Exodus, unleavened bread acquired the status of altar bread. Leavened bread was not to be burned on the altar. • honey: The Hebrew word (debash) can also refer to fruit nectar. The reason for its exclusion is not stated, but perhaps the frequent

2:12
Lev 7:13; 23:9-14

2:13
Num 18:19
2 Chr 13:5
Ezek 43:24
Mark 9:50

2:14
Lev 23:9-14
2 Kgs 4:42

3:1
Lev 1:3; 7:11-21

3:2
Exod 29:11
Lev 1:4; 7:14

¹²You may add yeast and honey to an offering of the first crops of your harvest, but these must never be offered on the altar as a pleasing aroma to the LORD. ¹³Season all your grain offerings with salt to remind you of God's eternal covenant. Never forget to add salt to your grain offerings.

¹⁴"If you present a grain offering to the LORD from the first portion of your harvest, bring fresh grain that is coarsely ground and roasted on a fire. ¹⁵Put olive oil on this grain offering, and sprinkle it with frankincense. ¹⁶The priest will take a representative portion of the grain moistened with oil, together with all the frankincense, and burn it as a special gift presented to the LORD.

The Peace Offering (3:1-17)

3"If you present an animal from the herd as a peace offering to the LORD, it may be a male or a female, but it must have no defects. ²Lay your hand on the animal's

Sacrifice	References	Description	Purpose	See Also
Burnt Offering	1:2-17; 6:8-13	Atoning sacrifice of a bull, ram, or male bird with no physical defect	To make atonement for sin; to cleanse and restore the worshiper to fellowship with God	Gen 8:20-22; Exod 29:42-46; Num 28-29; 1 Sam 7:9-10; 1 Chr 21:18-22:1; Ezra 3:1-6; Job 1:5; 42:8; Isa 1:11-20; Mark 12:33; Rom 3:25; 8:3; Heb 10:1-18
Grain Offering	2:1-16; 6:14-23; 7:9-10	Non-atonement sacrifice of grain, choice flour, or baked breads with olive oil, frankincense, and salt	To honor God with a worshipful gift	Exod 30:9; 40:29; Num 16:15; 28-29; Neh 10:33, 37; cp. 2 Cor 9:1-15; 1 Tim 5:17-18
Peace Offering	3:1-17; 7:11-36; 22:21	Non-atonement sacrifice of any animal from the flock or herd, along with baked breads	To express thanks and gratitude to God through worship and by a meal shared with family and friends	Exod 18:12; 24:9-11; 1 Sam 9:15-25; Acts 2:42; 10:36; Rom 5:1; 1 Cor 10:16; 11:17-34; 2 Cor 5:18-21
Sin Offering	4:1-5:13; 6:24-30; 16:3-22	Atoning sacrifice of animals with no physical defects. The required offering varied with the situation and station of the person receiving its benefits.	To make atonement for unintentional sins of ritual impurity, neglect, or thoughtlessness	Num 15:22-31; Gal 6:1; Heb 10:26-31; 1 Jn 1:8-9
Guilt Offering	5:14-6:7; 7:1-7	Atoning sacrifice of a ram or lamb with no physical defects	To pay for sins against God and against people in the community	Matt 5:23-24; Rom 6:12-23; 7:21-8:4

▲ Israel's Sacrifices (1:1-7:38) For each sacrifice, the primary references that define the sacrifice are given, followed by a description of the sacrifice and its spiritual purpose. The "See Also" column provides other references to the sacrifice and to passages that address the same spiritual purpose as the sacrifice.

use of honey in pagan offerings, particularly to gods of the underworld, was a contributing reason. If the word refers to fruit nectar, its association with wine and fermentation may have linked it with yeast, making it ineligible to be burned on the altar. However, both honey and yeast were allowed as part of an offering of first crops (2:12). Loaves of bread made with yeast were to be presented with thank offerings (7:13) and as a gift to the priest in the Festival of Harvest (23:17). In the NT, yeast becomes a spiritual metaphor, playing on its sour taste and on its tendency to spread (Matt 16:6, 11, 12; 1 Cor 5:6-8; cp. Matt 13:33).

2:12 offering of the first crops: This offering (called "firstfruits" in many translations) was brought from the first part of the harvest (23:15-21; Num 28:26-31). Like the representative portion of the grain offering, this offering acknowledged that the entire harvest belonged to God (23:10-11; Exod 22:29; 23:19; 34:26; Num 15:18-20; Deut 18:4-5; 26:1-2). It further recognized that the land itself, not just its products, belonged to God; Israel was merely the tenant (see Lev 25:23).

2:13 In ancient times, salt represented permanence, because it preserved food. A covenant of salt (see notes on Num 18:19; 2 Chr 13:5) denoted an enduring covenant that was renewed with successive generations.

3:1-17 The peace offering (Hebrew shelem) expressed worship through fellowship with the Lord and with others. The Hebrew word is from the same root as shalom, which speaks of wholeness, well-being, harmony, and peace. Shalom means more than a cessation of hostilities between God and the worshiper; it implies a bond of harmonious fellowship. The peace offering was therefore a shared meal celebrating fellowship with God and others (cp. Exod 18:12; 24:9-11; 1 Sam 9:15-24). It could be presented as an expression of thanks (7:12-15), as a voluntary offering, or in fulfillment of a vow (7:16-18; 22:21). Peace offerings often followed whole burnt offerings (e.g., 1 Kgs 9:25), showing that fellowship with God follows atonement. When we have experienced atonement through Christ, we are able to be at peace with God and with each other (see Acts 2:42; 10:36; Rom 5:1; 1 Cor 10:16; 11:17-34; 2 Cor 5:18-21).

3:1 a male or a female: The whole burnt offering allowed only the use of male animals because it made atonement (1:3, 10). The less formal peace offering permitted both male and female animals (see also 4:28, 32). • no defects: The sacrificial animals had to be healthy. The only exception was the voluntary offering, for which a slight blemish was permissible (22:23).

3:2 Tabernacle: Literally Tent of Meeting; also in 3:8, 13; see note on 1:1.

head, and slaughter it at the entrance of the Tabernacle. Then Aaron's sons, the priests, will splatter its blood against all sides of the altar. ³The priest must present part of this peace offering as a special gift to the LORD. This includes all the fat around the internal organs, ⁴the two kidneys and the fat around them near the loins, and the long lobe of the liver. These must be removed with the kidneys, ⁵and Aaron's sons will burn them on top of the burnt offering on the wood burning on the altar. It is a special gift, a pleasing aroma to the LORD.

⁶"If you present an animal from the flock as a peace offering to the LORD, it may be a male or a female, but it must have no defects. ⁷If you present a sheep as your offering, bring it to the LORD, ⁸lay your hand on its head, and slaughter it in front of the Tabernacle. Aaron's sons will then splatter the sheep's blood against all sides of the altar. ⁹The priest must present the fat of this peace offering as a special gift to the LORD. This includes the fat of the broad tail cut off near the backbone, all the fat around the internal organs, ¹⁰the two kidneys and the fat around them near the loins, and the long lobe of the liver. These must be removed with the kidneys, ¹¹and the priest will burn them on the altar. It is a special gift of food presented to the LORD.

¹²"If you present a goat as your offering, bring it to the LORD, ¹³lay your hand on its head, and slaughter it in front of the Tabernacle. Aaron's sons will then splatter the goat's blood against all sides of the altar. ¹⁴The priest must present part of this offering as a special gift to the LORD. This includes all the fat around the internal organs, ¹⁵the two kidneys and the fat around them near the loins, and the long lobe of the liver. These must be removed with the kidneys, ¹⁶and the priest will burn them on the altar. It is a special gift of food, a pleasing aroma to the LORD. All the fat belongs to the LORD.

¹⁷"You must never eat any fat or ^bblood. This is a permanent law for you, and it must be observed from generation to generation, wherever you live."

The Sin Offering (4:1–5:13)

Procedures for the Sin Offering

4 Then the LORD said to Moses, ²"Give the following instructions to the people of Israel. This is how you are to deal with those who sin unintentionally by doing anything that violates one of the LORD's commands.

³"If the high priest sins, bringing guilt upon the entire community, he must give a

3:3
Exod 29:13, 22
Lev 3:9-11

3:5
Num 15:8-10

3:6
Lev 3:1

3:13
Lev 1:5

3:15-16
Lev 4:26; 7:23-25

3:17
Lev 7:25-26; 17:10
Deut 12:16
Acts 15:20
^bdam (1818)
Lev 17:11

4:2
Lev 4:22; 22:14
Num 15:22-29

4:3
Lev 4:14; 9:2
Ezek 43:19

3:3 all the fat: See 1:8 and note.

3:4 kidneys . . . lobe of the liver: The Israelites saw the kidneys as organs of understanding, much like how we think of the brain ("I am overwhelmed [literally my kidneys are consumed]," Job 19:27; "heart," Ps 7:9; 16:7; Jer 12:2; Lam 3:13; "motives," Ps 26:2; Jer 17:10; "thoughts," Jer 11:20; 20:12). The liver represented life and vitality, similar to how we think of the heart (Prov 7:23; "spirit," Lam 2:11).

3:5 The burnt offering is described in 1:3-17 and is best referred to as the "whole burnt offering." Because it was offered twice daily (see Num 28:4), and because the need for atonement preceded fellowship, the text assumes that the burnt offering would be on the altar already. The priest was to lay the fatty portions and certain internal organs (3:3-4) of the peace offering on top of it.

3:6-11 Sheep were smaller, easier to raise, and less expensive than cattle. Apart from the exceptions mentioned in these verses, offerings of sheep followed the same pattern as those of cattle.

3:9 broad tail: Sheep in this part of the ancient Near East had broad, fatty tails that were burned on the altar with the rest of the fat.

3:11 special gift: See note on 1:9.

• Offerings of food were called "God's food" (21:6, 8, 17, 21, 22; Num 28:2). However, Scripture is clear that the Lord did not eat the offerings, as pagans believed their deities did (Ps 50:9-13). Instead, these offerings belonged to God, and the priest ate a portion of this food as God's representative (Lev 21:21-22). These offerings sustained the priest and his family.

3:12-16 The offering of goats followed a similar pattern as for cattle and sheep. Both goats and sheep were considered offerings from the flock (see 3:6).

3:17 Human beings were not permitted to eat the fat or blood (see 1:5, 8 and notes).

4:1–5:13 The sin offering (Hebrew khatta't, from the root khata', meaning "to lack, fall short, miss, fail") was for specific unintentional violations of God's commands (see also Num 15:22-29), intended to repair a loss or remedy a failure (e.g., 5:1-4). Although we all sin, God will forgive us if we confess it (Gal 6:1; 1 Jn 1:8-9). But we are warned against sinning "brazenly" or "deliberately" (Num 15:30-31; Heb 6:4-6; 10:26-29).

4:3-21 These verses distinguish two types of sin offerings: (1) the offering given for the sin of the high priest (4:3, 20) and the entire Israelite community

(4:13), and (2) the offering given for one of Israel's leaders (4:22) and any of the common people (4:27). The former case required offering a bull, a large, expensive animal. It was not to be eaten (6:30), but was completely burned (4:12, 21), and some of its blood was presented in the Holy Place (4:6-7, 17-18). The latter case required a lesser animal—a male goat for a lay leader or a female sheep or goat for a common person. The priest ate a portion of the layperson's offering (6:24-29), and the blood was presented at the bronze altar in the courtyard (4:25, 30). The distinction stresses the responsibilities of leaders. The offering was the same for the priest as for the entire people, and the lay leader's offering was more than that of a common person. The NT also emphasizes the responsibility of religious leaders; those who teach (Jas 3:1) and those who serve as religious leaders (Matt 23:1-33; Luke 20:47) are judged more severely than those who follow them.

4:3 The high priest (literally the anointed priest; also in 4:5, 16) was designated by God and "anointed" (Hebrew mashiakh, "set apart by the ritual of anointing") for a particular service. In 1 Sam—2 Kgs, anointing most often refers to Israel's king (see 1 Sam 24:6; 2 Sam 1:14; 19:21). While

4:5
Lev 4:16; 16:14
4:7
Lev 8:15
4:8
Lev 3:3
4:11
Num 19:5
4:12
Heb 13:11
4:13
Num 15:23-26
4:14
Lev 4:3

sin offering for the sin he has committed. He must present to the LORD a young bull with no defects. ⁴He must bring the bull to the LORD at the entrance of the Tabernacle, lay his hand on the bull's head, and slaughter it before the LORD. ⁵The high priest will then take some of the bull's blood into the Tabernacle, ⁶dip his finger in the blood, and sprinkle it seven times before the LORD in front of the inner curtain of the sanctuary. ⁷The priest will then put some of the blood on the horns of the altar for fragrant incense that stands in the LORD's presence inside the Tabernacle. He will pour out the rest of the bull's blood at the base of the altar for burnt offerings at the entrance of the Tabernacle. ⁸Then the priest must remove all the fat of the bull to be offered as a sin offering. This includes all the fat around the internal organs, ⁹the two kidneys and the fat around them near the loins, and the long lobe of the liver. He must remove these along with the kidneys, ¹⁰just as he does with cattle offered as a peace offering, and burn them on the altar of burnt offerings. ¹¹But he must take whatever is left of the bull—its hide, meat, head, legs, internal organs, and dung—¹²and carry it away to a place outside the camp that is ceremonially clean, the place where the ashes are dumped. There, on the ash heap, he will burn it on a wood fire.

¹³If the entire Israelite community sins by violating one of the LORD's commands, but the people don't realize it, they are still guilty. ¹⁴When they become aware of their sin, the people must bring a young bull as an offering for their sin and present it before

Community Identity (4:3, 13-21)

Lev 20:1-5
Exod 20:5-6, 8-10
Josh 7:1-26
Neh 1:6-7
1 Cor 12:12-27
Gal 6:2
Eph 4:11-13

In Israel, an individual's identity and significance were determined by his or her membership in the community. This contrasts with Western society, where the individual is considered to be the primary social entity. All Israelites were expected to partake of the common identity of the community as the "children of Israel" and to embody the characteristics that marked the whole.

In the OT, the people are often referred to or addressed in the singular, emphasizing their oneness. The Decalogue (Exod 20:2-17) and the blessing of Aaron (Num 6:24-26), for example, are given in the singular. The individual could often represent the group, and the group could be referred to as an individual. Nehemiah, for example, asks forgiveness for the sins that caused the exile to Babylon as though he had been one of those transgressors ("we have sinned," Neh 1:6-7). Nehemiah was governor of Judea from 445 to 433 BC, about 140 years after the destruction of Jerusalem (586 BC), so he did not participate in the sins leading to the exile of Judeans to Babylon. Yet in his prayer, he identifies with his people in their sinfulness. In this same way, the high priest could represent the entire people on the Day of Atonement (see Lev 16). Because the individual Israelite was so strongly identified with the community, the sin of the individual would become the sin of the community if not addressed (see Lev 4:3, 13-21; 20:1-5).

In like manner, the Christian community is described as the "body of Christ" (1 Cor 12:27; Eph 4:12). The members partake of Christ's identity through the Holy Spirit. That is, as the body of Christ they manifest Christ's life in their lives, and as a unified whole they reveal him to the world. Paul exhorts the Galatians to share the burdens of others (Gal 6:2) and so to model Christ's example (Matt 11:29-30).

all priests were anointed (Exod 40:13-15), here the term probably refers to the high priest because he was specially anointed for service in the Tabernacle (6:20; 8:12). Since the high priest was mediator for all of Israel, including lesser priests, his sin would bring guilt on the entire assembly (see "Community Identity" above). • Guilt results from violating God's will; it is not just perceived or psychological guilt (see note on 5:17-19).

4:4 Tabernacle: Literally Tent of Meeting; also in 4:5, 7, 14, 16, 18; see note on 1:1.

4:5-6 The Tabernacle complex had a tent (sometimes called the "Tent of Meeting"; see note on 1:1) at the west end of the courtyard. Inside the tent, the inner curtain divided the first room, the Holy Place, from the second, the Most Holy Place. The Most Holy Place contained the Ark of the Covenant (Exod 26:31-33) and was God's throne room (see note on 1:1). Sprinkling the animal's blood before the curtain (4:6, 17) and applying it to the horns of the incense altar (4:7, 18) was done to atone for the anointed priest or for the entire congregation. This action demonstrated the gravity of the offenses being atoned for (cp. 4:25, 30-35).

4:7 The altar for fragrant incense stood in front of the inner curtain, just outside the Most Holy Place (4:6). It had four protrusions resembling horns, as did the altar for burnt offerings (see note on Exod 27:2). The priests burned incense on this altar to the Lord each morning and evening (Exod 30:1-10).

4:11-12 Only the offerings for the priest or the entire community were burned outside the camp. Perhaps this was commanded because the offering had figuratively absorbed the contamination of the high priest or the community and therefore had to be disposed of outside the camp. Those guilty should not partake of or reap any benefit from their own sin offerings, even if they were priests (6:19-23).

the Tabernacle. ¹⁵The ^celders of the community must then lay their hands on the bull's head and slaughter it before the LORD. ¹⁶The high priest will then take some of the bull's blood into the Tabernacle, ¹⁷dip his finger in the blood, and sprinkle it seven times before the LORD in front of the inner curtain. ¹⁸He will then put some of the blood on the horns of the altar for fragrant incense that stands in the LORD's presence inside the Tabernacle. He will pour out the rest of the blood at the base of the altar for burnt offerings at the entrance of the Tabernacle. ¹⁹Then the priest must remove all the animal's fat and burn it on the altar, ²⁰just as he does with the bull offered as a sin offering for the high priest. Through this process, the priest will purify the people, making them right with the LORD, and they will be forgiven. ²¹Then the priest must take what is left of the bull and carry it outside the camp and burn it there, just as is done with the sin offering for the high priest. This offering is for the sin of the entire congregation of Israel.

²²"If one of Israel's leaders sins by violating one of the commands of the LORD his God but doesn't realize it, he is still guilty. ²³When he becomes aware of his sin, he must bring as his offering a male goat with no defects. ²⁴He must lay his hand on the goat's head and slaughter it at the place where burnt offerings are slaughtered before the LORD. This is an offering for his sin. ²⁵Then the priest will dip his finger in the blood of the sin offering and put it on the horns of the altar for burnt offerings.

He will pour out the rest of the blood at the base of the altar. ²⁶Then he must burn all the goat's fat on the altar, just as he does with the peace offering. Through this process, the priest will ^apurify the leader from his sin, making him right with the LORD, and he will be forgiven.

²⁷"If any of the common people sin by violating one of the LORD's commands, but they don't realize it, they are still guilty. ²⁸When they become aware of their sin, they must bring as an offering for their sin a female goat with no defects. ²⁹They must lay a hand on the head of the sin offering and slaughter it at the place where burnt offerings are slaughtered. ³⁰Then the priest will dip his finger in the blood and put it on the horns of the altar for burnt offerings. He will pour out the rest of the blood at the base of the altar. ³¹Then he must remove all the goat's fat, just as he does with the fat of the peace offering. He will burn the fat on the altar, and it will be a pleasing aroma to the LORD. Through this process, the priest will purify the people, making them right with the LORD, and they will be forgiven.

³²"If the people bring a sheep as their sin offering, it must be a female with no defects. ³³They must lay a hand on the head of the sin offering and slaughter it at the place where burnt offerings are slaughtered. ³⁴Then the priest will dip his finger in the blood of the sin offering and put it on the horns of the altar for burnt offerings. He will pour out the rest of the blood at the base of the altar. ³⁵Then he must remove all the

4:15
Lev 8:14
Num 8:10-12
^czaqen (2205)
• Num 11:25

4:17
Lev 4:6

4:19
Lev 4:8

4:20
Num 15:25

4:21
Lev 4:12

4:22
Lev 4:2, 13

4:24
Lev 6:25

4:25
Lev 4:7

4:26
Lev 4:19-20
^akapar (3722)
• Lev 9:7

4:27
Lev 4:2

4:28
Lev 4:23

4:30
Lev 4:7

4:31
Gen 8:21
Exod 29:18
Lev 2:2; 4:8; 6:15

4:32
Lev 4:28

4:35
Lev 3:5

4:15 The Hebrew term for elders is related to the word for beard. It implies mature but not necessarily elderly individuals. They were leaders of the community—typically, heads of families and tribes (cp. Exod 18:21-26; Deut 22:15-19). For this offering, the elders represented the entire people, as they would later in anointing David as king (2 Sam 5:3).

4:20 will purify the people, making them right with the LORD: Or will make atonement for the people; similarly in 4:26, 31, 35. See note on 1:4. • A similar form of the phrase they will be forgiven appears frequently in passages dealing with atonement (4:26, 31, 35; 5:10, 13, 16, 18; 6:7; 19:22; Num 15:25, 26, 28). God is willing to forgive a repentant person's sin and restore him or her to the community of faith.

4:22-35 The sin offerings described in this passage atoned for laypersons, whether leaders or other Israelite citizens. These offerings could be eaten (contrast 4:3-21), and they involved lesser animals. The blood of the offering was disposed of in the courtyard of the Tabernacle and not carried to the Holy Place. As with the peace offering (ch 3), the fat and certain internal organs were burned on the altar. However, the rest of the meal from these offerings was given to the priest as food for himself and the males in his family (6:29) and it was to be eaten in a holy place (6:26; cp. 10:16-20). A lay leader was to offer a male goat (4:23), while a common layperson could offer a female goat or lamb. The animal's lesser size and cost reflected the lesser influence of the common Israelite and, probably, his financial situation. Economic considerations allowed those who were poor to bring a pair of doves or young pigeons (5:7-8; 12:6, 8; cp. Luke 2:24). The desperately poor could offer two quarts of flour (5:11).

4:22 Israel's leaders included the elders (see 4:15), tribal heads, and family heads (see Num 1:16, 44; 1 Kgs 8:1).

4:23 The male goat offered by a lay leader was a lesser offering than was required for the priest (a bull) but more than was required for a common person (4:28, 32). However, like all offerings used for securing atonement, the animal could have no defects (see 1:3).

4:24 at the place where burnt offerings are slaughtered: See 1:3-5.

4:25 blood . . . horns of the altar: Unlike the blood of the bull for the priest, the blood of the offering of a leader (4:25) or a common Israelite (4:30, 34) was not to be carried into the Holy Place. Also, a portion of the meat was to be eaten by the priest who offered it (6:24-29).

4:27-35 The common people, who had less responsibility than a priest or leader, were permitted the lesser offering of a female sheep or goat. A greater position brings greater responsibility (cp. Amos 3:2; Matt 25:14-30; Jas 3:1).

5:1
Prov 29:24
5:2
Lev 11:4-11, 24-39
Num 19:11-16
Deut 14:3-21

5:4
Num 30:6-8

5:5
Lev 16:21
Num 5:7
Josh 7:19

5:6
Lev 4:28, 32

5:7
Lev 12:8
Luke 2:24

5:8
Lev 1:15, 17

5:9
Lev 4:7; 7:2

5:10
Lev 1:14-17

5:11
Lev 14:21
*Luke 2:24

sheep's fat, just as he does with the fat of a sheep presented as a peace offering. He will burn the fat on the altar on top of the special gifts presented to the LORD. Through this process, the priest will purify the people from their sin, making them right with the LORD, and they will be forgiven.

Sins Requiring a Sin Offering

5“If you are called to testify about something you have seen or that you know about, it is sinful to refuse to testify, and you will be punished for your sin.

²“Or suppose you unknowingly touch something that is ceremonially unclean, such as the carcass of an unclean animal. When you realize what you have done, you must admit your defilement and your guilt. This is true whether it is a wild animal, a domestic animal, or an animal that scurries along the ground.

³“Or suppose you unknowingly touch something that makes a person unclean. When you realize what you have done, you must admit your guilt.

⁴“Or suppose you make a foolish vow of any kind, whether its purpose is for good or for bad. When you realize its foolishness, you must admit your guilt.

⁵“When you become aware of your guilt in any of these ways, you must confess your sin. ⁶Then you must bring to the LORD as the penalty for your sin a female from the flock, either a sheep or a goat. This is a sin offering with which the priest will purify you from your sin, making you right with the LORD.

⁷“But if you cannot afford to bring a sheep, you may bring to the LORD two turtledoves or two young pigeons as the penalty for your sin. One of the birds will be for a sin offering, and the other for a burnt offering. ⁸You must bring them to the priest, who will present the first bird as the sin offering. He will wring its neck but without severing its head from the body. ⁹Then he will sprinkle some of the blood of the sin offering against the sides of the altar, and the rest of the blood will be drained out at the base of the altar. This is an offering for sin. ¹⁰The priest will then prepare the second bird as a burnt offering, following all the procedures that have been prescribed. Through this process the priest will purify you from your sin, making you right with the LORD, and you will be forgiven.

¹¹“If you cannot afford to bring two turtledoves or two young pigeons, you may

5:1-6 These verses list examples of sins covered by the sin offering (4:2). When a person realized he or she had committed an offense, the next step was to make it right by admitting guilt and bringing a sin offering.

5:1 The first infraction was the failure to testify when called as a witness before a court. Failure to testify was not a passive act because it actively aided the criminal. • you will be punished (literally you become guilty or you realize your guilt): Anticipating God's punishment for the sin, the guilty party offered the sacrifice to remove the guilt and escape the punishment.

5:2 ceremonially unclean: “Clean” and “unclean” did not pertain to hygiene (see 11:1-15:33) but to suitability for participating in worship or, in the case of animals, suitability for sacrifice or human consumption. A list of clean and unclean animals is found in 11:1-47. The requirement for becoming clean after touching an unclean animal was merely to wash one's clothes and remain apart from the community until evening (11:27-28). Most likely, therefore, the requirement of this sin offering indicates that the person had failed to follow the prescription for cleansing (11:27-28).

5:3 Any bodily discharge, even blood, would render a person temporarily unclean (chs 11-15). The uncleanness itself was not sin, but it was a sin to neglect the uncleanness, allowing it to spread. Once people became aware of their unclean state, they were guilty if they neglected it.

5:4 Oaths could be taken in the name of the Lord. However, a foolish vow, one thoughtlessly made, was a blasphemous misuse of the Lord's name (Exod 20:7). Accordingly, vows must be fulfilled (see Num 30:2; Deut 23:21-23; Eccl 5:4-6).

5:5 When you become aware of your guilt: All the situations that required a sin offering assumed guilt by accident or ignorance. As soon as a person became aware of having done something improper, he or she became guilty and was required to attend to it. Known sins were to be dealt with; it was a sin in itself to know what was right and not do it (see 5:17; Jas 4:17). • confess: Sacrifice for sin without admission of guilt would be a meaningless ritual. When the sacrificial animal was presented to the priest, the worshiper likely told the priest why it was being offered.

5:6 This penalty was apparently fulfilled by the required sacrifice (see note on 4:1-5:13). • The actions described in 5:1-5 best fit those of a layperson, so a female offering was permitted, in keeping with the principle demonstrated in 4:28, 32. • will purify you from your sin, making you right with the LORD: Or will make atonement for you for your sin; similarly in 5:10, 13, 16, 18. See note on 1:4.

5:7-13 The poor also needed to secure atonement and reconciliation. Birds (5:7) were permitted for those too poor to afford a lamb (cp. 1:14-17). Although an animal offering was typically required for atonement (17:11), God in his grace allowed the bloodless offering of flour if the worshiper could not afford two birds (5:11).

5:7 The sin offerings included both a portion as a burnt offering and a portion that was first offered, then given to the priests (cp. 4:22-35; 6:24-30). Because of their small size, two birds were required—one for each type of offering.

5:10 making you right: See notes on 1:4; 4:20.

5:11 two quarts: Hebrew $\frac{1}{2}$ of an ephah [2.2 liters]. • choice flour: See note on 2:1. • The sin offering was not to be adorned with olive oil or . . . frankincense. These were required for the grain offering, which was the individual's gift to the Lord (see 2:1), given to express worship. The sin offering made atonement; its purpose was to obtain forgiveness, requiring that the offering be completely unadorned.

bring two quarts of choice flour for your sin offering. Since it is an offering for sin, you must not moisten it with olive oil or put any frankincense on it. ¹²Take the flour to the priest, who will scoop out a handful as a representative portion. He will burn it on the altar on top of the special gifts presented to the LORD. It is an offering for sin. ¹³Through this process, the priest will purify those who are guilty of any of these sins, making them right with the LORD, and they will be forgiven. The rest of the flour will belong to the priest, just as with the grain offering."

The Guilt Offering (5:14–6:7)
Procedures for the Guilt Offering

¹⁴Then the LORD said to Moses, ¹⁵"If one of you commits a sin by unintentionally defiling the LORD's sacred property, you must bring a guilt offering to the LORD. The offering must be your own ram with no defects, or you may buy one of equal value with silver, as measured by the weight of the sanctuary shekel. ¹⁶You must make restitution for the sacred property you have harmed by paying for the loss, plus an additional 20 percent. When you give the payment to the priest, he will purify you with the ram sacrificed as a guilt offering, making you right with the LORD, and you will be forgiven.

¹⁷"Suppose you sin by violating one of the LORD's commands. Even if you are unaware of what you have done, you are guilty and will be punished for your sin. ¹⁸For a guilt offering, you must bring to the priest your own ram with no defects, or you may buy one of equal value. Through this process the priest will purify you from your unintentional sin, making you right with the LORD, and you will be forgiven. ¹⁹This is a guilt offering, for you have been guilty of an offense against the LORD."

Sins Requiring a Guilt Offering

6 Then the LORD said to Moses, ²"Suppose one of you sins against your associate and is unfaithful to the LORD. Suppose you cheat in a deal involving a security deposit, or you steal or commit fraud, ³or you find lost property and lie about it, or you lie while swearing to tell the truth, or you commit any other such sin. ⁴If you have sinned in any of these ways, you are guilty. You must give back whatever you stole, or the money you took by extortion, or the security deposit, or the lost property you found, ⁵or anything obtained by swearing falsely. You must make restitution by paying the full price plus an additional 20 percent to the person you have harmed. On the same day you must present a guilt offering. ⁶As a guilt offering to the LORD, you must bring to the priest your own ram with no defects, or you may buy one of equal value. ⁷Through this process, the priest will purify you before

5:15
Exod 30:13
Lev 6:6; 7:1-10
5:16
Lev 6:5; 22:14
5:17
Lev 5:15
6:2
Exod 22:7-15
Num 5:6
Col 3:9
6:3
Deut 22:1-3
6:5-6
Lev 5:15-16
Num 5:8

5:12 representative portion: See note on 2:2.

5:13 making them right: See notes on 1:4; 4:20. • rest of the flour: See note on 2:3.

5:14–6:7 The guilt offering (Hebrew asham, "guilt") dealt with property loss and damages, whether sacred (5:14-16) or secular (6:1-7). It involved restitution as well as compensation for the loss (5:16; 6:5). It could be called a "penalty offering," because the ram was a penalty, or perhaps a "restitution offering," because of the need to make restitution for the loss before the ram was offered. In the guilt offering (5:14–6:7), the loss involved was not only a failure in God's sight, as with the sin offering, but also a loss of property to another person or to the sanctuary. Cp. Matt 5:23-24.

5:15 unintentionally defiling: Damage to sacred property was distinguished from damage to secular property. The sacrifice was effective only if the damage to sacred property had been committed accidentally. Deliberate damage, such as vandalism, to something sacred was blasphemous. As with other deliberate sins (Num 15:30-31), no means was specified for its atonement. No devout believer would defiantly continue in sin (see 1 Jn 3:9). • The sanctuary shekel was not a coin but a standardized unit for measuring weight; each shekel was about 0.4 ounces or 11 grams in weight. It was used to evaluate the ram being offered. Some scholars suggest that this text permits the substitution of the appropriate amount of silver for the ram.

5:16 The surcharge of an additional 20 percent provided compensation to the owner for loss or damage to property. The surcharge for sacred property was paid directly to the priests. Accidental damage to sacred property occurred when a person unintentionally ate the sacred offerings (22:14) or omitted the tithe (27:31). A similar surcharge was involved in redeeming an animal (27:13, 27).

5:17-19 This paragraph provides general principles for the guilt offering. Even if unaware of the infraction, an individual was guilty and had to provide the appropriate guilt offering. This applied to both sacred and secular property (5:14-16; 6:1-7).

6:1-7 Verses 6:1-7 are numbered 5:20-26 in the Hebrew text.

6:2 sins against your associate . . . unfaithful to the LORD: For believers, there really is no such thing as a "secular" sin. All sin involves God, even sin directed against another person or group. In the sins requiring a guilt offering, God's forgiveness was needed, but restitution to the injured individual had to be made first (6:5-7; cp. Matt 5:23-24). Unlike offenses against sacred property (5:14-16), both accidental and intentional offenses against secular property could be forgiven.

6:4 you are guilty: See note on 5:5.

6:5 The instructions for the guilt offering assumed that a person's conscience would induce voluntary reparation; when restitution was voluntary, the surcharge for loss of use to the owner was always 20 percent. Penalties were more severe in other cases (cp. Exod 22:1-15). There is a clear difference between voluntary confession and simply admitting sin after being caught.

6:7 will purify you before the LORD, making you right with him (or will make atonement for you before the LORD): God

6:9
Exod 29:38-42
Lev 6:12-13
Num 28:1-25
6:10
Exod 28:39-43
6:12
Lev 3:5
6:14
Lev 2:1
6:15
Lev 2:1-2, 9
6:16
Lev 10:12-15
Num 18:10

the LORD, making you right with him, and you will be forgiven for any of these sins you have committed."

Priestly Regulations Pertaining to the Offerings (6:8-7:38)

Further Instructions for the Burnt Offering

⁸Then the LORD said to Moses, ⁹"Give Aaron and his sons the following instructions regarding the burnt offering. The burnt offering must be left on top of the altar until the next morning, and the fire on the altar must be kept burning all night. ¹⁰In the morning, after the priest on duty has put on his official linen clothing and linen undergarments, he must clean out the ashes of the burnt offering and put them beside the altar. ¹¹Then he must take off these garments, change back into his regular clothes, and carry the ashes outside the camp to a place that is ceremonially clean. ¹²Meanwhile, the fire on the altar must be kept burning; it must never go out. Each morning the priest will add fresh wood to the fire and arrange the burnt offering on it. He will then burn the fat of the peace offerings on it. ¹³Remember, the fire must be kept burning on the altar at all times. It must never go out.

Further Instructions for the Grain Offering

¹⁴"These are the instructions regarding the grain offering. Aaron's sons must present this offering to the LORD in front of the altar. ¹⁵The priest on duty will take from the grain offering a handful of the choice flour moistened with olive oil, together with all the frankincense. He will burn this representative portion on the altar as a pleasing aroma to the LORD. ¹⁶Aaron and his sons may eat the rest of the flour, but it must be

God's Instructions (6:9, 14)

Gen 26:5
Exod 16:4
Deut 17:8-13, 18-20
2 Kgs 10:30-31;
22:8-20
Job 22:21-23
Ps 40:8; 78:9-12
Prov 6:20-23; 13:14;
28:9
Isa 8:20
Col 3:16
2 Tim 3:14-17

The common Hebrew word torah is translated "law" in most English versions. This translation comes from the use of the Greek word nomos (which means "law") to translate torah in the Septuagint (the Greek OT). However, torah doesn't mean "law," but rather "teaching," "instruction," or "doctrine." This meaning is respected in the NLT by its translation as "instructions" (e.g., 6:9, 14).

The term law often brings to mind an authority imposed by an external force (such as a government) and is often perceived as harsh and unbending. The torah of Moses, however, is instructional. It might embody law, but it also included stories (10:1-3), poetry (Deut 32:1-43), genealogies (Exod 6:14-25), and a number of other literary forms.

There are other words properly translated "law." The first is khoq, or "statute," rendered "right" in 6:18 and "law" in 6:22. A statute is a law as it was given by the lawgiver—in this case, by God himself. It states a general principle, leaving its application open to interpretation by context or the courts. In 18:4-5 and 19:37, khuqqah ("decrees") is paired with mishpatim ("regulations"), a term indicating case laws. It would be impossible to write laws that cover every situation. A case law, therefore, refers to a court's previous interpretation of a statute in certain cases; the court's decisions in the past give guidance for deciding on similar cases in the present.

Law is necessary, for there will always be people who need its restraint. Instruction in doctrine and godly living are an integral part of the church and its life-giving message to the world (Col 3:16).

graciously gave his people a way to atone for their sins. See also notes on 1:4; 4:20.

6:8-7:38 The regulations in 1:2-6:7 include instructions for both priest and layperson. This section adds detail regarding the rights and obligations of the officiating priest. Because the tribe of Levi had been allotted no land for farming (Deut 18:1; Josh 13:14, 33), priests depended on the offering system for their income. The concern was that priests be adequately provided for. Like many human institutions, this system was eventually abused (1 Sam 2:12-25; Hos 4:8).

6:8-30 Verses 6:8-30 are numbered 6:1-23 in Hebrew text.

6:9 burnt offering: See note on 1:3-17.

6:10 The priest was required to wear official linen clothing, the attire of his office, when officiating at the Tabernacle. This allowed everyone to know that he was there to carry out his official duties (Exod 28:40-43). The priest was to dress appropriately for service to the divine King. He was not to wear his official garb outside the Tabernacle (6:11; Ezek 44:19). • undergarments: See Exod 20:26.

6:11 Most natural environments qualified as a place that is ceremonially clean.

6:12-13 This passage cautions that the fire on the bronze altar must be constantly tended and never allowed to go out, perhaps anticipating the tragedy of the "wrong kind of fire" offered by Nadab and Abihu (10:1-2).

6:14 grain offering: See note on 2:1-16.

6:15 frankincense: See note on 2:1.

6:16 In this context sacred place does not refer to the Holy Place at the heart of the Tabernacle but to any location within the Tabernacle complex, all of which were ceremonially clean and holy. • Tabernacle: Literally Tent of Meeting; also in 6:26, 30; see note on 1:1.

baked without yeast and eaten in a sacred place within the courtyard of the Tabernacle. ¹⁷Remember, it must never be prepared with yeast. I have given it to the priests as their share of the special gifts presented to me. Like the sin offering and the guilt offering, it is most holy. ¹⁸Any of Aaron's male descendants may eat from the special gifts presented to the LORD. This is their permanent right from generation to generation. Anyone or anything that touches these offerings will become holy."

Procedures for the Ordination Offering

¹⁹Then the LORD said to Moses, ²⁰"On the day Aaron and his sons are anointed, they must present to the LORD the standard grain offering of two quarts of choice flour, half to be offered in the morning and half to be offered in the evening. ²¹It must be carefully mixed with olive oil and cooked on a griddle. Then slice this grain offering and present it as a pleasing aroma to the LORD. ²²In each generation, the high priest who succeeds Aaron must prepare this same offering. It belongs to the LORD and must be burned up completely. This is a permanent law. ²³All such grain offerings of a priest must be burned up entirely. None of it may be eaten."

Further Instructions for the Sin Offering

²⁴Then the LORD said to Moses, ²⁵"Give Aaron and his sons the following instructions regarding the sin offering. The animal given as an offering for sin is a most holy offering, and it must be slaughtered in the LORD's presence at the place where the burnt offerings are slaughtered. ²⁶The priest who offers the sacrifice as a sin offering must eat his portion in a sacred place within the courtyard of the Tabernacle. ²⁷Anyone or anything that touches the sacrificial meat will become holy. If any of the sacrificial blood spatters on a person's clothing, the soiled garment must be washed in a sacred place. ²⁸If a clay pot is used to boil the sacrificial meat, it must then be broken. If a bronze pot is used, it must be scoured and thoroughly rinsed with water. ²⁹Any male from a priest's family may eat from this offering; it is most holy. ³⁰But the offering for sin may not be eaten if its blood was brought into the Tabernacle as an offering for purification in the Holy Place. It must be completely burned with fire.

Further Instructions for the Guilt Offering

⁷"These are the instructions for the guilt offering. It is most holy. ²The animal sacrificed as a guilt offering must be slaughtered at the place where the burnt offerings are slaughtered, and its blood must be splattered against all sides of the altar. ³The priest will then offer all its fat on the altar, including the fat of the broad tail, the fat around the internal organs, ⁴the two kidneys and the fat around them near the loins, and the long lobe of the liver. These are to be removed with the kidneys, ⁵and the priests will burn them on the altar as a special gift presented to the LORD. This is

6:17
Lev 2:11; 6:29; 10:17

6:18
Lev 6:29
Num 18:10
1 Cor 9:13

6:21
Lev 2:5, 8; 7:9

6:22-23
Exod 29:30

6:25
Lev 4:24, 29

6:27
Exod 29:37

6:28
Lev 11:33; 15:12

6:29
Lev 6:18

6:30
Lev 4:18

7:1
Lev 5:14-6:7

7:2
Lev 1:11

7:3
Lev 3:3, 9

6:17 yeast: See note on 2:11. • The priests' share of the grain offering had the practical value of providing their staple food—bread (7:9)—in addition to its theological significance as being most holy. See note on 2:3.

6:18 The priestly share did not belong exclusively to the priest conducting the sacrifice; it was to be shared with all of Aaron's male descendants. The text does not indicate why these offerings could be eaten only by the males while other offerings were available to all members of the priests' families (see note on 10:13-15; see also Num 18:20-24). • will become holy: Or must be holy; also in 6:27. Though uncleanness could be spread by touch (ch 15), Haggai implied that holiness could not (Hag 2:12). If an unclean person encountered that which was holy, disaster could result (10:1-3; 1 Sam 6:19-20; 2 Sam 6:6-8).

6:19-23 These instructions applied only to the grain portion of the ordination offering (see 2:1-16; for the rest of the ordination offering, see 8:22-32).

6:20 two quarts: Hebrew $\frac{1}{10}$ of an ephah [2.2 liters].

6:21 slice: The meaning of this Hebrew term is uncertain.

6:22 Only the high priest (literally the anointed priest) could represent the priesthood as an institution, with all its constituent priests.

6:23 Normally, the bulk of a grain offering would go to the officiating priest (2:9-10). However, the grain offering described in 6:19-23 was for a special occasion—the ordination of the priests—and therefore was to be burned up entirely and not eaten.

6:25 sin offering: See 4:2-5:10 and notes.

6:26 sacred place: See note on 6:16.

6:28 A clay pot was porous and could not be cleansed as thoroughly as a metal one—some of the holy food might stick to it or soak in. Reuse would cause an act of sacrilege. However, a bronze pot could be thoroughly scoured to prevent this problem (see also 11:33; 15:12).

6:29 Any male from a priest's family: See note on 6:18.

6:30 Some sin offerings for the anointed priest and for the entire congregation were not to be eaten. The blood of these offerings was carried into the Holy Place and sprinkled before the curtain (see 4:1-21). The sacrifices that could be eaten were those for the lay leader and for the common people. The blood of these animals was poured on and around the base of the altar in the courtyard of the Tabernacle (see 4:22-35). • an offering for purification: Or an offering to make atonement. See note on 1:4.

7:1 guilt offering: See notes on 5:14-6:7.

7:2 where the burnt offerings are slaughtered: See 1:3-5.

7:3-4 The guilt offering required the sacrifice of a ram (5:18). • fat . . . tail . . . organs: The parts of the guilt offering to be burned were the same as those for the peace offering (3:3-4, 9-10, 14-15) and the sin offering (4:8-9, 26, 31, 35).

7:6
Lev 6:18, 29
Num 18:10

7:7
Lev 14:13

7:9
Lev 2:5, 8

7:11
Lev 3:1-17

7:12
Lev 2:4
Num 6:15

7:13
Lev 2:12; 23:17

7:15
Lev 22:29-30
today* (8426)
• Lev 22:29

7:16
Lev 19:6-8

7:17
Exod 12:10

7:19
Lev 11:47

7:20
Gen 17:14
Lev 22:3-7
Num 19:13

7:21
Lev 5:2-3

7:23
Lev 3:17

7:24
Exod 22:31
Lev 17:15

the guilt offering. ⁶Any male from a priest's family may eat the meat. It must be eaten in a sacred place, for it is most holy.

⁷"The same instructions apply to both the guilt offering and the sin offering. Both belong to the priest who uses them to purify someone, making that person right with the LORD. ⁸In the case of the burnt offering, the priest may keep the hide of the sacrificed animal. ⁹Any grain offering that has been baked in an oven, prepared in a pan, or cooked on a griddle belongs to the priest who presents it. ¹⁰All other grain offerings, whether made of dry flour or flour moistened with olive oil, are to be shared equally among all the priests, the descendants of Aaron.

Further Instructions for the Peace Offering

¹¹"These are the instructions regarding the different kinds of peace offerings that may be presented to the LORD. ¹²If you present your peace offering as an expression of thanksgiving, the usual animal sacrifice must be accompanied by various kinds of bread made without yeast—thin cakes mixed with olive oil, wafers spread with oil, and cakes made of choice flour mixed with olive oil. ¹³This peace offering of thanksgiving must also be accompanied by loaves of bread made with yeast. ¹⁴One of each kind of bread must be presented as a gift to the LORD. It will then belong to the priest who splatters the blood of the peace offering against the altar. ¹⁵The meat of the peace offering of "thanksgiving must be eaten on the same day it is offered. None of it may be saved for the next morning.

¹⁶"If you bring an offering to fulfill a vow or as a voluntary offering, the meat must be eaten on the same day the sacrifice is offered, but whatever is left over may be eaten on the second day. ¹⁷Any meat left over until the third day must be completely burned up. ¹⁸If any of the meat from the peace offering is eaten on the third day, the person who presented it will not be accepted by the LORD. You will receive no credit for offering it. By then the meat will be contaminated; if you eat it, you will be punished for your sin.

¹⁹"Meat that touches anything ceremonially unclean may not be eaten; it must be completely burned up. The rest of the meat may be eaten, but only by people who are ceremonially clean. ²⁰If you are ceremonially unclean and you eat meat from a peace offering that was presented to the LORD, you will be cut off from the community. ²¹If you touch anything that is unclean (whether it is human defilement or an unclean animal or any other unclean, detestable thing) and then eat meat from a peace offering presented to the LORD, you will be cut off from the community."

The Forbidden Blood and Fat

²²Then the LORD said to Moses, ²³"Give the following instructions to the people of Israel. You must never eat fat, whether from cattle, sheep, or goats. ²⁴The fat of an animal found dead or torn to pieces by wild

7:6 Any male from a priest's family: See note on 6:18. • a sacred place: See note on 6:16.

7:7 to purify someone, making that person right with the LORD: Or to make atonement; see note on 1:4; 4:20.

7:12-15 The peace offering could be presented as an expression of thanks (as here), as payment of a vow (7:16), or as a voluntary offering (see 3:1-7). A worshiper made it an expression of thanksgiving by presenting a grain offering along with his peace offering (2:1-16). A grain offering consisted of unleavened cakes, wafers, or cakes of fine flour, all mixed or spread with olive oil. A representative portion was set aside to be burned (2:9). The grain offering was to be accompanied by loaves of yeast bread (7:13).

7:15 The thanksgiving offering was given when the worshiper was thankful (Jer 17:26; 33:11). The sacrifice was to be eaten on the same day it was offered so that the event would not fade from the worshiper's memory.

7:16-18 In contrast to the "peace offering of thanksgiving," which was presented as an expression of thanks to the Lord (7:12-15), the offering to fulfill a vow related to a vow made by a worshiper. The festive meal that followed was more relaxed and could extend into the next day. However, because the vow offering involved a vow made to God, it was still more restrictive than the voluntary offering, which could even use a deformed animal (22:23).

7:18 The Hebrew term for contaminated (piggul) occurs only in three other places (19:7; Isa 65:4; Ezek 4:14). It is always used in reference to meat that is unacceptable for sacrifice or human consumption.

7:19-21 Anything that was ceremonially unclean could not come into contact with what was holy (7:20). Although uncleanness was not sinful in itself, it symbolized what was unholy (see Exod 19:10).

7:20-21 cut off: Three interpretations are possible for this expression, all of them very grave: (1) The person was subject to God's judgment and faced an early death by natural causes (17:10-14). (2) The person was to be executed by the community (cp. Exod 31:14). (3) The person lost communal membership in Israel, either by banishment (such as by excommunication) or by shunning the person and treating him or her as unclean (18:24-30; cp. 23:29-30, where "cut off" seems distinct from "destroy").

7:22-27 In the sacrificial system, the fat and blood of all altar offerings belonged to God. They were offered before any of the sacrifice could be eaten. Consuming blood was specifically forbidden because it represented the very life of the animal (17:10-16). The injunction against eating fat might have been because fat, considered to be the best part of the offering, belonged to God.

7:24 Animals found dead had not been drained of their blood and were therefore unclean. Their fat was unfit to offer to the Lord and could not be eaten. However, it could be used for any other purpose, such as greasing cart axles, waterproofing animal hides, and other household uses.

animals must never be eaten, though it may be used for any other purpose. ²⁵Anyone who eats fat from an animal presented as a special gift to the LORD will be cut off from the community. ²⁶No matter where you live, you must never consume the blood of any bird or animal. ²⁷Anyone who consumes blood will be cut off from the community."

A Portion for the Priests

²⁸Then the LORD said to Moses, ²⁹"Give the following instructions to the people of Israel. When you present a peace offering to the LORD, bring part of it as a gift to the LORD. ³⁰Present it to the LORD with your own hands as a special gift to the LORD. Bring the fat of the animal, together with the breast, and lift up the breast as a special offering to the LORD. ³¹Then the priest will burn the fat on the altar, but the breast will belong to Aaron and his descendants. ³²Give the right thigh of your peace offering to the priest as a gift. ³³The right thigh must always be given to the priest who offers the blood and the fat of the peace offering. ³⁴For I have reserved the breast of the special offering and the right thigh of the sacred offering for the priests. It is the permanent right of Aaron and his descendants to share in the peace offerings brought by the people of Israel. ³⁵This is their rightful share. The special gifts presented to the LORD have been reserved for Aaron and his descendants from the time they were set apart to serve the LORD as priests. ³⁶On the day they were anointed, the LORD commanded the Israelites to give these portions to the priests as their permanent share from generation to generation."

³⁷These are the instructions for the burnt offering, the grain offering, the sin offering, and the guilt offering, as well as the ordination offering and the peace offering. ³⁸The LORD gave these instructions to Moses on Mount Sinai when he commanded the Israelites to present their offerings to the LORD in the wilderness of Sinai.

2. THE INSTITUTION OF THE PRIESTHOOD (8:1–10:20)

The Priests Are Ordained and Begin Their Ministry (8:1–9:24)

Ordination of the Priests

8 Then the LORD said to Moses, ²"Bring Aaron and his sons, along with their sacred garments, the anointing oil, the bull for the sin offering, the two rams, and the basket of bread made without yeast, ³and call the entire community of Israel together at the entrance of the Tabernacle."

⁴So Moses followed the LORD's instructions, and the whole community assembled at the Tabernacle entrance. ⁵Moses announced to them, "This is what the LORD has commanded us to do!" ⁶Then he presented Aaron and his sons and washed them with water. ⁷He put the official tunic on Aaron and tied the sash around his

7:26
Gen 9:4
Lev 17:10-14
Acts 15:20, 29

7:29
Lev 3:1

7:30
Exod 29:26-27
Lev 8:29
Num 6:20

7:31
Lev 7:34
Num 18:11

7:32
Num 18:18

7:34
Exod 29:22
Lev 10:15

7:36
Exod 29:22-34;
40:13-15

7:38
Lev 26:46

8:2
Exod 28:1

8:6
Exod 29:4

7:26-27 The prohibition against consuming blood was so important that the Council at Jerusalem included it in the instructions for Gentile believers (Acts 15:29).

7:29 peace offering: See 3:1-17.

7:34 breast of the special offering . . . right thigh of the sacred offering: The peace offering was a shared meal between God, the priest, the worshiper, and his guests. The breast (in some older translations called a "wave offering") and thigh (sometimes called the "contribution" or "heave offering") were specifically designated as the priest's portion (see 10:13-15). After these offerings were taken into the Tabernacle and presented before the Lord, they could then be eaten (see Exod 29:24, 26).

7:36 anointed: See 8:12, 30; also Exod 40:13-15.

7:37 ordination offering: See notes on 6:19-23; 8:22-32.

8:1-36 In Exod 28-29, the Lord gave Moses specific instructions for clothing and for ordaining Aaron and his sons as priests. In Exod 39:1-31; 40:12-16; and Lev 8:1-36, the commands were carried out. Moses didn't just pass along the instructions verbally; he enacted the rituals to provide an example for the priests down to the last detail, just as the Lord had commanded him (8:9, 13, 17, 21, 29). Because the penalty for disobedience was death, God made sure the priests knew exactly what to do.

8:2 These items are also mentioned in Exod 29:1-3, 7. • sacred garments: See Exod 28:1-43. • The anointing oil consisted of special ingredients to give it a unique scent. These included myrrh, cinnamon, cane, and cassia (dried flowers from the cinnamon tree) mixed into olive oil (see Exod 30:22-33). • bull for the sin offering: See 4:3-12. • The first of the two rams was to be a whole burnt offering (8:18), while the second was a special ordination sacrifice (8:22). • basket of bread made without yeast: See 6:19-23.

8:3 Tabernacle: Literally Tent of Meeting; also in 8:4, 31, 33, 35; see note on 1:1.

8:4 The text repeatedly emphasizes that Moses followed the Lord's instructions, obeying the commands given in Exod 29 (see also Lev 8:9, 13, 17, 21, 29, 36).

8:6 Being washed . . . with water was the first step for cleansing from impurity. The priests had to be ceremonially clean before they could serve the Lord in holiness (Exod 29:4; see Ps 24:4).

8:7-9 See the illustration of the high priest's clothing at Exod 28:1-43, p. 174.

8:7 The tunic (see Exod 28:39) was woven of patterned linen cloth. • The same type of material used for the Tabernacle curtains was used for the embroidered ephod (see Exod 28:4, 6-14). This garment's precise shape and size are unclear, but it seems to have been a long, sleeveless vest, fitted close to the body and tied about the waist. It was joined at the shoulders by gold settings; each setting bore an onyx stone engraved with the names of six of the tribes of Israel (Exod 28:9). Later, an ephod also referred to a venerated image (Judg 8:27; 18:17). • The decorative sash was embroidered and was made of the same materials as the ephod (see Exod 28:8).

8:8
Exod 28:30
Ezra 2:63

8:9
Exod 28:4, 36-38

8:10
Exod 30:26-33
ⁱmishkan (4908)
• Lev 17:4

8:11
Exod 29:37
Lev 16:14
^hmashakh (4886)
• Lev 8:12

8:12
Exod 28:41, 30:30
Lev 21:10-12
^hmashakh (4886)
• 1 Sam 10:1

8:13
Exod 28:4, 39

8:14
Exod 29:10-14
Lev 4:4

8:15
Lev 4:7

8:17
Lev 4:11-12

8:18
Exod 29:15-19

8:22
Exod 29:31

8:23
Exod 29:20-21

8:25
Exod 29:22

waist. He dressed him in the robe, placed the ephod on him, and attached the ephod securely with its decorative sash. ⁸Then Moses placed the chestpiece on Aaron and put the Urim and the Thummim inside it. ⁹He placed the turban on Aaron's head and attached the gold medallion—the badge of holiness—to the front of the turban, just as the LORD had commanded him.

¹⁰Then Moses took the anointing oil and anointed the ⁱTabernacle and everything in it, making them holy. ¹¹He sprinkled the oil on the altar seven times, ^hanointing it and all its utensils, as well as the washbasin and its stand, making them holy. ¹²Then he poured some of the anointing oil on Aaron's head, ^hanointing him and making him holy for his work. ¹³Next Moses presented Aaron's sons. He clothed them in their tunics, tied their sashes around them, and put their special head coverings on them, just as the LORD had commanded him.

¹⁴Then Moses presented the bull for the sin offering. Aaron and his sons laid their hands on the bull's head, ¹⁵and Moses slaughtered it. Moses took some of the blood, and with his finger he put it on the four horns of the altar to purify it. He poured out the rest of the blood at the base of the altar. Through this process, he made the altar holy by purifying it. ¹⁶Then Moses took all the fat around the internal organs, the long lobe of the liver, and the two kidneys and the fat around them, and he burned it all on the altar. ¹⁷He took the rest of the bull, including its hide, meat, and dung, and burned it on a fire outside the camp, just as the LORD had commanded him.

¹⁸Then Moses presented the ram for the burnt offering. Aaron and his sons laid their hands on the ram's head, ¹⁹and Moses slaughtered it. Then Moses took the ram's blood and splattered it against all sides of the altar. ²⁰Then he cut the ram into pieces, and he burned the head, some of its pieces, and the fat on the altar. ²¹After washing the internal organs and the legs with water, Moses burned the entire ram on the altar as a burnt offering. It was a pleasing aroma, a special gift presented to the LORD, just as the LORD had commanded him.

²²Then Moses presented the other ram, which was the ram of ordination. Aaron and his sons laid their hands on the ram's head, ²³and Moses slaughtered it. Then Moses took some of its blood and applied it to the lobe of Aaron's right ear, the thumb of his right hand, and the big toe of his right foot. ²⁴Next Moses presented Aaron's sons and applied some of the blood to the lobes of their right ears, the thumbs of their right hands, and the big toes of their right feet. He then splattered the rest of the blood against all sides of the altar.

²⁵Next Moses took the fat, including the fat of the broad tail, the fat around the internal organs, the long lobe of the liver, and the two kidneys and the fat around them, along

8:8 The chestpiece (see Exod 28:15-30) was made of embroidered linen folded double. It bore twelve stones, each engraved with the name of a tribe of Israel. It was suspended over the heart by a gold chain from the gold shoulderpieces of the ephod. • The Urim and the Thummim were placed in the pocket of the chestpiece (Exod 28:30; 1 Sam 23:9-12; 30:7-8); the precise function of these items is uncertain. They are generally thought of as two stones, perhaps each different in color, that were cast as lots. They apparently could give a positive, neutral, or negative answer to questions that could not otherwise be resolved (Exod 28:30; Num 27:21; 1 Sam 28:6). Their mention in OT prophetic literature written centuries later (Ezra 2:63; Neh 7:65) demonstrates how important these items were to the office of priest.

8:9 The turban worn by the high priest was made of linen and was distinct from the headdresses of the common priests (Exod 28:40). The gold medallion was suspended from the turban and bore an inscription that read, "HOLY TO

THE LORD" (Exod 28:36). With the names of the tribes on his shoulders and over his heart and the dedication to the Lord on his forehead, the high priest was clearly marked as the people's representative to God and God's representative to the people. In this mediating role, the high priest modeled the standard for all priests.

8:10 making them holy: God is the Holy One (Ps 22:3; 78:41). In the strictest sense, only God can make a person or thing holy (Exod 31:13; Lev 20:8; 21:15, 23; 22:9, 16; 22:32; see Heb 2:11); the actions of Moses simply recognized and declared what God had done (also in 8:11, 12, 15).

8:13 For the attire of the common priests, see Exod 28:40-41.

8:14 sin offering (see 4:3-12): Two atoning offerings were made—the sin offering (8:14-17) and the whole burnt offering (8:18-21). • By placing their hands on the bull's head (see 1:4), Aaron and his sons were identifying themselves with the sacrifice (also in 8:18, 22).

8:15 Normally, the high priest performed these priestly duties. However, it would not be proper for the priests to ordain themselves, so Moses, acting as God's representative, instituted the priesthood. • by purifying it: Or by making atonement for it; or that offerings for purification might be made on it; see note on 1:4.

8:18 ram for the burnt offering: See note on 1:10-13.

8:22 ram of ordination: See Exod 29:19-34.

8:23 Aaron's [ear]lobe, thumb, and big toe represented his total person. This act emphasized the role of the priestly office, with the blood stressing the ties to the sacrificial system. The priest's basic function was mediation between God and his people. To do this effectively, he needed ears that could hear the words of God and the needs of his people, hands ready to do God's bidding, and feet ready to take him where he was needed.

with the right thigh. ²⁶On top of these he placed a thin cake of bread made without yeast, a cake of bread mixed with olive oil, and a wafer spread with olive oil. All these were taken from the basket of bread made without yeast that was placed in the LORD's presence. ²⁷He put all these in the hands of Aaron and his sons, and he lifted these gifts as a special offering to the LORD. ²⁸Moses then took all the offerings back from them and burned them on the altar on top of the burnt offering. This was the ordination offering. It was a pleasing aroma, a special gift presented to the LORD. ²⁹Then Moses took the breast and lifted it up as a special offering to the LORD. This was Moses' portion of the ram of ordination, just as the LORD had commanded him.

³⁰Next Moses took some of the anointing oil and some of the blood that was on the altar, and he sprinkled them on Aaron and his garments and on his sons and their garments. In this way, he made Aaron and his sons and their garments holy.

³¹Then Moses said to Aaron and his sons, "Boil the remaining meat of the offerings at the Tabernacle entrance, and eat it there, along with the bread that is in the basket of offerings for the ordination, just as I commanded when I said, 'Aaron and his sons will eat it.' ³²Any meat or bread that is left over must then be burned up. ³³You must not leave the Tabernacle entrance for seven days, for that is when the ordination ceremony will be completed. ³⁴Everything we have done today was commanded by the LORD in order to purify you, making you right with him. ³⁵Now stay at the entrance of the Tabernacle day and night for seven days, and do everything the LORD requires. If you fail to do this, you will die, for this is what the LORD has commanded." ³⁶So Aaron and his sons did everything the LORD had commanded through Moses.

The Priests Begin Their Work

9 After the ordination ceremony, on the eighth day, Moses called together Aaron and his sons and the elders of Israel. ²He said to Aaron, "Take a young bull for a sin offering and a ram for a burnt offering, both without defects, and present them to the LORD. ³Then tell the Israelites, 'Take a male goat for a sin offering, and take a calf and a lamb, both a year old and without defects, for a burnt offering. ⁴Also take a bull and a ram for a peace offering and flour moistened with olive oil for a grain offering. Present all these offerings to the LORD because the LORD will appear to you today.' "

⁵So the people presented all these things at the entrance of the Tabernacle, just as Moses had commanded. Then the whole community came forward and stood before the LORD. ⁶And Moses said, "This is what the LORD has commanded you to do so that the glory of the LORD may appear to you."

⁷Then Moses said to Aaron, "Come to the altar and sacrifice your sin offering and your burnt offering to 'purify yourself and the people. Then present the offerings of the people to 'purify them, making them right with the LORD, just as he has commanded."

⁸So Aaron went to the altar and slaughtered the calf as a sin offering for himself.

8:26

Exod 29:23

8:27

Exod 29:24

8:28

Exod 29:25

8:29

Exod 29:26

Lev 7:31-34

8:30

Exod 29:21

8:31

Exod 29:31-32

8:32

Exod 29:34

8:33

Exod 29:35

8:34

Heb 7:16

8:35

Num 3:7; 9:19

Deut 11:1

1 Kgs 2:3

Ezek 48:11

9:3

Lev 4:3

9:4

Exod 29:43

9:6

Lev 9:23

9:7

Heb 5:1-3; 7:27

kapar* (3722)

† Num 15:25

8:29 Moses functioned as a priest in the ordination ceremony and so received the priest's portion of the offering (see 8:15).

8:30 anointing oil: See note on 8:2; see also Ps 133:2.

8:31 The ordination offering was a variation of the peace offering (Exod 29:28). It was a meal (7:11-18, 28-34) shared between God (the parts burned on the altar) and the priests. The command to boil . . . and eat the ordination offering first appears in Exod 29:32.

8:34 commanded by the LORD: The details of the sacrifice rituals were symbolic and important in their own right. Yet most important, the priests were to obey God's commands. Complete obedience to God is a major theme in both the OT and the NT: "Obedience is better than sacrifice" (1 Sam 15:22). • to purify you, making you right with him:

Or to make atonement for you. See note on 1:4.

8:35 seven days: This command emphasized God's absolute holiness and mandated strict compliance with his commands. The priests, now anointed as God's holy servants, were to remain in the Tabernacle court for seven days before venturing out into everyday life.

9:1 eighth day: The priests had finished the seven-day period of probation commanded in 8:35. • elders: See note on 4:15.

9:2-4 These sacrifices—the sin and whole burnt offerings for the priests and the sin, burnt, peace, and grain offerings for the people—were offered at the beginning of the priests' ministry to make certain that all sin was atoned for and the covenant with God affirmed. Only the guilt offering was omitted.

9:4 bull: Or cow; also in 9:18, 19.

9:5 Tabernacle: Literally Tent of Meeting; also in 9:23; see note on 1:1.

9:6 Just as holiness describes God's person and nature, the glory of the LORD tangibly expresses his power and majesty (see Ezek 1:28; 10:4). His glory was revealed on Mount Sinai (Exod 24:16), at the dedication of the Tabernacle (Exod 40:34-35), and in Solomon's Temple (1 Kgs 8:11; 2 Chr 7:1). Yet it remained as vast as the heavens (Ps 19:1). The NT speaks of Christ's glory as the image of God (2 Cor 4:4), who manifested God's glory to the world (John 1:14). He was glorified in his death and resurrection (John 17:1-5). See also Exod 24:15-17.

9:7 your sin offering . . . burnt offering: Before the high priest could make atonement for the people, he had to be right with God himself. • to purify them, making them right with the LORD: Or to make atonement for them; see notes on 1:4; 4:20.

9:9
Lev 4:6-7
9:15
Lev 4:27-31; 9:3
9:16
Lev 1:3, 10
9:17
Lev 2:1-3; 3:5
9:18
Lev 3:1-11
9:19
Lev 3:9
9:21
Lev 7:30, 32
9:22
Num 6:24-26
9:23
Num 16:19, 42
9:24
1 Kgs 18:38
10:1
Exod 6:23
Num 3:2
10:2
Num 26:61
10:3
Exod 19:22
Ezek 38:16
10:4
Exod 6:18

⁹His sons brought him the blood, and he dipped his finger in it and put it on the horns of the altar. He poured out the rest of the blood at the base of the altar. ¹⁰Then he burned on the altar the fat, the kidneys, and the long lobe of the liver from the sin offering, just as the LORD had commanded Moses. ¹¹The meat and the hide, however, he burned outside the camp.

¹²Next Aaron slaughtered the animal for the burnt offering. His sons brought him the blood, and he splattered it against all sides of the altar. ¹³Then they handed him each piece of the burnt offering, including the head, and he burned them on the altar. ¹⁴Then he washed the internal organs and the legs and burned them on the altar along with the rest of the burnt offering.

¹⁵Next Aaron presented the offerings of the people. He slaughtered the people's goat and presented it as an offering for their sin, just as he had first done with the offering for his own sin. ¹⁶Then he presented the burnt offering and sacrificed it in the prescribed way. ¹⁷He also presented the grain offering, burning a handful of the flour mixture on the altar, in addition to the regular burnt offering for the morning.

¹⁸Then Aaron slaughtered the bull and the ram for the people's peace offering. His sons brought him the blood, and he splattered it against all sides of the altar. ¹⁹Then he took the fat of the bull and the ram—the fat of the broad tail and from around the internal organs—along with the kidneys and the long lobes of the livers. ²⁰He placed these fat portions on top of the breasts of these animals and burned them on the altar. ²¹Aaron then lifted up the breasts and right thighs as a special offering to the LORD, just as Moses had commanded.

²²After that, Aaron raised his hands toward the people and blessed them. Then, after presenting the sin offering, the burnt offering, and the peace offering, he stepped down from the altar. ²³Then Moses and Aaron went into the Tabernacle, and when they came back out, they blessed the people again, and the glory of the LORD appeared to the whole community. ²⁴Fire blazed forth from the LORD's presence and consumed the burnt offering and the fat on the altar. When the people saw this, they shouted with joy and fell face down on the ground.

The Priests Nadab and Abihu Disobey and Die (10:1-20)

10 Aaron's sons Nadab and Abihu put coals of fire in their incense burners and sprinkled incense over them. In this way, they disobeyed the LORD by burning before him the wrong kind of fire, different than he had commanded. ²So fire blazed forth from the LORD's presence and burned them up, and they died there before the LORD.

³Then Moses said to Aaron, "This is what the LORD meant when he said,

'I will display my holiness through those who come near me. I will display my glory before all the people.'

And Aaron was silent.

⁴Then Moses said for Mishael and Elzaphan, Aaron's cousins, the sons of Aaron's

9:9 Both Aaron, the high priest (9:8, 12), and his sons, the common priests (9:9, 12, 13), participated in the sin offering (9:8-11) and the burnt offering (9:12-14). This made the atonement effective for the entire priesthood. • horns of the altar: See note on 4:25; see also Exod 27:1-8.

9:11 burned outside the camp: See note on 4:11-12.

9:17 regular burnt offering for the morning: A lamb was offered as a whole burnt offering each morning and evening (6:9; Num 28:2-4).

9:21 breasts . . . thighs: See note on 7:34.

9:22 blessed them: See Num 6:22-27.

9:24 Fire blazed forth from the LORD's presence, indicating that God had accepted the offerings, the atonement, and the priesthood (9:7; cp. 1 Kgs 18:36-38).

10:1-20 A fire was to burn constantly on the bronze altar (6:9) to supply coals for burning incense (16:12). Perhaps careless from drinking wine (10:8-11), Nadab and Abihu took coals from another source. This violation of God's instruction resulted in their deaths.

10:1 Aaron's two older sons, Nadab and Abihu (Exod 6:23), had accompanied Moses and the seventy elders on Mount Sinai (Exod 24:1, 9) and had witnessed the great theophany (appearance of God) there. They died without male heirs (see also Exod 28:1; Num 3:2-4; 26:60-61; 1 Chr 6:3; 24:1-2).

• The incense burners were fire pans or trays that held hot coals. Incense was sprinkled on them (Exod 30:34-38; see also Lev 16:12-13; 2 Chr 26:19; Rev 8:3-4). • The wrong kind of fire (Hebrew 'esh zarah, "strange fire") could mean "foreign," and thus "unauthorized" (see Exod 30:9) or even "pagan" (as in Ps 44:20; 81:9). Apparently, Nadab and Abihu used fire from a source not approved by God (Num 3:4; 26:61), possibly even a pagan source. It is also possible that they offered incense not prepared according to God's specifications (Exod 30:34-38), although the text does not mention that. They did not enter God's presence on his terms but on their own.

10:2 In 9:24, the fire blazed forth to show God's acceptance. It now indicates his disapproval by bringing death to Nadab and Abihu, who had demonstrated a careless approach toward the worship of God (cp. Acts 5:1-11).

10:3 God's holiness is his very essence, substance, and character, and it stands in contrast to the creaturely world. By performing this rash act, Nadab and Abihu failed to consider God's holiness and failed to honor him.

10:4 Mishael and Elzaphan . . . uncle Uzziel: See Exod 6:18, 22. • carry away the bodies of your relatives: Aaron, the high priest, and the priests Eleazar and Ithamar (10:6) could not defile themselves by making contact with a dead person (21:10-12).

uncle Uzziel. He said to them, "Come forward and carry away the bodies of your relatives from in front of the sanctuary to a place outside the camp." ⁵So they came forward and picked them up by their garments and carried them out of the camp, just as Moses had commanded.

⁶Then Moses said to Aaron and his sons Eleazar and Ithamar, "Do not show grief by leaving your hair uncombed or by tearing your clothes. If you do, you will die, and the LORD's anger will strike the whole community of Israel. However, the rest of the Israelites, your relatives, may mourn because of the LORD's fiery destruction of Nadab and Abihu. ⁷But you must not leave the entrance of the Tabernacle or you will die, for you have been anointed with the LORD's anointing oil." So they did as Moses commanded.

⁸Then the LORD said to Aaron, ⁹"You and your descendants must never drink wine or any other alcoholic drink before going into the Tabernacle. If you do, you will die. This is a permanent law for you, and it must be observed from generation to generation. ¹⁰You must distinguish between what is sacred and what is common, between what is ceremonially unclean and what is clean. ¹¹And you must teach the Israelites all the decrees that the LORD has given them through Moses."

¹²Then Moses said to Aaron and his remaining sons, Eleazar and Ithamar, "Take what is left of the grain offering after a portion has been presented as a special gift to the LORD, and eat it beside the altar. Make sure it contains no yeast, for it is most holy. ¹³You must eat it in a sacred place, for it has

10:6
Lev 21:1-15
Num 1:53; 16:22
Josh 7:1
10:7
Lev 21:12
10:9
Ezek 44:21
10:10
Lev 11:47
Ezek 22:26
10:11
Deut 33:10
10:12
Lev 21:22
Num 3:2

God's Absolute Holiness (10:3)

Lev 11:44-45
Exod 3:14; 34:6-7
1 Sam 2:1-2
Isa 6:3-5; 52:10
Hos 11:9

Holiness is the fundamental descriptor of who God is. It is not merely one of his many attributes; it is the key to his very being. Calling God "the Holy One" speaks to the transcendence of his nature, in sharp contrast to the finite creation, whose creatures are bound by time and space. God speaks of himself as "I AM WHO I AM" (Exod 3:14), defining himself by himself. God is the Wholly Other, the One who is completely self-sufficient and distinct from the created order.

God's holiness also speaks of his character. It is common to describe God's holiness in terms of his separation from sin and his wrath against it, but holiness embraces all of God's character, including his mercy. God revealed himself to Moses as the "God of compassion and mercy." He said, "I am slow to anger and filled with unfailing love and faithfulness. I lavish unfailing love to a thousand generations. I forgive iniquity, rebellion, and sin. But I do not excuse the guilty" (Exod 34:6-7).

God's holiness can be deadly to uninvited intruders (Isa 6:3, 5; see Exod 28:35) or to those who treat it with contempt. His infinite holiness is too much for finite, fallen mortals and would utterly destroy them apart from God's sustaining grace. Understanding God's holiness should thus trigger a response of awe and reverence. Anything less would be profane. Perhaps this was the error that cost Nadab and Abihu their lives (10:1-3). Only in recognizing the awesomeness of God can we appreciate his great love for us and worship him appropriately and authentically.

10:5 Carrying the bodies by their garments avoided defilement.

10:6 Eleazar and Ithamar were Aaron's two remaining sons (Exod 6:23). • by leaving your hair uncombed: Or by uncovering your heads. This practice and others like it were ways to show grief in biblical times (cp. Gen 37:29; 44:13; Deut 14:1; 2 Sam 1:11; Job 1:20; Jer 16:6; 47:5). As high priest, Aaron was prohibited from participating in these rituals or in any way displaying his grief (21:10). The injunction extended to Eleazar and Ithamar; if God's representatives had shown grief on this occasion, it might have been interpreted by observers as disagreeing with God's justice. However, the laypeople were allowed to mourn.

10:7 must not leave: Eleazar and Ithamar were not to attend the funeral.

• Tabernacle: Literally Tent of Meeting; also in 10:9; see note on 1:1. • the LORD's anointing oil: Because they had recently been anointed as priests (see 7:36), they were to avoid any association with the dead.

10:8-10 The placement of this instruction suggests that Nadab and Abihu were under the influence of alcohol when they offered "the wrong kind of fire" (10:1). Priests were not to drink anything that could impair their judgment before serving in the Tabernacle. • the LORD said to Aaron: God had been communicating only to Moses, but he now accepted Aaron as the people's representative, and he communicated directly with Aaron as well. • The word common means "secular" or "ordinary." • ceremonially unclean . . . clean: See Lev 7:19-21; 11:1-15:33.

10:11 The decrees that the LORD has given were laws that came directly from God, rather than from a court decision (cp. "regulations" in 18:4).

10:12 The grain offering was part of the ordination ceremony (see Lev 8:26; Exod 29:2, 23). • no yeast, for it is most holy: Realizing that some time had passed, Moses wanted to be certain that no fermentation had occurred in the priest's portion of the grain offering (6:14-18).

10:13-15 The priest's share of the grain offering, the sin offering, and 10:14

Lev 7:28-36
10:15
Lev 7:30-34
10:16
Lev 9:3
10:17
Lev 6:24-30
10:18
Lev 6:26, 30
10:19
Lev 9:8, 12
11:1-23
//Deut 14:3-20

been given to you and your descendants as your portion of the special gifts presented to the LORD. These are the commands I have been given. ¹⁴But the breast and thigh that were lifted up as a special offering may be eaten in any place that is ceremonially clean. These parts have been given to you and your descendants as your portion of the peace offerings presented by the people of Israel. ¹⁵You must lift up the thigh and breast as a special offering to the LORD, along with the fat of the special gifts. These parts will belong to you and your descendants as your permanent right, just as the LORD has commanded."

¹⁶Moses then asked them what had happened to the goat of the sin offering. When he discovered it had been burned up, he became very angry with Eleazar and Ithamar, Aaron's remaining sons. ¹⁷"Why didn't you eat the sin offering in the sacred area?" he demanded. "It is a holy offering! The LORD has given it to you to remove the guilt of the community and to purify the people, making them right with the LORD. ¹⁸Since the animal's blood was not brought into the Holy Place, you should have eaten the meat in the sacred area as I ordered you."

¹⁹Then Aaron answered Moses, "Today my sons presented both their sin offering and their burnt offering to the LORD. And yet this tragedy has happened to me. If I had eaten the people's sin offering on such a tragic day as this, would the LORD have been pleased?" ²⁰And when Moses heard this, he was satisfied.

3. REGULATIONS PERTAINING TO PURITY (11:1-15:33)

Clean (Permitted) and Unclean (Not Permitted) Animals (11:1-47)

11 Then the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, ²"Give the following instructions to the people of Israel.

Holiness by Relationship (11:44-45)

Lev 19:1-3; 20:3-8;
22:32
Exod 3:5; 20:8-11;
28:29-35; 29:44-46;
31:13
Ps 24:3-6
Isa 35:8-10
Dan 4:8-9
Rom 8:5-14
Gal 3:2-3; 5:16-26
1 Pet 1:13-16
1 Jn 3:2-3

Holiness refers to God's transcendent character (10:3). How can we, finite creatures who have fallen into sin, be holy as God is holy? We can never become transcendent like God. We will always be finite creatures. Our holiness is not absolute the way God's holiness is; it does not refer to our own nature and character. Instead, it refers to our relationship with God.

When God declares a place to be holy, it is because he manifests himself there (see Exod 3:5); if his presence is withdrawn, the place reverts to being ordinary. When God declares an object to be holy, such as an altar (Exod 29:44-46), it is because it was built in the manner prescribed by God and has been accepted by God for his service. Its relationship to God makes it holy as nothing else could.

It is the same for people. We are told to be holy because God is holy (see also 19:2; 1 Pet 1:16). Such holiness can only be imputed to humans. Without a relationship with God, true holiness remains elusive, no matter how good, pious, or disciplined a person's life might be. Only God can make people holy (20:8; 22:32; Exod 31:13). God promises to be with his people (Hos 11:9) and make their holiness possible (see Isa 35:8-10).

The church, like Israel of the OT, shares a relationship with God. Our adoption as God's children allows us to become godly people (see Exod 4:22; Rom 8:14; Gal 3:26; 1 Jn 3:2). The atoning death of Jesus, the Holy One, makes possible the perfection of holiness in all who claim its benefits by faith (Rom 5:12-21). We can be holy in our standing with God as well as in our conduct toward other people.

the guilt offering was "most holy" (see 2:3; 6:29; 7:6). Only the males in the priest's family could eat it, and it had to be consumed in a holy place (that is, the Tabernacle court). The priest's portion of the peace offering, though, was considered simply "holy." It could be eaten by any family member in any clean place (22:10-13).

10:16-17 The goat of the sin offering was the offering for the people (9:3; 15:17; cp. 9:2, 8-11). On this special occasion, its blood was not carried into the Holy Place as required. The remaining portion, after the portions allocated to God had been offered, should have been eaten by the priests (see 6:29). But the goat was entirely burned, even though its blood had not been taken into the sanctuary (10:18; see 6:30).

10:17 to purify the people, making them right with the LORD: Or to make atonement for the people before the LORD; see notes on 1:4; 4:20.

10:19 yet this tragedy has happened to me: Aaron was saying either that eating the goat of the sin offering would not have prevented the deaths of Nadab and Abihu or that it would not have been appropriate for him to eat it on the heels of such a grievous event.

11:1-15:33 These chapters detail the regulations pertaining to purity. The mixing of types of animals was forbidden (see Deut 22:9-11) because it represented a violation of the normal created order. "Abnormal" creatures—such as fish without fins and scales, carnivores, crawling insects, and animals without split hooves—cross boundaries between "normal" types and were unfit for food or offerings (see also Deut 14:1-21). The dietary laws were meant to distinguish Israel as a holy people from the surrounding nations (11:44-45).

"Of all the land animals, these are the ones you may use for food. ³You may eat any animal that has completely split hooves and chews the cud. ⁴You may not, however, eat the following animals that have split hooves or that chew the cud, but not both. The camel chews the cud but does not have split hooves, so it is ceremonially unclean for you. ⁵The hyrax chews the cud but does not have split hooves, so it is unclean. ⁶The hare chews the cud but does not have split hooves, so it is unclean. ⁷The pig has evenly split hooves but does not chew the cud, so it is unclean. ⁸You may not eat the meat of these animals or even touch their carcasses. They are ceremonially unclean for you.

⁹"Of all the marine animals, these are the ones you may use for food. You may eat anything from the water if it has both fins and scales, whether taken from salt water or from streams. ¹⁰But you must never eat animals from the sea or from rivers that do not have both fins and scales. They are detestable to you. This applies both to little creatures that live in shallow water and to all creatures that live in deep water. ¹¹They will always be detestable to you. You must never eat their meat or even touch their dead bodies. ¹²Any marine animal that does not have both fins and scales is detestable to you.

¹³"These are the birds that are detestable to you. You must never eat them: the griffon vulture, the bearded vulture, the black vulture, ¹⁴the kite, falcons of all kinds, ¹⁵ravens of all kinds, ¹⁶the eagle owl, the short-eared owl, the seagull, hawks of all kinds, ¹⁷the little owl, the cormorant, the great owl, ¹⁸the barn owl, the desert owl, the Egyptian vulture, ¹⁹the stork, herons of all kinds, the hoopoe, and the bat.

²⁰"You must not eat winged insects that walk along the ground; they are detestable to you. ²¹You may, however, eat winged insects that walk along the ground and have jointed legs so they can jump. ²²The insects you are permitted to eat include all kinds of locusts, bald locusts, crickets, and grasshoppers. ²³All other winged insects that walk along the ground are detestable to you.

²⁴"The following creatures will make you ceremonially unclean. If any of you touch their carcasses, you will be defiled until evening. ²⁵If you pick up their carcasses, you must wash your clothes, and you will remain defiled until evening.

²⁶"Any animal that has split hooves that are not evenly divided or that does not chew the cud is unclean for you. If you touch the carcass of such an animal, you will be defiled. ²⁷Of the animals that walk on all fours, those that have paws are unclean. If you touch the carcass of such an animal, you will be defiled until evening. ²⁸If you pick up its carcass, you must wash your clothes, and you will remain defiled until evening. These animals are unclean for you.

²⁹"Of the small animals that scurry along the ground, these are unclean for you: the mole rat, the rat, large lizards of all kinds, ³⁰the gecko, the monitor lizard, the common lizard, the sand lizard, and the chameleon. ³¹All these small animals are unclean for you. If any of you touch the dead body of such an animal, you will be defiled until evening. ³²If such an animal dies and falls on 11:4

Acts 10:14
11:7
Isa 65:4, 66:1, 17

11:8
Heb 9:10
11:9-10
Deut 14:9-10

11:13
Deut 14:12-19

11:22
Matt 3:4
Mark 1:6
Carth (11:97)
Deut 28:38

11:25
Lev 11:20, 40
Num 19:13-14

11:32
Lev 15:12

11:2-8 Some scholars have suggested that unclean animals were to be avoided for reasons of public health, but the evidence does not support this. Horse meat, for example, is no less healthy than beef, yet it was considered unclean because the horse does not have a split hoof (see 11:2-3). The regulations existed because an unclean animal was unacceptable as an offering to God and, therefore, it was also unacceptable as food for God's people. Jesus proclaimed all foods clean for Christians (Mark 7:14-19; Acts 10:9-16).

11:2-3 these . . . you may use for food: Animals that have split hooves and chew the cud were considered "normal" and ceremonially clean (see also Deut 14:3-21).

11:4-23 The identification of some of the animals, birds, and insects in this chapter is uncertain.

11:5-6 Neither the hyrax (or coney, or rock badger, or Syrian hyrax) nor the hare truly chews the cud, though both appear to. They are considered unclean because they do not have split hooves.

11:9 marine animals: Fish considered clean for the Israelites had both fins and scales (11:12).

11:10 The prohibition included fish such as eels and sharks that have fins but not scales, as well as crustaceans and mollusks, which have neither fins nor scales.

11:13-19 The list of unclean birds includes birds of prey and scavengers, both of which come in contact with dead animals and blood. This renders them unclean and unfit. Bats (11:19) fly, but are not birds; they are therefore "abnormal" and ceremonially unclean.

11:21-22 Insects that walk along the ground and have jointed legs: This phrase eliminates creatures that creep or crawl low to the ground (11:27). Leviticus 11:42 indicates that multi-legged creatures, such as centipedes, are unclean. Locusts and grasshoppers are examples of clean insects (see Matt 3:4).

11:24-25 defiled until evening: Anyone who touched a carcass of an unclean animal would be unclean until evening, which marked the beginning of the next day in Israel.

11:29-31 This list of unclean creatures that crawl contains both warm-blooded and cold-blooded animals that scurry along the ground. Snakes are also included in this category (11:42).

11:32-40 Dead animals could make things and people unclean. Even a clean animal that died without having its blood drained was considered unclean (11:39-40). When a person became unclean from contact with an 11:33

Lev 6:28

11:40

Lev 11:25; 17:15

Deut 14:21

Ezek 4:14; 44:31

11:41

Lev 11:29

something, that object will be unclean. This is true whether the object is made of wood, cloth, leather, or burlap. Whatever its use, you must dip it in water, and it will remain defiled until evening. After that, it will be ceremonially clean and may be used again.

³³If such an animal falls into a clay pot, everything in the pot will be defiled, and the pot must be smashed. ³⁴If the water from such a container spills on any food, the food will be defiled. And any beverage in such a container will be defiled. ³⁵Any object on which the carcass of such an animal falls will be defiled. If it is an oven or hearth, it must be destroyed, for it is defiled, and you must treat it accordingly.

³⁶However, if the carcass of such an animal falls into a spring or a cistern, the water will still be clean. But anyone who touches the carcass will be defiled. ³⁷If the carcass falls on seed grain to be planted in the field, the seed will still be considered clean. ³⁸But if the seed is wet when the carcass falls on it, the seed will be defiled.

³⁹If an animal you are permitted to eat dies and you touch its carcass, you will be defiled until evening. ⁴⁰If you eat any of its meat or carry away its carcass, you must wash your clothes, and you will remain defiled until evening.

⁴¹All small animals that scurry along the ground are detestable, and you must never eat them. ⁴²This includes all animals that slither along on their bellies, as well as those with four legs and those with many feet. All such animals that scurry along the ground

Clean and Unclean (11:1–15:33)

Lev 21:1-23; 22:3-8
Gen 7:2
Num 19:1-22
Deut 14:1-21; 21:1-9
Ps 19:9; 24:3-4;
51:7-10
Isa 52:11
Matt 8:2-4
John 13:10-11
Acts 10:9-28
Heb 9:13-15, 23

The rites and regulations establishing cleanness and uncleanness were to distinguish Israel from the surrounding nations. To understand a rationale behind these regulations, one suggestion has been that unclean things are associated with death or the ground (see, e.g., 21:1, 11; 22:8). Recent studies, however, suggest the principle of “normalcy.” God is a God of order. Things that are normal in God’s order are called “clean” and are “permitted.” Abnormal things would be unfit for food or offerings and would be “unclean.” A normal land animal would be a vegetarian (see Gen 1:30). A normal human body would have no infections or discharges. A normal piece of cloth would have no mildew on it. If abnormalities occurred, the animal, person, or cloth was unclean.

What is unclean is not sinful but represents a state of spiritual unworthiness that cannot come in contact with the holy (e.g., 11:44-45). If it is cleansed, it acquires the potential for holiness; it may be dedicated to God and become holy. If what is holy (such as the Sabbath) is treated like something common, God is blasphemed and the thing is profaned. If what is clean becomes unclean, it is defiled and requires cleansing. Some things, such as unclean animals, fish, or birds, remain unclean by definition and can never be cleansed, and, thus, can never become holy.

In the New Covenant, things that were previously unclean have been declared clean (Acts 10:15, 28, 45). Yet God is still a God of order (1 Cor 14:33) and wants worship to be conducted in an orderly way (1 Cor 14:40). While God’s grace is abundant to repentant sinners, some things are still repulsive to his holiness and should never be brought into his presence (e.g., Ananias and Sapphira’s offering; see Acts 5:1-11).

◀ Holy, Clean, and Unclean (11:1–15:33) This diagram depicts the states of being “holy,” “clean,” and “unclean” and the transitions between those states.

animal’s carcass, it lasted only until evening. Household articles that came into contact with a carcass had to be purified (11:25, 28, 32, 40) or destroyed (11:33, 35).

11:33 pot must be smashed: See note on 6:28.

11:36 A cistern was a hole dug into the ground or rock, often lined with plaster, that retained rain and surface water.

11:37-38 Grain moistened with water was probably intended to be cooked for food; eating contaminated grain would be like eating a carcass. However, if the grain was sown, the new plant and the grain it bore were undefiled.

11:39-40 Israelites were not to consume blood (7:26). They could eat an animal only after the blood had been drained and properly disposed of (17:13). The undrained blood of an otherwise clean animal that died of natural causes rendered it unclean. An Israelite was permitted to give or sell such an animal to foreigners (Deut 14:21) but not to eat it.

are detestable, and you must never eat them. ⁴³Do not defile yourselves by touching them. You must not make yourselves ceremonially unclean because of them. ⁴⁴For I am the LORD your God. You must consecrate yourselves and be holy, because I am holy. So do not defile yourselves with any of these small animals that scurry along the ground. ⁴⁵For I, the LORD, am the one who brought you up from the land of Egypt, that I might be your God. Therefore, you must be holy because I am holy.

⁴⁶"These are the instructions regarding land animals, birds, marine creatures, and animals that scurry along the ground. ⁴⁷By these instructions you will know what is unclean and clean, and which animals may be eaten and which may not be eaten."

Purification after Childbirth (12:1-8)

12 The LORD said to Moses, ¹"Give the following instructions to the people of Israel. If a woman becomes pregnant and gives birth to a son, she will be ceremonially unclean for seven days, just as she is unclean during her menstrual period. ²On the eighth day the boy's foreskin must be circumcised. ³After waiting thirty-three days, she will be purified from the bleeding of childbirth. During this time of purification, she must not touch anything that is set apart as holy. And she must not enter the sanctuary until her time of purification is over. ⁴If a woman gives birth to a daughter, she will be ceremonially unclean for two weeks, just as she is unclean during her menstrual period. After waiting sixty-six days, she will be purified from the bleeding of childbirth.

⁶"When the time of purification is completed for either a son or a daughter, the woman must bring a one-year-old lamb for a burnt offering and a young pigeon or turtledove for a purification offering. She must bring her offerings to the priest at the entrance of the Tabernacle. ⁷The priest will then present them to the LORD to purify her. Then she will be ceremonially clean again after her bleeding at childbirth. These are the instructions for a woman after the birth of a son or a daughter.

⁸"If a woman cannot afford to bring a lamb, she must bring two turtledoves or two young pigeons. One will be for the burnt offering and the other for the purification offering. The priest will sacrifice them to purify her, and she will be ceremonially clean."

Infections in People, Clothing, and Buildings (13:1-14:57) Serious Skin Diseases

13 The LORD said to Moses and Aaron, ¹"If anyone has a swelling or a rash or discolored skin that might develop into 11:44-45 I am the LORD your God: See note on 18:2. • be holy, because I am holy: These words express the dominant theme of Leviticus: God is holy. He must be regarded and treated as holy, and he expects holiness from his people (10:3; 19:2). The profound teaching of this verse is that God's own nature permeates those who covenant with him (see also 11:45; 20:7, 26; 21:8, 15; 22:9, 16, 32), and they become his holy people (Exod 22:31; Deut 28:9; cp. 1 Pet 1:16).

11:45 brought you up from the land of Egypt: This or a similar phrase is found often throughout the Pentateuch (see Exod 13:9; 20:2; Lev 19:36; 22:33; 25:38; 26:13; Num 15:41; Deut 4:37). Each time, it reminds the Israelites, God's covenant people, of God's great act in liberating them from Egypt. The Exodus event is frequently commemorated elsewhere in the OT (Ps 80:8; 106:21; Isa 11:16; Jer 34:13; Hos 12:9; 13:4; Amos 2:10).

12:1-8 These verses detail the regulations pertaining to childbirth. Any bodily discharge, even blood, was considered "abnormal" because it reduced the vitality of the individual and rendered the person ceremonially unclean (see notes on 5:3; 11:1-15:33). Accordingly, not childbirth but the discharge accompanying it is addressed in these verses (12:2, 5, 7). The uncleanness was not sinful in itself, but only if it was neglected and allowed to come into contact with what is holy (see 5:2-3).

12:2 menstrual period: See 15:19-24.

12:3 By the eighth day, a baby's system has developed to a point where the blood can clot properly, rendering circumcision relatively safe.

12:4 These thirty-three days are added to the seven previous days (12:2, 3) to yield a total of forty days to complete the mother's period of purification.

12:5 two weeks . . . sixty-six days: The total is eighty days, double the time required for the birth of a son (see also 27:2-7).

12:6 purification offering: The Hebrew word is the same as that for the sin offering (khatta't, see note on 4:1-5:13). This leads some scholars to think that this offering dealt only with purification or decontamination, including those cases mentioned in 5:1-6. The offering here was certainly part of a purification ritual, but it seems more likely that the sin offering repaired a lack or failure. In this context, the issue is purity rather than sin, and the focus is on restoring the woman to community fellowship, not forgiving a sinner. • Tabernacle: Literally Tent of Meeting; see note on 1:1.

12:7 to purify her: Or to make atonement for her; also in 12:8. "Atonement" can be understood in this context to stress ceremonial cleansing and reconciliation of the worshiper (see 4:20; see also note on 1:4).

12:8 cannot afford to bring a lamb: The alternative offering provided for the poorer class of society (see 5:7-13; cp. Luke 2:22-24).

13:1-14:57 Concerning the regulations pertaining to infections, the principle of normal and abnormal comes into play (see "Clean and Unclean" at 11:1-15:33, p. 213). Whether in a person, clothing, or a building, infections are not normal: they indicate disease and death, the antitheses of wholeness, and were therefore declared unclean.

13:1-46 a serious skin disease (Hebrew tsara'at): Traditionally rendered leprosy. The Hebrew word throughout this

11:44-45
Exod 6:7, 19:6
Lev 19:2
1 Thes 4:7
1 Pet 1:16

11:47
Lev 10:10
Ezek 22:26, 44:23

12:2
Lev 15:19; 18:19

12:3
Gen 17:12-14

12:6
Luke 2:22

12:8
Lev 5:7
Luke 2:24

13:2-3
Lev 14:56
Deut 24:8

13:6
Lev 11:25
13:10
Num 12:10
2 Kgs 5:27
13:16
Luke 5:12-14
13:18
Exod 9:9

a serious skin disease, that person must be brought to Aaron the priest or to one of his sons. ³The priest will examine the affected area of the skin. If the hair in the affected area has turned white and the problem appears to be more than skin-deep, it is a serious skin disease, and the priest who examines it must pronounce the person ceremonially unclean.

⁴But if the affected area of the skin is only a white discoloration and does not appear to be more than skin-deep, and if the hair on the spot has not turned white, the priest will quarantine the person for seven days. ⁵On the seventh day the priest will make another examination. If he finds the affected area has not changed and the problem has not spread on the skin, the priest will quarantine the person for seven more days. ⁶On the seventh day the priest will make another examination. If he finds the affected area has faded and has not spread, the priest will pronounce the person ceremonially clean. It was only a rash. The person's clothing must be washed, and the person will be ceremonially clean. ⁷But if the rash continues to spread after the person has been examined by the priest and has been pronounced clean, the infected person must return to be examined again. ⁸If the priest finds that the rash has spread, he must pronounce the person ceremonially unclean, for it is indeed a skin disease.

⁹Anyone who develops a serious skin disease must go to the priest for an examination. ¹⁰If the priest finds a white swelling on the skin, and some hair on the spot has turned white, and there is an open sore in the affected area, ¹¹it is a chronic skin disease, and the priest must pronounce the person ceremonially unclean. In such cases the person need not be quarantined, for it is obvious that the skin is defiled by the disease.

¹²Now suppose the disease has spread all over the person's skin, covering the body from head to foot. ¹³When the priest examines the infected person and finds that the disease covers the entire body, he will pronounce the person ceremonially clean. Since the skin has turned completely white, the person is clean. ¹⁴But if any open sores appear, the infected person will be pronounced ceremonially unclean. ¹⁵The priest must make this pronouncement as soon as he sees an open sore, since open sores indicate the presence of a skin disease. ¹⁶However, if the open sores heal and turn white like the rest of the skin, the person must return to the priest ¹⁷for another examination. If the affected areas have indeed turned white, the priest will then pronounce the person ceremonially clean by declaring, 'You are clean!'

¹⁸If anyone has a boil on the skin that has started to heal, ¹⁹but a white swelling or a reddish white spot develops in its place, that person must go to the priest to be examined. ²⁰If the priest examines it and finds it to be more than skin-deep, and if the hair in the affected area has turned white, the priest must pronounce the person ceremonially unclean. The boil has become a serious skin disease. ²¹But if the priest finds no white hair on the affected area and the problem appears to be no more than skin-deep and has faded, the priest must quarantine the person for seven days. ²²If during that time the affected area spreads on the skin, the priest must pronounce the person ceremonially unclean, because it is a serious disease. ²³But if the area grows no passage is used to describe various skin diseases; it is much broader than the severely disfiguring Hansen's disease (see note on 13:2). This larger range included symptoms such as an open sore (13:10), a boil (13:18), a burn (13:24), a sore on the head or chin (13:29), shiny white patches (13:38), or abnormal baldness (13:40). A general test was whether or not the abnormality was spreading (13:5-8). If so, a quarantine was ordered for as long as the disorder persisted (13:46). Not just people, but clothing (13:47-59) and even buildings (14:33-53) could contract such infections.

13:2 Skin disorders that were potentially contagious, such as swelling or a rash or discolored skin, required precautions to arrest their spread. Until a disorder was healed, the person was deemed unclean. The diseases described in this section may range from something as simple as an allergic rash, ringworm, or eczema to something as serious as gangrene. In OT times, skin conditions were diagnosed by observation. The priests not only had a religious function, but they also served as physicians. * one of his sons: Or one of his descendants. These priestly functions were to apply to future generations of priests as well.

13:3 more than skin-deep: This indicates that either the infection had eaten away the skin or the infection was visible beneath the skin. The white hair, together with the depression in the skin, indicated a skin disease that could spread (13:21-23). This made the person unclean (13:8).

13:4-5 The purpose of a quarantine was primarily diagnostic. It gave the priest an opportunity to examine the patient's symptoms over a period of time.

13:8 If the rash had spread, then the priest declared the person unclean and the isolation became long-term.

13:10 The presence of an open sore was the crucial factor, because it indicated infection.

13:12-13 The completely white skin might refer simply to a loss of pigment (see also 13:3), whereas raw flesh (13:10, 14) indicated infection and ceremonial uncleanness.

13:20 skin-deep: See note on 13:3.

larger and does not spread, it is merely the scar from the boil, and the priest will pronounce the person ceremonially clean.

²⁴"If anyone has suffered a burn on the skin and the burned area changes color, becoming either reddish white or shiny white, ²⁵the priest must examine it. If he finds that the hair in the affected area has turned white and the problem appears to be more than skin-deep, a skin disease has broken out in the burn. The priest must then pronounce the person ceremonially unclean, for it is clearly a serious skin disease. ²⁶But if the priest finds no white hair on the affected area and the problem appears to be no more than skin-deep and has faded, the priest must quarantine the infected person for seven days. ²⁷On the seventh day the priest must examine the person again. If the affected area has spread on the skin, the priest must pronounce that person ceremonially unclean, for it is clearly a serious skin disease. ²⁸But if the affected area has not changed or spread on the skin and has faded, it is simply a swelling from the burn. The priest will then pronounce the person ceremonially clean, for it is only the scar from the burn.

²⁹"If anyone, either a man or woman, has a sore on the head or chin, ³⁰the priest must examine it. If he finds it is more than skin-deep and has fine yellow hair on it, the priest must pronounce the person ceremonially unclean. It is a scabby sore of the head or chin. ³¹If the priest examines the scabby sore and finds that it is only skin-deep but there is no black hair on it, he must quarantine the person for seven days. ³²On the seventh day the priest must examine the sore again. If he finds that the scabby sore has not spread, and there is no yellow hair on it, and it appears to be only skin-deep, ³³the person must shave off all hair except the hair on the affected area. Then the priest must quarantine the person for another seven days. ³⁴On the seventh day he will examine the sore again. If it has not spread and appears to be no more than skin-deep, the priest will pronounce the person ceremonially clean. The person's clothing must be washed, and the person will be ceremonially clean. ³⁵But if the scabby sore begins to spread after the person is pronounced clean, ³⁶the priest must do another examination. If he finds that the sore has spread, the priest does not need to look for yellow hair. The infected person is ceremonially unclean. ³⁷But if the color of the scabby sore does not change and black hair has grown on it, it has healed. The priest will then pronounce the person ceremonially clean.

³⁸"If anyone, either a man or woman, has shiny white patches on the skin, ³⁹the priest must examine the affected area. If he finds that the shiny patches are only pale white, this is a harmless skin rash, and the person is ceremonially clean.

⁴⁰"If a man loses his hair and his head becomes bald, he is still ceremonially clean.

⁴¹And if he loses hair on his forehead, he simply has a bald forehead; he is still clean.

⁴²However, if a reddish white sore appears on the bald area on top of his head or on his forehead, this is a skin disease. ⁴³The priest must examine him, and if he finds swelling around the reddish white sore anywhere on the man's head and it looks like a skin disease, ⁴⁴the man is indeed infected with a skin disease and is unclean. The priest must pronounce him ceremonially unclean because of the sore on his head.

⁴⁵"Those who suffer from a serious skin disease must tear their clothing and leave their hair uncombed. They must cover their mouth and call out, 'Unclean! Unclean!' ⁴⁶As long as the serious disease lasts, they will be ceremonially unclean. They must live in isolation in their place outside the camp.

13:27
Lev 13:5

13:33
Lev 14:8

13:34
Lev 14:8

13:40
2 Kgs 2:23
Isa 15:2
Ezek 29:18
Amos 8:10

13:45
Lam 4:15

13:46
Num 5:1-4; 12:14
2 Kgs 7:3; 15:5
Luke 17:12

13:24-25 The priest was to inspect the burned area to see if the wound had become infected (see 13:9-17). • hair . . . turned white: See 13:18-23.

13:30 The scabby sore suggested a fungal infection in the scalp or beard, hidden by hair. The symptoms included loss of hair and crusty skin.

13:38-39 If a skin rash showed pus or inflammation (13:42), it was probably an infection. If it only showed as a whitened area, it was probably vitiligo (leucoderma). With this harmless disorder, patches of skin lose their pigmentation.

13:42 A reddish white sore perhaps indicated pus and inflammation.

13:45 and leave their hair uncombed: Or and uncover their heads. Tearing one's clothing, letting one's hair go uncombed, and covering the mouth were common ways of expressing mourning (10:6). • The cry of Unclean! Unclean! denoted social unacceptability as much as a health threat. It warned others that the individual's skin disorder could be contagious and that holy things should not touch the unclean person.

13:46 The Tabernacle containing the Ark was in the center of the camp, so that God could be considered as being in the camp (Deut 23:14). As long as an individual's skin disorder persisted, he was to stay in isolation . . . outside the camp. This ensured that the infection would not spread to others and that the uncleanness would not come in contact with holy things. Even Miriam, sister of Moses and Aaron, had to spend seven days outside the camp (Num 12:15). This area was not exclusive to those suffering from skin disorders. The uneaten sin offering was taken there and burned (4:21). Criminals were executed there (24:14, 23), and corpses were carried there to avoid contaminating the area where the people lived (10:4-5). Even bodily functions were attended to outside the camp (Deut 23:12-14).

13:51

Lev 14:44

14:2

Matt 8:4

Mark 1:40-45

Luke 5:12-14;

17:12-14

14:3

Lev 13:46

14:4

Lev 14:6, 49-52

Num 19:6

14:6

Ps 51:7

14:8

Lev 14:9

Num 8:7

14:9

Lev 13:33; 14:8

Num 6:9

Treatment of Contaminated Clothing

47“Now suppose mildew contaminates some woolen or linen clothing, 48woolen or linen fabric, the hide of an animal, or anything made of leather. 49If the contaminated area in the clothing, the animal hide, the fabric, or the leather article has turned greenish or reddish, it is contaminated with mildew and must be shown to the priest. 50After examining the affected spot, the priest will put the article in quarantine for seven days. 51On the seventh day the priest must inspect it again. If the contaminated area has spread, the clothing or fabric or leather is clearly contaminated by a serious mildew and is ceremonially unclean. 52The priest must burn the item—the clothing, the woolen or linen fabric, or piece of leather—for it has been contaminated by a serious mildew. It must be completely destroyed by fire.

53“But if the priest examines it and finds that the contaminated area has not spread in the clothing, the fabric, or the leather, 54the priest will order the object to be washed and then quarantined for seven more days. 55Then the priest must examine the object again. If he finds that the contaminated area has not changed color after being washed, even if it did not spread, the object is defiled. It must be completely burned up, whether the contaminated spot is on the inside or outside. 56But if the priest examines it and finds that the contaminated area has faded after being washed, he must cut the spot from the clothing, the fabric, or the leather. 57If the spot later reappears on the clothing, the fabric, or the leather article, the mildew is clearly spreading, and the contaminated object must be burned up. 58But if the spot disappears from the clothing, the fabric, or the leather article after it has been washed, it must be washed again; then it will be ceremonially clean.

59“These are the instructions for dealing with mildew that contaminates woolen or linen clothing or fabric or anything made of leather. This is how the priest will determine whether these items are ceremonially clean or unclean.”

Cleansing from Skin Diseases

14 And the LORD said to Moses, 2“The following instructions are for those seeking ceremonial purification from a skin disease. Those who have been healed must be brought to the priest, 3who will examine them at a place outside the camp. If the priest finds that someone has been healed of a serious skin disease, 4he will perform a purification ceremony, using two live birds that are ceremonially clean, a stick of cedar, some scarlet yarn, and a hyssop branch. 5The priest will order that one bird be slaughtered over a clay pot filled with fresh water. 6He will take the live bird, the cedar stick, the scarlet yarn, and the hyssop branch, and dip them into the blood of the bird that was slaughtered over the fresh water. 7The priest will then sprinkle the blood of the dead bird seven times on the person being purified of the skin disease. When the priest has purified the person, he will release the live bird in the open field to fly away.

8“The persons being purified must then wash their clothes, shave off all their hair, and bathe themselves in water. Then they will be ceremonially clean and may return to the camp. However, they must remain outside their tents for seven days. 9On the seventh day they must again shave all the hair from their heads, including the hair of the beard and eyebrows. They must also 13:47-59 The rainy season in Israel, when the weather is humid and cool, extends from mid-October through March. Mildew flourishes during this time, and the spores can trigger serious allergic reactions, posing a health problem. The regulations for mildew in clothing were similar to those for infections in people. If the mildew showed signs of spreading, it was serious. If it could be stopped or washed or cut out, a garment could be saved. This process was similar to the treatment of rot and mold in buildings (14:33-53).

13:47 mildew: Traditionally rendered leprosy. The Hebrew term used throughout this passage is the same term used for the various skin diseases described in 13:1-46. The word refers here to a variety of molds or mildews that infected cloth or leather.

13:55 the contaminated spot: The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain.

14:1-32 These verses, dealing with the purification of infected individuals, are best understood when read in conjunction with 13:1-46.

14:2 skin disease: Traditionally rendered leprosy; see note on 13:2.

14:4 The items listed here were part of the cleansing ritual involving the ashes of the red heifer (Num 19:6), but their exact significance is unknown. See also Heb 9:18-22. Hyssop (or juniper; also in 14:6, 49, 51) was a small plant used for sprinkling blood (Exod 12:22) and in purification rites (Num 19:18).

14:5-7 Killing the bird and sprinkling its blood (14:7) reflects Exod 24:6-8, where all of Israel was sprinkled with blood to establish the people as God's covenant community. Here the individual was cleansed by being sprinkled with blood and allowed to return to community membership. Fresh water was also used in cleansing ceremonies (Num 8:7) and in sacrifice preparation (1:9, 13).

14:7 Just as the goat released to Azazel symbolized the removal of sin from the community on the Day of Atonement (16:10, 20-22), the release of the live bird symbolized the removal of the individual's uncleanness.

wash their clothes and bathe themselves in water. Then they will be ceremonially clean.

¹⁰On the eighth day each person being purified must bring two male lambs and a one-year-old female lamb, all with no defects, along with a grain offering of six quarts of choice flour moistened with olive oil, and a cup of olive oil. ¹¹Then the officiating priest will present that person for purification, along with the offerings, before the LORD at the entrance of the Tabernacle. ¹²The priest will take one of the male lambs and the olive oil and present them as a guilt offering, lifting them up as a special offering before the LORD. ¹³He will then slaughter the male lamb in the sacred area where sin offerings and burnt offerings are slaughtered. As with the sin offering, the guilt offering belongs to the priest. It is a most holy offering. ¹⁴The priest will then take some of the blood of the guilt offering and apply it to the lobe of the right ear, the thumb of the right hand, and the big toe of the right foot of the person being purified.

¹⁵Then the priest will pour some of the olive oil into the palm of his own left hand. ¹⁶He will dip his right finger into the oil in his palm and sprinkle some of it with his finger seven times before the LORD. ¹⁷The priest will then apply some of the oil in his palm over the blood from the guilt offering that is on the lobe of the right ear, the thumb of the right hand, and the big toe of the right foot of the person being purified. ¹⁸The priest will apply the oil remaining in his hand to the head of the person being purified. Through this process, the priest will purify the person before the LORD.

¹⁹Then the priest must present the sin offering to purify the person who was cured of the skin disease. After that, the priest will slaughter the burnt offering ²⁰and offer it on the altar along with the grain offering. Through this process, the priest will purify the person who was healed, and the person will be ceremonially clean.

²¹But anyone who is too poor and cannot afford these offerings may bring one male lamb for a guilt offering, to be lifted up as a special offering for purification. The person must also bring two quarts of choice flour moistened with olive oil for the grain offering and a cup of olive oil. ²²The offering must also include two turtledoves or two young pigeons, whichever the person can afford. One of the pair must be used for the sin offering and the other for a burnt offering. ²³On the eighth day of the purification ceremony, the person being purified must bring the offerings to the priest in the LORD's presence at the entrance of the Tabernacle. ²⁴The priest will take the lamb for the guilt offering, along with the olive oil, and lift them up as a special offering to the LORD. ²⁵Then the priest will slaughter the lamb for the guilt offering. He will take some of its blood and apply it to the lobe of the right ear, the thumb of the right hand, and the big toe of the right foot of the person being purified.

²⁶The priest will also pour some of the olive oil into the palm of his own left hand. ²⁷He will dip his right finger into the oil in his palm and sprinkle some of it seven times before the LORD. ²⁸The priest will then apply some of the oil in his palm over the blood from the guilt offering that is on the lobe of the right ear, the thumb of the right hand, and the big toe of the right foot of the person being purified. ²⁹The priest will apply the oil remaining in his hand to the head of the person being purified. Through this process, the priest will purify the person before the LORD.

³⁰Then the priest will offer the two turtledoves or the two young pigeons, whichever the person can afford. ³¹One of them is for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering, to be presented along with 14:10

Lev 23:12-13
Num 6:10
Matt 8:4
Mark 1:44
Luke 5:14

14:12
Exod 29:24

14:13
Lev 1:11-13;
6:24-7:10

14:14
Exod 29:20
Lev 8:23-24

14:20
Lev 14:8

14:21
Lev 5:7, 11; 12:8

14:22
Lev 5:7

14:23
Lev 14:11

14:25
Lev 14:14

14:10 grain offering: See note on 2:1-16. • six quarts: Hebrew $\frac{1}{2}$ of an ephah [6.6 liters]. • a cup: Hebrew 1 log [0.3 liters]; also in 14:21.

14:11 Tabernacle: Literally Tent of Meeting; also in 14:23; see note on 1:1.

14:12 This guilt offering (sometimes called the "penalty offering" or "reparation offering") was offered because the unclean person living outside the camp could not bring sacrifices, tithes, and offerings during the period of uncleanness (see 5:14-16).

14:14 The lobe, thumb, and big toe represent what the whole person hears and does, and where he or she goes (also 14:17, 28; see note on 8:23).

14:15-17 In the ancient world, olive oil was commonly used to aid healing (see Isa 1:6; Luke 10:34). Its use here might symbolize the healing and cleansing of the infection, which allowed the person to return to the community. Perhaps it also represented restored union between God, the priest, and the worshiper.

14:18 will purify: Or will make atonement for; similarly in 14:19, 20, 21, 29, 31, 53; see note on 1:4.

14:19 This sin offering was the offering of purification mentioned in 12:6 (see 4:2-3). • The burnt offering provided atonement for sins committed during the period of uncleanness when the person was unable to bring offerings (see 1:4).

14:20 grain offering: See note on 2:1-16.

14:21-32 The ritual for the poor was very similar to the conventional purification offering, but it allowed for the use of less expensive birds in place of a lamb (see 5:7-13).

14:21 two quarts: Hebrew $\frac{1}{2}$ of an ephah [2.2 liters].

14:34
Gen 17:8
Num 32:22
Deut 7:1
14:35
Ps 91:10
14:39
Lev 13:5
14:49
Lev 14:4
Num 19:6
14:56
Lev 13:2
15:2
Lev 22:4
Num 5:2

the grain offering. Through this process, the priest will purify the person before the LORD. ³²These are the instructions for purification for those who have recovered from a serious skin disease but who cannot afford to bring the offerings normally required for the ceremony of purification."

Treatment of Contaminated Houses

³³Then the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, ³⁴"When you arrive in Canaan, the land I am giving you as your own possession, I may contaminate some of the houses in your land with mildew. ³⁵The owner of such a house must then go to the priest and say, 'It appears that my house has some kind of mildew.' ³⁶Before the priest goes in to inspect the house, he must have the house emptied so nothing inside will be pronounced ceremonially unclean. ³⁷Then the priest will go in and examine the mildew on the walls. If he finds greenish or reddish streaks and the contamination appears to go deeper than the wall's surface, ³⁸the priest will step outside the door and put the house in quarantine for seven days. ³⁹On the seventh day the priest must return for another inspection. If he finds that the mildew on the walls of the house has spread, ⁴⁰the priest must order that the stones from those areas be removed. The contaminated material will then be taken outside the town to an area designated as ceremonially unclean. ⁴¹Next the inside walls of the entire house must be scraped thoroughly and the scrapings dumped in the unclean place outside the town. ⁴²Other stones will be brought in to replace the ones that were removed, and the walls will be replastered.

⁴³"But if the mildew reappears after all the stones have been replaced and the house has been scraped and replastered, ⁴⁴the priest must return and inspect the house again. If he finds that the mildew has spread, the walls are clearly contaminated with a serious mildew, and the house is defiled. ⁴⁵It must be torn down, and all its stones, timbers, and plaster must be carried out of town to the place designated as ceremonially unclean. ⁴⁶Those who enter the house during the period of quarantine will be ceremonially unclean until evening, ⁴⁷and all who sleep or eat in the house must wash their clothing.

⁴⁸"But if the priest returns for his inspection and finds that the mildew has not reappeared in the house after the fresh plastering, he will pronounce it clean because the mildew is clearly gone. ⁴⁹To purify the house the priest must take two birds, a stick of cedar, some scarlet yarn, and a hyssop branch. ⁵⁰He will slaughter one of the birds over a clay pot filled with fresh water. ⁵¹He will take the cedar stick, the hyssop branch, the scarlet yarn, and the live bird, and dip them into the blood of the slaughtered bird and into the fresh water. Then he will sprinkle the house seven times. ⁵²When the priest has purified the house in exactly this way, ⁵³he will release the live bird in the open fields outside the town. Through this process, the priest will purify the house, and it will be ceremonially clean.

⁵⁴"These are the instructions for dealing with serious skin diseases, including scabby sores; ⁵⁵and mildew, whether on clothing or in a house; ⁵⁶and a swelling on the skin, a rash, or discolored skin. ⁵⁷This procedure will determine whether a person or object is ceremonially clean or unclean.

"These are the instructions regarding skin diseases and mildew."

Bodily Discharges (15:1-33)

15 The LORD said to Moses and Aaron, ²"Give the following instructions to the people of Israel.

14:33-53 The contamination of buildings by rot or mildew made them unhealthy or even unsafe. These buildings were considered diseased and therefore not whole or clean (see note on 11:1-15:33). The inspection and treatment process was similar to the one for mildew in clothing (13:47-59).

14:34 I may contaminate: In the absolute monotheism of biblical language, God causes or allows everything. For example, Exod 21:13 describes an accidental death as something that God allowed to happen (see also Deut 19:4-5). • mildew: Traditionally rendered leprosy; see note on 13:47.

14:36 Having the house emptied indicated that it was not actually unclean until the priest pronounced it so. The owner would remove furnishings so that they would not be included in the quarantine.

14:37 If the mildew extended deeper than the wall's surface it was more serious than if it were just on the surface. The same idea was expressed by "skin-deep" in the examination of infected individuals (see note on 13:3).

14:54-57 A summary statement about infections of all sorts (cp. 11:46-47).

14:54-55 serious skin diseases . . .

mildew: This Hebrew word is traditionally rendered leprosy; see notes on 13:2, 47.

15:1-33 The principle of normal and abnormal and the created order again aids the interpretation of these regulations (see "Clean and Unclean" at 11:1-15:33, p. 213). Bodily discharges, such as infections (see note on 13:1-46), were not "normal" because they weakened the vitality of the person, so the person was not seen as whole. Whether male (15:1-18) or female (15:19-33), such a person became unclean.

"Any man who has a bodily discharge is ceremonially unclean. ³This defilement is caused by his discharge, whether the discharge continues or stops. In either case the man is unclean. ⁴Any bed on which the man with the discharge lies and anything on which he sits will be ceremonially unclean. ⁵So if you touch the man's bed, you must wash your clothes and bathe yourself in water, and you will remain unclean until evening. ⁶If you sit where the man with the discharge has sat, you must wash your clothes and bathe yourself in water, and you will remain unclean until evening. ⁷If you touch the man with the discharge, you must wash your clothes and bathe yourself in water, and you will remain unclean until evening. ⁸If the man spits on you, you must wash your clothes and bathe yourself in water, and you will remain unclean until evening. ⁹Any saddle blanket on which the man rides will be ceremonially unclean. ¹⁰If you touch anything that was under the man, you will be unclean until evening. You must wash your clothes and bathe yourself in water, and you will remain unclean until evening. ¹¹If the man touches you without first rinsing his hands, you must wash your clothes and bathe yourself in water, and you will remain unclean until evening. ¹²Any clay pot the man touches must be broken, and any wooden utensil he touches must be rinsed with water.

¹³"When the man with the discharge is healed, he must count off seven days for the period of purification. Then he must wash his clothes and bathe himself in fresh water, and he will be ceremonially clean. ¹⁴On the eighth day he must get two turtledoves or two young pigeons and come before the LORD at the entrance of the Tabernacle and give his offerings to the priest. ¹⁵The priest will offer one bird for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering. Through this process, the priest will purify the man before the LORD for his discharge.

¹⁶"Whenever a man has an emission of semen, he must bathe his entire body in water, and he will remain ceremonially unclean until the next evening. ¹⁷Any clothing or leather with semen on it must be washed in water, and it will remain unclean until evening. ¹⁸After a man and a woman have sexual intercourse, they must each bathe in water, and they will remain unclean until the next evening.

¹⁹"Whenever a woman has her menstrual period, she will be ceremonially unclean for seven days. Anyone who touches her during that time will be unclean until evening. ²⁰Anything on which the woman lies or sits during the time of her period will be unclean. ²¹If any of you touch her bed, you must wash your clothes and bathe yourself in water, and you will remain unclean until evening. ²²If you touch any object she has sat on, you must wash your clothes and bathe yourself in water, and you will remain unclean until evening. ²³This includes her bed or any other object she has sat on; you will be unclean until evening if you touch it. ²⁴If a man has sexual intercourse with her and her blood touches him, her menstrual impurity will be transmitted to him. He will

15:12
Lev 6:28; 11:32-33
15:13
Lev 15:28
15:15
Lev 14:30-31
15:16
Lev 22:4
Deut 23:10-11
15:18
1 Sam 21:4
15:19
Lev 12:2
15:24
Lev 18:19; 20:18
Ezek 18:6

15:2 bodily discharge (literally a flowing from his flesh): Most scholars interpret the word flesh as a euphemism for sexual organs and the symptoms described here as indicating an infection of gonorrhea. Others suggest that it refers to a discharge of semen or even diarrhea. A discharge of semen is unlikely, however, because that is singled out in 15:16-17 and required only washing with water. It is clear that this bodily discharge proceeded from "under the man" (15:10) and contaminated anything he sat on or lay upon (15:4, 6, 9).

15:7-12 touch . . . wash: See note on 11:24-25.

15:12 wooden utensil . . . rinsed: See note on 6:28.

15:13-15 In contrast to the man with a skin disease (see 13:46), a man with a bodily discharge was apparently allowed to live at home. He did not have to undergo the more elaborate cleansing ritual described in ch 14. He simply had to wait seven days after the discharge ceased, wash (15:13), and present the least expensive animal sacrifice of two birds—one as a sin offering and the other as a whole burnt offering.

15:14 Tabernacle: Literally Tent of Meeting; also in 15:29; see note on 1:1.

15:15 will purify: Or will make atonement for; also in 15:30; see note on 1:4.

15:16-17 until the next evening:

Literally until evening; also in 15:18. In the case of an emission of semen, the discharge was not a sign of illness (see note on 15:1-33). Still, the same rule applied; the man must wash and be considered unclean until the next evening.

15:18 If the seminal emission involved sexual intercourse, both the man and the woman became unclean and had to wash and remain unclean until the next evening. Although it involved a bodily emission, sexual intercourse was not an infection or abnormality, and it required no sacrifices.

15:19-23 There is nothing wrong or diseased about a woman's menstrual period. However, because it is accompanied by a bloody discharge, the woman was considered ceremonially unclean (see 15:32-33). The restrictions were similar to the restrictions on the man with the bodily discharge (15:2-12): She was allowed to live at home, but whatever she sat on became unclean. Anyone who touched her had to wash, and presumably she also did so at the end of the seven-day quarantine. However, no animal sacrifice was required.

15:24 Sexual intercourse with a woman during her menstrual period will later be forbidden and given a harsh penalty (18:19). This verse probably describes a case in which the woman's menstrual flow went unnoticed when the sexual activity began or in which the woman's period began during intercourse. The 15:25

Matt 9:20
Mark 5:25
Luke 8:43-44
15:30
Lev 5:7; 14:22
15:31
Num 5:3; 19:13, 20
16:1
Lev 10:1-2
16:2
Exod 25:21-22; 30:10
Heb 9:25
16:3
Lev 16:6-7
16:4
Exod 28:39-43;
39:27-29
Ezek 44:17-18
16:6
Lev 9:7
Heb 5:1-3; 7:27-28;
9:7

remain unclean for seven days, and any bed on which he lies will be unclean.

²⁵"If a woman has a flow of blood for many days that is unrelated to her menstrual period, or if the blood continues beyond the normal period, she is ceremonially unclean. As during her menstrual period, the woman will be unclean as long as the discharge continues. ²⁶Any bed she lies on and any object she sits on during that time will be unclean, just as during her normal menstrual period. ²⁷If any of you touch these things, you will be ceremonially unclean. You must wash your clothes and bathe yourself in water, and you will remain unclean until evening.

²⁸"When the woman's bleeding stops, she must count off seven days. Then she will be ceremonially clean. ²⁹On the eighth day she must bring two turtledoves or two young pigeons and present them to the priest at the entrance of the Tabernacle. ³⁰The priest will offer one for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering. Through this process, the priest will purify her before the LORD for the ceremonial impurity caused by her bleeding.

³¹"This is how you will guard the people of Israel from ceremonial uncleanness. Otherwise they would die, for their impurity would defile my Tabernacle that stands among them. ³²These are the instructions for dealing with anyone who has a bodily discharge—a man who is unclean because of an emission of semen ³³or a woman during her menstrual period. It applies to any man or woman who has a bodily discharge, and to a man who has sexual intercourse with a woman who is ceremonially unclean."

4. THE DAY OF ATONEMENT (16:1-34)

16 The LORD spoke to Moses after the death of Aaron's two sons, who died after they entered the LORD's presence and burned the wrong kind of fire before him. ²The LORD said to Moses, "Warn your brother, Aaron, not to enter the Most Holy Place behind the inner curtain whenever he chooses; if he does, he will die. For the Ark's cover—the place of atonement—is there, and I myself am present in the cloud above the atonement cover.

³"When Aaron enters the sanctuary area, he must follow these instructions fully. He must bring a young bull for a sin offering and a ram for a burnt offering. ⁴He must put on his linen tunic and the linen undergarments worn next to his body. He must tie the linen sash around his waist and put the linen turban on his head. These are sacred garments, so he must bathe himself in water before he puts them on. ⁵Aaron must take from the community of Israel two male goats for a sin offering and a ram for a burnt offering.

⁶"Aaron will present his own bull as a sin offering to purify himself and his family, making them right with the LORD. ⁷Then he must take the two male goats and present regulations required the man who came into contact with her blood to share the woman's seven-day quarantine.

15:25-29 Normal menstruation required no offering from the woman (15:19-24). A discharge of blood that exceeded seven days required a cleansing ceremony similar to that for the man cleansed of a bodily discharge (15:13-15; see also Matt 9:20-22).

15:32-33 A summary of the principles stated in 15:1-31. Bodily discharges—whether pus, semen, menstrual fluid, or blood—made an individual ceremonially unclean.

16:1-34 The Day of Atonement, the tenth day of the seventh month (see 16:29; 23:27; Num 29:7), was the most solemn day of the year for Israelites. It was the only required fast, and it was a Sabbath of rest for all the people (23:32). Introduced by the Festival of Trumpets (Num 29:1, 7-11), it was the day when the corporate sins of the community were atoned for. Only the high priest (Aaron) could officiate, because only he could represent all the people, including other priests (Aaron's sons). The Day of Atonement is celebrated today as Yom Kippur.

16:2 An inner curtain separated the Holy Place from the Most Holy Place. Conceptually, the sanctuary was God's palace, the Most Holy Place was his throne room, and the Ark was his throne (see 1:1). In the ancient Near East, entering the presence of a king without invitation meant risking death (Esth 4:11). The Most Holy Place, therefore, was not a place that Aaron could enter casually. It was off-limits even to the high priest, except when his presence was required by God as part of the ritual of the Day of Atonement.

16:4 For most of the ritual of the Day of Atonement, the high priest wore plain linen clothing rather than his normal robes. This seems to symbolize the humility that should characterize all the people on this solemn occasion. When the high priest stood before God on behalf of his people, he had nothing to commend himself or the people. But when he stood before the people on God's behalf, his official robes reflected the glory and splendor of God (16:23).

16:6 to purify himself and his family, making them right with the LORD: Or to make atonement for himself and his family; similarly in 16:11, 17, 24, 34; see notes on 1:4; 4:20. • The writer of the Epistle to the Hebrews makes a clear analogy between Aaron's work for Israel and Christ's work for the believer. Both brought atonement to their people. Before Aaron could offer a sin offering for the people, he had to offer a sacrifice for himself to make certain his own sins were forgiven (Heb 5:1-3). However, although Christ was tempted, he did not sin (Heb 4:15). Therefore, in his role as high priest for all Christians, he had no need to make a similar sacrifice (Heb 7:26-28).

16:7 Tabernacle: Literally Tent of Meeting; also in 16:16, 17, 20, 23, 33; see note on 1:1.

them to the LORD at the entrance of the Tabernacle. ⁸He is to cast sacred lots to determine which goat will be reserved as an offering to the LORD and which will carry the sins of the people to the wilderness of Azazel. ⁹Aaron will then present as a sin offering the goat chosen by lot for the LORD. ¹⁰The other goat, the scapegoat chosen by lot to be sent away, will be kept alive, standing before the LORD. When it is sent away to Azazel in the wilderness, the people will be purified and made right with the LORD.

¹¹"Aaron will present his own bull as a sin offering to purify himself and his family, making them right with the LORD. After he has slaughtered the bull as a sin offering, ¹²he will fill an incense burner with burning coals from the altar that stands before the LORD. Then he will take two handfuls of fragrant powdered incense and will carry the burner and the incense behind the inner curtain. ¹³There in the LORD's presence he will put the incense on the burning coals so that a cloud of incense will rise over the Ark's cover—the place of atonement—that rests on the Ark of the Covenant. If he follows these instructions, he will not die. ¹⁴Then he must take some of the blood of the bull, dip his finger in it, and sprinkle it on the east side of the atonement cover. He must sprinkle blood seven times with his finger in front of the atonement cover.

¹⁵"Then Aaron must slaughter the first goat as a sin offering for the people and carry its blood behind the inner curtain. There he will sprinkle the goat's blood over the atonement cover and in front of it, just as he did with the bull's blood. ¹⁶Through this process, he will purify the Most Holy Place, and he will do the same for the entire Tabernacle, because of the defiling sin and rebellion of the Israelites. ¹⁷No one else is allowed inside the Tabernacle when Aaron enters it for the purification ceremony in the Most Holy Place. No one may enter until he comes out again after purifying himself, his family, and all the congregation of Israel, making them right with the LORD.

¹⁸"Then Aaron will come out to purify the altar that stands before the LORD. He will do this by taking some of the blood from the bull and the goat and putting it on each of the horns of the altar. ¹⁹Then he must sprinkle the blood with his finger seven times over the altar. In this way, he will cleanse it from Israel's defilement and make it holy.

²⁰"When Aaron has finished purifying the Most Holy Place and the Tabernacle and the altar, he must present the live goat. ²¹He will lay both of his hands on the goat's head and ²²confess over it all the wickedness, rebellion, and sins of the people of Israel. In this way, he will transfer the people's sins to the head of the goat. Then a man specially chosen for the task will drive the goat into the wilderness. ²³As the goat goes into the wilderness, it will carry all the people's sins upon itself into a desolate land.

²⁴"When Aaron goes back into the Tabernacle, he must take off the linen garments he was wearing when he entered the Most Holy Place, and he must leave the garments there. ²⁵Then he must bathe himself with water in a sacred place, put on his regular garments, and go out to sacrifice a burnt offering for himself and a burnt offering for the people. Through this process, he will purify himself and the people, making them right with the LORD. ²⁶He must then burn all the fat of the sin offering on the altar.

²⁷"The man chosen to drive the scapegoat into the wilderness of Azazel must wash his clothes and bathe himself in water. Then he may return to the camp.

²⁸"The bull and the goat presented as sin offerings, whose blood Aaron takes into the 16:10

Isa 53:4-10

16:11
Heb 9:7

16:12
Exod 30:34-38
Num 16:18, 46

16:13
Exod 25:22
Lev 22:9

16:14
Lev 4:17

16:15
Heb 6:19; 9:3, 7, 12

16:16
Exod 29:36; 30:10
Heb 2:17

16:18
Lev 4:7, 25
Ezek 43:20

16:19
Lev 4:6; 16:14

16:21
Lev 5:5
kyadah (3034)
2 Chr 5:13

16:22
Isa 53:12

16:23
Exod 28:42
Lev 16:4

16:24
Exod 29:4-9

16:27
Lev 4:11-12; 6:30

16:8 The term Azazel is found only in 16:8, 10, 26. This word has generally been interpreted in four different ways: (1) as a word meaning "the goat of going away"; (2) as a demon that lived in the wilderness; (3) as a strengthened form of the Hebrew word for "go, leave," meaning "utter loss"; and (4) as a rocky cliff over which the goat was pushed. Since this goat represented the removal of the sins of Israel from the camp (16:22), the first interpretation is probably the simplest solution.

16:10 wilderness, the people will be purified and made right with the LORD: Or wilderness, it will make atonement for the people.

16:12 inner curtain: See note on 16:2.

16:13 that rests on the Ark of the Covenant: Literally that is above the Testimony. The Hebrew word for "testimony" refers to the terms of the LORD's covenant with Israel as written on stone tablets, which were kept in the Ark.

16:16 The high priest needed to purify (or make atonement for; similarly in 16:17a, 18, 20, 27, 33) the Most Holy Place and the rest of the Tabernacle because, over the course of the year, the sins the Israelites had committed had brought uncleanness on the whole sanctuary. If the Tabernacle was to remain the place for meeting God in the coming year, it had to be purified. The same applied to the altar (16:18).

16:23-24 For this ceremony, the high priest had to put on special clothing (16:4), which he used for no other purpose. When the ceremony concluded, he was to leave the garments in the Most Holy Place. Many scholars believe that the bathing and changes of clothing were necessary because handling the sin offering brought defilement.

16:27 For the Day of Atonement, the high priest took the blood of the sin offerings . . . into the Most Holy Place. As a result, the offerings were burned and not eaten (4:3-12, 13-21).

16:28
Num 19:8, 10
16:29
Lev 23:26-32
Num 29:7

16:31
Lev 23:32
Ezra 8:21

16:34
Lev 23:14, 21, 30-31
Heb 9:7

Most Holy Place for the purification ceremony, will be carried outside the camp. The animals' hides, internal organs, and dung are all to be burned. ²⁸The man who burns them must wash his clothes and bathe himself in water before returning to the camp.

²⁹"On the tenth day of the appointed month in early autumn, you must deny yourselves. Neither native-born Israelites nor foreigners living among you may do any kind of work. This is a permanent law for you. ³⁰On that day offerings of purification will be made for you, and you will be purified in the LORD's presence from all your sins. ³¹It will be a Sabbath day of complete rest for you, and you must deny yourselves. This is a permanent law for you. ³²In future generations, the purification ceremony will be performed by the priest who has been anointed and ordained to serve as high priest in place of his ancestor Aaron. He will put on the holy linen garments ³³and purify the Most Holy Place, the Tabernacle, the altar, the priests, and the entire congregation. ³⁴This is a permanent law for you, to purify the people of Israel from their sins, making them right with the LORD once each year."

Moses followed all these instructions exactly as the LORD had commanded him.

5. EXPRESSIONS OF HOLINESS IN THE COMMUNITY (17:1-26:46)

Inappropriate Worship of God (17:1-9)

17 Then the LORD said to Moses, ²"Give the following instructions to Aaron and his sons and all the people of Israel. This is what the LORD has commanded.

Atonement (16:1-34)

Lev 1:1-17; 4:1-6:7;
17:10-14; 23:26-32
Exod 25:17-22;
30:10-16
Num 15:22-29;
29:7-11
Ps 51:7
Prov 16:6
Ezek 43:18-27
Dan 9:24
John 1:29
Eph 1:7
Col 1:20
Heb 2:16-17;
9:12-14

To worship a holy God, one must remove any obstacle that stands in the way. Atonement removes any sin or uncleanness that inhibits proper worship. In the atoning offerings (see chart, "Israel's Sacrifices," p. 197), the sacrifice represented the life of the worshiper, given in his place so that he might live. Blood was the symbol of life given by God and was reserved as God's portion of each animal offering. Blood represents life, and the blood of the offering represented the life of the worshiper. God had designated the victim's blood, representing the life of the victim, as the means of atonement (17:11). God's grace permitted the death of an animal to be accepted in exchange for the sinner's life.

Leviticus 16 describes the Day of Atonement. On this day, the sins of the community were presented to the Lord by the high priest. Atonement provides both propitiation and expiation. Expiation is the payment of what is owed. For example, the guilt offering (5:14-6:7) involves damages or loss to property, and the loss must be repaid with a 20 percent surcharge. Propitiation, on the other hand, involves appeasing or pacifying an offended party. The whole burnt offering (1:1-17) and the sin offering (4:1-5:13) require no discernable payment. Instead, the act of laying hands on the victim (4:4-33; 16:21) indicates identification of the worshiper with the animal being sacrificed. The blood, representing the life of the animal (17:14), is presented as a substitute for the life of the worshiper (17:11). The animal is slain, and its blood and certain parts are ceremonially presented to God, thus propitiating (appeasing) him and averting his wrath from the worshiper.

The blood of Jesus brings atonement (Eph 1:7; Col 1:20) and obtains eternal redemption for believers (Heb 9:12). Christ, God's lamb, reconciles us to God (John 1:29; Heb 9:14). He paid our debt of sin (expiation) and satisfied God's judgment against us (propitiation).

16:29 tenth day of the appointed month in early autumn: Literally On the tenth day of the seventh month. This day in the ancient Hebrew lunar calendar occurred in September or October; see note on 16:1-34. • must deny yourselves: Or must fast; also in 16:31. The Hebrew term ('anah, "humble, afflict yourselves") is closely connected with fasting (Isa 58:3, 5). • foreigners (Hebrew ger): The Hebrew term denotes those who were not Israelites yet lived among the Israelites. Foreigners participated to some extent in Israelite worship (see Num 9:14) and represented potential converts. They probably did not own land, but were day laborers, sharecroppers, or tenant farmers. However, if they lived among the Israelites, they were expected to abide by Israelite law and customs (see, e.g., 24:16).

16:30 offerings of purification will be made for you: Or atonement will be made for you, to purify you. See note on 1:4.

16:31 The Day of Atonement was regarded as a Sabbath day. No one in the camp, Israelite or foreigner, was permitted to work (see 19:30).

16:32 purification: Or atonement. See note on 1:4.

17:1-26:46 This section deals with how the community of Israel was to observe holiness. Holiness does not describe one attribute of God among many. Rather, it is the sum of all attributes of his person, nature, and character (see note on Exod 3:5). His "glory" is the manifestation of his perfect person, nature, and character (see 9:6). God's covenant with Israel meant that the people and the nation participated in God's holiness. This holiness depended on Israel's relationship with God. This relationship brought certain ethical and ritual expectations for Israel to uphold.

³If any native Israelite sacrifices a bull or a lamb or a goat anywhere inside or outside the camp ⁴instead of bringing it to the entrance of the ^aTabernacle to present it as an offering to the LORD, that person will be as guilty as a murderer. Such a person has shed blood and will be cut off from the community. ⁵The purpose of this rule is to stop the Israelites from sacrificing animals in the open fields. It will ensure that they bring their sacrifices to the priest at the entrance of the Tabernacle, so he can present them to the LORD as peace offerings. ⁶Then the priest will be able to splatter the blood against the LORD's altar at the entrance of the Tabernacle, and he will burn the fat as a pleasing aroma to the LORD. ⁷The people must no longer be unfaithful to the LORD by offering sacrifices to the goat idols. This is a permanent law for them, to be observed from generation to generation.

⁸"Give them this command as well. If any native Israelite or foreigner living among you offers a burnt offering or a sacrifice ⁹but does not bring it to the entrance of the Tabernacle to offer it to the LORD, that person will be cut off from the community.

Regulations about Handling Blood (17:10-16)

¹⁰"And if any native Israelite or foreigner living among you eats or drinks blood in any form, I will turn against that person and cut him off from the community of your people, ¹¹for the life of the body is in its ^bblood. I have given you the blood on the altar to purify you, making you right with the LORD. It is the ^bblood, given in exchange for a life, that makes purification possible. ¹²That is why I have said to the people of Israel, 'You must never eat or drink blood—neither you nor the foreigners living among you.'

¹³"And if any native Israelite or foreigner living among you goes hunting and kills an animal or bird that is approved for eating, he must drain its blood and cover it with earth. ¹⁴The life of every creature is in its blood. That is why I have said to the people of Israel, 'You must never eat or drink blood, for the life of any creature is in its blood.' So whoever consumes blood will be cut off from the community.

¹⁵"And if any native-born Israelites or foreigners eat the meat of an animal that died naturally or was torn up by wild animals, they must wash their clothes and bathe

17:4
Deut 12:5-21
^a*mishkan* (4908)
• 2 Sam 7:6

17:5
Lev 3:1-2
Deut 12:4-7

17:6
Exod 29:18
Num 18:17

17:7
Exod 22:20; 32:8
Deut 32:17
2 Chr 11:15
1 Cor 10:20

17:9
Lev 17:4

17:10
Lev 3:17
Deut 12:16, 23-25

17:11
Gen 9:4
Lev 17:14
Heb 9:22
^b*dam* (1818)
• Deut 12:23

17:13
Deut 12:16
Ezek 24:7

17:14
Gen 9:4
Lev 17:11

17:15
Exod 22:31
Lev 7:24
Deut 14:21

17:3-9 These regulations (see also Deut 12:15-21) indicate that unsupervised sacrifice could easily lead to the integration of pagan elements into the true worship of the Lord (17:7). Israel was camped around the Tabernacle (Num 2:2-34), so it was not inconvenient to bring an animal to the sanctuary for slaughter. Deut 12:20-24 anticipates Israel's settlement in the land and the hardship imposed by this regulation. It permitted slaughtering and eating meat without bringing it to the sanctuary, as long as the blood was not consumed.

17:3 bull: Or cow.

17:4 Tabernacle: Literally Tent of Meeting; also in 17:5, 6, 9; see note on 1:1. • will be as guilty as a murderer: Literally will be guilty of blood. The person had shed an animal's blood in an unlawful manner. The life of the animal had been given by God; it had to be returned to him in the blood of the sacrificed animal. • cut off: See note on 7:20-21.

17:5 peace offerings: See note on 3:1.

17:6 fat: See note on 1:8; 3:3.

17:7 be unfaithful (Hebrew zanah, "commit fornication"): Israel was not to worship any god but the Lord (Exod 20:3). Israel's covenant relationship to the Lord was even compared to a marriage (see Hos 1:2), and worshiping other gods could be described as spiritual adultery. In addition, many of the Canaanite religions were fertility cults. This verb reflects the prostitution conducted at Canaanite shrines to induce fertility in the land through rites of magic involving sexual intercourse. • The Hebrew word translated goat idols (or goat demons) is the plural for a male goat. In the ancient world, the male goat was often a symbol of fertility or of a god of the underworld. During the reign of Jeroboam I, many Levites from the northern kingdom moved south to Jerusalem; they had been appalled by the use of goats and bulls in the northern kingdom's worship (2 Chr 11:15-16).

17:8 foreigner: See note on 16:29.

17:10 drinks blood: See note on 17:4.

• cut him off: See note on 7:20-21.

17:11 the life of the body is in its blood: Israel was forbidden to consume blood (17:10) because it was symbolic of the life given by God and was reserved as God's portion of each animal offering. God had also designated the sacrificial blood as the means of atonement. In other words, God's grace permitted the life of the animal to be accepted in exchange for the life of the sinner. In the NT, the blood of Christ—representing his life freely given—has provided eternal redemption for believers (Heb 9:12). • to purify you, making you right with the LORD: Or to make atonement for you; see notes on 1:4; 4:20.

17:13 cover it with earth: This restriction kept the hunter from using an animal's blood for food. Just like the blood of animals presented in altar offerings, the blood of wild game also represented life. Uncovered blood was also the sign of violent crime; innocent blood defiled the land (Num 35:33) and cried out to God for justice (Gen 4:10; see Job 16:18). Covering the blood of a slain animal gave it a symbolic burial. This demonstrated reverence both for the animal's life and for God, the life-giver. The burial signified the return of that life to God, just like the disposal of the blood by the priest in the altar offerings.

17:14 See 17:10; note on 17:4.

17:15-16 An animal killed by a predator or which died of natural causes still had undrained blood in its tissues. This rendered it ceremonially unclean and a potential source of defilement (22:8). Israelites were to throw such an animal to the dogs (Exod 22:31) or give or sell it to a non-Israelite (Deut 14:21). If an Israelite happened to eat an animal with undrained blood, he or she became ceremonially unclean and had to wash in water. The uncleanness itself was not a sin, but neglect of the unclean state brought punishment.

18:2
Exod 6:7
Lev 11:44
18:3
Exod 23:24
Lev 20:23
Rom 12:2
18:4
Deut 4:1
18:5
Ezek 20:11
Luke 10:28
*Rom 10:5
*Gal 3:12
18:7
Lev 20:11
18:8
Gen 35:22
Lev 20:11
Deut 27:20
18:9
Lev 20:17
18:12
Lev 20:19
18:14
Lev 20:20
18:15
Lev 20:12
Ezek 22:11
18:16
Lev 20:21

themselves in water. They will remain ceremonially unclean until evening, but then they will be clean. ¹⁶But if they do not wash their clothes and bathe themselves, they will be punished for their sin."

Sexual Morality and Other Practical Matters (18:1–20:27)

Forbidden Sexual Practices

18 Then the LORD said to Moses, ²"Give the following instructions to the people of Israel. I am the LORD your God. ³So do not act like the people in Egypt, where you used to live, or like the people of Canaan, where I am taking you. You must not imitate their way of life. ⁴You must obey all my regulations and be careful to obey my decrees, for I am the LORD your God. ⁵If you obey my decrees and my regulations, you will find life through them. I am the LORD.

⁶"You must never have sexual relations with a close relative, for I am the LORD.

⁷"Do not violate your father by having sexual relations with your mother. She is your mother; you must not have sexual relations with her.

⁸"Do not have sexual relations with any of your father's wives, for this would violate your father.

⁹"Do not have sexual relations with your sister or half sister, whether she is your father's daughter or your mother's daughter, whether she was born into your household or someone else's.

¹⁰"Do not have sexual relations with your granddaughter, whether she is your son's daughter or your daughter's daughter, for this would violate yourself.

¹¹"Do not have sexual relations with your stepsister, the daughter of any of your father's wives, for she is your sister.

¹²"Do not have sexual relations with your father's sister, for she is your father's close relative.

¹³"Do not have sexual relations with your mother's sister, for she is your mother's close relative.

¹⁴"Do not violate your uncle, your father's brother, by having sexual relations with his wife, for she is your aunt.

¹⁵"Do not have sexual relations with your daughter-in-law; she is your son's wife, so you must not have sexual relations with her.

¹⁶"Do not have sexual relations with your brother's wife, for this would violate your brother.

18:1–20:27 Chapters 18 and 20 primarily discuss sexual matters, warning against engaging in pagan practices both religious and secular. These chapters bracket exhortations to pursue holiness in everyday life (ch 19).

18:2 Many Near Eastern treaties began with the name and titles of the ruler who was drawing up the treaty. The phrase I am the LORD your God gives the name of the Great King, Yahweh (English the LORD), followed by his title, your God (see also Exod 20:2; Deut 5:6). These words were an abbreviated way to invoke Israel's covenant with God and all that it implied. By reminding the people that they were the Lord's, these words carried an authority that required a response (11:44; 18:4–5). Chapter 18 begins and ends (18:30) with these words, and they appear frequently throughout chs 19–26.

18:4–5 regulations . . . decrees: The Bible anticipated that the courts would need to interpret the laws that God had provided to apply them to different circumstances. Such interpretations became case laws; the body of these court decisions was called mishpatim in Hebrew (cp. "decrees" in 10:11). • Paul alludes to these verses in Rom 10:5 and Gal 3:12, where he contrasts the "way of faith" with the "way of law."

18:6–7 have sexual relations with: Literally to uncover the nakedness of. Similar regulations in Lev 20 use the Hebrew word shakab ("lie with"), a word frequently used to indicate an improper sexual relationship.

18:7–8 violate your father: The Hebrew text here equates having sexual relations with your mother or any of your father's wives with having sexual relations with him (cp. Gen 35:22; 49:4; see also 1 Cor 5:1). The husband and his wife were "two united into one" (Gen 2:24; cp. Eph 5:29). Always in the background of these commands are the commands to honor your parents (Exod 20:12; Lev 20:9) and, by extension, other members of the family (see also note on 20:17).

18:7 She is your mother: Incest was prohibited because of the disruption it created in families, so the commands concerning this sin included close relatives not necessarily related by blood. Incest was a serious crime because it brought competition and chaos into the family structure. It threatened the safety of the home by violating a family's appropriate intimacy and the sense of belonging shared by its members. • The commands were directly addressed to the male, even though the female could be older (such as one's mother). The male, especially if he was the head of the household or the firstborn, wielded more power than the female; with this position came the responsibility to use that power lawfully. In addition, the male was more likely to be the sexual aggressor in an illicit sexual union, although this was not always the case (e.g., Gen 39:6–18).

18:9 Sexual relations with a full sister dishonored both parents, and relations with a half sister dishonored one parent.

18:12–13 your father's sister . . . mother's sister: These actions would dishonor your father or mother.

18:14 Having sexual relations with your aunt would dishonor your uncle. In turn, this would also dishonor your father (see 20:20).

18:15 Just as having sexual relations with your father's wife would dishonor your father, having sexual relations with your daughter-in-law would dishonor your son. The law called for daughters-in-law to be treated like natural daughters (Exod 21:9; cp. Gen 38:1–30).

18:16 Sexual relations with your sister-in-law would be adulterous and disgrace your brother. The exception was the law of levirate marriage (see Deut 25:5–10), which called for a man to marry his brother's widow in order to produce an heir who was considered the dead brother's son.

¹⁷"Do not have sexual relations with both a woman and her daughter. And do not take her granddaughter, whether her son's daughter or her daughter's daughter, and have sexual relations with her. They are close relatives, and this would be a wicked act.

¹⁸"While your wife is living, do not marry her sister and have sexual relations with her, for they would be rivals.

¹⁹"Do not have sexual relations with a woman during her period of menstrual impurity.

²⁰"Do not defile yourself by having sexual intercourse with your neighbor's wife.

²¹"Do not permit any of your children to be offered as a sacrifice to Molech, for you must not bring shame on the name of your God. I am the LORD.

²²"Do not practice homosexuality, having sex with another man as with a woman. It is a detestable sin.

²³"A man must not defile himself by having sex with an animal. And a woman must not offer herself to a male animal to have intercourse with it. This is a perverse act.

²⁴"Do not defile yourselves in any of these ways, for the people I am driving out before you have defiled themselves in all these ways. ²⁵Because the entire land has become defiled, I am punishing the people who live there. I will cause the land to vomit them out. ²⁶You must obey all my decrees and regulations. You must not commit any of these detestable sins. This applies both to native-born Israelites and to the foreigners living among you.

²⁷"All these detestable activities are practiced by the people of the land where I am taking you, and this is how the land has become defiled. ²⁸So do not defile the land and give it a reason to vomit you out, as it will vomit out the people who live there now. ²⁹Whoever commits any of these detestable sins will be cut off from the community of Israel. ³⁰So obey my instructions, and do not defile yourselves by committing any of these detestable practices that were committed by the people who lived in the land before you. I am the LORD your God."

Holiness in Personal Conduct

19 The LORD also said to Moses, ²"Give the following instructions to the entire community of Israel. You must be holy because I, the LORD your God, am holy.

³"Each of you must show great respect for your mother and father, and you must always observe my Sabbath days of rest. I am the LORD your God.

⁴"Do not put your trust in idols or make 18:17

Lev 20:14
18:19
Lev 15:24; 20:18
18:20
Exod 20:14
Lev 20:10
Matt 5:27-28
1 Cor 6:9

18:21
Lev 19:12; 20:1-5;
21:6
Deut 12:31
2 Kgs 23:10
Mal 1:12

18:22
Gen 19:5
Lev 20:13
Rom 1:27

18:23
Exod 22:19
Lev 20:15-16
Deut 27:21

18:24
Lev 18:3

18:25
Lev 20:22-23
Deut 9:5

18:26
Lev 18:2-3

19:2
Exod 19:6
Lev 11:44
*1 Pet 1:16

19:3
Exod 20:8, 12
Lev 11:44

19:4
Exod 20:23
Lev 26:1

18:17 As with all examples listed in ch 18, marrying a woman together with her daughter or granddaughter was prohibited because of the disruption it would cause in the family order. It would violate the intimacy of the family group by forcing a wife to compete for her husband's affections against a much younger woman. The penalty for this act was death by burning (20:14). • do not take: Or do not marry.

18:18 The word rival (Hebrew tsarah) vividly describes the relationship between Leah and Rachel (Gen 29:16–30:24) and Hannah and Peninnah (1 Sam 1:6); in both cases, the fellow wives were driven to bitter rivalry for their husband's affections.

18:19 See note on 15:24.

18:20 The Hebrew word translated defile yourself could be more literally translated to become ceremonially unclean. • Sexual intercourse with a neighbor's wife or any married woman defined adultery in the OT. Breaking this law was punishable by death (Deut 22:22). Like incest, adultery threatened the integrity and security of the home and family. In this case, it violated the covenant of marriage and divided the adulterer's affection between his spouse and his mistress.

18:21 Molech was the national god of the Ammonites (1 Kgs 11:7). This god was later worshiped by Israel during times of apostasy (2 Kgs 23:10; Jer 32:35). Molech probably appears in this list because Molech worship was associated with sexual sins; it seems to have included child sacrifice as well. • To bring shame on (literally blaspheme, profane) the name of your God meant using the name of the Lord as though it were not holy, such as in a false oath (19:12) or in the worship of a false god (Ezek 20:39).

18:22 In Gen 1:31, God pronounced all things good. This yielded a theology of the created order where good is defined by what God created and by the way he intended it to function. Part of this "good" was the creation of woman as man's companion (Gen 2:22-24). Marriage forms a microcosm of the human race, which stands as the corporate bearer of God's image. Sin, introduced by the Fall (Gen 3), disrupted the created order. Homosexuality is but one example of sinful violation of God's order; it is tied to the rejection of God by fallen humanity (Rom 1:25-32). • The Hebrew word translated detestable (to'ebah) indicates strong disapproval and disgust (20:13; see also 18:26-30).

18:23 Like homosexuality, bestiality is a violation of the natural order (see note on 18:22). • The phrase perverse act referred not only to a violation, but to a confusion of the order God created because it broke down clear boundaries that he had established.

18:24-25 any of these ways: Pagan worship (18:21), homosexuality (18:22), and bestiality (18:23). • The land was so nauseated by Canaanite practices that it would dramatically vomit them out (see 18:28).

18:26 foreigners: See note on 16:29.

18:28 Just as the land would vomit out the Canaanites, it would also vomit out the Israelites if they acted like the Canaanites (see note on 18:24-25; 20:22). This came to pass with the destruction and exile of the northern kingdom by the Assyrians in 722 bc (2 Kgs 17:6) and when the Babylonians destroyed and exiled Judah in 586 bc (2 Kgs 25:8-21).

18:29 cut off: See note on 7:20-21.

18:30 I am the LORD your God: See note on 18:2.

19:2 be holy: See note on 11:44-45.

19:3 I am the LORD (see 18:2): These words break ch 19 into terse, staccato sections (19:3, 4, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 25, 28, 30, 31, 34, 36, 37). Each use served to remind Israel why they were to obey God's regulations.

19:6-7
Lev 7:16-18
19:9
Lev 23:22
Deut 24:19-22

19:11
Exod 20:15-16

19:13
Exod 22:7-15, 21-27;
23:4-9
Deut 24:14-15
Mal 3:5
Jas 5:4

19:14
Deut 27:18
'yare' (3372)
+ Lev 25:17

19:15
Exod 23:2-3, 6
Deut 1:17
Prov 24:23
Jas 2:1-4
šapat (8199)
+ Deut 25:1
tsedeq (6664)
+ Lev 19:36

19:16
Exod 23:1, 7
Ezek 22:9

metal images of gods for yourselves. I am the LORD your God.

⁵"When you sacrifice a peace offering to the LORD, offer it properly so you will be accepted by God. ⁶The sacrifice must be eaten on the same day you offer it or on the next day. Whatever is left over until the third day must be completely burned up. ⁷If any of the sacrifice is eaten on the third day, it will be contaminated, and I will not accept it. ⁸Anyone who eats it on the third day will be punished for defiling what is holy to the LORD and will be cut off from the community.

⁹"When you harvest the crops of your land, do not harvest the grain along the edges of your fields, and do not pick up what the harvesters drop. ¹⁰It is the same with your grape crop—do not strip every last bunch of grapes from the vines, and do not pick up the grapes that fall to the ground. Leave them for the poor and the foreigners living among you. I am the LORD your God.

¹¹"Do not steal.

"Do not deceive or cheat one another.

¹²"Do not bring shame on the name of your God by using it to swear falsely. I am the LORD.

¹³"Do not defraud or rob your neighbor.

"Do not make your hired workers wait until the next day to receive their pay.

¹⁴"Do not insult the deaf or cause the blind to stumble. You must fear your God; I am the LORD.

¹⁵"Do not twist justice in legal matters by favoring the poor or being partial to the rich and powerful. Always judge people fairly.

¹⁶"Do not spread slanderous gossip among your people.

"Do not stand idly by when your neighbor's life is threatened. I am the LORD.

Family and Community (18:6-30)

Lev 20:14, 21
Gen 19:30-38;
49:3-4
2 Sam 13:1-39
Matt 14:3-5
1 Cor 5:1-2; 6:13-20; 7:2
Gal 5:19-21
Eph 5:3
Jude 1:7
Rev 2:14-16, 20

In Israel, the family was the basic building block for the solidarity of the entire people. Each of the twelve tribes was a conglomeration of families and clans. The twelve tribes together comprised the people of Israel as a whole. Although the level of solidarity might decrease at a distance from one's immediate family, this familial notion permeated all of Israelite society. A kinsman was often called a brother, not just a relative, to express the closest intimacy. By extension of the family model, the term often translated "brother" could also be used of a fellow Israelite (see Deut 1:16, "fellow Israelites"; Deut 3:18, "Israelite relatives").

Since Israel was seen as an extended family, its existence depended on the integrity of the home. Crimes such as incest and adultery were regarded very severely because they weakened the foundation of the family. Incest introduced competition, threatening the safety of the home by violating the trust, intimacy, and sense of belonging shared by its members. Adultery fragmented the home by allowing intimacy with someone outside it to divide the loyalties of its participants. These powerful enemies of family solidarity weakened the clan and tribe (see 18:6-23) and, by extension, the solidarity of the nation itself. Sexual sins are not "victimless crimes" but sins that eventually threaten the community itself. The importance given here to such crimes is echoed in NT warnings against sexual immorality (see especially 1 Cor 5:1-2; 6:13-20; 7:2; Gal 5:19-21; Eph 5:3; Jude 1:7; Rev 2:14-16, 20).

19:5 peace offering: See 3:1-17. • so you will be accepted: Or so it will be accepted.

19:8 cut off: See note on 7:20-21.

19:9-10 do not harvest. . . . Leave them for the poor: Israel's covenant with God included a social structure that created a leveling effect and resisted social divisions. Families were required to provide for family members who faced difficulties. Widows and orphans (Exod 22:22), the poor, and foreigners (19:10) were considered members of Israel's extended family. The poor were not only given special consideration in the offering system (5:7-13), but positive steps were taken to make sure they had food to eat.

19:11 A society that did not respect the property of others would quickly fall apart internally. To steal was prohibited (Exod 20:15), and those who would deceive or cheat were required to present a guilt offering (see 6:2-7).

19:12 To bring shame on the name means to blaspheme (see note on 18:21).

19:13 Day laborers had no land and were a part of Israel's lowest economic ranks. These hired workers depended on landowners for their livelihood. A hired man needed to receive his wages promptly so that he could feed his family (Deut 24:15); to withhold the wages of such a worker was to cheat him.

19:14 The deaf and blind were helpless people, easy to belittle and exploit. The Israelites were not to take advantage of them.

19:15 Neither the poor nor the rich were to be favored in a legal case. Justice was the priority at all times (see Exod 23:3, 6).

19:16 Do not spread slanderous gossip (literally Do not act as a merchant toward your own people): The image here is of a merchant who trades and sells harmful rumors and accusations. This practice would quickly erode and undermine the sense of community so valued in Israel (cp. Prov 11:13; 16:28; 20:19; 26:20; 2 Cor 12:20).

¹⁷"Do not nurse hatred in your heart for any of your relatives. Confront people directly so you will not be held guilty for their sin.

¹⁸"Do not seek revenge or bear a grudge against a fellow Israelite, but love your neighbor as yourself. I am the LORD.

¹⁹"You must obey all my decrees.

"Do not mate two different kinds of animals. Do not plant your field with two different kinds of seed. Do not wear clothing woven from two different kinds of thread.

²⁰"If a man has sex with a slave girl whose freedom has never been purchased but who is committed to become another man's wife, he must pay full compensation to her master. But since she is not a free woman, neither the man nor the woman will be put to death. ²¹The man, however, must bring a ram as a guilt offering and present it to the LORD at the entrance of the Tabernacle. ²²The priest will then purify him before the LORD with the ram of the guilt offering, and the man's sin will be forgiven.

²³"When you enter the land and plant fruit trees, leave the fruit unharvested for the first three years and consider it forbidden. Do not eat it. ²⁴In the fourth year the entire crop must be consecrated to the LORD as a celebration of praise. ²⁵Finally, in the fifth year you may eat the fruit. If you follow this pattern, your harvest will increase. I am the LORD your God.

²⁶"Do not eat meat that has not been drained of its blood.

"Do not practice fortune-telling or witchcraft.

²⁷"Do not trim off the hair on your temples or trim your beards.

²⁸"Do not cut your bodies for the dead, and do not mark your skin with tattoos. I am the LORD.

²⁹"Do not defile your daughter by making her a prostitute, or the land will be filled with prostitution and wickedness.

³⁰"Keep my Sabbath days of rest, and show reverence toward my sanctuary. I am the LORD.

³¹"Do not defile yourselves by turning to mediums or to 'those who consult the spirits of the dead. I am the LORD your God.

³²"Stand up in the presence of the elderly, and show respect for the aged. Fear your God. I am the LORD.

19:17
Matt 18:15-17
1 Jn 2:9, 11: 3:15

19:18
Ps 103:9
*Matt 19:19; 22:39
*Mark 12:31
*Luke 10:27
*Rom 13:9
*Gal 5:14
*Jas 2:8

19:19
Deut 22:9-11

19:20
Deut 22:23-27

19:21
Lev 5:15

19:26
Deut 18:10-12

19:27
Lev 21:5

19:28
Lev 21:5
Deut 14:1
Jer 16:6; 41:5

19:29
Lev 21:9
Deut 23:17-18

19:30
Exod 20:8-11
Lev 26:2

19:31
Lev 20:6
yidde'oni (3049)
• Lev 20:6

19:32
1 Tim 5:1-2

19:17 for any of your relatives: Literally for your brother. The Hebrew term can refer to any fellow Israelite; all Israel was considered one family (cp. 1 Jn 3:15). • Confront people directly: Love does not mean closing one's eyes to wrong; reproof can help a person change.

19:18 love your neighbor as yourself: This is the cornerstone for biblical ethics in both the OT and the NT (see Matt 22:39; Mark 12:31; Luke 10:27; Rom 13:8-9; Gal 5:14; Jas 2:8). It includes foreigners (19:34; cp. Luke 10:30-37). Conversely, hate leads to a grudge that can bear violent fruit (see 1 Jn 2:10-11; 4:20).

19:19 two different kinds: God created a natural order (Gen 1:31; see Lev 18:22), and it is violated when God's boundaries are crossed. The prohibitions against intermixing were also object lessons for the Israelites, who were not to intermarry with the Canaanites.

19:20-22 Betrothal in the biblical world was considered equivalent to marriage. Sexual relations with a betrothed or engaged woman who was not a slave merited death, the same punishment as for adultery (Deut 22:22; see Lev 18:20). However, the situation was less clear when the woman was a slave who might be unable to refuse. While slaves in Israel had considerably more rights than those in Mesopotamia or Egypt, they were still not free. Because a slave girl could not be punished, the man was also left unpunished. Still, he was guilty in God's sight and had to sacrifice a ram for his sin.

19:21 Tabernacle: Literally Tent of Meeting; see note on 1:1.

19:22 purify him: Or make atonement for him; see notes on 1:4; 4:20.

19:23-25 For the first three years, a newly planted fruit tree was only to be pruned and cultivated. This allowed all the strength to go back into the tree. In the fourth year, all of the fruit was considered the "first crop" and was given to God (see Exod 23:16). Only in the fifth year could the fruit be eaten.

19:23 consider it forbidden: Literally consider it uncircumcised.

19:26 blood: See note on 7:22-27.

• Priests were permitted to consult the Urim and Thummim (Exod 28:30) or to cast lots (16:8) to help decide cases not covered by Mosaic regulations. However, those who practiced fortune-telling or witchcraft were actually consulting a power apart from the Lord, which was forbidden under the first commandment (Exod 20:3).

19:27 Do not trim: As discovered in Egyptian wall paintings, Canaanites carefully trimmed their hair and beards. The Israelites were not to imitate this practice so that they would not be influenced by Canaanite religion and ethics.

19:28 cut your bodies: Cutting oneself was associated with Canaanite mourning practices (21:5; Deut 14:1). The word translated tattoo might refer to painting the body, a practice also associated with paganism.

19:29 Cp. 21:9; Deut 23:17.

19:30 Sabbath days: The Hebrew word translated "Sabbath" (shabbath) is related to a verb which means simply "to cease," implying rest from one's labor. The Sabbath commemorated God's resting on the seventh day after he had completed his work of creation (Gen 1:31; 2:1-3). It began at sundown on the sixth day. With the Exodus from Egypt, the Sabbath gained covenantal significance (Exod 16:23-25; 31:13). Because only free people, not slaves, had a regular day of rest, the Sabbath became symbolic of Israel's liberation from bondage in Egypt (see Deut 5:13-15). • The people were to show reverence (literally fear) because the sanctuary, like the Sabbath, was holy. They were not to enter it when they were unclean or bring anything unclean into it.

19:31 mediums: Cp. 1 Sam 28:7-25.

• The Hebrew term for consult the spirits (yidde'oni) is derived from a root meaning "to know." It describes those who claim to have special occult knowledge and use it to communicate with the dead.

19:32 In the ancient world, the elderly and the aged were respected for their wisdom (Job 32:7). Honoring the elderly also honors God.

19:34
Lev 19:18
19:35
Deut 25:13-16
19:36
Deut 25:13-15
Prov 20:10
sedeq* (6664)
* Deut 16:20

20:2
Lev 18:21; 24:14-23
20:3
Lev 18:21
Num 19:20
Ezek 5:11
20:6
Lev 19:26, 31
yidde'oni* (3049)
* Lev 20:27

20:7
Lev 11:44-45
*1 Pet 1:16
20:9
Exod 21:17
Deut 27:16
*Matt 15:4

20:10
Exod 20:14
Deut 22:22

20:11
Lev 18:7-8
Deut 27:20

20:12
Lev 18:15

20:13
Lev 18:22

20:14
Lev 18:17
Deut 27:23

20:15
Lev 18:23
Deut 27:21

33^aDo not take advantage of foreigners who live among you in your land. 34Treat them like native-born Israelites, and love them as you love yourself. Remember that you were once foreigners living in the land of Egypt. I am the LORD your God.

35^aDo not use dishonest standards when measuring length, weight, or volume. 36Your scales and weights must be ^aaccurate. Your containers for measuring dry materials or liquids must be ^aaccurate. I am the LORD your God who brought you out of the land of Egypt.

37^aYou must be careful to keep all of my decrees and regulations by putting them into practice. I am the LORD.^a

Punishments for Disobedience

20 The LORD said to Moses, 2^aGive the people of Israel these instructions, which apply both to native Israelites and to the foreigners living in Israel.

"If any of them offer their children as a sacrifice to Molech, they must be put to death. The people of the community must stone them to death. 3I myself will turn against them and cut them off from the community, because they have defiled my sanctuary and brought shame on my holy name by offering their children to Molech. 4And if the people of the community ignore those who offer their children to Molech and refuse to execute them, 5I myself will turn against them and their families and will cut them off from the community. This will happen to all who commit spiritual prostitution by worshiping Molech.

6^aI will also turn against those who commit spiritual prostitution by putting their trust in mediums or in ^bthose who consult the spirits of the dead. I will cut them off from the community. 7So set yourselves apart to be holy, for I am the LORD your God. 8Keep all my decrees by putting them into practice, for I am the LORD who makes you holy.

9^aAnyone who dishonors father or mother must be put to death. Such a person is guilty of a capital offense.

10^aIf a man commits adultery with his neighbor's wife, both the man and the woman who have committed adultery must be put to death.

11^aIf a man violates his father by having sex with one of his father's wives, both the man and the woman must be put to death, for they are guilty of a capital offense.

12^aIf a man has sex with his daughter-in-law, both must be put to death. They have committed a perverse act and are guilty of a capital offense.

13^aIf a man practices homosexuality, having sex with another man as with a woman, both men have committed a detestable act. They must both be put to death, for they are guilty of a capital offense.

14^aIf a man marries both a woman and her mother, he has committed a wicked act. The man and both women must be burned to death to wipe out such wickedness from among you.

15^aIf a man has sex with an animal, he must be put to death, and the animal must be killed.

16^aIf a woman presents herself to a male animal to have intercourse with it, she and the animal must both be put to death. You must kill both, for they are guilty of a capital offense.

19:33-34 The Israelites, once foreigners living in . . . Egypt, were to remember their own mistreatment and avoid inflicting similar abuse on others (see Deut 10:19).

19:35-36 dishonest standards: Merchants would sometimes use two different sets of weights, one heavy and one light (Deut 25:13-15), in order to cheat customers. The Bible makes it clear that this practice was abhorrent to God (Prov 11:1; 16:11; 20:10, 23; Mic 6:11).

19:36 Your containers for measuring dry materials or liquids must be accurate: Literally Use an honest ephah [a dry measure] and an honest hin [a liquid measure].

19:37 decrees and regulations: Together, these terms designated the entire body of law, both the law as first enacted ("decrees," see 10:11) and its interpretation by the courts ("regulations," see 18:4).

20:2 Stoning was the conventional means of enforcing capital punishment (see also 20:27; 24:14, 16, 23; Exod 19:13; Num 15:35-36; Deut 17:2-7; Josh 7:25-26; John 8:1-11).

20:9-27 Because pagan worship affected ethics, the regulations for families follow immediately after those dealing with pagan religious practices. To some extent, the laws of this section replicate those of 18:6-30, which precede the section dealing with proper expressions of holiness (19:1-37). These were all related issues, as the proper worship of God led to proper conduct toward other people, while improper worship of God led to moral violations.

20:9 Anyone who dishonors: Greek version reads Anyone who speaks disrespectfully of; cp. Matt 15:4; Mark 7:10; Eph 6:1-4. The Hebrew word for dishonors means "to make light of, treat with contempt," and is traditionally translated "curse," in the sense of calling someone a vulgar or profane name. Parental authority was given by God, not chosen by the child (see Exod 20:12; Deut 21:18-21).

20:10 See note on 18:20; see also Exod 20:14.

20:11 See note on 18:7-8. This injunction made it clear that the crime was seen as both incest and adultery.

20:12 See note on 18:15.

20:13 See note on 18:22.

20:14 See note on 18:17.

20:15-16 See note on 18:23.

¹⁷"If a man marries his sister, the daughter of either his father or his mother, and they have sexual relations, it is a shameful disgrace. They must be publicly cut off from the community. Since the man has violated his sister, he will be punished for his sin.

¹⁸"If a man has sexual relations with a woman during her menstrual period, both of them must be cut off from the community, for together they have exposed the source of her blood flow.

¹⁹"Do not have sexual relations with your aunt, whether your mother's sister or your father's sister. This would dishonor a close relative. Both parties are guilty and will be punished for their sin.

²⁰"If a man has sex with his uncle's wife, he has violated his uncle. Both the man and woman will be punished for their sin, and they will die childless.

²¹"If a man marries his brother's wife, it is an act of impurity. He has violated his brother, and the guilty couple will remain childless.

²²"You must keep all my decrees and regulations by putting them into practice; otherwise the land to which I am bringing you as your new home will vomit you out. ²³Do not live according to the customs of the people I am driving out before you. It is because they do these shameful things that I detest them. ²⁴But I have promised you, 'You will possess their land because

I will give it to you as your possession—a land flowing with milk and honey.' I am the LORD your God, who has set you apart from all other people.

²⁵"You must therefore make a distinction between ceremonially clean and unclean animals, and between clean and unclean birds. You must not defile yourselves by eating any unclean animal or bird or creature that scurries along the ground. I have identified them as being unclean for you. ²⁶You must be holy because I, the LORD, am holy. I have set you apart from all other people to be my very own.

²⁷"Men and women among you who act as mediums or 'who consult the spirits of the dead must be put to death by stoning. They are guilty of a capital offense."

Priestly Regulations (21:1–22:33) Instructions for the Priests

21 The LORD said to Moses, "Give the following instructions to the priests, the descendants of Aaron.

"A priest must not make himself ceremonially unclean by touching the dead body of a relative. ²The only exceptions are his closest relatives—his mother or father, son or daughter, brother, ³or his virgin sister who depends on him because she has no husband. ⁴But a priest must not defile himself and make himself unclean for someone who is related to him only by marriage.

⁵"The priests must not shave their heads or trim their beards or cut their bodies.

20:17
Lev 18:9
20:18
Lev 15:24; 18:19
20:19
Lev 18:12-13
20:20
Lev 18:14
20:21
Lev 18:16
20:22
Lev 18:28
20:23
Lev 18:1-3, 24-30
20:24
Exod 13:5; 33:1-3, 16
20:25
Lev 11:1-47
Deut 14:3-5
20:26
Lev 20:24
20:27
Lev 19:31
'yidde'oni (3049)
Deut 18:11

21:1
Lev 19:28
Ezek 44:25
21:2
Lev 21:11
21:5
Lev 19:27-28
Deut 14:1
Jer 16:6

20:17 See note on 18:9. • a shameful disgrace: Proper conduct brings honor both to individuals and their households; improper conduct brings shame. • Both parties are cut off (see 7:20-21), but the man will be punished (see 5:1; 18:6).

20:18 See note on 15:24.

20:19 See note on 18:12-13.

20:20-21 Being left childless carried a social stigma and was considered a judgment from God (see Gen 30:1-2; Deut 7:14). What situation is envisioned in these verses? Sexual relations with a sister-in-law (18:16) or an uncle's wife (18:14) have already been discussed. Adultery is dealt with elsewhere and would bring death to both parties (Deut 22:22). If the woman involved was a widow without a male heir, the law of levirate marriage could be invoked (Deut 25:5-6; see note on 18:16). Since those situations don't seem to apply, it would appear that this law refers to marrying an aunt or a sister-in-law after she has been divorced from her husband. John the Baptist apparently applied this law to condemn Herod Antipas's marriage to Herodias (see Mark 6:17-29).

20:22 vomit you out: See note on 18:28.

20:24 The expression flowing with milk and honey is common in Exodus—Deuteronomy. It conveys the idea of food being abundant and easy to get. This contrasts with Egypt, where everything depended on the flooding of the Nile and irrigation (Deut 11:9-12).

20:25 clean . . . unclean: See note on 11:1–15:33.

20:26 be holy: See note on 11:44-45.

20:27 mediums: See note on 19:31.

21:1–22:33 This section, which covers priestly regulations, is punctuated six times with the phrase I am the LORD who makes . . . holy (21:15, 23; 22:9, 16, 32; cp. 21:8). The words reaffirm the necessary connection between the holiness of God and the holiness expected of the priesthood, and by extension, of all Israel (see 8:10; 11:44-45; 19:2). Priests are specifically addressed in 21:1–22:16, while both clergy and laity are included in 22:17-33.

21:1-4 Touching a dead body rendered a person unclean for seven days. Because a priest had to be prepared to deal with holy things at all times, he was not allowed to handle a dead body, even of a relative, or else he could be unfit to minister when needed. The only exceptions were his closest relatives because there might not be anyone else who could bury the bodies.

21:5 shave . . . trim: See notes on 10:6; 19:27. • cut their bodies: See note on 19:28. Self-mutilation was a pagan custom. Just as defects of any kind precluded most animals as offerings (22:19-25), a defect similarly precluded a priest from officiating (see 21:17-23). For example, a eunuch could not serve as a priest (Deut 23:1) because he was not an adequate representative of the people. However, his priestly lineage was recognized as qualifying him to eat his priestly share (see 21:22). On the other hand, uncleanness disqualified any priest from ministry and from eating the priest's share as long as the condition persisted (22:2-8).

21:6
Lev 10:3
21:7
Lev 21:14
Ezek 44:22
garash (1644)
• Lev 21:14

21:8
Lev 11:44

21:9
Lev 19:29

21:10
Lev 10:6-7

21:11
Num 19:14

21:12
Lev 10:7
Num 19:11-13

21:13
Ezek 44:22

21:14
Lev 21:7, 13
garash (1644)
• Lev 22:13

21:17
Lev 21:6

21:21
Lev 21:17-21

21:22
1 Cor 9:13

21:23
Lev 21:12

22:3
Lev 7:20-21
Num 19:13

22:4
Lev 11:24, 28, 31,
39-40; 14:1-32

22:5
Lev 11:24-25, 41-44

⁶They must be set apart as holy to their God and must never bring shame on the name of God. They must be holy, for they are the ones who present the special gifts to the LORD, gifts of food for their God.

⁷"Priests may not marry a woman defiled by prostitution, and they may not marry a woman who is ¹divorced from her husband, for the priests are set apart as holy to their God. ⁸You must treat them as holy because they offer up food to your God. You must consider them holy because I, the LORD, am holy, and I make you holy.

⁹"If a priest's daughter defiles herself by becoming a prostitute, she also defiles her father's holiness, and she must be burned to death.

¹⁰"The high priest has the highest rank of all the priests. The anointing oil has been poured on his head, and he has been ordained to wear the priestly garments. He must never leave his hair uncombed or tear his clothing. ¹¹He must not defile himself by going near a dead body. He may not make himself ceremonially unclean even for his father or mother. ¹²He must not defile the sanctuary of his God by leaving it to attend to a dead person, for he has been made holy by the anointing oil of his God. I am the LORD.

¹³"The high priest may marry only a virgin. ¹⁴He may not marry a widow, a woman who is ¹divorced, or a woman who has defiled herself by prostitution. She must be a virgin from his own clan, ¹⁵so that he will not dishonor his descendants among his clan, for I am the LORD who makes him holy."

¹⁶Then the LORD said to Moses, ¹⁷"Give the following instructions to Aaron: In all future generations, none of your descendants who has any defect will qualify to offer food to his God. ¹⁸No one who has a defect qualifies, whether he is blind, lame, disfigured, deformed, ¹⁹or has a broken foot or arm, ²⁰or is hunchbacked or dwarfed, or has a defective eye, or skin sores or scabs, or damaged testicles. ²¹No descendant of Aaron who has a defect may approach the altar to present special gifts to the LORD. Since he has a defect, he may not approach the altar to offer food to his God. ²²However, he may eat from the food offered to God, including the holy offerings and the most holy offerings. ²³Yet because of his physical defect, he may not enter the room behind the inner curtain or approach the altar, for this would defile my holy places. I am the LORD who makes them holy."

²⁴So Moses gave these instructions to Aaron and his sons and to all the Israelites.

22 The LORD said to Moses, ²"Tell Aaron and his sons to be very careful with the sacred gifts that the Israelites set apart for me, so they do not bring shame on my holy name. I am the LORD. ³Give them the following instructions.

"In all future generations, if any of your descendants is ceremonially unclean when he approaches the sacred offerings that the people of Israel consecrate to the LORD, he must be cut off from my presence. I am the LORD.

⁴"If any of Aaron's descendants has a skin disease or any kind of discharge that makes him ceremonially unclean, he may not eat from the sacred offerings until he has been pronounced clean. He also becomes unclean by touching a corpse, or by having an emission of semen, ⁵or by touching a small animal that is unclean, or by touching someone who is ceremonially unclean for any reason. ⁶The man who is defiled in 21:6 A priest should never bring shame by profaning God's name. • food: See note on 3:11.

21:7 The priest, to lead Israel in worship, had to model the highest standard of conduct for the people both in his personal life and in leadership of his family. He could have no ties to pagan culture (prostitution, 21:9), nor could the legitimacy of his family be questioned (divorce). Similar stringent standards applied to leaders of the early church (1 Tim 3:1-13).

21:8 food: See note on 3:11. • I make you holy: See note on 21:1-22:33.

21:10-15 The restrictions made on the common priests (21:1-4) applied even more stringently to the high priest because he had to represent all Israel, including the other priests. • The priest must never leave his hair uncombed (or never uncover his head) or tear his clothing in mourning, so that he would always be fit to minister. Although the common priest was permitted to marry a widow, the high priest was allowed to marry only a virgin. This made certain that the future high priest and the common priests descended from that union would have an unquestioned lineage (21:15).

21:17-23 See note on 21:5.

21:17, 21 food: See note on 3:11.

21:22 he may eat: Although a mutilation or defect (see 21:18-20) disqualified a descendant of Aaron from representing the people, it did not compromise his priestly lineage. He was eligible to eat the priest's share of the offerings (see 2:3, 10; 6:17-18).

22:2-6 The priest's portions of the sacred offerings were regarded as "most holy" (see 2:3) and were not to come into contact with anything unclean (11:1-15:33). Accordingly, any descendant of Aaron who was unclean was forbidden to eat this food.

22:4 skin disease: Traditionally rendered leprosy; see note on 13:2.

22:5 In Leviticus, the Hebrew word sherets always denotes an unclean small animal that swarms on land or in water (5:2; 11:10, 20-21, 23, 29, 31, 41-44).

any of these ways will remain unclean until evening. He may not eat from the sacred offerings until he has bathed himself in water. ⁷When the sun goes down, he will be ceremonially clean again and may eat from the sacred offerings, for this is his food. ⁸He may not eat an animal that has died a natural death or has been torn apart by wild animals, for this would defile him. I am the LORD.

⁹The priests must follow my instructions carefully. Otherwise they will be punished for their sin and will die for violating my instructions. I am the LORD who makes them holy.

¹⁰No one outside a priest's family may eat the sacred offerings. Even guests and hired workers in a priest's home are not allowed to eat them. ¹¹However, if the priest buys a slave for himself, the slave may eat from the sacred offerings. And if his slaves have children, they also may share his food. ¹²If a priest's daughter marries someone outside the priestly family, she may no longer eat the sacred offerings. ¹³But if she becomes a widow or is ^adivorced and has no children to support her, and she returns to live in her father's home as in her youth, she may eat her father's food again. Otherwise, no one outside a priest's family may eat the sacred offerings.

¹⁴"Any such person who eats the sacred offerings without realizing it must pay the priest for the amount eaten, plus an additional 20 percent. ¹⁵The priests must not let the Israelites defile the sacred offerings brought to the LORD ¹⁶by allowing unauthorized people to eat them. This would bring guilt upon them and require them to pay compensation. I am the LORD who makes them holy."

Worthy and Unworthy Offerings

¹⁷And the LORD said to Moses, ¹⁸"Give Aaron and his sons and all the Israelites these instructions, which apply both to native Israelites and to the foreigners living among you.

"If you present a gift as a burnt offering to the LORD, whether it is to fulfill a vow or is a voluntary offering, ¹⁹you will be accepted only if your offering is a male animal with no defects. It may be a bull, a ram, or a male goat. ²⁰Do not present an animal with defects, because the LORD will not accept it on your behalf.

²¹"If you present a peace offering to the LORD from the herd or the flock, whether it is to fulfill a vow or is a voluntary offering, you must offer a perfect animal. It may have no defect of any kind. ²²You must not offer an animal that is blind, crippled, or injured, or that has a wart, a skin sore, or scabs. Such animals must never be offered on the altar as special gifts to the LORD. ²³If a bull or lamb has a leg that is too long or too short, it may be offered as a voluntary offering, but it may not be offered to fulfill a vow. ²⁴If an animal has damaged testicles or is castrated, you may not offer it to the LORD. You must never do this in your own land, ²⁵and you must not accept such an animal from foreigners and then offer it as a sacrifice to your God. Such animals will not be accepted on your behalf, for they are mutilated or defective."

²⁶And the LORD said to Moses, ²⁷"When a calf or lamb or goat is born, it must be left with its mother for seven days. From the eighth day on, it will be acceptable as a special gift to the LORD. ²⁸But you must not slaughter a mother animal and her offspring on the same day, whether from the herd or the flock. ²⁹When you bring a

22:8
Exod 22:31
Lev 17:15

22:9
Exod 28:43
Lev 18:30
Num 18:1-7

22:10
Exod 29:31-34
Lev 22:13

22:11
Gen 17:13
Exod 12:44

22:13
Lev 22:10
^agarash (1644)
Deut 22:19

22:14
Lev 5:15-16

22:15
Lev 19:8

22:16
Lev 22:9

22:19
Lev 1:3

22:20
Lev 1:3
Deut 15:21
Heb 9:14
1 Pet 1:19

22:25
Lev 21:6, 17

22:28
Deut 22:6

22:8 died a natural death: See note on 17:15-16.

22:9 will die for violating my instructions: As in 10:1-3. The temptation to offer improper offerings persisted throughout Israel's history until after the Exile (Mal 1:6-9).

22:11 The only male outside the priest's family who could eat the priest's share was the priest's slave. He would have no other food if this provision were denied him.

22:14-16 Similar to provisions for the guilt offering, a common person who accidentally ate the priestly portion had to repay 120 percent (see 5:14-16). However, the offering of a ram was not required in this case.

22:15 An Israelite who ate the "most holy" priestly portion as if it were common food would defile it.

22:18 Apparently individuals could present a whole burnt offering instead of a peace offering if they desired (see 1:3).

22:19 you will be accepted: Or it will be accepted.

22:21 A peace offering could function in several ways: as a thanksgiving offering, an offering to fulfill a vow, or a voluntary offering (see 3:1-17).

22:23 The requirements for the voluntary offering were more lenient, allowing the use of a deformed animal. Fulfilling a vow, however, still required an animal that was not maimed or diseased. In no case would God accept a sacrifice that could not be eaten by a person or that was not a whole animal. • bull: Or cow.

22:27 Leaving a newborn animal with its mother for seven days allowed time to determine the animal's health (see Exod 22:30).

22:28 on the same day: There are several possible explanations for this command, although none is certain: (1) Senseless slaughtering would leave nothing of the herd; (2) it would be inhumane to slaughter the young and the mother at the same time; or (3) it would be too similar to pagan worship rites, where the newborn animal was cooked in the milk of its slain mother (see Exod 23:19).

22:29
Lev 7:12
^brodah (8426)
* Josh 7:19

22:30
Lev 7:15

22:31
Lev 19:37

22:33
Lev 11:45

23:2
Lev 23:21
Num 29:39

23:3
Exod 20:8-11; 23:12;
31:15
Deut 5:13-14

23:5
Exod 12:3-20
Deut 16:1-8

23:6
Exod 12:14-20

23:10
Exod 23:19; 34:26

23:13
Lev 6:20

23:15
Num 28:26-31
Deut 16:9-12

^bthanksgiving offering to the LORD, sacrifice it properly so you will be accepted. ³⁰Eat the entire sacrificial animal on the day it is presented. Do not leave any of it until the next morning. I am the LORD.

³¹"You must faithfully keep all my commands by putting them into practice, for I am the LORD. ³²Do not bring shame on my holy name, for I will display my holiness among the people of Israel. I am the LORD who makes you holy. ³³It was I who rescued you from the land of Egypt, that I might be your God. I am the LORD."

The Religious Festivals (23:1-44)

The Appointed Festivals

23 The LORD said to Moses, ²⁴"Give the following instructions to the people of Israel. These are the LORD's appointed festivals, which you are to proclaim as official days for holy assembly.

³⁴"You have six days each week for your ordinary work, but the seventh day is a Sabbath day of complete rest, an official day for holy assembly. It is the LORD's Sabbath day, and it must be observed wherever you live.

⁴⁴"In addition to the Sabbath, these are the LORD's appointed festivals, the official days for holy assembly that are to be celebrated at their proper times each year.

Passover and the Festival of Unleavened Bread

⁵⁴"The LORD's Passover begins at sundown on the fourteenth day of the first month. ⁶⁰On the next day, the fifteenth day of the month, you must begin celebrating the Festival of Unleavened Bread. This festival to the LORD continues for seven days, and during that time the bread you eat must be made without yeast. ⁷⁰On the first day of the festival, all the people must stop their ordinary work and observe an official day for holy assembly. ⁸⁰For seven days you must present special gifts to the LORD. On the seventh day the people must again stop all their ordinary work to observe an official day for holy assembly."

Celebration of First Harvest

⁹Then the LORD said to Moses, ¹⁰"Give the following instructions to the people of Israel. When you enter the land I am giving you and you harvest its first crops, bring the priest a bundle of grain from the first cutting of your grain harvest. ¹¹On the day after the Sabbath, the priest will lift it up before the LORD so it may be accepted on your behalf. ¹²On that same day you must sacrifice a one-year-old male lamb with no defects as a burnt offering to the LORD. ¹³With it you must present a grain offering consisting of four quarts of choice flour moistened with olive oil. It will be a special gift, a pleasing aroma to the LORD. You must also offer one quart of wine as a liquid offering. ¹⁴Do not eat any bread or roasted grain or fresh kernels on that day until you bring this offering to your God. This is a permanent law for you, and it must be observed from generation to generation wherever you live.

The Festival of Harvest

¹⁵"From the day after the Sabbath—the day you bring the bundle of grain to be lifted

23:2 These appointed festivals included occasions for eating, resting, and even fasting. For additional details, see Num 28–29.

23:3 Sabbath: See note on 19:30.

23:5–8 Passover . . . Unleavened Bread: These feasts were instituted on the eve of the Exodus from Egypt (see Exod 12:1–28). Passover was the first of three great festivals (Deut 16:16), followed by the Festival of Harvest (23:15–21) and the Festival of Shelters (23:34–43).

23:5 Passover began at sundown of the fourteenth day of the first month, as the new day was beginning (see note on 11:24–25). This day in the ancient Hebrew lunar calendar occurred in late March or in April. The Passover feast included a roast lamb, bitter salad greens, and bread made without yeast (Exod 12:8), all representing Israel's liberation from Egyptian bondage.

• The first month marked the beginning of the Jewish calendar as late as Ezra

6:19. The month's earliest name, Abib ("spring, fresh grain"; Exod 13:4; 23:15; 34:18; Deut 16:1), was partially replaced by the name Nisan after the Babylonian exile (Neh 2:1; Esth 3:7).

23:6 Following Passover was the Festival of Unleavened Bread, during which Israel ate bread made without yeast (see note on 2:11) to remember the Egyptian slavery that it represented (Deut 16:3).

23:10–14 Just as the burned portion of each sacrifice represented the whole offering and the tithe symbolized that all of a person's money belonged to God, so also the first portions of each harvest, or first crops, symbolized the entire harvest, and even the land itself (25:23), as belonging to the Lord. In the barley harvest, the first portions were offered as part of the Festival of Unleavened Bread (23:6, 10–12). The first portions of the wheat harvest were offered during the Festival of Harvest (23:15–21; Exod 34:22). These gifts to God recognized God's prior gifts to Israel (see 2:1). The entire offering of first crops became the property and food of God's representatives, the priests (see 2:14–16).

23:11 The phrase lift it up symbolizes presenting the grain to the Lord (see note on 7:34).

23:13 four quarts: Hebrew $\frac{3}{4}$ of an ephah [4.4 liters]; also in 23:17. • one quart: Hebrew $\frac{1}{4}$ of a hin [1 liter].

23:14 Israelites could not eat food from the harvest on that day until they acknowledged God's provision by presenting him with the appropriate offering.

23:15–21 This celebration, called the Festival of Harvest (Exod 34:22; Num 28:26) or the Festival of Weeks, was later called the Festival of Pentecost (see Acts 2:1; 20:16; 1 Cor 16:8). It is celebrated today as Shavuot. Israel was to start the count of seven full weeks on the first day of the Festival of Unleavened Bread. The fiftieth day marked the beginning of the Festival of Harvest (the NT name of "Pentecost" is up as a special offering—count off seven full weeks. ¹⁶Keep counting until the day after the seventh Sabbath, fifty days later. Then present an offering of new grain to the LORD. ¹⁷From wherever you live, bring two loaves of bread to be lifted up before the LORD as a special offering. Make these loaves from four quarts of choice flour, and bake them with yeast. They will be an offering to the LORD from the first of your crops. ¹⁸Along with the bread, present seven one-year-old male lambs with no defects, one young bull, and two rams as burnt offerings to the LORD. These burnt offerings, together with the grain offerings and liquid offerings, will be a special gift, a pleasing aroma to the LORD. ¹⁹Then you must offer one male goat as a sin offering and two one-year-old male lambs as a peace offering.

²⁰"The priest will lift up the two lambs as a special offering to the LORD, together with the loaves representing the first of your crops. These offerings, which are holy to the LORD, belong to the priests. ²¹That same day will be proclaimed an official day for holy assembly, a day on which you do no ordinary work. This is a permanent law for you, and it must be observed from generation to generation wherever you live.

²²"When you harvest the crops of your land, do not harvest the grain along the edges of your fields, and do not pick up what the harvesters drop. Leave it for the poor and the foreigners living among you. I am the LORD your God."

The Festival of Trumpets

²³The LORD said to Moses, ²⁴"Give the following instructions to the people of Israel.

23:19
Lev 3:1
Num 28:30

23:20
Exod 29:24

23:22
Lev 19:9-10
Deut 24:19-21

23:24
Num 10:9-10; 29:1

Concern for the Poor (23:22)

Lev 5:7, 11; 14:21-22; 19:9-10
Exod 22:22-27;
23:6-11
Deut 10:17-19;
15:4-11; 16:9-12;
24:6-22; 26:12-13;
27:17-19
1 Sam 2:8
Ps 10:13-18; 35:10;
68:5
Prov 14:31
Isa 1:15-17
Amos 2:6; 4:1; 8:4-7
Mic 6:6-8, 12
Mark 12:41-44
Luke 6:20; 14:12-14
Jas 2:1-17

God commanded Israel to show concern for its people's well-being. Israel's covenant with God, together with its self-concept as an extended family, exerted a leveling effect that resisted pretensions to privilege. A family should provide for members who are facing difficulty. These members of the Israelite people included widows and orphans (Exod 22:22), the poor, and foreigners (19:10). In 19:9-10, the edges of the fields and the gleanings of field and vineyard were to be left for the needy (see 23:22). The crops that grew spontaneously each Sabbath year and Jubilee year were allocated to the poor and the foreigner (25:1-55). Those who were destitute were not to be victimized. Instead, loans were to be made at no charge, or the debtor was to be allowed to work off his debt with dignity as a bondservant (25:35-42). These positive steps ensured that the poor had food to eat.

The Bible first mentions concern for the poor in the radical accommodations of the offering system to those unable to afford more costly offerings. Birds could substitute for lambs in the whole burnt offering (1:14-17) and the sin offering (5:7-10), and there were other such concessions in the cleansing rituals (14:21-22). Perhaps the most striking is in the substitution of flour for the sin offering (5:11-13). The life-for-a-life symbolism is forfeited for economic reasons, showing clearly God's desire that the poor who cannot afford a lamb should nonetheless experience forgiveness of sins.

This theme is continued in the prophets' concern for the poor and helpless (e.g., Isa 1:17) and their pleas for social justice and compassion (e.g., Amos 2:6; 4:1; 8:4). Their concern was for a worship that was not geared to formalities, but to a proper attitude toward God and one's fellow human beings (e.g., Isa 1:15-20; Mic 6:6-8). The prophets regarded the wealthy and powerful with suspicion, often questioning their morality (e.g., Mic 6:12). Likewise in the Gospels, greater respect is paid to the widow's offering, not because of its monetary value, but because of the devotion it represented (Mark 12:41-44).

derived from the Greek word for "fifty"). For this festival the people were to offer the first portions of the wheat harvest. Each person was also required to take three quarts of fine flour and bake two loaves of yeast bread. These offerings were then presented to the priest officiating at the sanctuary. See also note on Exod 23:16.

23:18 burnt offerings: See note on 1:3-17. • grain offerings: See note on 2:1-16. • The liquid offerings probably consisted of two quarts of wine (see Exod 29:40; Num 15:5, 10). • pleasing aroma to the LORD: See note on 1:9.

23:19 sin offering: See note on 4:3-21.

• peace offering: See note on 3:1-17.

23:20 lift up: See notes on 7:34; 23:11.

23:22 along the edges . . . what the harvesters drop: See note on 19:9-10.

• foreigners: See note on 16:29.

23:24 On the first day of the appointed month in early autumn: Literally On the first day of the seventh month. This day in the ancient Hebrew lunar calendar occurred in September or October. This festival is celebrated today as Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish new year. The Israelite calendar was divided into two half-years. The first half-year began with the first month, Nisan (Babylonian name) or Abib (the more ancient agriculture name). The second half-year began with the seventh month (Tishri in the modern Jewish calendar). The celebration of this holiday marked the beginning of the second half-year (see chart, "Israel's Annual Calendar," at p. 145).

Festival	References	When	Description	See also
Sabbath	23:3	Every 7 th day	A weekly day of rest from all work, commemorating God's rest from the work of creation and his rescue of Israel from slavery; its observance brought blessing to the individual and the community	Gen 2:1-3; Exod 16:29; 20:8-11; 31:13-17; 35:2-3; Num 15:32-36; 28:9-10; Deut 5:12-15; Neh 13:15-22; Ps 92:TITLE; Isa 56:2-6; 58:13-14; Jer 17:21-27; Ezek 20:12-26; 44:24; Matt 12:1-13; Luke 13:10-17; John 5:10-18; 7:21-24; 9:13-16; Acts 17:2; 18:4; Col 2:16-17; Heb 4:1-11; Rev 14:13
New Moon	Num 28:11-15	1 st day of every month	Special sacrifices and a feast to remind Israel of God's faithful provision for his people	1 Sam 20:5-34; 1 Chr 23:28-31; Neh 10:32-33; Ps 81:3; Isa 1:13-14; Col 2:16-17
Sabbath Year	25:1-7	Every 7 th year	A Sabbath rest for the land by not cultivating or harvesting	Exod 21:2-9; 23:10-11; Deut 15:1-6, 12-18; Neh 10:31; Jer 34:8-22
Jubilee Year	25:8-17	Every 50 th year, counted from the Day of Atonement	An additional SABBATH YEAR; land reverted to its ancestral owners, debts were forgiven, and slaves were freed	25:27-28; 25:39-55; 27:16-25; Ezek 46:16-17
Annual Festivals
Passover	23:5	14 th day of 1 st month (Mar-Apr)	Commemoration of God's sparing the Israelites when he killed the firstborn of Egypt; marked by a special meal and sacrificial blood on the doorposts	Exod 12:1-14; Num 9:1-14; Deut 16:1-8; 2 Chr 35:1-19; Luke 22:1, 7-13; John 1:29; 1 Cor 11:23-26
Unleavened Bread*	23:6-8	15 th -21 st days of 1 st month (Mar-Apr)	A pilgrimage festival * commemorating Israel's departure from Egypt. Bread without yeast was eaten for seven days, with a holy assembly on the first and last days.	Exod 12:15-20; 23:14-15; Num 28:16-25; Deut 16:1-8; Acts 12:3; 1 Cor 5:7-8
First Harvest (Firstfruits)	23:9-14	The day following the Sabbath during the FESTIVAL OF UNLEAVENED BREAD	Offering of new grain to celebrate the beginning of the grain harvest; commemoration of Israel's entry into the Promised Land	Exod 23:19; Deut 26:1-11; 1 Cor 15:20-23
Harvest* (Weeks, Pentecost)	23:15-22	50 th day after FIRST HARVEST, at the end of the grain harvest	A pilgrimage festival * of thanksgiving and covenant renewal with a celebratory offering of new grain.	Exod 23:16; 34:22; Num 28:26; Deut 16:9-12; Acts 2:1-47
Trumpets (Rosh Hashanah)	23:23-25	1 st day (New Moon) of 7 th month (Sep-Oct)	A special Sabbath observed with a holy assembly and loud trumpet blasts	Num 29:1-6
Day of Atonement (Yom Kippur)	16:1-34; 23:26-32	10 th day of 7 th month (Sep-Oct)	The year's most solemn day; a special Sabbath and fast when the high priest made atonement for all Israel's sins	25:8-10; Num 29:7-11; note on Acts 27:9; Heb 9:6-10:22; cp. Ezek 36:25-27; Zech 13:1; Eph 1:7; Col 1:20
Shelters* (Final Harvest, Tabernacles, Booths, Ingathering, Succoth)	23:33-43	15 th -21 st days of 7 th month (Sep-Oct)	Celebration of the last harvest of the year. A pilgrimage festival * to commemorate Israel's living in temporary shelters in the wilderness	Exod 23:16; Deut 16:13-17; Neh 8:13-18; Zech 14:16-19; John 7:2-39
added later:
Purim (Lots)	Esth 9:1-32	14 th or 15 th day of 12 th month (Feb-Mar)	Feasting, celebration, and gift-giving to commemorate God's rescue of the Jews from their enemies through Esther	The Book of Esther
Dedication (Hanukkah, Lights)	John 10:22	25 th -31 st days of 9 th month (Nov-Dec)	Commemoration of the Temple's rededication in 164 BC after being defiled by Antiochus IV Epiphanes	1 Maccabees 4:36-59; 2 Maccabees 10:1-8

▲ Israel's Festivals (23:1-44).

* Pilgrimage festivals were national gatherings in Jerusalem (Deut 16:16-17). See also chart, "Israel's Annual Calendar," p. 145.

On the first day of the appointed month in early autumn, you are to observe a day of complete rest. It will be an official day for holy assembly, a day commemorated with loud blasts of a trumpet. ²⁵You must do no ordinary work on that day. Instead, you are to present special gifts to the LORD."

The Day of Atonement

²⁶Then the LORD said to Moses, ²⁷"Be careful to celebrate the Day of Atonement on the tenth day of that same month—nine days after the Festival of Trumpets. You must observe it as an official day for holy assembly, a day to deny yourselves and present special gifts to the LORD. ²⁸Do no work during that entire day because it is the Day of Atonement, when offerings of purification are made for you, making you right with the LORD your God. ²⁹All who do not deny themselves that day will be cut off from God's people. ³⁰And I will destroy anyone among you who does any work on that day. ³¹You must not do any work at all! This is a permanent law for you, and it must be observed from generation to generation wherever you live. ³²This will be a Sabbath day of complete rest for you, and on that day you must deny yourselves. This day of 'rest will begin at sundown on the ninth day of the month and extend until sundown on the tenth day."

The Festival of Shelters

³³And the LORD said to Moses, ³⁴"Give the following instructions to the people of Israel. Begin celebrating the Festival of Shelters on the fifteenth day of the appointed month—five days after the Day of Atonement. This festival to the LORD will last for seven days. ³⁵On the first day of the festival you must proclaim an official day for holy assembly, when you do no ordinary work. ³⁶For seven days you must present special gifts to the LORD. The eighth day is another holy day on which you present your special gifts to the LORD. This will be a solemn occasion, and no ordinary work may be done that day.

³⁷("These are the LORD's appointed festivals. Celebrate them each year as official days for holy assembly by presenting special gifts to the LORD—burnt offerings, grain offerings, sacrifices, and liquid offerings—each on its proper day. ³⁸These festivals must be observed in addition to the LORD's regular Sabbath days, and the offerings are in addition to your personal gifts, the offerings you give to fulfill your vows, and the voluntary offerings you present to the LORD.)

³⁹"Remember that this seven-day festival to the LORD—the Festival of Shelters—begins on the fifteenth day of the appointed month, after you have harvested all the produce of the land. The first day and the eighth day of the festival will be days of complete rest. ⁴⁰On the first day gather branches from magnificent trees—palm fronds, boughs from leafy trees, and willows that grow by the streams. Then celebrate with joy before the LORD your God for seven days. ⁴¹You must observe this festival to the LORD for seven days every year. This is a permanent law for you, and it must be observed in the appointed month from generation to generation. ⁴²For seven days you must live outside in little shelters. All native-born Israelites must live in shelters. ⁴³This will remind each new generation of Israelites that I made their ancestors live in

23:25
Lev 23:7

23:27
Lev 16:29-30

23:28
Lev 23:7

23:29
Gen 17:14

23:32
Lev 16:31
'shabbath' (7676)
• Lev 25:2

23:33-34
Num 29:12-39
Deut 16:13-16
Ezra 3:4
Neh 8:14
Zech 14:16
John 7:2

23:35
Lev 23:7

23:36
Num 29:12-38

23:37
Lev 23:2

23:38
Num 29:39

23:40
Neh 8:15

23:43
Deut 16:13-15
Ps 78:1-8

23:27-29 deny yourselves . . . deny themselves: See note on 16:29.

23:27 The Day of Atonement was the most solemn day in the Israelite calendar and the only day of fasting (Lev 16). The high priest made atonement for the corporate sin of the people, laying the theological foundation for the atonement made by Jesus Christ (Heb 9:11-12). • on the tenth day of that same month—nine days after the Festival of Trumpets: Literally on the tenth day of the seventh month; see 23:24 and the note there. This day in the ancient Hebrew lunar calendar occurred in September or October. It is celebrated today as Yom Kippur. • to deny yourselves: Or to fast; similarly in 23:29, 32.

23:28 when offerings of purification are made for you, making you right with: Or when atonement is made for you before: see notes on 1:4; 4:20.

23:29-30 cut off . . . destroy: See note on 7:20-21; cp. Exod 31:14, 15; 35:2.

23:34-43 During the Festival of Shelters, the Israelites lived in temporary shelters for seven days. This commemorated the time they had spent in tents and other temporary shelters during the wilderness wanderings and also recalled God's faithfulness to them during those times. For a list of sacrifices to be offered each day, see Num 29:12-34.

23:34 Festival of Shelters (Hebrew suk-koth): Or Festival of Booths, or Festival of Tabernacles. This was earlier called the Festival of the Final Harvest or Festival of Ingathering (see Exod 23:16b). It is celebrated today as Sukkot (or Succoth).

• on the fifteenth day of the appointed month—five days after the Day of Atonement: Literally on the fifteenth day of the seventh month; see 23:27 and note.

23:38 offerings: See note on 7:16-18.

23:39 the appointed month: Literally the seventh month. • after you have harvested all the produce: The Festival of Shelters was also called the Festival of Final Harvest (Exod 34:22) because all of the unharvested fruit and vegetables were gathered.

23:40 gather branches from magnificent trees: Or gather fruit from majestic trees.

23:41 the appointed month: Literally the seventh month.

23:43 The Israelites were never to forget God's great acts of redemption on their behalf, but were to remind each new generation of what God had done (Deut 4:9; 11:19). Their understanding of who they were and of who God was

23:44

Lev 23:37

24:2

Exod 27:20-21

24:4

Exod 25:31

24:5-6

Exod 25:30; 40:23

Lev 23:13

Heb 9:2

24:9

Lev 6:16-17

Matt 12:4

24:11

Exod 22:28

Job 1:11; 2:5

Isa 8:21

24:14

Lev 20:2, 27

Deut 13:9; 17:7;

21:21

24:15

Exod 22:28

24:17

Gen 9:5-6

Exod 21:12, 14

Num 35:30-31

Deut 19:11-12

24:18

Lev 24:21

shelters when I rescued them from the land of Egypt. I am the LORD your God."

⁴⁴So Moses gave the Israelites these instructions regarding the annual festivals of the LORD.

Provision for the Tabernacle (24:1-9)

24 The LORD said to Moses, ²"Command the people of Israel to bring you pure oil of pressed olives for the light, to keep the lamps burning continually. ³This is the lampstand that stands in the Tabernacle, in front of the inner curtain that shields the Ark of the Covenant. Aaron must keep the lamps burning in the LORD's presence all night. This is a permanent law for you, and it must be observed from generation to generation. ⁴Aaron and the priests must tend the lamps on the pure gold lampstand continually in the LORD's presence.

⁵"You must bake twelve flat loaves of bread from choice flour, using four quarts of flour for each loaf. ⁶Place the bread before the LORD on the pure gold table, and arrange the loaves in two stacks, with six loaves in each stack. ⁷Put some pure frankincense near each stack to serve as a representative offering, a special gift presented to the LORD. ⁸Every Sabbath day this bread must be laid out before the LORD as a gift from the Israelites; it is an ongoing expression of the eternal covenant. ⁹The loaves of bread will belong to Aaron and his descendants, who must eat them in a sacred place, for they are most holy. It is the permanent right of the priests to claim this portion of the special gifts presented to the LORD."

The Penalty for Blasphemy (24:10-23)

¹⁰One day a man who had an Israelite mother and an Egyptian father came out of his tent and got into a fight with one of the Israelite men. ¹¹During the fight, this son of an Israelite woman blasphemed the Name of the LORD with a curse. So the man was brought to Moses for judgment. His mother was Shelomith, the daughter of Dibri of the tribe of Dan. ¹²They kept the man in custody until the LORD's will in the matter should become clear to them.

¹³Then the LORD said to Moses, ¹⁴"Take the blasphemer outside the camp, and tell all those who heard the curse to lay their hands on his head. Then let the entire community stone him to death. ¹⁵Say to the people of Israel: Those who curse their God will be punished for their sin. ¹⁶Anyone who blasphemes the Name of the LORD must be stoned to death by the whole community of Israel. Any native-born Israelite or foreigner among you who blasphemes the Name of the LORD must be put to death.

¹⁷"Anyone who takes another person's life must be put to death.

¹⁸"Anyone who kills another person's animal must pay for it in full—a live animal for the animal that was killed.

¹⁹"Anyone who injures another person must be dealt with according to the injury revolved around their knowledge of those things. See Deut 6:20-24; 26:5-9; Josh 24:2-13; Ps 136.

24:3 in the Tabernacle, in front of the inner curtain that shields the Ark of the Covenant: Literally in the Tent of Meeting, outside the inner curtain of the Testimony; see Exod 26:31-33; also see notes on 1:1; 4:6; 16:13.

24:5 Traditionally called the "shewbread" (KJV), twelve flat loaves (see Exod 25:30) of this bread, the "Bread of the Presence," were to be placed on the table in the Holy Place each Sabbath (Exod 25:23-30). This bread was considered part of the priest's portion of the offerings. David and his men ate this bread while fleeing from Saul (1 Sam 21:1-6; see Matt 12:1-8). • four quarts: Hebrew $\frac{1}{4}$ of an ephah [4.4 liters].

24:7 Since a portion of this bread was to be burned as a representative offering (see 2:2), it would have been made without yeast (that is, unleavened; see 2:11).

24:10-23 A large body of non-Israelites, including other Semitic people as well as Egyptians, came out of Egypt with Israel (Exod 12:38). Among them was a man of mixed parentage, whose mother was an Israelite and whose father was an Egyptian. A quarrel broke out between the man and a full-blooded Israelite. In the altercation, the man who was half-Egyptian verbally cursed the Israelite, using the name of God in an irreverent manner.

24:11 blasphemed . . . with a curse: In biblical times, a name was more than a means of identification; it represented a person's character, reputation, and origin. God is holy, and he was to be regarded as holy in all of Israel's life (see 10:3). The Israelites had been instructed to treat God's name with reverence (Exod 20:7). Using his name in a curse reflected a sinful attitude toward God himself (24:15), and it deserved death (24:13-16). The wording in the Hebrew text is very strong: Two verbs meaning "curse" are used, one that indicated a more formal type of curse, the other a blasphemous or irreverent expression. The two terms are synonymous in 24:15-16. • the Name of the LORD (literally the Name; also in 24:16): The Hebrew text refers simply to "the Name" to reflect care and reverence for God's name.

24:14 Those who heard a blasphemer curse were to lay their hands on his head. This indicated their own innocence by symbolically transferring the guilt (see 16:21), as well as their willingness to accept responsibility for the blasphemer's death. A single witness was not enough to cause a man to die (see Num 35:30; Deut 17:2-7; Matt 18:16; 2 Cor 13:1; 1 Tim 5:19; Heb 10:28).

24:17 Because human life was patterned after the life of God himself (Gen 1:26, 27), murder was a blasphemous act. It required the same penalty as oral blasphemy (Gen 9:6). For a similar law and its qualifiers, see Exod 21:12-14.

inflicted—²⁰a fracture for a fracture, an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth. Whatever anyone does to injure another person must be paid back in kind.

²¹"Whoever kills an animal must pay for it in full, but whoever kills another person must be put to death.

²²"This same standard applies both to native-born Israelites and to the foreigners living among you. I am the LORD your God."

²³After Moses gave all these instructions to the Israelites, they took the blasphemer outside the camp and stoned him to death. The Israelites did just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

The Sabbath Year and the Year of Jubilee (25:1-55)

The Sabbath Year

25 While Moses was on Mount Sinai, the LORD said to him, ²"Give the following instructions to the people of Israel. When you have entered the land I am giving you, the land itself must observe a ³Sabbath rest before the LORD every seventh year. ⁴For six years you may plant your fields and prune your vineyards and harvest your crops, ⁵but during the seventh year the land must have a Sabbath year of complete rest. It is the LORD's Sabbath. Do not plant your fields or prune your vineyards during that year. ⁶And don't store away the crops that grow on their own or gather the grapes from your unpruned vines. The land must have a year of complete rest. ⁷But you may eat whatever the land produces on its own during its Sabbath. This applies to you, your male and female ⁸servants, your hired workers, and the temporary residents who live with you. ⁹Your livestock and the wild animals in your land will also be allowed to eat what the land produces.

The Year of Jubilee

⁸"In addition, you must count off seven Sabbath years, seven sets of seven years, adding up to forty-nine years in all. ⁹Then on the Day of Atonement in the fiftieth year, blow the ram's horn loud and long throughout the land. ¹⁰Set this year apart as holy, a time to proclaim freedom throughout the land for all who live there. It will be a jubilee year for you, when each of you may return to the land that belonged to your ancestors and return to your own clan. ¹¹This fiftieth year will be a jubilee for you. During that year you must not plant your fields or store away any of the crops that grow on their own, and don't gather the grapes from your unpruned vines. ¹²It will be a jubilee year for you, and you must keep it holy. But you may eat whatever the land produces on its own. ¹³In the Year of Jubilee each of you may return to the land that belonged to your ancestors.

24:20
Exod 21:24-25
Deut 19:21
Matt 5:38
24:21
Lev 24:17-18
24:22
Exod 12:49
Num 15:15-16, 29
25:2
Exod 23:11
⁸*Sabbath* (7676)
• Num 15:32
25:3
Exod 23:10
25:4
Lev 25:20-21
25:5
2 Kgs 19:29
25:6
Lev 25:20-21
⁹*shab* (5650)
• Lev 25:39
25:9
Num 10:10
25:10
Lev 25:8-16, 28-54
Isa 61:1
Jer 34:8, 15, 17
Luke 4:18-19
25:13
Lev 25:10, 24-31

24:20 eye for an eye: The legal principle involved is often called lex talionis ("law of retaliation"), which is that the penalty must fit the crime. When an injured party sought revenge on behalf of his kinsman (see Num 35:19-21), excessive revenge naturally ensued instead of appropriate justice. This provoked even greater retaliation, resulting in a cycle of increasing violence. Lex talionis served to regulate the prosecution of crimes (see also 6:2-7; cp. Exod 21:24; Lev 24:20; Deut 19:21; Matt 5:28-39).

24:22 Although foreigners were not citizens, they were human beings entitled to equal justice under the law (see 16:29, 31).

25:1-55 Just as seven days equaled a week ending in a Sabbath day, each seven years ended with a Sabbath year. Likewise, after seven Sabbath years (i.e., 49 years total) came a special year, the Year of Jubilee. Like so many holidays, these occasions were times of reflection on Israel's corporate identity and how they were shaped by their relationship with God. Because every Israelite, bond or free, had a part in God's kingdom, those bound in servitude were freed in the Year of Jubilee (25:39-43). In order to curb economic hardship and foster well-being, land sales were limited to a maximum term of fifty years. The land was then to be returned to the original owner's family or clan. The land belonged to the Lord; the Israelites were merely tenants (25:23). It is unlikely, however, that these laws saw much use; the best land fell into the hands of rich landowners (Isa 5:8-10; cp. Amos 5:11).

25:2-7 During the year of Sabbath rest, there was to be no formal cultivation or harvesting of the land; from what grew on its own the landowner could gather what he needed for his household day by day. Whatever remained uneaten was left for the poor and for foreigners (Exod 23:10-11), and what they left provided food for both wild and domestic animals. See also Exod 21:2; Deut 15:1-11.

25:4 land must have a Sabbath year: The principle behind the Sabbath (see note on 19:30) was that God rested and therefore man rests. Here the principle was extended to the land.

25:8-17 The Year of Jubilee took place every fiftieth year as a release from obligations and servitude. The same year was also treated as a Sabbath year with no farming. Some scholars argue that the forty-ninth year served as both Sabbath (seventh) and jubilee (fiftieth) years. A simple count of fifty years would place the Year of Jubilee immediately after the seventh Sabbath year, which would mean two consecutive years without harvests. • Each Year of Jubilee the land was to revert to the clan or tribe that had originally received it under Joshua (Josh 13-21). Land had two functions: (1) It provided an economic basis for existence; and (2) it tied the landowner to his ancestors and, through them, to the land allocation under Joshua and even to the covenant with Moses. The return of the land was to prevent powerful land monopolies that would close out the poor.

25:9 on the Day of Atonement in the fiftieth year: Literally on the tenth day of the seventh month, on the Day of Atonement; see 23:27 and note. See also 16:1-34.

25:10 proclaim freedom throughout the land for all who live there: See 25:39-43, 47-55. • return to the land that belonged to your ancestors: If the individual who originally owned the land had died, the land was returned to his heirs.

25:11-12 All the regulations of the Sabbath year also applied to the Year of Jubilee.

25:14

Lev 25:17

25:17

lyare' (3372)

Deut 5:5

25:23

Exod 19:5

1 Chr 29:15

25:25

Ruth 2:20; 4:4, 6

Jer 32:7

ga'al (1350)

Lev 27:13

25:27

Lev 25:50-52

25:28

Lev 25:10, 13

25:34

Num 35:2-5

¹⁴"When you make an agreement with your neighbor to buy or sell property, you must not take advantage of each other. ¹⁵When you buy land from your neighbor, the price you pay must be based on the number of years since the last jubilee. The seller must set the price by taking into account the number of years remaining until the next Year of Jubilee. ¹⁶The more years until the next jubilee, the higher the price; the fewer years, the lower the price. After all, the person selling the land is actually selling you a certain number of harvests. ¹⁷Show your fear of God by not taking advantage of each other. I am the LORD your God.

¹⁸"If you want to live securely in the land, follow my decrees and obey my regulations. ¹⁹Then the land will yield large crops, and you will eat your fill and live securely in it. ²⁰But you might ask, 'What will we eat during the seventh year, since we are not allowed to plant or harvest crops that year?' ²¹Be assured that I will send my blessing for you in the sixth year, so the land will produce a crop large enough for three years. ²²When you plant your fields in the eighth year, you will still be eating from the large crop of the sixth year. In fact, you will still be eating from that large crop when the new crop is harvested in the ninth year.

Redemption of Property

²³"The land must never be sold on a permanent basis, for the land belongs to me. You are only foreigners and tenant farmers working for me.

²⁴"With every purchase of land you must grant the seller the right to buy it back. ²⁵If one of your fellow Israelites falls into poverty and is forced to sell some family land, then a close relative should buy it back for him. ²⁶If there is no close relative to buy the land, but the person who sold it gets enough money to buy it back, ²⁷he then has the right to redeem it from the one who bought it. The price of the land will be discounted according to the number of years until the next Year of Jubilee. In this way the original owner can then return to the land. ²⁸But if the original owner cannot afford to buy back the land, it will remain with the new owner until the next Year of Jubilee. In the jubilee year, the land must be returned to the original owners so they can return to their family land.

²⁹"Anyone who sells a house inside a walled town has the right to buy it back for a full year after its sale. During that year, the seller retains the right to buy it back. ³⁰But if it is not bought back within a year, the sale of the house within the walled town cannot be reversed. It will become the permanent property of the buyer. It will not be returned to the original owner in the Year of Jubilee. ³¹But a house in a village—a settlement without fortified walls—will be treated like property in the countryside. Such a house may be bought back at any time, and it must be returned to the original owner in the Year of Jubilee.

³²"The Levites always have the right to buy back a house they have sold within the towns allotted to them. ³³And any property that is sold by the Levites—all houses within the Levitical towns—must be returned in the Year of Jubilee. After all, the houses in the towns reserved for the Levites are the only property they own in all Israel. ³⁴The open pastureland around the 25:15-16 the number of years: The law did not allow the land to be sold in perpetuity. It was God's, and Israel was simply permitted to use it (25:23). However, if the owner was forced to give it up due to financial distress, it could be leased for up to forty-nine years (until the next jubilee). The price was adjusted according to the length of the lease. At the end of that time, the land was to revert to the family of the original owner.

25:18-22 See note on 25:4.

25:23 the land belongs to me: Israel's ownership of the land was derivative, not absolute—ownership depended on the covenant, in which God himself allotted them the land (Deut 1:8, 39). The ideas of land stewardship and of sharing material resources stem naturally from this concept of God's ownership.

25:25 The Hebrew word translated buy it back (ga'al) is often translated "redeem." It means "to restore something to its original or proper state of existence." The noun derived from this root (go'el) indicates the close relative who will restore what is out of order. The relative's duties were to redeem the property of his kinsman and keep it in the family (see Ruth 4:1-4; Jer 32:6-15); to seek out the murderer of his kinsman and bring him to justice (Num 35:19); and to marry his brother's widow and father a male heir to inherit the estate of his dead kinsman (Deut 25:5-10; see Gen 38:6-30; Ruth 4:9-10).

25:29-31 A house in an unwallled village was apparently considered the same as land. It could be bought back, and if not, ownership reverted in the Year of Jubilee to the family of the individual who sold it. No farm or grazing acreage was involved in the sale of a house inside a walled town. Because such a house could be built on the town wall without having to rest on the earth (Josh 2:15), there was no land to redeem. Therefore, it could not be bought back unless the new owner desired to sell it, nor did it revert to the original owner in the Year of Jubilee.

25:32-34 The tribe of Levi could not inherit tribal territory because, as the priestly tribe, they were scattered throughout the land (Deut 18:1; see Gen 49:5-7; Num 35:1-8; Josh 21:1-42). The Levites could inherit only certain cities and the pasturelands surrounding them (Num 35:2). Therefore, they were an exception to the rules regarding land ownership, and their meager holdings were carefully protected. Their houses could be redeemed even in walled cities, and the pasturelands outside their towns could not be sold.

Levitical towns may never be sold. It is their permanent possession.

Redemption of the Poor and Enslaved

³⁵"If one of your fellow Israelites falls into poverty and cannot support himself, support him as you would a foreigner or a temporary resident and allow him to live with you. ³⁶Do not charge interest or make a profit at his expense. Instead, show your fear of God by letting him live with you as your relative. ³⁷Remember, do not charge interest on money you lend him or make a profit on food you sell him. ³⁸I am the LORD your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt to give you the land of Canaan and to be your God.

³⁹"If one of your fellow Israelites falls into poverty and is forced to sell himself to you, do not treat him as a ⁴⁰slave. ⁴⁰Treat him instead as a hired worker or as a temporary resident who lives with you, and he will serve you only until the Year of Jubilee. ⁴¹At that time he and his children will no longer be obligated to you, and they will return to their clans and go back to the land originally allotted to their ancestors. ⁴²The people of Israel are my servants, whom I brought out of the land of Egypt, so they must never be sold as slaves. ⁴³Show your fear of God by not treating them harshly.

⁴⁴"However, you may purchase male and female ⁴⁵slaves from among the nations around you. ⁴⁵You may also purchase the children of temporary residents who live among you, including those who have been born in your land. You may treat them as your property, ⁴⁶passing them on to your children as a permanent inheritance. You may treat them as slaves, but you must never treat your fellow Israelites this way.

⁴⁷"Suppose a foreigner or temporary resident becomes rich while living among you. If any of your fellow Israelites fall into poverty and are forced to sell themselves to such a foreigner or to a member of his family, ⁴⁸they still retain the right to be bought back, even after they have been purchased. They may be bought back by a brother, ⁴⁹an uncle, or a cousin. In fact, anyone from the extended family may buy them back. They may also redeem themselves if they have prospered. ⁵⁰They will negotiate the price of their freedom with the person who bought them. The price will be based on the number of years from the time they were sold until the next Year of Jubilee—whatever it would cost to hire a worker for that period of time. ⁵¹If many years still remain until the jubilee, they will repay the proper proportion of what they received when they sold themselves. ⁵²If only a few years remain until the Year of Jubilee, they will repay a small amount for their redemption. ⁵³The foreigner must treat them as workers hired on a yearly basis. You must not allow a foreigner to treat any of your fellow Israelites harshly. ⁵⁴If any Israelites have not been bought back by the time the Year of Jubilee arrives, they and their children must be set free at that time. ⁵⁵For the people of Israel belong to me. They are my servants, whom I brought out of the land of Egypt. I am the LORD your God.

25:35
Deut 15:7-11
Prov 21:26

25:36
Exod 22:25
Deut 23:19-20

25:38
Lev 11:45

25:39
Exod 21:2-11
Deut 15:12-18
^{h'ebd} (5650)
+ Lev 25:44

25:40
Lev 25:53

25:43
Col 4:1

25:44
^{h'ebd} (5650)
+ Deut 23:15

25:46
Lev 25:40, 53

25:48
Neh 5:5

25:49
Lev 25:26

25:50
Job 7:1

25:53
Lev 25:40, 46

25:54
Lev 25:10, 13, 28

25:35 An impoverished Israelite first looked to his family for help (see note on 25:25). Second, he relied on the community, which was commanded to help him rather than exploit his vulnerability.

25:36-37 The purpose of a loan was to help a poor man get back on his feet, not to make money from his vulnerability. Interest was forbidden on loans to Israelites, but permitted on loans to foreigners (Deut 23:19-20).

25:38 The mention of the land of Egypt reminded the Israelites that they had been slaves at one time. They were to help the poor among them because of God's covenant relationship with them (cp. Exod 20:2 and Deut 5:6, where God's covenant with them is initiated).

25:40 The terms hired worker . . . temporary resident appear in parallel, suggesting they were similar in Israel's socioeconomic system. Both terms describe day laborers who had no land and depended on landowners to hire them (see Matt 20:1-16; also see note on 19:13). • Jubilee: See note on 25:8-17.

25:42 The same Hebrew word is translated as both servants and slaves. Because the Israelites were God's slaves/servants, they could not be slaves/servants to other human beings, except temporarily to work off a debt.

25:43 As human beings created in God's image (Gen 1:26, 27; Prov 14:31; 17:5) and as fellow Israelites in covenant with God, even bondservants were to be treated with respect. God's law includes numerous provisions for their protection (see Exod 21:20, 26-27). All human beings must be treated in a way that reflects reverence for God (see Prov 14:31; 17:5; Jas 2:14-16; 3:9-10).

25:44-46 Slaves in Mesopotamia and Egypt were little more than chattel, with no protection or rights. Israelites were allowed to purchase non-Israelites as slaves, but they were to be treated well and not abused. Occasionally some slaves were even adopted into childless families (Gen 15:2-4). Slavery continued into NT times, but the foundations had been laid for its dissolution in the OT doctrine of the common origins of all mankind through God. Slavery stemmed from the Fall, when relationships based on power replaced those of fellowship and communication (see Gen 3:16). In the NT, believers uphold the ideas of fellowship and communication by accepting the title "Christ's slave" or "servant" (Rom 1:1; Col 4:12; 2 Pet 1:1). In Paul's doctrine of the body of Christ (1 Cor 12:27; Eph 4:12), all believers acquired a common identity (Gal 3:28; Col 3:11; Phlm 1:16).

25:47-55 An Israelite who sold himself or a family member to a foreigner in Israel retained the right to buy himself or the family member back. If he could not find the resources to do that, he was not released during the seventh year (cp. Exod 21:2), but had to await

26:1
Exod 20:4; 34:17
Lev 19:4
Num 33:52

26:2
Exod 20:8-11

26:4
Lev 25:19
Deut 11:14-15

26:6
Ps 29:11

26:8
Deut 28:7; 32:30

26:9
Gen 17:6-7

26:10
Lev 25:22

26:11
Exod 29:45-46

26:12
Exod 6:7
*2 Cor 6:16

26:13
Exod 20:2

26:16
Deut 28:22, 33, 65-67;
32:23-25

26:17
Lev 26:36-37
Deut 28:25
Ps 106:41
Prov 28:1

26:18
Lev 26:21, 24, 28

26:19
Deut 28:23
Isa 25:11; 26:5

26:20
Ps 127:1

Blessings for Obedience and Curses for Disobedience (26:1-46)

26“Do not make idols or set up carved images, or sacred pillars, or sculptured stones in your land so you may worship them. I am the LORD your God. ²You must keep my Sabbath days of rest and show reverence for my sanctuary. I am the LORD.

³“If you follow my decrees and are careful to obey my commands, ⁴I will send you the seasonal rains. The land will then yield its crops, and the trees of the field will produce their fruit. ⁵Your threshing season will overlap with the grape harvest, and your grape harvest will overlap with the season of planting grain. You will eat your fill and live securely in your own land.

⁶“I will give you peace in the land, and you will be able to sleep with no cause for fear. I will rid the land of wild animals and keep your enemies out of your land. ⁷In fact, you will chase down your enemies and slaughter them with your swords. ⁸Five of you will chase a hundred, and a hundred of you will chase ten thousand! All your enemies will fall beneath your sword.

⁹“I will look favorably upon you, making you fertile and multiplying your people. And I will fulfill my covenant with you. ¹⁰You will have such a surplus of crops that you will need to clear out the old grain to make room for the new harvest! ¹¹I will live among you, and I will not despise you. ¹²I will walk among you; I will be your God, and you will be my people. ¹³I am the LORD your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt so you would no longer be their slaves. I broke the yoke of slavery from your neck so you can walk with your heads held high.

¹⁴“However, if you do not listen to me or obey all these commands, ¹⁵and if you break my covenant by rejecting my decrees, treating my regulations with contempt, and refusing to obey my commands, ¹⁶I will punish you. I will bring sudden terrors upon you—wasting diseases and burning fevers that will cause your eyes to fail and your life to ebb away. You will plant your crops in vain because your enemies will eat them. ¹⁷I will turn against you, and you will be defeated by your enemies. Those who hate you will rule over you, and you will run even when no one is chasing you!

¹⁸“And if, in spite of all this, you still disobey me, I will punish you seven times over for your sins. ¹⁹I will break your proud spirit by making the skies as unyielding as iron and the earth as hard as bronze. ²⁰All your work will be for nothing, for your land will the Year of Jubilee. During his service to the foreigner, the Israelite slave was to enjoy the status of a hired servant and not be treated like a slave (25:53). The people of Israel belonged to God; they were not to be sold as permanent slaves to anyone else.

26:1 Israel was to make no idols or carved images to worship (see Exod 20:4-6). Creating an image to worship would blaspheme God by confining him to time and space and by manufacturing a lifeless image to take the place of the living God. • Early in Israel's history, stones were set on end as memorials to various events (Gen 28:18; Exod 24:4). However, pillars and sculptured stones were associated with pagan worship (2 Kgs 3:2; 10:26, 27), especially when the carved image of a god rested on them. Some sculpture was clearly allowed (e.g., 1 Kgs 7:25); the focus here is on objects that might be worshiped and thereby become idolatrous.

26:3-39 These blessings and curses resemble a key element of ancient Near Eastern suzerain-vassal treaties. In such treaties, the suzerain king promised to defend the vassal king and his state, while the vassal took an oath of loyalty to his lord. Blessings and curses followed, with the curses generally being more lengthy (contrast 26:3-13 with 26:14-39; cp. Deut 27:15-28:68). Such treaties would call upon the gods as witnesses and enforcers. In God's covenant with Israel, however, the Lord was one of the parties to the treaty (Israel being the other); since the Lord could swear by no one greater, he swore by himself (see Gen 22:16; Heb 6:13).

26:3 Treaties and covenants had conditions attached to them. Israel's blessings were conditioned on the people's obedience to the terms revealed by God, to whom they had sworn obedience (Exod 24:7; Josh 24:21-22). The covenant itself, however, was irrevocable (26:44-45; see Rom 11:29); Israel could not cancel it. The people had only two choices: obedience, which brought blessing, or rebellion, which brought curse.

26:5 Israel's restoration following captivity also promised a harvest so plentiful that it would run over into the time of planting (see Amos 9:13; Joel 3:18).

26:7 Success in warfare would result from obedience to God (cp. 26:17, 36-37; Deut 28:6, 19).

26:9 fulfill my covenant: The fulfillment is seen in the “rest” spoken of in Hebrews (Heb 3:11-4:11). The Promised Land should have brought a state of security and prosperity, a state of “rest” to the Israelites (Exod 33:14; Deut 12:10; 25:19; Josh 1:13, 15). Israel succeeded in entering the Promised Land, but their rebellion kept them from seeing the covenant fulfilled.

26:12 your God . . . my people: The covenant bound the parties to one another, making each belong to the other.

26:13 yoke of slavery: A yoke would fit over a slave's shoulders and behind the base of the neck for carrying pairs of heavy items, such as pails of water. Cp. Rom 6:16-22.

26:14-39 The objective of God's punishment of his people is to change behavior and restore relationship. God responds to his disobedient people as a perfectly righteous and loving parent would to a child. The punishments designed to curb rebellious behavior gradually increase, giving Israel the opportunity to repent at any time (26:18-28). Even when Israel was punished with exile from the land in 722 and 586 BC, God was working to restore his people (see, e.g., Isa 40-66; Jer 29:10; Amos 9:11-15).

26:18 seven times over: I.e., many times (see also 26:21, 24, 28; Gen 4:15).

26:19-20 If God withholds rain, the ground will be hard and unproductive.

yield no crops, and your trees will bear no fruit.

²¹"If even then you remain hostile toward me and refuse to obey me, I will inflict disaster on you seven times over for your sins. ²²I will send wild animals that will rob you of your children and destroy your livestock. Your numbers will dwindle, and your roads will be deserted.

²³"And if you fail to learn the lesson and continue your hostility toward me, ²⁴then I myself will be hostile toward you. I will personally strike you with calamity seven times over for your sins. ²⁵I will send armies against you to carry out the curse of the covenant you have broken. When you run to your towns for safety, I will send a plague to destroy you there, and you will be handed over to your enemies. ²⁶I will destroy your food supply, so that ten women will need only one oven to bake bread for their families. They will ration your food by weight, and though you have food to eat, you will not be satisfied.

²⁷"If in spite of all this you still refuse to listen and still remain hostile toward me, ²⁸then I will give full vent to my hostility. I myself will punish you seven times over for your sins. ²⁹Then you will eat the flesh of your own sons and daughters. ³⁰I will destroy your pagan shrines and knock down your places of worship. I will leave your lifeless corpses piled on top of your lifeless idols, and I will despise you. ³¹I will make your cities desolate and destroy your places of pagan worship. I will take no pleasure in your offerings that should be a pleasing aroma to me. ³²Yes, I myself will devastate your land, and your enemies who come to occupy it will be appalled at what they see. ³³I will scatter you among the nations and bring out my sword against you. Your land will become desolate, and your cities will lie in ruins. ³⁴Then at last the land will enjoy its neglected Sabbath years as it lies desolate while you are in exile in the land of your enemies. Then the land will finally rest and enjoy the Sabbaths it missed. ³⁵As long as the land lies in ruins, it will enjoy the rest you never allowed it to take every seventh year while you lived in it.

³⁶"And for those of you who survive, I will demoralize you in the land of your enemies. You will live in such fear that the sound of a leaf driven by the wind will send you fleeing. You will run as though fleeing from a sword, and you will fall even when no one pursues you. ³⁷Though no one is chasing you, you will stumble over each other as though fleeing from a sword. You will have no power to stand up against your enemies. ³⁸You will die among the foreign nations and be devoured in the land of your enemies. ³⁹Those of you who survive will waste away in your enemies' lands because of their sins and the sins of their ancestors.

⁴⁰"But at last my people will confess their sins and the sins of their ancestors for betraying me and being hostile toward me. ⁴¹When I have turned their hostility back on them and brought them to the land of their enemies, then at last their stubborn hearts will be humbled, and they will pay for their sins. ⁴²Then I will remember my covenant with Jacob and my covenant with Isaac and my covenant with Abraham, and I will remember the land. ⁴³For the land must be abandoned to enjoy its years of Sabbath rest as it lies deserted. At last the people will pay for their sins, for they have continually rejected my regulations and despised my decrees.

26:21
Lev 26:18
26:22
Deut 32:24
26:23
Jer 2:30; 5:3
26:25
Deut 28:21-22, 27-29; 32:35
26:26
Isa 3:1; 9:19-20
Ezek 4:16
26:29
Deut 28:53-57
2 Kgs 6:26-30
26:30
1 Kgs 13:2
Isa 27:9
26:31
Ps 74:3
Isa 63:18
26:32
Jer 12:11; 18:16
26:33
Deut 28:64-68
26:34
Lev 26:43
2 Chr 36:21
26:36
Ezek 21:7
26:38
Deut 4:25-27
26:39
Ezek 33:10
26:40
Jer 3:12-15
Luke 15:18
1 Jn 1:9
26:42
Gen 12:1-3; 15:1-4, 13-16; 26:2-5; 28:13-15
26:43
Lev 26:34

26:29 Starvation would so pervade the land that when a child died of hunger, he or she would be eaten, in pagan fashion, by the others in the family (Deut 28:53-57; see 2 Kgs 6:24-31; Lam 2:20; cp. 2 Kgs 3:27).

26:30 The pagan shrines mentioned here were the infamous "high places" built on hilltops (see 2 Kgs 18:4). These shrines incorporated elements from pre-Israelite religions into Israel's worship and challenged the Temple for religious authority. • places of worship (Hebrew khamman): Perhaps "incense altars." Some of these altars were used in Baal worship (2 Chr 34:4). • idols: The Hebrew term (literally round things) probably alludes to dung.

26:34 With the people gone into captivity in a foreign land, there would be no one to work the land. It would at last have the "rest" of lying fallow that the people had denied it (see 25:1-7).

26:36-39 Disastrous defeat and captivity would later be the fate of both Israel and Judah (see notes on 18:28; 26:14-39).

26:40-45 The chapter ends with a message of hope: Even after Israel violated the covenant and experienced judgment, reconciliation and restoration remained possible if the people confessed and repented (see note on 4:20). God's grace had not been taken away. God did not want to destroy his people; he would restore them if they would only humble themselves and repent (see also 2 Chr 7:14).

26:41 Physical circumcision of males was the mark of God's covenant with Israel (Gen 17:9-14; Exod 4:25-26). Stubborn hearts (literally uncircumcised hearts) do not love God and demonstrate it by persistent disobedience. God promised to "circumcise" Israel's uncircumcised hearts so that the people could love him (see also Deut 10:16; 30:6; Jer 4:4; Ezek 36:25-27).

26:42 God had begun his covenant with Abraham (then called Abram, Gen 15:18) and continued it with Isaac (Gen 17:19) and Jacob (Exod 2:24). Jacob's twelve sons were the ancestors of Israel's twelve tribes. Israel's liberation from Egypt and settlement in Canaan were based on God's promises to their ancestors, not on the Israelites' own virtues (Deut 9:4-5).

26:44
Deut 4:29-31
Rom 11:2

26:45
Gen 17:7
Exod 6:6-8
Isaiah (2142)
• Num 10:9

26:46
Lev 27:34

27:3
Exod 30:13
Lev 5:15; 27:25

27:6
Num 3:46-48;
18:14-16

27:8
Lev 14:21-22

27:10
Lev 27:14-33

27:13
gal* (1350)
• Num 35:12

⁴⁴“But despite all this, I will not utterly reject or despise them while they are in exile in the land of their enemies. I will not cancel my covenant with them by wiping them out, for I am the LORD their God. ⁴⁵For their sakes I will remember my ancient covenant with their ancestors, whom I brought out of the land of Egypt in the sight of all the nations, that I might be their God. I am the LORD.”

⁴⁶These are the decrees, regulations, and instructions that the LORD gave through Moses on Mount Sinai as evidence of the relationship between himself and the Israelites.

6. REGULATIONS PERTAINING TO VOWS AND TITHES (27:1-34)

27 The LORD said to Moses, ²“Give the following instructions to the people of Israel. If anyone makes a special vow to dedicate someone to the LORD by paying the value of that person, ³here is the scale of values to be used. A man between the ages of twenty and sixty is valued at fifty shekels of silver, as measured by the sanctuary shekel. ⁴A woman of that age is valued at thirty shekels of silver. ⁵A boy between the ages of five and twenty is valued at twenty shekels of silver; a girl of that age is valued at ten shekels of silver. ⁶A boy between the ages of one month and five years is valued at five shekels of silver; a girl of that age is valued at three shekels of silver. ⁷A man older than sixty is valued at fifteen shekels of silver; a woman of that age is valued at ten shekels of silver. ⁸If you desire to make such a vow but cannot afford to pay the required amount, take the person to the priest. He will determine the amount for you to pay based on what you can afford.

⁹“If your vow involves giving an animal that is acceptable as an offering to the LORD, any gift to the LORD will be considered holy. ¹⁰You may not exchange or substitute it for another animal—neither a good animal for a bad one nor a bad animal for a good one. But if you do exchange one animal for another, then both the original animal and its substitute will be considered holy. ¹¹If your vow involves an unclean animal—one that is not acceptable as an offering to the LORD—then you must bring the animal to the priest. ¹²He will assess its value, and his assessment will be final, whether high or low. ¹³If you want to ¹⁴buy back the animal, you must pay the value set by the priest, plus 20 percent.

¹⁴“If someone dedicates a house to the LORD, the priest will come to assess its 26:44-45 I am the LORD: See note on 19:3.

27:1-34 As a conclusion to the book, this chapter discusses various types of vows and ends with a provision for redeeming one's tithes (see also ch 25). Under certain circumstances, such as an emergency, an individual might make a vow promising something to God, usually in exchange for God's answering his or her prayer (see Jon 2:9). Once the prayer is answered, the individual might be tempted to discount the vow. Scripture requires that vows be made carefully (see 5:4; Eccl 5:4-6) and then carried out. Jesus taught that oaths should not be commonly or carelessly made (Matt 5:33-37; 23:16-22).

27:2 The vow taken to become a Nazirite is also called a special vow (Num 6:2), but the vow mentioned here was probably a promise made to God when seeking a desired answer to prayer (see Gen 28:20-22). Pagan religions of the time sacrificed infants to their gods, but God outlawed such a practice (18:21; 20:2-5; cp. Gen 22:12-13). Consequently, the concept of being vowed to the Lord was measured in terms of service given, not in the sacrifice of a life. Whether the vow was made by the person or by another acting for him or her, payment was to be made to the sanctuary, apparently for the person's expenses during the term of service. See also Num 6:1-21; Judg 13:5, 7; 1 Sam 1:11; Amos 2:11-12; Acts 18:18.

27:3-7 This section reflects social rank in ancient Near Eastern cultures. An adult man of working age had the highest rank, followed by an adult woman of working age. A boy ranked higher than a girl, and both ranked higher than toddlers. Senior citizens, who were past prime working age, ranked comparably to boys and girls. • The amount of fifty shekels (see note on 5:15) would have represented about 20 ounces (570 grams) of silver, a significant amount. Comparisons with other literature of the time indicates that the biblical valuation is quite high and would have been out of reach for most people.

27:3 fifty shekels: Or 20 ounces [570 grams].

27:4 thirty shekels: Or 12 ounces [342 grams].

27:5 Or A boy . . . 8 ounces [228 grams] of silver; a girl . . . 4 ounces [114 grams] of silver.

27:6 Or A boy . . . 2 ounces [57 grams] of silver; a girl . . . 1.2 ounces [34 grams] of silver.

27:7 Or A man . . . 6 ounces [171 grams] of silver; a woman . . . 4 ounces [114 grams] of silver.

27:8 As in the offering system (see 5:7-13), special consideration was given to the poor person who wanted to contribute to the sanctuary. In such cases, the amount of silver to accompany the pledge was left to the priest's discretion.

27:9-10 Once an acceptable animal had been vowed and the priest at the sanctuary had accepted it on God's behalf, the animal became holy and belonged to God.

27:11-13 An unclean animal, one unfit either for food or sacrifice, could be bought back by the worshiper for its assessed value plus 20 percent. No doubt the reasoning behind this rule was to preserve the sanctity of vows and to minimize thoughtless dedications. For the 20 percent surcharge on property, see 27:15, 19, 31.

27:14-15 The Hebrew term translated as dedicates is quite strong and means “declares holy.” • This ruling would apply only to a house in a walled town. Other houses, whether in unwallled villages or on open land, reverted to the owner in the Year of Jubilee (25:29-31). If the owner decided to redeem it, he had to pay a surcharge of 20 percent. If the house was not redeemed in the first year, it became the property of the sanctuary and priests, and it could be used however they wished.

value. The priest's assessment will be final, whether high or low. ¹⁵If the person who dedicated the house wants to buy it back, he must pay the value set by the priest, plus 20 percent. Then the house will again be his.

¹⁶"If someone dedicates to the LORD a piece of his family property, its value will be assessed according to the amount of seed required to plant it—fifty shekels of silver for a field planted with five bushels of barley seed. ¹⁷If the field is dedicated to the LORD in the Year of Jubilee, then the entire assessment will apply. ¹⁸But if the field is dedicated after the Year of Jubilee, the priest will assess the land's value in proportion to the number of years left until the next Year of Jubilee. Its assessed value is reduced each year. ¹⁹If the person who dedicated the field wants to buy it back, he must pay the value set by the priest, plus 20 percent. Then the field will again be legally his. ²⁰But if he does not want to buy it back, and it is sold to someone else, the field can no longer be bought back. ²¹When the field is released in the Year of Jubilee, it will be holy, a field specially set apart for the LORD. It will become the property of the priests.

²²"If someone dedicates to the LORD a field he has purchased but which is not part of his family property, ²³the priest will assess its value based on the number of years left until the next Year of Jubilee. On that day he must give the assessed value of the land as a sacred donation to the LORD. ²⁴In the Year of Jubilee the field must be returned to the person from whom he purchased it, the one who inherited it as family property. ²⁵(All the payments must be measured by the weight of the sanctuary shekel, which equals twenty gerahs.)

²⁶"You may not dedicate a firstborn animal to the LORD, for the firstborn of your cattle, sheep, and goats already belong to him. ²⁷However, you may buy back the firstborn of a ceremonially unclean animal by paying the priest's assessment of its worth,

27:18
Lev 25:14-16

27:21
Lev 25:8-54
Num 18:14
Ezek 44:29

27:24
Lev 25:28

27:25
Exod 30:13
Num 3:47; 18:16
Ezek 45:12

27:26
Exod 13:2, 12

Complete Dedication (27:28-29)

Exod 22:20
Num 18:8-14; 21:2-3
Deut 7:1-6, 26;
13:12-18
Josh 6:17-19, 24;
7:11-15
1 Sam 15:2-3
1 Kgs 20:42
Isa 43:26-28
Mal 4:5-6
Rom 9:3
1 Cor 16:22
Gal 1:8-9

The Hebrew word kherem ("specially set apart") is difficult to translate because it represents a concept for which there is no exact parallel in modern English. In the conquest of Canaan under Joshua, kherem designated something deemed holy to a pagan god and therefore hostile to the LORD. Such things were to be destroyed (27:29). In the case of valuable metal items, they were brought to the sanctuary, where they became holy to the LORD (27:28; see also Josh 6:19, 24). The concept of being "specially set apart" was also applied to Israel's enemies when they and their property were destroyed (Josh 6:17-19; 1 Sam 15:2-3).

In 27:21, 28, kherem indicates an acceptable vow devoting something to the Lord for use in the sanctuary (see Num 18:14). This made the item, land, or person holy. The thing or person could not be bought back and remained in the Lord's service permanently.

The concept of complete dedication through total destruction underlies several passages in the apostle Paul's writings, especially Romans 9:3 and Galatians 1:8-9 (see also 1 Cor 16:22). In Romans 9:3, Paul was even willing to be declared anathema (the Greek equivalent of kherem) if it would bring about the salvation of his fellow Jews. In Galatians 1:8-9, the same Greek word indicates an appropriate end for those who preach a false gospel. In 1 Corinthians 12:3, Paul warns that no one speaking in the Spirit can call Jesus anathema, that is, no one who has God's Spirit will interpret Jesus' crucifixion as a sign of God's rejection of him, as the Jews of Paul's day did. Instead, they will recognize it as an act of atonement for sinful humanity.

27:16-21 fifty shekels of silver for a field planted with five bushels of barley seed: Hebrew 50 shekels [20 ounces or 570 grams] of silver for a homer [220 liters] of barley seed. The price for dedicating a field was determined by the number of years remaining until the next Year of Jubilee (see 25:24-28). If this property was not redeemed, it became the property of the priests to do with as they wished. The price of redeeming a field was 120 percent of the valuation (see 27:11-13). If a landowner dedicated his field without redeeming it, it did not revert to his family in the Year of Jubilee.

27:21 Year of Jubilee: See 25:8-55.

• specially set apart (Hebrew kherem): The Hebrew term refers to the complete consecration of things or people to the LORD, either by destroying them or by giving them as an offering; also in 27:28, 29. Here, an acceptable vow devoting something to the Lord made it holy; it could not be redeemed.

27:25 sanctuary shekel: Each shekel was about 0.4 ounces [11 grams] in weight. See note on 5:15. • Each of the gerahs weighed about 0.02 ounces or 0.6 grams.

27:26 You may not dedicate: Every firstborn male, be it man or animal, already belonged to God (Exod 13:2; 34:19-20). Therefore, dedicating a firstborn was a useless exercise. The priest clearly had a use for the firstborn of animals fit for food or sacrifice (clean animals). The firstborn of a ceremonially unclean animal such as a donkey could be redeemed for 20 percent more than its value. Human firstborns had to be redeemed (Exod 13:11-13).

27:28
Josh 6:17-19
^a*kharam* (2763)
• Num 21:2

27:30
Gen 28:22
Num 18:26
2 Chr 31:5-6
Neh 13:12
Mal 3:8
^b*ma'aser* (4643)
• Lev 27:31

27:31
^c*ma'aser* (4643)
• Num 18:21

27:33
Lev 27:10

27:34
Lev 26:46

plus 20 percent. If you do not buy it back, the priest will sell it at its assessed value.

²⁸However, anything specially ^aset apart for the LORD—whether a person, an animal, or family property—must never be sold or bought back. Anything devoted in this way has been set apart as holy, and it belongs to the LORD. ²⁹No person specially set apart for destruction may be bought back. Such a person must be put to death.

³⁰One-^btenth of the produce of the land, whether grain from the fields or fruit from the trees, belongs to the LORD and must be set apart to him as holy. ³¹If you want to buy back the LORD's ^ctenth of the grain or fruit, you must pay its value, plus 20 percent. ³²Count off every tenth animal from your herds and flocks and set them apart for the LORD as holy. ³³You may not pick and choose between good and bad animals, and you may not substitute one for another. But if you do exchange one animal for another, then both the original animal and its substitute will be considered holy and cannot be bought back."

³⁴These are the commands that the LORD gave through Moses on Mount Sinai for the Israelites.

27:28 specially set apart (Hebrew kherem): Such an act of devotion was irrevocable. The person, animal, or property devoted this way was dedicated to the service of the sanctuary in a manner defined by the priest.

27:29 set apart for destruction (Hebrew kherem): The context here is the war for the conquest of Canaan, when cities, animals, and people deemed holy to some other god were set apart to be destroyed.

27:30 One-tenth (the "tithe") of the harvest belonged to the LORD (Deut 14:22-26; cp. Lev 23:10-14). Members of the tribe of Levi, the priests and

Levites, received no tribal lands. Accordingly, they were allotted one-tenth of all produce from those who did own land (Num 18:21-29). This tithe was set aside every year (Deut 14:22) and was taken to the sanctuary; part of it was eaten there in a ritual meal (Deut 14:23-26). A second tithe was paid locally every third year to the local Levites and the poor (Deut 14:27-29; 26:12; contrast Amos 4:4). The Levites then paid a tithe of what they received to the Tabernacle priests (Num 18:26), who used it to support themselves and maintain the sanctuary. Some interpreters think there were three tithes, the first paid to the Levites, the second consumed at the sanctuary, and the third paid every third year for the poor. Others suggest that there was just one tithe, paid at the sanctuary for two years, then paid locally every third year.

27:31 The penalty to buy back the tithed harvest was the same amount assessed for an individual who had accidentally withheld his tithe (see 5:16).

27:32 Just like the produce of the fields (27:29-34), the flocks and herds were also tithed to the Lord.

27:34 The book closes as it opened (see 1:1), clearly noting the divine origin of its contents as mediated through Moses.

THE BOOK OF Numbers

The book of Numbers tells the story of Israel in the wilderness, journeying toward the Promised Land from Mount Sinai. As Moses led Israel from Egypt to Canaan, God tested his people in the crucible of the wilderness to see if they would be faithful to him as a unified nation. Numbers documents their successes and failures. Israel's disobedience resulted in the Lord's judgment, always counterbalanced by his patient persistence in raising a new generation to fulfill his plan. With its many stories and the detailed exposition of God's laws, Numbers gives us a dramatic account of the Lord's nature, his covenant, and his plan for his people.

SETTING

After leaving Egypt, the Israelites journeyed to Mount Sinai, where God gave them the law (see Exodus). They remained at Sinai for a year before traveling through the wilderness into Transjordan (the region east of the Jordan River) to camp on the plains of Moab. God tested Israel in the wilderness as the generation that made the Exodus from Egypt passed away and a new generation prepared to enter the Promised Land. The book of Numbers instructed the new generation camped on the plains of Moab to obey the Lord.

Israel was shaped and purified during this wilderness sojourn. Through Moses' literary efforts (and those of later scribes and editors), Numbers enabled successive generations to hear that story. It thus became a vital component of Hebrew memory. Numbers was written so that those who learned from history need not repeat mistakes from the past.

◀ Israel in the Wilderness. Israel's approximate route is shown from MOUNT SINAI into the WILDERNESS OF PARAN near KADESH-BARNEA (chs 1–13). After their rebellion against the Lord (ch 14), Israel wandered in the wilderness for nearly forty years (14:26–22:1) before beginning to move toward the Promised Land (see map, p. 285). Many of the places shown are listed in ch 33.

ZOAN 13:22

RAMESES 33:3, 5; Exod 12:37

MOUNT SINAI 1:1, 19; 9:1; 10:12; 33:15–16

HAZEROTH 12:1–16; 33:17–18

MIDIAN 10:29; 22:4, 7; 25:6, 14–18; 31:2–10

KADESH-BARNEA 13:26; 20:1, 14–16, 22; 32:8; 33:36–37; 34:4

EDOM 20:14–21; 21:4; 24:18; 33:37; 34:3

MOAB chs 21–26; Deut 1:5

JERICO 22:1; 26:63; 33:48; 36:13

SUMMARY

Three stages of Israel's journey through the wilderness give the book of Numbers its structure: (1) the nineteen days in which Israel prepared for departure from their camp at Sinai (1:1–10:10), (2) the approximately thirty-nine-year journey from Sinai to the plains of Moab (10:11–22:1), and (3) the final months of Israel's encampment on the plains of Moab shortly before they entered Canaan (21:1–36:13).

The registrations of Israel's men of military age (chs 1–4, 26) also shape Numbers. The two registrations primarily measured the strength of Israel's fighting force and the number of Levites, with the totals at the beginning of the book and toward the end of the book representing two completely different generations. The first census tallied the rebellious generation that left Egypt, received the law at Sinai, and died in the wilderness. The second registration numbered the new generation of Israelites that entered the Promised Land. The two counts are very close, showing that the second generation completely replaced the first.

Along the way, the Hebrews that left Egypt committed serious acts of disobedience (chs 11, 12, 14, 16–17, 20, 25); they all died in the wilderness except for Joshua and Caleb, whose faith was exemplary (13:30; 14:6–9). Israel's army was tested on several occasions before they entered Canaan

OUTLINE

1:1–10:10

The Israelites Camp in the Wilderness of Sinai

10:11–22:1

The Israelites Move from Sinai to the Plains of Moab

22:2–36:13

The Israelites Camp in the Plains of Moab and Prepare to Invade Canaan

(chs 14, 21, 31), and the famous story of Balaam is recounted in great detail in chs 22–24. Arrangements were made for settling Transjordan (ch 32), the wilderness journey was reviewed (ch 33), and Moses anticipated the occupation of Canaan (chs 34–36) prior to his sermons in the book of Deuteronomy.

Numbers focuses on the role of the Levites, including their duties when the Hebrews were on the march. Numbers is a case study in how Israel maintained—and failed to maintain—covenant regulations in their day-to-day experiences.

AUTHORSHIP

As with the other books of the Pentateuch, Moses has traditionally been recognized as the author of Numbers. Until the advent of modern scholarship, both Jewish and Christian scholars held to Moses' authorship; the OT, the NT, and much ancient Jewish literature also made this assumption. References to Moses' role as author occur throughout the Pentateuch (e.g., 33:1–2). On the basis of content or the level of literacy feasible at the time of the Exodus and conquest, there is no need to exclude Moses out of hand as the primary author, except in passages such as the account of Moses' death (Deut 34). It is also possible that Moses supervised the compilation of books credited to him or, like the apostle Paul, dictated parts of his writings. Numbers refers to representatives and elders who helped Moses in various ways (chs 1, 11).

TIMELINE

1500–1200 BC

Late Bronze Age

1446 / 1270 BC*

*Israel leaves Egypt (the Exodus), moves to Mount Sinai
The covenant at Sinai*

1445 / 1269 BC

Israel enters the wilderness

1445–1406 /

1269–1230 BC

▶ Events recorded in Numbers occur

1406 / 1230 BC

Genesis—

Deuteronomy are drafted

Moses dies

Israel enters Canaan

* The two dates

harmonize with the traditional "early" chronology and a more recent "late" chronology of the Exodus. All dates are approximate. Please see "Chronology: Abraham to Joshua," p. 118.

History repeats itself . . .

because it is based on two factors which do not change: God's character and man's sinfulness.

Gordon J. Wenham
Numbers, p. 15

Many scholars postulate various sources from which later editors created the books of the Pentateuch, but this "Documentary Hypothesis" remains speculative (see "Introduction to the Pentateuch: Authorship," p. 11). Even allowing for later modifications by scribes and editors, Numbers substantially represents itself as Moses' work.

DATE & GEOGRAPHY

The geographical, cultural, and linguistic data related to Numbers fit either an early or a late date (1400s or 1200s BC) for the Exodus and conquest (see "Chronology: Abraham to Joshua," p. 118).

The archaeological evidence from Sinai, the Negev, and Transjordan (Edom, Moab, and Ammon) also contributes significantly to discussion about the historical background of the conquest. Scholars are unable to identify exact locations for many place-names mentioned in the wilderness itinerary, and there are problems with various other sites named in Numbers (e.g., see notes on 20:1; 21:1–22:1).

LITERARY ISSUES

*Just as the Israelites were not intended to pass thirty-eight years in journeying from one place to another in the wilderness, so the Christian is not expected to have prolonged wilderness experiences through disobedience. . . .
The book of Numbers is . . . a warning against indulging in the kind of sin that brought death to a whole generation of Israelites so long ago.*

R. K. Harrison
Numbers, p. 28

Title of the Book. The name "Numbers" derives from this book's interest in statistics (as in chs 1–4, 26). It is the English translation of Latin Numeri and Greek Arithmoi, the name given to this book by the Latin Vulgate and Greek Septuagint translations of the OT. The registration accounts show with mathematical precision that the Israelites that left Egypt were not the same people that crossed the Jordan into Canaan. In the Hebrew Bible, the book of Numbers is called bemidbar ("in the wilderness"), the fourth word of 1:1 in Hebrew. This title is certainly appropriate, since it reflects the book's geographical setting and chronological framework.

Literary Genres. The book of Numbers includes a variety of common literary genres, such as narrative (e.g., 10:11–14:45), poetry (e.g., chs 23–24), and law (e.g., chs 4–6). It also contains detailed lists of facts and figures, such as registration tallies (e.g., chs 1–4), offerings (e.g., ch 7), and travel itineraries (e.g., ch 33). The NLT compiles various prose lists into concise tables of names and numbers (chs 1–2, 13, 34).

Literary Sources. The Hebrew Bible identifies ancient sources that Moses (and perhaps later editors) consulted, such as the Book of the Wars of the LORD (21:14–15); the "Song of the Well" (21:17–18); and the "Song of Heshbon" (21:27–30). Chapters 23–24 contain many poetic lines from the non-Israelite prophet Balaam; 31:32–47 seems to be based on an actual booty record; and ch 33 appears to derive from a written diary.

Text. The Hebrew text of Numbers is very well preserved, except for a few sections of poetry in chs 21–24 that are difficult to interpret. The generally good condition of the Hebrew text is evident when comparing the Hebrew Masoretic Text (AD 900s) with much earlier fragments of Numbers found in the Dead Sea Scrolls (150 BC—AD 125); there are only a few insignificant variations between the two. Greater differences exist between the Masoretic Text, equivalent sections in the Greek OT (the Septuagint), and the Samaritan Pentateuch, but they represent deliberate differences of interpretation, not just variant readings of the manuscripts.

MEANING AND MESSAGE

Numbers explains how God provided for his people's needs, and it documents the repeated disobedience that marred this period as they rebelled against the Lord's commands. The Israelites did not wander in the wilderness for forty years because they were lost, but because of their faithlessness and rebellion.

Numbers highlights Israel's struggle with God. As often as God called the Israelites to strictly adhere to the law, they disobeyed him. The Israelites could count on God's provision for their physical necessities and for guidance and instruction through their chosen leaders. Yet God's constant purpose was often met with lack of faith. Numbers illustrates the swift judgment of a holy God while teaching that the Lord is faithful, patient, holy, and just. These characteristics were held in tension, but there was no doubt about the outcome when Israel was disobedient.

As in ancient Israel, all communities of believers still need unwavering leadership, and Numbers still warns those who too easily forget God's holy nature. In Rom 15:4, Paul says that the OT narratives were written for our benefit. Specific episodes from Numbers are used in the NT as powerful object lessons:

- In 1 Cor 10:1-11, the apostle Paul warns his readers to avoid idolatry, immorality, and grumbling so that they will not perish like the Israelites in the wilderness. God is not pleased with such behavior, and Christians must not put God to the test (10:9).
- The author of Hebrews identifies repeated instances of Israel's hardhearted and disobedient spirit and says that God responded to this waywardness with swift and certain wrath (Heb 3:7-4:11). These verses, which draw heavily on the language of Ps 95, are saturated with terms that reflect God's judgment of Israel's sin.
- Jude 1:5 summarizes Numbers to teach Christians about the importance of faithfulness.

The same God who liberated his people from Egypt destroyed that rebellious generation because they did not believe. Like ancient Israel, Christians should learn from the mistakes of the past and live in faith and obedience to their Lord.

FURTHER READING

RONALD B. ALLEN

Numbers (1990)

TIMOTHY R. ASHLEY

The Book of Numbers (1993)

DALE A. BRUEGGEMANN

Numbers in Cornerstone Biblical Commentary, vol. 2 (2008)

ERYL W. DAVIES

Numbers (1995)

R. K. HARRISON

Numbers (1990)

GORDON J. WENHAM

Numbers (1981)

1:1
Exod 40:2, 17

1:2
Exod 38:25-26
Num 26:2

1:4
Exod 18:21
Num 34:18

1. THE ISRAELITES CAMP IN THE WILDERNESS OF SINAI (1:1-10:10) The First Registration and Organization of the Camp (1:1-3:51)

The First Census of Israel's Troops

1 A year after Israel's departure from Egypt, the LORD spoke to Moses in the Tabernacle in the wilderness of Sinai. On the first day of the second month of that year he said, ²"From the whole community of Israel, record the names of all the warriors by their clans and families. List all the men ³twenty years old or older who are able to go to war. You and Aaron must register the troops, ⁴and you will be assisted by one family leader from each tribe.

1:1-10:10 The Israelites prepared to leave for the Promised Land by registering all the troops eligible to participate in the conquest. The nation was transitioning from slavery to nationhood.

1:1-16 One family leader from each tribe (except Levi) was appointed to count Israel's men of fighting age.

1:1 In the year after Israel's departure from Egypt, the LORD frequently communicated his will to the people through Moses and gave them every opportunity to conform to his divine plan.

• God's self-disclosure often took place at the Tabernacle (literally the Tent of Meeting; see notes on Exod 27:21; 40:2).
• The wilderness of Sinai was a great, terrifying, and inhospitable desert (Deut 1:19). This relatively unpopulated region was the anvil on which God forged Israel as the environmental challenges of Sinai tested Israel's dependence upon the Lord throughout the book of Numbers. Sinai reminded later biblical authors of the law and of Israel's rebellious spirit (Ps 106:19; Heb 12:25-26).

• the first day of the second month: This day in the ancient Hebrew lunar calendar occurred in April or May.

1:2-16 men twenty years old or older who are able to go to war: In this effort

⁵"These are the tribes and the names of the leaders who will assist you:

Tribe	Leader
Reuben	Elizur son of Shedeur
⁶ Simeon	Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai
⁷ Judah	Nahshon son of Amminadab
⁸ Issachar	Nethanel son of Zuar
⁹ Zebulun	Eliab son of Helon
¹⁰ Ephraim son of Joseph	Elishama son of Ammihud
Manasseh son of Joseph	Gamaliel son of Pedahzur
¹¹ Benjamin	Abidan son of Gideoni
¹² Dan	Ahiezzer son of Ammishaddai
¹³ Asher	Pagiel son of Ocran
¹⁴ Gad	Eliasaph son of Deuel
¹⁵ Naphtali	Ahira son of Enan

¹⁶These are the chosen leaders of the community, the leaders of their ancestral tribes, the heads of the clans of Israel."

¹⁷So Moses and Aaron called together these chosen leaders, ¹⁸and they assembled the whole community of Israel on that very day. All the people were registered according to their ancestry by their clans and families. The men of Israel who were twenty years old or older were listed one by one, ¹⁹just as the LORD had commanded Moses. So Moses recorded their names in the wilderness of Sinai.

²⁰⁻²¹This is the number of men twenty years old or older who were able to go to war, as their names were listed in the records of their clans and families:

Tribe	Number
Reuben (Jacob's oldest son).	46,500
²²⁻²³ Simeon	59,300
²⁴⁻²⁵ Gad	45,650
²⁶⁻²⁷ Judah	74,600

²⁸⁻²⁹ Issachar	54,400
³⁰⁻³¹ Zebulun.	57,400
³²⁻³³ Ephraim son of Joseph	40,500
³⁴⁻³⁵ Manasseh son of Joseph	32,200
³⁶⁻³⁷ Benjamin.	35,400
³⁸⁻³⁹ Dan	62,700
⁴⁰⁻⁴¹ Asher	41,500
⁴²⁻⁴³ Naphtali	53,400

⁴⁴These were the men registered by Moses and Aaron and the twelve leaders of Israel, all listed according to their ancestral descent. ⁴⁵They were registered by families—all the men of Israel who were twenty years old or older and able to go to war. ⁴⁶The total number was 603,550.

Special Status of the Levites

⁴⁷But this total did not include the Levites. ⁴⁸For the LORD had said to Moses, ⁴⁹"Do not include the tribe of Levi in the registration; do not count them with the rest of the Israelites. ⁵⁰Put the Levites in charge of the Tabernacle of the Covenant, along with all its furnishings and equipment. They must carry the Tabernacle and all its furnishings as you travel, and they must *take care of it and camp around it. ⁵¹Whenever it is time for the Tabernacle to move, the Levites will take it down. And when it is time to stop, they will set it up again. But any unauthorized person who goes too near the Tabernacle must be put to death. ⁵²Each tribe of Israel will camp in a designated area with its own family banner. ⁵³But the Levites will camp around the Tabernacle of the Covenant to protect the community of Israel from the LORD's anger. The Levites are responsible to stand guard around the Tabernacle."

⁵⁴So the Israelites did everything just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

1:5
Gen 29:32
Rev 7:5
1:7
Ruth 4:20
1 Chr 2:10
1:14
Num 2:14
1:16
Num 7:2; 16:2; 26:9
1:18
Num 1:2-3
Ezra 2:59
1:20
Num 26:5-11
1:22
Num 26:12-14
1:24
Num 26:15-18
1:26
Num 26:19-22
1:28
Num 26:23-25
1:30
Num 26:26-27
1:32
Num 26:35-37
1:34
Num 26:28-34
1:36
Num 26:38-41
1:38
Num 26:42-43
1:40
Num 26:44-47
1:42
Num 26:48-50
1:44
Num 26:64
1:46
Exod 38:26
Num 2:32; 26:51
1:47
Num 2:33; 26:57
1:50
Num 3:25-37
^asharath (8334)
* Deut 10:8
1:51
Num 4:1-33
1:52
Num 2:2
1:53
Num 1:50

to register Israel's men of military age, more information was gathered than in the previous registration (cp. Exod 38:26). • the tribes and the names of the leaders: Hebrew culture was tribal, built around clans and families. The tribal leaders were readily identified and appear again as a group in ch 7. • Moses and Aaron did not include Levi's tribe in this registration, since it had a special status in Israelite society (cp. 1:47-53; 26:51-62; Deut 18:5; 33:8-11).

1:16 These tribal leaders had apparently shown themselves responsible and trustworthy by fulfilling other important duties.

1:17-46 The tabulation yields the same number of qualified men (603,550) as mentioned in Exod 38:26. Exodus 12:37 and Num 11:21 give an approximate number of 600,000. These numbers have been interpreted in different ways. They might reflect the literal size of this army (cp. Exod 1:9-10); alternatively, the figures might be symbolic, projected backward from a later period, or simply misunderstood in translation. See also note on Exod 12:37.

1:18 on that very day: Literally on the first day of the second month; see 1:1.

1:20-43 In this second list of the tribes, Gad is placed alongside Reuben and Simeon, the tribes with whom Gad would camp while Israel was on the march.

1:20-21 This is the number of men . . . clans and families: In the Hebrew text, this sentence is repeated in 1:22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42. • Jacob's (literally Israel's): The names "Jacob" and "Israel" are often interchanged throughout the Old Testament, referring sometimes to the individual patriarch and sometimes to the nation.

1:47-54 The tribe of Levi did not serve in Israel's army with the other tribes. This section of Numbers describes the organization of Levites for service in the Tabernacle, which was their primary responsibility.

1:50-53 The Levites inherited the task of erecting, dismantling, transporting, and guarding the Tabernacle. By keeping unauthorized persons from getting too close or desecrating it, they protected the Hebrews from the LORD's anger.

1:50 Tabernacle of the Covenant: Or Tabernacle of the Testimony; also in 1:53. This portable sanctuary symbolized the presence of the Lord and represented Israel's covenant relationship with him.

2:2
Num 1:52
2:3
Num 10:14
2:5
Num 1:8
2:9
Num 10:14
2:10
Num 1:5
2:12
Num 1:6
2:14
Num 1:14
2:17
Num 1:53
2:20
Num 1:10
2:24
Num 10:22
2:25
Num 1:12
2:27
Num 1:13
2:31
Num 10:25
2:32
Exod 38:26
Num 1:45-46
2:33
Num 1:47

Organization for Israel in Camp and on the March

2 Then the LORD gave these instructions to Moses and Aaron: ²"When the Israelites set up camp, each tribe will be assigned its own area. The tribal divisions will camp beneath their family banners on all four sides of the Tabernacle, but at some distance from it.

³⁻⁴"The divisions of Judah, Issachar, and Zebulun are to camp toward the sunrise on the east side of the Tabernacle, beneath their family banners. These are the names of the tribes, their leaders, and the numbers of their registered troops:

Tribe	Leader	Number
Judah	Nahshon son of Amminadab	74,600
⁵⁻⁶ Issachar	Nethanel son of Zuar	54,400
⁷⁻⁸ Zebulun	Eliab son of Helon	57,400

⁹So the total of all the troops on Judah's side of the camp is 186,400. These three tribes are to lead the way whenever the Israelites travel to a new campsite.

¹⁰⁻¹¹"The divisions of Reuben, Simeon, and Gad are to camp on the south side of the Tabernacle, beneath their family banners. These are the names of the tribes, their leaders, and the numbers of their registered troops:

Tribe	Leader	Number
Reuben	Elizur son of Shedeur	46,500
¹²⁻¹³ Simeon	Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai	59,300
¹⁴⁻¹⁵ Gad	Eliasaph son of Deuel	45,650

¹⁶So the total of all the troops on Reuben's side of the camp is 151,450. These three tribes will be second in line whenever the Israelites travel.

¹⁷"Then the Tabernacle, carried by the Levites, will set out from the middle of the camp. All the tribes are to travel in the same order that they camp, each in position under the appropriate family banner.

¹⁸⁻¹⁹"The divisions of Ephraim, Manasseh, and Benjamin are to camp on the west side of the Tabernacle, beneath their family banners. These are the names of the tribes, their leaders, and the numbers of their registered troops:

Tribe	Leader	Number
Ephraim	Elishama son of Ammihud	40,500
²⁰⁻²¹ Manasseh	Gamaliel son of Pedahzur	32,200
²²⁻²³ Benjamin	Abidan son of Gideon	35,400

²⁴So the total of all the troops on Ephraim's side of the camp is 108,100. These three tribes will be third in line whenever the Israelites travel.

²⁵⁻²⁶"The divisions of Dan, Asher, and Naphtali are to camp on the north side of the Tabernacle, beneath their family banners. These are the names of the tribes, their leaders, and the numbers of their registered troops:

Tribe	Leader	Number
Dan	Ahiezer son of Ammishaddai	62,700
²⁷⁻²⁸ Asher	Pagiel son of Ocran	41,500
²⁹⁻³⁰ Naphtali	Ahira son of Enan	53,400

³¹So the total of all the troops on Dan's side of the camp is 157,600. These three tribes will be last, marching under their banners whenever the Israelites travel."

³²In summary, the troops of Israel listed by their families totaled 603,550. ³³But as the LORD had commanded, the Levites were

2:1-34 Israel's camps were to be organized by tribal groupings. This arrangement may have reflected concerns for social status, access to water, and security for the Tabernacle, which represented the Lord's presence. The Egyptian army from approximately this same era camped in a similar defensive formation to protect the sacred objects that accompanied their field campaigns.

2:2 Each area of the Hebrew camp was identified by family banners, which were probably flags or streamers (1:52). The use of such tribal symbols or battle flags finds an analogy in modern bedouin life, where the divisions of tribe, clan, and family have long held great importance. • The tribes camped around the sanctuary at a safe distance (cp. Josh 3:4) that respected the gap between God's holiness and the non-Levitical tribes.

2:2 Tabernacle: Literally the Tent of Meeting; also in 2:17. See notes on Exod 27:21; 40:2.

2:3-9 The tribes of Judah, Issachar, and Zebulun camped in the most prestigious place on the east side of the Tabernacle and led the way when Israel was on the move. This largest of the tribal groups (186,400) could provide adequate protection for the sacred tent and its attendants.

2:10-16 The tribes of Reuben, Simeon, and Gad camped on the south. With their 151,450 warriors, they took second place in the line of march.

2:14-15 son of Deuel: As in many Hebrew manuscripts, Samaritan Pentateuch, and Latin Vulgate (see also 1:14); most Hebrew manuscripts read son of Reuel.

2:18-24 The tribes of Ephraim, Manasseh, and Benjamin marched behind the Tabernacle and the Levites.

2:25-31 The tribes of Dan, Asher, and Naphtali brought up the rear.

not included in this registration. ³⁴So the people of Israel did everything as the LORD had commanded Moses. Each clan and family set up camp and marched under their banners exactly as the LORD had instructed them.

Family of Aaron

3 This is the family line of Aaron and Moses as it was recorded when the LORD spoke to Moses on Mount Sinai: ²The names of Aaron's sons were Nadab (the oldest), Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. ³These sons of Aaron were anointed and ordained to minister as priests. ⁴But Nadab and Abihu died in the LORD's presence in the wilderness of Sinai when they burned before the LORD the wrong kind of fire, different than he had commanded. Since they had no sons, this left only Eleazar and Ithamar to serve as priests with their father, Aaron.

Levites Appointed for Service

⁵Then the LORD said to Moses, ⁶"Call forward the tribe of Levi, and present them to Aaron the ^bpriest to serve as his assistants. ⁷They will serve Aaron and the whole community, performing their sacred duties in and around the Tabernacle. ⁸They will also maintain all the furnishings of the sacred tent, serving in the Tabernacle on behalf of all the Israelites. ⁹Assign the Levites to Aaron and his sons. They have been given from among all the people of Israel to serve as their assistants. ¹⁰Appoint Aaron and his sons to carry out the duties of the priesthood. But any unauthorized person who goes too near the sanctuary must be put to death."

¹¹And the LORD said to Moses, ¹²"Look, I have chosen the Levites from among the Israelites to serve as substitutes for all the firstborn sons of the people of Israel. The Levites belong to me, ¹³for all the firstborn males are mine. On the day I struck down all the firstborn sons of the Egyptians, I set apart for myself all the firstborn in Israel, both of people and of animals. They are mine; I am the LORD."

Registration of the Levites

¹⁴The LORD spoke again to Moses in the wilderness of Sinai. He said, ¹⁵"Record the names of the members of the tribe of Levi by their families and clans. List every male who is one month old or older." ¹⁶So Moses listed them, just as the LORD had commanded.

¹⁷Levi had three sons, whose names were Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.

¹⁸The clans descended from Gershon were named after two of his descendants, Libni and Shimei.

¹⁹The clans descended from Kohath were named after four of his descendants, Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel.

²⁰The clans descended from Merari were named after two of his descendants, Mahli and Mushi.

These were the Levite clans, listed according to their family groups.

²¹The descendants of Gershon were composed of the clans descended from Libni and Shimei. ²²There were 7,500 males one month old or older among these Gershonite clans. ²³They were assigned the area to the west of the Tabernacle for their camp.

3:2
Num 26:60

3:3
Exod 28:41

3:4
Lev 10:1-2
Num 26:61

3:6
Num 8:6-22; 18:2-6
^bkohen (3548)
• Num 5:16

3:7
Num 3:41; 8:16-18

3:10
Num 1:51

3:12
Num 3:41

3:13
Exod 13:2, 12, 15
Num 8:17

3:15
Num 1:47

2:34 The Hebrews initially obeyed God by camping and marching in the manner Moses had specified, but this obedient spirit did not last for long.

3:1-4:49 The organization and duties of Israel's priests and Levites included the transportation, assembly, safety, and upkeep of the Tabernacle. The physical arrangement of Israel's tribes reflected concern for these activities.

3:1-4 The family line of Aaron provided the professional priests who led Israel's worship. Aaron's four sons were the foundation of Israel's priesthood; they stood in God's presence and served him on behalf of the people. They were appointed to lead the people and serve the Lord as ministers in the Tabernacle and as guardians of God's covenant with his people.

3:4 The deaths of Nadab and Abihu (see Lev 10:1-2) highlighted the importance of guarding the holiness of the sanctuary and of strict obedience to God's instructions (26:61; Lev 16:1; 1 Chr 24:2; cp. Acts 5:1-11; 1 Cor 10:6-11; 11:29-30). • Eleazar and Ithamar: See "Eleazar" at 20:22-29, p. 284.

3:5-13 The Levites were appointed as assistants to the priests, who were represented by Aaron. Their ministry included sacred duties (3:7) in maintaining the Tabernacle and its furnishings (3:8; described in greater detail in 4:1-33).

3:7 around the Tabernacle: Literally around the Tent of Meeting, doing service at the Tabernacle.

3:8 sacred tent: Literally the Tent of Meeting; also in 3:25. See note on Exod 27:21.

3:10 The sanctuary was sacred (1:51; 3:38; 18:7); it was not to be approached by the unqualified (cp. 3:4).

3:11-13 The firstborn sons . . . of Israel belonged to God, having been spared when the Egyptian firstborn sons died (3:13; see Exod 11-12). The Levites were chosen . . . to serve as substitutes in their place.

3:14-39 This first phase of a two-stage registration of the tribe of Levi (see 4:34-49 for stage two) summarized each family group's special responsibilities (described in greater detail in 4:1-33). This numbering was not linked with military duties, so it enrolled male Levites from the age of one month (3:40-41). • Three family groups are descended from Gershon, Kohath, and Merari, the three sons of Levi. These clans (often called the Gershonites, Kohathites, and Merarites) later inherited the "cities of refuge" (Josh 21) and filled various important posts in the Jerusalem Temple (2 Chr 29:3-17).

3:25
Num 4:24-26
3:27
Exod 6:18
1 Chr 26:23
3:33
Exod 6:19
3:38
Num 1:51; 3:10
3:39
Num 26:62
3:41
Num 3:12, 45
3:43
Num 3:39
3:45
Lev 11:44
3:46
Exod 13:13, 15
Num 18:14-16
3:47
Exod 30:13
Lev 27:1-8
3:50
Num 3:46-48

²⁴The leader of the Gershonite clans was Eliasaph son of Lael. ²⁵These two clans were responsible to care for the Tabernacle, including the sacred tent with its layers of coverings, the curtain at its entrance, ²⁶the curtains of the courtyard that surrounded the Tabernacle and altar, the curtain at the courtyard entrance, the ropes, and all the equipment related to their use.

²⁷The descendants of Kohath were composed of the clans descended from Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel. ²⁸There were 8,600 males one month old or older among these Kohathite clans. They were responsible for the care of the sanctuary, ²⁹and they were assigned the area south of the Tabernacle for their camp. ³⁰The leader of the Kohathite clans was Elizaphan son of Uzziel. ³¹These four clans were responsible for the care of the Ark, the table, the lampstand, the altars, the various articles used in the sanctuary, the inner curtain, and all the equipment related to their use. ³²Eleazar, son of Aaron the priest, was the chief administrator over all the Levites, with special responsibility for the oversight of the sanctuary.

³³The descendants of Merari were composed of the clans descended from Mahli and Mushi. ³⁴There were 6,200 males one month old or older among these Merarite clans. ³⁵They were assigned the area north of the Tabernacle for their camp. The leader of the Merarite clans was Zuriel son of Abihail. ³⁶These two clans were responsible for the care of the frames supporting the Tabernacle, the crossbars, the pillars, the bases, and all the equipment related to their use. ³⁷They were also responsible for the posts of the courtyard and all their bases, pegs, and ropes.

³⁸The area in front of the Tabernacle, in the east toward the sunrise, was reserved for the tents of Moses and of Aaron and his sons, who had the final responsibility for the sanctuary on behalf of the people of Israel. Anyone other than a priest or Levite who went too near the sanctuary was to be put to death.

³⁹When Moses and Aaron counted the Levite clans at the LORD's command, the total number was 22,000 males one month old or older.

Redeeming the Firstborn Sons

⁴⁰Then the LORD said to Moses, "Now count all the firstborn sons in Israel who are one month old or older, and make a list of their names. ⁴¹The Levites must be reserved for me as substitutes for the firstborn sons of Israel; I am the LORD. And the Levites' livestock must be reserved for me as substitutes for the firstborn livestock of the whole nation of Israel."

⁴²So Moses counted the firstborn sons of the people of Israel, just as the LORD had commanded. ⁴³The number of firstborn sons who were one month old or older was 22,273.

⁴⁴Then the LORD said to Moses, ⁴⁵"Take the Levites as substitutes for the firstborn sons of the people of Israel. And take the livestock of the Levites as substitutes for the firstborn livestock of the people of Israel. The Levites belong to me; I am the LORD. ⁴⁶There are 273 more firstborn sons of Israel than there are Levites. To redeem these extra firstborn sons, ⁴⁷collect five pieces of silver for each of them (each piece weighing the same as the sanctuary shekel, which equals twenty gerahs). ⁴⁸Give the silver to Aaron and his sons as the redemption price for the extra firstborn sons."

⁴⁹So Moses collected the silver for redeeming the firstborn sons of Israel who exceeded the number of Levites. ⁵⁰He collected 1,365 pieces of silver on behalf of 3:27-32 Aaron and Moses, sons of Amram, were descendants of Kohath (see Exod 6:18, 20, 26). Because they were caretakers of the sanctuary (the Most Holy Place) and its very sacred furnishings (described in chs 3-4), the Kohathites were the most highly regarded of the three clans.

3:28 8,600: Some Greek manuscripts read 8,300; see total in 3:39. The "six" (Hebrew shsh) in 8,600 could result from misreading a "three" (Hebrew shlsh).

3:32 Eleazar, Aaron's third son, presided over the Levites as administrator (perhaps as an executive secretary) while his father dealt with other matters; he had special . . . oversight of the Tabernacle (4:16-20). He played an important role in Israel's wilderness period and later succeeded his father as high priest (see 16:37-39; 19:3-6; 20:25-28; 26:1-3).

3:38 The preeminent campsite east of the Tabernacle *was reserved for . . . Moses, Aaron, and his priestly sons. * toward the sunrise: Literally toward the sunrise, in front of the Tent of Meeting.*

3:39 22,000: The numbers listed for each clan (3:22, 28, 34) add up to 22,300. See note on 3:28.

3:40-51 There were 273 more firstborn sons in Israel (in the non-Levite tribes) than there were Levite males (cp. 3:39).

Because the Levites served as substitutes for the firstborn of Israel (3:41; see note on 3:11-13), a redemption price (3:48) of five pieces of silver (3:47) had to be paid for each of the extra firstborn sons (3:46; cp. Lev 27:6). It is not clear who covered this cost. This provision for a special class of substitutes points to Christ's role as a substitute; through his death, Christ paid the redemption price for all humanity (see Mark 10:45; Gal 3:13; Eph 1:7; Heb 9:15).

3:47 five pieces of silver: Hebrew 5 shekels [2 ounces or 57 grams].

3:50 1,365 pieces of silver: Hebrew 1,365 [shekels] of silver [34 pounds or 15.5 kilograms].

these firstborn sons of Israel (each piece weighing the same as the sanctuary shekel).⁵¹ And Moses gave the silver for the redemption to Aaron and his sons, just as the LORD had commanded.

Duties of the Levites (4:1-49)

Duties of the Kohathite Clan

4 Then the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, ²Record the names of the members of the clans and families of the Kohathite division of the tribe of Levi. ³List all the men between the ages of thirty and fifty who are eligible to serve in the Tabernacle.

⁴The duties of the Kohathites at the Tabernacle will relate to the most sacred objects. ⁵When the camp moves, Aaron and his sons must enter the Tabernacle first to take down the inner curtain and cover the Ark of the Covenant with it. ⁶Then they must cover the inner curtain with fine goat-skin leather and spread over that a single piece of blue cloth. Finally, they must put the carrying poles of the Ark in place.

⁷Next they must spread a blue cloth over the table where the Bread of the Presence is displayed, and on the cloth they will place the bowls, ladles, jars, pitchers, and the special bread. ⁸They must spread a scarlet cloth over all of this, and finally a covering of fine goatskin leather on top of the scarlet cloth. Then they must insert the carrying poles into the table.

⁹Next they must cover the lampstand with a blue cloth, along with its lamps, lamp snuffers, trays, and special jars of olive oil. ¹⁰Then they must cover the lampstand and its accessories with fine goatskin leather and place the bundle on a carrying frame.

¹¹Next they must spread a blue cloth over the gold incense altar and cover this cloth with fine goatskin leather. Then they must attach the carrying poles to the altar. ¹²They must take all the remaining furnishings of the sanctuary and wrap them in a blue cloth, cover them with fine goatskin leather, and place them on the carrying frame.

¹³They must remove the ashes from the altar for sacrifices and cover the altar with a purple cloth. ¹⁴All the altar utensils—the firepans, meat forks, shovels, basins, and all the containers—must be placed on the cloth, and a covering of fine goatskin leather must be spread over them. Finally, they must put the carrying poles in place. ¹⁵The camp will be ready to move when Aaron and his sons have finished covering the sanctuary and all the sacred articles. The Kohathites will come and carry these things to the next destination. But they must not touch the sacred objects, or they will die. So these are the things from the Tabernacle that the Kohathites must carry.

¹⁶Eleazar son of Aaron the priest will be responsible for the oil of the lampstand, the fragrant incense, the daily grain offering, and the anointing oil. In fact, Eleazar will be responsible for the entire Tabernacle and everything in it, including the sanctuary and its furnishings."

4:3
Num 4:23; 8:24-25

4:6
Num 4:25

4:7
Exod 37:10-16
Lev 24:5-8

4:9
Exod 25:17-38

4:15
Num 4:19-20

4:16
Exod 25:1-7; 30:22-34

4:1-49 This section expands the discussion begun in 3:21-37 on the duties of the three clans of Levites. The Levites—on the march and encamped—carried and cared for the Tabernacle and were always surrounded by the other tribes so that they and their precious cargo would be safe (2:17). The sacred things associated with God were placed in the middle of the tribes, and the role of the priests and their Levitical assistants was to keep them holy by keeping them separate. • God, in his holiness, is worthy of attention to the details of his will. His Tabernacle and its furnishings were sacred, and the tribe of Levi was responsible to maintain the distinction between holy and common, between clean and unclean. This explains why so much information is provided about the duties of the three clans of Levites.

4:1 Moses and Aaron were mediators of God's will regarding the care and transport of the Tabernacle, the primary charge of the three Levitical families.

4:3 Of the 22,000 Levites (3:39), only men between the ages of thirty and fifty, those in the prime of their life, were allowed to serve in the sanctuary. The summary of this registration (another "numbering") found in 4:34-49 gives the total number of qualified males as 8,580. • the Tabernacle: Literally the Tent of Meeting; also in 4:4, 15, 23, 25, 28, 30, 31, 33, 35, 37, 39, 41, 43, 47. See note on Exod 27:21.

4:4-20 The duties of the Kohathites (see 3:27-32) are listed first because they performed a special service related to the most sacred objects (perhaps because Aaron and the priests came from this clan; 1 Chr 6:2-3). The tasks of carrying, setting up, and disassembling these sacred coverings and furnishings were extremely important. All the things entrusted to Kohath's descendants—the Ark of the Covenant, the table of the Bread of the Presence, the lampstand (Hebrew menorah), the gold incense altar, and the altar for sacrifices—held tremendous value. These objects are first described in Exod 25-30, but Numbers shows how they were integrated into Hebrew life. The Kohathites carried these items on poles or in frames, and they were not to touch them or enter the sanctuary to look at them on penalty of death.

4:5 Ark of the Covenant: Or Ark of the Testimony.

4:15 Aaron and his surviving sons Eleazar and Ithamar had to cover the sanctuary and all the sacred articles completely before the camp was ready to move, with the groups of non-Levitical tribes marching before and behind the Levites who carried the Tabernacle. The royalty of these objects is seen in the symbolic colors of the coverings, and their sacredness underlies the stern warning that even though the Kohathites were the designated handlers, they must not touch the sacred objects, or they would die. Such respect marked the holiness of Israel's Lord. The dangers of disregarding these instructions are apparent in 1 Sam 6:19-20 and 2 Sam 6:6-7.

4:16-20 Eleazar: See note on 3:32.

4:23
Num 4:3
4:25
Num 3:25-26
4:30
Num 4:3
4:46
Num 1:19
4:49
Num 1:47-49

¹⁷Then the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, ¹⁸"Do not let the Kohathite clans be destroyed from among the Levites! ¹⁹This is what you must do so they will live and not die when they approach the most sacred objects. Aaron and his sons must always go in with them and assign a specific duty or load to each person. ²⁰The Kohathites must never enter the sanctuary to look at the sacred objects for even a moment, or they will die."

Duties of the Gershonite Clan

²¹And the LORD said to Moses, ²²"Record the names of the members of the clans and families of the Gershonite division of the tribe of Levi. ²³List all the men between the ages of thirty and fifty who are eligible to serve in the Tabernacle.

²⁴"These Gershonite clans will be responsible for general service and carrying loads. ²⁵They must carry the curtains of the Tabernacle, the Tabernacle itself with its coverings, the outer covering of fine goatskin leather, and the curtain for the Tabernacle entrance. ²⁶They are also to carry the curtains for the courtyard walls that surround the Tabernacle and altar, the curtain across the courtyard entrance, the ropes, and all the equipment related to their use. The Gershonites are responsible for all these items. ²⁷Aaron and his sons will direct the Gershonites regarding all their duties, whether it involves moving the equipment or doing other work. They must assign the Gershonites responsibility for the loads they are to carry. ²⁸So these are the duties assigned to the Gershonite clans at the Tabernacle. They will be directly responsible to Ithamar son of Aaron the priest.

Duties of the Merarite Clan

²⁹"Now record the names of the members of the clans and families of the Merarite division of the tribe of Levi. ³⁰List all the men between the ages of thirty and fifty who are eligible to serve in the Tabernacle.

³¹"Their only duty at the Tabernacle will be to carry loads. They will carry the frames of the Tabernacle, the crossbars, the posts, and the bases; ³²also the posts for the courtyard walls with their bases, pegs, and ropes; and all the accessories and everything else related to their use. Assign the various loads to each man by name. ³³So these are the duties of the Merarite clans at the Tabernacle. They are directly responsible to Ithamar son of Aaron the priest."

Summary of the Registration

³⁴So Moses, Aaron, and the other leaders of the community listed the members of the Kohathite division by their clans and families. ³⁵The list included all the men between thirty and fifty years of age who were eligible for service in the Tabernacle, ³⁶and the total number came to 2,750. ³⁷So this was the total of all those from the Kohathite clans who were eligible to serve at the Tabernacle. Moses and Aaron listed them, just as the LORD had commanded through Moses.

³⁸The Gershonite division was also listed by its clans and families. ³⁹The list included all the men between thirty and fifty years of age who were eligible for service in the Tabernacle, ⁴⁰and the total number came to 2,630. ⁴¹So this was the total of all those from the Gershonite clans who were eligible to serve at the Tabernacle. Moses and Aaron listed them, just as the LORD had commanded.

⁴²The Merarite division was also listed by its clans and families. ⁴³The list included all the men between thirty and fifty years of age who were eligible for service in the Tabernacle, ⁴⁴and the total number came to 3,200. ⁴⁵So this was the total of all those from the Merarite clans who were eligible for service. Moses and Aaron listed them, just as the LORD had commanded through Moses.

⁴⁶So Moses, Aaron, and the leaders of Israel listed all the Levites by their clans and families. ⁴⁷All the men between thirty and fifty years of age who were eligible for service in the Tabernacle and for its transportation ⁴⁸numbered 8,580. ⁴⁹When their names were recorded, as the LORD had commanded through Moses, each man was assigned his task and told what to carry.

And so the registration was completed, just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

4:21-28 The men of the Gershonite clan (see 3:21-26) were responsible for general service and carrying loads (4:24). This involved handling the curtains and coverings, ropes, and related equipment that was less central to Israel's worship. Their duties focused on the Tabernacle in general instead of on the sacred objects of the inner sanctuary that were the responsibility of Kohath's clan.

4:29-33 Even this assignment to the Merarite clan, which focused on items of lesser priority than those handled by the Kohathites and Gershonites, had to be done in a specific way, and the various loads were assigned to each man by name (4:32; cp. 1 Cor 14:40). While the Gershonites and Merarites lacked the status of Kohath's family, each group contributed to the process of moving and erecting the Tabernacle.

4:34-49 The process of numbering and recording the Levites' names and making sure that each man understood his assignment was an important step in organizing Israel to travel and camp in the correct manner and in safeguarding the Tabernacle.

Laws Regarding Ritual and Moral Purity

(5:1–6:27)

Purity in Israel's Camp

5 The LORD gave these instructions to Moses: ²"Command the people of Israel to remove from the camp anyone who has a skin disease or a discharge, or who has become ceremonially unclean by touching a dead person. ³This command applies to men and women alike. Remove them so they will not defile the camp in which I live among them." ⁴So the Israelites did as the LORD had commanded Moses and removed such people from the camp.

⁵Then the LORD said to Moses, ⁶"Give the following instructions to the people of Israel: If any of the people—men or women—betray the LORD by doing wrong to another person, they are guilty. ⁷They must confess their sin and make full restitution for what they have done, adding an additional 20 percent and returning it to the person who was wronged. ⁸But if the person who was wronged is dead, and there are no near relatives to whom restitution can be made, the payment belongs to the LORD and must be given to the priest. Those who are guilty must also bring a ram as a sacrifice, and they will be purified and made right with the LORD. ⁹All the sacred offerings that the Israelites bring to a priest will belong to him. ¹⁰Each priest may keep all the sacred donations that he receives."

A Test for Adultery

¹¹And the LORD said to Moses, ¹²"Give the following instructions to the people of Israel.

"Suppose a man's wife goes astray, and she is unfaithful to her husband ¹³and has sex with another man, but neither her husband nor anyone else knows about it. She has defiled herself, even though there was no witness and she was not caught in the act. ¹⁴If her husband becomes jealous and is suspicious of his wife and needs to know whether or not she has defiled herself, ¹⁵the husband must bring his wife to the priest. He must also bring an offering of two quarts of barley flour to be presented on her behalf. Do not mix it with olive oil or frankincense, for it is a jealousy offering—an offering to prove whether or not she is guilty.

¹⁶The ^cpriest will then present her to stand trial before the LORD. ¹⁷He must take some holy water in a clay jar and pour into

5:2
Lev 13:3, 46; 15:2

5:3
Lev 26:12
2 Cor 6:16

5:7
Lev 5:5, 16; 6:4-5

5:9
Lev 6:17

5:12
Num 5:19-21, 29

5:15
Ezek 29:16

5:16
^ckohen (3548)
¹Deut 17:9

5:1–10:10 These legal matters were to ensure the purity of the Israelites, their priesthood, and the Tabernacle. Such regulations drew constant attention to ancient Israel's identity as a theocracy of which Moses was the primary spokesman.

5:1–31 These laws concern purity, restitution, and marital faithfulness.

5:1–4 Modern Westerners find the need for ceremonial or ritual purity difficult to understand. Westerners view skin diseases, bodily discharge, and contact with corpses as concerns of health and hygiene, but the primary issue in the OT is guarding God's holiness against ceremonial uncleanness (see Lev 11–15). The community had to safeguard the holiness of the camp so that unclean things or people did not ceremonially defile things associated with the Lord (5:2–3). The community had to choose between having God in the camp or letting a defiled person remain in the camp, because both could not remain (5:3). • The importance of purity extends from Leviticus and Numbers to the book of Revelation: All that is ceremonially unclean will be forbidden to enter the New Jerusalem where God resides (see note on Rev 21:27). In the NT, however, impurity is limited to what is morally impure (Acts 10:28; Eph 5:5; 1 Thes 2:3; 4:7).

5:2 skin disease: Traditionally rendered leprosy. The Hebrew word used here describes various skin diseases that were regarded as contagious (cp. Lev 13–14).

• Discharge refers to fluids associated with sexual organs (Lev 15; cp. Luke 8:43–48). • touching a dead person: See 6:6–11; 19:11.

5:5–10 Guidelines regarding confession and restitution for wrongdoing emphasize the strong Hebrew concern for morality (Lev 6:1–7).

5:6 Doing something wrong to another human being is the same as betraying—literally breaking faith with—the Lord (cp. 5:8). A right relationship with God produces right relationships with people; a wrong relationship with others shows a wrong relationship with the Lord.

5:7 This restitution and the guilt offering (see Lev 6–7) associated with the sin was intended to inculcate a heightened sense of individual responsibility to God's holiness.

5:8 Because sin is ultimately against God (5:6; Ps 51:4), the perpetrator had a moral obligation to make restitution to the LORD, who authorized the human victims of the sin to receive that payment; if none were living, the Lord received payment through the priest. Perpetrators also had to offer a valuable sacrifice that restored their ritual purity (5:1–4) and their relationship with God.

• bring a ram as a sacrifice, and they will be purified and made right with the LORD: Or bring a ram for atonement, which will make atonement for them. See note on Lev 1:4.

5:9–10 Priests supported their families partly by receiving a share of the sacrifices. In some instances, surplus sacrifices could be sold to provide funds for the priesthood, for maintaining the sanctuary, and for other religious needs (cp. 1 Cor 8:4–13).

5:11–31 This detailed test for adultery, a "trial by ordeal," is the only such case found in the OT, though trial by ordeal was a common procedure in the ancient Near East. God had a special interest in safeguarding marriage as the foundation of Hebrew society, and the purpose of this ordeal was to promote marital faithfulness. We cannot determine how commonly such ordeals actually occurred. This procedure appealed to God's own intervention to ensure justice in cases lacking evidence (cp. 1 Cor 5:5).

5:14–15 The husband presented his case before the priest, and the "ritual law for dealing with suspicion" (5:29) took the husband's jealousy and suspicion to a higher court.

5:15 two quarts: Hebrew $\frac{1}{2}$ of an ephah [2.2 liters].

5:17 The holy water and the dust were sacred because of their association with the sanctuary.

5:21
Josh 6:26
1 Sam 14:24
Neh 10:29

5:22
d'amen (0543)
• Deut 27:15

5:26
Lev 2:2

5:27
Jer 29:18; 42:18

5:29
Num 5:12

6:2
Judg 13:4-5; 16:17
Amos 2:11-12

6:3
Luke 1:15

6:5
1 Sam 1:11

it dust he has taken from the Tabernacle floor. ¹⁸When the priest has presented the woman before the LORD, he must unbind her hair and place in her hands the offering of proof—the jealousy offering to determine whether her husband's suspicions are justified. The priest will stand before her, holding the jar of bitter water that brings a curse to those who are guilty. ¹⁹The priest will then put the woman under oath and say to her, 'If no other man has had sex with you, and you have not gone astray and defiled yourself while under your husband's authority, may you be immune from the effects of this bitter water that brings on the curse. ²⁰But if you have gone astray by being unfaithful to your husband, and have defiled yourself by having sex with another man—'

²¹'At this point the priest must put the woman under oath by saying, 'May the people know that the LORD's curse is upon you when he makes you infertile, causing your womb to shrivel and your abdomen to swell. ²²Now may this water that brings the curse enter your body and cause your abdomen to swell and your womb to shrivel.' And the woman will be required to say, ^d'Yes, let it be so.' ²³And the priest will write these curses on a piece of leather and wash them off into the bitter water. ²⁴He will make the woman drink the bitter water that brings on the curse. When the water enters her body, it will cause bitter suffering if she is guilty.

²⁵'The priest will take the jealousy offering from the woman's hand, lift it up before the LORD, and carry it to the altar. ²⁶He will take a handful of the flour as a token portion and burn it on the altar, and he will require the woman to drink the water. ²⁷If she has defiled herself by being unfaithful to her husband, the water that brings on the curse will cause bitter suffering. Her abdomen will swell and her womb will shrink, and her name will become a curse among her people. ²⁸But if she has not defiled herself and is pure, then she will be unharmed and will still be able to have children.

²⁹'This is the ritual law for dealing with suspicion. If a woman goes astray and defiles herself while under her husband's authority, ³⁰or if a man becomes jealous and is suspicious that his wife has been unfaithful, the husband must present his wife before the LORD, and the priest will apply this entire ritual law to her. ³¹The husband will be innocent of any guilt in this matter, but his wife will be held accountable for her sin."

Nazirite Laws

6 Then the LORD said to Moses, ²"Give the following instructions to the people of Israel.

"If any of the people, either men or women, take the special vow of a Nazirite, setting themselves apart to the LORD in a special way, ³they must give up wine and other alcoholic drinks. They must not use vinegar made from wine or from other alcoholic drinks, they must not drink fresh grape juice, and they must not eat grapes or raisins. ⁴As long as they are bound by their Nazirite vow, they are not allowed to eat or drink anything that comes from a grapevine—not even the grape seeds or skins.

⁵"They must never cut their hair throughout the time of their vow, for they are holy and set apart to the LORD. Until the time of 5:21 when he makes you infertile, causing your womb to shrivel: Literally when he causes your thigh to waste away. "Thigh" is a euphemism for the reproductive organs (cp. Gen 24:2; 47:29); something would go wrong with her reproductive abilities. The punishment suited the crime as sexual immorality resulted in the inability to have children.

5:22 cause . . . your womb to shrivel: Literally cause . . . your thigh to waste away.

5:23-24 The symbolism of drinking disturbing words is repeated in Ezek 2:8-3:3 and Rev 10:8-11.

5:27 and her womb will shrink: Literally and her thigh will waste away.

5:29-31 As the trial by ordeal is summarized and justified, it is clear that a husband's questions about his wife's guilt or innocence did not burden him with any guilt. We might raise the question of a double standard, but it was very common for ancient laws to draw attention to the woman's failure in the matter of adultery. However, Israel's legal system provided for the punishment of both parties to an affair (as in Lev 20:10; Deut 22:21-22).

6:1-21 The voluntary Nazirite vow allowed men or women to set themselves apart for the Lord. There was considerable variation in how the Nazirite lifestyle was practiced in various periods of Hebrew history. Vows were taken very seriously in ancient times as a well-established means of expressing devotion or gratitude to God. This vow could be temporary or permanent; it involved refraining from alcoholic drinks, hair cutting, and contact with corpses. Nazirite restrictions gave members of non-Levitical tribes a way to enter into a more demanding and highly respected relationship with God. The Nazirite vow is probably best known because of Samson (Judg 13-16). See also 1 Sam 1:11; Jer 35; Acts 18:8; 21:23-26; cp. Luke 1:15.

6:2 Nazirite: The Hebrew term nazir is derived from a verb that means "to separate."

6:3-4 The law required priests to avoid drinking wine before they served in the Tabernacle (Lev 10:9); the Nazirite vow allowed non-Levites to broaden that law to include all places, all times, and anything that comes from a grapevine.

6:5 Hair had special symbolic significance (cp. Lev 19:27); religious persons often left their hair uncut or shaved it off entirely (8:5-7). The Israelites were not expected to leave their hair entirely uncut, but the Nazirites were.

their vow has been fulfilled, they must let their hair grow long. ⁶And they must not go near a dead body during the entire period of their vow to the LORD. ⁷Even if the dead person is their own father, mother, brother, or sister, they must not defile themselves, for the hair on their head is the symbol of their separation to God. ⁸This requirement applies as long as they are set apart to the LORD.

⁹If someone falls dead beside them, the hair they have dedicated will be defiled. They must wait for seven days and then shave their heads. Then they will be cleansed from their defilement. ¹⁰On the eighth day they must bring two turtledoves or two young pigeons to the priest at the entrance of the Tabernacle. ¹¹The priest will offer one of the birds for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering. In this way, he will purify them from the guilt they incurred through contact with the dead body. Then they must reaffirm their commitment and let their hair begin to grow again. ¹²The days of their vow that were completed before their defilement no longer count. They must rededicate themselves to the LORD as a Nazirite for the full term of their vow, and each must bring a one-year-old male lamb for a guilt offering.

¹³"This is the ritual law for Nazirites. At the conclusion of their time of separation as Nazirites, they must each go to the entrance of the Tabernacle ¹⁴and offer their sacrifices to the LORD: a one-year-old male lamb without defect for a burnt offering, a one-year-old female lamb without defect for a sin offering, a ram without defect for a peace offering, ¹⁵a basket of bread made without yeast—cakes of choice flour mixed with olive oil and wafers spread with olive oil—along with their prescribed grain offerings and liquid offerings. ¹⁶The priest will present these offerings before the LORD: first the sin offering and the burnt offering; ¹⁷then the ram for a peace offering, along with the basket of bread made without yeast. The priest must also present the prescribed grain offering and liquid offering to the LORD.

¹⁸"Then the Nazirites will shave their heads at the entrance of the Tabernacle. They will take the hair that had been dedicated and place it on the fire beneath the peace-offering sacrifice. ¹⁹After the Nazirite's head has been shaved, the priest will take for each of them the boiled shoulder of the ram, and he will take from the basket a cake and a wafer made without yeast. He will put them all into the Nazirite's hands. ²⁰Then the priest will lift them up as a special offering before the LORD. These are holy portions for the priest, along with the breast of the special offering and the thigh of the sacred offering that are lifted up before the LORD. After this ceremony the Nazirites may again drink wine.

²¹"This is the ritual law of the Nazirites, who vow to bring these offerings to the LORD. They may also bring additional offerings if they can afford it. And they must be careful to do whatever they vowed when they set themselves apart as Nazirites."

The Priestly Blessing

²²Then the LORD said to Moses, ²³"Tell Aaron and his sons to 'bless the people of Israel with this special blessing:

²⁴ 'May the LORD bless you and protect you.

²⁵ May the LORD smile on you and be gracious to you.

6:6
Lev 21:1-3
Num 19:11-22

6:9
Num 6:18

6:11
Lev 5:7; 12:6-8

6:12
Lev 5:6

6:14
Lev 14:10

6:15
Num 15:1-7

6:18
Num 6:9

6:20
Lev 7:28-34

6:23
Deut 21:5
1 Chr 23:13
*barak (1288)
* Num 22:6

6:24
Deut 28:3-6

6:25
Ps 80:3, 7, 19

6:6-8 Dead bodies defiled whoever touched them (9:6-10). Priests were only allowed to touch the dead bodies of close relatives (Lev 21:1-4), but even that was forbidden to Nazirites.

6:9-21 Provisions were made for restoring purity in cases of unavoidable contact with a corpse. Special procedures and offerings brought the period of the Nazirite vow to a conclusion. A stern warning is added about actually fulfilling the vow (6:21).

6:10 the Tabernacle: Literally the Tent of Meeting; also in 6:13, 18. See note on Exod 27:21.

6:11 purify them: Or make atonement for them.

6:22-27 The priestly benediction is related to the overall theme of worship and purity in chs 5-6. This is a prayer on behalf of the people as the priests sought God's blessings for Israel. Since the priest represented God, such prayer was part of the priestly duty (cp. Lev 9:23; Deut 10:8). This prayer is not unlike Jesus' high priestly prayer in John 17.

6:24-26 Psalm 67:1 contains an abbreviated version of this benediction, much like one inscribed on a silver amulet excavated at Ketef Hinnom, southwest of Jerusalem's Old City (see "The Priest's Blessing," facing page). On a second, larger silver amulet from the same tomb, the complete benediction was inscribed in words almost identical to those here. In the days of the Second Temple (from Ezra to the time of Jesus), priests pronounced a blessing at each day's sacrifice or at the end of services. This blessing is still used in Jewish and Christian liturgy as a way of seeking divine blessing (as in 6:27).

6:24 The blessings sought in the first half of this verse include health, wealth, and fertility, while the protection mentioned in the second half was needed for all manner of dangers. This supplication is echoed in the language of Ps 121:3-8; 140:4; and 141:9. These heartfelt appeals are still good models for prayer and for the blessings that God's people can seek for all humanity. The entire poem draws attention to the Lord as the source of all good things.

6:25 The desire for God's smile is often translated more literally may he make his face shine upon you. • be gracious to you: God's people need his grace and mercy in a dangerous world (cp. Ps 31:16; 67:1; 80:3, 7, 19).

6:26
Ps 4:6; 29:11; 44:3
7:1
Exod 40:9-11
7:2
Num 1:2-16

²⁶ May the LORD show you his favor and give you his peace.⁷

²⁷ Whenever Aaron and his sons bless the people of Israel in my name, I myself will bless them.⁸

Israel's Final Preparations to Leave Sinai
(7:1-10:10)

Offerings for the Dedication of the Tabernacle

7 On the day Moses set up the Tabernacle, he anointed it and set it apart as holy. He also anointed and set apart all its furnishings and the altar with its utensils.

² Then the leaders of Israel—the tribal leaders who had registered the troops—came and brought their offerings. ³ Together they brought six large wagons and twelve oxen.
There was a wagon for every two leaders and an ox for each leader. They presented these to the LORD in front of the Tabernacle.

⁴ Then the LORD said to Moses, ⁵ "Receive their gifts, and use these oxen and wagons for transporting the Tabernacle. Distribute them among the Levites according to the

The Priest's Blessing (6:22-27)

The priest's blessing (6:22-27) is one of the most familiar and best-loved passages in the Hebrew Bible. Through the centuries, worshipers have found comfort in its brief but profound lines. This famous text is simple and elegant.

The priest's blessing invokes the Lord's blessing by repeating his name in each appeal ("the LORD" = Yahweh; see note on Exod 3:15). The repetition of God's name reminds God's people of his interest and involvement in their lives. This benediction emphasizes the relationship between God and his people and helps them to remember the source of their blessings.

Many OT passages refer to blessings pronounced by God and by people (e.g., Gen 12:1-3; 27:1-40; Deut 7:14-16; 28:1-14). The Israelites needed God's blessings—his help and favor—as they prepared to leave Sinai. Although the modern reader tends to think of a blessing in general terms, the Israelites in the wilderness must have understood it in terms of food, water, health, children, protection from enemies, and settlement in the Promised Land. Throughout the book of Numbers, God dealt with Israel through these down-to-earth concerns.

The Lord blessed Israel through the good words of Aaron and his sons, the priests (6:22-23). In addition to their work in the Tabernacle (and later the Temple), the priests played an important role in Israelite life. For example, the priests helped administer justice in the land (Deut 17:8-12) and assisted the king in his duties, according to a principle established in Deut 17:18-20. Eli the priest comforted Hannah and took an active role in the spiritual formation of young Samuel (1 Sam 1-3). The priests and Levites were active in Israel's spiritual instruction (see, e.g., Deut 33:9-10; Neh 8:9-12; Mal 2:6-9).

An important archaeological discovery draws attention to the significance of this ancient priestly blessing. In 1980, excavators recovered two small silver scrolls from a rock-cut tomb at Ketef Hinnom, southwest of the Old City of Jerusalem. Scholars date these small amulets to the late 600s or early 500s bc. When these delicate scrolls were unrolled through a lengthy and tedious process, they were found to contain the blessing from 6:24-26 in words that are very close to the text in the Hebrew Bible. In ancient times, such scrolls were sometimes worn as charms, similar in function to the tefillin, or "phylacteries" or "prayer boxes" (see Deut 6:8; Matt 23:5). These small scrolls are the earliest manuscripts (written documents) of the biblical text and contain the earliest reference to Yahweh, the OT name of God, found in Jerusalem. These artifacts point to the timeless appeal of this brief text.

6:26 God's favor—the display of his face, or countenance—refers to his approval and special attention (cp. Ps 30:7). Divine peace (Hebrew shalom) is not just the absence of conflict or violence; God's peace brings complete well-being, health, and wholeness.

6:27 The priests were the mediators of God's covenant with Israel, so their duty was to pray for God's people and invoke his blessing on them. Jesus has the same role in relation to the church (see Rom 8:34; Heb 2:17-18; 4:14-16).

7:1-89 This detailed description of offerings presented by Israel's twelve tribes at the dedication of the Tabernacle includes the dedicatory gifts brought on twelve successive days.

7:1 The day Moses set up the Tabernacle was the first day of the second year after the Exodus (Exod 40:1-2). • Once Moses finished setting up the Tabernacle, he anointed and set apart (or consecrated) its furnishings, the altar, and its utensils (cp. Exod 40:9-10; Lev 8:10-11). As the locus of sacrifice, the altar held special importance among the sacred furniture.

7:2-9 The same tribal leaders that assisted in the registration of ch 1 are found in 7:2-3. The non-Levitical tribes supplied the Gershonites and Merarites with the wagons and oxen needed to transport the heavy structural components of the Tabernacle and other items (cp. Num 4). • These vehicles and draft animals were the first offerings from the Hebrew tribes (7:2); these practical gifts were accompanied by more elaborate dedicatory offerings that were also presented by the tribal leaders (7:10, 12-83).

7:5 the Tabernacle: Literally the Tent work they have to do.” ⁶So Moses took the wagons and oxen and presented them to the Levites. ⁷He gave two wagons and four oxen to the Gershonite division for their work, ⁸and he gave four wagons and eight oxen to the Merarite division for their work. All their work was done under the leadership of Ithamar son of Aaron the priest. ⁹But he gave none of the wagons or oxen to the Kohathite division, since they were required to carry the sacred objects of the Tabernacle on their shoulders.

¹⁰The leaders also presented dedication gifts for the altar at the time it was anointed. They each placed their gifts before the altar. ¹¹The LORD said to Moses, “Let one leader bring his gift each day for the dedication of the altar.”

¹²On the first day Nahshon son of Amminadab, leader of the tribe of Judah, presented his offering.

¹³His offering consisted of a silver platter weighing $3\frac{1}{4}$ pounds and a silver basin weighing $1\frac{1}{4}$ pounds (as measured by the weight of the sanctuary shekel). These were both filled with grain offerings of choice flour moistened with olive oil. ¹⁴He also brought a gold container weighing four ounces, which was filled with incense. ¹⁵He brought a young bull, a ram, and a one-year-old male lamb for a burnt offering, ¹⁶and a male goat for a sin offering. ¹⁷For a peace offering he brought two bulls, five rams, five male goats, and five one-year-old male lambs. This was the offering brought by Nahshon son of Amminadab.

¹⁸On the second day Nethanel son of Zuar, leader of the tribe of Issachar, presented his offering.

¹⁹His offering consisted of a silver platter weighing $3\frac{1}{4}$ pounds and a silver basin weighing $1\frac{1}{4}$ pounds (as measured by the weight of the sanctuary shekel).

These were both filled with grain offerings of choice flour moistened with olive oil. ²⁰He also brought a gold container weighing four ounces, which was filled with incense. ²¹He brought a young bull, a ram, and a one-year-old male lamb for a burnt offering, ²²and a male goat for a sin offering. ²³For a peace offering he brought two bulls, five rams, five male goats, and five one-year-old male lambs. This was the offering brought by Nethanel son of Zuar.

²⁴On the third day Eliab son of Helon, leader of the tribe of Zebulun, presented his offering.

²⁵His offering consisted of a silver platter weighing $3\frac{1}{4}$ pounds and a silver basin weighing $1\frac{1}{4}$ pounds (as measured by the weight of the sanctuary shekel). These were both filled with grain offerings of choice flour moistened with olive oil. ²⁶He also brought a gold container weighing four ounces, which was filled with incense. ²⁷He brought a young bull, a ram, and a one-year-old male lamb for a burnt offering, ²⁸and a male goat for a sin offering. ²⁹For a peace offering he brought two bulls, five rams, five male goats, and five one-year-old male lambs. This was the offering brought by Eliab son of Helon.

³⁰On the fourth day Elizur son of Shedeur, leader of the tribe of Reuben, presented his offering.

³¹His offering consisted of a silver platter weighing $3\frac{1}{4}$ pounds and a silver basin weighing $1\frac{1}{4}$ pounds (as measured by the weight of the sanctuary shekel). These were both filled with grain offerings of choice flour moistened with olive oil. ³²He also brought a gold container weighing four ounces, which was filled with incense. ³³He brought a young bull, a ram, and a one-year-old

7:7
Num 4:26
7:8
Num 4:33
7:9
Num 4:5-15
7:14
Exod 30:34
7:16
Lev 4:3
7:17
Lev 3:1
7:18
Num 1:8
7:29
Lev 7:32
7:30
Num 1:5

of Meeting; also in 7:89. See note on Exod 27:21.

7:9 A later Israelite attempt to transport the Ark by cart ended in tragedy (1 Sam 6:8, 11; 2 Sam 6:3, 6-7).

7:10-11 In addition to the wagons and oxen, the tribal leaders also presented gifts of silver and gold vessels and other religious offerings for the altar at the time it was anointed. Beginning with the tribe of Judah, the tribal leaders brought these gifts to the Tabernacle on twelve consecutive days. The gifts came from items collected from the Egyptians when Israel departed from Egypt (cp. Exod 12:35-36; 25:3).

7:12-83 One by one, the tribal leaders brought their dedicatory gifts and offerings until the entire Hebrew confederation had participated. The repetitious pattern of describing each tribal gift emphasizes the communal nature of this ceremony; all tribes played a role in consecrating their place of worship. The detailed listing might reflect the meticulous record keeping of an archive or ledger. As noted in the record for each tribe, the silver vessels contained grain offerings, and the gold vessels held incense. Every tribe also brought animals as a burnt offering, a sin offering, and a peace offering, as specified in Leviticus.

7:13 silver platter weighing $3\frac{1}{4}$ pounds and a silver basin weighing $1\frac{1}{4}$ pounds: Hebrew silver platter weighing 130 [shekels] [1.5 kilograms] and a silver basin weighing 70 shekels [800 grams]; also in 7:19, 25, 31, 37, 43, 49, 55, 61, 67, 73, 79, 85.

7:14 four ounces: Hebrew 10 [shekels] [114 grams]; also in 7:20, 26, 32, 38, 44, 50, 56, 62, 68, 74, 80, 86.

7:34
Heb 10:4

7:36
Num 1:6

7:42
Num 1:14

7:48
Num 1:10

7:52
Heb 10:4

7:60
Num 1:11

7:66
Num 1:12

7:70
Heb 10:4

male lamb for a burnt offering,³⁴ and a male goat for a sin offering.³⁵ For a peace offering he brought two bulls, five rams, five male goats, and five one-year-old male lambs. This was the offering brought by Elizur son of Shedeur.

³⁶On the fifth day Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai, leader of the tribe of Simeon, presented his offering.

³⁷His offering consisted of a silver platter weighing $3\frac{1}{4}$ pounds and a silver basin weighing $1\frac{3}{4}$ pounds (as measured by the weight of the sanctuary shekel). These were both filled with grain offerings of choice flour moistened with olive oil. ³⁸He also brought a gold container weighing four ounces, which was filled with incense. ³⁹He brought a young bull, a ram, and a one-year-old male lamb for a burnt offering, ⁴⁰and a male goat for a sin offering. ⁴¹For a peace offering he brought two bulls, five rams, five male goats, and five one-year-old male lambs. This was the offering brought by Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai.

⁴²On the sixth day Eliasaph son of Deuel, leader of the tribe of Gad, presented his offering.

⁴³His offering consisted of a silver platter weighing $3\frac{1}{4}$ pounds and a silver basin weighing $1\frac{3}{4}$ pounds (as measured by the weight of the sanctuary shekel). These were both filled with grain offerings of choice flour moistened with olive oil. ⁴⁴He also brought a gold container weighing four ounces, which was filled with incense. ⁴⁵He brought a young bull, a ram, and a one-year-old male lamb for a burnt offering, ⁴⁶and a male goat for a sin offering. ⁴⁷For a peace offering he brought two bulls, five rams, five male goats, and five one-year-old male lambs. This was the offering brought by Eliasaph son of Deuel.

⁴⁸On the seventh day Elishama son of Ammihud, leader of the tribe of Ephraim, presented his offering.

⁴⁹His offering consisted of a silver platter weighing $3\frac{1}{4}$ pounds and a silver basin weighing $1\frac{3}{4}$ pounds (as measured by the weight of the sanctuary shekel). These were both filled with grain offerings of choice flour moistened with olive oil. ⁵⁰He also brought a gold container weighing four ounces, which was filled with incense. ⁵¹He brought a young bull, a ram, and a one-year-old male lamb for a burnt offering, ⁵²and a male goat for a sin offering. ⁵³For a peace offering he brought two bulls, five rams, five male goats, and five one-year-old male lambs. This was the offering brought by Elishama son of Ammihud.

⁵⁴On the eighth day Gamaliel son of Pedahzur, leader of the tribe of Manasseh, presented his offering.

⁵⁵His offering consisted of a silver platter weighing $3\frac{1}{4}$ pounds and a silver basin weighing $1\frac{3}{4}$ pounds (as measured by the weight of the sanctuary shekel). These were both filled with grain offerings of choice flour moistened with olive oil. ⁵⁶He also brought a gold container weighing four ounces, which was filled with incense. ⁵⁷He brought a young bull, a ram, and a one-year-old male lamb for a burnt offering, ⁵⁸and a male goat for a sin offering. ⁵⁹For a peace offering he brought two bulls, five rams, five male goats, and five one-year-old male lambs. This was the offering brought by Gamaliel son of Pedahzur.

⁶⁰On the ninth day Abidan son of Gideoni, leader of the tribe of Benjamin, presented his offering.

⁶¹His offering consisted of a silver platter weighing $3\frac{1}{4}$ pounds and a silver basin weighing $1\frac{3}{4}$ pounds (as measured by the weight of the sanctuary shekel). These were both filled with grain offerings of choice flour moistened with olive oil. ⁶²He also brought a gold container weighing four ounces, which was filled with incense. ⁶³He brought a young bull, a ram, and a one-year-old male lamb for a burnt offering, ⁶⁴and a male goat for a sin offering. ⁶⁵For a peace offering he brought two bulls, five rams, five male goats, and five one-year-old male lambs. This was the offering brought by Abidan son of Gideoni.

⁶⁶On the tenth day Ahiezer son of Ammishaddai, leader of the tribe of Dan, presented his offering.

⁶⁷His offering consisted of a silver platter weighing $3\frac{1}{4}$ pounds and a silver basin weighing $1\frac{3}{4}$ pounds (as measured by the weight of the sanctuary shekel). These were both filled with grain offerings of choice flour moistened with olive oil. ⁶⁸He also brought a gold container weighing four ounces, which was filled with incense. ⁶⁹He brought a young bull, a ram, and a one-year-old male lamb for a burnt offering, ⁷⁰and a male goat for a sin offering. ⁷¹For a peace offering he brought two bulls, five rams, five male goats, and five one-year-old male lambs. This was the offering brought by Ahiezer son of Ammishaddai.

⁷²On the eleventh day Pagiel son of Ocran, leader of the tribe of Asher, presented his offering.

⁷³His offering consisted of a silver platter weighing $3\frac{3}{4}$ pounds and a silver basin weighing $1\frac{3}{4}$ pounds (as measured by the weight of the sanctuary shekel). These were both filled with grain offerings of choice flour moistened with olive oil. ⁷⁴He also brought a gold container weighing four ounces, which was filled with incense. ⁷⁵He brought a young bull, a ram, and a one-year-old male lamb for a burnt offering, ⁷⁶and a male goat for a sin offering. ⁷⁷For a peace offering he brought two bulls, five rams, five male goats, and five one-year-old male lambs. This was the offering brought by Pagiel son of Ocran.

⁷⁸On the twelfth day Ahira son of Enan, leader of the tribe of Naphtali, presented his offering.

⁷⁹His offering consisted of a silver platter weighing $3\frac{3}{4}$ pounds and a silver basin weighing $1\frac{3}{4}$ pounds (as measured by the weight of the sanctuary shekel). These were both filled with grain offerings of choice flour moistened with olive oil. ⁸⁰He also brought a gold container weighing four ounces, which was filled with incense. ⁸¹He brought a young bull, a ram, and a one-year-old male lamb for a burnt offering, ⁸²and a male goat for a sin offering. ⁸³For a peace offering he brought two bulls, five rams, five male goats, and five one-year-old male lambs. This was the offering brought by Ahira son of Enan.

⁸⁴So this was the dedication offering brought by the leaders of Israel at the time the altar was anointed: twelve silver platters, twelve silver basins, and twelve gold incense containers. ⁸⁵Each silver platter weighed $3\frac{3}{4}$ pounds, and each silver basin weighed $1\frac{3}{4}$ pounds. The total weight of the silver was 60 pounds (as measured by the weight of the sanctuary shekel). ⁸⁶Each of the twelve gold containers that was filled with incense weighed four ounces (as measured by the weight of the sanctuary shekel). The total weight of the gold was three pounds. ⁸⁷Twelve young bulls, twelve rams, and twelve one-year-old male lambs were donated for the burnt offerings, along with their prescribed grain offerings. Twelve male goats were brought for the sin offerings. ⁸⁸Twenty-four bulls, sixty rams, sixty male goats, and sixty one-year-old male lambs were donated for the peace offerings. This was the dedication offering for the altar after it was anointed.

⁸⁹Whenever Moses went into the Tabernacle to speak with the LORD, he heard the voice speaking to him from between the two 'cherubim above the Ark's cover—the place of atonement—that rests on the Ark of the Covenant. The LORD spoke to him from there.

Preparing the Lamps

8 The LORD said to Moses, ²"Give Aaron the following instructions: When you set up the seven lamps in the lampstand, place them so their light shines forward in front of the lampstand." ³So Aaron did this. He set up the seven lamps so they reflected their light forward, just as the LORD had commanded Moses. ⁴The entire lampstand, from its base to its decorative blossoms, was made of beaten gold. It was built according to the exact design the LORD had shown Moses.

The Levites Dedicated

⁵Then the LORD said to Moses, ⁶"Now set the Levites apart from the rest of the people of 7:78

Num 1:15

7:84
Num 7:10

7:88
Num 7:1, 10

7:89
Exod 25:21-22;
33:9-11
Ps 80:1; 99:1
1Kerub (3742)
* 1 Sam 4:4

8:2
Exod 25:37

8:4
Exod 25:18, 31-36, 40

7:84-88 The gifts and offerings of each tribe having been described, this paragraph tabulates these expensive containers, their offerings and incense, and the sacrificial animals. These large and costly gifts and sacrifices drew attention to the importance of the altar, the Tabernacle, and the God who was served there. The sacrifices were required by law; the Hebrews presented the special gifts with a generous spirit.

7:85 60 pounds: Hebrew 2,400 [shekels] [27.6 kilograms].

7:86 three pounds: Hebrew 120 [shekels] [1.4 kilograms].

7:89 Once the Tabernacle had been dedicated and set apart as holy, it was the center of divine revelation. There Moses spoke with God, God's will was disclosed, and his presence came to rest (Lev 16:2, 13-17). Such communication emanated from the Ark of the Covenant between the two cherubim above the Ark's cover, also known as the "mercy seat" (cp. Exod 25:17-22). • For the Israelites, this was the special place associated with atonement, even as the Cross has assumed that significance in Christian faith (see Heb 9-10, especially 9:5). God's voice, as heard by Moses the mediator, fulfilled the expectation established by Exod 25:22 and 30:6. The Lord's presence guaranteed the holiness of Israel's wilderness sanctuary. • Ark of the Covenant: Or Ark of the Testimony.

8:1-4 Here are specific guidelines for the placement of the elaborate lampstand (Hebrew menorah; see Exod 25:31-40) in the Tabernacle. Since the inside of the Tabernacle was dark, the illumination provided by this stylized tree of lamps aided Israel's worship.

8:5-22 The Lord prescribed the dedication and cleansing of the Levites.

8:7
Lev 14:8-9
Num 19:9, 17-18
8:8
Num 15:3-12
8:10
Lev 3:2
8:12
Exod 29:10-14
8:14
Num 3:12
8:16
Num 3:13
8:17
Exod 13:12-13
8:19
Num 1:53
8:24
Num 4:3

Israel and make them ceremonially clean. ⁷Do this by sprinkling them with the water of purification, and have them shave their entire body and wash their clothing. Then they will be ceremonially clean. ⁸Have them bring a young bull and a grain offering of choice flour moistened with olive oil, along with a second young bull for a sin offering. ⁹Then assemble the whole community of Israel, and present the Levites at the entrance of the Tabernacle. ¹⁰When you present the Levites before the LORD, the people of Israel must lay their hands on them. ¹¹Raising his hands, Aaron must then present the Levites to the LORD as a special offering from the people of Israel, thus dedicating them to the LORD's service.

¹²Next the Levites will lay their hands on the heads of the young bulls. Present one as a sin offering and the other as a burnt offering to the LORD, to purify the Levites and make them right with the LORD. ¹³Then have the Levites stand in front of Aaron and his sons, and raise your hands and present them as a special offering to the LORD. ¹⁴In this way, you will set the Levites apart from the rest of the people of Israel, and the Levites will belong to me. ¹⁵After this, they may go into the Tabernacle to do their work, because you have purified them and presented them as a special offering.

¹⁶"Of all the people of Israel, the Levites are reserved for me. I have claimed them for myself in place of all the firstborn sons of the Israelites; I have taken the Levites as their substitutes. ¹⁷For all the firstborn males among the people of Israel are mine, both of people and of animals. I set them apart for myself on the day I struck down all the firstborn sons of the Egyptians. ¹⁸Yes, I have claimed the Levites in place of all the firstborn sons of Israel. ¹⁹And of all the Israelites, I have assigned the Levites to Aaron and his sons. They will serve in the Tabernacle on behalf of the Israelites and make sacrifices to purify the people so no plague will strike them when they approach the sanctuary."

²⁰So Moses, Aaron, and the whole community of Israel dedicated the Levites, carefully following all the LORD's instructions to Moses. ²¹The Levites purified themselves from sin and washed their clothes, and Aaron lifted them up and presented them to the LORD as a special offering. He then offered a sacrifice to purify them and make them right with the LORD. ²²After that the Levites went into the Tabernacle to perform their duties, assisting Aaron and his sons. So they carried out all the commands that the LORD gave Moses concerning the Levites.

²³The LORD also instructed Moses, ²⁴"This is the rule the Levites must follow: They must begin serving in the Tabernacle at the age of twenty-five, ²⁵and they must retire at the age of fifty. ²⁶After retirement they may assist their fellow Levites by serving as guards at the Tabernacle, but they may not officiate in the service. This is how you must assign duties to the Levites."

The Second Passover

9 A year after Israel's departure from Egypt, the LORD spoke to Moses in the wilderness of Sinai. In the first month of 8:7 The ceremony to make the Levites ceremonially clean consisted of sprinkling with water, shaving all hair, and donning clean clothes; this resembled the ceremonies of cleansing from ritual defilement. • water of purification: This term appears only here. This sprinkling symbolized the washing of sin from their lives and thus contained some of the symbolic significance of later Jewish washings and even of Christian baptism. Perhaps this water was the same as the sin-removing mixture that included ashes from the red heifer mentioned in 19:9 (see Heb 9:13). • The requirement to shave their entire body was also part of the process of being declared clean from the ritual impurity of defiling diseases (Lev 14:8). • The washing of clothing accompanied all instances of cleansing from ritual defilement (e.g., Lev 15:5-27).

8:9 the Tabernacle: Literally the Tent of Meeting; also in 8:15, 19, 22, 24, 26. See note on Exod 27:21.

8:10-11 By the laying on of hands, Israel recognized the Levites' special status and offered them as their representatives before the Lord (8:16).

8:11 The reference to Aaron's raised hands suggests that Israel offered the Levites to the Lord as a "wave offering"—the type of offering lifted up to the Lord (cp. Lev 7:30). The Levites were dedicated to duties that made them "living and holy sacrifices" (cp. Rom 12:1).

8:12-22 The Levites had to offer appropriate sacrifices before they performed their duties in the Tabernacle (8:15).

8:12 to purify the Levites and make them right with the LORD: Or to make atonement for the Levites. See note on Lev 1:4.

8:19 purify: Or make atonement for. • A plague was an appropriate punishment for unlawful actions (11:33; 14:37).

8:21 then offered a sacrifice to purify them and make them right with the LORD: Or then made atonement for them to purify them.

8:23-26 Guidelines regarding the Levites' length of service. • Whereas 4:3 states that their Tabernacle service began at age 30, 8:24 gives the age as 25. The discrepancy might reflect age requirements followed in different periods when the number of Levite men available for service varied, or those aged 25-29 may have been considered unofficial workers or apprentices. • Both passages establish the retirement age at 50; retired Levites could serve the Tabernacle as guards (cp. Ps 84:10).

9:1-14 A year after Israel's exodus from Egypt, the time came for Israel to celebrate their second Passover in the wilderness of Sinai. Those unable to celebrate it on time were given permission to do so a month later.

9:1 The first month of the ancient Hebrew lunar calendar usually occurs within the months of March and April.

that year he said, ²"Tell the Israelites to celebrate the Passover at the prescribed time, ³at twilight on the fourteenth day of the first month. Be sure to follow all my decrees and regulations concerning this celebration."

⁴So Moses told the people to celebrate the Passover ⁵in the wilderness of Sinai at twilight on the fourteenth day of the month. And they celebrated the festival there, just as the LORD had commanded Moses. ⁶But some of the men had been ceremonially defiled by touching a dead body, so they could not celebrate the Passover that day. They came to Moses and Aaron that day ⁷and said, "We have become ceremonially unclean by touching a dead body. But why should we be prevented from presenting the LORD's offering at the proper time with the rest of the Israelites?"

⁸Moses answered, "Wait here until I have received instructions for you from the LORD."

⁹This was the LORD's reply to Moses. ¹⁰"Give the following instructions to the people of Israel: If any of the people now or in future generations are ceremonially unclean at Passover time because of touching a dead body, or if they are on a journey and cannot be present at the ceremony, they may still celebrate the LORD's Passover. ¹¹They must offer the Passover sacrifice one month later, at twilight on the fourteenth day of the second month. They must eat the Passover lamb at that time with bitter salad greens and bread made without yeast. ¹²They must not leave any of the lamb until the next morning, and they must not break any of its bones. They must follow all the normal regulations concerning the Passover.

¹³"But those who neglect to celebrate the Passover at the regular time, even though they are ceremonially clean and not away on a trip, will be cut off from the community of Israel. If they fail to present the LORD's offering at the proper time, they will suffer the consequences of their guilt. ¹⁴And if foreigners living among you want to celebrate the Passover to the LORD, they must follow these same decrees and regulations. The same laws apply both to native-born Israelites and to the foreigners living among you."

The Guidance of the Fiery Cloud

¹⁵On the day the Tabernacle was set up, the cloud covered it. But from evening until morning the cloud over the Tabernacle looked like a pillar of fire. ¹⁶This was the regular pattern—at night the cloud that covered the Tabernacle had the appearance of fire. ¹⁷Whenever the cloud lifted from over the sacred tent, the people of Israel would break camp and follow it. And wherever the cloud settled, the people of Israel would set up camp. ¹⁸In this way, they traveled and camped at the LORD's command wherever he told them to go. Then they remained in their camp as long as the cloud stayed over the Tabernacle. ¹⁹If the cloud remained over the Tabernacle for a long time, the Israelites stayed and performed their duty to the LORD. ²⁰Sometimes the cloud would stay over the Tabernacle for only a few days, so the people would stay for only a few days, as the LORD commanded. Then at the LORD's command they would break camp and move on. ²¹Sometimes the cloud stayed only overnight and lifted the next morning. But day or night, when the cloud lifted, the people broke camp and moved on. ²²Whether the 9:2

Exod 12:1-6

9:5
Josh 5:10

9:6
Num 19:11-22

9:8
Exod 18:15

9:11
Exod 12:8

9:12
Exod 12:10, 43, 46
*John 19:36

9:13
Exod 12:15
Num 15:30-31

9:14
Exod 12:48-49

9:15
Exod 13:21-22; 40:2,
17, 34
Neh 9:12, 19
Ps 78:14

9:17
Exod 40:36-38
Num 10:11, 33-34

9:18
1 Cor 10:1

9:22
Exod 40:36-37

See chart, "Israel's Annual Calendar," p. 145.

9:2-3 The Hebrews were told to celebrate the Passover at the prescribed time (see Exod 12:6), on the fourteenth day of the first month. This day in the ancient Hebrew lunar calendar occurred in late March or in April. • at twilight: The Hebrew day begins at sundown.

9:4-7 When it was time to celebrate the Passover, some men were prevented by the restrictions of Lev 7:20-21. Their objection arose from a desire to keep the regulation in a case where there seemed to be no good way for them to do so.

9:8 Moses agreed to inquire of the Lord regarding this difficult case (cp. 7:89).

9:9-14 God's response to the quandary was to allow a makeup ceremony one month later for two special cases (see also 2 Chr 30), but with this provision he warned that the Israelites must not neglect the Passover and must celebrate it according to the regulations.

9:11 the fourteenth day of the second month: This day in the ancient Hebrew lunar calendar occurred in late April or in May. See chart, "Israel's Annual Calendar," p. 145.

9:12 The bones of the Passover lamb were not to be broken (see Exod 12:46; Ps 34:20; John 19:32-36; cp. John 1:29; 1 Cor 5:7). The apostle John made reference to this instruction when reporting that Jesus' legs were not broken on the cross (John 19:36).

9:13 If they ignored the required Passover, they must be cut off from the community. It is not clear whether this refers to the death penalty or banishment (see note on Lev 7:20-21).

9:14 Foreigners who lived among the Hebrews and wanted to celebrate the Passover could do so by following the same laws, but circumcision was required for males who desired to eat the Passover meal (see also Exod 12:48-49).

9:15-23 This passage parallels Exod 40:17, 34-38 and provides additional details about God's use of the pillar of cloud and fire to lead his people (see also Exod 13:21-22). The Lord faithfully and unmistakably guided his people in the wilderness.

9:15 covered it: Literally covered the Tabernacle, the Tent of the Testimony.

9:19-23 The fiery cloud, witnessed even by Israel's enemies (14:14), was a clear symbol of God's glorious presence and

10:5
Num 10:14
10:7
Joel 2:1
10:8
Num 31:6
Josh 6:3-9
2 Chr 5:11-12

cloud stayed above the Tabernacle for two days, a month, or a year, the people of Israel stayed in camp and did not move on. But as soon as it lifted, they broke camp and moved on. ²³So they camped or traveled at the LORD's command, and they did whatever the LORD told them through Moses.

The Silver Trumpets

10 Now the LORD said to Moses, ²"Make two trumpets of hammered silver for calling the community to assemble and for signaling the breaking of camp. ³When both trumpets are blown, everyone must gather before you at the entrance of the Tabernacle. ⁴But if only one trumpet is blown, then only the leaders—the heads of the clans of Israel—must present themselves to you.

⁵"When you sound the signal to move on, the tribes camped on the east side of the Tabernacle must break camp and move forward. ⁶When you sound the signal a second time, the tribes camped on the south will follow. You must sound short blasts as the signal for moving on. ⁷But when you call the people to an assembly, blow the trumpets with a different signal. ⁸Only the priests, Aaron's descendants, are allowed to blow the trumpets. This is a permanent law for you, to be observed from generation to generation.

The Cloud and Fire (9:15-23)

Num 10:11-12, 34;
11:25; 12:5, 10;
14:14; 16:42
Exod 13:20-22;
14:19-24; 16:10;
19:16-18; 24:15-18;
33:7-11; 40:34-38
Lev 16:2
Deut 31:15
1 Kgs 8:11
2 Chr 5:14
Neh 9:19-21
Ps 78:14; 99:7;
104:3
Ezek 1:4-5; 10:3
Matt 17:5; 24:30;
26:64
Luke 9:34-35
Acts 1:9
1 Cor 10:2
1 Thes 4:17
Rev 1:7; 14:14-16

When Israel was in the wilderness, God led the nation with a pillar of cloud and fire. The pillar joined the Israelites when they "left Succoth and camped at Etham on the edge of the wilderness" (Exod 13:20-22; cp. Num 33:8). This happened right after the first Passover, immediately after Israel left Egypt.

The pillar served a variety of functions. When the Egyptians pursued the Israelites, the cloud moved behind the people of Israel and prevented an Egyptian advance (Exod 14:19-20). Through the rest of Israel's travels, it was a visible indication that "the LORD went ahead of them" (Exod 13:21). When the pillar settled over the Tabernacle and the camp of Israel, it represented the Lord's presence and protection. The cloud and fire also provided divine guidance by indicating when the Israelites should move (9:17-23; Exod 40:36-38). When the pillar was stationary, Israel stayed where they were. When it lifted and moved on, the Israelites broke camp and followed. They camped in different places for varying amounts of time, sometimes briefly and sometimes for a longer period. Israel thus "camped or traveled at the Lord's command" (9:23). The pillar of cloud and fire was like a divine banner flying over the tribes on the march (cp. 10:14, 18, 22, 25).

The pillar regularly appeared as a cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night (9:15-16; Exod 13:21). In the Bible, both fire and clouds often indicate the presence and glory of God (e.g., Exod 19:16-18; 24:15-18; Matt 17:5; 24:30; Acts 1:9; cp. Ps 18:8-13). The cloud and fire imagery indicated that God's presence and glory moved with Israel through the wilderness. Exodus 14:19 refers to the pillar as "the angel of God" (i.e., a representative or representation of God). This special manifestation of God (a theophany) stayed with them "throughout all their journeys" while they were in the wilderness (Exod 40:38; see also Exod 13:22). Sometimes, "the cloud covered the Tabernacle, and the glory of the LORD filled the Tabernacle," so that "Moses could no longer enter the Tabernacle" (Exod 40:34-35). On other occasions, the cloud descended and hovered near the entrance to the Tent of Meeting, indicating that the Lord was speaking with Moses "face to face" (Exod 33:7-11; cp. Num 11:25; 12:5; Deut 31:15). The pillar of cloud and fire was a constant, reassuring reminder of the Lord's presence. We are not given any specific description of the fire and the cloud other than that it was shaped like a pillar, but it was a powerful symbol of God's special care for Israel (see Neh 9:19-21; cp. Ps 46:1; 139; John 1:14; Rom 8:31-39).

the means by which he directed their movement.

10:1-10 Israel needed signals that were loud and clear so that the tribes could receive instructions. Two silver trumpets provided a simple, effective means to signal all the tribes to move. • These trumpets were not the ram's horns (Hebrew shofar) mentioned frequently in the OT (e.g., Josh 6:4-6); they were fashioned by Israelite craftsmen from hammered silver brought out of Egypt.

10:2-4 The two trumpets were used to get people's attention for important pronouncements (cp. Rev 8-11).

10:3 Tabernacle: Literally Tent of Meeting. See note on Exod 27:21.

10:5-8 When it was time to break camp, the sound of the trumpets supplemented the movement of the pillar of cloud (cp. 9:15-22) by signaling when to camp and when to move on (see ch 2).

10:8 Only the priests . . . are allowed to blow the trumpets: All uses of these trumpets were related to God and his government of Israel, both of which the priests served.

⁹"When you arrive in your own land and go to war against your enemies who attack you, sound the alarm with the trumpets. Then the LORD your God will ^aremember you and rescue you from your enemies. ¹⁰Blow the trumpets in times of gladness, too, sounding them at your annual festivals and at the beginning of each month. And blow the trumpets over your burnt offerings and peace offerings. The trumpets will remind your God of his covenant with you. I am the LORD your God."

2. THE ISRAELITES MOVE FROM SINAI TO THE PLAINS OF MOAB (10:11–22:1)

The Israelites Move from Sinai to Kadesh (10:11–12:16)

The Israelites Leave Sinai

¹¹In the second year after Israel's departure from Egypt—on the twentieth day of the second month—the cloud lifted from the Tabernacle of the Covenant. ¹²So the Israelites set out from the wilderness of Sinai and traveled on from place to place until the cloud stopped in the wilderness of Paran.

¹³When the people set out for the first time, following the instructions the LORD had given through Moses, ¹⁴Judah's troops led the way. They marched behind their banner, and their leader was Nahshon son of Amminadab. ¹⁵They were joined by the troops of the tribe of Issachar, led by Nathanel son of Zuar, ¹⁶and the troops of the tribe of Zebulun, led by Eliab son of Helon.

¹⁷Then the Tabernacle was taken down, and the Gershonite and Merarite divisions of the Levites were next in the line of march, carrying the Tabernacle with them. ¹⁸Reuben's troops went next, marching behind their banner. Their leader was Elizur son of Shedeur. ¹⁹They were joined by the troops of the tribe of Simeon, led by Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai, ²⁰and the troops of the tribe of Gad, led by Eliasaph son of Deuel.

²¹Next came the Kohathite division of the Levites, carrying the sacred objects from the Tabernacle. Before they arrived at the next camp, the Tabernacle would already be set up at its new location. ²²Ephraim's troops went next, marching behind their banner. Their leader was Elishama son of Ammihud. ²³They were joined by the troops of the tribe of Manasseh, led by Gamaliel son of Pedahzur, ²⁴and the troops of the tribe of Benjamin, led by Abidan son of Gideon.

²⁵Dan's troops went last, marching behind their banner and serving as the rear guard for all the tribal camps. Their leader was Ahiezer son of Ammishaddai. ²⁶They were joined by the troops of the tribe of Asher, led by Pagiel son of Ocran, ²⁷and the troops of the tribe of Naphtali, led by Ahira son of Enan.

²⁸This was the order in which the Israelites marched, division by division.

Hobab the Guide

²⁹One day Moses said to his brother-in-law, Hobab son of Reuel the Midianite, "We are on our way to the place the LORD promised us, for he said, 'I will give it to you.' Come with us and we will treat you well, for the LORD has promised wonderful blessings for Israel!"

³⁰But Hobab replied, "No, I will not go. I must return to my own land and family."

³¹"Please don't leave us," Moses pleaded. "You know the places in the wilderness where we should camp. Come, be our guide."

³²If you do, we'll share with you all the blessings the LORD gives us."

10:9
Judg 2:18
Ps 106:4
Isaiah (21:42)
• Num 15:39

10:10
Lev 23:24
Num 29:1
Ps 81:3-5

10:11
Exod 40:17

10:12
Gen 21:20-21
Num 12:16

10:13
Deut 1:6

10:14
Num 2:3-31

10:17
Num 4:21-23

10:18
Num 2:10-16

10:21
Num 4:1-20

10:22
Num 2:3-31

10:29
Exod 2:18-21; 3:1
Judg 4:11

10:32
Ps 22:27-31

10:9-10 The trumpets marked holy events that might not readily be recognized as such. Trumpets that sounded a call to arms (Hos 5:8; Joel 2:1) would remind . . . the LORD to rescue the Hebrews from their enemies.

10:11-36 Leaving Sinai was a pivotal moment in Israel's history. Now the Israelites had the law and would be tested as to how they would keep it. The departure from Sinai was the beginning of the march toward Canaan, though it turned into a long journey (cp. Deut 1:6-8, 19). This passage summarizes the daily procedures on the journey.

10:11 the twentieth day of the second month: This day in the ancient Hebrew lunar calendar occurred in late April, May, or early June. • Tabernacle of the Covenant: Or Tabernacle of the Testimony.

10:12 The Israelites marched to the wilderness of Paran, an arid or semi-arid region in the northeastern part of the Sinai Peninsula, south of the Negev and west of the Dead Sea/Arabah Rift (cp. Gen 21:21).

10:13-28 The order of march is different here than in 2:3-34, which specifies that all three clans of Levites were to carry the Tabernacle and its furnishings in the middle of the troop, between the groups headed by Judah and Reuben and the groups headed by Ephraim and Dan. Here, the Gershonites and Merarites carried the components of the Tabernacle structure between Judah and Reuben, and the Kohathites carried the most sacred furniture between Reuben and Ephraim. This useful arrangement allowed time for the Gershonites and Merarites to set up the Tabernacle before the Kohathites arrived with the sacred objects. It also provided security for their special cargo, and it spread the Levites out among the tribes, perhaps enhancing the leavening effect of their influence (cp. Matt 13:33; 16:6, 11-12; 1 Cor 5:6-7).

10:29-32 After the trek toward Paran had begun, Moses took the practical step of asking his brother-in-law Hobab (cp. Judg 4:11) to join the Israelites as their guide (literally to serve as Israel's eyes) and so to share in their promised blessings. As a Midianite shepherd, Hobab knew the routes and possible sources of food and water in this region of the Sinai Peninsula. • Reuel the Midianite: See "Jethro/Reuel" at Exod 18:1-27, p. 155. • my own land and family: Midian was probably in northwestern Arabia. Judges 1:16 suggests that Hobab accepted the appeal.

10:33
Deut 1:33
h^aaron (0727)
• 1 Sam 3:3

10:34
Num 9:15-23

10:35
Ps 68:1-2

10:36
Deut 1:10-11

11:1
Lev 10:1-2
Num 14:2; 16:35;
17:5

11:3
Deut 9:22

11:4
Exod 12:38
Lev 24:10-11
Ps 78:18
1 Cor 10:6

11:6
Num 21:5
'man (4478)
• Num 11:7

11:7
Exod 16:14, 31
'man (4478)
• Num 11:9

The Ark Leads the Way

³³They marched for three days after leaving the mountain of the LORD, with the ^hArk of the LORD's Covenant moving ahead of them to show them where to stop and rest. ³⁴As they moved on each day, the cloud of the LORD hovered over them. ³⁵And whenever the Ark set out, Moses would shout, "Arise, O LORD, and let your enemies be scattered! Let them flee before you!" ³⁶And when the Ark was set down, he would say, "Return, O LORD, to the countless thousands of Israel!"

The People Complain to Moses

11 Soon the people began to complain about their hardship, and the LORD heard everything they said. Then the LORD's anger blazed against them, and he sent a fire to rage among them, and he destroyed some of the people in the outskirts of the camp. ²Then the people screamed to Moses for help, and when he prayed to the LORD, the fire stopped. ³After that, the area was known as Taberah (which means "the place of burning"), because fire from the LORD had burned among them there.

⁴Then the foreign rabble who were traveling with the Israelites began to crave the good things of Egypt. And the people of Israel also began to complain. "Oh, for some meat!" they exclaimed. ⁵"We remember the fish we used to eat for free in Egypt. And we had all the cucumbers, melons, leeks, onions, and garlic we wanted. ⁶But now our appetites are gone. All we ever see is this 'manna'!"

⁷The ^hmanna looked like small coriander seeds, and it was pale yellow like gum resin.

⁸The people would go out and gather it from the ground. They made flour by grinding it

Bread from Heaven (11:1-15)

Exod 16:1-36
Deut 8:3, 16
Josh 5:10-12
Neh 9:20-21
Ps 78:24; 105:40
John 6:1-15, 22-64
1 Cor 10:3-5
Rev 2:17

As the Israelites left Egypt behind and entered the wilderness, God sent manna to sustain them and to show them his "awesome glory" (Exod 16:1-36). The Lord gave them food adequate for their daily needs (see Neh 9:20-21). This "bread from heaven" (Ps 78:24; 105:40) showed God's people his love and mercy.

Manna illustrates God's special provision for Israel in the wilderness (see Deut 8:3, 16; Ps 78:24; 105:40; cp. Rev 2:17). Although manna was actual food, some passages use the term in a spiritual sense to symbolize a spiritual relationship with the Lord and as a sign of God's miraculous provision for his people (see 1 Cor 10:3-4). At the same time, manna was associated with Israel's complaining against God and with their lack of trust in his provision (11:1-15; see 1 Cor 10:5).

Shortly after Jesus had miraculously fed the 5,000 near the Sea of Galilee, he taught about the "bread of life" in the synagogue at Capernaum (John 6:22-59). He identified himself as the "true bread of God" and "the bread of life" (John 6:32-35); he even linked eternal life with the need to eat his flesh and drink his blood (John 6:50-58). Just as the manna provided food in the wilderness, Jesus—the true bread from God—offers spiritual sustenance. Israel was humbled by their need for food in the wilderness (Deut 8:3). Now followers of Jesus must humble themselves and receive the fullness of his life by faith (John 6:35-40, 47-51, 63-64).

10:33 The mountain of the LORD refers here to Mount Sinai; elsewhere the expression refers to Mount Moriah or Zion in Jerusalem (Gen 22:14; Ps 24:3; Isa 2:3; Zech 8:3).

10:35 Moses' invocation, spoken when the Ark set out, acknowledged the Lord as a warrior who would give Israel the Promised Land and called him to fight Israel's battles (cp. Ps 68:1).

10:36 This invocation called the Lord to join his people and protect Israel while they camped.

11:1-35 This is the first of many occasions in the wilderness when Israel was disobedient to the Lord.

11:1 Soon the people began to complain. . . . Then the LORD's anger blazed: The link between Israel's complaints and God's anger is a major theme of Numbers and throughout the OT (e.g., Deut 9:22; Ps 78). God is holy and just, and he demands obedience from his people. Complaints are equivalent to rejecting him (cp. 11:20). • their hardship: Mount Sinai had provided a stable residence for a year; the road to Paran provided heat, thirst, and fatigue. • fire . . . destroyed some: Cp. Lev 10:2.

11:2-3 The people sought Moses' intercession again (cp. Exod 15:25; 32:11-14), which brought an end to the fire of God's judgment. • Taberah: Cp. 11:34-35; see Deut 9:22.

11:4-15 Israel had not relinquished the attitude that brought about the judgment at Taberah (11:1-3), so they readily joined the foreign rabble in craving the delicacies of Egypt, forgetting the misery of slavery there.

11:4-6 Oh, for some meat! The Israelites had flocks and herds (e.g., Exod 12:32, 38; 17:3; 34:3; Num 32:1), but the animals were more valuable for their dairy products and other benefits produced while alive and were only butchered for meat on a selective basis. The Hebrews would not have had enough meat to feed such a large population regularly (cp. 11:21-22).

11:6 The Lord had earlier provided manna and quail (Exod 16).

11:7-9 The manna has often been explained as one of various edible substances that occur naturally (but see Deut 8:3); even so, its quantity and duration were miraculous.

with hand mills or pounding it in mortars. Then they boiled it in a pot and made it into flat cakes. These cakes tasted like pastries baked with olive oil. ⁹The ^kmanna came down on the camp with the dew during the night.

¹⁰Moses heard all the families standing in the doorways of their tents whining, and the LORD became extremely angry. Moses was also very aggravated. ¹¹And Moses said to the LORD, "Why are you treating me, your servant, so harshly? Have mercy on me! What did I do to deserve the burden of all these people? ¹²Did I give birth to them? Did I bring them into the world? Why did you tell me to carry them in my arms like a mother carries a nursing baby? How can I carry them to the land you swore to give their ancestors? ¹³Where am I supposed to get meat for all these people? They keep whining to me, saying, 'Give us meat to eat!' ¹⁴I can't carry all these people by myself! The load is far too heavy! ¹⁵If this is how you intend to treat me, just go ahead and kill me. Do me a favor and spare me this misery!"

Moses Chooses Seventy Leaders

¹⁶Then the LORD said to Moses, "Gather before me seventy men who are recognized as elders and leaders of Israel. Bring them to the Tabernacle to stand there with you. ¹⁷I will come down and talk to you there. I will take some of the Spirit that is upon you, and I will put the Spirit upon them also. They will bear the burden of the people along with you, so you will not have to carry it alone.

¹⁸"And say to the people, 'Purify yourselves, for tomorrow you will have meat to eat. You were whining, and the LORD heard you when you cried, "Oh, for some meat! We were better off in Egypt!" Now the LORD will give you meat, and you will have to eat it. ¹⁹And it won't be for just a day or two, or for five or ten or even twenty. ²⁰You will eat it for a whole month until you gag and are sick of it. For you have rejected the LORD, who is here among you, and you have whined to him, saying, "Why did we ever leave Egypt?"'"

²¹But Moses responded to the LORD, "There are 600,000 foot soldiers here with me, and yet you say, 'I will give them meat for a whole month!' ²²Even if we butchered all our flocks and herds, would that satisfy them? Even if we caught all the fish in the sea, would that be enough?"

²³Then the LORD said to Moses, "Has my arm lost its power? Now you will see whether or not my word comes true!"

²⁴So Moses went out and reported the LORD's words to the people. He gathered the seventy elders and stationed them around the Tabernacle. ²⁵And the LORD came down in the cloud and spoke to Moses. Then he gave the seventy ^aelders the same ^bSpirit that was upon Moses. And when the ^bSpirit rested upon them, they prophesied. But this never happened again.

²⁶Two men, Eldad and Medad, had stayed behind in the camp. They were listed among the elders, but they had not gone out to the Tabernacle. Yet the Spirit rested upon them as well, so they prophesied there in the camp. ²⁷A young man ran and reported to Moses, "Eldad and Medad are prophesying in the camp!"

²⁸Joshua son of Nun, who had been Moses' assistant since his youth, protested, "Moses, my master, make them stop!"

²⁹But Moses replied, "Are you jealous for my sake? I wish that all the LORD's people were prophets and that the LORD would put his Spirit upon them all!" ³⁰Then Moses returned to the camp with the elders of Israel.

11:9
Exod 16:13
^kman (4478)
^aDeut 8:3

11:10
Ps 78:21

11:11
Exod 5:22

11:12
Gen 26:3
Exod 13:4-5
Isa 49:23

11:14
Exod 18:18
Deut 1:12

11:15
Exod 32:32

11:16
Exod 24:1, 9

11:17
Exod 34:5-6
Num 11:25; 12:5

11:18
Exod 19:10, 14-15

11:21
Exod 12:37

11:23
Isa 50:2

11:25
Num 11:16-17
^azaqen (2205)
^aDeut 19:12
^bruakh (7307)
^aDeut 34:9

11:28
Josh 1:1
Mark 9:38-40

11:10-15 The Israelites' persistent whining led a frustrated Moses to register his own complaints with God. With biting sarcasm, Moses reminded God that he had not wanted this job in the first place (cp. Exod 4:10). Israel became such a burden that Moses wished that God would do him the favor of killing him (cp. Job 6:9). • Moses' complaint was acceptable, unlike the complaints of the people, because he was seeking the Lord rather than pining for the delights of Egypt.

11:16-30 When Jethro proposed a judicial hierarchy (Exod 18:13-26), he was concerned with practical matters, as were the tribal leaders who helped Moses with the registration (1:5-15). By contrast, this group of seventy . . . elders would provide Israel with spiritual guidance. They needed a share of God's Spirit that already rested upon Moses and made him the Lord's special spokesman. Their capacity as leaders depended on the presence of God's Spirit (cp. 1 Sam 10:6; 19:20; Joel 2:28; Acts 2:16-18; 1 Cor 12:10; 2 Pet 1:20-21).

11:16 the Tabernacle: Literally the Tent of Meeting. See note on Exod 27:21.

11:24 the Tabernacle: Literally the tent; also in 11:26.

11:25 We are not told what happened when the Spirit rested upon them and they prophesied. Whatever happened (possibly ecstatic utterances; cp. Acts 2:4; 1 Cor 14:2), it was a unique occurrence.

11:28-29 Joshua son of Nun: See "Joshua" at Josh 1:1-18, p. 377. • Joshua's zealous protest was prompted by his jealousy in a worthy but immature desire to safeguard his master's status. Moses was humble (12:3) and was not threatened by Eldad and Medad's prophecy. Instead, he was magnanimous about sharing the spotlight and happy to learn that God was working through others in such special ways. Moses had leadership qualities that the younger Joshua had not yet acquired (cp. Mark 9:38-40).

11:31
Exod 16:13
Ps 78:26-33; 105:40
11:33
Num 11:10
11:34
Deut 9:22
11:35
Num 33:17
12:1
Exod 2:21; 15:20 12:2
Num 16:3

The LORD Sends Quail and a Plague

³¹Now the LORD sent a wind that brought quail from the sea and let them fall all around the camp. For miles in every direction there were quail flying about three feet above the ground. ³²So the people went out and caught quail all that day and throughout the night and all the next day, too. No one gathered less than fifty bushels! They spread the quail all around the camp to dry. ³³But while they were gorging themselves on the meat—while it was still in their mouths—the anger of the LORD blazed against the people, and he struck them with a severe plague. ³⁴So that place was called Kibroth-hattaavah (which means “graves of gluttony”) because there they buried the people who had craved meat from Egypt. ³⁵From Kibroth-hattaavah the Israelites traveled to Hazeroth, where they stayed for some time.

The Complaints of Miriam and Aaron

12 While they were at Hazeroth, Miriam and Aaron criticized Moses because he had married a Cushite woman. ²They said, “Has the LORD spoken only through Moses? Hasn’t he spoken through us, too?”

Spirit Empowerment (11:16-17, 24-30)

Num 24:1-9;
27:18-23
Deut 34:10-12
Judg 3:9-10; 6:34;
11:29; 14:5-6, 19;
15:14
1 Sam 16:13
Isa 61:1
Ezek 11:5
Joel 2:28-29
Zech 4:6
Matt 12:18
Luke 4:1, 14, 18
John 3:34
Acts 1:8; 2:4, 16-18;
4:31; 10:38; 19:6;
20:28
1 Cor 12:1-31
Gal 3:2-5

The account of Moses, the seventy elders, and the Spirit of the Lord (11:16-30) reminds us that God has moved and worked among his people in special ways throughout the ages. When Moses reached the end of his patience and his ability to manage rebellious Israel (11:1-15), God told him to select seventy men to help him (11:16-17; cp. Exod 18:14-26). Then the Lord redistributed the Spirit that Moses already possessed and empowered these men for service (11:24-25).

The presence, indwelling, and special awareness of God’s Spirit have made a great difference in the lives of God’s people. God empowers those who are committed to his service in special ways when the need arises (see Ps 23:1-6; 46:1; 94:16-19; 116:1-9; 121:1-8; 143:10-12), and the Spirit moves as circumstances require to provide spiritual renewal and strength to God’s people.

Joshua was empowered by the Lord’s Spirit (27:18; cp. Deut 34:9), though not to the same degree as Moses (Deut 34:10-12; cp. Num 12:6-8). In the period of the Judges, the Spirit of the Lord came to the aid of Israel’s leaders as, for example, in the work of Othniel (Judg 3:10), Gideon (Judg 6:34), Jephthah (Judg 11:29), and Samson (Judg 13:25; 14:6, 19; 15:14). David had access to the strength of God’s presence, and his awareness of God’s actions—in history and in his own experience—made him a great leader (e.g., 1 Sam 16:13; 17:45; 18:12, 28). The prophets knew that their special ministry was possible because of the Spirit’s presence and power (e.g., Isa 61:1; Ezek 11:5; Zech 4:6).

Jesus was filled with God’s Spirit and empowered for a unique ministry (see Matt 12:18; Luke 4:1, 14, 18; Acts 10:38), and he spoke about the Spirit’s special role in the church (John 3:34; Acts 1:8). The arrival of the Spirit enabled the assembled believers to speak powerfully on the Day of Pentecost (Acts 2:4-5, 16-18; cp. Joel 2:28-29). The Spirit emboldened and empowered the church after Pentecost (Acts 4:31; 19:6; 20:28; 1 Cor 12:1-31; Gal 3:2-5) and remains with God’s people today.

11:31-35 God responded to the people’s complaints by sending a storm of quail and a plague. God had provided quail along with manna in Exod 16:13, but here they expressed God’s judgment in their sickeningly overabundant supply.

11:31 there were quail flying about three feet above the ground: Or there were quail about 3 feet [2 cubits or 92 centimeters] deep on the ground.

11:32 fifty bushels: Hebrew 10 homers [2.2 kiloliters].

11:34-35 The precise locations of Kibroth-hattaavah and Hazeroth are unknown.

12:1-16 Rebellion was not restricted to the “foreign rabble” or to the Israelites who were bored with manna (11:4). Moses’ own brother and sister, Aaron the high priest (Exod 29:30) and Miriam the prophet (Exod 15:20), rebelled against him. Israel was near the nadir of its rebellion against God (13:25–14:12).

12:1-2 Miriam and Aaron might have perceived Moses’ marriage as a threat to their status and ambitions. Miriam is named first, which suggests that she instigated this family feud and could explain why God punished her and not Aaron (12:9-10).

12:1 Most interpreters understand the Cushite woman to be Moses’ wife Zipporah from Midian (Exod 2:16-22), understanding Cush as referring here to Cushan, a region and people near Midian (Hab 3:7). Other interpreters, taking Cushite in its usual sense as referring to Kushi (in northern Arabia), Ethiopia, or Sudan, think that she was a different wife. In either case, it is possible that Miriam and Aaron disapproved of his having married a non-Israelite or that they were jealous of her influence over Moses.

12:2 The challenge to Moses’ authority was, by implication, a rejection of the Lord’s choice of Moses as Israel’s leader. • the LORD heard: The same phrase in 11:1 foreshadows the Lord’s response.

But the LORD heard them. ³(Now Moses was very ‘humble—more humble than any other person on earth.)

⁴So immediately the LORD called to Moses, Aaron, and Miriam and said, “Go out to the Tabernacle, all three of you!” So the three of them went to the Tabernacle. ⁵Then the LORD descended in the pillar of cloud and stood at the entrance of the Tabernacle. “Aaron and Miriam!” he called, and they stepped forward. ⁶And the LORD said to them, “Now listen to what I say:

“If there were prophets among you,
I, the LORD, would reveal myself in visions.

I would speak to them in dreams.

⁷ But not with my servant Moses.

Of all my house, he is the one I trust.

⁸ I speak to him face to face, clearly, and not in riddles!

He sees the LORD as he is.

So why were you not afraid to criticize my servant Moses?”

⁹The LORD was very angry with them, and he departed. ¹⁰As the cloud moved from above the Tabernacle, there stood Miriam, her skin as white as snow from leprosy. When Aaron saw what had happened to her, ¹¹he cried out to Moses, “Oh, my master! Please don’t punish us for this sin we have so foolishly committed. ¹²Don’t let her be like a stillborn baby, already decayed at birth.”

¹³So Moses cried out to the LORD, “O God, I beg you, please heal her!”

¹⁴But the LORD said to Moses, “If her father had done nothing more than spit in her face, wouldn’t she be defiled for seven days? So keep her outside the camp for seven days, and after that she may be accepted back.”

¹⁵So Miriam was kept outside the camp for seven days, and the people waited until she was brought back before they traveled again. ¹⁶Then they left Hazereth and camped in the wilderness of Paran.

Israel Camps in the Region of Kadesh

(13:1–20:13)

Twelve Scouts Explore Canaan

13 The LORD now said to Moses, ²“Send out men to explore the land of Canaan, the land I am giving to the Israelites. Send one leader from each of the twelve ancestral tribes.” ³So Moses did as the LORD commanded him. He sent out twelve men, all tribal leaders of Israel, from their camp in the wilderness of Paran. ⁴These were the tribes and the names of their leaders:

Tribe

Leader

Reuben Shammua son of Zaccur

⁵ Simeon Shaphat son of Hori

⁶ Judah Caleb son of Jephunneh

⁷ Issachar Igal son of Joseph

⁸ Ephraim Hoshea son of Nun

⁹ Benjamin Palti son of Raphu

¹⁰ Zebulun Gaddiel son of Sodi

¹¹ Manasseh son of Joseph Gaddi son of Susi

¹² Dan Ammiel son of Gemalli

¹³ Asher Sethur son of Michael

¹⁴ Naphtali Nahbi son of Vophsi

¹⁵ Gad Geuel son of Maki

¹⁶These are the names of the men Moses sent out to explore the land. (Moses called Hoshea son of Nun by the name Joshua.)

¹⁷Moses gave the men these instructions as he sent them out to explore the land: “Go north through the Negev into the hill country. ¹⁸See what the land is like, and 12:3

Matt 11:29
Canaana (6035)
• Ps 25:9

12:5
Num 11:25

12:6
Gen 15:1; 31:10-11;
46:2
1 Kgs 3:5

12:7
Ps 105:26
Heb 3:2, 5

12:8
Exod 33:11, 19
Deut 34:10

12:10
Deut 24:9

12:11
2 Sam 19:19

12:14
Lev 13:46
Num 5:1-3
Deut 25:9

13:2
Deut 1:22-25
Josh 1:3

13:8
Num 13:16

13:16
Num 13:8

13:17
Gen 12:9; 13:1
Num 13:21

12:3 Moses’ incomparable humility contrasts his godly character (see also Prov 3:34; Matt 5:5) with Miriam and Aaron’s jealousy. • This parenthetical comment, a simple statement of the truth from God’s perspective, could be the words of Moses or of a later editor.

12:4-8 In response, the Lord reconfirmed Moses’ special status and authority.

12:4 the Tabernacle: Literally the Tent of Meeting. See note on Exod 27:21.

12:5 the Tabernacle: Literally the tent; also in 12:10.

12:6-8 The Lord’s trust in Moses resulted in an intimate relationship. God spoke to prophets in visions and dreams, but he spoke to Moses face to face (literally mouth to mouth; see Exod 33:8-11, 18-24; Deut 34:10).

12:9-16 Miriam bore the brunt of God’s wrath (see note on 12:1-2). Once Aaron saw what had happened to her, he admitted his error and sought Moses’ intercession (cp. 11:2). Both Moses and the LORD accepted Aaron’s confession.

12:10 from leprosy: Or with a skin disease. The Hebrew word used here can describe various skin diseases. See note on 5:2.

12:14 Miriam was required to follow the normal procedure for achieving ritual purity after a skin disease (5:2-4; Lev 13-14).

12:16 The camp in the wilderness of Paran was at Kadesh-barnea (13:26; Deut 1:19-22).

13:1-14:45 Twelve spies investigated the rich land of Canaan and found it defended by formidable foes.

Israel’s disobedience in earlier chapters foreshadows more of the same. The Israelites lacked the obedience, courage, and faith to take the land, so the Lord destined them to spend forty years in the Sinai wilderness; that generation failed to receive their inheritance in the Promised Land.

13:1-16 Moses selected a leader from each tribe to explore the territory that God had promised to give the Hebrews. The tribes listed are those of ch 1, though the order is different. Caleb and Joshua are later shown to be men of faith (14:30).

13:17-20 The military purpose of the scouting mission is evident; the spies were also to gather information about natural resources and food, which had been on the Israelites’ minds since they left Egypt (ch 11; Exod 16).

13:20
Deut 1:25
13:21
Num 20:1; 27:14
Josh 19:28
Judg 1:31
Amos 6:14
13:22
Num 13:33
Josh 11:21; 15:14
Judg 1:20
13:23
Num 13:24; 32:9
Deut 1:24-25

find out whether the people living there are strong or weak, few or many. ¹⁹See what kind of land they live in. Is it good or bad? Do their towns have walls, or are they unprotected like open camps? ²⁰Is the soil fertile or poor? Are there many trees? Do your best to bring back samples of the crops you see." (It happened to be the season for harvesting the first ripe grapes.)

²¹So they went up and explored the land from the wilderness of Zin as far as Rehob, near Lebo-hamath. ²²Going north, they passed through the Negev and arrived at Hebron, where Ahiman, Sheshai, and Talmai—all descendants of Anak—lived. (The ancient town of Hebron was founded seven years before the Egyptian city of Zoan.) ²³When they came to the valley of Eshcol, they cut down a branch with a single cluster of grapes so large that it took two of them to carry it on a pole between them! They also brought back samples of the pomegranates and figs. ²⁴That place was called the valley of Eshcol (which means "cluster"), because of the cluster of grapes the Israelite men cut there.

The Servant-Leader (12:7-8)

The servant-leader is characterized by an overwhelming desire to accomplish a purpose through service. The leader's heart compels this person to assume a servant role. Jesus of Nazareth and the apostle Paul fit this definition of servant-leaders, along with Moses, Joshua, and Caleb.

The OT describes Moses as the Lord's servant (12:7-8; Exod 14:31). Moses did not seek power, prestige, or material gain, but assumed his leadership role reluctantly. He used his prophetic authority with humility (12:3), knowing that he was subject to God (Deut 34:10-12; Hos 12:13). Every event in Moses' story indicates that he understood his leadership as derived from his service to God. He was submissive, selfless, and faithful. His interactions with his fellow Israelites were characterized by empathy, persuasiveness, and vision. Moses stood in the gap at a critical moment in Israelite history and fulfilled a role comparable to that of the apostle Paul during early Christianity. Like Paul, Moses' outstanding attribute was his humble submission to God; his humility was the basis for his role as a dedicated servant who became a great leader.

Jesus of Nazareth is the ideal servant-leader. The Gospels portray Jesus as the Lord's "Suffering Servant" (see Isa 52:13–53:12), especially in his sacrificial death, which was his ultimate act of service (Mark 10:45). Jesus spoke with great authority (e.g., John 13:12-16), but humbly, understanding his role as a shepherd who sacrifices his life for his sheep (John 10:11). He spent time with children and used them as models for those who desire to follow God wholeheartedly (Matt 18:4). When James and John asked him to give them an elevated rank in his Kingdom, Jesus criticized their worldly ambition (Mark 10:35-45). He set their priorities straight by instructing them to follow his example (Matt 20:24-28; 23:11-12; Mark 10:43-45). As a model for all who want to lead others through a life of service, Jesus understood that his purpose was to bring glory to God's name (John 12:27-28).

The apostles Paul and Peter followed Christ's example and fulfilled his ideal of servant-leadership. Paul's life of service demonstrates humility and tireless efforts on behalf of others (see 2 Cor 11:23-27). He taught Christians to do the same (Rom 8:17; Gal 5:13; 2 Tim 1:8; 2:3) and praised those who did so (e.g., Phil 2:25-30; Col 4:7). Peter also exemplified self-sacrificing service to Christ (e.g., Acts 3:1-11; 4:13-22; 5:12-16; 9:32-42); his instructions define the character of a servant-leader clearly and concisely (see 1 Pet 4:10-11; 5:1-5).

13:20 The season for harvesting the first ripe grapes came in late July or August.

13:21-24 The spies explored the land, which was unusually fertile in contrast with the Sinai wilderness.

13:21 It was about 275 miles from the wilderness of Zin, located roughly between the wilderness of Paran and the southern frontier of Canaan (see 34:3-5; Josh 15:1-4), to Lebo-hamath ("entrance of Hamath," either a notable mountain pass or another city near Hamath) in Syria. • The exact location of Rehob is uncertain, but it was probably the same as OT Beth-rehob, situated near a major route to Hamath. The text thus already identifies the approximate borders of the Promised Land (see 1 Kgs 8:65). The phrase "from Dan to Beersheba" (Judg 20:1; 2 Sam 3:10), frequently used to demarcate Israel's traditional boundaries, referred to a considerably smaller area than the territory visited by Israel's spies.

13:22 Israel's spies made their way into Canaan's hill country via the Negev, the dry southland next to the wilderness of Zin. In the southern part of Canaan's central hill country, they came to Hebron, where Israel's ancestors had lived (Gen 13:18; 23:19; 35:27; 37:14). • The descendants of Anak were famous for their size and strength (e.g., Deut 9:2). • Zoan (later called Tanis by the Greeks) was a famous city in Egypt's eastern delta (see also Ps 78:12, 43; Isa 19:11-13; 30:3-5).

The Scouting Report

²⁵After exploring the land for forty days, the men returned ²⁶to Moses, Aaron, and the whole community of Israel at Kadesh in the wilderness of Paran. They reported to the whole community what they had seen and showed them the fruit they had taken from the land. ²⁷This was their report to Moses: "We entered the ^dland you sent us to explore, and it is indeed a bountiful country—a land flowing with milk and honey. Here is the kind of fruit it produces. ²⁸But the people living there are powerful, and their towns are large and fortified. We even saw giants there, the descendants of Anak! ²⁹The Amalekites live in the Negev, and the Hittites, Jebusites, and Amorites live in the hill country. The Canaanites live along the coast of the Mediterranean Sea and along the Jordan Valley."

³⁰But Caleb tried to quiet the people as they stood before Moses. "Let's go at once to take the land," he said. "We can certainly conquer it!"

³¹But the other men who had explored the land with him disagreed. "We can't go up against them! They are stronger than we are!" ³²So they spread this bad report about the land among the Israelites: "The land we traveled through and explored will devour anyone who goes to live there. All the people we saw were huge. ³³We even saw giants there, the descendants of Anak. Next to them we felt like grasshoppers, and that's what they thought, too!"

The People Rebel

14 Then the whole community began weeping aloud, and they cried all night. ²Their voices rose in a great chorus of protest against Moses and Aaron. "If only we had died in Egypt, or even here in the wilderness!" they complained. ³"Why is the LORD taking us to this country only to have us die in battle? Our wives and our little ones will be carried off as plunder! Wouldn't it be better for us to return to Egypt?" ⁴Then they plotted among themselves, "Let's choose a new leader and go back to Egypt!"

⁵Then Moses and Aaron fell face down on the ground before the whole community of Israel. ⁶Two of the men who had explored the land, Joshua son of Nun and Caleb son of Jephunneh, tore their clothing. ⁷They said to all the people of Israel, "The land we traveled through and explored is a wonderful land! ⁸And if the LORD is pleased with us, he will bring us safely into that land and give it to us. It is a rich land flowing with milk and honey. ⁹Do not rebel against the LORD, and don't be afraid of the people of the land. They are only helpless prey to us! They have no protection, but the LORD is with us! Don't be afraid of them!"

¹⁰But the whole community began to talk about stoning Joshua and Caleb. Then the 13:26

Num 12:16; 13:3; 20:1; 32:8

13:27
Exod 13:5
Deut 1:25
^dereis (0776)
Deut 4:39

13:28
Num 13:22-23

13:29
Num 14:43

13:30
Num 14:6, 24

13:31
Deut 1:28

13:32
Num 14:36

13:33
Deut 1:28

14:2
Exod 15:24; 16:3
Num 11:1; 16:13;
20:4; 21:5

14:3
Exod 5:21; 16:3
Num 14:31
Deut 1:39

14:5
Num 16:22, 45

14:7
Num 13:27
Deut 1:25

14:8
Exod 3:8
Num 13:27

14:9
Deut 1:21, 29; 7:18;
9:7, 23-24

14:10
Exod 16:7, 10; 17:4;
24:16-17; 32:9-13
Lev 9:23

13:25-29 The spies agreed that the land was good, but most doubted that Israel could conquer it. The strong, well-fed Canaanites had built fortified towns to protect themselves.

13:26 Kadesh is often identified with 'Ain el-Qudeirat, a spring at the northern border of Sinai and the southern edge of Canaan. There is no evidence of a Hebrew camp at this site during the period of the Exodus or the wilderness wanderings, so some scholars have suggested that ancient Kadesh was located elsewhere.

13:27 The Promised Land is often described as a land flowing with milk and honey. Milk and dairy products constituted a major part of the diet in biblical times, and "milk" is used in figurative language for abundance (see Deut 32:14; Isa 55:1; Joel 3:18). Honey provided sweetness (see Ps 19:10; 119:103; Ezek 3:3; Rev 10:9-10). The phrase thus refers to a highly desirable destination, a land with an abundance of food and resources (cp. 16:13-14; see also Exod 3:8; Deut 6:3; 26:15; Jer 11:4-5; Ezek 20:6). The NT emphasizes the spiritual nature of God's promises, pointing to a promised inheritance in heaven (see Rom 9:6-8; Gal 6:14-16; Rev 21:1-2).

13:29 The spies answer the question of 13:18. Many ethnic groups occupied ancient Canaan. • the Mediterranean Sea: Literally the sea.

13:30 Caleb and Joshua (see 14:6, 10, 30) were more optimistic in their assessment of the land than the other spies were (cp. 14:31-33).

13:33 giants: Hebrew nephilim; see note on Gen 6:4.

14:1-45 The testimony of the faithful spies Joshua and Caleb was rejected, and rebellion spread through the entire community. Only Moses' intervention saved Israel from complete destruction. Those who failed to obey God died during a forty-year wilderness sojourn.

14:3-4 The threats about which they complained were real, but the Israelites should have trusted the Lord. In the ancient Near East, women and children were often taken as plunder in the aftermath of battle. • return to Egypt: How quickly the Israelites forgot their bondage (Exod 2:23-24) and the hardship of the wilderness (11:1)!

14:5 Moses and Aaron prostrated themselves out of humility, fear, grief, and anguish.

14:6 Joshua and Caleb joined in the effort to reverse the rebellion and avert God's wrath; they tore their clothing in a gesture of grief.

14:7-9 Joshua and Caleb understood that Israel's lack of courage and their criticism of Moses and Aaron were rebellion against the Lord, and they knew what results this would produce. • the LORD is with us: This was the source of their confidence (cp. Rom 8:31).

14:10 Joshua and Caleb, with their encouragement and expression of trust in God, brought even more opposition; the protests against the leaders were converted into threats of violence against the faithful spies. All of the Israelites' objections came to a sudden stop when the Lord's glorious presence (Hebrew kabod; see Exod 24:15-18; Ezek 1) appeared at the Tabernacle, the site of divine communication. • the Tabernacle: Literally the Tent of Meeting. See note on Exod 27:21.

kabad* (3519)
 • 1 Sam 4:21

14:11
 aman* (0539)
 • Ps 106:12

14:12
 Exod 32:10
 Lev 26:25
 Deut 28:21

14:13
 Exod 9:28; 32:12

14:14
 Exod 13:21; 33:11
 Deut 5:4

14:16
 Exod 32:12
 Deut 9:28
 Josh 7:7

14:18
 arek 'appayim* (0750, 0639)
 • Neh 9:17

14:19
 Exod 34:9
 Ps 106:45

14:20
 Ps 106:23
 Mic 7:18-20

14:23
 Num 26:65; 32:11

14:24
 Num 32:12
 Josh 14:6-15

14:25
 Num 13:29

14:28
 Num 14:2, 21

14:29
 Num 1:17-19; 26:2
 Heb 3:17

14:30
 Num 14:24, 38

14:31
 Num 14:3

14:32
 Num 26:64-65; 32:13
 1 Cor 10:5

14:33
 Deut 2:7, 8:2

“glorious presence of the LORD appeared to all the Israelites at the Tabernacle. ¹¹And the LORD said to Moses, “How long will these people treat me with contempt? Will they never believe me, even after all the miraculous signs I have done among them? ¹²I will disown them and destroy them with a plague. Then I will make you into a nation greater and mightier than they are!”

Moses Intercedes for the People

¹³But Moses objected. “What will the Egyptians think when they hear about it?” he asked the LORD. “They know full well the power you displayed in rescuing your people from Egypt. ¹⁴Now if you destroy them, the Egyptians will send a report to the inhabitants of this land, who have already heard that you live among your people. They know, LORD, that you have appeared to your people face to face and that your pillar of cloud hovers over them. They know that you go before them in the pillar of cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night. ¹⁵Now if you slaughter all these people with a single blow, the nations that have heard of your fame will say, ¹⁶‘The LORD was not able to bring them into the land he swore to give them, so he killed them in the wilderness.’

¹⁷“Please, Lord, prove that your power is as great as you have claimed. For you said, ¹⁸‘The LORD is slow to anger and filled with unfailing love, forgiving every kind of sin and rebellion. But he does not excuse the guilty. He lays the sins of the parents upon their children; the entire family is affected—even children in the third and fourth generations.’ ¹⁹In keeping with your magnificent, unfailing love, please pardon the sins of this people, just as you have forgiven them ever since they left Egypt.”

²⁰Then the LORD said, “I will pardon them as you have requested. ²¹But as surely as I live, and as surely as the earth is filled with the LORD’s glory, ²²not one of these people will ever enter that land. They have all seen my glorious presence and the miraculous signs I performed both in Egypt and in the wilderness, but again and again they have tested me by refusing to listen to my voice. ²³They will never even see the land I swore to give their ancestors. None of those who have treated me with contempt will ever see it. ²⁴But my servant Caleb has a different attitude than the others have. He has remained loyal to me, so I will bring him into the land he explored. His descendants will possess their full share of that land. ²⁵Now turn around, and don’t go on toward the land where the Amalekites and Canaanites live. Tomorrow you must set out for the wilderness in the direction of the Red Sea.”

The LORD Punishes the Israelites

²⁶Then the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, ²⁷“How long must I put up with this wicked community and its complaints about me? Yes, I have heard the complaints the Israelites are making against me. ²⁸Now tell them this: ‘As surely as I live, declares the LORD, I will do to you the very things I heard you say. ²⁹You will all drop dead in this wilderness! Because you complained against me, every one of you who is twenty years old or older and was included in the registration will die. ³⁰You will not enter and occupy the land I swore to give you. The only exceptions will be Caleb son of Jephunneh and Joshua son of Nun.

³¹“You said your children would be carried off as plunder. Well, I will bring them safely into the land, and they will enjoy what you have despised. ³²But as for you, you will drop dead in this wilderness. ³³And your children will be like shepherds, wandering in the wilderness for forty years. In this way, 14:11 God marveled that Israel had not yet learned to trust him, even after he had miraculously rescued them from slavery and provided for their needs as they traveled in the wilderness (cp. Deut 4:32-40; Matt 11:21; Luke 10:13).

14:12 God is patient, but he will not tolerate outright rebellion from his people (cp. Exod 32:7-10). The writer of Hebrews refers to this episode in his effort to strengthen the faith of Christians whose trust in the Good News was wavering (Heb 3:7-19; 12:3, 25; cp. Ps 95:8-11).

14:13-25 Moses interceded on behalf of his people, reminding God that his reputation was bound up with that of Israel and appealing to his faithfulness.

14:17-18 Moses had used this same argument earlier when he sought pardon for Israel’s rebellion (Exod 32:10-14). Moses knew that God would not let the Israelites off without punishment (Deut 7:9-10).

14:19 Israel’s history since leaving Egypt had been a series of transgressions forgiven by the Lord (Exod 15:22-27; 17:1-7; 32:1-14; Lev 10:1-20; Num 11:1-12:16).

14:20-25 As a result of Moses’ argument, the Lord pardoned Israel’s rebellion and did not obliterate them, but the obstinate adult generation would never see the Promised Land.

14:22 The people’s lack of obedience and faith was a refusal to listen to God’s voice, since they were eyewitnesses of the Lord’s glorious presence (see note on 14:10) and miraculous signs (Exod 4:29-31; 7:1-11:10; 14:15-31; 16:1-17:13).

14:23-25 Having turned their backs on the Promised Land, the Israelites were now ordered to march the other way.

• The Red Sea (literally sea of reeds) could refer to bodies of water on either side of the Sinai Peninsula (the Gulf of Aqaba or the Gulf of Suez).

14:27 I have heard: See 11:1; 12:2.

14:28 Israel’s disobedience brought on the consequences they feared would come from obeying.

14:29 registration: See 1:3; note on 1:2-16.

they will pay for your faithlessness, until the last of you lies dead in the wilderness.

³⁴"Because your men explored the land for forty days, you must wander in the wilderness for forty years—a year for each day, suffering the consequences of your sins. Then you will discover what it is like to have me for an enemy." ³⁵I, the LORD, have spoken! I will certainly do these things to every member of the community who has conspired against me. They will be destroyed here in this wilderness, and here they will die!"

³⁶The ten men Moses had sent to explore the land—the ones who incited rebellion against the LORD with their bad report—³⁷were struck dead with a plague before the LORD. ³⁸Of the twelve who had explored the land, only Joshua and Caleb remained alive.

Israelite Defeat at Hormah

³⁹When Moses reported the LORD's words to all the Israelites, the people were filled with grief. ⁴⁰Then they got up early the next morning and went to the top of the range of hills. "Let's go," they said. "We realize that we have sinned, but now we are ready to enter the land the LORD has promised us."

⁴¹But Moses said, "Why are you now disobeying the LORD's orders to return to the wilderness? It won't work. ⁴²Do not go up into the land now. You will only be crushed by your enemies because the LORD is not with you. ⁴³When you face the Amalekites and Canaanites in battle, you will be slaughtered. The LORD will abandon you because you have abandoned the LORD."

⁴⁴But the people defiantly pushed ahead toward the hill country, even though neither Moses nor the Ark of the LORD's Covenant left the camp. ⁴⁵Then the Amalekites and the Canaanites who lived in those hills came down and attacked them and chased them back as far as Hormah.

Laws concerning Offerings

15 Then the LORD told Moses, ²"Give the following instructions to the people of Israel.

"When you finally settle in the land I am giving you, ³you will offer special gifts as a pleasing aroma to the LORD. These gifts may take the form of a burnt offering, a sacrifice to fulfill a vow, a voluntary offering, or an offering at any of your annual festivals, and they may be taken from your herds of cattle or your flocks of sheep and goats. ⁴When you present these offerings, you must also give the LORD a grain offering of two quarts of choice flour mixed with one quart of olive oil. ⁵For each lamb offered as a burnt offering or a special sacrifice, you must also present one quart of wine as a liquid offering.

⁶"If the sacrifice is a ram, give a grain offering of four quarts of choice flour mixed with a third of a gallon of olive oil, ⁷and give a third of a gallon of wine as a liquid offering. This will be a pleasing aroma to the LORD.

⁸"When you present a young bull as a burnt offering or as a ⁹sacrifice to fulfill a vow or as a peace offering to the LORD, ⁹you must also give a grain offering of six quarts of choice flour mixed with two quarts of olive oil, ¹⁰and give two quarts of wine as a liquid offering. This will be a special gift, a pleasing aroma to the LORD.

¹¹"Each sacrifice of a bull, ram, lamb, or young goat should be prepared in this way. ¹²Follow these instructions with each offering you present. ¹³All of you native-born

14:36
Num 13:4-16

14:39
Exod 33:4

14:40
Deut 1:41-44

14:44
Num 10:33; 31:6

14:45
Num 21:3
Judg 1:17

15:3
Lev 1:2; 2:1-16; 22:21;
23:37-38; 27:2

15:5
Num 28:7

15:8
Lev 3:1; 7:11-18
hzebakh (2077)
Deut 15:21

15:10
Num 28:14

14:34 each day: Cp. 13:25. • to have me for an enemy: Cp. Ezek 5:8; 21:3.

14:39-45 The threat of divine punishment for their sins brought grief to the people of Israel, but their hearts were still rebellious and they again disobeyed the Lord's command (14:25). The promise of God's presence had been the basis for Caleb and Joshua's initial confidence (14:9), but God would not fight alongside the Israelites until all the rebels had died.

14:43 The LORD will abandon you because you have abandoned the LORD: Moses' prediction summarizes the whole chapter.

14:44 The Ark symbolized God's presence and blessings (cp. 1 Sam 4:1-11).

14:45 Hormah means "destruction" in Hebrew (see 21:1-3).

15:1-41 Chapters 1-14 took place in a relatively short period of time, but ch 15 describes the beginning of a long period—the bulk of the forty years in the wilderness—about which relatively little is known, though there are references to events that took place during the wilderness wanderings (e.g., Deut 8:2-6; 29:5-6; Josh 5:4-8; Ezek 20:10-26; Amos 5:25-26; Acts 7:42-43). During this period, Moses continued to deliver legislation to govern Israelite society, especially for that day when survivors of the wilderness would finally enter the Promised Land. This chapter deals with three categories of legal matters. Presented in the middle of stories about a stubborn and disobedient Israel, ch 15 raises hope that the Promised Land still awaited Israel's descendants.

15:1-3 The implication of these instructions is that the Israelites would someday settle in the Promised Land (14:31; 15:18).

15:3 special gifts . . . a pleasing aroma to the LORD: God is pleased by the honor and thanksgiving that sacrifices and offerings show him.

15:4 two quarts: Hebrew $\frac{1}{10}$ of an ephah [2.2 liters]. • one quart: Hebrew $\frac{1}{4}$ of a hin [1 liter]; also in 15:5.

15:6 four quarts: Hebrew $\frac{2}{5}$ of an ephah [4.4 liters]. • a third of a gallon: Hebrew $\frac{1}{3}$ of a hin [1.3 liters]; also in 15:7.

15:9 six quarts: Hebrew $\frac{3}{5}$ of an ephah [6.6 liters]. • two quarts: Hebrew $\frac{1}{2}$ of a hin [2 liters]; also in 15:10.

15:12-16 All inhabitants of the land, Israelite and foreign-born, were to be 15:15

Num 9:14; 15:29

15:19
Josh 5:11-12

15:22
Lev 4:2

15:25
Lev 4:20
^kapar (3722)
• Num 15:28

15:28
^kapar (3722)
• Num 35:33

15:29
Num 15:15

15:30
Num 14:40-44
Deut 1:43; 17:13

15:32
Exod 31:14-15; 35:2-3
^sabbath (7676)
• Deut 5:12

15:35
Lev 24:14, 23
Deut 21:21

Israelites must follow these instructions when you offer a special gift as a pleasing aroma to the LORD. ¹⁴And if any foreigners visit you or live among you and want to present a special gift as a pleasing aroma to the LORD, they must follow these same procedures. ¹⁵Native-born Israelites and foreigners are equal before the LORD and are subject to the same decrees. This is a permanent law for you, to be observed from generation to generation. ¹⁶The same instructions and regulations will apply both to you and to the foreigners living among you."

¹⁷Then the LORD said to Moses, ¹⁸"Give the following instructions to the people of Israel.

"When you arrive in the land where I am taking you, ¹⁹and you eat the crops that grow there, you must set some aside as a sacred offering to the LORD. ²⁰Present a cake from the first of the flour you grind, and set it aside as a sacred offering, as you do with the first grain from the threshing floor. ²¹Throughout the generations to come, you are to present a sacred offering to the LORD each year from the first of your ground flour.

²²"But suppose you unintentionally fail to carry out all these commands that the LORD has given you through Moses. ²³And suppose your descendants in the future fail to do everything the LORD has commanded through Moses. ²⁴If the mistake was made unintentionally, and the community was unaware of it, the whole community must present a young bull for a burnt offering as a pleasing aroma to the LORD. It must be offered along with its prescribed grain offering and liquid offering and with one male goat for a sin offering. ²⁵With it the priest will purify the whole community of Israel, making them right with the LORD, and they will be forgiven. For it was an unintentional sin, and they have corrected it with their offerings to the LORD—the special gift and the sin offering. ²⁶The whole community of Israel will be forgiven, including the foreigners living among you, for all the people were involved in the sin.

²⁷"If one individual commits an unintentional sin, the guilty person must bring a one-year-old female goat for a sin offering. ²⁸The priest will sacrifice it to purify the guilty person before the LORD, and that person will be forgiven. ²⁹These same instructions apply both to native-born Israelites and to the foreigners living among you.

³⁰"But those who brazenly violate the LORD's will, whether native-born Israelites or foreigners, have blasphemed the LORD, and they must be cut off from the community. ³¹Since they have treated the LORD's word with contempt and deliberately disobeyed his command, they must be completely cut off and suffer the punishment for their guilt."

Penalty for Breaking the Sabbath

³²One day while the people of Israel were in the wilderness, they discovered a man gathering wood on the ^sSabbath day. ³³The people who found him doing this took him before Moses, Aaron, and the rest of the community. ³⁴They held him in custody because they did not know what to do with him. ³⁵Then the LORD said to Moses, "The expected to begin after the Hebrews reached the Promised Land and had begun planting crops.

◀ Defeat in the Hill Country of Canaan (14:39-45). The approximate route of Israel's ill-fated attempt to conquer the HILL COUNTRY of Canaan. The location of HORMAH is not certain (see notes on 21:1-3).

15:22-29 Unintentional sins were treated differently than intentional sins (15:30-31), and the actions of the community were distinguished from those of an individual (see also Lev 4-5).

15:25 will purify the whole community of Israel, making them right with the LORD: Or will make atonement for the whole community of Israel. See note on Lev 1:4.

15:28 to purify: Or to make atonement for.

15:30-31 While atonement could be made for unwitting or inadvertent sins (15:22-29), anyone who brazenly (literally with a high hand; cp. Exod 14:8) violated the LORD's will was guilty of blasphemy and suffered the consequences (cp. Lev 24:10-16; see also Deut 17:2-6; Heb 10:26-31). • cut off from the community: See notes on Exod 31:14; Lev 7:20-21.

15:32-36 This case illustrates 15:30-31. The Sabbath was the LORD's holy day, which was not to be disregarded (Exod 20:8-11; 31:14-15; 35:1-3).

15:34 Though there was no question about the man's guilt, it is possible that the community was uncertain how to punish him. The death sentence was an appropriate penalty, because disregard of the Sabbath signaled a rejection of God's gracious covenant with Israel (Exod 31:12-17) and was akin to blasphemy (15:30; Lev 24:10-16; cp. 1 Tim 1:20).

equal before the LORD in all matters (see also Lev 24:22).

15:17-21 These gifts, signs of gratitude to God for agricultural bounty, were man must be put to death! The whole community must stone him outside the camp.”³⁶ So the whole community took the man outside the camp and stoned him to death, just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

Tassels on Clothing

³⁷Then the LORD said to Moses, ³⁸“Give the following instructions to the people of Israel: Throughout the generations to come you must make tassels for the hems of your clothing and attach them with a blue cord. ³⁹When you see the tassels, you will ⁴⁰remember and obey all the commands of the LORD instead of following your own desires and defiling yourselves, as you are prone to do. ⁴⁰The tassels will help you remember that you must obey all my commands and be holy to your God. ⁴¹I am the LORD your God who brought you out of the land of Egypt that I might be your God. I am the LORD your God!”

Korah's Rebellion

16 One day Korah son of Izhar, a descendant of Kohath son of Levi, conspired with Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab, and On son of Peleth, from the tribe of Reuben. ²They incited a rebellion against Moses, along with 250 other leaders of the community, all prominent members of the assembly. ³They united against Moses and Aaron and said, “You have gone too far! The whole community of Israel has been set apart by the LORD, and he is with all of us. What right do you have to act as though you are greater than the rest of the LORD’s people?”

⁴When Moses heard what they were saying, he fell face down on the ground. ⁵Then he said to Korah and his followers, “Tomorrow morning the LORD will show us who belongs to him and who is holy. The LORD will allow only those whom he selects to enter his own presence. ⁶Korah, you and all your followers must prepare your incense burners. ⁷Light fires in them tomorrow, and burn incense before the LORD. Then we will see whom the LORD chooses as his holy one. You Levites are the ones who have gone too far!”

⁸Then Moses spoke again to Korah: “Now listen, you Levites! ⁹Does it seem insignificant to you that the God of Israel has chosen you from among all the community of Israel to be near him so you can serve in the LORD’s Tabernacle and stand before the people to minister to them? ¹⁰Korah, he has already given this special ministry to you and your fellow Levites. Are you now demanding the priesthood as well? ¹¹The LORD is the one you and your followers are really revolting against! For who is Aaron that you are complaining about him?”

¹²Then Moses summoned Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab, but they replied, “We refuse to come before you! ¹³Isn’t it enough that you brought us out of Egypt, a land flowing with milk and honey, to kill us here in this wilderness, and that you now treat us like your subjects? ¹⁴What’s more, you haven’t brought us into another land flowing with milk and honey. You haven’t given us a new homeland with fields and vineyards. Are you trying to fool these men? We will not come.”

15:38
Lev 3:17
Num 10:8
Deut 22:12
Matt 23:5

15:39
Deut 4:23; 6:12;
8:11, 14
^a*zakar* (2142)
Deut 5:15

15:40
Lev 11:44
Rom 12:1
Col 1:22
1 Pet 1:15-16

15:41
Exod 20:2

16:1
Exod 6:21
Num 26:9
Deut 11:6
Jude 1:11

16:2
Num 1:16

16:3
Exod 19:6
Num 16:7; 35:34

16:4
Num 14:5

16:5
Lev 10:3
Num 17:5, 8
Ps 65:4

16:7
Num 16:3

16:10
Num 3:6-10

16:11
Exod 16:7
1 Cor 10:10

16:13
Num 11:5; 14:2-3; 20:3-4

16:14
Exod 22:5
Num 20:5

15:37-41 Had the Hebrews remembered their special relationship with the Lord, they might have avoided the problems reported in Numbers. The tassels reminded Israel of their special relationship with a holy God and his demands. He had redeemed his people from Egypt, and in keeping with his call to covenant relationship with himself he expected them to observe the law (cp. Deut 6:6-9; Matt 9:20; 14:36; 23:5). • The color blue signified royalty and reflected God’s holiness.

16:1-17:13 Another rebellion called for a clear delineation of the duties of priests and Levites. This power struggle was a more serious challenge than any of the previous rebellions against God’s authority (11:1-35; 12:1-15; 14:1-45). As in all of these historical episodes, the coconspirators protested relatively minor issues and questioned the actions of their leaders, but Moses reminded them that they were really rebelling against God. Once again, the Israelites suffered the deadly consequences of their rebellion.

16:3 The rebels were “jealous of Moses and envious of Aaron” (Ps 106:16). The rebels insisted that Moses and Aaron had gone too far because all Israelites were God’s chosen people (Exod 19:6). Their egalitarian protest against Moses and Aaron’s authority was probably intended to replace that authority with their own.

16:4-7 Moses . . . fell face down on the ground in intercession (cp. 14:5; 16:22), then challenged Korah and his followers to a test.

16:5 Tomorrow morning the LORD will show us who belongs to him: Greek version reads God has visited and knows those who are his. Cp. 2 Tim 2:19.

16:6 prepare your incense burners: Korah and his company were to act like priests by burning incense (as in Lev 16:11-13); God would decide who was legitimate.

16:10 The special ministry of the Levites is described in chs 3-4. The priesthood was the province of Aaron’s descendants (3:1-4). The rebels’ complaint was not with Moses or Aaron, but with the Lord.

16:13 land flowing with milk and honey: This sarcastic allusion to the spies’ earlier description of Canaan (13:27) is a deliberate distortion of life in Egypt (see note on 11:4-15).

16:14 The Israelites were heading away from their new homeland precisely because they had rebelled against Moses, who had done all he could to take them to that land (chs 13-14). • Are you trying to fool these men? Literally Are you trying to put out the eyes of these men? They were accusing Moses and Aaron of trying to mislead the Israelites (to “pull the wool over their eyes”).

16:15
Gen 4:5
1 Sam 12:3
16:19
Lev 9:6
Num 14:10; 16:42;
20:6
16:21
Exod 32:10
16:22
Gen 18:23-32
16:24
Num 16:45
16:26
Gen 19:12-17
16:28
Exod 3:12; 4:1-9; 7:9 16:30 b⁹she'ol (7585)
* 1 Sam 2:6
16:32
Num 16:30; 26:10
16:35
Lev 10:2
Num 11:1-3; 26:10

¹⁵Then Moses became very angry and said to the LORD, "Do not accept their grain offerings! I have not taken so much as a donkey from them, and I have never hurt a single one of them." ¹⁶And Moses said to Korah, "You and all your followers must come here tomorrow and present yourselves before the LORD. Aaron will also be here. ¹⁷You and each of your 250 followers must prepare an incense burner and put incense on it, so you can all present them before the LORD. Aaron will also bring his incense burner."

¹⁸So each of these men prepared an incense burner, lit the fire, and placed incense on it. Then they all stood at the entrance of the Tabernacle with Moses and Aaron. ¹⁹Meanwhile, Korah had stirred up the entire community against Moses and Aaron, and they all gathered at the Tabernacle entrance. Then the glorious presence of the LORD appeared to the whole community, ²⁰and the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, ²¹"Get away from all these people so that I may instantly destroy them!"

²²But Moses and Aaron fell face down on the ground. "O God," they pleaded, "you are the God who gives breath to all creatures. Must you be angry with all the people when only one man sins?"

²³And the LORD said to Moses, ²⁴"Then tell all the people to get away from the tents of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram."

²⁵So Moses got up and rushed over to the tents of Dathan and Abiram, followed by the elders of Israel. ²⁶"Quick!" he told the people. "Get away from the tents of these wicked men, and don't touch anything that belongs to them. If you do, you will be destroyed for their sins." ²⁷So all the people stood back from the tents of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram. Then Dathan and Abiram came out and stood at the entrances of their tents, together with their wives and children and little ones.

²⁸And Moses said, "This is how you will know that the LORD has sent me to do all these things that I have done—for I have not done them on my own. ²⁹If these men die a natural death, or if nothing unusual happens, then the LORD has not sent me. ³⁰But if the LORD does something entirely new and the ground opens its mouth and swallows them and all their belongings, and they go down alive into the ^bgrave, then you will know that these men have shown contempt for the LORD."

³¹He had hardly finished speaking the words when the ground suddenly split open beneath them. ³²The earth opened its mouth and swallowed the men, along with their households and all their followers who were standing with them, and everything they owned. ³³So they went down alive into the grave, along with all their belongings. The earth closed over them, and they all vanished from among the people of Israel. ³⁴All the people around them fled when they heard their screams. "The earth will swallow us, too!" they cried. ³⁵Then fire blazed forth from the LORD and burned up the 250 men who were offering incense.

³⁶And the LORD said to Moses, ³⁷"Tell Eleazar son of Aaron the priest to pull all the incense burners from the fire, for they are holy. Also tell him to scatter the burning coals. ³⁸Take the incense burners of these men who have sinned at the cost of their 16:15 Do not accept their grain offerings! Cp. Ps 109:7; Prov 28:9.

16:16-17 Moses gave final instructions concerning the test to see if the Lord would accept what the rebels brought or what Aaron offered.

16:18-22 At the height of the insurrection, the Lord intervened to save Moses and Aaron, and they interceded for the people.

16:18 The Tabernacle: Literally the Tent of Meeting; also in 16:19, 42, 43, 50. See note on Exod 27:21.

16:19 The community . . . gathered at the Tabernacle entrance, either to see the test or to overthrow Moses and Aaron. • the glorious presence of the LORD: See note on 14:10.

16:21-26 The Lord threatened to destroy the entire community because of its pervasive sin (cp. Gen 18:16-33).

Moses and Aaron interceded to narrow the Lord's judgment down to those who were guilty of this particular rebellion.

16:26 don't touch anything that belongs to them: These men and their belongings were now "set apart for destruction" (see Lev 27:28-29; cp. Deut 7:26; 13:17; Josh 6:18; 7:1-26).

16:28-30 Moses had faith that God would enact his own justice, and God did so (16:31-35; cp. 1 Kgs 18:18-40). • into the grave: (Hebrew into Sheol; also in 16:33): Sheol was the place of the dead (see 1 Sam 2:6; 2 Sam 22:5-6; Job 3:20-22; Ps 16:10; Acts 2:27-33; 1 Cor 15:15; Rev 20:13-14).

16:31-33 Korah's sons did not die at this time (26:10-11). In fact, his descendants eventually became gatekeepers and musicians in the Temple (1 Chr 9:19, 31; 26:19; 2 Chr 20:19; cp. the titles of Pss 42, 45-49, 84-85, 87-88).

16:34-35 The 250 Israelite leaders who attempted to offer incense shared the fate of Nadab and Abihu (Lev 10:1-2) and of those who complained about the hardships of the wilderness (11:1; cp. 2 Kgs 1:10).

16:36-50 Verses 16:36-50 are numbered 17:1-15 in Hebrew text.

16:37 Although the men who used the incense burners were wicked, the vessels themselves were holy and had to be treated with care and respect. The burning coals were also holy and had to be scattered so that they would not be used for any other purpose.

16:38-40 The bronze sheet made to cover the altar replaced or supplemented the one made previously (Exod 38:2). Like the simple blue tassels of 15:37-41, it reminded the people of Israel of their need to obey God.

lives, and hammer the metal into a thin sheet to overlay the altar. Since these burners were used in the LORD's presence, they have become holy. Let them serve as a warning to the people of Israel."

³⁹So Eleazar the priest collected the 250 bronze incense burners that had been used by the men who died in the fire, and the bronze was hammered into a thin sheet to overlay the altar. ⁴⁰This would warn the Israelites that no unauthorized person—no one who was not a descendant of Aaron—should ever enter the LORD's presence to burn incense. If anyone did, the same thing would happen to him as happened to Korah and his followers. So the LORD's instructions to Moses were carried out.

⁴¹But the very next morning the whole community of Israel began muttering again against Moses and Aaron, saying, "You have killed the LORD's people!" ⁴²As the community gathered to protest against Moses and Aaron, they turned toward the Tabernacle and saw that the cloud had covered it, and the glorious presence of the LORD appeared.

⁴³Moses and Aaron came and stood in front of the Tabernacle, ⁴⁴and the LORD said to Moses, ⁴⁵"Get away from all these people so that I can instantly destroy them!" But Moses and Aaron fell face down on the ground.

⁴⁶And Moses said to Aaron, "Quick, take an incense burner and place burning coals on it from the altar. Lay incense on it, and carry it out among the people to purify them and make them right with the LORD. The LORD's anger is blazing against them—the plague has already begun."

⁴⁷Aaron did as Moses told him and ran out among the people. The plague had already begun to strike down the people, but Aaron burned the incense and purified the people.

⁴⁸He stood between the dead and the living, and the plague stopped. ⁴⁹But 14,700 people died in that plague, in addition to those who had died in the affair involving Korah. ⁵⁰Then because the plague had stopped, Aaron returned to Moses at the entrance of the Tabernacle.

The Budding of Aaron's Staff

17 Then the LORD said to Moses, ²"Tell the people of Israel to bring you twelve wooden staffs, one from each leader of Israel's ancestral tribes, and inscribe each leader's name on his staff. ³Inscribe Aaron's name on the staff of the tribe of Levi, for there must be one staff for the leader of each ancestral tribe. ⁴Place these staffs in the Tabernacle in front of the Ark containing the tablets of the Covenant, where I meet with you. ⁵Buds will sprout on the staff belonging to the man I choose. Then I will finally put an end to the people's murmuring and complaining against you."

⁶So Moses gave the instructions to the people of Israel, and each of the twelve tribal leaders, including Aaron, brought Moses a staff. ⁷Moses placed the staffs in the LORD's presence in the Tabernacle of the Covenant. ⁸When he went into the Tabernacle of the Covenant the next day, he found that Aaron's staff, representing the tribe of Levi, had sprouted, budded, blossomed, and produced ripe almonds!

⁹When Moses brought all the staffs out 16:40

Num 1:51; 3:10, 38

16:41
Num 16:3

16:42
Exod 40:34
Num 14:10; 16:19

16:45
Num 16:21, 24

16:46
Lev 10:1, 6
Num 8:19; 18:5;
25:13
Deut 9:22

16:47
Num 25:7-8, 13

16:49
Num 16:32-35; 25:9

17:4
Exod 25:22
Num 17:10

17:5
Num 16:5; 17:8

17:7
Num 18:2

17:8
Num 17:5
Heb 9:4

16:41 The Israelites still exhibited the same self-destructive, defiant behavior that had caused all their troubles. Then they blamed Moses and Aaron for what happened.

16:42-48 In reply, the Lord's glorious presence reappeared and threatened to destroy the people of Israel (cp. 16:19-20). Once again, Moses and Aaron intervened by falling face down on the ground.

16:46-50 Moses and Aaron acted quickly to rescue the Israelites from God's wrath. In an unusual procedure, Aaron carried an incense burner with burning coals among the people and thus stopped the plague.

16:46 to purify them and make them right with the LORD: Or to make atonement for them.

16:47 and purified: Or and made atonement for.

17:1-13 The Lord prescribed another trial to reinforce the lessons taught by the incidents in ch 16 and to introduce the instructions of ch 18. • Verses 17:1-13 are numbered 17:16-28 in Hebrew text.

17:1-5 The shepherd's staff was a common possession (cp. Ps 23:4) and, like the scepter, was a symbol of authority (cp. Jer 48:17). This trial was especially appropriate because the Hebrew words translated staffs and tribes are homonyms; the Lord's choice of staff would indicate his choice of tribe.

17:4 Moses placed the staffs in the Tabernacle in front of the Ark containing the tablets of the Covenant (literally in the Tent of Meeting before the Testimony): The Hebrew word for "testimony" refers to the terms of the Lord's covenant with Israel as written on stone tablets, which were kept in the Ark, and also to the covenant itself. The staffs were in the Lord's presence (17:7), a safe spot where no one would tamper with them.

17:7 Tabernacle of the Covenant: Or Tabernacle of the Testimony; also in 17:8.

17:8 Aaron's staff . . . produced ripe almonds! This was more than enough proof that Aaron was God's chosen leader and that the Levites held a special position. The cups on the Tabernacle's lampstand were shaped like almond blossoms (Exod 25:33-36). Later, Jeremiah's vision of an almond branch represented the Lord's vigil and his intention to carry out his plans (see Jer 1:11-12). • There is no natural explanation for the budding of Aaron's staff. Almond wood is soft while alive and only becomes hard enough for use as a staff long after it has been cut off and allowed to dry.

17:9-11 After each tribal leader claimed his own staff, it was clear that Aaron's deserved special treatment. It was placed permanently before the Ark

17:10
Num 17:4
Deut 9:7, 24

17:12
Isa 6:5

17:13
Num 1:51-53

18:1
Exod 28:38

18:2
Num 3:5-10

18:5
Num 16:46

18:6
Num 3:9, 12

18:7
Exod 29:9
Num 1:51, 3:10

18:8
Lev 7:28-34
Deut 12:6

18:9
Lev 2:1-16; 6:25-30

from the LORD's presence, he showed them to the people. Each man claimed his own staff. ¹⁰And the LORD said to Moses: "Place Aaron's staff permanently before the Ark of the Covenant to serve as a warning to rebels. This should put an end to their complaints against me and prevent any further deaths." ¹¹So Moses did as the LORD commanded him.

¹²Then the people of Israel said to Moses, "Look, we are doomed! We are dead! We are ruined! ¹³Everyone who even comes close to the Tabernacle of the LORD dies. Are we all doomed to die?"

Duties of Priests and Levites

18 Then the LORD said to Aaron: "You, your sons, and your relatives from the tribe of Levi will be held responsible for any offenses related to the sanctuary. But you and your sons alone will be held responsible for violations connected with the priesthood.

²"Bring your relatives of the tribe of Levi—your ancestral tribe—to assist you and your sons as you perform the sacred duties in front of the Tabernacle of the Covenant. ³But as the Levites go about all their assigned duties at the Tabernacle, they must be careful not to go near any of the sacred objects or the altar. If they do, both you and they will die. ⁴The Levites must join you in fulfilling their responsibilities for the care and maintenance of the Tabernacle, but no unauthorized person may assist you.

⁵"You yourselves must perform the sacred duties inside the sanctuary and at the altar. If you follow these instructions, the LORD's anger will never again blaze against the people of Israel. ⁶I myself have chosen your fellow Levites from among the Israelites to be your special assistants. They are a gift to you, dedicated to the LORD for service in the Tabernacle. ⁷But you and your sons, the priests, must personally handle all the priestly rituals associated with the altar and with everything behind the inner curtain. I am giving you the priesthood as your special privilege of service. Any unauthorized person who comes too near the sanctuary will be put to death."

Support for the Priests and Levites

⁸The LORD gave these further instructions to Aaron: "I myself have put you in charge of all the holy offerings that are brought to me by the people of Israel. I have given all these consecrated offerings to you and your sons as your permanent share. ⁹You are allotted the portion of the most holy offerings that is not burned on the fire. This portion of all the most holy offerings—including the grain offerings, sin offerings, and guilt to warn potential rebels and to deter Israelites who complained about the Lord and his appointed leaders. The Ark eventually contained this staff, a jar of manna, and the stone tablets of the law (cp. Heb 9:4) to remind the Israelites of their wilderness wanderings.

17:10 before the Ark of the Covenant: Literally before the Testimony; see note on 17:4.

17:12-13 The Lord and his Tabernacle were holy, and because of God's holiness, his sanctuary could be a dangerous place for those who were not qualified to enter it. Moses' efforts to make the people understand and respect the God of Israel were bearing fruit.

18:1-32 The instructions given here arose from the need demonstrated in ch 17 for clear boundaries between the people and the priests and Levites. The distinctive privileges of the Levites were matched by significant responsibilities. One very important aspect of their work was to safeguard the Tabernacle from unauthorized entry (ch 16).

18:1-4 The LORD gave special authority to Aaron, his sons (the priests), and his relatives (the Levites), all of whom were held responsible for offenses against the sanctuary. But the priests alone were held responsible for their own violations of God's instructions for their service.

18:2 the Tabernacle of the Covenant: Or Tabernacle of the Testimony.

18:3-4 all their assigned duties: See 1:47-53; 3:5-38; 4:1-33. • they must be careful: The Levites could go near only when the sacred objects were covered for transport.

18:4 the Tabernacle: Literally the Tent of Meeting; also in 18:6, 21, 22, 23, 31. See note on Exod 27:21.

18:5-7 Only the priests (Aaron and his descendants) could perform sacred duties inside the sanctuary proper or approach the altar, a sacred space that deserved special reverence. Only the high priest could serve in the Most Holy Place. The Levites were to serve only in the courtyard, away from the altar, except when it was time to assemble or disassemble the Tabernacle (ch 4).

18:5 Aaron and the priests were the people's representatives before the Lord, so their actions had consequences for all of Israel (cp. 16:18-21).

18:6-7 Levites . . . your special assis- tants: As explained in chs 3-4; see also 3:9; 8:16, 19.

18:7 Any unauthorized person . . . will be put to death: This verse warned Israelites at all levels in the sacred hierarchy to avoid areas where they were not allowed. Certain sacred places were off limits to those not qualified in a technical religious sense. Access to the most sacred areas was restricted, set apart for the holiest members of the religious community. Those who broke that taboo violated God's holiness at the cost of their lives (see also 1:51, 53; 3:10, 29-38; 4:1-20).

18:8-14 The priests and Levites were to be supported by the sacrificial system (see, e.g., Lev 7:28-36). God's appointed representatives deserve compensation for their efforts (cp. Matt 10:9-10; 1 Cor 9:3-10).

18:9-11 The most holy offerings were consumed only by Aaron and his sons, the priests set apart to serve in God's presence (Exod 28:1; 29:44-46). • This portion was a holy offering presented to God, and the priests had to respect it as such (18:10). Other categories of offerings provided food for the priests and their families (18:11-12), but only if they were ceremonially clean.

offerings—will be most holy, and it belongs to you and your sons. ¹⁰You must eat it as a most holy offering. All the males may eat of it, and you must treat it as most holy.

¹¹All the sacred offerings and special offerings presented to me when the Israelites lift them up before the altar also belong to you. I have given them to you and to your sons and daughters as your permanent share. Any member of your family who is ceremonially clean may eat of these offerings.

¹²I also give you the harvest gifts brought by the people as offerings to the LORD—the best of the olive oil, new wine, and grain. ¹³All the first crops of their land that the people present to the LORD belong to you. Any member of your family who is ceremonially clean may eat this food.

¹⁴Everything in Israel that is specially set apart for the LORD also belongs to you.

¹⁵The firstborn of every mother, whether human or animal, that is offered to the LORD will be yours. But you must always redeem your firstborn sons and the firstborn of ceremonially unclean animals. ¹⁶Redeem them when they are one month old. The redemption price is five pieces of silver (as measured by the weight of the sanctuary shekel, which equals twenty gerahs).

¹⁷However, you may not redeem the firstborn of cattle, sheep, or goats. They are holy and have been set apart for the LORD. Sprinkle their blood on the altar, and burn their fat as a special gift, a pleasing aroma to the LORD. ¹⁸The meat of these animals will be yours, just like the breast and right thigh that are presented by lifting them up as a special offering before the altar. ¹⁹Yes, I am giving you all these holy offerings that the people of Israel bring to the LORD. They are for you and your sons and daughters, to be eaten as your permanent share. This is an eternal and unbreakable covenant between the LORD and you, and it also applies to your descendants."

²⁰And the LORD said to Aaron, "You priests will receive no allotment of land or share of property among the people of Israel. I am your share and your allotment.

²¹As for the tribe of Levi, your relatives, I will compensate them for their service in the Tabernacle. Instead of an allotment of land, I will give them the 'tithes from the entire land of Israel.

²²From now on, no Israelites except priests or Levites may approach the Tabernacle. If they come too near, they will be judged guilty and will die. ²³Only the Levites may serve at the Tabernacle, and they will be held responsible for any offenses against it. This is a permanent law for you, to be observed from generation to generation. The Levites will receive no allotment of land among the Israelites, ²⁴because I have given them the Israelites' tithes, which have been presented as sacred offerings to the LORD. This will be the Levites' share. That is why I said they would receive no allotment of land among the Israelites."

²⁵The LORD also told Moses, ²⁶"Give these instructions to the Levites: When you receive from the people of Israel the tithes I have assigned as your allotment, give a tenth of the tithes you receive—a tithe of the tithe—to the LORD as a sacred offering. ²⁷The LORD will consider this offering to be your harvest offering, as though it were the first grain from your own threshing floor or wine from your own winepress. ²⁸You must present one-tenth of the tithe received from the Israelites as a sacred offering to the LORD. This is the LORD's sacred portion, and you must present it to Aaron the priest. ²⁹Be sure to give to the LORD the best portions of the gifts given to you.

³⁰Also, give these instructions to the Levites: When you present the best part as your offering, it will be considered as though it came from your own threshing

18:11
Lev 22:2-3, 11-13

18:12
Exod 23:19
Deut 18:4

18:14
Lev 27:28

18:19
2 Chr 13:5

18:20
Deut 10:9; 18:2
Josh 13:33
Ezek 44:28

18:21
Lev 27:30-33
Ma'aser (4643)
Deut 12:6

18:23
Num 18:1, 20

18:26
Num 18:28
Neh 10:38

18:28
Num 18:21

18:14 Offerings specially set apart for the LORD were available to Aaron and his extended family. The Hebrew term used here refers to the complete consecration of things or people to the LORD, either by destroying them or by giving them as an offering (see Lev 27:28-29); the second sense is intended here.

18:15-16 The Lord provided for the Hebrew priests and their families out of what was set aside for the Lord. The priests had rights to firstborn animal offerings and to the redemption fee for Israel's firstborn sons. Both the firstborn sons and the offspring of unclean animals had to be redeemed by a fee paid in silver, since neither could be sacrificed (see 3:13, 40-51; Exod 13:2).

18:16 five pieces of silver: Hebrew 5 shekels [2 ounces or 57 grams] of silver.

18:19 These arrangements were part of an eternal and unbreakable covenant (literally a covenant of salt; cp. 2 Chr 13:5). The covenant was apparently meant to be permanent, since salt (a preservative) was a symbol of permanence (Lev 2:13).

18:20-21 The priests and Levites did not have a tribal homeland but were scattered among Israel's other tribes (cp. 35:1-8; Deut 12:12; Josh 21:1-42). • I am your share and your allotment: Instead of their own territory, Israel's priests received the assurance that God himself would be their homeland, while the tribe of Levi received tithes in compensation for their sacred service.

18:22 See 18:7.

18:23-24 The Israelites' tithes were one tenth of the year's production of goods (see Deut 14:22-29; 26:12; Neh 10:35-39; Mal 3:8-12; Matt 23:23; cp. Gen 14:17-20; Heb 7:5-10).

18:25-32 Just as the Levites received a tithe of the Israelites' goods (18:24), they in turn were required to give . . . a tithe of the tithe to the priests as their own harvest offering (18:27).

18:31
Matt 10:10
Luke 10:7
1 Cor 9:13
1 Tim 5:18

18:32
Lev 22:2, 15-16

19:2
Lev 22:20-25
Deut 21:3

19:4
Lev 4:6, 17; 16:14

19:6
Lev 14:4, 6, 49

19:7
Lev 11:25; 16:26-28

19:9
Num 8:7; 19:13, 20-21

19:10
Num 19:7-8, 19

19:11
Lev 21:1

19:12
Num 19:17-19

19:13
Lev 7:20-21; 15:31;
20:3; 22:3

floor or winepress. ³¹You Levites and your families may eat this food anywhere you wish, for it is your compensation for serving in the Tabernacle. ³²You will not be considered guilty for accepting the LORD's tithes if you give the best portion to the priests. But be careful not to treat the holy gifts of the people of Israel as though they were common. If you do, you will die."

The Red Heifer and the Water of Purification

19 The LORD said to Moses and Aaron, ²"Here is another legal requirement commanded by the LORD: Tell the people of Israel to bring you a red heifer, a perfect animal that has no defects and has never been yoked to a plow. ³Give it to Eleazar the priest, and it will be taken outside the camp and slaughtered in his presence. ⁴Eleazar will take some of its blood on his finger and sprinkle it seven times toward the front of the Tabernacle. ⁵As Eleazar watches, the heifer must be burned—its hide, meat, blood, and dung. ⁶Eleazar the priest must then take a stick of cedar, a hyssop branch, and some scarlet yarn and throw them into the fire where the heifer is burning.

⁷"Then the priest must wash his clothes and bathe himself in water. Afterward he may return to the camp, though he will remain ceremonially unclean until evening. ⁸The man who burns the animal must also wash his clothes and bathe himself in water, and he, too, will remain unclean until evening. ⁹Then someone who is ceremonially clean will gather up the ashes of the heifer and deposit them in a purified place outside the camp. They will be kept there for the community of Israel to use in the water for the purification ceremony. This ceremony is performed for the removal of sin. ¹⁰The man who gathers up the ashes of the heifer must also wash his clothes, and he will remain ceremonially unclean until evening. This is a permanent law for the people of Israel and any foreigners who live among them.

¹¹"All those who touch a dead human body will be ceremonially unclean for seven days. ¹²They must purify themselves on the third and seventh days with the water of purification; then they will be purified. But if they do not do this on the third and seventh days, they will continue to be unclean even after the seventh day. ¹³All those who touch a dead body and do not purify themselves in the proper way defile the LORD's Tabernacle, and they will be cut off from the community of Israel. Since the water of purification was not sprinkled on them, their defilement continues.

¹⁴"This is the ritual law that applies when someone dies inside a tent: All those who enter that tent and those who were inside when the death occurred will be ceremonially

18:31 Any food received in tithes could be consumed by Levites and their families. That food was compensation (i.e., a salary) for Tabernacle service.

18:32 The food tithes had a sacred origin as holy gifts of the people of Israel; they were not to turn these gifts into something common by neglecting to give a tithe to the priests.

19:1-22 This account considers the procedure by which ordinary Israelites defiled by contact with a corpse (see 9:4-12; Lev 17:15; 21:1-4, 11-12) could regain ceremonial purity and keep from defiling the Tabernacle. God's holiness requires that the place where his presence dwells be kept pure and set apart from pollution (cp. 1 Cor 6:9-11, 18-20).

19:1-10 The water for the purification ceremony (19:9), prepared with ashes of the red heifer, may have been the same as the water of purification in 8:7; see also 31:19-24. This ceremony required the ashes of a red heifer; the color probably represented blood (cp. Heb 9:13-14).

19:3-5 The need to safeguard Aaron's consecrated status (see Lev 21:10-12) required that Eleazar perform the offering of the red heifer, since it caused ritual impurity. The ceremony of the red heifer contrasted with the regular sacrifice (cp. Lev 4:3-12).

19:4 the Tabernacle: Literally the Tent of Meeting. See note on Exod 27:21.

19:6 The only other passage where a stick of cedar (or juniper), a hyssop branch, and some scarlet yarn occur together is Lev 14, which describes another ceremony (also "outside the camp") that brought about ceremonial purification. Some scholars suggest that Eleazar added cedarwood and hyssop to produce an aroma. Hyssop is associated with purification (Exod 12:22; Ps 51:7; cp. Heb 9:19), and the scarlet yarn, like the red heifer, probably symbolized blood. Taken together, the cedarwood, hyssop, and scarlet symbolize cleansing.

19:7-10 Three people were needed to produce and collect the heifer's ashes—Eleazar, the man who burned the animal, and the man who gathered its ashes. All three became ritually impure for a day because of this process. This was also true for the person who used the finished product, a potion made from the ash dust and water (cp.

19:21) that had the same defiling effect as blood associated with sacrifices (Lev 6:27-28).

19:9 The purpose of the ceremony of burning the red heifer was to produce ashes. These were collected and deposited in a purified place outside the camp until the Israelites needed them in the water for the purification ceremony to remove such defilement as coming into contact with a corpse (19:11-22).

19:11-19 Coming into contact with a human corpse produced ritual impurity for seven days (cp. Lev 21:1-3). The remedy was the water of purification, applied on the third and seventh days.

19:13 The impurity caused by contact with a corpse was especially dangerous since a ceremonially defiled person would defile the LORD's Tabernacle (cp. Lev 15:31). This was grounds for being cut off from the community of Israel (cp. 9:13; Exod 12:15; Lev 7:20-21; 17:4-14; 20:17-18).

19:14-16 Death's contagion could be transmitted to an object or to a place where death had occurred (cp. Lev 15:1-12).

unclean for seven days. ¹⁵Any open container in the tent that was not covered with a lid is also defiled. ¹⁶And if someone in an open field touches the corpse of someone who was killed with a sword or who died a natural death, or if someone touches a human bone or a grave, that person will be defiled for seven days.

¹⁷"To remove the defilement, put some of the ashes from the burnt purification offering in a jar, and pour fresh water over them. ¹⁸Then someone who is ceremonially clean must take a hyssop branch and dip it into the water. That person must sprinkle the water on the tent, on all the furnishings in the tent, and on the people who were in the tent; also on the person who touched a human bone, or touched someone who was killed or who died naturally, or touched a grave. ¹⁹On the third and seventh days the person who is ceremonially clean must sprinkle the water on those who are defiled. Then on the seventh day the people being cleansed must wash their clothes and bathe themselves, and that evening they will be cleansed of their defilement.

²⁰"But those who become defiled and do not purify themselves will be cut off from the community, for they have defiled the sanctuary of the LORD. Since the water of purification has not been sprinkled on them, they remain defiled. ²¹This is a permanent law for the people. Those who sprinkle the water of purification must afterward wash their clothes, and anyone who then touches the water used for purification will remain defiled until evening. ²²Anything and anyone that a defiled person touches will be ceremonially unclean until evening."

Moses Strikes the Rock in Disobedience

20 In the first month of the year, the whole community of Israel arrived in the wilderness of Zin and camped at Kadesh. While they were there, Miriam died and was buried.

²There was no water for the people to drink at that place, so they rebelled against Moses and Aaron. ³The people blamed Moses and said, "If only we had died in the LORD's presence with our brothers! ⁴Why have you brought the congregation of the LORD's people into this wilderness to die, along with all our livestock? ⁵Why did you make us leave Egypt and bring us here to this terrible place? This land has no grain, no figs, no grapes, no pomegranates, and no water to drink!"

⁶Moses and Aaron turned away from the people and went to the entrance of the Tabernacle, where they fell face down on the ground. Then the glorious presence of the LORD appeared to them, ⁷and the LORD said to Moses, ⁸"You and Aaron must take the staff and assemble the entire community. As the people watch, speak to the rock over there, and it will pour out its water. You will provide enough water from the rock to satisfy the whole community and their livestock."

⁹So Moses did as he was told. He took the staff from the place where it was kept before the LORD. ¹⁰Then he and Aaron summoned the people to come and gather at the rock. "Listen, you rebels!" he shouted. "Must we bring you water from this rock?" ¹¹Then Moses raised his hand and struck the rock twice with the staff, and water gushed out. So the entire community and their livestock drank their fill.

19:16
Num 19:11; 31:19

19:17
Num 19:9

19:19
Ezek 36:25-27
Heb 10:22

19:20
Num 19:13

19:21
Lev 11:25, 40;
16:26-28
Num 19:7

19:22
Lev 5:2-3; 7:21

20:1
Num 13:21

20:2
Exod 17:1

20:3
Exod 17:2
Num 14:2-3; 16:31-35

20:5
Num 16:14

20:8
Exod 4:17, 20

20:11
Ps 78:16
Isa 48:21
1 Cor 10:4

19:17-22 To cleanse with the heifer's ashes, a special purifying mixture was made by combining ashes from the burnt purification offering with fresh water (cp. 5:17).

19:20 See note on 19:13.

20:1 The first month of the ancient Hebrew lunar calendar usually occurs within the months of March and April. The number of years since leaving Egypt is not specified, but Aaron's death (20:22-29) took place in Israel's fortieth year in the wilderness (33:36-39).

• Miriam died: All in her generation shared this fate (14:26-30), including Moses and Aaron (20:2-13, 22-29).

20:2-13 In the face of yet another complaint by the people of Israel about a lack of water and food (cp. 11:4-35; 21:4-5; Exod 15:22-25), Moses and Aaron disobeyed the Lord and lost the privilege of entering the Promised Land.

20:2 There was no water: Throughout most of the year, Sinai and the Negev are very hot and dry.

20:3 our brothers! The Israelites identified themselves with Nadab and Abihu (Lev 10:1-5), the gluttons killed by the first plague (11:33), the skeptics who had already died in the wilderness (14:29), the ten unfaithful spies (14:36-37), Korah, Abiram, and Dathan, the 250 prominent men, and the 14,700 who died in the second plague (16:32, 35, 49).

20:6 the Tabernacle: Literally the Tent of Meeting. See note on Exod 27:21.

• they fell face down on the ground: As in previous conflicts (14:5, 10; 16:4, 19, 22), they prostrated themselves and awaited the glorious presence of the LORD to resolve the crisis.

20:7-9 God heard Israel's complaints, regarded them as legitimate, and commanded Moses to solve the problem.

20:8-9 The staff was kept before the Ark of the Covenant to prevent the Israelites from complaining (cp. 17:10); it represented God's authority in the hands of Moses and Aaron. The instructions that God gives his representatives are very precise and must be followed exactly (cp. Jas 3:1; see also 2 Tim 2:24-26).

20:10-12 Instead of reverently obeying God's instructions, Moses rebuked the people (Must we bring you water from this rock?) and angrily struck the rock twice with the staff (20:11). God regarded Moses' words and actions as a serious breach of faith; Moses "spoke foolishly" (Ps 106:32-33; cp. Jas 1:20) and did not trust God enough to demonstrate his holiness. By not doing exactly as he was

20:12
Lev 10:3
Num 20:24

20:13
Exod 17:7
Ps 95:8

20:14
Gen 36:31-39
Josh 2:10; 9:9

20:16
Exod 3:2-6; 14:19

20:21
Num 21:4
Deut 2:8
Judg 11:18

20:25
Num 3:4; 19:3-4

20:26
Num 20:24

20:28
Num 33:38

¹²But the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, "Because you did not trust me enough to demonstrate my holiness to the people of Israel, you will not lead them into the land I am giving them!" ¹³This place was known as the waters of Meribah (which means "arguing") because there the people of Israel argued with the LORD, and there he demonstrated his holiness among them.

*The Israelites Move from Kadesh to the Plains of Moab (20:14–22:1)
Edom Refuses Israel Passage*

¹⁴While Moses was at Kadesh, he sent ambassadors to the king of Edom with this message:

"This is what your relatives, the people of Israel, say: You know all the hardships we have been through. ¹⁵Our ancestors went down to Egypt, and we lived there a long time, and we and our ancestors were brutally mistreated by the Egyptians. ¹⁶But when we cried out to the LORD, he heard us and sent an angel who brought us out of Egypt. Now we are camped at Kadesh, a town on the border of your land. ¹⁷Please let us travel through your land. We will be careful not to go through your fields and vineyards. We won't even drink water from your wells. We will stay on the king's road and never leave it until we have passed through your territory."

¹⁸But the king of Edom said, "Stay out of my land, or I will meet you with an army!"

¹⁹The Israelites answered, "We will stay on the main road. If our livestock drink your water, we will pay for it. Just let us pass through your country. That's all we ask."

²⁰But the king of Edom replied, "Stay out! You may not pass through our land." With that he mobilized his army and marched out against them with an imposing force. ²¹Because Edom refused to allow Israel to pass through their country, Israel was forced to turn around.

The Death of Aaron

²²The whole community of Israel left Kadesh and arrived at Mount Hor. ²³There, on the border of the land of Edom, the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, ²⁴"The time has come for Aaron to join his ancestors in death. He will not enter the land I am giving the people of Israel, because the two of you rebelled against my instructions concerning the water at Meribah. ²⁵Now take Aaron and his son Eleazar up Mount Hor. ²⁶There you will remove Aaron's priestly garments and put them on Eleazar, his son. Aaron will die there and join his ancestors."

²⁷So Moses did as the LORD commanded. The three of them went up Mount Hor together as the whole community watched.

²⁸At the summit, Moses removed the priestly garments from Aaron and put them on Eleazar, Aaron's son. Then Aaron died told, Moses demonstrated a lack of faith in God to provide for his people. This lack of faith is also apparent in Moses' words to the people. The Lord requires obedience and faith; anything less is an affront to his holy character (20:24; 27:14). Such serious lack of obedience and faith had the same result as it had earlier (14:20-23; see also 1 Cor 10:4-12).

20:13 Meribah: As they had at Rephidim (Exod 17:1-7), the Israelites coined a name ("arguing") that referred more to the incident than to a geographical location. • God demonstrated his holiness through his judgment on Aaron and Moses' sin.

20:14–21:35 Here the Israelites began their trek toward the Promised Land. Moving from Kadesh, they left the Sinai Peninsula behind and entered the area east of the Jordan (Transjordan), approaching the Promised Land from the east by a less direct point of entry (see 14:25; cp. Deut 2:2-6).

20:14-21 Israel tried unsuccessfully to establish peaceful relations with Edom, with which it had apparently had no dealings since Esau (Edom) and Jacob (Israel) buried their father, Isaac (Gen 35:29; 36:6-8; cp. Gen 32:28). Moses' appeal resembles the formal diplomatic correspondence of that era. While contacts with the Canaanites and other people groups were marked by hostility, communication with Edom was polite because of kinship ties (cp. Deut 2:4; 23:7). Those ties, however, were apparently not strong enough to overcome the ancient tension between Jacob and Esau (Gen 27:41).

20:17 We won't even drink water from your wells: Edom is very dry; food and water were too scarce to provide for this substantial number of Hebrew immigrants. • We will stay on the king's road: The "King's Highway" (also 21:22) is well known in the OT, though its exact route is not certain. As its name indicates, this route was maintained for official purposes, including the movement of troops and trade. Along this trail, travelers could find settlements, food, and water between the Red Sea and Damascus. The route remained important into Roman and even modern times. This royal road contrasted with a much less hospitable route farther to the east called the Desert Highway.

20:18-21 Stay out of my land: As their ancestor Esau had distrusted Jacob (Gen 27:36), the Edomites now distrusted Jacob's descendants. So Israel was forced to turn around and find another way to approach Canaan (cp. Deut 2:4-6).

20:22-23 Israel did not follow the more direct route through the southern region east of the Jordan, the Edomite heartland (20:21). • After leaving Kadesh, the Hebrews reached Mount Hor, located on the border of the land of Edom. The precise location of Mount Hor remains unknown, though Josephus (writing in AD 70–100) linked it with the Petra region (at Jebel Haroun, "mountain of Aaron").

20:24-26 Aaron's participation in the rebellion of his generation resulted in his death outside the Promised Land (20:10-12).

20:27-29 Priestly authority was transferred when Moses placed Aaron's priestly garments (cp. Lev 8:7-9) on Eleazar. Afterward, Aaron died at the age of 123, in the fortieth year after the Hebrews left Egypt (see 33:37-39). • all Israel mourned for him thirty days: This was an unusually high honor (see also there on top of the mountain, and Moses and Eleazar went back down. ²⁹When the people realized that Aaron had died, all Israel mourned for him thirty days.

Victory over the Canaanites at Hormah

21 The Canaanite king of Arad, who lived in the Negev, heard that the Israelites were approaching on the road through Atharim. So he attacked the Israelites and took some of them as prisoners.

²Then the people of Israel made this vow to the LORD: "If you will hand these people over to us, we will ^dcompletely destroy all their towns." ³The LORD heard the Israelites' request and gave them victory over the Canaanites. The Israelites completely destroyed them and their towns, and the place has been called Hormah ever since.

Fiery Serpents and the Bronze Snake

⁴Then the people of Israel set out from Mount Hor, taking the road to the Red Sea

21:1
Num 33:40
Josh 12:14
Judg 1:16
21:2
^dkharam (2763)
Deut 7:2
21:3
Num 14:45
21:4
Deut 2:8

Eleazar (20:22-29)

Num 3:1-4; 16:36-40
Exod 6:23-25
Lev 10:6-7
Josh 14:1

Eleazar was the third son of Aaron, the first high priest (Exod 6:23; see "Aaron" at Exod 4:14-17, 27-31, p. 133). His two older brothers, Nadab and Abihu, offended God by offering incense in a different way than what God had commanded (Lev 10:1-7). God alone determines the right way for people to worship him; the brothers acted as though they knew better than God, so God sent fire to kill them. Since Eleazar was the next oldest son, he succeeded Aaron as high priest. During Aaron's lifetime, Eleazar performed priestly duties. He helped his father and Moses when some Levites rebelled because they wanted equal status with Aaron's priestly family (16:36-40).

Aaron died in the wilderness a short time before the Israelites entered the Promised Land. He was not allowed to enter because he and Moses had rebelled against God by striking the rock at Meribah (20:1-13). Before Aaron's death, he, Moses, and Eleazar went up on Mount Hor. Moses removed the priestly garments from Aaron and put them on his son (20:22-29). After this, Eleazar was high priest for the rest of his life, which included the time of Canaan's conquest.

When it was time to divide the land among the tribes, Eleazar and Joshua cast the sacred lots to determine where each tribe would settle (Josh 14:1-5). When Eleazar died, he was succeeded by his son Phinehas, who had distinguished himself by his covenant faithfulness at Baal-peor (ch 25). Eleazar's descendants included Zadok, the faithful priest who replaced Abiathar (1 Kgs 2:26-27, 35; see 1 Chr 6:3-8, 50-53; see also "Zadok" at 2 Sam 15:23-37, p. 545) and Ezra the priest, who was instrumental in reestablishing Judea after the Exile (see Ezra 7:1-5; see also "Ezra the Scribe" at Ezra 7:1-10:44, p. 800). In Ezekiel's ideal temple, only the descendants of Eleazar through Zadok would be permitted to serve (Ezek 44:15).

Deut 34:8), since the normal period of public mourning was seven days (Gen 50:10; 1 Sam 31:13).

21:1-22:1 In the march toward the Promised Land, Israel moved from Mount Hor to the plains of Moab (22:1). The account of Israel's march is punctuated by the book's emphasis on the Lord's patient plan to lead Israel into Canaan despite their frailties.

• Although the general direction of travel is clear, the exact route taken by the Hebrews remains unknown. Many of the places are hard to identify, and the archaeological evidence from some sites does not fit the time frame usually associated with the wilderness period. An honest appraisal of the wilderness itinerary is still beset by significant geographical and historical uncertainties.

21:1 It is possible that the Canaanite king of Arad was provoked by many enemies to the south of his territory (cp. 14:44-45). • Arad and Hormah (21:3) were far to the north of Mount Hor (20:22-29; 21:4; see note on 20:22-23). Ancient Arad is usually identified with Tel Arad, located west of the modern Israeli town of Arad and about fifty miles north of Kadesh. While excavation at Tel Arad has revealed important ruins from the Early Bronze Age (about 3300-2000 bc) and the Iron Age (about 1200-500 bc), there is no evidence of occupation during Israel's exodus and wilderness period (the Late Bronze Age, 1500-1200 bc). Some solutions link ancient Arad with another archaeological site in the region. Others claim that all such stories come from a much later period and that there is no reason to expect a correlation between excavated data and literary traditions. Another set of solutions recognizes that the evidence is fragmentary, insufficient to settle scholarly debate or to reach a definitive conclusion. The same general kinds of problems with geographical and archaeological details are found in other parts of the OT, and the solutions are often uncertain. • Atharim is otherwise unknown.

21:2-3 completely destroy (Hebrew kharam): The Hebrew term used here refers to the complete consecration of things or people to the Lord, either by destroying them or by giving them as an offering. Israel was instructed to completely destroy their enemies and their enemies' property (see Lev 27:28-29; Deut 7:2; 20:17; Josh 6-7, 10-11). • This battle reflects a play on words between kharam and Hormah (Hebrew khormah, 21:3). It marks a turning point in Israel's interaction with the Canaanites, who remained a formidable enemy throughout the period of the conquest. • Hormah means "destruction" (see also Josh 12:14; Judg 1:16-17).

21:4-9 The vow to the LORD and consequent victory (21:2-3) did not eliminate Israel's criticisms against God and

21:5
Num 11:5-6; 14:2-3
Ps 78:19

21:6
Deut 8:15
1 Cor 10:9

21:7
Ps 78:34

21:8
Isa 14:29
John 3:14-15

21:9
2 Kgs 18:4
John 3:14; 12:32

21:10
Num 33:43

21:15
Num 21:28
Deut 2:9

21:16
Judg 9:21

to go around the land of Edom. But the people grew impatient with the long journey,⁵ and they began to speak against God and Moses. "Why have you brought us out of Egypt to die here in the wilderness?" they complained. "There is nothing to eat here and nothing to drink. And we hate this horrible manna!"

⁶So the LORD sent poisonous snakes among the people, and many were bitten and died. ⁷Then the people came to Moses and cried out, "We have sinned by speaking against the LORD and against you. Pray that the LORD will take away the snakes." So Moses prayed for the people.

⁸Then the LORD told him, "Make a replica of a poisonous snake and attach it to a pole. All who are bitten will live if they simply look at it!" ⁹So Moses made a snake out of bronze and attached it to a pole. Then anyone who was bitten by a snake could look at the bronze snake and be healed!

Israel's Journey around Southern Moab

¹⁰The Israelites traveled next to Oboth and camped there. ¹¹Then they went on to Iye-abarim, in the wilderness on the eastern border of Moab. ¹²From there they traveled to the valley of Zered Brook and set up camp. ¹³Then they moved out and camped on the far side of the Arnon River, in the wilderness adjacent to the territory of the Amorites. The Arnon is the boundary line between the Moabites and the Amorites. ¹⁴For this reason The Book of the Wars of the LORD speaks of "the town of Waheb in the area of Suphah, and the ravines of the Arnon River, ¹⁵and the ravines that extend as far as the settlement of Ar on the border of Moab."

¹⁶From there the Israelites traveled to Beer, which is the well where the LORD said ◀ Journey toward the Promised Land (20:22-22:1). This passage documents Israel's journey from KADESH-BARNEA to ACACIA GROVE (see also 33:37-49; Deut 2-3). The Israelites traveled from KADESH to MOUNT HOR, where Aaron died (20:22-29). Along the way they waged their first successful battle in CANAAN against the king of ARAD (21:1-3). From MOUNT HOR they were forced to travel the long way around EDM (21:4) and pass to the east of EDM and MOAB (21:10-20). They entered the area north of the ARNON RIVER and conquered the area of two Amorite kings, Sihon and Og (21:21-35). The map shows key battles against these kings at JAHAZ (21:23) and EDREI (21:33).

21:11-12 The Israelites made their way along the east side of Edom. • Iye-abarim ("ruins of Abarim" or "ruins of the region beyond") was probably near the northern bank of Zered Brook (cp. Deut 2:13-14) which separated ancient Edom from Moab (Deut 2:8-25).

21:13 The Israelites traveled to the east of the Moabite territory that lay between the Zered Brook on the south and the Arnon River on the north. The far side of the Arnon River was probably north and east of the main east-west canyon of the Arnon; this "Grand Canyon" was an effective natural boundary line between Moab and the territory of the Amorites north of the Arnon (see 21:26). • The Amorites were a group of nomadic peoples who had conquered areas from Mesopotamia to Canaan in the Middle Bronze Age (about 2000-1500 BC), including Babylon (around 1830 BC) and Assur (around 1750 BC). Amorites living in the hill country of Canaan had terrified Israel's spies (Deut 1:26-28) and had then repelled Israel's misguided attempt to enter Canaan (14:44-45; see Deut 1:42-44). At the time of Israel's arrival, Amorites had gained control of much of Transjordan (the area east of the Jordan); see note on 21:26.

21:14-15 The Book of the Wars of the LORD, analogous to The Book of Jashar (Josh 10:13; 2 Sam 1:18), is otherwise unknown. • Waheb (a town) and Suphah (a region) are otherwise unknown, but Ar was one of the major Moabite settlements of that day (cp. 21:28; Deut 2:18; Isa 15:1).

21:16-18a Beer means "well"; its location is unknown (cp. Isa 15:8). The poetic fragment describes the excavation of a new well and reflects the joy that this occasioned in a semiarid region. That the laborers were princes

Moses, even though the long journey was punishment for the same kind of complaining (14:26-35).

21:4 Red Sea: Literally sea of reeds.

21:6 This whole region provided (and still provides) habitat for extremely poisonous snakes (cp. Isa 30:6).

21:7-9 Jesus alluded to this incident when discussing his identity and mission (John 3:14-15). • By Hezekiah's day (around 700 BC), this bronze snake had become an object of worship in Jerusalem (2 Kgs 18:4).

21:10 The location of Oboth is uncertain.

to Moses, "Assemble the people, and I will give them water." ¹⁷There the Israelites sang this song:

"Spring up, O well!

Yes, sing its praises!

¹⁸ Sing of this well, which princes dug,
which great leaders hollowed out with their scepters and staffs."

Then the Israelites left the wilderness and proceeded on through Mattanah, ¹⁹Nahaliel, and Bamoth. ²⁰After that they went to the valley in Moab where Pisgah Peak overlooks the wasteland.

Victory over Sihon and Og

²¹The Israelites sent ambassadors to King Sihon of the Amorites with this message:

²²"Let us travel through your land. We will be careful not to go through your fields and vineyards. We won't even drink water from your wells. We will stay on the king's road until we have passed through your territory."

²³But King Sihon refused to let them cross his territory. Instead, he mobilized his entire army and attacked Israel in the wilderness, engaging them in battle at Jahaz. ²⁴But the Israelites slaughtered them with their swords and occupied their land from the Arnon River to the Jabbok River. They went only as far as the Ammonite border because the boundary of the Ammonites was fortified.

²⁵So Israel captured all the towns of the Amorites and settled in them, including the 21:21

Deut 2:26-28
Judg 11:19-21

21:22
Num 20:17

21:23
Num 20:21
Deut 2:32
Judg 11:20

21:24
Deut 2:19, 31-37
Josh 12:1-2, 13:10

21:25
Amos 2:10

The Bronze Snake (21:4-9)

2 Kgs 18:1-4
John 3:14-15; 6:32-40; 8:28; 12:30-34

Numbers 21:4-9 contains one of many incidents in which the Israelites spoke against God and Moses. When the Israelites complained about their lack of food and water and "this horrible manna" (21:5), the Lord sent poisonous snakes that fatally bit many of the people (cp. Deut 8:15). When the Israelites realized that they had spoken against God as well as against Moses, they asked Moses to pray that the Lord would remove the snakes. In response, God instructed Moses to make a bronze replica of a snake that would heal those who looked upon it (21:8). What kind of medical treatment was this? Its power came from God, but it required an act of faith to look at the bronze image and trust that God would heal them. Just as the serpent bites resulted from God's wrath, the Lord provided deliverance through his own gracious will (see Wisdom of Solomon 16:5-7).

When Hezekiah became king of Judah in 715 BC, the Israelites had begun using Moses' bronze serpent as an idol (see 2 Kgs 18:1-4). They had probably kept the image as a reminder of God's power, even as they kept other artifacts from the wilderness period (cp. Deut 10:5; Heb 9:4-5), but they began worshiping it as another deity, so it had to be destroyed like other pagan shrines and sacred pillars. Such idolatry is a serious threat to the worship of the one true God (cp. Exod 32).

Jesus referred to the incident of the bronze snake (see John 3:14-15) to predict the manner of his execution: He would be "lifted up" on the cross just as Moses had lifted up the snake on a pole (see also John 8:28; 12:32-34). The metal image of a snake offered an antidote to injected venom, but those who look at the cross and accept God's sacrifice lay claim to an eternal promise (John 3:14-16). The Lord sent the serpents to punish Israel because they complained about the manna God had sent them in the wilderness (21:4-9). Jesus referred to himself as the "true bread from heaven," the manna that provides life for his people (John 6:32-40).

and leaders and the tools were scepters and staffs may indicate that digging the well included a festive ceremony.

21:18b-20 After moving north of the Arnon, the Hebrews left the wilderness on the eastern side of Moab and the recently conquered Amorite territory (see note on 21:21-35). They turned westward toward the ridgeline that rises up from the Jordan Rift Valley, then traveled north to Pisgah Peak (see also 23:14; Deut 3:17, 27; 34:1, 5). • overlooks the wasteland: Or overlooks Jeshimon, north of the Dead Sea (cp. 23:28; 1 Sam 23:19, 24; 26:1, 3).

21:21-35 The Israelite victories over King Sihon of Heshbon and King Og of Bashan were previews of the Hebrew conquest of Canaan and came to represent God's promise to assist his people in their time of need (cp. Deut 2:24-3:7; Josh 2:10; 9:10; 12:1-6; 13:10-12; Judg 11:19-22; Neh 9:22; Ps 135:10-12; 136:17-22; Jer 48:45-46). • Because Israel had left the wilderness (cp. 21:18, 23) before arriving at Pisgah (21:20), this account is probably a flashback of something that took place before the movement described in 21:18-20.

21:21-24 The territory of King Sihon was sandwiched between Moab and Ammon. The Israelites were not to invade Ammon (Deut 2:19), Edom, or Moab (Deut 2:4-9) because they were kin (Gen 19:30-38; 32:3), but Israel needed to cross Transjordan to enter Canaan. Sihon's territory was the natural route.

21:21-22 Cp. 20:14-17.

21:24 because the boundary of the Ammonites was fortified: Or because the terrain of the Ammonite frontier was rugged; Hebrew reads because the boundary of the Ammonites was strong.

21:26
Ps 135:11
21:28
Deut 2:9, 18
Jer 48:45-46

21:29
Judg 11:24
1 Kgs 11:7, 33

21:32
Num 32:1, 35
Jer 48:32

21:33
Deut 3:3-4

22:1
Num 33:48-49

22:2
Exod 15:15
Deut 2:25

22:4
Num 22:7, 25:16-18

city of Heshbon and its surrounding villages. ²⁶Heshbon had been the capital of King Sihon of the Amorites. He had defeated a former Moabite king and seized all his land as far as the Arnon River. ²⁷Therefore, the ancient poets wrote this about him:

"Come to Heshbon and let it be rebuilt!
Let the city of Sihon be restored.

²⁸ A fire flamed forth from Heshbon, a blaze from the city of Sihon.
It burned the city of Ar in Moab;
it destroyed the rulers of the Arnon heights.

²⁹ What sorrow awaits you, O people of Moab!
You are finished, O worshipers of Chemosh!

Chemosh has left his sons as refugees, his daughters as captives of Sihon, the Amorite king.

³⁰ We have utterly destroyed them, from Heshbon to Dibon.
We have completely wiped them out as far away as Nophah and Medeba."

³¹ So the people of Israel occupied the territory of the Amorites. ³²After Moses sent men to explore the Jazer area, they captured all the towns in the region and drove out the Amorites who lived there. ³³Then they turned and marched up the road to Bashan, but King Og of Bashan and all his people attacked them at Edrei. ³⁴The LORD said to Moses, "Do not be afraid of him, for I have handed him over to you, along with all his people and his land. Do the same to him as you did to King Sihon of the Amorites, who ruled in Heshbon." ³⁵And Israel killed King Og, his sons, and all his subjects; not a single survivor remained. Then Israel occupied their land.

Israel Reaches the Plains of Moab, Opposite Jericho

22 Then the people of Israel traveled to the plains of Moab and camped east of the Jordan River, across from Jericho.

3. THE ISRAELITES CAMP IN THE PLAINS OF MOAB AND PREPARE TO INVADE CANAAN (22:2-36:13)

Balak, Balaam, and the Israelites (22:2-24:25)

Balak Sends for Balaam

²Balak son of Zippor, the Moabite king, had seen everything the Israelites did to the Amorites. ³And when the people of Moab saw how many Israelites there were, they were terrified. ⁴The king of Moab said to the elders of Midian, "This mob will devour

◀ The Arnon Gorge (21:13-15).

The canyon of the ARNON RIVER (modern Wadi al-Mujib) is the natural northern barrier of MOABITE territory (cp. 2 Kgs 10:33). It marks the southern boundary of the AMORITES' territory, which was the first territory that Israel conquered (21:21-35; see also Deut 2:24, 36; 4:48).

21:25 The area conquered at this time became home to the tribes of Reuben, Gad, and Manasseh (cp. ch 32).

21:26 King Sihon of the Amorites had taken the area north of the Arnon from the Moabites, who earlier controlled it. After Israel occupied this region for several hundred years, it was reclaimed by King Mesha of Moab (see 2 Kgs 3:4-27) through a campaign described in detail around 830 BC on the Mesha Inscription (also known as the Moabite Stone). • Heshbon is usually identified with Tell Hesban, which has not yielded evidence of Late Bronze Age occupation; see note on 21:1.

21:27-30 This ancient ballad was apparently an old Amorite song focusing on the exploits of King Sihon. Other interpreters assume that Israelite balladeers created it as a taunt song to ridicule Sihon's defeat and celebrate Israel's victory. The logical flow of thought from 21:26 to 21:27 would favor the former interpretation, with Israel applying the song to their own victory: Sihon and the Amorites had defeated Moab; now Israel had defeated them! Cp. Judg 11:12-28.

21:28 King Sihon had destroyed Moab's towns from his center of operations at Heshbon.

21:29 From the ancient point of view, even Moab's supreme god Chemosh suffered defeat at the hands of the Amorite conquerors, while the people of Moab became refugees and captives.

21:30 The area described here is the one that Israel had just conquered (21:24), making the ballad celebrating Sihon a fitting tribute to Israel's victory. • as far away as Nophah and Medeba: Or until fire spread to Medeba. The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain.

21:33-35 Ancient Bashan was located east of the Sea of Galilee. • King Og, like Sihon, was an Amorite (see note on 21:13). This brief account of Israel's defeat of Og is expanded in Deut 3:1-11.

21:35 Then Israel occupied their land: See ch 32.

22:1 Following their victories over the Amorite kingdoms (21:21-35 and note), Israel took up residence in the plains of Moab on the eastern side of the Jordan Valley, northeast of the Dead Sea and across the river from the oasis of Jericho. The Hebrews camped there until they crossed the Jordan to enter Canaan (Josh 3:1).

22:2-24:25 The narrative of Balak and Balaam describes a pivotal moment in Israel's history and contains humor, drama, and profound theological insights. The Lord's will must be accomplished—nothing could thwart his plan for Israel.

22:2-3 Balak is unknown outside of this incident (Josh 24:9; Judg 11:25; Mic 6:5; Rev 2:14). His territory had been seized by Sihon, the Amorite king (21:26), whom Israel had just defeated (21:21-31). Balak may have imagined that his tiny kingdom was next.

22:4 Midian: This desert people was descended from Abraham (Gen 25:1-2; Exod 2:15-16). Their alliance with Moab was the beginning of their conflicts with everything in sight, like an ox devours grass in the field!"

So Balak, king of Moab, ⁵sent messengers to call Balaam son of Beor, who was living in his native land of Pethor near the Euphrates River. His message said:

"Look, a vast horde of people has arrived from Egypt. They cover the face of the earth and are threatening me. ⁶Please come and curse these people for me because they are too powerful for me.

Then perhaps I will be able to conquer them and drive them from the land. I know that ⁷blessings fall on any people you ⁸bless, and curses fall on people you curse."

⁷Balak's messengers, who were elders of Moab and Midian, set out with money to pay Balaam to place a curse upon Israel. They went to Balaam and delivered Balak's message to him. ⁸"Stay here overnight," Balaam said. "In the morning I will tell you whatever

22:5
Num 23:7
Deut 23:4
22:6
⁶barak (1288)
Deut 30:19
22:7
Num 23:23

Balaam (22:1–25:18)

Num 31:8, 16
Josh 13:22
2 Pet 2:15-16
Jude 1:11
Rev 2:14

Balaam was a diviner—a person who read signs and omens to determine the future and performed rituals to change future events (see note on 22:5-6; cp. Josh 13:22). He was a diviner for hire, so when Balak, king of Moab, wanted to hire him to curse Israel, he was eager to get started. Even when God told him not to go, he hoped God would change his mind because he was very interested in the money (2 Pet 2:15).

Finally, God allowed Balaam to go, but only if Balaam agreed to say what God told him to say, and only to frustrate Balak's purposes (Deut 23:4-5). On the road, Balaam's donkey refused to move because the angel of the Lord blocked the way. The donkey could see, but Balaam was blind and foolish. Still, Balaam was smart enough not to curse the Israelites when God told him to bless them, and to Balak's great frustration, that was all Balaam could do.

Recently, an inscription was found that mentions Balaam son of Beor, a diviner who had visions at night (cp. Num 22:9-12, 20). The inscription was written on a plaster wall at Deir 'Alla, eight miles east of the Jordan River, and not far north of where the Hebrews were camped at the time of the Balaam incident. This nonbiblical text, dated 800–750 BC, identifies Balaam as a "seer of the gods" and reports that the gods, whose names in the inscription are similar to Shaddai ("Almighty"; cp. 24:3, 16), delivered a message to Balaam and announced judgment upon the world (cp. 24:15-25). The inscription provides rare extrabiblical evidence about a Bible character.

While Balaam's character and motives appear somewhat mixed in chs 22–24, ch 25 describes how the men of Israel sinned by sleeping with Moabite women and worshipping their gods, which made God angry with his people. While Balaam is not mentioned, 31:16 names him as the originator of this plot. After his visions were finished, Balaam apparently remained in Moab and kept working the angles until he found a way to damage Israel and get the money. The Israelites killed him a short time later (31:8). Balaam became known as a magician with bad motives (see Deut 23:4-5; Josh 13:22) and a false teacher who was only interested in pay (see Neh 13:2; 2 Pet 2:15; Jude 1:11), who led Israel into idolatry and immorality (31:16; see Rev 2:14).

Israel (22:7; see 25:6, 14-18; 31:2-10; Judg 6-8).

22:5-6 Balaam was a pagan religious specialist (a diviner) from north-west Mesopotamia (see "Balaam" at 22:1–25:18, above). Like other ancient peoples, Moab and Midian believed that the spoken word—in the form of a blessing or curse—was powerful when uttered by a skilled diviner. Members of this trained profession claimed to possess special powers to learn about and manipulate the future course of events (see Deut 18:14; 1 Sam 6:2; 2 Kgs 21:6; Isa 44:25; Dan 2:1-12; 2:27-28; Mic 5:12; Zech 10:2). Israel's enemies appealed to Balaam to pronounce curses upon the Hebrews, for they believed that such spoken words would be effective against them. Ancient armies pronounced such curses on their enemies before they entered battle. Belief in the power of the spoken word was common in ancient Israel even when not linked with divination (e.g., Gen 27:1-40; Deut 27:15-26; 1 Sam 14:24-28; cp. Matt 21:18-22). • Pethor (22:5) is probably ancient Pitru, located on the west side of the Euphrates River south of Carchemish, 400 miles from Moab (see map, p. 14, for the general area).

22:5 who was living in his native land of Pethor: Or who was at Pethor in the land of the Amavites. • the Euphrates River: Literally the river.

22:7 set out with money to pay Balaam to place a curse upon Israel (literally set out with the money of divination in their hand): As a professional diviner, Balaam could command considerable payment for his services (22:7, 17-18; cp. 1 Sam 9:7-8; 2 Kgs 8:7-9).

22:8 Stay here overnight: Balaam expected to receive a message from God at night (22:9, 19-20; cp. Job 4:12-16; Zech 1:8). • the LORD (Hebrew Yahweh): Balaam knew about Yahweh, the God of Israel, and expected a message from him as to what he could or could not do.

22:12
Num 23:11-12

22:17
Num 22:6

22:18
Num 23:26; 24:13

22:20
Num 22:35; 23:12, 26

22:21
2 Pet 2:15

22:22
¹mal'ak (4397)
¹Josh 6:17

22:28
2 Pet 2:16

the LORD directs me to say." So the officials from Moab stayed there with Balaam.

⁹That night God came to Balaam and asked him, "Who are these men visiting you?"

¹⁰Balaam said to God, "Balak son of Zippor, king of Moab, has sent me this message:

¹¹'Look, a vast horde of people has arrived from Egypt, and they cover the face of the earth. Come and curse these people for me. Then perhaps I will be able to stand up to them and drive them from the land.'

¹²But God told Balaam, "Do not go with them. You are not to curse these people, for they have been blessed!"

¹³The next morning Balaam got up and told Balak's officials, "Go on home! The LORD will not let me go with you."

¹⁴So the Moabite officials returned to King Balak and reported, "Balaam refused to come with us." ¹⁵Then Balak tried again. This time he sent a larger number of even more distinguished officials than those he had sent the first time. ¹⁶They went to Balaam and delivered this message to him:

"This is what Balak son of Zippor says: Please don't let anything stop you from coming to help me. ¹⁷I will pay you very well and do whatever you tell me. Just come and curse these people for me!"

¹⁸But Balaam responded to Balak's messengers, "Even if Balak were to give me his palace filled with silver and gold, I would be powerless to do anything against the will of the LORD my God. ¹⁹But stay here one more night, and I will see if the LORD has anything else to say to me."

²⁰That night God came to Balaam and told him, "Since these men have come for you, get up and go with them. But do only what I tell you to do."

Balaam and His Donkey Travel to Moab

²¹So the next morning Balaam got up, saddled his donkey, and started off with the Moabite officials. ²²But God was angry that Balaam was going, so he sent the 'angel of the LORD to stand in the road to block his way. As Balaam and two servants were riding along, ²³Balaam's donkey saw the angel of the LORD standing in the road with a drawn sword in his hand. The donkey bolted off the road into a field, but Balaam beat it and turned it back onto the road. ²⁴Then the angel of the LORD stood at a place where the road narrowed between two vineyard walls. ²⁵When the donkey saw the angel of the LORD, it tried to squeeze by and crushed Balaam's foot against the wall. So Balaam beat the donkey again. ²⁶Then the angel of the LORD moved farther down the road and stood in a place too narrow for the donkey to get by at all. ²⁷This time when the donkey saw the angel, it lay down under Balaam. In a fit of rage Balaam beat the animal again with his staff.

²⁸Then the LORD gave the donkey the ability to speak. "What have I done to you that deserves your beating me three times?" it asked Balaam.

◀ Balaam Blesses Israel (22:21-41). Balaam probably traveled southward on the eastern desert route and avoided HESHBON, which had been occupied by Israel (21:25-30). After he met Balak near the ARNON RIVER (22:36), the two traveled north to the mountains overlooking the Israelite camp.

22:19-20 Balaam agreed to inquire about the Lord's wishes one more time. God allowed him to accompany Balak's representatives, but admonished him to do exactly what God commanded (cp. 22:35).

22:21-41 The passage is clearly making fun of this professional seer, whose spiritual insights and obedience to God are not equal to those of his donkey.

22:22 God's anger is puzzling in light of the permission he granted to Balaam in 22:20. The Lord knew that the diviner's intentions and character were not as honorable as he claimed in conversation with Balak's messengers. Balaam's foolish beating of the donkey demonstrates his ungodly character (Prov 12:10; cp. 1 Sam 25).

22:28-31 The only scriptural parallel to this phenomenon of a talking animal is the serpent who spoke with Eve (Gen 3:1-5). God used the donkey to rebuke the foolish diviner (2 Pet 2:15-16).

22:9-18 God prohibited Balaam from going with Balak's messengers.

22:18 Some have read Balaam's reply to this second delegation as his attempt to prompt a more lucrative offer, but his refusal (24:13) weighs against this view. Instead, Balaam seemed determined to obey the Lord and called him my God.

²⁹"You have made me look like a fool!" Balaam shouted. "If I had a sword with me, I would kill you!"

³⁰"But I am the same donkey you have ridden all your life," the donkey answered. "Have I ever done anything like this before?"

"No," Balaam admitted.

³¹Then the LORD opened Balaam's eyes, and he saw the angel of the LORD standing in the roadway with a drawn sword in his hand. Balaam bowed his head and fell face down on the ground before him.

³²"Why did you beat your donkey those three times?" the angel of the LORD demanded. "Look, I have come to block your way because you are stubbornly resisting me. ³³Three times the donkey saw me and shied away; otherwise, I would certainly have killed you by now and spared the donkey."

³⁴Then Balaam confessed to the angel of the LORD, "I have sinned. I didn't realize you were standing in the road to block my way. I will return home if you are against my going."

³⁵But the angel of the LORD told Balaam, "Go with these men, but say only what I tell you to say." So Balaam went on with Balak's officials. ³⁶When King Balak heard that Balaam was on the way, he went out to meet him at a Moabite town on the Arnon River at the farthest border of his land.

³⁷"Didn't I send you an urgent invitation? Why didn't you come right away?" Balak asked Balaam. "Didn't you believe me when I said I would reward you richly?"

³⁸Balaam replied, "Look, now I have come, but I have no power to say whatever I want.

I will speak only the message that God puts in my mouth." ³⁹Then Balaam accompanied Balak to Kiriath-huzoth, ⁴⁰where the king sacrificed cattle and sheep. He sent portions of the meat to Balaam and the officials who were with him. ⁴¹The next morning Balak took Balaam up to Bamoth-baal. From there he could see some of the people of Israel spread out below him.

Balaam's First Message

23 Then Balaam said to King Balak, "Build me seven altars here, and prepare seven young bulls and seven rams for me to sacrifice." ²Balak followed his instructions, and the two of them sacrificed a young bull and a ram on each altar.

³Then Balaam said to Balak, "Stand here by your burnt offerings, and I will go to see if the LORD will respond to me. Then I will tell you whatever he reveals to me." So Balaam went alone to the top of a bare hill, ⁴and God met him there. Balaam said to him, "I have prepared seven altars and have sacrificed a young bull and a ram on each altar."

⁵The LORD gave Balaam a message for King Balak. Then he said, "Go back to Balak and give him my message."

⁶So Balaam returned and found the king standing beside his burnt offerings with all the officials of Moab. ⁷This was the message Balaam delivered:

"Balak summoned me to come from Aram;
the king of Moab brought me from the eastern hills.

'Come,' he said, 'curse Jacob for me!
Come and announce Israel's doom.'

22:31
Josh 5:13-15

22:34
1 Sam 15:24

22:35
Num 22:20

22:37-38
Num 22:18

22:41
Num 23:13

23:1
Num 22:40

23:5
Num 22:20, 35; 23:16

23:7
Num 22:6

22:34 I have sinned: Balaam admitted his mistake in not perceiving the angel of the Lord or his intention and offered to go back.

22:35 The Lord ensured that Balaam would say only what God commanded (cp. 22:20).

22:36 It is likely that this meeting place was in the northeastern corner of Balak's small kingdom.

22:37 Balak thought Balaam did not understand how urgent the situation was nor how great the offered payment.

22:38 Balaam's reply reflected the lesson he had learned in the donkey incident (cp. 22:20, 35).

22:39-41 Balak attempted to secure Balaam's curse on Israel, first through a ritual offering and meal that would invoke the gods and Balaam, and second by taking Balaam to see the Israelite camp. • Kiriath-huzoth is an unknown location.

22:41 Bamoth-baal ("high places of Baal") was along the ridge of hills that overlooks the plains of Moab northeast of the Dead Sea (cp. "Bamoth" in 21:19; Josh 13:17). It was the first of three locations to which the Moabite king took Balaam so that he could see the sprawling Israelite camp (also 22:41; 23:14, 28). From such a high point he could see the Israelites (22:11) and perform the ceremonies that Balak hoped would lead to a powerful imprecation (curse) against them.

23:1-30 As a diviner, Balaam performed rituals to interpret omens and ascertain Israel's future (cp. 23:23; 24:1). Balak had summoned him to pronounce imprecations, but God repeatedly prohibited him from doing so. • It is possible that these sacrifices were connected with the practice of extispicy—the examination of animal livers or other organs for an omen concerning the future. According to ancient Near Eastern texts, this form of fortune-telling was a widely practiced and highly developed art. Such practices were banned from Israel (see Deut 18:9-14; cp. Ezek 21:21).

23:1 The number seven was a sacred symbol (also 23:4, 14, 29; cp. Job 42:8; see "Symbolic Numbers" at Rev 4:4, p. 2173).

23:7-10 In his first oracle from God (23:5, 16), Balaam rehearsed the circumstances that brought him to Moab, emphasized God's special relation with Israel, and declared his intention of protecting them from harm. • These poetic oracles illustrate the parallelism of Hebrew poetry. Parallel lines reinforce the content by repeating important concepts in a highly structured pattern

23:8
Num 22:12

23:9
Num 22:41

23:10
Gen 13:16
Ps 37:37
Isa 57:1

23:12
Num 22:20, 38

23:16
Num 22:38

23:19
1 Sam 15:29
Isa 40:8; 55:11
*ben 'adam (1121, 0120)
* Job 25:6

23:20
Isa 43:13

23:21
Exod 3:12
Deut 31:23
*elohim (0430)
* Josh 24:2

23:22
Num 24:8

23:23
Num 22:7

23:24
Gen 49:9

23:26
Num 22:38

8 But how can I curse those whom God has not cursed?
How can I condemn those whom the LORD has not condemned?

9 I see them from the cliff tops;
I watch them from the hills.
I see a people who live by themselves, set apart from other nations.

10 Who can count Jacob's descendants, as numerous as dust?
Who can count even a fourth of Israel's people?
Let me die like the righteous;
let my life end like theirs."

11 Then King Balak demanded of Balaam,
"What have you done to me? I brought you to curse my enemies. Instead, you have blessed them!"

12 But Balaam replied, "I will speak only the message that the LORD puts in my mouth."

Balaam's Second Message

13 Then King Balak told him, "Come with me to another place. There you will see another part of the nation of Israel, but not all of them. Curse at least that many!" 14 So Balak took Balaam to the plateau of Zophim on Pisgah Peak. He built seven altars there and offered a young bull and a ram on each altar.

15 Then Balaam said to the king, "Stand here by your burnt offerings while I go over there to meet the LORD."

16 And the LORD met Balaam and gave him a message. Then he said, "Go back to Balak and give him my message."

17 So Balaam returned and found the king standing beside his burnt offerings with all the officials of Moab. "What did the LORD say?" Balak asked eagerly.

18 This was the message Balaam delivered:

"Rise up, Balak, and listen!
Hear me, son of Zippor.

19 God is not a man, so he does not lie.
He is not human, so he does not change his mind.

Has he ever spoken and failed to act?
Has he ever promised and not carried it through?

20 Listen, I received a command to bless; God has blessed, and I cannot reverse it!

21 No misfortune is in his plan for Jacob;
no trouble is in store for Israel.
For the LORD their God is with them;
he has been proclaimed their king.

22 God brought them out of Egypt;
for them he is as strong as a wild ox.

23 No curse can touch Jacob;
no magic has any power against Israel.
For now it will be said of Jacob,
'What wonders God has done for Israel!'

24 These people rise up like a lioness, like a majestic lion rousing itself.
They refuse to rest until they have feasted on prey, drinking the blood of the slaughtered!"

25 Then Balak said to Balaam, "Fine, but if you won't curse them, at least don't bless them!"

26 But Balaam replied to Balak, "Didn't
I tell you that I can do only what the LORD tells me?"

Balaam's Third Message

27 Then King Balak said to Balaam, "Come, I will take you to one more place. Perhaps it will please God to let you curse them from there."

(see "Introduction to the Books of Poetry and Wisdom," p. 849). • Aram:
Aram-naharaim (Gen 24:10) is another name for North Mesopotamia, where Balaam's home of Pethor was located (22:5). • The eastern hills are a line of mountains in North Syria.

23:7-8 Instead of cursing Israel, the seer noted their special status (cp. Exod 19:5-6; Deut 7:6-9) and observed that God's blessing had turned a humble people into a great nation (cp. Gen 12:2-3; 13:16; 28:14). Balaam wished for similar good fortune to come his way (23:10).

23:13-26 Balak hoped that he would get different results if he changed the venue. The precise location of the plateau of Zophim on Pisgah Peak is unknown, though Pisgah is part of the ridgeline that overlooks the plains of Moab (Deut 34:1) in the vicinity of Bamoth-baal (22:41) and Mount Peor

(23:28).

23:18-24 This oracle emphasizes God's faithfulness to his people—he would stay with them and keep all of his promises.

23:19 Because of God's reliable character, Balaam could do nothing but bless Israel.

23:20-21 Since the Lord would follow through on his promises to bless his people (bringing them no misfortune or trouble), Balaam was in no position to reverse God's intentions. Though God punished the Hebrews for acts of disobedience, his advocacy of Israel's cause was evident from the time he delivered them from Egypt.

23:23-24 No curse could succeed against Israel because they had been blessed (22:12; cp. Gen 12:2-3; 22:17-18). Israel was safe from the harm that Moab and Midian sought to inflict through divination (cp. 24:1); Israel would become famous because God protected them from harm (see Josh
2:9-11; cp. Num 14:13-19).

23:27-24:14 Disappointed with Balaam's blessing, Balak hoped that yet another change of location would produce different results. Though the location of Mount Peor is unknown, this place was probably near a worship site of Baal of Peor (cp.
25:3, 5) and the Beth-peor of Deut 3:29;
34:6, where Moses was buried.

²⁸So Balak took Balaam to the top of Mount Peor, overlooking the wasteland. ²⁹Balaam again told Balak, "Build me seven altars, and prepare seven young bulls and seven rams for me to sacrifice." ³⁰So Balak did as Balaam ordered and offered a young bull and a ram on each altar.

24 By now Balaam realized that the LORD was determined to bless Israel, so he did not resort to divination as before. Instead, he turned and looked out toward the wilderness, ²where he saw the people of Israel camped, tribe by tribe. Then the Spirit of God came upon him, ³and this is the message he delivered:

"This is the message of Balaam son of Beor,
the message of the man whose eyes
see clearly,

⁴ the message of one who hears the words of God,
who sees a vision from the Almighty,
who bows down with eyes wide open:

⁵ How beautiful are your tents, O Jacob;
how lovely are your homes, O Israel!

⁶ They spread before me like palm groves, like gardens by the riverside.
They are like tall trees planted by the LORD,
like cedars beside the waters.

⁷ Water will flow from their buckets;
their offspring have all they need.
Their king will be greater than Agag;
their kingdom will be exalted.

⁸ God brought them out of Egypt;
for them he is as strong as a wild ox.
He devours all the nations that oppose
him, breaking their bones in pieces,
shooting them with arrows.

⁹ Like a lion, Israel crouches and lies down; like a lioness, who dares to arouse her?
Blessed is everyone who blesses you,
O Israel, and cursed is everyone who curses you."

¹⁰King Balak flew into a rage against Balaam. He angrily clapped his hands and shouted, "I called you to curse my enemies! Instead, you have blessed them three times.

¹¹Now get out of here! Go back home! I promised to reward you richly, but the LORD has kept you from your reward."

¹²Balaam told Balak, "Don't you remember what I told your messengers? I said, ¹³'Even if Balak were to give me his palace filled with silver and gold, I would be powerless to do anything against the will of the LORD.' I told you that I could say only what the LORD says! ¹⁴Now I am returning to my own people. But first let me tell you what the Israelites will do to your people in the future."

Balaam's Final Messages

¹⁵This is the message Balaam delivered:

"This is the message of Balaam son of Beor,
the message of the man whose eyes
see clearly,

¹⁶ the message of one who hears the words
of God,
who has knowledge from the Most High,
who sees a vision from the Almighty,
who bows down with eyes wide open:

¹⁷ I see him, but not here and now.
I perceive him, but far in the distant future.

A star will rise from Jacob;
a scepter will emerge from Israel.

23:28
Num 31:16
Josh 22:17

24:2
Num 11:25-26
1 Sam 10:10
2 Chr 15:1

24:3
Num 23:7-10, 18-24

24:4
Num 12:6; 22:20

24:6
Ps 45:8

24:7
1 Sam 15:8-9
Ps 145:11-13

24:8
Ps 45:5

24:9
Gen 12:3; 27:29; 49:9
Num 23:24

24:11
Num 22:17, 37

24:13
Num 22:18, 20

24:15
Gen 49:1
Num 24:3-4

24:16
'Elyon (5945)
• Deut 32:8

24:17
Gen 49:10
Isa 15:1-16:4
Matt 2:2

23:28 overlooking the wasteland: Or overlooking Jeshimon.

24:1-2 Unlike previously (23:3, 15), Balaam did not resort to divination this time. He already knew that auguries and omens could not harm Israel (23:23), so he quit looking for them. Instead, Balaam was directly inspired by the Spirit of God.

24:3-9 The third oracle contains another description of God's plan to bless Israel.

24:5-6 God's love for his people was reflected in the blessings he showered upon them.

24:6-7a The Lord's favor is emphasized by the comparison of Israel's situation with groves and gardens that have access to abundant water. Their growing population already reflected God's blessing (24:7), as mentioned in 23:10. This would also become clear in the second registration (ch 26).

24:6 like palm groves: Or like a majestic valley.

24:7b-9 God's blessing would enable the Israelites to overcome their enemies (see 24:15-24). • Agag was an Amalekite king defeated by Saul (1 Sam 15:7-9, 32-33). The Amalekites, a desert people, were traditional enemies of the Hebrews (cp. Exod 17:8-16; Num 14:45), and it is likely that Agag was the traditional designation for their king. Since God brought Israel out of Egypt, he fought on their behalf, like a warrior and like a wild animal (ox and lion; 24:8-9). • Blessed . . . cursed: See Gen 12:3; 27:29.

24:10 Balak clapped his hands in reproach (cp. Job 27:23; Lam 2:15).

24:14 let me tell you what the Israelites will do to your people in the future: Since Balak sought to curse Israel, he and his people would be cursed (24:9). The damage that Balak hoped to inflict on Israel would fall on Moab.

24:15-25 This prophecy provides more specific details than the first three. Based on another vision from the Almighty (24:16), it lists some of the enemies that Israel would defeat in the future and predicts the emergence of an outstanding leader who would play a major role in these military victories (24:17).

24:17 A star was a symbol for a king (cp. Isa 14:12; Matt 2:1-10), and a scepter

24:18
Amos 9:12

24:19
Gen 49:10

24:20
Exod 17:14

24:21
Gen 15:19

24:22
Gen 10:22

24:24
Gen 10:4, 21

25:1
Num 33:49
Josh 2:1

25:2
Exod 34:15-16
ikhawah (7812)
• Deut 5:9

25:3
Num 25:5
Deut 4:3

25:6
Num 22:4

It will crush the heads of Moab's people, cracking the skulls of the people of Sheth.

¹⁸ Edom will be taken over, and Seir, its enemy, will be conquered,
while Israel marches on in triumph.

¹⁹ A ruler will rise in Jacob who will destroy the survivors of Ir."

²⁰ Then Balaam looked over toward the people of Amalek and delivered this message:

"Amalek was the greatest of nations, but its destiny is destruction!"

²¹ Then he looked over toward the Kenites and delivered this message:

"Your home is secure;
your nest is set in the rocks.

²² But the Kenites will be destroyed when Assyria takes you captive."

²³ Balaam concluded his messages by saying:

"Alas, who can survive
unless God has willed it?

²⁴ Ships will come from the coasts of Cyprus;
they will oppress Assyria and afflict

Eber,
but they, too, will be utterly destroyed."

²⁵ Then Balaam left and returned home, and Balak also went on his way.

Moab Seduces Israel into Apostasy (25:1-18)

25 While the Israelites were camped at Acacia Grove, some of the men defined themselves by having sexual relations with local Moabite women. ²These women invited them to attend sacrifices to their gods, so the Israelites feasted with them and worshiped the gods of Moab. ³In this way, Israel joined in the worship of Baal of Peor, causing the LORD's anger to blaze against his people.

⁴The LORD issued the following command to Moses: "Seize all the ringleaders and execute them before the LORD in broad daylight, so his fierce anger will turn away from the people of Israel."

⁵So Moses ordered Israel's judges, "Each of you must put to death the men under your authority who have joined in worshiping Baal of Peor."

⁶Just then one of the Israelite men brought a Midianite woman into his tent, right was an image of power and majesty (cp. Gen 49:10; Ps 45:6). King David fits the description historically. The Moabites, whose defeat is mentioned in 24:17, were among the many peoples conquered during his reign (2 Sam 8:2), though Moab remained a dangerous enemy of Israel after David's time (cp.

2 Kgs 3; Isa 15-16; Jer 48). Many interpreters have extended the image beyond David. Christians identify Jesus of Nazareth with a star (cp. Matt 2:2; 2 Pet
1:19; Rev 2:28; 22:16) and a scepter (cp.
Heb 1:8). • the skulls: As in Samaritan Pentateuch; the meaning of the Hebrew word is uncertain. • the people of Sheth were probably the ancient Sutu, though it might refer to Edom/Seir (also conquered by David; 24:18), Ir (or Ar) of Moab (24:19; cp. 21:28), or Amalek, one of Israel's earliest and most persistent enemies (24:20).

24:21-22 The Kenites, a desert people who occupied some of the same regions as the Amalekites and Midianites, would be destroyed by Assyria (Hebrew Ashur; also in 24:24). Moses married a Kenite (Judg 1:16; 4:11; cp. Num 10:29-32), and the Kenites remained mostly friendly with Israel thereafter (e.g.,
1 Sam 15:6; 27:10; 30:27-30).

24:23-24 The oracle ends with a word about the rise and fall of invaders from Cyprus (Hebrew Kittim); this term probably referred to a number of Mediteranean people groups (cp. Gen 10:4; Jer

2:10; Dan 11:30).

24:23 This verse, like 22:12, sums up the lesson of the entire incident.

24:24 Eber, spelled the same as the ancestor of the Hebrews (cp. Gen 10:21-25; 11:10-16), possibly refers to a people beyond the Euphrates River, a region that fits the parallel reference to Assyria (Josh 24:3; Isa 7:20).

25:1-18 Israel was camped across the Jordan from Jericho, almost on the eve of conquest, but they plunged to a new low in moral failure and spiritual bankruptcy. Balaam's advice led to the immorality and apostasy of Baal-peor (31:16); he found a way to damage Israel, if not through a curse, then through lust and idolatry. The same temptation to idolatry and immorality existed for the early church (1 Cor 10:6, 11).

25:1 Acacia Grove (Hebrew Shittim):
This type of tree thrives in arid regions.
From here, Joshua later sent spies across the Jordan, and the Hebrews launched their conquest (Josh 2:1; 3:1).
• some of the men defiled themselves by having: As in Greek version; Hebrew reads some of the men began having.
• Moabite women: The Moabites and Midianites shared culpability in the episode involving Balaam (22:2-4, 7; 31:8, 15-16).

25:2 The Israelites participated in worship feasts associated with the gods of Moab (see Ps 106:28).

25:3 Baal of Peor might refer to Che-mosh (21:29) by a different name, but probably Baal ("lord"), the Canaanite god, was included on the list of deities honored by the Moabites. Numerous place-names were formed with this deity's name (e.g., Baal-gad, Baal-hermon, Baal-meon, Baal-peor), representing shrines for local manifestations of Baal. Peor was a mountain from which Balaam could see the Israelite camp in the plains of Moab; the mountain and the related shrine of Beth-peor
(23:28; 25:3, 5, 18; 31:16; Deut 3:29; 4:3, 46; 34:6; Josh 13:20; 22:17) were somewhere in the vicinity of Mount Nebo. • Israel's idolatry caused the LORD's anger to blaze against his people; this included a plague (25:8-9; 26:1; cp.
11:1, 10; 12:9).

25:4 As he had at Sinai (Exod 32:27-28), the LORD required swift justice. • *execute
... in broad daylight*: The guilty parties were perhaps impaled and left out in the sun (see 2 Sam 21:6, 9) so that everyone could see them and learn from their mistakes (cp. 2 Sam 12:12).

25:6 Here another Israelite defiled himself with a foreign woman; apparently both Moabite and Midianite women had been involved in the scandal (25:1-3, 16-18; 31:1-2). The man's sin before the eyes of Moses and all the people, as everyone was weeping at the entrance of the Tabernacle. ⁷When Phinehas son of Eleazar and grandson of Aaron the priest saw this, he jumped up and left the assembly. He took a spear ⁸and rushed after the man into his tent. Phinehas thrust the spear all the way through the man's body and into the woman's stomach. So the plague against the Israelites was stopped, ⁹but not before 24,000 people had died.

¹⁰Then the LORD said to Moses, ¹¹"Phinehas son of Eleazar and grandson of Aaron the priest has turned my anger away from the Israelites by being as zealous among them as I was. So I stopped destroying all Israel as I had intended to do in my zealous anger. ¹²Now tell him that I am making my special ^kcovenant of peace with him. ¹³In this covenant, I give him and his descendants a permanent right to the priesthood, for in his zeal for me, his God, he purified the people of Israel, making them right with me."

¹⁴The Israelite man killed with the Midianite woman was named Zimri son of Salu, the leader of a family from the tribe of Simeon. ¹⁵The woman's name was Cozbi; she was the daughter of Zur, the leader of a Midianite clan.

¹⁶Then the LORD said to Moses, ¹⁷"Attack the Midianites and destroy them, ¹⁸because they assaulted you with deceit and tricked you into worshipping Baal of Peor, and because of Cozbi, the daughter of a Midianite leader, who was killed at the time of the plague because of what happened at Peor."

The Second Registration (26:1-65)

The Second Registration of Israel's Troops

26 After the plague had ended, the LORD said to Moses and to Eleazar son of Aaron the priest, ²"From the whole community of Israel, record the names of all the warriors by their families. List all the men twenty years old or older who are able to go to war."

³So there on the plains of Moab beside the Jordan River, across from Jericho, Moses and Eleazar the priest issued these instructions to the leaders of Israel: ⁴"List all the men of Israel twenty years old and older, just as the LORD commanded Moses."

This is the record of all the descendants of Israel who came out of Egypt.

The Tribe of Reuben

⁵These were the clans descended from the sons of Reuben, Jacob's oldest son:

The Hanochite clan, named after their ancestor Hanoch.

The Palluite clan, named after their ancestor Pallu.

⁶The Hezronite clan, named after their ancestor Hezron.

The Carmite clan, named after their ancestor Carmi.

⁷These were the clans of Reuben. Their registered troops numbered 43,730.

⁸Pallu was the ancestor of Eliab, ⁹and Eliab was the father of Nemuel, Dathan, and Abiram. This Dathan and Abiram are the same community leaders who conspired with Korah against Moses and Aaron, rebelling against the LORD. ¹⁰But the earth opened up its mouth and swallowed them with Korah, and fire devoured 250 of their followers. This served as a warning to the entire nation of Israel. ¹¹However, the sons of Korah did not die that day.

The Tribe of Simeon

¹²These were the clans descended from the sons of Simeon:

25:7-8
Ps 106:30

25:9
*1 Cor 10:8

25:12
Ps 106:30-31
Isa 54:10
*berith (1285)
Deut 29:1

25:15
Num 25:18; 31:8
Josh 13:21

25:17
Num 31:2

25:18
Num 23:28

26:1
Num 25:6-9

26:2
Num 1:2-15

26:5
Exod 6:14

26:9
Num 16:1

26:10
Num 16:32, 35, 38

26:12
1 Chr 4:24-43

was particularly brazen, as he apparently disregarded the judgment and mourning around him. • The Tabernacle: Literally the Tent of Meeting. See note on Exod 27:21.

25:7-9 Phinehas, acting as a representative of the priestly family, killed Zimri and Cozbi with one thrust of a spear (25:7-8), which probably indicates that they were engaged in sexual intercourse. Phinehas's zeal stopped the plague (25:1-3).

25:10-13 Israel's identity as the Lord's people was severely threatened by their unfaithfulness on this occasion. Phinehas was as zealous as God in his pursuit of holiness and justice. As a result, Phinehas and his descendants were granted a special status; God made a special covenant of peace with Phinehas, and qualified men in his family inherited a permanent right to the priesthood (cp. Mal 2:5). This unconditional covenant was similar to that extended to David (see Jer 33:19-22).

25:13 he purified the people of Israel, making them right with me (or he made atonement for the people of Israel): The deaths of Zimri and Cozbi helped to purify Israel from its sin; Phinehas's act had atoning value (see note on Lev 1:4).

25:16-18 Attack the Midianites and destroy them: This war is recorded in ch 31.

26:1-65 After nearly forty years, Israel again registered their men of military age (cp. chs 1-4) as they camped in the plains of Moab . . . across from Jericho. The overall population had changed only slightly, with 603,550 in the first registration and 601,730 in the second. This nearly complete replacement of population (26:63-65) showed that the Lord was faithful to Israel in spite of their repeated acts of rebellion.

26:1-4 As in the first registration, Moses and Eleazar (who had replaced Aaron) instructed the tribal leaders in the tabulation process.

26:1 The initial phrase in verse 26:1 is numbered 25:19 in Hebrew text.

26:5 Jacob's: Literally Israel's; see note on 1:20-21.

26:8-11 the sons of Korah did not die that day: See note on 16:31-33.

26:23
1 Chr 7:1-5
26:28
Gen 46:19-21

The Jemuelite clan, named after their ancestor Jemuel.

The Jaminite clan, named after their ancestor Jamin.

The Jakinite clan, named after their ancestor Jakin.

¹³The Zoharite clan, named after their ancestor Zohar.

The Shaulite clan, named after their ancestor Shaul.

¹⁴These were the clans of Simeon. Their registered troops numbered 22,200.

The Tribe of Gad

¹⁵These were the clans descended from the sons of Gad:

The Zephonite clan, named after their ancestor Zephon.

The Haggite clan, named after their ancestor Haggi.

The Shunite clan, named after their ancestor Shuni.

¹⁶The Oznite clan, named after their ancestor Ozni.

The Erite clan, named after their ancestor Eri.

¹⁷The Arodite clan, named after their ancestor Arodi.

The Arelite clan, named after their ancestor Areli.

¹⁸These were the clans of Gad. Their registered troops numbered 40,500.

The Tribe of Judah

¹⁹Judah had two sons, Er and Onan, who had died in the land of Canaan. ²⁰These were the clans descended from Judah's surviving sons:

The Shelanite clan, named after their ancestor Shelah.

The Perezite clan, named after their ancestor Perez.

The Zerahite clan, named after their ancestor Zerah.

²¹These were the subclans descended from the Perezites:

The Hezronites, named after their ancestor Hezron.

The Hamulites, named after their ancestor Hamul.

²²These were the clans of Judah. Their registered troops numbered 76,500.

The Tribe of Issachar

²³These were the clans descended from the sons of Issachar:

The Tolaite clan, named after their ancestor Tola.

The Puite clan, named after their ancestor Puah.

²⁴The Jashubite clan, named after their ancestor Jashub.

The Shimronite clan, named after their ancestor Shimron.

²⁵These were the clans of Issachar. Their registered troops numbered 64,300.

The Tribe of Zebulun

²⁶These were the clans descended from the sons of Zebulun:

The Seredite clan, named after their ancestor Sered.

The Elonite clan, named after their ancestor Elon.

The Jahleelite clan, named after their ancestor Jahleel.

²⁷These were the clans of Zebulun. Their registered troops numbered 60,500.

The Tribe of Manasseh

²⁸Two clans were descended from Joseph through Manasseh and Ephraim.

²⁹These were the clans descended from Manasseh:

The Makirite clan, named after their ancestor Makir.

The Gileadite clan, named after their ancestor Gilead, Makir's son.

³⁰These were the subclans descended from the Gileadites:

The Iezerites, named after their ancestor Iezer.

The Helekites, named after their ancestor Helek.

³¹The Asrielites, named after their ancestor Asriel.

The Shechemites, named after their ancestor Shechem.

³²The Shemidaite, named after their ancestor Shemida.

The Hephherites, named after their ancestor Hephher.

³³(One of Hephher's descendants, Zelophehad, had no sons, but his daughters' names were Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah.)

26:12 Jemuelite . . . Jemuel: As in Syriac version (see also Gen 46:10; Exod 6:15); Hebrew reads Nemuelite . . . Nemuel.

26:13 Zoharite . . . Zohar: As in parallel texts at Gen 46:10 and Exod 6:15; Hebrew reads Zerahite . . . Zerah.

26:17 Arodi: As in Samaritan Pentateuch and Greek and Syriac versions (see also Gen 46:16); Hebrew reads Arod.

26:23 The Puite clan, named after their ancestor Puah: As in Samaritan Pentateuch, Greek and Syriac versions, and Latin Vulgate (see also 1 Chr 7:1); Hebrew reads The Punite clan, named after its ancestor Puvah.

26:33 The daughters of Zelophehad initiated important legal reform (see 27:1-11; 36:1-12).

³⁴These were the clans of Manasseh. Their registered troops numbered 52,700.

The Tribe of Ephraim

³⁵These were the clans descended from the sons of Ephraim:

The Shuthelahite clan, named after their ancestor Shuthelah.

The Bekerite clan, named after their ancestor Beker.

The Tahanite clan, named after their ancestor Tahan.

³⁶This was the subclan descended from the Shuthelahites:

The Eranites, named after their ancestor Eran.

³⁷These were the clans of Ephraim. Their registered troops numbered 32,500.

These clans of Manasseh and Ephraim were all descendants of Joseph.

The Tribe of Benjamin

³⁸These were the clans descended from the sons of Benjamin:

The Belaite clan, named after their ancestor Bela.

The Ashbelite clan, named after their ancestor Ashbel.

The Ahiramite clan, named after their ancestor Ahiram.

³⁹The Shuphamite clan, named after their ancestor Shupham.

The Huphamite clan, named after their ancestor Hupham.

⁴⁰These were the subclans descended from the Belaites:

The Ardites, named after their ancestor Ard.

The Naamites, named after their ancestor Naaman.

⁴¹These were the clans of Benjamin. Their registered troops numbered 45,600.

The Tribe of Dan

⁴²These were the clans descended from the sons of Dan:

The Shuhamite clan, named after their ancestor Shuham.

⁴³These were the Shuhamite clans of Dan. Their registered troops numbered 64,400.

The Tribe of Asher

⁴⁴These were the clans descended from the sons of Asher:

The Imnite clan, named after their ancestor Imnah.

The Ishvite clan, named after their ancestor Ishvi.

The Beriite clan, named after their ancestor Beriah.

⁴⁵These were the subclans descended from the Beriites:

The Heberites, named after their ancestor Heber.

The Malkielites, named after their ancestor Malkiel.

⁴⁶Asher also had a daughter named Serah.

⁴⁷These were the clans of Asher. Their registered troops numbered 53,400.

The Tribe of Naphtali

⁴⁸These were the clans descended from the sons of Naphtali:

The Jahzeelite clan, named after their ancestor Jahzeel.

The Gunitite clan, named after their ancestor Guni.

⁴⁹The Jezerite clan, named after their ancestor Jezer.

The Shillemite clan, named after their ancestor Shillem.

⁵⁰These were the clans of Naphtali. Their registered troops numbered 45,400.

Results of the Registration

⁵¹In summary, the registered troops of all Israel numbered 601,730.

⁵²Then the LORD said to Moses, ⁵³"Divide the land among the tribes, and distribute the grants of land in proportion to the tribes' populations, as indicated by the number of names on the list. ⁵⁴Give the larger tribes more land and the smaller tribes less land, each group receiving a grant in proportion to the size of its population. ⁵⁵But you must assign the land by lot, and give land to each ancestral tribe according to the number of names on the list. ⁵⁶Each grant of land must be assigned by lot among the larger and smaller tribal groups."

26:35
1 Chr 7:20-25

26:37
Num 1:32-35

26:38
Gen 46:21
1 Chr 8:1

26:40
1 Chr 8:3

26:42
Gen 46:23-25

26:44
Gen 46:17

26:48
1 Chr 7:13

26:51
Num 1:43-46

26:54
Num 33:54

26:55
Num 33:54; 34:13

26:39 Shupham: As in some Hebrew manuscripts, Samaritan Pentateuch, Greek and Syriac versions, and Latin Vulgate; most Hebrew manuscripts read Shephupham.

26:40 The Ardites, named after their ancestor Ard: As in Samaritan Pentateuch, some Greek manuscripts, and Latin Vulgate; Hebrew lacks named after their ancestor Ard.

26:51 In spite of warfare, plagues, and punishments, God had been faithful to Israel. The number of male warriors had shrunk by 1,820 compared to the first registration (cp. 2:32), a difference of 0.3 percent.

26:52-56 The second registration, like the first, was a military one, but it also provided the basis for distributing land to Israel's tribes in proportion to the tribes' populations (cp. Josh 15-19).
• assign the land by lot: Lots were used to seek divine guidance and avoid favoritism in important matters (e.g.,

26:57
Gen 46:11
1 Chr 6:1
26:58
Num 3:16-35
26:60
Num 3:2
26:61
Lev 10:1-2
Num 3:4
26:62
Num 3:39
26:64
Num 14:20-43
Deut 2:14-15
27:1
Num 26:28-37, 36:1-4
27:7
Num 36:1-4
Josh 17:4
27:11
Num 35:29

The Tribe of Levi

⁵⁷This is the record of the Levites who were counted according to their clans:

The Gershonite clan, named after their ancestor Gershon.

The Kohathite clan, named after their ancestor Kohath.

The Merarite clan, named after their ancestor Merari.

⁵⁸The Libnites, the Hebronites, the Mahlites, the Mushites, and the Korahites were all subclans of the Levites.

Now Kohath was the ancestor of Amram, ⁵⁹and Amram's wife was named Jochebed. She also was a descendant of Levi, born among the Levites in the land of Egypt. Amram and Jochebed became the parents of Aaron, Moses, and their sister, Miriam. ⁶⁰To Aaron were born Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. ⁶¹But Nadab and Abihu died when they burned before the LORD the wrong kind of fire, different than he had commanded.

⁶²The men from the Levite clans who were one month old or older numbered 23,000. But the Levites were not included in the registration of the rest of the people of Israel because they were not given an allotment of land when it was divided among the Israelites.

Summary of the Registration

⁶³So these are the results of the registration of the people of Israel as conducted by Moses and Eleazar the priest on the plains of Moab beside the Jordan River, across from Jericho. ⁶⁴Not one person on this list had been among those listed in the previous registration taken by Moses and Aaron in the wilderness of Sinai. ⁶⁵For the LORD had said of them, "They will all die in the wilderness." Not one of them survived except Caleb son of Jephunneh and Joshua son of Nun.

Preparations for the Invasion (27:1–36:13) The Daughters of Zelophehad

27 One day a petition was presented by the daughters of Zelophehad—Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah. Their father, Zelophehad, was a descendant of Hephher son of Gilead, son of Makir, son of Manasseh, son of Joseph. ²These women stood before Moses, Eleazar the priest, the tribal leaders, and the entire community at the entrance of the Tabernacle. ³"Our father died in the wilderness," they said. "He was not among Korah's followers, who rebelled against the LORD; he died because of his own sin. But he had no sons. ⁴Why should the name of our father disappear from his clan just because he had no sons? Give us property along with the rest of our relatives."

⁵So Moses brought their case before the LORD. ⁶And the LORD replied to Moses, ⁷"The claim of the daughters of Zelophehad is legitimate. You must give them a grant of land along with their father's relatives. Assign them the property that would have been given to their father.

⁸"And give the following instructions to the people of Israel: If a man dies and has no son, then give his inheritance to his daughters. ⁹And if he has no daughter either, transfer his inheritance to his brothers. ¹⁰If he has no brothers, give his inheritance to his father's brothers. ¹¹But if his father has no brothers, give his inheritance to the nearest relative in his clan. This is a legal requirement for the people of Israel, just as the LORD commanded Moses."

27:21; 1 Sam 10:20; 14:41-42; Prov 18:18; Acts 1:26).

26:57-61 The family of Kohath received special attention as the clan of Aaron, Moses, and Miriam.

26:62 The Levites were numbered separately (cp. 1:47-49; 3:14-39). • one month old or older: Cp. 3:15. • they were not given an allotment of land when it was divided among the Israelites: The Levites were given forty-eight towns for their use, but they received no large territory through the process described in 26:52-56 (35:1-8; cp. 18:23-24).

26:63-65 The registration figures represent an entirely new generation of Hebrews, for everyone who came out of Egypt died in the wilderness except Caleb and Joshua. Joshua inherited Moses' position as the leader of Israel (27:12-23; see "Joshua" at Josh 1:1-18, p. 377), and Caleb later played an important role (see "Caleb" at Josh 14:6-15, p. 399). Chapter 26 documents Israel's transition from a generation under God's condemnation (ch 14) to a people with a future, as predicted by Balaam's four prophecies (chs 23-24).

27:1-11 Zelophehad's lack of male heirs created an opportunity to refine the inheritance laws, which would later be refined even further (cp. 36:1-13).

27:2 The entrance of the Tabernacle (literally the Tent of Meeting) was the most important public place, where significant decisions were made. The reference to this event in Josh 17:4 specifically mentions Eleazar, Joshua, and the Hebrew leaders, but omits Moses' name. These women requested an exception to the law as it stood, and they brought their case to the highest tribal authorities.

27:3-4 Zelophehad had not been part of Korah's rebellion (16:1-50); if he had been, his property rights would apparently have been voided (see 15:30; cp. 1 Kgs 21:7-16). Israelite society was patriarchal and patrilineal, tracing ancestry and property through the male line. Zelophehad had no sons, but his daughters wanted his family property rights to continue. Zelophehad's daughters thus made a reasonable appeal for property rights equal to those of males.

27:5-11 Moses took their case before the LORD, who accepted the women's appeal and established their case as a principle in order to preserve property within families.

Joshua Chosen to Lead Israel

¹²One day the LORD said to Moses, "Climb one of the mountains east of the river, and look out over the land I have given the people of Israel. ¹³After you have seen it, you will die like your brother, Aaron, ¹⁴for you both rebelled against my instructions in the wilderness of Zin. When the people of Israel rebelled, you failed to demonstrate my holiness to them at the waters." (These are the waters of Meribah at Kadesh in the wilderness of Zin.)

¹⁵Then Moses said to the LORD, ¹⁶"O LORD, you are the God who gives breath to all creatures. Please appoint a new man as leader for the community. ¹⁷Give them someone who will guide them wherever they go and will lead them into battle, so the community of the LORD will not be like sheep without a shepherd."

¹⁸The LORD replied, "Take Joshua son of Nun, who has the Spirit in him, and lay your hands on him. ¹⁹Present him to Eleazar the priest before the whole community, and publicly commission him to lead the people. ²⁰Transfer some of your authority to him so the whole community of Israel will obey him. ²¹When direction from the LORD is needed, Joshua will stand before Eleazar the priest, who will use the Urim—one of the sacred lots cast before the LORD—to determine his will. This is how Joshua and the rest of the community of Israel will determine everything they should do."

²²So Moses did as the LORD commanded. He presented Joshua to Eleazar the priest and the whole community. ²³Moses laid his hands on him and commissioned him to lead the people, just as the LORD had commanded through Moses.

The Daily Offerings

28 The LORD said to Moses, ²"Give these instructions to the people of Israel: The offerings you present as special gifts are a pleasing aroma to me; they are my food. See to it that they are brought at the appointed times and offered according to my instructions.

³"Say to the people: This is the special gift you must present to the LORD as your daily burnt offering. You must offer two one-year-old male lambs with no defects. ⁴Sacrifice one lamb in the morning and the other in the evening. ⁵With each lamb you must offer a grain offering of two quarts of choice flour mixed with one quart of pure oil of pressed olives. ⁶This is the regular burnt offering instituted at Mount Sinai as a special gift, a pleasing aroma to the LORD. ⁷Along with it you must present the proper liquid offering of one quart of alcoholic

27:12
Num 33:47
Deut 32:49
27:13
Deut 32:50-51
27:14
Num 20:9-13
Deut 32:48-52
27:17
1 Kgs 22:17
Ezek 34:1-24
Zech 10:2
Matt 9:36
*Mark 6:34
27:18
Deut 34:9
27:20
Josh 1:16-17
27:21
Exod 28:30
1 Sam 28:6
28:3
Exod 29:38-41
28:4
Lev 6:19-20
28:5
Num 15:3-12
28:7
Exod 29:42
Lev 23:13

27:12-23 Israel would need leadership when they entered the land of Canaan. Joshua was commissioned to succeed Moses.

27:12 The mountains east of the river (or the mountains of Abarim) probably included Mount Nebo (Deut 32:49), from which Moses viewed the Promised Land just before his death (Deut 34:1).

27:13-14 waters of Meribah at Kadesh: Literally waters of Meribath-kadesh; cp. 20:12-13.

27:15-17 Israel was on the threshold of a long battle for Canaan; Moses did not want them to flounder without a leader or lose their way like sheep without a shepherd (cp. 1 Kgs 22:17; Ezek 34:5; Matt 9:36).

27:18-19 Joshua had a solid background for the role (cp. Exod 17:8-16). He had been Moses' assistant for a long time (11:28; cp. Exod 33:11). He was also one of the faithful spies (chs 13-14) who knew the people of Israel well. Joshua possessed the Spirit and recognized the special presence of God in his life (cp. 11:25-29). His relationship with God also gave him wisdom for the tasks ahead (e.g., Deut 34:9). • lay your hands on him: This act symbolized the transfer of authority from an elder statesman to his assistant (cp. 8:10-14). Moses did this publicly so that Joshua's leadership would be incontestable.

27:20-21 Joshua assumed only some of Moses' authority. Moses had face-to-face contact with God (12:6-8; Deut 34:10-12), but Joshua had only indirect access to revelation, since he had to consult with Eleazar the priest on important matters (27:21; cp. Exod 28:30; Lev 8:8). Israel would keep military and spiritual leadership separate hereafter.

28:1-29:40 These two chapters contain information about Israel's ritual calendar, including a list of required daily, weekly, and monthly offerings and a list of annual religious events. Thus Israel was instructed to worship God "properly and in order" (1 Cor 14:40). The annual cycle of sacrifices involved a tremendous investment of animals, grain, oil, and wine. Israel marked these special days by stopping their normal work, a kind of sacrifice that recognized the importance of these holy days. This annual cycle included eight different occasions for worship, all of which recalled Israel's relationship with the Lord. Each worship event included a different combination of burnt, grain, liquid, and/or sin offerings. • For details on the grain and liquid offerings, see 15:1-16. For explanations of the different types of offerings, see chart, "Israel's Sacrifices," p. 197. For a description of Israel's festivals, see chart, "Israel's Festivals," p. 235. For the details of Israel's annual calendar, see chart, "Israel's Annual Calendar" p. 145. For the NT perspective on the OT sacrificial system, see John 1:29; Rom 12:1; Heb 9:9-15; 10:1-2; 1 Pet 2:5.

28:1-2 The Lord accepted special gifts (cp. 15:3) as a pleasing aroma, a figurative expression describing God's acceptance and enjoyment of these gifts (see also Gen 8:21; Lev 1:9; Eph 5:2; Phil 4:18). Offerings were made at appointed times according to specific instructions (see 28:3-29:39).

28:2 they are my food: See notes on Exod 29:18; Deut 8:2.

28:3-8 The daily offering was the foundation of the sacrificial system. Its practice was instituted at Mount Sinai (see Exod 29:38-46). • alcoholic drink: Cp. 6:3; Lev 10:9; Deut 14:26.

28:5 two quarts: Hebrew $\frac{1}{2}$ of an ephah [2.2 liters]; also in 28:13, 21, 29. • one quart: Hebrew $\frac{1}{4}$ of a hin [1 liter]; also in 28:7.

28:11
Num 10:10; 28:19
Ezek 46:6-7

28:12
Num 15:4-12

28:15
Num 28:3

28:16
Exod 12:6, 18
Lev 23:5-14
Deut 16:1-8

28:19
Num 28:11

28:26
Exod 23:16
Lev 23:9-22
Deut 16:9-12

28:31
Num 28:3

drink with each lamb, poured out in the Holy Place as an offering to the LORD. ⁸Offer the second lamb in the evening with the same grain offering and liquid offering. It, too, is a special gift, a pleasing aroma to the LORD.

The Sabbath Offerings

⁹"On the Sabbath day, sacrifice two one-year-old male lambs with no defects. They must be accompanied by a grain offering of four quarts of choice flour moistened with olive oil, and a liquid offering. ¹⁰This is the burnt offering to be presented each Sabbath day, in addition to the regular burnt offering and its accompanying liquid offering.

The Monthly Offerings

¹¹"On the first day of each month, present an extra burnt offering to the LORD of two young bulls, one ram, and seven one-year-old male lambs, all with no defects. ¹²These must be accompanied by grain offerings of choice flour moistened with olive oil—six quarts with each bull, four quarts with the ram, ¹³and two quarts with each lamb. This burnt offering will be a special gift, a pleasing aroma to the LORD. ¹⁴You must also present a liquid offering with each sacrifice: two quarts of wine for each bull, a third of a gallon for the ram, and one quart for each lamb. Present this monthly burnt offering on the first day of each month throughout the year.

¹⁵"On the first day of each month, you must also offer one male goat for a sin offering to the LORD. This is in addition to the regular burnt offering and its accompanying liquid offering.

Offerings for the Passover

¹⁶"On the fourteenth day of the first month, you must celebrate the LORD's Passover.

¹⁷On the following day—the fifteenth day of the month—a joyous, seven-day festival will begin, but no bread made with yeast may be eaten. ¹⁸The first day of the festival will be an official day for holy assembly, and no ordinary work may be done on that day. ¹⁹As a special gift you must present a burnt offering to the LORD—two young bulls, one ram, and seven one-year-old male lambs, all with no defects. ²⁰These will be accompanied by grain offerings of choice flour moistened with olive oil—six quarts with each bull, four quarts with the ram, ²¹and two quarts with each of the seven lambs. ²²You must also offer a male goat as a sin offering to purify yourselves and make yourselves right with the LORD. ²³Present these offerings in addition to your regular morning burnt offering. ²⁴On each of the seven days of the festival, this is how you must prepare the food offering that is presented as a special gift, a pleasing aroma to the LORD. These will be offered in addition to the regular burnt offerings and liquid offerings. ²⁵The seventh day of the festival will be another official day for holy assembly, and no ordinary work may be done on that day.

Offerings for the Festival of Harvest

²⁶"At the Festival of Harvest, when you present the first of your new grain to the LORD, you must call an official day for holy assembly, and you may do no ordinary work on that day. ²⁷Present a special burnt offering on that day as a pleasing aroma to the LORD. It will consist of two young bulls, one ram, and seven one-year-old male lambs. ²⁸These will be accompanied by grain offerings of choice flour moistened with olive oil—six quarts with each bull, four quarts with the ram, ²⁹and two quarts with each of the seven lambs. ³⁰Also, offer one male goat to purify yourselves and make yourselves right with the LORD. ³¹Prepare these 28:9-10 Special days called for additional offerings. The Sabbath day required a sacrifice over and above the regular burnt offering and its accompanying liquid offering. Other passages highlight the importance of the Sabbath (e.g., Exod 20:8-11; Lev 23:3; Deut 5:12-15).

28:9 four quarts: Hebrew $\frac{2}{3}$ of an ephah [4.4 liters]; also in 28:12, 20, 28.

28:11-15 The offering of the first day of each month—the New Moon—called for the sacrifice of bulls, rams, and lambs as burnt offerings, along with a male goat as a sin offering (see also chart, "Israel's Festivals," p. 235).

28:12 six quarts: Hebrew $\frac{1}{2}$ of an ephah [6.6 liters]; also in 28:20, 28.

28:14 two quarts: Hebrew $\frac{1}{3}$ of a hin [2 liters]. • a third of a gallon: Hebrew $\frac{1}{3}$ of a hin [1.3 liters]. • one quart: Hebrew $\frac{1}{4}$ of a hin [1 liter].

28:16-25 The Passover, followed by the Festival of Unleavened Bread, was the first of five great annual festivals; it was held in early spring (March–April). The Passover required no public sacrifices—it was a family occasion celebrated at home (see also 9:1-4; Exod 12:1-13:10; Lev 23:5-8; Deut 16:1-8). This festival played a special role in the background of the Last Supper (see Matt 26:17-19, 26-27; Mark 14:12; John 11:55; 12:1; 13:1; 18:28, 39; 19:14, 31; cp. 1 Cor 5:7).

28:16 the fourteenth day of the first month: This day in the ancient Hebrew lunar calendar occurred in late March or in April.

28:22 to purify yourselves and make yourselves right with the LORD: Or to make atonement for yourselves; also in 28:30.

28:26-31 The Festival of Harvest (literally Festival of Weeks) was later called the Festival of Pentecost (see Acts 2:1). It is celebrated today as Shavuot (or Shabuoth); see also Lev 23:15-22. It celebrated the end of the barley harvest and the beginning of the wheat harvest in early summer (May–June). The Greek name Pentecost means "fiftieth day" (i.e., after Passover; see Acts 20:16; 1 Cor 16:8).

special¹ burnt offerings, along with their liquid offerings, in addition to the regular burnt offering and its accompanying grain offering. Be sure that all the animals you sacrifice have no defects.

Offerings for the Festival of Trumpets

29“Celebrate the Festival of Trumpets each year on the first day of the appointed month in early autumn. You must call an official day for holy assembly, and you may do no ordinary work. ²On that day you must present a burnt offering as a pleasing aroma to the LORD. It will consist of one young bull, one ram, and seven one-year-old male lambs, all with no defects. ³These must be accompanied by grain offerings of choice flour moistened with olive oil—six quarts with the bull, four quarts with the ram, ⁴and two quarts with each of the seven lambs. ⁵In addition, you must sacrifice a male goat as a sin offering to purify yourselves and make yourselves right with the LORD. ⁶These special sacrifices are in addition to your regular monthly and daily burnt offerings, and they must be given with their prescribed grain offerings and liquid offerings. These offerings are given as a special gift to the LORD, a pleasing aroma to him.

Offerings for the Day of Atonement

⁷“Ten days later, on the tenth day of the same month, you must call another holy assembly. On that day, the Day of Atonement, the people must go without food and must do no ordinary work. ⁸You must present a burnt offering as a pleasing aroma to the LORD. It will consist of one young bull, one ram, and seven one-year-old male lambs, all with no defects. ⁹These offerings must be accompanied by the prescribed grain offerings of choice flour moistened with olive oil—six quarts of choice flour with the bull, four quarts of choice flour with the ram, ¹⁰and two quarts of choice flour with each of the seven lambs. ¹¹You must also sacrifice one male goat for a sin offering. This is in addition to the sin offering of atonement and the regular daily burnt offering with its grain offering, and their accompanying liquid offerings.

Offerings for the Festival of Shelters

¹²“Five days later, on the fifteenth day of the same month, you must call another holy assembly of all the people, and you may do no ordinary work on that day. It is the beginning of the Festival of Shelters, a seven-day festival to the LORD. ¹³On the first day of the festival, you must present a burnt offering as a special gift, a pleasing aroma to the LORD. It will consist of thirteen young bulls, two rams, and fourteen one-year-old male lambs, all with no defects. ¹⁴Each of these offerings must be accompanied by a grain offering of choice flour moistened with olive oil—six quarts for each of the thirteen bulls, four quarts for each of the two rams, ¹⁵and two quarts for each of the fourteen lambs. ¹⁶You must also sacrifice a male goat as a sin offering, in addition to the regular burnt offering with its accompanying grain offering and liquid offering.

¹⁷“On the second day of this seven-day festival, sacrifice twelve young bulls, two rams, and fourteen one-year-old male lambs, all with no defects. ¹⁸Each of these offerings of bulls, rams, and lambs must be accompanied by its prescribed grain offering and liquid offering. ¹⁹You must also sacrifice a male goat as a sin offering, in addition to the regular burnt offering with its accompanying grain offering and liquid offering.

29:1
Lev 23:23-25
Num 28:26

29:6
Num 28:3

29:7
Lev 16:29-34;
23:26-32

29:11
Lev 16:1-34

29:12
Lev 23:33-41
Deut 16:13-14

29:19
Num 28:3, 11, 11

29:1-6 the Festival of Trumpets: See also Lev 23:23-25.

29:1 the first day of the appointed month in early autumn (literally the first day of the seventh month): This day in the ancient Hebrew lunar calendar occurred in September or October. This festival is celebrated today as Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish new year.

29:3 six quarts: Hebrew $\frac{1}{10}$ of an ephah [6.6 liters]; also in 29:9, 14. • four quarts: Hebrew $\frac{1}{10}$ of an ephah [4.4 liters]; also in 29:9, 14.

29:4 two quarts: Hebrew $\frac{1}{10}$ of an ephah [2.2 liters]; also in 29:10, 15.

29:5 to purify yourselves and make yourselves right with the LORD: Or to make atonement for yourselves.

29:7-11 The Day of Atonement was a solemn occasion, a day of fasting (see also Lev 16:1-34; 23:26-32; Rom 3:23-25; Heb 9:7-12, 23-28).

29:7 Ten days later, on the tenth day of the same month (literally On the tenth day of the seventh month; see 29:1 and note): This day in the ancient Hebrew lunar calendar occurred in September or October. It is celebrated today as Yom Kippur (from Hebrew yom hakkippurim, Lev 23:27).

29:12-38 The Festival of Shelters began on the fifteenth day of the seventh month. It was an eight-day harvest celebration (29:12, 35; Exod 34:22) that required an enormous number of offerings. This harvest festival was an especially joyous occasion and a time for thanksgiving (see Neh 8:13-18). The shelters also reminded the Israelites of dwelling in tents during their wilderness sojourn (see also Lev 23:33-43; 1 Kgs 8:1-2).

29:12 on the fifteenth day of the same month (literally On the fifteenth day of the seventh month; see 29:1, 7 and notes): This day in the ancient Hebrew lunar calendar occurred in late September or in October. • The Festival of Shelters (or Festival of Booths, or Festival of Tabernacles) was earlier called the Festival of the Final Harvest or Festival of Ingathering (see Exod 23:16b). It is celebrated today as Sukkot (or Succoth).

29:22
Num 28:15

29:35
Lev 23:36

29:39
Lev 23:2
2 Chr 31:3
Ezra 3:5

30:2
Deut 23:21-25

²⁰"On the third day of the festival, sacrifice eleven young bulls, two rams, and fourteen one-year-old male lambs, all with no defects. ²¹Each of these offerings of bulls, rams, and lambs must be accompanied by its prescribed grain offering and liquid offering. ²²You must also sacrifice a male goat as a sin offering, in addition to the regular burnt offering with its accompanying grain offering and liquid offering.

²³"On the fourth day of the festival, sacrifice ten young bulls, two rams, and fourteen one-year-old male lambs, all with no defects. ²⁴Each of these offerings of bulls, rams, and lambs must be accompanied by its prescribed grain offering and liquid offering. ²⁵You must also sacrifice a male goat as a sin offering, in addition to the regular burnt offering with its accompanying grain offering and liquid offering.

²⁶"On the fifth day of the festival, sacrifice nine young bulls, two rams, and fourteen one-year-old male lambs, all with no defects. ²⁷Each of these offerings of bulls, rams, and lambs must be accompanied by its prescribed grain offering and liquid offering. ²⁸You must also sacrifice a male goat as a sin offering, in addition to the regular burnt offering with its accompanying grain offering and liquid offering.

²⁹"On the sixth day of the festival, sacrifice eight young bulls, two rams, and fourteen one-year-old male lambs, all with no defects. ³⁰Each of these offerings of bulls, rams, and lambs must be accompanied by its prescribed grain offering and liquid offering. ³¹You must also sacrifice a male goat as a sin offering, in addition to the regular burnt offering with its accompanying grain offering and liquid offering.

³²"On the seventh day of the festival, sacrifice seven young bulls, two rams, and fourteen one-year-old male lambs, all with no defects. ³³Each of these offerings of bulls, rams, and lambs must be accompanied by its prescribed grain offering and liquid offering. ³⁴You must also sacrifice one male goat as a sin offering, in addition to the regular burnt offering with its accompanying grain offering and liquid offering.

³⁵"On the eighth day of the festival, proclaim another holy day. You must do no ordinary work on that day. ³⁶You must present a burnt offering as a special gift, a pleasing aroma to the LORD. It will consist of one young bull, one ram, and seven one-year-old male lambs, all with no defects. ³⁷Each of these offerings must be accompanied by its prescribed grain offering and liquid offering. ³⁸You must also sacrifice one male goat as a sin offering, in addition to the regular burnt offering with its accompanying grain offering and liquid offering.

³⁹"You must present these offerings to the LORD at your annual festivals. These are in addition to the sacrifices and offerings you present in connection with vows, or as voluntary offerings, burnt offerings, grain offerings, liquid offerings, or peace offerings."

⁴⁰So Moses gave all of these instructions to the people of Israel as the LORD had commanded him.

Laws concerning Vows

30 Then Moses summoned the leaders of the tribes of Israel and told them, "This is what the LORD has commanded: 'A man who makes a vow to the LORD or makes a pledge under oath must never break it. He must do exactly what he said he would do.'

³"If a young woman makes a vow to the LORD or a pledge under oath while she is still living at her father's home, ⁴and her father hears of the vow or pledge and does not object to it, then all her vows and pledges will stand. ⁵But if her father refuses to let her fulfill the vow or pledge on the day he hears of it, then all her vows and pledges will become invalid. The LORD will forgive her because her father would not let her fulfill them.

29:39 Public offerings were supplemented by a variety of voluntary individual gifts (cp. Lev 23:38).

29:40 Verse 29:40 is numbered 30:1 in Hebrew text.

30:1-16 Vows were an important way to express devotion or piety, but were sometimes made in haste and were often forgotten. Voluntary pledges were commonly made on special religious occasions or in times of war. Perhaps the reference to vows and voluntary offerings (29:39) prompted the further discussion here (cp. 15:3; see also Lev 5:4-5; 27:1-34; Num 6:1-21; Deut 23:21-23). These instructions were applied in the case of Hannah and Elkanah (1 Sam 1). Such practices, which included fasting, continued into the NT period (e.g., Matt 6:16; 15:3-9; Acts 18:18; 21:23). Vows of females—young and unmarried or adult and married—were subject to approval by the responsible male who would be a financial partner in the vow. Nobody, male or female, young or old, should make a vow to God and then neglect it. • Verses 30:1-16 are numbered 30:2-17 in Hebrew text.

30:1-2 Vows included promises of offerings (e.g., Hannah's vow, 1 Sam 1) and pledges of abstinence (e.g., the Nazirite vow, Num 6). Jesus made reference to the instruction regarding vows in the Sermon on the Mount (Matt 5:33).

30:3-5 A young woman was under the authority of her father, who was responsible for her actions and her financial obligations.

⁶Now suppose a young woman makes a vow or binds herself with an impulsive pledge and later marries. ⁷If her husband learns of her vow or pledge and does not object on the day he hears of it, her vows and pledges will stand. ⁸But if her husband refuses to accept her vow or impulsive pledge on the day he hears of it, he nullifies her commitments, and the LORD will forgive her. ⁹If, however, a woman is a widow or is divorced, she must fulfill all her vows and pledges.

¹⁰But suppose a woman is married and living in her husband's home when she makes a vow or binds herself with a pledge. ¹¹If her husband hears of it and does not object to it, her vow or pledge will stand. ¹²But if her husband refuses to accept it on the day he hears of it, her vow or pledge will be nullified, and the LORD will forgive her. ¹³So her husband may either confirm or nullify any vows or pledges she makes to deny herself. ¹⁴But if he does not object on the day he hears of it, then he is agreeing to all her vows and pledges. ¹⁵If he waits more than a day and then tries to nullify a vow or pledge, he will be punished for her guilt."

¹⁶These are the regulations the LORD gave Moses concerning relationships between a man and his wife, and between a father and a young daughter who still lives at home.

Conquest of the Midianites

31 Then the LORD said to Moses, ²"On behalf of the people of Israel, take revenge on the Midianites for leading them into idolatry. After that, you will die and join your ancestors."

³So Moses said to the people, "Choose some men, and arm them to fight the LORD's war of revenge against Midian. ⁴From each tribe of Israel, send 1,000 men into battle." ⁵So they chose 1,000 men from each tribe of Israel, a total of 12,000 men armed for battle. ⁶Then Moses sent them out, 1,000 men from each tribe, and Phinehas son of Eleazar the priest led them into battle. They carried along the holy objects of the sanctuary and the trumpets for sounding the charge. ⁷They attacked Midian as the LORD had commanded Moses, and they killed all the men. ⁸All five of the Midianite kings—Evi, Rekem, Zur, Hur, and Reba—died in the battle. They also killed Balaam son of Beor with the sword.

⁹Then the Israelite army captured the Midianite women and children and seized their cattle and flocks and all their wealth as plunder. ¹⁰They burned all the towns

30:8
Gen 3:16

30:12
Eph 5:22
Col 3:18

31:2
Num 25:16-17

31:6
Num 10:8-9

31:8
Josh 13:21-22

30:6-8 When a young Hebrew woman married, she came under the authority of her husband, who could void the obligations of a vow or pledge made by his wife while she was under her father's authority by nullifying it as soon as he heard about it.

30:9 A widow or a divorced woman usually returned to her father's family (Lev 22:13), but a mature single woman who made a vow or pledge was required to fulfill her religious duties.

30:10-15 A married woman also needed the approval of her husband to make vows and pledges. Her husband could nullify her religious promise, but he had to make this decision on the day he heard about it. God did not hold the married woman guilty of breaking this promise if her husband cancelled it in the proper manner (cp. 30:5, 8, 12). The self-denial mentioned in 30:13 probably refers to fasting. If he raised no objection, the husband's silence implied consent. He could not delay in his objection, or he would incur the guilt of a broken vow (cp. Lev 5:4-13).

31:1-2 The Lord ordered Moses to lead Israel in a war of retaliation against the Midianites, who had joined the Moabites in leading the Hebrews into idolatry (25:1-18). The Midianites were a tribal people who inhabited the arid and semiarid regions south and east of Palestine and east of the Jordan River; they were counted among the "people of the east" (Judg 6:3, 33; 7:12). They lived in camps or settlements and were famous for their knowledge of desert transportation (cp. Gen 37:28, 36; Isa 60:6). While they were descended from Abraham (Gen 25:1-2) and had been friendly toward Moses (Exod 2:15-3:1; cp. Num 10:29), the elders of Midian had joined Balak in hiring Balaam to curse Israel (22:4, 7), whose presence threatened the peoples of Transjordan (the region east of the Jordan).

31:3-5 Each tribe contributed 1,000 men for the battle, which enabled all of them to gain experience in combat and share in the victory.

31:6 Phinehas, son of Eleazar (the high priest), led this force of 12,000 into battle. His leadership helped to define this engagement as "holy war," an act of revenge for the spiritual harm that Midian had inflicted on Israel (cp. 25:6-18; 31:15-16; see "Holy War" at 2 Chr 20:20-24, p. 757). His zeal in this situation (25:11, 13) was equal to what he demonstrated in the case of Zimri and Cozbi (25:7-8). • Many believe that holy objects of the sanctuary meant the Ark, which the Hebrews sometimes carried into battle (e.g., 10:35-36; Josh 6:6; 1 Sam 4:3-11; cp. Num 14:44). Others suggest that they were a variety of sacred vessels associated with the Tabernacle rituals (3:31; 4:15; 18:3; cp. 1 Kgs 8:4; 1 Chr 9:29; 2 Chr 5:5). The Israelites probably took some or all of these holy objects as symbols of God's participation in their holy war.

31:7 The Israelites killed all of the Midianite men in the particular groups they attacked from their camp in the plains of Moab (31:12), not all of the people who were part of the larger Midianite confederation (cp. Judg 6-8). The number of animals and virgins mentioned in 31:32-35 indicates that the 12,000 Hebrews fought a sizable enemy force.

31:8 Balaam son of Beor deserved to die because his counsel "caused the people of Israel to rebel against the LORD at Mount Peor" (31:16). Balaam was punished for his villainous deeds (cp. 2 Pet 2:15; Jude 1:11).

31:9-13 After the battle, the Hebrews began the practice that they sometimes followed throughout the period of conquest and beyond (e.g., Josh 6, 8, 10-11). They destroyed their enemies (sometimes the total population), burned towns, and set aside spoils for their own use or as dedicated to the Lord.

31:10 towns and villages: These were larger settlements and smaller unfortified encampments.

31:16

Num 25:1-18
2 Pet 2:15-16

31:17

Deut 7:2; 20:16-18
Judg 21:10-12

31:24

Lev 11:25; 14:9

31:27

Josh 22:8

31:28

Num 18:21

31:29

Num 18:25-26

31:49

Num 1:19

and villages where the Midianites had lived. ¹¹After they had gathered the plunder and captives, both people and animals, ¹²they brought them all to Moses and Eleazar the priest, and to the whole community of Israel, which was camped on the plains of Moab beside the Jordan River, across from Jericho. ¹³Moses, Eleazar the priest, and all the leaders of the community went to meet them outside the camp. ¹⁴But Moses was furious with all the generals and captains who had returned from the battle.

¹⁵"Why have you let all the women live?" he demanded. ¹⁶"These are the very ones who followed Balaam's advice and caused the people of Israel to rebel against the LORD at Mount Peor. They are the ones who caused the plague to strike the LORD's people. ¹⁷So kill all the boys and all the women who have had intercourse with a man. ¹⁸Only the young girls who are virgins may live; you may keep them for yourselves. ¹⁹And all of you who have killed anyone or touched a dead body must stay outside the camp for seven days. You must purify yourselves and your captives on the third and seventh days. ²⁰Purify all your clothing, too, and everything made of leather, goat hair, or wood."

²¹Then Eleazar the priest said to the men who were in the battle, "The LORD has given Moses this legal requirement: ²²Anything made of gold, silver, bronze, iron, tin, or lead—²³that is, all metals that do not burn—must be passed through fire in order to be made ceremonially pure. These metal objects must then be further purified with the water of purification. But everything that burns must be purified by the water alone. ²⁴On the seventh day you must wash your clothes and be purified. Then you may return to the camp."

Division of the Plunder

²⁵And the LORD said to Moses, ²⁶"You and Eleazar the priest and the family leaders of each tribe are to make a list of all the plunder taken in the battle, including the people and animals. ²⁷Then divide the plunder into two parts, and give half to the men who fought the battle and half to the rest of the people. ²⁸From the army's portion, first give the LORD his share of the plunder—one of every 500 of the prisoners and of the cattle, donkeys, sheep, and goats. ²⁹Give this share of the army's half to Eleazar the priest as an offering to the LORD. ³⁰From the half that belongs to the people of Israel, take one of every fifty of the prisoners and of the cattle, donkeys, sheep, goats, and other animals. Give this share to the Levites, who are in charge of maintaining the LORD's Tabernacle." ³¹So Moses and Eleazar the priest did as the LORD commanded Moses.

³²The plunder remaining from everything the fighting men had taken totaled 675,000 sheep and goats, ³³72,000 cattle, ³⁴61,000 donkeys, ³⁵and 32,000 virgin girls.

³⁶Half of the plunder was given to the fighting men. It totaled 337,500 sheep and goats, ³⁷of which 675 were the LORD's share; ³⁸36,000 cattle, of which 72 were the LORD's share; ³⁹30,500 donkeys, of which 61 were the LORD's share; ⁴⁰and 16,000 virgin girls, of whom 32 were the LORD's share. ⁴¹Moses gave all the LORD's share to Eleazar the priest, just as the LORD had directed him.

⁴²Half of the plunder belonged to the people of Israel, and Moses separated it from the half belonging to the fighting men. ⁴³It totaled 337,500 sheep and goats, ⁴⁴36,000 cattle, ⁴⁵30,500 donkeys, ⁴⁶and 16,000 virgin girls. ⁴⁷From the half-share given to the people, Moses took one of every fifty prisoners and animals and gave them to the Levites, who maintained the LORD's Tabernacle. All this was done as the LORD had commanded Moses.

⁴⁸Then all the generals and captains came to Moses ⁴⁹and said, "We, your servants, 31:13 outside the camp: Probably to keep from contaminating the Tabernacle and all of the people, the returning troops were subjected to purification rituals because of their contact with corpses (31:19-24).

31:14-16 Moses was furious: God had commanded total destruction, but the Midianite women who had followed Balaam's advice and were largely responsible for the apostasy of Baal-peor had wrongly been given clemency.

31:14 the generals and captains: Literally the commanders of thousands, and the commanders of hundreds; also in 31:48, 52, 54.

31:17-18 Only young virgin women were to be spared, since they had not participated in the incident at Baal-peor.

31:19-24 Israelite warriors who had contact with corpses subjected themselves and their equipment to routine, but important, purification rituals (see 5:1-4; 19:1-22).

31:25-31 The plunder was divided into two equal parts, with half going to those who fought against the Midianites and half going to the Israelites who stayed behind (cp. 1 Sam 30:21-25). In this sense, everyone participated in the armed conflict, but the relatively small number of warriors each received a larger portion than the much larger number of those who stayed behind.

31:32-35 The total number of animals and young girls who were not killed was quite large, which indicates that Israel fought against many Midianites.

31:36-47 The plunder was distributed according to the principles established in 31:25-30.

31:48-49 Though it is unusual for no soldiers from an army to be killed in battle, it is not impossible. Classical authors also reported battles in which have accounted for all the men who went out to battle under our command; not one of us is missing! ⁵⁰So we are presenting the items of gold we captured as an offering to the LORD from our share of the plunder—armbands, bracelets, rings, earrings, and necklaces. This will purify our lives before the LORD and make us right with him.”

⁵¹So Moses and Eleazar the priest received the gold from all the military commanders—all kinds of jewelry and crafted objects. ⁵²In all, the gold that the generals and captains presented as a gift to the LORD weighed about 420 pounds. ⁵³All the fighting men had taken some of the plunder for themselves. ⁵⁴So Moses and Eleazar the priest accepted the gifts from the generals and captains and brought the gold to the Tabernacle as a reminder to the LORD that the people of Israel belong to him.

The Settlement of Israelite Tribes East of the Jordan

32 The tribes of Reuben and Gad owned vast numbers of livestock. So when they saw that the lands of Jazer and Gilead were ideally suited for their flocks and herds, ²they came to Moses, Eleazar the priest, and the other leaders of the community. They said, ³“Notice the towns of Ataroth, Dibon, Jazer, Nimrah, Heshbon, Elealeh, Sibmah, Nebo, and Beon. ⁴The LORD has conquered this whole area for the community of Israel, and it is ideally suited for all our livestock. ⁵If we have found favor with you, please let us have this land as our property instead of giving us land across the Jordan River.”

⁶“Do you intend to stay here while your brothers go across and do all the fighting?” Moses asked the men of Gad and Reuben. ⁷“Why do you want to discourage the rest of the people of Israel from going across to the land the LORD has given them? ⁸Your ancestors did the same thing when I sent them from Kadesh-barnea to explore the land. ⁹After they went up to the valley of Eshcol and explored the land, they discouraged the people of Israel from entering the land the LORD was giving them. ¹⁰Then the LORD was very angry with them, and he vowed, ¹¹“Of all those I rescued from Egypt, no one who is twenty years old or older will ever see the land I swore to give to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, for they have not obeyed me wholeheartedly. ¹²The only exceptions are Caleb son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite and Joshua son of Nun, for they have wholeheartedly followed the LORD.”

¹³“The LORD was ^aangry with Israel and made them wander in the wilderness for forty years until the entire generation that sinned in the LORD’s sight had died. ¹⁴But here you are, a brood of sinners, doing exactly the same thing! You are making the LORD even angrier with Israel. ¹⁵If you turn away from him like this and he abandons them again in the wilderness, you will be responsible for destroying this entire nation!”

31:53
Deut 20:14

32:1
Num 21:32

32:3
Num 32:33-42
Josh 13:17
Isa 15:4; 16:9

32:8
Num 13:2-26
Deut 1:19-21

32:9
Num 13:23-24

32:10
Num 14:28-30
Deut 1:34

32:12
Num 14:6, 24, 30
Deut 1:36
Josh 14:8-9

32:13
Num 14:31-39
^aap (0639)
^a Deut 7:4

32:15
Deut 30:17-18

few or no Roman soldiers were killed. If the Israelites had the advantages of preparation, surprise, and overwhelming force, they could have defeated the Midianites and lost no troops, especially in light of God’s blessing.

31:50-54 The commanders gladly offered gold objects in gratitude for a great victory that resulted in no loss of life (cp. Exod 30:12). Ancient art and literature indicate that the Midianites and other desert peoples, both males and females, wore gold jewelry as adornment and as a form of portable wealth (e.g., Judg 8:24-26). Moses and Eleazar brought this large collection to the Tabernacle as a memorial of this special event (cp. 16:39-40; Zech 6:14).

31:50 will purify our lives before the LORD and make us right with him: Or will make atonement for our lives before the LORD.

31:52 420 pounds: Hebrew 16,750 shekels [191 kilograms].

31:54 the Tabernacle: Literally the Tent of Meeting. See note on Exod 27:21.

32:1-5 From the time that Israel occupied the central part of the area east of the Jordan—during the military encounters described in ch 21—Israel had been preparing to invade Canaan. At a moment when the Hebrews needed to safeguard their unity, two tribes asked to settle east of the Jordan River.

32:1 vast numbers of livestock: The Israelites had flocks and herds when they left Egypt (cp. Exod 12:38); they acquired many more animals as loot in the war with Midian (cp. 31:32-33) and perhaps in their victories over Sihon and Og (21:21-35). • Gilead can refer either to the whole northern region of the plateau east of the Jordan (e.g., 32:29) or only to the part of that territory between the Jabbok and the Arnon.

32:3 Reuben, Gad, and half of Manasseh settled in the land that Israel had recently captured from Sihon the Amorite and Og of Bashan (cp. 21:21-35). • Ataroth, Dibon, Jazer, Nimrah, Heshbon, and Elealeh have been linked with archaeological sites. • Sibmah: As in Samaritan Pentateuch and Greek version (see also 32:38); Hebrew reads Sebam; its location is unknown.

• Though the location of a town called Nebo is unknown, it was certainly near a mountain or ridge of that same name, which was located along the escarpment that rises above the northern end of the Dead Sea. • The site named Beon is almost certainly the place called “Baal-meon” in 32:38, which probably corresponds to the ruins at Ma’in.

32:6-15 Moses assumed that Reuben and Gad wanted to stay east of the Jordan River to avoid the dangers that awaited the other tribes in Canaan (cp. chs 13-14).

32:12 Caleb is identified as a Kenizzite, a descendant of Esau (cp. Gen 36:10-11). Apparently Caleb was not a native Israelite, but a convert who was so thoroughly integrated into the life and faith of Israel that he was called upon to represent the tribe of Judah when the 12 scouts were sent out to survey the Promised Land (Num 13:6).

32:17
Josh 4:12-13
32:18-19
Josh 13:8, 22:4
32:20
Deut 3:18
32:22
Deut 3:20
Josh 22:4
32:24
Num 30:2
32:33
Num 21:23-26; 34:14
Deut 3:8-17
Josh 12:1-6
32:41
Deut 3:14
Josh 13:30
1 Chr 2:23

¹⁶But they approached Moses and said, "We simply want to build pens for our livestock and fortified towns for our wives and children. ¹⁷Then we will arm ourselves and lead our fellow Israelites into battle until we have brought them safely to their land. Meanwhile, our families will stay in the fortified towns we build here, so they will be safe from any attacks by the local people. ¹⁸We will not return to our homes until all the people of Israel have received their portions of land. ¹⁹But we do not claim any of the land on the other side of the Jordan. We would rather live here on the east side and accept this as our grant of land."

²⁰Then Moses said, "If you keep your word and arm yourselves for the LORD's battles, ²¹and if your troops cross the Jordan and keep fighting until the LORD has driven out his enemies, ²²then you may return when the LORD has conquered the land. You will have fulfilled your duty to the LORD and to the rest of the people of Israel. And the land on the east side of the Jordan will be your property from the LORD. ²³But if you fail to keep your word, then you will have sinned against the LORD, and you may be sure that your sin will find you out. ²⁴Go ahead and build towns for your families and pens for your flocks, but do everything you have promised."

²⁵Then the men of Gad and Reuben replied, "We, your servants, will follow your instructions exactly. ²⁶Our children, wives, flocks, and cattle will stay here in the towns of Gilead. ²⁷But all who are able to bear arms will cross over to fight for the LORD, just as you have said."

²⁸So Moses gave orders to Eleazar the priest, Joshua son of Nun, and the leaders of the clans of Israel. ²⁹He said, "The men of Gad and Reuben who are armed for battle must cross the Jordan with you to fight for the LORD. If they do, give them the land of Gilead as their property when the land is conquered. ³⁰But if they refuse to arm themselves and cross over with you, then they must accept land with the rest of you in the land of Canaan."

³¹The tribes of Gad and Reuben said again, "We are your servants, and we will do as the LORD has commanded! ³²We will cross the Jordan into Canaan fully armed to fight for the LORD, but our property will be here on this side of the Jordan."

³³So Moses assigned land to the tribes of Gad, Reuben, and half the tribe of Manasseh son of Joseph. He gave them the territory of King Sihon of the Amorites and the land of King Og of Bashan—the whole land with its cities and surrounding lands.

³⁴The descendants of Gad built the towns of Dibon, Ataroth, Aroer, ³⁵Atroth-shophan, Jazer, Jogbehah, ³⁶Beth-nimrah, and Beth-haran. These were all fortified towns with pens for their flocks.

³⁷The descendants of Reuben built the towns of Heshbon, Elealeh, Kiriathaim, ³⁸Nebo, Baal-meon, and Sibmah. They changed the names of some of the towns they conquered and rebuilt.

³⁹Then the descendants of Makir of the tribe of Manasseh went to Gilead and conquered it, and they drove out the Amorites living there. ⁴⁰So Moses gave Gilead to the Makirites, descendants of Manasseh, and they settled there. ⁴¹The people of Jair, another clan of the tribe of Manasseh, captured many of the towns in Gilead and changed the name of that region to the Towns of Jair. ⁴²Meanwhile, a man named Nobah captured the town of Kenath and its surrounding villages, and he renamed that area Nobah after himself.

32:16-19 The Reubenites and Gadites assured Moses that they would not discourage their fellow Israelites and would support the war to its very end. There were still dangers east of the Jordan River, so they wanted to safeguard their livestock and families.

32:20-24 Moses accepted the terms offered by Reuben and Gad. If they joined their kindred in fighting the Canaanites, they would fulfill their end of the agreement and could then return to their settlements east of the Jordan (32:22). If they failed to keep their promise, it would be a serious sin against God (32:23).

32:25-27 Reuben and Gad did in fact fulfill the agreement (Josh 4:12-13; 22:1-9).

32:28-30 Israel's leaders—Eleazar, Joshua, and the heads of clans—would help enforce Moses' terms (cp. Josh 22:1-2) since his death was imminent.

32:31-32 Gad and Reuben reaffirmed their pledge before all of Israel's leaders.

32:33-42 The tribes of Gad and Reuben, along with half the tribe of Manasseh, settled east of the Jordan (e.g., Deut 3:12-13; 4:43; 29:7-8). These tribes occupied territory and towns taken from King Sihon the Amorite and King Og of Bashan (32:33; see 21:21-35). • Half the tribe of Manasseh suddenly appears in the discussion of territorial distribution. Part of Manasseh settled east of the Jordan River, while another part of the tribe settled in Canaan, west of the Jordan (cp. Josh 17:1-12; 22:7).

32:35-36 The precise locations of Atroth-shophan, Jogbehah, and Beth-haran are unknown. Aroer was located on the northern rim of the Arnon canyon.

32:37-38 If names of some of the towns were changed to avoid pagan associations (e.g., "Baal," the well-known Canaanite god, or "Nebo," a Babylonian deity; see Isa 46:1), the alternate designations are not provided here.

32:39-42 Three clans of Manasseh conquered part of Gilead and Bashan (cp. Deut 3:13-15; Josh 13:29-31). The location of Nobah remains uncertain (cp. Judg 8:11). • Towns of Jair: Hebrew Havvoth-jair (cp. Deut 3:14; Josh 13:30; Judg 10:4; 1 Kgs 4:13; 1 Chr 2:21-23).

Remembering Israel's Journey

33 This is the route the Israelites followed as they marched out of Egypt under the leadership of Moses and Aaron. ²At the LORD's direction, Moses kept a written record of their progress. These are the stages of their march, identified by the different places where they stopped along the way.

³They set out from the city of Rameses in early spring—on the fifteenth day of the first month—on the morning after the first Passover celebration. The people of Israel left defiantly, in full view of all the Egyptians. ⁴Meanwhile, the Egyptians were burying all their firstborn sons, whom the LORD had killed the night before. The LORD had defeated the gods of Egypt that night with great acts of judgment!

⁵After leaving Rameses, the Israelites set up camp at Succoth.

⁶Then they left Succoth and camped at Etham on the edge of the wilderness.

⁷They left Etham and turned back toward Pi-hahiroth, opposite Baal-zephon, and camped near Migdol.

⁸They left Pi-hahiroth and crossed the Red Sea into the wilderness beyond. Then they traveled for three days into the Etham wilderness and camped at Marah.

⁹They left Marah and camped at Elim, where there were twelve springs of water and seventy palm trees.

¹⁰They left Elim and camped beside the Red Sea.

¹¹They left the Red Sea and camped in the wilderness of Sin.

¹²They left the wilderness of Sin and camped at Dophkah.

¹³They left Dophkah and camped at Alush.

¹⁴They left Alush and camped at Rephidim, where there was no water for the people to drink.

¹⁵They left Rephidim and camped in the wilderness of Sinai.

¹⁶They left the wilderness of Sinai and camped at Kibroth-hattaavah.

¹⁷They left Kibroth-hattaavah and camped at Hazeroth.

¹⁸They left Hazeroth and camped at Rithmah.

¹⁹They left Rithmah and camped at Rimmon-perez.

²⁰They left Rimmon-perez and camped at Libnah.

²¹They left Libnah and camped at Rissah.

²²They left Rissah and camped at Kehelathah.

²³They left Kehelathah and camped at Mount Shepher.

²⁴They left Mount Shepher and camped at Haradah.

²⁵They left Haradah and camped at Makheloth.

²⁶They left Makheloth and camped at Tahath.

²⁷They left Tahath and camped at Terah.

²⁸They left Terah and camped at Mithcah.

²⁹They left Mithcah and camped at Hashmonah.

33:3
Exod 12:33-37

33:5
Exod 13:20

33:7
Exod 14:2, 9

33:8
Exod 14:21-22

33:9
Exod 15:27; 16:1

33:11
Exod 16:1; 17:1

33:14
Exod 17:1-8

33:15
Exod 19:1

33:16-17
Num 11:34-35

33:1-56 This review of the wilderness period contains the longest integrated list of place-names in the OT, from Israel's departure from Egypt (33:3; cp. Exod 12:37) until their arrival in the plains of Moab, opposite Jericho (33:49; cp. 22:1). The forty-two way stations represent far more than a geographical journey; they recall Israel's forty-year spiritual pilgrimage. In their travels between Rameses in Egypt (33:3) and Acacia on the plains of Moab (33:49), Israel finally became the people who could claim the promises God made to Abraham. • This itinerary does not provide enough data to plot an accurate, specific route. Most of the places cannot be identified with certainty; many of the sites appear nowhere else in the Hebrew Bible, and there are not enough clues to pinpoint their locations precisely. See maps "The Exodus: Egypt to Sinai," Exodus Introduction, p. 122; "Israel in the Wilderness," Numbers Introduction, p. 246; and "Balaam Blesses Israel," 22:21-41, p. 289.

33:1-2 The itinerary contains features that reflect detailed record keeping.

This is the only place where Numbers says that Moses kept a record of Israel's history (cp. Exod 24:4).

33:3 the fifteenth day of the first month—on the morning after the first Passover celebration: This day in the ancient Hebrew lunar calendar occurred in late March or in April. • left defiantly: See Exod 14:8.

33:4 defeated the gods of Egypt: See Exod 6:6; 12:12. This historical review draws attention to those special events that forced Pharaoh to allow the Israelite exodus from Egypt.

33:5-15 For Israel's wilderness itinerary between Rameses and the desert of Sinai, see Exod 13:17-19:1.

33:6 Etham: See Exod 13:20.

33:8 They left Pi-hahiroth: As in many Hebrew manuscripts, Samaritan Penta-teuch, and Latin Vulgate (see also 33:7); most Hebrew manuscripts read They left from in front of Hahiroth. • the Red Sea: Literally the sea.

33:9 Elim remains impossible to identify with certainty, but it may have been the oasis (with springs and palm trees) at Wadi Gharandel.

33:10 the Red Sea: Literally the sea of reeds; also in 33:11.

33:11 The geographical name Sin is related to Sinai and should not be confused with the English word sin.

33:14 The entry for Rephidim (see note on 20:13) adds a reminder of Israel's rebellion there (Exod 17:1-7).

33:15 Tradition associates the wilderness of Sinai with a mountainous region in the southern Sinai Peninsula near Jebel Musa (Arabic for "mountain of Moses"), though scholars have suggested other locations.

33:16-36 The journey between Sinai and Kadesh. Our ability to locate the named sites depends on the identification of Mount Sinai.

33:16-17 Kibroth-hattaavah . . . Hazeroth: See 11:34-12:16.

33:18-30 Most of the place-names in this section appear nowhere else in the OT.

33:30
Deut 10:6

33:33
Deut 10:7

33:36
Num 20:1

33:38
Num 20:25-28

33:40
Num 21:1

33:43
Num 21:10-11

33:47
Num 27:12

33:48
Num 22:1

33:49
Num 25:1

33:52
Exod 23:24; 34:13
Deut 7:2-5, 25-26

33:54
Num 26:53-56

33:55
Josh 23:13
Ps 106:34-36

30 They left Hashmonah and camped at Moseroth.

31 They left Moseroth and camped at Bene-jaakan.

32 They left Bene-jaakan and camped at Hor-haggidgad.

33 They left Hor-haggidgad and camped at Jotbathah.

34 They left Jotbathah and camped at Abronah.

35 They left Abronah and camped at Ezion-geber.

36 They left Ezion-geber and camped at Kadesh in the wilderness of Zin.

37 They left Kadesh and camped at Mount Hor, at the border of Edom. ³⁸While they were at the foot of Mount Hor, Aaron the priest was directed by the LORD to go up the mountain, and there he died. This happened in midsummer, on the first day of the fifth month of the fortieth year after Israel's departure from Egypt. ³⁹Aaron was 123 years old when he died there on Mount Hor.

⁴⁰At that time the Canaanite king of Arad, who lived in the Negev in the land of Canaan, heard that the people of Israel were approaching his land.

⁴¹Meanwhile, the Israelites left Mount Hor and camped at Zalmonah.

⁴²Then they left Zalmonah and camped at Punon.

⁴³They left Punon and camped at Oboth.

⁴⁴They left Oboth and camped at Iye-abarim on the border of Moab.

⁴⁵They left Iye-abarim and camped at Dibon-gad.

⁴⁶They left Dibon-gad and camped at Almon-diblathaim.

⁴⁷They left Almon-diblathaim and camped in the mountains east of the river, near Mount Nebo.

⁴⁸They left the mountains east of the river and camped on the plains of Moab beside the Jordan River, across from Jericho.

⁴⁹Along the Jordan River they camped from Beth-jeshimoth as far as the meadows of Acacia on the plains of Moab.

Commands for Israel after They Enter Canaan

⁵⁰While they were camped near the Jordan River on the plains of Moab opposite Jericho, the LORD said to Moses, ⁵¹"Give the following instructions to the people of Israel: When you cross the Jordan River into the land of Canaan, ⁵²you must drive out all the people living there. You must destroy all their carved and molten images and demolish all their pagan shrines. ⁵³Take possession of the land and settle in it, because I have given it to you to occupy. ⁵⁴You must distribute the land among the clans by sacred lot and in proportion to their size. A larger portion of land will be allotted to each of the larger clans, and a smaller portion will be allotted to each of the smaller clans. The decision of the sacred lot is final. In this way, the portions of land will be divided among your ancestral tribes. ⁵⁵But if you fail to drive out the people who live in the land, those who remain will be like splinters in your eyes and thorns in your sides. They will harass you in the land where you live. ⁵⁶And I will do to you what I had planned to do to them."

33:30-31 Moseroth was also called "Moserah" (Deut 10:6). This is where Aaron died and was buried (cp. Num 20:22-29; 33:37-39).

33:35 Ezion-geber (cp. Deut 2:8) was located near the northern end of the Gulf of Aqaba.

33:36 Israel was residing in Kadesh (13:26; 27:14; cp. "Kadesh-barnea," 32:8) when the spies reported on their trip through Canaan.

33:37-49 Israel traveled from Kadesh to the plains of Moab.

33:38-39 These details about Aaron's death (cp. 20:22-29) and his age show that he was about three years older than Moses (cp. Deut 31:1-2; 34:7).

33:38 the first day of the fifth month: This day in the ancient Hebrew lunar calendar occurred in July or August.

33:42-49 Good candidates for the locations of most of these sites are found east of the Jordan between the southern Arabah and the plains of Moab, opposite Jericho.

33:45 As in 33:44; Hebrew reads lyim, another name for Iye-abarim.

33:47 Almon-diblathaim is probably the same place as "Beth-diblathaim" (Jer 48:22), also mentioned in the famous Mesha Inscription (see note on 21:26).

• the mountains east of the river: Or the mountains of Abarim; also in 33:48.

33:49 as far as the meadows of Acacia: Hebrew as far as Abel-shittim.

33:50-56 After the Israelites reached the plains of Moab opposite Jericho (22:1), they camped there for the rest of the period covered in Numbers (see 36:13) and Deuteronomy (Deut 34:8). While they were camped there, God gave Israel specific instructions for dealing with the population of Canaan.

The Lord commanded his people to destroy the people groups that occupied Canaan and to obliterate all vestiges of their religious practices (cp. Exod 23:23-33; 34:11-17; Deut 7:1-6; 12:2-4; Josh 23:4-8). Moses' commands included the destruction of their carved and molten images (cp. Lev 26:1) and the demolition of their pagan shrines (see Deut 12:2-3).

33:54 distribute the land . . . by sacred lot: See 26:53-56. Chapter 34 describes the boundaries of the land of Canaan, which they would soon conquer and divide.

33:55-56 Israel failed to carry out God's instructions (33:51-53) and suffered the consequences predicted here (see Judg 1:1-2:5; 2:11-3:6). Israel's enemies in the period of the Judges were like splinters and thorns (33:55), harassing them militarily and spiritually (cp. 2 Cor 12:7).

Boundaries of the Land

34 Then the LORD said to Moses, ²"Give these instructions to the Israelites: When you come into the land of Canaan, which I am giving you as your special possession, these will be the boundaries. ³The southern portion of your country will extend from the wilderness of Zin, along the edge of Edom. The southern boundary will begin on the east at the Dead Sea. ⁴It will then run south past Scorpion Pass in the direction of Zin. Its southernmost point will be Kadesh-barnea, from which it will go to Hazar-addar, and on to Azmon. ⁵From Azmon the boundary will turn toward the Brook of Egypt and end at the Mediterranean Sea.

⁶"Your western boundary will be the coastline of the Mediterranean Sea.

⁷"Your northern boundary will begin at the Mediterranean Sea and run east to Mount Hor, ⁸then to Lebo-hamath, and on through Zedad ⁹and Ziphron to Hazar-enan. This will be your northern boundary.

¹⁰"The eastern boundary will start at Hazar-enan and run south to Shepham, ¹¹then down to Riblah on the east side of Ain. From there the boundary will run down along the eastern edge of the Sea of Galilee, ¹²and then along the Jordan River to the Dead Sea. These are the boundaries of your land."

¹³Then Moses told the Israelites, "This territory is the homeland you are to divide among yourselves by sacred lot. The LORD has commanded that the land be divided among the nine and a half remaining tribes. ¹⁴The families of the tribes of Reuben, Gad, and half the tribe of Manasseh have already received their grants of land ¹⁵on the east side of the Jordan River, across from Jericho toward the sunrise."

Leaders to Divide the Land

¹⁶And the LORD said to Moses, ¹⁷"Eleazar the priest and Joshua son of Nun are the men designated to divide the grants of land among the people. ¹⁸Enlist one leader from each tribe to help them with the task. ¹⁹These are the tribes and the names of the leaders:

Tribe	Leader
Judah	Caleb son of Jephunneh
²⁰ Simeon	Shemuel son of Ammihud
²¹ Benjamin	Elidad son of Kishon
²² Dan	Bukki son of Jogli
²³ Manasseh son of Joseph	Hanniel son of Ephod
²⁴ Ephraim son of Joseph	Kemuel son of Shiptan

34:2
Gen 17:8
Deut 1:7-8
Ezek 47:15

34:3
Josh 15:1-4

34:4
Num 32:8

34:6
Josh 15:4

34:7
Ezek 47:15-17

34:10
Josh 15:5

34:11
2 Kgs 23:33; 25:6
Jer 52:9

34:13
Josh 14:1-2

34:14
Num 32:33

34:18
Num 1:4, 16

34:1-29 Chapter 34 gives the borders of the land of Canaan, which Israel was to settle according to the guidelines in 26:52-56. Ever since the call of Abraham (Gen 12:1-7), the Promised Land of Canaan had stood at the heart of the OT story. Though an entire generation of Hebrews died in the wilderness because they refused to believe the report of the faithful spies (ch 13), God had reaffirmed his promise of land (33:53). Here, God reviewed the plan and identified the boundaries of the Promised Land in an idealized form (cp. Josh 13-19; Ezek 47-48). OT Israel did not possess the exact extent of the territory described here (though it came close in the days of David and Solomon; e.g., 2 Sam 24:1-9), but these borders describe the province of Canaan as generally defined by Egyptian texts dating 1500-1200 BC (the period of the Hebrew invasion). The region actually occupied by Israel changed from time to time.

34:3-5 Portions of the southern boundary of Canaan were familiar to Israel from earlier experiences in the wilderness of Zin on the northwestern edge of Edom (see chs 13-14). This southern frontier ran east to west in an arc from the southern end of the Dead Sea (literally Salt Sea; also in 34:12) to the Mediterranean Sea (literally the sea; also in 34:6, 7).

34:4 From the southern end of the Dead Sea, the boundary ran through Scorpion Pass (or the ascent of Akabbim) toward Zin (cp. 13:21). The southernmost point was Kadesh-barnea (cp. 13:26). Hazar-addar and Azmon are unknown.

34:5 The Brook of Egypt (not to be confused with the Nile) designates the wadi that separates the land of Canaan from Egypt; it drains toward the Mediterranean Sea (cp. 1 Kgs 8:65). In OT times, Israel exercised little control over this southern coastal region.

34:6-9 The natural western boundary of Canaan was the Mediterranean coast (34:6). The northern border began at the Mediterranean and ran eastward to Mount Hor somewhere in the Lebanon range (not the place of Aaron's death, 20:22-29). • Lebo-hamath: Cp. 13:21; 1 Kgs 8:65; Amos 6:14.

34:11 Sea of Galilee: Hebrew Sea of Kinnereth. Its eastern edge (literally shoulder) is the ridge that rises rather abruptly from its eastern shoreline.

34:12 The natural eastern border of Canaan followed the Jordan River down to the Dead Sea. As part of the Great Rift Valley, the Jordan and the Dead Sea were formidable, though not impassable, barriers. This boundary excluded the lands east of the Jordan that were occupied by Reuben, Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh. Those settlements were not part of Canaan per se and stood outside the Promised Land as originally defined.

34:13-15 you are to divide . . . by sacred lot: Cp. 26:55-56. Because of the settlement of two and a half tribes (Reuben, Gad, and half the tribe of Manasseh) in Transjordan (cp. 32:33), Canaan was to be divided among the nine and a half remaining tribes.

34:16-29 Eleazar (the high priest) and Joshua (the political leader) were to divide the land among the remaining tribes. The ten tribal leaders who would help them are listed in 34:19-28.

34:19-28 Caleb son of Jephunneh is the only tribal leader who appears elsewhere in Numbers (13:6, 30; 14:6-38; see also "Caleb" at Josh 14:6-15, p. 399). Nearly all of the older generation had already died during the wilderness period (26:63-65), but the two faithful spies were still leading their people.

35:1-34 The tribe of Levi received no territory, so ch 35 describes their allotment of 48 towns dispersed among the territories of Israel's other tribes (see Josh 21; see also Lev 25:32-34; 1 Chr 13:2; 2 Chr 11:14). Just as the Levites had lived in the center of the Israelite camp during the wilderness period (cp. 2:17), in the Promised Land they were to live among the other tribes and have a leavening influence among them (see Deut 33:9-10; 2 Chr 17:7-9; 19:8-11; 35:3). The cities and their surrounding pastureland were not a "homeland" (cp. 18:23; 26:62), but only a tiny fraction of the Canaanite territory dispersed among the other tribes.

35:2
Lev 25:32-34
Josh 14:3-4

35:6
Josh 20:2-9; 21:3, 13,
21-38

35:7
Josh 21:3-42

35:8
Num 26:54

35:11
Num 35:22-25

35:12
Josh 20:3
^aga'al (1350)
• Ps 77:15

25 Zebulun Elizaphan son of Parnach
26 Issachar Paltiel son of Azzan
27 Asher. Ahihud son of Shelomi
28 Naphtali Pedahel son of Ammihud

29 These are the men the LORD has appointed to divide the grants of land in Canaan among the Israelites."

Towns for the Levites

35 While Israel was camped beside the Jordan on the plains of Moab across from Jericho, the LORD said to Moses, "Command the people of Israel to give to the Levites from their property certain towns to live in, along with the surrounding pasturelands. ³These towns will be for the Levites to live in, and the surrounding lands will provide pasture for their cattle, flocks, and other livestock. ⁴The pastureland assigned to the Levites around these towns will extend 1,500 feet from the town walls in every direction. ⁵Measure off 3,000 feet outside the town walls in every direction—east, south, west, north—with the town at the center. This area will serve as the larger pastureland for the towns.

⁶"Six of the towns you give the Levites will be cities of refuge, where a person who has accidentally killed someone can flee for safety. In addition, give them forty-two other towns. ⁷In all, forty-eight towns with the surrounding pastureland will be given to the Levites. ⁸These towns will come from the property of the people of Israel. The larger tribes will give more towns to the Levites, while the smaller tribes will give fewer. Each tribe will give property in proportion to the size of its land."

Cities of Refuge

⁹The LORD said to Moses, ¹⁰"Give the following instructions to the people of Israel.

"When you cross the Jordan into the land of Canaan, ¹¹designate cities of refuge to which people can flee if they have killed someone accidentally. ¹²These cities will be places of protection from a dead person's relatives who want to ^aavenge the death. The slayer must not be put to death before Boundaries of the Promised Land (34:1-15). The boundaries of the land allotted to Israel in ch 34 are shown, along with the area east of the Jordan (Transjordan) occupied by Reuben, Gad, and Manasseh (see 32:1-5, 33-42). Cp. Josh 13:8-20:9.

feet on each side. Another solution is to see a distinction between pastureland (35:4) and larger pastureland (35:5) around the town. On the basis of this text, some Jewish interpreters restricted the distance that one could walk on the Sabbath to 3,000 feet (2,000 cubits) from home.

35:6-34 Six of the Levites' towns had a special purpose as cities of refuge, places where a person who has accidentally killed someone can flee for safety. This unusual institution illustrates the humanitarian aspect of Hebrew law (see also Deut 4:41-43; 19:1-13; Josh 20:1-9). These six Levitical towns provided a safe haven in cases of accidental or involuntary manslaughter (cp. Exod 21:12-14). Just as the forty-eight Levite towns were widely distributed across Israel's territories, the six cities of refuge were dispersed so they would be widely accessible (see Josh 20:7-8; see map, p. 397). These designated settlements supplemented the role of the altar as a temporary place of asylum (e.g., 1 Kgs 1:50-53; 2:28-34; cp. Exod 21:14). Other ancient peoples provided special places of asylum or refuge, often at the altar (see Exod 21:12-14; 1 Kgs 2:28-34), but only ancient Israel established whole settlements as places of sanctuary, reflecting a special interest in social justice.

35:12 protection from a dead person's relatives who want to avenge the death: Justice was enacted through vengeance at the hand of a designated avenger, usually a relative.

35:4-5 Readers have long attempted to explain the alleged contradiction between the 1,500 feet (Hebrew 1,000 cubits [460 meters]) and the 3,000 feet

(Hebrew 2,000 cubits [920 meters]). If the Hebrews conceived of a town as a fixed point, then the square of territory around each town would measure 3,000 being tried by the community. ¹³Designate six cities of refuge for yourselves, ¹⁴three on the east side of the Jordan River and three on the west in the land of Canaan. ¹⁵These cities are for the protection of Israelites, foreigners living among you, and traveling merchants. Anyone who accidentally kills someone may flee there for safety.

¹⁶But if someone strikes and kills another person with a piece of iron, it is murder, and the murderer must be executed. ¹⁷Or if someone with a stone in his hand strikes and kills another person, it is murder, and the murderer must be put to death. ¹⁸Or if someone strikes and kills another person with a wooden object, it is murder, and the murderer must be put to death. ¹⁹The victim's nearest relative is responsible for putting the murderer to death. When they meet, the avenger must put the murderer to death. ²⁰So if someone hates another person and waits in ambush, then pushes him or throws something at him and he dies, it is murder. ²¹Or if someone hates another person and hits him with a fist and he dies, it is murder. In such cases, the avenger must put the murderer to death when they meet.

²²But suppose someone pushes another person without having shown previous hostility, or throws something that unintentionally hits another person, ²³or accidentally drops a huge stone on someone, though they were not enemies, and the person dies. ²⁴If this should happen, the community must follow these regulations in making a judgment between the slayer and the avenger, the victim's nearest relative: ²⁵The community must protect the slayer from the avenger and must escort the slayer back to live in the city of refuge to which he fled. There he must remain until the death of the high priest, who was anointed with the sacred oil.

²⁶But if the slayer ever leaves the limits of the city of refuge, ²⁷and the avenger finds him outside the city and kills him, it will not

35:16
Exod 21:12-14
Lev 24:17

The Cities of Refuge (35:6-34)

Deut 19:1-13
Josh 20:1-9; 21:13,
21, 27, 32, 38
1 Kgs 1:50-53;
2:28-34

The cities of refuge were built to protect innocent people from blood revenge. An avenger had the legal right to put a murderer to death (35:19; see Gen 9:6). If a person caused someone's death accidentally, the slayer fled to a city of refuge to find temporary safety while awaiting trial (35:22-28). The six cities of refuge were distributed across the Hebrew territory so that any Israelite could seek asylum.

If, after the trial, the fugitive was convicted of murder (instead of involuntary manslaughter), he was turned over to the avenger and received his due punishment (Deut 19:12). If he was found innocent of murder, the slayer remained in the city of refuge, where he was granted asylum. When the high priest died, the slayer was free to return home and was no longer subject to blood revenge. This merciful legal arrangement protected the land from further pollution by innocent blood (see 35:33).

It was not acceptable to pay a fine to atone for the death of another human being, even if that death was not premeditated (35:31-33). Human life was too precious to be ransomed with a simple payment. When a human being is killed, whether deliberately or by accident, it results in alienation or exile as all sin does. Atonement does not come easily, whether in ancient Israelite times or in our own day; each person is in need of atonement to restore his or her relationship with God (see Rom 3:23-26). Jesus, the Son of God, provides this reconciliation through his work as a great High Priest who offered himself as the ultimate sacrifice (see Heb 4-9).

35:15-24 The OT makes a clear distinction between deliberate murder and involuntary manslaughter (35:11, 22-23; Exod 21:12-14; cp. 15:22-31). Murder required a penalty of execution, but an accidental death did not. The cities of refuge provided protection only for those who killed another person by accident. • The use of a weapon was proof of malicious intent.

35:15 Israelites, foreigners living among you, and traveling merchants. Anyone: The same law applied impartially to everyone; Israel had one standard of justice, not two (one for citizens, another for noncitizens), as in many societies (see also Lev 19:15; Deut 1:16-17; 1 Tim 5:21; Jas 2:2-4).

35:19 The avenger was the victim's closest relative; he was responsible for putting the murderer to death, carrying out the vengeance that justice required (Gen 9:6).

35:22-23 Here are some instances in which a victim died but was not murdered through an intentional act of violence. The cities of refuge were created as places of safety for people who were responsible for such accidental deaths.

35:24-25 If the slayer was cleared of the murder charge in his trial or hearing before the community (cp. Deut 19:11-12), he had to remain in the city of refuge to which he fled, and the avenger was not supposed to seek revenge, because the slayer was not guilty of murder. • until the death of the high priest: The priest's death probably provided a kind of expiation for the blood that had been shed; even though the slayer was innocent of murder, human bloodshed had polluted the land (35:33; cp. Gen 4:10-11).

35:26-29 The slayer still suffered a penalty for the death he had caused since he was restricted to a city of refuge until he or the high priest died. But after the death of the high priest, the slayer was free to return to his own home, and the avenger was not to seek revenge.

35:30 All murderers were condemned 35:30

Deut 17:6-7; 19:15
Matt 18:16
2 Cor 13:1
Heb 10:28 35:33
kapar* (3722)
• 1 Sam 3:14

35:34
Lev 18:25

36:1-2
Num 27:1-11

36:8
1 Chr 23:22

36:11
Num 26:33; 27:1

36:13
Lev 7:38; 27:34

be considered murder. ²⁸The slayer should have stayed inside the city of refuge until the death of the high priest. But after the death of the high priest, the slayer may return to his own property. ²⁹These are legal requirements for you to observe from generation to generation, wherever you may live.

³⁰"All murderers must be put to death, but only if evidence is presented by more than one witness. No one may be put to death on the testimony of only one witness. ³¹Also, you must never accept a ransom payment for the life of someone judged guilty of murder and subject to execution; murderers must always be put to death. ³²And never accept a ransom payment from someone who has fled to a city of refuge, allowing a slayer to return to his property before the death of the high priest. ³³This will ensure that the land where you live will not be polluted, for murder pollutes the land. And no sacrifice except the execution of the murderer can "purify the land from murder. ³⁴You must not defile the land where you live, for I live there myself. I am the LORD, who lives among the people of Israel."

Women Who Inherit Property

36 Then the heads of the clans of Gilead—descendants of Makir, son of Manasseh, son of Joseph—came to Moses and the family leaders of Israel with a petition. ²They said, "Sir, the LORD instructed you to divide the land by sacred lot among the people of Israel. You were told by the LORD to give the grant of land owned by our brother Zelophehad to his daughters. ³But if they marry men from another tribe, their grants of land will go with them to the tribe into which they marry. In this way, the total area of our tribal land will be reduced. ⁴Then when the Year of Jubilee comes, their portion of land will be added to that of the new tribe, causing it to be lost forever to our ancestral tribe."

⁵So Moses gave the Israelites this command from the LORD: "The claim of the men of the tribe of Joseph is legitimate. ⁶This is what the LORD commands concerning the daughters of Zelophehad: Let them marry anyone they like, as long as it is within their own ancestral tribe. ⁷None of the territorial land may pass from tribe to tribe, for all the land given to each tribe must remain within the tribe to which it was first allotted. ⁸The daughters throughout the tribes of Israel who are in line to inherit property must marry within their tribe, so that all the Israelites will keep their ancestral property. ⁹No grant of land may pass from one tribe to another; each tribe of Israel must keep its allotted portion of land."

¹⁰The daughters of Zelophehad did as the LORD commanded Moses. ¹¹Mahlah, Tirzah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Noah all married cousins on their father's side. ¹²They married into the clans of Manasseh son of Joseph. Thus, their inheritance of land remained within their ancestral tribe.

¹³These are the commands and regulations that the LORD gave to the people of Israel through Moses while they were camped on the plains of Moab beside the Jordan River, across from Jericho.

to death, but their conviction required a high standard of evidence—the testimony of two or more witnesses (cp. Deut 17:6; 19:15).

35:31-32 The payment of a ransom (monetary compensation) to free a convicted murderer from execution was prohibited, since the death penalty was required (cp. 2 Sam 21:2-9). Similarly, the slayer in an involuntary manslaughter could not pay a ransom to get around his confinement in a city of refuge.

35:33 for murder pollutes the land: If the slayer in either a homicide or involuntary manslaughter were not dealt with as commanded, God regarded the land as polluted, because human bloodshed required death (Gen 4:10-11; 9:6; contrast Exod 21:29-30; see also Lev 18:28; Ezek 36:17-18; Hos 4:2-3). In its stern warning about the evil of murder, this entire passage highlights the absolute value of human life (Exod 20:13).
* can purify the land from murder: Or can make atonement for murder.

35:34 The Lord lived among the people of Israel even as the Tabernacle stood in the middle of the Hebrew camp (see chs 1-4). This meant that they must not defile their land by ignoring God's commands or by failing to uphold justice (cp. 5:1-4).

36:1-13 The five daughters of Zelophehad had petitioned for, and had been granted, equitable property rights (27:1-11). Here the ramifications of that decision are discussed.

36:1-4 Women who inherited land might marry men from another tribe; their land would then be lost by their ancestral tribe and transferred to their husband's tribe. The Year of Jubilee (Lev 25:8-55) normally provided the means for land to return to its original owner, but it pertained only to land that was sold, not to land acquired through marriage.

36:5 The Lord readily provided the justice that the men of the tribe of Joseph (i.e., of the tribe of Manasseh, the son of Joseph) sought in their petition.

36:6-9 These stipulations resolved the quandary, guaranteeing the stability and continuity of the tribal land allotments.

36:10-12 As they had been instructed, Zelophehad's five daughters all married cousins on their father's side, keeping their father's allotment within his clan. Marriage to a first cousin was acceptable in ancient Hebrew society (cp. Lev 18, 20; see also 1 Chr 23:22) as well as in other Near Eastern cultures.

36:13 Commands and regulations might refer to legal pronouncements from the whole book (cp. Lev 27:34) or only to those given on the plains of Moab (chs 26-36). * All that remained to make the Israelites ready to enter Canaan was for Moses to remind them of their history and covenant obligations—the subjects of the book of Deuteronomy.

THE BOOK OF

Deuteronomy

God first revealed Israel's national "constitution" to Moses at Sinai (Exod 20–23). The great leader Moses was now about to die. God had appointed a younger man, Joshua, to replace Moses, but he was not yet fully tested. Israel had been rescued from slavery in Egypt and miraculously preserved through forty years of wandering in the wilderness. The Israelites now stood on the verge of the land promised to them, but it was inhabited by powerful and hostile enemies. Although God had been faithful in the past, the future seemed uncertain. Deuteronomy is the story of Israel's renewed covenant with God—a covenant that would guide Israel to God's blessings throughout the remainder of their history as a nation.

SETTING

Forty years after their exodus from Egypt, the Israelites arrived at the plains of Moab, just across the Jordan River from Jericho. After four decades of wandering, they were poised to cross the Jordan, conquer the Canaanite nations, and settle their land in fulfillment of God's promises to Abraham. First, however, God would renew his covenant with them.

Moses was aware that he would die before leading his people to their destination. However, prior to his death, he needed

◀ Key Places in Deuteronomy. While Israel was camped at ACACIA GROVE on the plains of MOAB (34:1, 8; see Num 22:1; 33:49; Josh 13:32), Moses gave his people the messages now recorded in Deuteronomy. In these messages, Moses mentioned many of the places where Israel had traveled. For the details of Israel's route, see maps "The Exodus: Egypt to Sinai," p. 122; "Israel in the Wilderness," p. 246; and "Journey toward the Promised Land," p. 285.

AMMON: 2:19-21, 37; Num 21:24; Judg 11:4-36; 1 Sam 10:27-11:11

ARABAH VALLEY: 2:8

AROER: 2:36; 3:12; 4:48; Josh 12:2; Isa 17:2

BASHAN: 3:1-14; 29:7-8; Num 21:33-35; Mic 7:14

BEZER: 4:43

EDOM: 2:4; 23:7-8; Num 20:14-21; 24:18; Obadiah

EDREI: 1:4; 3:1; Num 21:33

GOLAN: 4:43

HORMAH: 1:44; Num 14:45; 21:3

JAHAZ: 2:32; Num 21:23

KADESH-BARNEA: 1:2, 19, 46; 2:14; 9:23; 32:51; 33:2

MOAB: 1:5; 2:8-9, 29; 23:3, 6; 34:1-8

MOUNT EBAL, MOUNT GERIZIM: 11:29; 27:4-26; Josh 8:30-35

RAMOTH-GILEAD: 4:43; 1 Kgs 22:3-29 to remind the people of the terms of the covenant that God had revealed to him. The initial covenant, suitable for Israel while en route to Canaan, had been made thirty-eight years earlier at Sinai (Exod 19–24). Now, in anticipation of Israel's establishment as a settled community, the original covenant must be restated and enlarged. The book of Deuteronomy is this restatement.

OUTLINE

1:1–5

Preamble: Narrative Setting

1:6–4:40

First Address: Historical Review

4:41–49

Narrative Interlude

5:1–26:19

Second Address: The Covenant Text

27:1–30:20

Third Address: Ratification of the Covenant

31:1–34:12

Moses' Farewell

SUMMARY

Deuteronomy is Moses' farewell address to the tribes he had served as prophetic leader. The book includes narratives, exhortations, warnings, instructions, and promises of blessing for Israel's faithfulness. Using elements common to covenants between nations, Deuteronomy is composed as a treaty text. It is similar to other treaties known from ancient Near Eastern sources, particularly from Hittite archives. Moses, clearly aware of the patterns used in typical covenants, communicates God's purposes to Israel in a familiar literary and legal form.

Paying careful attention to the formal structures of Deuteronomy yields a great deal of insight into the theological nature of the book. As a covenant text, it underscores the seriousness of God's promises and of Israel's need (as the covenant partner) to obey the terms of the treaty so that God can fulfill his promises. As a farewell speech, Deuteronomy is rooted in a historical and geographical setting.

The following outline reflects the analysis of Deuteronomy as a covenant document:

1:1–5 Preamble to the covenant

1:6–4:49 Historical prologue

5:1–26:15 Stipulations of the covenant

26:16–29:1 Blessings for obedience and curses for disobedience

29:2–30:20 Review of the covenant and choice between life and death

31:1–29 Deposit of the text of the covenant

31:30–32:43 Witnesses of the covenant

The outline embedded in the Bible text reflects Deuteronomy's structure both as a covenant text and as a farewell speech and series of sermons.

AUTHORSHIP

Long-standing Jewish and Christian tradition holds that Moses wrote Deuteronomy. Deuteronomy 1:1 also asserts that Moses is the book's author. Both the OT and NT acknowledge Moses' authorship of the book (see Josh 1:7–8; Judg 1:20; 3:4; 1 Kgs 2:3; 2 Kgs 14:6; 2 Chr 25:4; Ezra 3:2; Matt 19:7; Mark 12:19; Luke 20:28; Acts 3:22; Rom 10:19; 1 Cor 9:9).

TIMELINE

1526 / 1350 bc*

Moses is born

1446 / 1270 bc

*Israel leaves Egypt (the Exodus), moves to Mount Sinai
The covenant at Sinai*

1406 / 1230 bc

Deuteronomy is written

Moses dies

Israel enters Canaan

1376 / 1200 bc

Joshua dies

Beginning of the Judges period

* The two dates harmonize with the traditional "early" chronology and a more recent "late" chronology of the Exodus. All dates are approximate. Please see "Chronology: Abraham to Joshua," p. 118.

Deuteronomy is one of the greatest books of the Old Testament. Its influence on the domestic and personal religion of all ages has not been surpassed by any other book of the Bible.

J. A. Thompson
Deuteronomy

*Though the scene is set more than three thousand years in the past, Deuteronomy
is still a book of considerable contemporary relevance.
Then, as now, the surrounding world was experiencing a time of change, of political tension and military engagement. . . .
The book provides a paradigm for the kingdom of God in the modern world; it is a time for renewing commitment within the New Covenant and turning to the future with a view to possessing the promise of God.*

Peter C. Craigie
The Book of Deuteronomy

However, during the past 200 years, critical scholars have denied that Moses wrote Deuteronomy. Some scholars identify Deuteronomy as the scroll found in the Temple in King Josiah's time (about 621 BC; see 2 Kgs 22:8-20); consequently, critical scholars date Deuteronomy to that time, and attribute editorial additions as late as the period following the Exile (538 BC and later).

Archaeologists have discovered Hittite treaty texts originating in the Late Bronze Age (1500–1200 BC), about the time of Moses. These texts provide support for an early authorship of Deuteronomy (see "Literary Form," below). Some scholars compare Deuteronomy to seventh-century Assyrian treaty texts that are closer to Josiah's time. However, the Hittite texts are more similar to Deuteronomy in structure and content than the Assyrian examples, making it less likely that Deuteronomy was written during the later period.

In short, there is no good reason to deny that Moses wrote the book shortly before his death. The account of his death (34:5-12) was added later. See further "Introduction to the Pentateuch: Authorship," p. 11.

LITERARY FORM

Deuteronomy's structure resembles other treaty texts drawn up between various nations in the period of the Exodus and the conquest. Some of these were treaties between equals, while others were suzerain-vassal treaties. In a suzerain-vassal treaty, the superior party (the suzerain, or "Great King") would make demands of and offer promises to subject peoples (the vassals) in return for their unqualified obedience.

Deuteronomy is a suzerain-vassal treaty between God and Israel. God called the Israelites out of bondage in Egypt to be his servant people. He took the lead in the relationship, determined the terms for maintaining the treaty, and offered promises of blessing if Israel obeyed and judgment if the nation disobeyed.

Moses' use of the suzerain-vassal treaty format makes it clear that Deuteronomy is a covenant text. God chose Israel to be his special people. It was not the covenant that made them so, for they were already identified as God's people before the Exodus (Exod 4:22-23). Rather, the text of the covenant regulated their behavior. By reviewing the covenant with this generation of Israelites, Moses ensured that they would enter the Promised Land as God's covenant people.

MEANING AND MESSAGE

The covenant is the leading theme of Deuteronomy—and perhaps of the entire OT. The covenant provided the means for the Lord to unite himself to Israel. The covenant stated that the Lord was ancient Israel's God, Israel was God's people, and the relationship between them would achieve God's redemptive purposes. This awesome privilege also included profound responsibility. Could Israel conduct itself in a manner that would guarantee the success of its mission? What standards of behavior would enable them to fulfill their heavenly calling?

Israel had the freedom to accept or reject God's covenant (Exod 19:7-8). Once accepted, the blessings and curses within the covenant depended on whether Israel obeyed or disobeyed (28:1-6, 15-19). God promised that even disobedience could be overcome if the nation would repent, return, and be restored to covenant fellowship (30:1-10; Lev 26:40-45).

This covenant did not make Israel God's people; God's promise of a national offspring to Abraham had already done that (Gen 17:1-8). This document reiterated the covenant made at Sinai, where Israel was given the privilege of serving the Lord as a kingdom of priests (Exod 19:4-6). If Israel could remain faithful to its role as a "kingdom of priests and my holy nation," it would direct God's blessings to the whole world.

The Israelites were the unique people of God. God made promises to the nation's forefathers that he fulfilled in the Exodus and in creating the nation. He was ready to solidify Israel in the conquest of the Promised Land and move the nation forward until his purposes were complete. The book of Deuteronomy established the principles of faithful life and ministry that would ensure Israel's ongoing relationship with God in achieving those objectives. Israel had the indescribable honor of partnering with Almighty God to bring about his plan for the ages.

1:1
Deut 2:8, 24; 3:3; 4:1, 44-46
1:4
Num 21:24, 33
1:6
Num 10:11-13

1. PREAMBLE: NARRATIVE SETTING (1:1-5)

1 These are the words that Moses spoke to all the people of Israel while they were in the wilderness east of the Jordan River. They were camped in the Jordan Valley near Suph, between Paran on one side and Tophel, Laban, Hazeroth, and Di-zahab on the other.

²Normally it takes only eleven days to travel from Mount Sinai to Kadesh-barnea, going by way of Mount Seir. ³But forty years after the Israelites left Egypt, on the first day of the eleventh month, Moses addressed the people of Israel, telling them everything the Lord had commanded him to say. ⁴This took place after he had defeated King Sihon of the Amorites, who ruled in Heshbon, and at Edrei had defeated King Og of Bashan, who ruled in Ashtaroth.

⁵While the Israelites were in the land of Moab east of the Jordan River, Moses carefully explained the Lord's instructions as follows.

2. FIRST ADDRESS: HISTORICAL REVIEW (1:6-4:40)

God's Guidance of Israel (1:6-3:29)
The Command to Leave Sinai

⁶"When we were at Mount Sinai, the Lord our God said to us, 'You have stayed at this

1:1-5 Ancient Near Eastern treaty texts usually began with a brief section introducing the partners in the covenant, their relationship to each other, and their immediate ancestry. This introduction provides information primarily about the social and geographic setting.

1:1 These are the words that Moses spoke: Although Deuteronomy is modeled after a covenant or treaty document, it is essentially a series of addresses delivered by Moses to the assembly of Israel. • the Jordan Valley (Hebrew the Arabah; also in 1:7): Arabah is a common word usually translated "wilderness" or "desert." It generally refers to the Great Rift Valley that extends from the Sea of Galilee southward to the Red Sea (the Gulf of Aqaba). In this context, the Arabah is the wasteland of the lower Jordan River, just north of the Dead Sea.

1:2 The distance from Mount Sinai in the southern part of the Sinai Peninsula to Kadesh-barnea (see note on 1:19) in the north is only 150 miles. Even the massive Hebrew population could easily have covered this distance in eleven days had they proceeded without detour or interruption. Their rebellion against the Lord resulted in a 38-year delay and a circuitous route (2:14; Num 14:34). • Mount Sinai (Hebrew Horeb, another name for Sinai; also in 1:6, 19): Horeb is the name consistently used in Deuteronomy for the sacred mountain where the covenant was given. Its likely connection to a word meaning "drought" or "devastation" suggests the conditions the people of Israel had to face. • The way of Mount Seir was the route from Mount Sinai to Mount Seir. Seir, another name for Edom, was located east-southeast of the Dead Sea. The ordinary route took travelers through the Arabah north from the Gulf of Aqaba and then west to Kadesh-barnea, just south of the Dead Sea.

1:3 forty years after the Israelites left Egypt: Literally In the fortieth year, on the first day of the eleventh month. This day in the ancient Hebrew lunar calendar occurred in January or February (see chart, "Israel's Annual Calendar," p. 145).

1:4 The Amorites were a Semitic people, linguistically related to the Canaanites.

They originally lived in what is now north-central Syria, but they had migrated into Canaan to settle on both sides of the Jordan River, primarily in the hill country. At the time of Israel's conquest, many Amorites lived in Transjordan (east of the Jordan), north of the Arnon River, with their capital at Heshbon (see also note on Num 21:13). The Israelites had already displaced many of them before this time (Num 22:21-35). • Bashan was also an Amorite area, located north of the Yarmuk River and east of the Sea of Galilee. It was known for its prized livestock (cp. Ps 22:12; Ezek 39:18; Amos 4:1 and note). Its capital was Ashtaroth. • The kings Sihon and Og are not known outside the Bible (see Num 21:21-35).

1:6-4:40 Secular treaties typically included a section detailing the past relations between the treaty partners. The purpose here was to point out Israel's successes and failures since the Exodus and to remind the people that God had been true to his word regardless of how they had acted toward him. In order to prepare the Israelites for life

FURTHER READING

P. C. CRAIGIE
The Book of Deuteronomy
(1976)
J. G. MCCONVILLE
Deuteronomy (2002)
J. A. THOMPSON
Deuteronomy (1974)
E. MERRILL
Deuteronomy in Cornerstone Biblical Commentary, vol. 2
(2008)

mountain long enough. ⁷It is time to break camp and move on. Go to the hill country of the Amorites and to all the neighboring regions—the Jordan Valley, the hill country, the western foothills, the Negev, and the coastal plain. Go to the land of the Canaanites and to Lebanon, and all the way to the great Euphrates River. ⁸Look, I am giving all this land to you! Go in and occupy it, for it is the land the LORD swore to give to your ancestors Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and to all their descendants.’”

Moses Appoints Leaders from Each Tribe

⁹Moses continued, “At that time I told you, ‘You are too great a burden for me to carry all by myself. ¹⁰The LORD your God has increased your population, making you as numerous as the stars! ¹¹And may the LORD, the God of your ancestors, multiply you a thousand times more and bless you as he promised! ¹²But you are such a heavy load to carry! How can I deal with all your problems and bickering? ¹³Choose some well-respected men from each tribe who are known for their wisdom and understanding, and I will appoint them as your leaders.’

¹⁴“Then you responded, ‘Your plan is a good one.’ ¹⁵So I took the wise and respected men you had selected from your tribes and appointed them to serve as judges and officials over you. Some were responsible for a thousand people, some for a hundred, some for fifty, and some for ten.

¹⁶“At that time I instructed the judges, ‘You must hear the cases of your fellow Israelites and the foreigners living among you. Be perfectly fair in your decisions ¹⁷and impartial in your judgments. Hear the cases of those who are poor as well as those who are rich. Don’t be afraid of anyone’s anger, for the decision you make is God’s decision. Bring me any cases that are too difficult for you, and I will handle them.’

¹⁸“At that time I gave you instructions about everything you were to do.

Scouts Explore the Land

¹⁹“Then, just as the LORD our God commanded us, we left Mount Sinai and traveled through the great and terrifying wilderness, as you yourselves remember, and headed toward the hill country of the Amorites. When we arrived at Kadesh-barnea, ²⁰I said to you, ‘You have now reached the hill country of the Amorites that the LORD our God is giving us. ²¹Look! He has placed the land in front of you. Go and occupy it as the LORD, the God of your ancestors, has promised you. Don’t be afraid! Don’t be discouraged!’

²²“But you all came to me and said, ‘First, let’s send out scouts to explore the land for us. They will advise us on the best route to take and which towns we should enter.’

²³“This seemed like a good idea to me, so I chose twelve scouts, one from each of your tribes. ²⁴They headed for the hill country and came to the valley of Eshcol and explored it. ²⁵They picked some of its fruit and brought it back to us. And they reported, ‘The land the LORD our God has given us is indeed a good land.’

1:7
Gen 15:18-21
Josh 10:5, 40

1:8
Gen 12:7; 26:3
Exod 33:1
Num 32:10-11

1:9
Exod 18:18, 24

1:10
Gen 15:5; 22:17
Deut 10:22; 26:5;
28:62

1:11
Deut 1:8, 10

1:12
Exod 18:13-14

1:13
Exod 18:21-22
Num 11:16-17

1:16
Deut 16:18

1:17
Exod 18:25-26
Deut 10:17; 16:19;
24:17
Prov 24:23
Jas 2:1, 9

1:19
Deut 1:2; 8:15; 32:10

1:22-23
Num 13:1-3

1:24
Num 13:21-25

in Canaan, Moses reminded them of life in Egypt, of the forty years of wandering in the wilderness, and of their past blunders. He warned them to obey God’s covenant and assured them that God’s grace would follow them as they learned to trust and obey the Lord.

1:6-8 See Num 10:11-13.

1:7 The hill country consisted of interior areas of Canaan that were also inhabited by the Amorites (see 1:4; Num 13:29; Josh 10:6). The Canaanites apparently once lived throughout Palestine, but with the incursion of the Amorites they were restricted to the valleys and lowlands. • the western foothills (Hebrew the Shephelah): This term is still used in modern Israel for the region between the hills of Judah and the coastal plain, an area that specializes in orchards and vineyards. • the Negev: This great desert area lies to the south of Canaan. The Hebrew word could also designate “the south.”

1:8 occupy it (literally acquire it as an inheritance): The land was already Israel’s because God had promised it to the nation’s ancestors centuries earlier (Gen 15:18-21; 26:3; Exod 23:31). Israel was not seizing new territory from its rightful owners but was taking possession of land occupied by squatters.

1:9-18 See Exod 18:13-27.

1:10 as numerous as the stars: This figure of speech deliberately exaggerates for effect. Abraham’s descendants had not approached the actual number of stars in the universe, though they exceeded the number of stars visible to the naked eye. Moses meant that God had begun fulfilling his promises to Abraham (see Gen 15:5; 22:17) by making Israel numerous, bringing them to the Promised Land, and preparing them to conquer it.

1:13 Those who were well-respected had lives and reputations that were above reproach, even on close scrutiny.

1:15 thousand . . . hundred . . . fifty . . . ten: This was standard military organization, so some of these officials were probably military officers (see 1 Sam 8:12; 22:7; 2 Sam 18:1).

1:16-17 Be . . . impartial (literally do not notice faces): People appearing before the court should be treated as though they were wearing a mask to conceal their identity. Judges were not to be influenced by rich and powerful persons in the community but were to judge on the basis of God’s own impartiality (10:17) and treat all persons equally under the law.

1:19-25 See Num 13:1-33.

1:19 Kadesh-barnea, a great oasis with abundant wells and springs, was about fifty miles south of Beersheba, the traditional southern point of Israel (see 2 Sam 3:10; 1 Chr 21:2).

1:24-25 Eshcol means “cluster”; the fruit grown there was grapes (see Num 13:23-27).

1:26
Num 14:1-3
1:27
Deut 9:28
Ps 106:25
1:28
Num 13:28, 33
Deut 9:1-2
1:29
Deut 3:22; 7:18
1:30
Exod 14:14
Deut 20:4
1:31
Deut 32:11
Acts 13:18
1:33
Exod 13:21
Num 9:15-23;
10:33-36
1:34-35
Num 14:23; 32:14
1:36
Num 14:24
Josh 14:6
1:37
Num 20:12
1:38
Num 27:18; 34:17
Deut 3:28; 31:7
1:39
Num 14:3, 31

Israel's Rebellion against the LORD

26^aBut you rebelled against the command of the LORD your God and refused to go in. 27You complained in your tents and said, 'The LORD must hate us. That's why he has brought us here from Egypt—to hand us over to the Amorites to be slaughtered. 28Where can we go? Our brothers have demoralized us with their report. They tell us, "The people of the land are taller and more powerful than we are, and their towns are large, with walls rising high into the sky! We even saw giants there—the descendants of Anak!"'

29^aBut I said to you, 'Don't be shocked or afraid of them! 30The LORD your God is going ahead of you. He will fight for you, just as you saw him do in Egypt. 31And you saw how the LORD your God cared for you all along the way as you traveled through the wilderness, just as a father cares for his child. Now he has brought you to this place.'

32^aBut even after all he did, you refused to trust the LORD your God, 33who goes before you looking for the best places to camp, guiding you with a pillar of fire by night and a pillar of cloud by day.

34^aWhen the LORD heard your complaining, he became very angry. So he solemnly swore, 35'Not one of you from this wicked generation will live to see the good land I swore to give your ancestors, 36except Caleb son of Jephunneh. He will see this land because he has followed the LORD completely. I will give to him and his descendants some of the very land he explored during his scouting mission.'

37^aAnd the LORD was also angry with me because of you. He said to me, 'Moses, not even you will enter the Promised Land! 38Instead, your assistant, Joshua son of Nun, will lead the people into the land. Encourage him, for he will lead Israel as they take possession of it. 39I will give the land to your little ones—your innocent children. You were afraid they would be captured, but they will

God's War (1:30)

Deut 2:9-12; 7:2;
20:1-4; 23:9-14;
32:8-9
Gen 12:1; 13:14-17;
15:18-21
Judg 3:27-30
1 Sam 7:8-10
2 Chr 13:12-16
Isa 13:3
Jer 6:1-9; 51:20-28
Joel 3:1-16
Matt 5:9; 26:52
Rev 19:11-21;
20:7-10

The Lord's command to Israel to annihilate its enemies poses a major ethical problem. How could the God of love mandate genocide? What justification could Israel have had for invading, conquering, and destroying the land of Canaan and its peoples? From a human perspective, it appears that Israel's aggressive campaigns to settle Canaan were illegal and immoral.

However, the war against the Canaanites was led by God, not by mere human whim (see Deut 7:2). The conquest was directed against wicked people who had rebelled against the Lord and his purposes. Their sin had reached its full measure and now warranted their destruction (cp. Gen 15:16). Israel became God's instrument to carry out his judgment.

The war that Israel was authorized to wage was limited historically and theologically to its OT setting. Medieval campaigns, such as the Crusades by European "Christians" against Middle Eastern "infidels," or the more recent *jihad*s of Islamic terrorism cannot be justified based on OT practice. Jesus made it very clear that "God blesses those who work for peace" (Matt 5:9) and that "those who use the sword will die by the sword" (Matt 26:52). No justification for such action exists in the modern world. In the final judgment, God himself will pour out his holy wrath on human wickedness (see Rev 19:11-21; 20:7-10).

1:26-46 See Num 14:1-45.

1:28 Anak was a well-known man of gigantic physical stature (2:10, 21; 9:2; Num 13:33). Goliath (1 Sam 17:4) might have been one of the descendants of Anak who migrated to the Philistine coastal plain (2:23; Josh 11:21-23; 15:14; 1 Chr 20:4-8).

1:30 He will fight for you: This phrase refers to the defeat of the Canaanite nations. The Lord would initiate the battle, lead it, fight it, and bring it to a successful conclusion. The only other use of this phrase refers to God's activity in the Exodus (Exod 14:14).

1:31 God's tender care as a father reflected his covenant relationship with Israel (Exod 4:22; Hos 11:1-4; cp.

Matt 6:26-33; John 14:21; Acts 13:18; Rom 8:15-17; 1 Pet 1:2-3; 1 Jn 3:1). Israel was God's child by descent from Abraham and because God had chosen and adopted Israel from among all the nations (14:2; Exod 19:4-6). The imagery is similar to that found in secular covenant texts in which a Great King regarded a vassal with whom he had made a treaty as his son (see Deuteronomy Introduction, "Literary Form," p. 314).

1:33 Physical manifestations of God (called theophanies), such as the pillar of fire and the pillar of cloud, assured God's people of his presence and power. As he moved forward by these visible displays, they could also move, knowing that he would faithfully lead them to their final destination (Exod 13:21-22; 14:24; Ps 18:9-10).

1:36 Caleb was one of the twelve spies whom Moses sent to discern the political and military situation in Canaan. Caleb and Joshua alone brought back the report that God would give Israel success in conquering Canaan (Num 13:6, 8, 16, 30). Caleb later became the father-in-law of Othniel, Israel's first judge (Judg 1:13). For his faithfulness, Caleb was given the vicinity of Hebron as his inheritance, and he expelled the Anakites (see Josh 14:12-15; Judg 1:20).

1:37 God was angry with me because of you: In his frustration against rebellious Israel, Moses had disobeyed God by striking the rock rather than merely speaking to it (Num 20:10-13).

be the ones who occupy it. ⁴⁰As for you, turn around now and go on back through the wilderness toward the Red Sea.'

⁴¹"Then you confessed, 'We have sinned against the LORD! We will go into the land and fight for it, as the LORD our God has commanded us.' So your men strapped on their weapons, thinking it would be easy to attack the hill country.

⁴²"But the LORD told me to tell you, 'Do not attack, for I am not with you. If you go ahead on your own, you will be crushed by your enemies.'

⁴³"This is what I told you, but you would not listen. Instead, you again rebelled against the LORD's command and arrogantly went into the hill country to fight. ⁴⁴But the Amorites who lived there came out against you like a swarm of bees. They chased and battered you all the way from Seir to Hormah. ⁴⁵Then you returned and wept before the LORD, but he refused to listen. ⁴⁶So you stayed there at Kadesh for a long time.

Remembering Israel's Wanderings

2"Then we turned around and headed back across the wilderness toward the Red Sea, just as the LORD had instructed me, and we wandered around in the region of Mount Seir for a long time.

²"Then at last the LORD said to me, ³'You have been wandering around in this hill country long enough; turn to the north. ⁴Give these orders to the people: "You will pass through the country belonging to your relatives the Edomites, the descendants of Esau, who live in Seir. The Edomites will feel threatened, so be careful. ⁵Do not bother them, for I have given them all the hill country around Mount Seir as their property, and I will not give you even one square foot of their land. ⁶If you need food to eat or water to drink, pay them for it. ⁷For the LORD your God has blessed you in everything you have done. He has watched your every step through this great wilderness. During these forty years, the LORD your God has been with you, and you have lacked nothing."

⁸"So we bypassed the territory of our relatives, the descendants of Esau, who live in Seir. We avoided the road through the Arabah Valley that comes up from Elath and Ezion-geber.

"Then as we turned north along the desert route through Moab, ⁹the LORD warned us, 'Do not bother the Moabites, the descendants of Lot, or start a war with them. I have given them Ar as their property, and I will not give you any of their land.'

¹⁰(A race of giants called the Emmites had once lived in the area of Ar. They were as strong and numerous and tall as the Anakites, another race of giants. ¹¹Both the Emmites and the Anakites are also known as the Rephaites, though the Moabites call them Emmites. ¹²In earlier times the Horites had lived in Seir, but they were driven out and displaced by the descendants of Esau,

1:40 Num 14:25
1:41 Num 14:40
1:42 Num 14:41-43
1:43 Num 14:44
1:44 Num 14:45
2:1 Num 21:4
2:4 Exod 15:15 Num 20:14
2:5 Deut 23:7 Josh 24:4
2:7 Deut 8:2; 29:5
2:8 Num 20:20
2:9 Gen 19:37 Deut 2:18, 29
2:10 Gen 14:5 Num 13:22, 33
2:12 Gen 14:6 Num 21:25, 35 Deut 2:22

1:40 Red Sea: Literally sea of reeds.

1:44 Hormah is perhaps modern Khirbet el-Meshash, a site seven miles southeast of Beersheba. The ancient name is derived from the verb kharam, which means to "devastate" or "annihilate." The Israelites indeed devastated Hormah (Num 14:45; 21:3).

2:1 Red Sea: Literally sea of reeds.

• Mount Seir was a mountainous territory north of the Gulf of Aqaba, east of the Arabah (see note on 1:1) and the Dead Sea. It was originally settled by the Horites (Gen 14:6), now identified by many scholars as the Hurrians. The Hurrians are described in many ancient texts as wandering tradesmen and adventurers who found a home in many parts of the ancient Near East. In time, the Horites of Mount Seir were supplanted by the descendants of Esau (2:22), and the region was called Edom ("red"), perhaps because of the rose-red stone typical of the area.

2:2-25 Num 21:10-20 covers the same time period.

2:5 I have given them: God's gift of a promised land was not limited to Israel. He also distributed lands to Edom, Moab (2:9), Ammon (2:19), and the Caphtorites (2:22-23). Although God had chosen Israel as a special nation (1:31; see also 7:6; 14:2; Exod 19:5), he is also the God of all nations and has a place and purpose for each (32:8; Acts 17:26)—even for those that do not recognize his sovereignty (Rom 1:16-23).

2:8 our relatives: Isaac had two sons, Esau, the firstborn, and Jacob, who obtained Esau's birthright and blessing as the firstborn (Gen 25:27-34; 27:1-36). The result was intense hostility between Esau and Jacob and between their descendants. Israel still recognized and honored the kinship, however; out of fraternal good faith, if not affection, Israel bypassed Edom and did not engage the Edomites in battle (see Num 20:14-21). • Arabah Valley: See note on 1:1. • Elath and Ezion-geber were twin port cities on the Red Sea. They later harbored the merchant ships of Solomon (1 Kgs 9:26), Jehoshaphat (1 Kgs 22:48), and Uzziah (2 Kgs 14:22).

2:9 Following the destruction of Sodom, Gomorrah, and the other cities of the plain, Lot (Abraham's nephew and Isaac's cousin) and his two unmarried daughters sheltered in a cave east of the Dead Sea (see Gen 19:30-38), where Lot's daughters plied their father with drink until he had sexual relations with them. Their descendants became the nations of Moab and Ammon. Because of their kinship with Israel, the Moabites were to be left undisturbed. David's great-grandmother Ruth descended from Moab (Ruth 1:4), and David sent his own family to the land of Moab for protection when he was pursued by Saul (1 Sam 22:3-5). • Ar was probably the capital of Moab.

2:10 The Emmites were also located at Shaveh-kiriathaim (Gen 14:5), perhaps ten miles east of the Dead Sea's north end.

2:11 The Rephaites lived near Ashteroth-karnaim (Gen 14:5; perhaps modern Tel Ashtarath), due east of the Sea of Galilee (see 1:4).

2:12 just as Israel drove out: The Hebrew does not include the phrase the people of Canaan. This passage is often cited as a later addition to Deuteronomy because it seems to presuppose

2:14
Num 14:29-35;
26:64-65
Deut 2:7
1 Cor 10:5

2:15
Ps 106:26
Jude 1:5

2:18
Num 21:15
Deut 2:9

2:20
Deut 2:11

2:23
Gen 10:13-14
1 Chr 1:11-12
Jer 47:4
Amos 9:7

2:24
Num 21:13
Judg 11:18

2:25
Exod 15:14-16; 23:27
Deut 11:25
Josh 2:9

2:26
Num 21:21
Deut 20:10
Judg 11:19

2:29
Deut 2:8-9; 23:3

2:30
Exod 4:21
Num 21:23
Josh 11:20

just as Israel drove out the people of Canaan when the LORD gave Israel their land.)

¹³Moses continued, "Then the LORD said to us, 'Get moving. Cross the Zered Brook.' So we crossed the brook.

¹⁴"Thirty-eight years passed from the time we first left Kadesh-barnea until we finally crossed the Zered Brook! By then, all the men old enough to fight in battle had died in the wilderness, as the LORD had vowed would happen. ¹⁵The LORD struck them down until they had all been eliminated from the community.

¹⁶"When all the men of fighting age had died, ¹⁷the LORD said to me, ¹⁸"Today you will cross the border of Moab at Ar ¹⁹and enter the land of the Ammonites, the descendants of Lot. But do not bother them or start a war with them. I have given the land of Ammon to them as their property, and I will not give you any of their land."

²⁰That area was once considered the land of the Rephaites, who had lived there, though the Ammonites call them Zamzummites. ²¹They were also as strong and numerous and tall as the Anakites. But the LORD destroyed them so the Ammonites could occupy their land. ²²He had done the same for the descendants of Esau who lived in Seir, for he destroyed the Horites so they could settle there in their place. The descendants of Esau live there to this day. ²³A similar thing happened when the Caphto-rites from Crete invaded and destroyed the Avvites, who had lived in villages in the area of Gaza.)

²⁴Moses continued, "Then the LORD said, 'Now get moving! Cross the Arnon Gorge. Look, I will hand over to you Sihon the Amorite, king of Heshbon, and I will give you his land. Attack him and begin to occupy the land. ²⁵Beginning today I will make people throughout the earth terrified because of you. When they hear reports about you, they will tremble with dread and fear.'"

Victory over Sihon of Heshbon

²⁶Moses continued, "From the wilderness of Kedemoth I sent ambassadors to King Sihon of Heshbon with this proposal of peace:

²⁷"Let us travel through your land. We will stay on the main road and won't turn off into the fields on either side. ²⁸Sell us food to eat and water to drink, and we will pay for it. All we want is permission to pass through your land. ²⁹The descendants of Esau who live in Seir allowed us to go through their country, and so did the Moabites, who live in Ar. Let us pass through until we cross the Jordan into the land the LORD our God is giving us."

³⁰"But King Sihon of Heshbon refused to allow us to pass through, because the LORD your God made Sihon stubborn and defiant so he could help you defeat him, as he has now done.

the conquest under Joshua. However, it refers in part to the defeat of peoples east of the Jordan, such as the Amorites under King Sihon and King Og (3:12-17).

2:13 The ravine of Zered Brook marked the boundary between Moab and Edom. Rising in the highlands of Mount Seir, this waterway empties into the south-east bend of the Dead Sea.

2:19 Like the Moabites, the Ammonites were descendants of the incestuous relationship between Lot and his daughters (see note on 2:9). Throughout most of their history, the Ammonites lived south and east of the Jabbok River. The nation's capital was Rabbath Ammon (modern Amman, Jordan). David arranged for Uriah, Bathsheba's husband, to be slain in the siege of this city (2 Sam 11:1, 14-21).

2:20-21 The Zamzummites are probably the same as the Zuzites (Gen 14:5). The Lord had removed them from the land in the past so that the Ammonites could occupy their lands. The God of Israel is also the God of all the earth; he is mindful of all nations and has a place and purpose for each.

2:23 The Caphtorites were descendants of Ham and were originally from Crete (Hebrew from Caphtor), a large island south of the Greek peninsula. The Caphtorites are usually identified with the Philistines (see Gen 10:6-14; 1 Chr 1:8-12). The Philistine presence in Canaan resulted from two separate movements, one in the time of the Hebrew patriarchs (see note on Gen 21:32) and another that began about 1200 BC (see notes on Josh 13:2; Judg 3:3). This passage apparently refers to the earlier settlement. • The Avvites were indigenous inhabitants of the lower Mediterranean coastal plain; they were supplanted in Gaza by the early wave of Philistines (cp. Josh 13:2-4).

2:24 The Arnon Gorge is the deep canyon formed by the Arnon River; it sometimes marked the border between Moab and Edom (see Num 21:13). It rises deep in the Arabian Desert and empties into the Dead Sea midway along its eastern shore. • Sihon the Amorite controlled the area east of the Jordan, north of the Arnon, and south of the Ammonite territories (see Num 21:21-35). He is not known outside of the Bible. His capital, Heshbon, was probably about fifteen miles southwest of Rabbath Ammon and is usually identified with the impressive ruins at Tell Hesban.

2:26-27 See Num 21:21-32.

2:26 The wilderness of Kedemoth might refer to the area north of the Arnon Gorge between Dibon and Mattanah (Josh 13:18; 21:37).

2:30 made Sihon stubborn and defiant (literally had hardened his spirit and strengthened his heart): Like Pharaoh (see Exod 7:13), Sihon was incorrigibly unrepentant and thus experienced God's wrath. God knew that any further extension of grace to these rulers would be useless. Mystery surrounds the relationship between statements that people harden their own hearts (e.g., Exod 7:13, 22; 8:15) and statements that God hardens people's hearts (e.g., Exod 4:21; 7:3; 9:12). What is clear is that God appeals for repentance and is ready to forgive, but when people continually ignore or reject his appeals, they can become incapable of hearing and obeying God (see "A Hardened Heart" at Exod 14:4, 8, p. 149; Rom 1:21-28; 9:17-24).

³¹"Then the LORD said to me, 'Look, I have begun to hand King Sihon and his land over to you. Begin now to conquer and occupy his land.'

³²"Then King Sihon declared war on us and mobilized his forces at Jahaz. ³³But the LORD our God handed him over to us, and we crushed him, his sons, and all his people. ³⁴We conquered all his towns and completely destroyed everyone—men, women, and children. Not a single person was spared. ³⁵We took all the livestock as plunder for ourselves, along with anything of value from the towns we ransacked.

³⁶"The LORD our God also helped us conquer Aroer on the edge of the Arnon Gorge, and the town in the gorge, and the whole area as far as Gilead. No town had walls too strong for us. ³⁷However, we avoided the land of the Ammonites all along the Jabbok River and the towns in the hill country—all the places the LORD our God had commanded us to leave alone.

Victory over Og of Bashan

3"Next we turned and headed for the land of Bashan, where King Og and his entire army attacked us at Edrei. ²But the LORD told me, 'Do not be afraid of him, for I have given you victory over Og and his entire army, and I will give you all his land. Treat him just as you treated King Sihon of the Amorites, who ruled in Heshbon.'

³"So the LORD our God handed King Og and all his people over to us, and we killed them all. Not a single person survived. ⁴We conquered all sixty of his towns—the entire Argob region in his kingdom of Bashan. Not a single town escaped our conquest. ⁵These towns were all fortified with high walls and barred gates. We also took many unwallled villages at the same time. ⁶We completely destroyed the kingdom of Bashan, just as we had destroyed King Sihon of Heshbon. We destroyed all the people in every town we conquered—men, women, and children alike. ⁷But we kept all the livestock for ourselves and took plunder from all the towns.

⁸"So we took the land of the two Amorite kings east of the Jordan River—all the way from the Arnon Gorge to Mount Hermon. ⁹(Mount Hermon is called Sirion by the Sidonians, and the Amorites call it Senir.) ¹⁰We had now conquered all the cities on the plateau and all Gilead and Bashan, as far as the towns of Salecah and Edrei, which were part of Og's kingdom in Bashan. ¹¹(King Og of Bashan was the last survivor of the giant Rephaites. His bed was made of iron and was more than thirteen feet long and six feet wide. It can still be seen in the Ammonite city of Rabbah.)

Land Division East of the Jordan

¹²"When we took possession of this land, I gave to the tribes of Reuben and Gad the territory beyond Aroer along the Arnon Gorge, plus half of the hill country of Gilead with its towns. ¹³Then I gave the rest of Gilead and all of Bashan—Og's former kingdom—to the half-tribe of Manasseh. (This entire Argob region of Bashan used to be known as the

2:33
Num 21:24-30
Deut 3:6; 29:7

2:35
Deut 3:7, 10

2:36
Ps 44:3

2:37
Deut 3:16

3:1
Num 21:33-35

3:2
Num 21:34

3:3
Josh 9:10

3:4
1 Kgs 4:13

3:6
Deut 2:33-34; 20:16

3:7
Deut 2:35

3:8
Num 32:33-42
Josh 12:1-6; 13:8-13

3:9
Deut 4:48
Josh 11:17
Ps 29:5-6

3:11
Deut 2:11, 20
2 Sam 11:1; 12:26-27
Jer 49:2

3:12
Num 32:33-42
Deut 2:35-36
Josh 13:8-13

2:34 completely destroyed (Hebrew kharam): The Hebrew term used here refers to the complete consecration of things or people to the LORD, either by destroying them or by giving them as an offering. The underlying rationale was to maintain the Lord's holiness in the face of pagan idolatry and moral corruption (see also Lev 27:28-29).

2:36 Aroer, on the north rim of the Arnon Gorge three miles from Dibon, marked the southernmost extent of the Amorite kingdom (3:12; 4:48; Josh 12:2; 13:9, 16, 25). • The identity of the town in the gorge is uncertain but was probably Aroer. • Gilead, famous for its balm and other aromatic spices (Jer 8:22; 46:11), lay north of the Jabbok River, the northernmost border of the Amorites under Sihon.

2:37 Like the Moabites, the Ammonites were related to Israel and were thus to be left undisturbed (cp. 2:9). • The Jabbok River, a great tributary of the Jordan River, marked the border between Gilead to the north and the Amorite kingdom of Sihon to the south. The Ammonites lived east and south of the Jabbok (2:19). It was somewhere at the Jabbok that Jacob wrestled with the stranger at night (Gen 32:22-32).

3:1-11 See Num 21:33-35.

3:1 Bashan: See note on 1:4.

3:4 Argob might be synonymous with Bashan or might refer to a heavily populated part of Bashan.

3:6 completely destroyed: See note on 2:34.

3:8 Mount Hermon is the southernmost peak in the Anti-Lebanon Mountains northeast of the Sea of Galilee; at 9,300 feet above sea level, it is also the highest. On a clear day, this impressive landmark is visible from many miles away.

3:9 The alternative names Sirion and Senir suggest that Hermon was perhaps a later name given by the Israelites. Hermon is apparently related to the verb kharam, which means "to destroy" (see note on 2:34) and perhaps describes the destruction summarized in 3:3-7.

3:11 His bed was probably wooden, inlaid with iron. Alternatively, the Hebrew word might suggest a sarcophagus or coffin. • thirteen feet long and six feet wide: Hebrew 9 cubits [4.1 meters] long and 4 cubits [1.8 meters] wide. • Rabbah is the same city as Rabbath Ammon (2:19). Apparently there was some kind of museum at Rabbah when Deuteronomy was written, and this artifact could be seen there.

3:12-20 See Num 32.

3:12 The tribes of Reuben and Gad had asked Moses to let them settle east of the Jordan rather than in Canaan, and he allowed them to do so (Num 32:1-5). • Aroer: See note on 2:36.

3:13 The half-tribe of Manasseh made the same request as Reuben and Gad (3:12), and Moses accepted their request. Gad and Reuben settled between the Arnon (see 2:24) and the middle of Gilead (see 2:36), and Manasseh took everything north of that, including Bashan (see 3:1).

3:15
Num 32:40

3:17
Josh 13:27

3:18
Num 32:20
Josh 4:12-13

3:19
Num 32:16
Josh 1:14

3:22
Deut 1:29-30; 20:4

3:24
Ps 86:8
adonay Yahweh*
(0136, 3068)
*Josh 7:7

3:26
Deut 1:37; 31:2

3:27
Num 27:12
Deut 1:37

3:28
Num 27:18

4:1
Lev 19:37
Deut 5:32-33; 8:1;
16:20; 30:16
Ezek 20:11
Rom 10:5

4:2
Deut 12:32
Prov 30:6
Matt 5:18
Rev 22:18-19

4:3
Num 25:1-9

land of the Rephaites. ¹⁴Jair, a leader from the tribe of Manasseh, conquered the whole Argob region in Bashan, all the way to the border of the Geshurites and Maacathites. Jair renamed this region after himself, calling it the Towns of Jair, as it is still known today.) ¹⁵I gave Gilead to the clan of Makir. ¹⁶But I also gave part of Gilead to the tribes of Reuben and Gad. The area I gave them extended from the middle of the Arnon Gorge in the south to the Jabbok River on the Ammonite frontier. ¹⁷They also received the Jordan Valley, all the way from the Sea of Galilee down to the Dead Sea, with the Jordan River serving as the western boundary. To the east were the slopes of Pisgah.

¹⁸"At that time I gave this command to the tribes that would live east of the Jordan: 'Although the LORD your God has given you this land as your property, all your fighting men must cross the Jordan ahead of your Israelite relatives, armed and ready to assist them. ¹⁹Your wives, children, and numerous livestock, however, may stay behind in the towns I have given you. ²⁰When the LORD has given security to the rest of the Israelites, as he has to you, and when they occupy the land the LORD your God is giving them across the Jordan River, then you may all return here to the land I have given you.'

Moses Forbidden to Enter the Land

²¹"At that time I gave Joshua this charge: 'You have seen for yourself everything the LORD your God has done to these two kings. He will do the same to all the kingdoms on the west side of the Jordan. ²²Do not be afraid of the nations there, for the LORD your God will fight for you.'

²³"At that time I pleaded with the LORD and said, ²⁴"O Sovereign LORD, you have only begun to show your greatness and the strength of your hand to me, your servant. Is there any god in heaven or on earth who can perform such great and mighty deeds as you do? ²⁵Please let me cross the Jordan to see the wonderful land on the other side, the beautiful hill country and the Lebanon mountains.'

²⁶"But the LORD was angry with me because of you, and he would not listen to me. 'That's enough!' he declared. 'Speak of it no more. ²⁷But go up to Pisgah Peak, and look over the land in every direction. Take a good look, but you may not cross the Jordan River. ²⁸Instead, commission Joshua and encourage and strengthen him, for he will lead the people across the Jordan. He will give them all the land you now see before you as their possession.' ²⁹So we stayed in the valley near Beth-peor.

Exhortation to Covenant Faithfulness (4:1-40) Moses Urges Israel to Obey

4"And now, Israel, listen carefully to these decrees and regulations that I am about to teach you. Obey them so that you may live, so you may enter and occupy the land that the LORD, the God of your ancestors, is giving you. ²Do not add to or subtract from these commands I am giving you. Just obey the commands of the LORD your God that I am giving you.

³"You saw for yourself what the LORD did to you at Baal-peor. There the LORD your God destroyed everyone who had worshiped Baal, the god of Peor. ⁴But all of you who were faithful to the LORD your God are still alive today—every one of you.

• The Rephaites, a giant people related to the Anakites (see 2:11), are noted here as being indigenous to Bashan.

3:14 Jair was a descendant of Manasseh from Makir and Gilead (1 Chr 2:22). • Geshurites and Maacathites, kingdoms of Bashan, lay along the west side of the Golan Heights, east of the Sea of Galilee. • The Towns of Jair (Hebrew Havvoth-jair) was the name given Argob (see 3:4) after Jair brought it under Israelite control.

3:15 Makir was a clan in the tribe of Manasseh (Num 26:29) to which Jair was related (1 Chr 2:21-23). The clan of Makir settled south of Bashan in the northern part of Gilead (see 3:13).

3:17 from the Sea of Galilee down to the Dead Sea (Hebrew from Kinnereth to the Sea of the Arabah, the Salt Sea): The Hebrew name for the beautiful Sea of Galilee is kinnereth, which might come from kinnor ("harp") because of its shape. • The Dead Sea (Hebrew yam hammelakh, "Salt Sea"), here also called the Sea of the Arabah (see note on 1:1), has a very high mineral content (about 30 percent). • Pisgah is a section of the Abarim mountain range; its most prominent peak is Mount Nebo, where Moses died (see Deut 34:1).

3:21-29 See Num 20:2-13; Ps 106:32-33.

3:21 He will do the same: Israel's military success under Moses' leadership could be expected to continue under Joshua because the Lord promised to remain with them.

3:24 Is there any god? Moses did not believe that other gods existed; he was simply affirming that only the Lord is God. Nothing and no one else, real or imaginary, can rival the one true God.

3:29 Beth-peor, otherwise known as Baal Peor (see 4:3) or simply Peor (Num 23:28; Josh 22:17), became Moses' burial place (34:6). At that place the false prophet Balaam had earlier attempted to curse Israel on behalf of Balak, king of Moab (Num 23:27-24:25).

4:1-40 Moses' lengthy exhortation to the Israelite community was based on the people's recent failures and his anticipation of what lay ahead in Canaan.

4:1 The pairing of the terms decrees and regulations in Deuteronomy (e.g., 4:5, 8, 14, 45; 5:1, 31) is a way of referring to the covenant stipulations and the detailed application of the great principles of the Law (see note on 4:44).

4:3 Baal was the Canaanite god associated with the fertility of the soil and of human and animal life. Major pagan worship centers linked Baal with their own shrines and cultic rituals, as with the god of Peor (see 3:29).

⁵"Look, I now teach you these decrees and regulations just as the LORD my God commanded me, so that you may obey them in the land you are about to enter and occupy. ⁶Obey them completely, and you will display your wisdom and intelligence among the surrounding nations. When they hear all these decrees, they will exclaim, 'How wise and prudent are the people of this great nation!' ⁷For what great nation has a god as near to them as the LORD our God is near to us whenever we call on him? ⁸And what great nation has decrees and regulations as righteous and fair as this body of instructions that I am giving you today?

⁹"But watch out! Be careful never to forget what you yourself have seen. Do not let these memories escape from your mind as long as you live! And be sure to pass them on to your children and grandchildren. ¹⁰Never forget the day when you stood before the LORD your God at Mount Sinai, where he told me, 'Summon the people before me, and I will personally instruct them. Then they will learn to fear me as long as they live, and they will teach their children to fear me also.'

¹¹"You came near and stood at the foot of the mountain, while flames from the mountain shot into the sky. The mountain was shrouded in black clouds and deep darkness. ¹²And the LORD spoke to you from the heart of the fire. You heard the sound of his words but didn't see his form; there was only a voice. ¹³He proclaimed his covenant—the Ten Commandments—which he commanded you to keep, and which he wrote on two stone tablets. ¹⁴It was at that time that the LORD commanded me to teach you his decrees and regulations so you would obey them in the land you are about to enter and occupy.

A Warning against Idolatry

¹⁵"But be very careful! You did not see the LORD's form on the day he spoke to you from the heart of the fire at Mount Sinai. ¹⁶So do not corrupt yourselves by making an idol in any form—whether of a man or a woman, ¹⁷an animal on the ground, a bird in the sky, ¹⁸a small animal that scurries along the ground, or a fish in the deepest sea. ¹⁹And when you look up into the sky and see the sun, moon, and stars—all the ^bforces of heaven—don't be seduced into worshipping them. The LORD your God gave them to all the peoples of the earth. ²⁰Remember that the LORD rescued you from the iron-smelting furnace of Egypt in order to make you his very own people and his special possession, which is what you are today.

²¹"But the LORD was angry with me because of you. He vowed that I would not cross the Jordan River into the good land the LORD your God is giving you as your special possession. ²²You will cross the Jordan to occupy the land, but I will not. Instead, I will die here on the east side of the river. ²³So be

4:5
Lev 26:46; 27:34

4:6
Ps 19:7-8
Prov 1:7-9

4:7
Ps 148:14

4:8
Ps 89:14-15

4:10
Exod 19:9, 16

4:11
Exod 19:18
Heb 12:18

4:13
Exod 31:18; 34:28
Deut 10:4

4:15
Exod 19:9, 18, 21

4:16
Exod 20:4-5; 32:8
Deut 9:12; 31:29

4:19
2 Kgs 17:16
Acts 7:43
^bIsaiah (66:35)
Deut 17:3

4:20
1 Kgs 8:51
Jer 11:4

4:21
Num 20:12
Deut 1:37

4:23
Exod 20:4-5

4:6 Obey . . . wisdom and intelligence: Wisdom is linked to obedience—obeying the Lord is the essence of wisdom (see 10:12-13; Prov 1:7; 9:10; 15:33). If God's people were wise and prudent enough to keep the Lord's perfect covenant, all the world would marvel.

4:8 Israel's laws were righteous and fair because they originated with God.

4:10 Mount Sinai: Hebrew Horeb, another name for Sinai; also in 4:15. See note on 1:2. • fear me: See notes on 7:21; 10:12-13.

4:11 flames . . . clouds: In these contrasting displays of God's presence (theophanies; see note on 1:33), he revealed himself while also remaining hidden (see Exod 19:16-19).

4:13 The covenant is the key theological idea of Deuteronomy and perhaps of the entire OT. A covenant was a legal arrangement involving two or more parties who entered into agreements with mutually binding obligations. The covenant at Sinai (Exod 20:1–23:33) codified this relationship between the Lord and Israel; in Deuteronomy, Moses interpreted and expanded the covenant for the new generation that was about to conquer and occupy the Promised Land.

• The Ten Commandments (literally the ten words, "decalogue") are so much at the heart of the covenant text and its requirements as to be equated with the covenant. The first four words regulate relationship with God, while the last six regulate human relationships. • two stone tablets: All legal documents, including covenant texts, were copied for the benefit of all involved parties. God had his copy (the stone tablets) laid inside the ark of the covenant in the sanctuary (see Exod 25:16, 21; 31:18; 40:20; cp. Deut 31:26); Israel's copy was written in the books of Exodus (Exod 20:1-17) and Deuteronomy (5:6-21).

4:15 form: No image could capture the transcendent glory and power of the invisible God (Neh 9:20; Isa 63:10-14; Zech 4:6; John 4:24). Any form of the Lord could become an object of worship in lieu of worshipping God himself.

4:16 idol: Idolatry inherently confined the Lord to the artist's imagination. Israel was not to make idols in the form of any of his creatures (4:17-18). Idols and images could lead to worship of the creature rather than the Creator (5:8-9; Rom 1:23-25).

4:19 forces of heaven: This phrase refers to the stars and other heavenly bodies, which, like earthly creations, were thought to embody or represent deities. Instead, they are servants of God, named by him to carry out their duties of marking the times and seasons (Gen 1:14-19; Isa 40:26). • The LORD your God gave them: Rather than worshipping these heavenly bodies, the people of Israel were to recognize that God's creation was made, among other reasons, to serve mankind (Gen 1:28).

4:20 An iron-smelting furnace was used to refine metal ores and separate the pure metal from the dross. Israel's trials in Egypt made the Israelites more spiritually and morally pure. • special possession (literally people of inheritance): Israel itself was God's inheritance. This concept is confirmed by the parallel phrase describing Israel as his very own people. As such, the Israelites were now fit to enter, conquer, and occupy the land (cp. 1 Pet 2:9-12).

4:24
Exod 24:17; 34:14
Heb 12:29
^a*qanna'* (7067)
* Job 5:2

4:25
Deut 4:16; 31:29

4:26
Deut 7:4; 8:19; 31:29

4:27
Deut 28:64

4:28
Deut 28:36, 64; 29:17
Ps 115:4-8

4:29
Deut 6:5; 10:12;
30:1-3
2 Chr 15:4

4:30
^a*shama'* (8085)
* Deut 11:27

4:31
Deut 31:6, 8
Josh 1:5
Heb 13:5

4:33
Exod 20:22
Deut 5:24, 26

careful not to break the covenant the LORD your God has made with you. Do not make idols of any shape or form, for the LORD your God has forbidden this. ²⁴The LORD your God is a devouring fire; he is a jealous God.

²⁵"In the future, when you have children and grandchildren and have lived in the land a long time, do not corrupt yourselves by making idols of any kind. This is evil in the sight of the LORD your God and will arouse his anger.

²⁶"Today I call on heaven and earth as witnesses against you. If you break my covenant, you will quickly disappear from the land you are crossing the Jordan to occupy. You will live there only a short time; then you will be utterly destroyed. ²⁷For the LORD will scatter you among the nations, where only a few of you will survive. ²⁸There, in a foreign land, you will worship idols made from wood and stone—gods that neither see nor hear nor eat nor smell. ²⁹But from there you will search again for the LORD your God. And if you search for him with all your heart and soul, you will find him.

³⁰"In the distant future, when you are suffering all these things, you will finally return to the LORD your God and listen to what he tells you. ³¹For the LORD your God is a merciful God; he will not abandon you or destroy you or forget the solemn covenant he made with your ancestors.

There Is Only One God

³²"Now search all of history, from the time God created people on the earth until now, and search from one end of the heavens to the other. Has anything as great as this ever been seen or heard before? ³³Has any nation ever heard the voice of God speaking from fire—as you did—and survived?

Biblical Law (4:1-2)

Deut 5:6-21, 32-33;
6:1-9; 8:1; 30:1-20
Exod 19:4-6
Lev 18:5
Matt 5:17-48;
22:36-40
John 14:15-21
Rom 3:19-24; 7:1-12
1 Cor 9:20-21
Gal 3:1-22; 5:14
Heb 7:18-19; 10:1

Biblical law is more than lists of dos and don'ts. It is a system of divine expectations regarding belief and behavior which, if faithfully carried out, will bring God's richest blessing. Life itself depends on keeping the law (4:1; see also 5:32-33; 8:1; 16:20).

The exodus from Egypt freed the nation of Israel to become God's servant. When God delivered Israel from bondage by "a strong hand, a powerful arm, and terrifying acts" (4:34), it was not because Israel had earned this right through its own righteousness but because God is gracious and faithful to his promises to Abraham. The purpose of the rescue from Egypt was not just to relieve the Israelites of their onerous burdens (Exod 1:11-22; 5:4-23), but to make a covenant with them. The covenant relationship did not make the Israelites God's people; they already were his people (see Exod 4:22-23). Obedience was not a precondition to the covenant but the proper response to it. It placed on them the responsibility of serving God as a priestly kingdom and a holy nation (Exod 19:4-6).

The covenant guaranteed the people of Israel abundant and meaningful life if they kept the law. The covenant document consists of broad principles, patterns, and standards. God's instructions are embodied most famously in the Ten Commandments (5:6-21) and most succinctly in the Shema (6:4-5). All other laws of God are interpretations and applications of these primary principles. The law was given to regulate Israel's affairs as a nation so that God's people would be a beacon of his grace to the whole world.

The life that resulted from obedience to the law was not eternal life in the NT sense. It was God's promise that if the Israelites were faithful to the covenant, the nation could expect long and prosperous days in the land (4:1; 5:16, 33; 10:8-9). Jesus also exhorted his disciples to keep the Ten Commandments and the demands of the Shema (Matt 22:37-40)—not to have eternal life but as an expression of commitment to him (cp. Matt 5:17-19; John 14:15-21).

4:24 God does not have the petty human emotion of jealousy. Rather, the phrase jealous God shows that God was asserting his uniqueness and claiming exclusive worship (6:15; Lev 10:2; Num 16:35). The Hebrew word can be rendered as "jealous" or "zealous." God zealously protects his own reputation as the universal sovereign.

4:26 Heaven and earth would be witnesses against Israel if the people were disloyal to the Lord. In a covenant partnership, the parties to the agreement were held accountable to the oaths of loyalty and commitment they made to each other in the presence of witnesses (Isa 1:2-7; Mic 6:1-8). In Deuteronomy, the natural creation plays that role of witness (see also 30:19).

4:27 scatter you: One of the curses directed against Israel if it violated the terms of the covenant was the dispersion of the people to the ends of the earth (28:64). This judgment later came to pass repeatedly, especially when the Assyrians occupied the northern kingdom in 722 BC, when the Babylonians conquered Judah in 605-586 BC, and when Jerusalem was destroyed in AD 70.

4:30 distant future (literally last [or latter] days): Israel would eventually return from the Exile and worldwide dispersion (see 30:1-10; Lev 26:40-45; Jer 31:27-34; Ezek 36:22-31).

4:33 the voice of God: Or the voice of a god.

³⁴Has any other god dared to take a nation for himself out of another nation by means of trials, miraculous signs, wonders, war, a strong hand, a powerful arm, and terrifying acts? Yet that is what the LORD your God did for you in Egypt, right before your eyes.

³⁵He showed you these things so you would know that the LORD is God and there is no other. ³⁶He let you hear his voice from heaven so he could instruct you. He let you see his great fire here on earth so he could speak to you from it. ³⁷Because he loved your ancestors, he chose to bless their descendants, and he personally brought you out of Egypt with a great display of power. ³⁸He drove out nations far greater than you, so he could bring you in and give you their land as your special possession, as it is today.

³⁹“So remember this and keep it firmly in mind: The LORD is God both in heaven and on earth, and there is no other. ⁴⁰If you obey all the decrees and commands I am giving you today, all will be well with you and your children. I am giving you these instructions so you will enjoy a long life in the land the LORD your God is giving you for all time.”

3. NARRATIVE INTERLUDE (4:41-49)

Eastern Cities of Refuge

⁴¹Then Moses set apart three cities of refuge east of the Jordan River. ⁴²Anyone who killed another person unintentionally, without previous hostility, could flee there to live in safety. ⁴³These were the cities: Bezer on the wilderness plateau for the tribe of Reuben; Ramoth in Gilead for the tribe of Gad; Golan in Bashan for the tribe of Manasseh.

Introduction to Moses' Second Address

⁴⁴This is the body of instruction that Moses presented to the Israelites. ⁴⁵These are the laws, decrees, and regulations that Moses gave to the people of Israel when they left Egypt, ⁴⁶and as they camped in the valley near Beth-peor east of the Jordan River. (This land was formerly occupied by the Amorites under King Sihon, who ruled from Heshbon. But Moses and the Israelites destroyed him and his people when they came up from Egypt. ⁴⁷Israel took possession of his land and that of King Og of Bashan—the two Amorite kings east of the Jordan. ⁴⁸So Israel conquered the entire area from Aroer at the edge of the Arnon Gorge all the way to Mount Sirion, also called Mount Hermon. ⁴⁹And they conquered the eastern bank of the Jordan River as far south as the Dead Sea, below the slopes of Pisgah.)

4. SECOND ADDRESS:

THE COVENANT TEXT (5:1-26:19)

The Principles of the Covenant (5:1-11:32)

Ten Commandments for the Covenant Community

5 Moses called all the people of Israel together and said, “Listen carefully, Israel. Hear the decrees and regulations I am

4:34
Exod 14:30
Deut 5:15; 6:21; 7:19;
33:29
Ps 136:12

4:35
Exod 8:10; 9:14
Deut 4:39
1 Sam 2:2
Mark 12:29
*Mark 12:32

4:36
Exod 19:9, 19
Neh 9:13

4:37
Deut 7:8

4:38
Num 32:4

4:39 erets* (0776)
*Josh 1:15

4:40
Exod 23:26
Deut 4:2; 5:16, 29;
33; 32:47

4:41
Num 35:6
Deut 19:1-13

4:48
Deut 2:35-36

5:2
Exod 19:5
Mal 4:4

5:4
Num 14:14

4:34 strong hand, a powerful arm: Describing divine qualities in human terms is called anthropomorphism (see note on 8:2). Here it represents God's sovereign power in delivering Israel from bondage in Egypt.

4:36 great fire: God revealed the covenant law at Mount Sinai with a magnificent and terrifying display of power and glory comparable to the eruption of a great volcano (see note on 1:33; see Exod 3:1-4; 24:16-18).

4:39 The Lord is unique, and there is no other besides him. This instruction reaffirms the first two commandments (5:6-8; Exod 20:2-4) and foreshadows the Shema (6:4-5). God's uniqueness had to be underscored because Israel's neighbors worshiped many gods.

4:40 More than a promise of individual longevity, long life described Israel's tenure in the land of promise.

4:41-49 Moses was ready to set forth the covenant in all its magisterial authority. This section bridges the review of the past (1:6-4:40) and the presentation of the covenant text proper (5:1-26:19).

4:41-43 When Israel settled in Canaan and adopted an urban lifestyle, crimes such as homicide would inevitably need judicial resolution. In order to protect alleged perpetrators from premature vengeance and to guarantee them a fair trial, they needed safe haven in accessible cities of refuge. These towns were first assigned east of the Jordan and later in Canaan (see Num 35:9-28). The laws governing these matters occur again in Deut 19:1-13, but they appear here because of the just-mentioned promise of a long and safe life in the land (4:40). Establishing places of refuge to protect the innocent from false accusations would help secure that promise.

4:43 Bezer (probably modern Umm al-'Amad) lay some six miles east of Heshbon. • Ramoth in Gilead was thirty-five miles east-southeast of the Sea of Galilee. • The town of Golan was about forty miles north of Ramoth in Gilead.

4:44 body of instruction (Hebrew torah): The Hebrew noun is derived from the verb yarah, “to teach”; its basic meaning is instruction. The Greek OT understands the term to mean “law.” In this context, the term introduces the body of instruction in the remainder of Deuteronomy (see note on 5:1-26:19).

4:48 Mount Sirion: As in Syriac version (see also 3:9); Hebrew reads Mount Zion. The Sidonians used the name Sirion for Mount Hermon.

4:49 conquered the eastern bank of the Jordan River as far south as the Dead Sea (Hebrew took the Arabah on the east side of the Jordan as far as the sea of the Arabah): The Arabah (“wilderness” or “wasteland”) usually refers to the Great Rift Valley south of the Dead Sea; in Deuteronomy, it also pertains to the lower Jordan Valley (see 1:1; 3:17).

5:1-26:19 This section contains the heart of the covenant document, the stipulations. The first subdivision (5:1-11:32) sets forth the major stipulations relating especially to the first two commandments (5:7-10). The more specific minor stipulations make up the rest of the section.

5:1-32 The rest of the covenant laws expand and comment upon the Ten Commandments (5:6-21), on which they are based. Moses had first given the Ten

5:5
Exod 19:16, 25
‘yare’ (3372)
• Deut 10:20

5:6-21
//Exod 20:2-17

5:7
Exod 20:3

5:8
Exod 20:4
Lev 26:1
Deut 4:16-17

5:9
Exod 34:7, 14
‘khawah’ (7812)
• Deut 29:26

5:12
Exod 20:8-11
‘shabbath’ (7676)
• 2 Chr 36:21

5:15
Exod 20:11
Deut 15:15; 16:12
‘zakar’ (2142)
• Judg 16:28

5:16
Exod 20:12; 21:17
*Matt 15:4; 19:19
*Mark 7:10; 10:9
*Luke 18:20
*Eph 6:2-3

5:17
Exod 20:13
*Matt 5:21

5:18
Exod 20:14
*Mark 10:19
*Luke 18:20
*Rom 13:9
*Jas 2:11

5:19
Exod 20:15
*Matt 19:18
*Mark 10:19
*Luke 18:20
*Rom 13:9

5:20
*Matt 19:18
*Mark 10:19
*Luke 18:20

5:21
*Rom 7:7; 13:9

5:22
Exod 19:16-19

giving you today, so you may learn them and obey them!

2nd The LORD our God made a covenant with us at Mount Sinai. 3 The LORD did not make this covenant with our ancestors, but with all of us who are alive today. 4 At the mountain the LORD spoke to you face to face from the heart of the fire. 5 I stood as an intermediary between you and the LORD, for you were ‘afraid of the fire and did not want to approach the mountain. He spoke to me, and I passed his words on to you. This is what he said:

6 “I am the LORD your God, who rescued you from the land of Egypt, the place of your slavery.

7 “You must not have any other god but me.

8 “You must not make for yourself an idol of any kind, or an image of anything in the heavens or on the earth or in the sea. 9 You must not bow down to them or worship them, for I, the LORD your God, am a jealous God who will not tolerate your affection for any other gods. I lay the sins of the parents upon their children; the entire family is affected—even children in the third and fourth generations of those who reject me. 10 But I lavish unfailing love for a thousand generations on those who love me and obey my commands.

11 “You must not misuse the name of the LORD your God. The LORD will not let you go unpunished if you misuse his name.

12 “Observe the ^hSabbath day by keeping it holy, as the LORD your God has commanded you. 13 You have six days each week for your ordinary work, 14 but the seventh day is a Sabbath day of rest dedicated to the LORD your God. On that day no one in your household may do any work. This includes you, your sons and daughters, your male and female servants, your oxen and donkeys and other livestock, and any foreigners living among you. All your male and female servants must rest as you do. 15 Remember that you were once slaves in Egypt, but the LORD your God brought you out with his strong hand and powerful arm. That is why the LORD your God has commanded you to rest on the Sabbath day.

16 “Honor your father and mother, as the LORD your God commanded you. Then you will live a long, full life in the land the LORD your God is giving you.

17 “You must not murder.

18 “You must not commit adultery.

19 “You must not steal.

20 “You must not testify falsely against your neighbor.

21 “You must not covet your neighbor’s wife. You must not covet your neighbor’s house or land, male or female servant, ox or donkey, or anything else that belongs to your neighbor.

22 “The LORD spoke these words to all of you assembled there at the foot of the mountain. He spoke with a loud voice from the heart of the fire, surrounded by clouds and deep darkness. This was all he said at that time, and he wrote his words on two stone tablets and gave them to me.

23 “But when you heard the voice from the heart of the darkness, while the mountain Commandments to the people of Israel nearly forty years earlier (Exod 20:2-17).

5:1 decrees and regulations: These technical terms describe the stipulations that Israel must obey as the junior partner in the covenant.

5:2 Mount Sinai: Hebrew Horeb, another name for Sinai (see note on 1:2).

5:9 jealous God: See note on 4:24. • The children of sinful parents are not punished for the wrongdoings of their mothers and fathers, but the sins of any generation have consequences that last for generations (see 2 Sam 12:10). • The term reject (literally hate) does not relate to having bitter and hostile feelings but to forsaking a relationship.

5:10 for a thousand generations on those: Literally for thousands of those. • who love me: Those who choose to accept the Lord do not hate or reject him.

5:11 misuse the name (literally take up the name in vain): Someone who “takes the name of the Lord in vain” uses it manipulatively to achieve a desired end, uses it thoughtlessly, or takes an oath by God’s name that a falsehood is true.

5:12 keeping it holy: Certain holy days were set apart from others and were given extraordinary significance (see chart, “Israel’s Festivals,” p. 235). On the Sabbath day, the community stopped working and worshiped the Lord (cp. 1 Cor 16:2; Heb 10:25).

5:15 That is why: God commanded Israel to observe a day of rest to remember that God ceased his work of creation on the seventh day (Exod 20:11). In Deuteronomy, the Sabbath also celebrated Israel’s release from Egyptian bondage. In the Christian tradition, the first day rather than the seventh is generally set apart to observe the most significant event in Christian history, the resurrection of Jesus Christ (see note on Rev 1:10).

5:16-20 Jesus quoted these five commands in response to the question, “What must I do to inherit eternal life?” (Matt 19:17-19; Mark 10:19; Luke 18:20).

5:16 Honor: Since parents are representatives of divine authority, children are to recognize them as worthy of obedience and great respect (cp. Eph 6:1-3).

5:17 murder: The Hebrew word can mean either “kill” or “murder.” Killing was permitted in war and as punishment in capital cases, so here it must refer to premeditated homicide. See Jesus’ comments in Matt 5:21-22.

5:18 adultery: See Jesus’ comments about adultery in Matt 5:27-28.

5:21 covet: This commandment differs from the others because it pertains to a desire rather than to an act. An evil desire is no less offensive to God than an evil deed (see Matt 5:27-28).

5:22 fire . . . clouds: See note on 4:11. • two stone tablets: See note on 4:13.

was blazing with fire, all your tribal leaders and elders came to me. ²⁴They said, 'Look, the LORD our God has shown us his glory and greatness, and we have heard his voice from the heart of the fire. Today we have seen that God can speak to us humans, and yet we live! ²⁵But now, why should we risk death again? If the LORD our God speaks to us again, we will certainly die and be consumed by this awesome fire. ²⁶Can any living thing hear the voice of the living God from the heart of the fire as we did and yet survive? ²⁷Go yourself and listen to what the LORD our God says. Then come and tell us everything he tells you, and we will listen and obey.'

²⁸"The LORD heard the request you made to me. And he said, 'I have heard what the people said to you, and they are right. ²⁹Oh, that they would always have hearts like this, that they might fear me and obey all my commands! If they did, they and their descendants would prosper forever. ³⁰Go and tell them, "Return to your tents." ³¹But you stand here with me so I can give you all my commands, decrees, and regulations. You must teach them to the people so they can obey them in the land I am giving them as their possession.'"

³²So Moses told the people, "You must be careful to obey all the commands of the LORD your God, following his instructions in every detail. ³³Stay on the path that the LORD your God has commanded you to follow. Then you will live long and prosperous lives in the land you are about to enter and occupy.

A Call for Wholehearted Commitment

6"These are the commands, decrees, and regulations that the LORD your God commanded me to teach you. You must obey them in the land you are about to enter and occupy, ²and you and your children and grandchildren must fear the LORD your God as long as you live. If you obey all his decrees and commands, you will enjoy a long life. ³Listen closely, Israel, and be careful to obey. Then all will go well with you, and you will have many children in the land flowing with milk and honey, just as the LORD, the God of your ancestors, promised you.

⁴"Listen, O Israel! The LORD is our God, the LORD alone. ⁵And you must love the LORD your God with all your heart, all your soul, and all your strength. ⁶And you must commit yourselves wholeheartedly to these commands that I am giving you today. ⁷Repeat them again and again to your children. Talk about them when you are at home and when you are on the road, when you are going to bed and when you are getting up. ⁸Tie them to your hands and wear them on your forehead as reminders. ⁹Write them on the doorposts of your house and on your gates.

¹⁰"The LORD your God will soon bring you into the land he swore to give you when he made a vow to your ancestors Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. It is a land with large, prosperous cities that you did not build. ¹¹The houses will be richly stocked with goods you did not produce. You will draw water from cisterns you did not dig, and you will

5:25
Exod 20:18-19
Deut 18:16
Heb 12:19

5:26
Exod 24:2

5:28
Deut 18:17

5:29
Deut 5:16, 33
Ps 81:13
Isa 48:18

5:31
Exod 24:12

5:32
Deut 17:20
Josh 1:7, 23:6

5:33
Exod 20:12
Deut 4:1, 40

6:2
Deut 4:9; 10:12

6:3
Exod 3:8, 17
Deut 5:33

6:4-5
Deut 4:35, 39
*Matt 22:37
*Mark 12:29-30
Luke 10:27
1 Cor 8:4, 6

6:6
Deut 11:18
*Lev 19:31
*Deut 8:2

6:7
Deut 4:9
Eph 6:4

6:8
Exod 13:9

6:9
Deut 11:20

6:10
Deut 9:1
Josh 24:13

5:33 Stay on the path: This figure of speech compares the course of life to making a journey. Israel was called to live in such a way that the nation would not be sidetracked from the purposes for which it had been chosen and equipped.

6:1-25 Moses here explains how the stipulations in the following sections should be applied and handed on to future generations.

6:1 Moses added commands to decrees and regulations, the usual formula for covenant stipulations (see 4:1; 5:1); commands is a general term for the whole body of instruction.

6:2 God's awesome power and glory (see 4:10) require that God's people fear him, treating him with respect and reverence (see notes on 7:21; 10:12-13).

6:3 The milk and honey abundant in Canaan represented both agriculture and forage. Compared to the desert fare, Canaan's food was sumptuous indeed (see Exod 3:8, 17).

6:4-5 Listen (Hebrew shema): The Shema is the fundamental statement of Israel's faith. Jesus described these verses as the greatest of the commandments (Matt 22:34-39; Mark 12:28-31; Luke 10:25-28), a sentiment shared by ancient and modern Judaism. The rabbi Hillel (first century BC) spoke of the Shema as the central theological idea of the Hebrew Bible (the OT), calling the rest mere commentary.

6:4 The LORD is our God, the LORD alone (or The LORD our God is one LORD; or The LORD our God, the LORD is one; or The LORD is our God, the LORD is one): Only God is worthy of worship (5:7).

6:5 love the LORD: See note on Josh 23:11. • The words heart, . . . soul, and . . . strength represent the intellect, the will, the emotions, the spirituality, and the physical being—all that a person is and can do for God. This commandment is the core of God's covenant with Israel (see Jesus' comments in Matt 22:37; Mark 12:30; Luke 10:27).

6:7 Repeat them: The Hebrew verb (shanan) might suggest "engraving" a text into a medium that cannot be obliterated, or it might simply mean

"repeat." Either way, the teaching of the Shema was to be indelibly imparted to children by constant repetition so that it would never be forgotten.

6:8 Tie them: The Lord's commandments (6:6) were to be as interwoven into the hearts and minds of children as though they were tied to them. Eventually, this figurative phrase in Judaism was practiced literally by wrapping the forearm with cords representing the Torah (see note on 4:44). • wear them: This figure of speech was represented literally in later Judaism by a small box containing a few brief Torah texts. The box and its contents (Hebrew tefillin; Greek phylactery) were reminders of the need to teach and obey the covenant (cp. 11:18; Matt 23:5).

6:9 Write them on the doorposts: In later Judaism, people placed portions of Deuteronomy in a small metal case (a mezuzah) attached to the doorframes of houses or other buildings. It was customary to touch the mezuzah when passing through the doorway to show respect for and dependence upon the Scripture.

6:13
*Matt 4:10
*Luke 4:8

6:15
Deut 4:24; 5:9

6:16
Exod 17:7
*Matt 4:7
*Luke 4:12

6:17
Deut 11:22

6:18
Deut 4:40

6:20
Exod 13:8, 14

6:24
Deut 6:17; 10:12

7:1
Deut 20:17
Acts 13:19

7:2
Exod 23:32
kharam* (2763)
*Deut 7:26

7:3
Josh 23:12

7:4
ap* (0639)
*Judg 6:39

7:5
Exod 23:24

7:6
Exod 19:5-6
Deut 14:2; 26:18
1 Pet 2:9
bakhar* (0977)
*Deut 14:2

eat from vineyards and olive trees you did not plant. When you have eaten your fill in this land, ¹²be careful not to forget the LORD, who rescued you from slavery in the land of Egypt. ¹³You must fear the LORD your God and serve him. When you take an oath, you must use only his name.

¹⁴"You must not worship any of the gods of neighboring nations, ¹⁵for the LORD your God, who lives among you, is a jealous God. His anger will flare up against you, and he will wipe you from the face of the earth. ¹⁶You must not test the LORD your God as you did when you complained at Massah. ¹⁷You must diligently obey the commands of the LORD your God—all the laws and decrees he has given you. ¹⁸Do what is right and good in the LORD's sight, so all will go well with you. Then you will enter and occupy the good land that the LORD swore to give your ancestors. ¹⁹You will drive out all the enemies living in the land, just as the LORD said you would.

²⁰"In the future your children will ask you, 'What is the meaning of these laws, decrees, and regulations that the LORD our God has commanded us to obey?'

²¹"Then you must tell them, 'We were Pharaoh's slaves in Egypt, but the LORD brought us out of Egypt with his strong hand. ²²The LORD did miraculous signs and wonders before our eyes, dealing terrifying blows against Egypt and Pharaoh and all his people. ²³He brought us out of Egypt so he could give us this land he had sworn to give our ancestors. ²⁴And the LORD our God commanded us to obey all these decrees and to fear him so he can continue to bless us and preserve our lives, as he has done to this day. ²⁵For we will be counted as righteous when we obey all the commands the LORD our God has given us.'

The Privilege of Holiness

7"When the LORD your God brings you into the land you are about to enter and occupy, he will clear away many nations ahead of you: the Hittites, Girgashites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites. These seven nations are greater and more numerous than you. ²When the LORD your God hands these nations over to you and you conquer them, you must ^acompletely destroy them. Make no treaties with them and show them no mercy. ³You must not intermarry with them. Do not let your daughters and sons marry their sons and daughters, ⁴for they will lead your children away from me to worship other gods. Then the ^aanger of the LORD will burn against you, and he will quickly destroy you. ⁵This is what you must do. You must break down their pagan altars and shatter their sacred pillars. Cut down their Asherah poles and burn their idols. ⁶For you are a holy people, who belong to the LORD your God. Of all the people on earth, the LORD your God has ^bchosen you to be his own special treasure.

6:13 Jesus quoted this verse when tempted by Satan (Matt 4:10; Luke 4:8).

6:15 jealous God: See note on 4:24.

6:16 When Israel journeyed through the Sinai desert after the Exodus, they came to Rephidim, where they found no water (Exod 17:1-7). Moses saw the people's demand for water as testing the Lord; hence the name Massah ("testing") for this place. Jesus quoted this verse to rebut Satan (Matt 4:7; Luke 4:12).

6:21 The phrase his strong hand is an anthropomorphism (see note on 8:2).

6:22 The signs and wonders were the ten plagues God sent to impress Israel and Egypt with his power when he brought about the Exodus (Exod 7-12; see also Exod 3:20; 4:5; Josh 4:23-24).

6:25 righteous when we obey: Obedience shows that one is already in a state of righteousness, a standing before God obtained by faith (see 24:13; Hab 2:4; Rom 1:17; 4:1-5; Gal 3:6-7; see also Gen 15:6; Eph 2:8-9). When other nations observed Israel's commitment to the covenant, they could rightly conclude that Israel was righteous.

7:1-26 Before Israel could occupy the land of promise (cp. Gen 13:14-17; 15:18-21), the nations already living there had to be removed. The land was the Lord's, and only he could determine who the inhabitants should be.

7:1 The Hittites were native to Anatolia (now north-central Turkey). They established colonies in far-flung areas such as Syria and were also linked to Canaan in the list of ancient nations (see Gen 10:15; 23:3-20). The Hittite empire came to a sudden end around 1200 BC, but people known as Hittites continued to live in Israel (e.g., Uriah the Hittite, 2 Sam 11:3; 23:39). It is impossible to prove that the Hittites of Anatolia were the same as those mentioned in the OT, but some commonality is probable. • Girgashites were an otherwise unknown Canaanite people (Gen 10:16-17). • Amorites: See note on 1:4. • The Canaanites were the native people of Canaan; their habitation there can be traced back to 3000 BC. They descended from Noah's son Ham (see Gen 9:18-27). • The Perizzites are not listed in the Table of Nations (Gen 10:16-17), so they might not have been related to the Canaanites. • Many scholars identify the Hivites as the Horites (or Hurrians; see note on 2:1), a non-Semitic people found throughout the ancient Near East. • The Jebusites were associated with Jerusalem (Judg 1:21; 2 Sam 5:6-8). David bought a piece of land from Araunah the Jebusite to build an altar (2 Sam 24:15-25); this property later became the site of the Temple (2 Chr 3:1).

7:2 completely destroy: See note on 2:34.

7:5 Engraved stone pillars called stelae usually represented pagan male deities. These sacred pillars were commonly found at shrines dedicated to Baal.

• Asherah poles, usually made of wood, represented Canaanite fertility goddesses, particularly Asherah, the mother of the gods. These shrines might have developed as stylized sacred trees associated with fertility (see note on 12:2).

7:6 Of all peoples on earth, God chose Israel as his special treasure. Israel had not done anything commendable; rather, God acted out of grace that was undeserved and freely given.

⁷"The LORD did not set his heart on you and choose you because you were more numerous than other nations, for you were the smallest of all nations! ⁸Rather, it was simply that the LORD loves you, and he was keeping the oath he had sworn to your ancestors. That is why the LORD rescued you with such a strong hand from your slavery and from the oppressive hand of Pharaoh, king of Egypt. ⁹Understand, therefore, that the LORD your God is indeed God. He is the faithful God who keeps his covenant for a thousand generations and lavishes his unfailing love on those who love him and obey his commands. ¹⁰But he does not hesitate to punish and destroy those who reject him. ¹¹Therefore, you must obey all these commands, decrees, and regulations I am giving you today.

¹²"If you listen to these regulations and faithfully obey them, the LORD your God will keep his covenant of unfailing love with you, as he promised with an oath to your ancestors. ¹³He will love you and bless you, and he will give you many children. He will give fertility to your land and your animals. When you arrive in the land he swore to give your ancestors, you will have large harvests of grain, new wine, and olive oil, and great herds of cattle, sheep, and goats. ¹⁴You will be blessed above all the nations of the earth. None of your men or women will be childless, and all your livestock will bear young. ¹⁵And the LORD will protect you from all sickness. He will not let you suffer from the terrible diseases you knew in Egypt, but he will inflict them on all your enemies!

¹⁶"You must destroy all the nations the LORD your God hands over to you. Show them no mercy, and do not worship their gods, or they will trap you. ¹⁷Perhaps you will think to yourselves, 'How can we ever conquer these nations that are so much more powerful than we are?' ¹⁸But don't be afraid of them! Just remember what the LORD your God did to Pharaoh and to all the land of Egypt. ¹⁹Remember the great terrors the LORD your God sent against them. You saw it all with your own eyes! And remember the miraculous signs and wonders, and the strong hand and powerful arm with which he brought you out of Egypt. The LORD your God will use this same power against all the people you fear. ²⁰And then the LORD your God will send terror to drive out the few survivors still hiding from you!

²¹"No, do not be afraid of those nations, for the LORD your God is among you, and he is a great and awesome God. ²²The LORD your God will drive those nations out ahead of you little by little. You will not clear them away all at once, otherwise the wild animals would multiply too quickly for you. ²³But the LORD your God will hand them over to you. He will throw them into complete confusion until they are destroyed. ²⁴He will put their kings in your power, and you will erase their names from the face of the earth. No one will be able to stand against you, and you will destroy them all.

²⁵"You must burn their idols in fire, and you must not covet the silver or gold that covers them. You must not take it or it will become a trap to you, for it is detestable to the LORD your God. ²⁶Do not bring any detestable objects into your home, for then you will be ^cdestroyed, just like them. You

7:7
Deut 4:37

7:9
Exod 20:6
Deut 4:39; 5:9-10
1 Cor 1:9
1 Thes 5:24
2 Tim 2:13

7:12
Lev 26:3
Deut 28:1

7:13
Lev 26:9
Deut 28:4; 30:5-6

7:14
Exod 23:26

7:15
Exod 15:26

7:16
Exod 23:32
Deut 7:2

7:17
Num 33:53

7:18
Num 14:9
Deut 1:21, 29

7:19
Deut 4:34

7:20
Exod 23:28
Josh 24:12

7:21
Exod 29:45

7:22
Exod 23:28-30

7:24
Deut 11:25
Josh 1:5; 10:8; 23:9

7:25
Deut 7:2; 12:3
Josh 7:1, 21

7:26
Lev 27:28-29
^ckherem (2764)
* Josh 6:21

7:9 A faithful God is absolutely dependable and can be leaned upon. Abraham was commended as being righteous because he believed God; he was wholly dependent upon God's faithfulness (Gen 15:6). • Contrasted with human agents, who often break their pledges, the Lord faithfully keeps his covenant.

7:10 those who reject him: See note on 5:9.

7:12 promised with an oath (literally swore): In a covenant or treaty, the parties to the covenant had to swear to keep its terms in order for it to be valid. God's promises are always guaranteed by his character (7:9; 32:4; Heb 6:18; Jas 1:17). He fulfilled the requirements of the covenant with Israel by swearing to keep its terms (see Gen 22:16).

7:15 The terrible diseases . . . in Egypt were perhaps illnesses related to the plagues (e.g., Exod 9:9) or other serious diseases that regularly afflicted the Egyptians.

7:19 The familiar word pair signs and wonders signifies the miraculous deeds God performed to induce fear in his enemies and to inspire awe and praise in his people (see 6:22). • strong hand and powerful arm: See notes on 4:34 and 8:2.

7:20 terror: Often rendered the hornet. The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain. Whether God sent stinging insects or some other source of terror, he would expel surviving Canaanites from the land (Exod 23:28; Josh 24:12).

7:21 awesome (literally one to be feared): This fear is not the terror induced by a bully who strikes without reason or plan, but the reverential fear of a loving God whose nature is so majestic that it inspires a kind of dread (see "Fear of the LORD" at Prov 1:7, p. 1030).

7:24 erase their names: An individual's name represented that person's existence as it would be carried into the future through generations of descendants. By destroying an entire nation, God cut off its line of descent and thus also its future. The Canaanites who suffered God's war against them lost all their descendants and thus their existence and identity.

7:25-26 Worship of false gods is detestable to the Lord: It denies that God is unique and rejects his demand for exclusive worship (5:7-9). The horrific and disgusting rituals typically associated with pagan worship were antithetical to God's holy nature, but Israel was in danger of being led into similar beliefs and practices (12:31; 13:12-17). An Israelite who acknowledged false gods committed an act of treason. The only remedy was complete and total destruction of these detestable objects.

7:26 set apart for destruction (Hebrew kherem): See note on 2:34.

8:1
Lev 26:3
Deut 4:1; 7:11

8:2
Exod 15:25
2 Chr 32:31
Lebab (3824)
• Deut 29:19

8:3
Ps 78:24
*Matt 4:4
*Luke 4:4 *man (4478)
• Deut 8:16

8:4
Deut 29:5
Neh 9:21

8:5
Prov 3:11-12
Heb 12:6

8:7
Deut 11:10-12
Jer 2:7

8:8
Deut 32:13

8:10
Deut 6:11-12

8:11
Deut 4:9

8:12
Prov 30:9
Hos 13:6

8:15
Exod 17:6
Num 20:11; 21:6
Deut 1:19-21; 32:13
Ps 78:15; 114:8

8:16
Exod 16:15
Deut 8:2
John 6:30-31
*man (4478)
• Josh 5:12

8:18
Prov 10:22
Hos 2:8

8:19
Deut 4:26; 30:18

8:20
Ezek 5:15-17

9:1
Deut 11:23

must utterly detest such things, for they are ‘set apart for destruction.

A Call to Remember and Obey

8 “Be careful to obey all the commands I am giving you today. Then you will live and multiply, and you will enter and occupy the land the LORD swore to give your ancestors. ²Remember how the LORD your God led you through the wilderness for these forty years, humbling you and testing you to prove your ⁴character, and to find out whether or not you would obey his commands. ³Yes, he humbled you by letting you go hungry and then feeding you with ⁶manna, a food previously unknown to you and your ancestors. He did it to teach you that people do not live by bread alone; rather, we live by every word that comes from the mouth of the LORD. ⁴For all these forty years your clothes didn’t wear out, and your feet didn’t blister or swell. ⁵Think about it: Just as a parent disciplines a child, the LORD your God disciplines you for your own good.

⁶“So obey the commands of the LORD your God by walking in his ways and fearing him. ⁷For the LORD your God is bringing you into a good land of flowing streams and pools of water, with fountains and springs that gush out in the valleys and hills. ⁸It is a land of wheat and barley; of grapevines, fig trees, and pomegranates; of olive oil and honey. ⁹It is a land where food is plentiful and nothing is lacking. It is a land where iron is as common as stone, and copper is abundant in the hills. ¹⁰When you have eaten your fill, be sure to praise the LORD your God for the good land he has given you.

¹¹“But that is the time to be careful! Beware that in your plenty you do not forget the LORD your God and disobey his commands, regulations, and decrees that I am giving you today. ¹²For when you have become full and prosperous and have built fine homes to live in, ¹³and when your flocks and herds have become very large and your silver and gold have multiplied along with everything else, be careful! ¹⁴Do not become proud at that time and forget the LORD your God, who rescued you from slavery in the land of Egypt. ¹⁵Do not forget that he led you through the great and terrifying wilderness with its poisonous snakes and scorpions, where it was so hot and dry. He gave you water from the rock! ¹⁶He fed you with ‘manna in the wilderness, a food unknown to your ancestors. He did this to humble you and test you for your own good. ¹⁷He did all this so you would never say to yourself, ‘I have achieved this wealth with my own strength and energy.’ ¹⁸Remember the LORD your God. He is the one who gives you power to be successful, in order to fulfill the covenant he confirmed to your ancestors with an oath.

¹⁹“But I assure you of this: If you ever forget the LORD your God and follow other gods, worshiping and bowing down to them, you will certainly be destroyed. ²⁰Just as the LORD has destroyed other nations in your path, you also will be destroyed if you refuse to obey the LORD your God.

Victory by God’s Grace

9 “Listen, O Israel! Today you are about to cross the Jordan River to take over the land belonging to nations much greater and 8:1-20 Once Israel inhabited the land, they might have the human tendency to take credit for the blessings that followed. Moses warned the people to guard against a self-congratulatory attitude. God alone is the source of all prosperity and achievement.

8:2 to prove your character (literally to know what is in your heart): God already knew the Israelites’ innermost thoughts (Ps 51:6; 139:1, 4, 23); he wanted their character to come out in their actions.

• to find out whether: The OT often describes God in human terms, even in ways that appear to limit God. Anthropomorphism (assigning human characteristics to God) and anthropopathism (assigning human feelings or emotions to God) are ways of representing God on a human level so the human mind can better grasp his ways, but God is not limited in his knowledge, power, or transcendence. Here, God is figuratively described as having only a human knowledge of the future, but other passages make it clear that God knows everything—past, present, and future (Ps 139:1-18; Heb 4:13).

8:3 The word manna is derived from the Hebrew words man hu (meaning “what is it?”). God miraculously provided this food to teach his people total dependence on him (Exod 16:1-30; Num 11:4-9). Manna represented the word of God, which is even more essential to life and well-being than food is. • people do not live by bread alone: Jesus quoted this phrase to rebut Satan (Matt 4:4; Luke 4:4).

8:6 fearing him: See note on 7:21.

8:9 Iron was not widely used in this period of the Bronze Age because the process of smelting and working it was known to only a few cultures (see 1 Sam 13:19-21). The time would come when Israel would exploit this vastly superior metal (see Josh 17:16-18; 1 Kgs 6:7; 2 Kgs 6:5; 1 Chr 22:3).

8:15 water from the rock: See Exod 17:6; Num 20:2-13; see also Deut 1:37.

8:18 This was not the covenant that God made with the previous generation of Israelites at Sinai but the one he first made with Abraham (Gen 15:1-21; 17:1-21), then Isaac (Gen 26:1-5) and Jacob (Gen 28:1-4, 13-15; 46:1-4). • In order to be legal and proper, a covenant had to be sworn to with an oath that all parties to the agreement uttered. Although by his very nature God could never rescind a promise, he honored the protocol (see 7:12).

9:1 walls that reach to the sky: This figurative language emphasizes the impossibility of breaching these walls by human effort alone (Num 13:28). If Israel were to enjoy success, God must lead the way and fight the battle (9:5).

more powerful than you. They live in cities with walls that reach to the sky! ²The people are strong and tall—descendants of the famous Anakite giants. You've heard the saying, 'Who can stand up to the Anakites?' ³But recognize today that the LORD your God is the one who will cross over ahead of you like a devouring fire to destroy them. He will subdue them so that you will quickly conquer them and drive them out, just as the LORD has promised.

⁴"After the LORD your God has done this for you, don't say in your hearts, 'The LORD has given us this land because we are such good people!' No, it is because of the wickedness of the other nations that he is pushing them out of your way. ⁵It is not because you are so good or have such integrity that you are about to occupy their land. The LORD your God will drive these nations out ahead of you only because of their wickedness, and to fulfill the oath he swore to your ancestors Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. ⁶You must recognize that the LORD your God is not giving you this good land because you are good, for you are not—you are a stubborn people.

Remembering the Gold Calf

⁷"Remember and never forget how angry you made the LORD your God out in the wilderness. From the day you left Egypt until now, you have been constantly rebelling against him. ⁸Even at Mount Sinai you made the LORD so angry he was ready to destroy you. ⁹This happened when I was on the mountain receiving the tablets of stone inscribed with the words of the covenant that the LORD had made with you. I was there for forty days and forty nights, and all that time I ate no food and drank no water. ¹⁰The LORD gave me the two tablets on which God had written with his own finger all the words he had spoken to you from the heart of the fire when you were assembled at the mountain.

¹¹"At the end of the forty days and nights, the LORD handed me the two stone tablets inscribed with the words of the covenant. ¹²Then the LORD said to me, 'Get up! Go down immediately, for the people you brought out of Egypt have corrupted themselves. How quickly they have turned away from the way I commanded them to live! They have melted gold and made an idol for themselves!'

¹³"The LORD also said to me, 'I have seen how stubborn and rebellious these people are. ¹⁴Leave me alone so I may destroy them and erase their name from under heaven. Then I will make a mighty nation of your descendants, a nation larger and more powerful than they are.'

¹⁵"So while the mountain was blazing with fire I turned and came down, holding in my hands the two stone tablets inscribed with the terms of the covenant. ¹⁶There below me I could see that you had sinned against the LORD your God. You had melted gold and made a calf idol for yourselves. How quickly you had turned away from the path the LORD had commanded you to follow! ¹⁷So I took the stone tablets and threw them to the ground, smashing them before your eyes.

¹⁸"Then, as before, I threw myself down before the LORD for forty days and nights. I ate no bread and drank no water because of the great sin you had committed by doing what the LORD hated, provoking him to anger. ¹⁹I feared that the furious anger of the LORD, which turned him against you,

9:3
Deut 4:24
Heb 12:29

9:4
Lev 18:23-30
Deut 7:24; 12:31;
18:9-14

9:6
Deut 9:13-14; 10:16;
31:27

9:7
Exod 14:11
Num 14:20-22

9:8
Exod 32:7
Ps 106:19-20

9:9
Exod 24:18
Deut 9:18

9:12
Exod 32:7-8

9:13
Exod 32:9

9:15
Exod 32:15

9:16
Exod 32:19

9:18
Exod 34:8-9, 28
Deut 9:9; 10:10

9:19
Exod 32:10-11
*Heb 12:21

9:3 The graphic metaphor like a devouring fire depicts God's war against his enemies (see 1:30). God will not just use fire but will himself be a raging inferno, consuming everything in his path. In the end, Israel would simply have to step in and occupy the subdued land.

9:5 to fulfill the oath: In the covenant promises made to the patriarchs, God swore that their descendants would inherit the land of Canaan (Gen 13:14-17; 15:18-21; see Deut 1:8; 8:18).

9:6 Stubborn (literally stiff-necked) describes a draft animal that is unwilling to bend its neck to the yoke (Exod 32:9; 33:3, 5; Isa 48:4). Sadly, Israel was not just occasionally stubborn; stubbornness was the nation's characteristic behavior and attitude.

9:8 Mount Sinai: Hebrew Horeb, another name for Sinai; see note on 1:2.

9:9 tablets of stone: See note on 4:13.

• Covenant here refers to the promises God made with Israel nearly forty years earlier at Sinai (see 4:13). • The common biblical expression forty days and forty nights represents trial or testing (Exod 34:28). Moses' fast was like Jesus' fast (Matt 4:2). It is physically possible to go without food for forty days, but a person cannot ordinarily survive without water for more than a few days. Moses was directly sustained by God (cp. Matt 4:11).

9:10 Speaking of God's own finger (see notes on 4:34 and 8:2) emphasizes God's personal interest and involvement in communicating the text of the covenant (Exod 31:18; 32:15-16; 34:1, 28).

9:12 The type of idol (from a Hebrew word meaning cast or pour) mentioned here was formed by pouring liquid metal into a mold (Exod 32:1-4). Other idols were made of carved wood, stone, clay, or precious metals hammered in thin sheets over wooden cores.

9:14 erase their name: The Lord threatened to destroy Israel's identity and existence (see note on 7:24).

9:16 The gold calf idol Israel made at Sinai (Exod 32) was probably modeled after bovine deities of Egypt, such as the bull god Apis and the cow goddess Hathor, both associated with fertility. When the Israelites entered Canaan, they would be confronted with the fertility gods of the Canaanite cults. They would be tempted to rely upon these false gods, rather than the one true God, as the source of their blessings (cp. 8:18-20).

9:21
Exod 32:20
9:22
Exod 17:7
Num 11:3, 34
9:24
Exod 32:9
Deut 9:7, 31:27
9:25
Deut 9:18
9:26
Exod 32:11-13
Spalal (6419)
• 1 Sam 1:10

9:27
Exod 32:9
9:29
Deut 4:34
10:1
Exod 25:10; 34:1
10:2
Exod 25:16
Deut 4:13

10:3
Exod 34:4; 37:1

10:4
Exod 34:28
Deut 4:13

10:5
Exod 40:20

10:6
Num 20:25-26

10:8
Num 3:6; 18:1
Deut 18:5; 21:5; 31:9
sharath (8334)
• 1 Sam 2:11

10:9
Num 18:20, 24
Deut 18:2
Ezek 44:28

would drive him to destroy you. But again he listened to me. ²⁰The LORD was so angry with Aaron that he wanted to destroy him, too. But I prayed for Aaron, and the LORD spared him. ²¹I took your sin—the calf you had made—and I melted it down in the fire and ground it into fine dust. Then I threw the dust into the stream that flows down the mountain.

²²You also made the LORD angry at Taberah, Massah, and Kibroth-hattaavah. ²³And at Kadesh-barnea the LORD sent you out with this command: 'Go up and take over the land I have given you.' But you rebelled against the command of the LORD your God and refused to put your trust in him or obey him. ²⁴Yes, you have been rebelling against the LORD as long as I have known you.

²⁵That is why I threw myself down before the LORD for forty days and nights—for the LORD said he would destroy you. ²⁶I ^gprayed to the LORD and said, 'O Sovereign LORD, do not destroy them. They are your own people. They are your special possession, whom you redeemed from Egypt by your mighty power and your strong hand. ²⁷Please overlook the stubbornness and the awful sin of these people, and remember instead your servants Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. ²⁸If you destroy these people, the Egyptians will say, "The Israelites died because the LORD wasn't able to bring them to the land he had promised to give them." Or they might say, "He destroyed them because he hated them; he deliberately took them into the wilderness to slaughter them." ²⁹But they are your people and your special possession, whom you brought out of Egypt by your great strength and powerful arm.'

A New Copy of the Covenant

10At that time the LORD said to me, 'Chisel out two stone tablets like the first ones. Also make a wooden Ark—a sacred chest to store them in. Come up to me on the mountain, and I will write on the tablets the same words that were on the ones you smashed. Then place the tablets in the Ark.'

³So I made an Ark of acacia wood and cut two stone tablets like the first two. Then I went up the mountain with the tablets in my hand. ⁴Once again the LORD wrote the Ten Commandments on the tablets and gave them to me. They were the same words the LORD had spoken to you from the heart of the fire on the day you were assembled at the foot of the mountain. ⁵Then I turned and came down the mountain and placed the tablets in the Ark of the Covenant, which I had made, just as the LORD commanded me. And the tablets are still there in the Ark."

⁶(The people of Israel set out from the wells of the people of Jaakan and traveled to Moserah, where Aaron died and was buried. His son Eleazar ministered as high priest in his place. ⁷Then they journeyed to Gudgodah, and from there to Jotbathah, a land with many brooks and streams. ⁸At that time the LORD set apart the tribe of Levi to carry the Ark of the LORD's Covenant, and to stand before the LORD as his ^hministers, and to pronounce blessings in his name. These are their duties to this day. ⁹That is why the Levites have no share of property or possession of land among the other Israelite tribes. The LORD himself is their special possession, as the LORD your God told them.)

9:22 Shortly after Israel left Sinai, the people began to murmur against the Lord so incessantly and bitterly that he sent a fiery judgment to slay some of them at Taberah (Taberah means "place of burning." See Num 11:1-3). • Even earlier, the people came to Massah, a place where they tested the Lord to see whether he could supply their need for water (Massah means "place of testing." See Exod 17:1-7). • At Kibroth-hattaavah, the Israelites demanded food other than manna. The Lord miraculously provided quail, with which they gorged themselves. Many of them paid for this sin of gluttony with their lives. Kibroth-hattaavah means "graves of gluttony." See Num 11:31-34.

9:23 Israel made Kadesh-barnea its major headquarters for the thirty-eight years of wandering in the wilderness (see also note on 1:19).

9:26 special possession: See note on 4:20. • The Lord redeemed Israel from their bondage in Egypt by his own gracious efforts on their behalf.

9:27 In Hebrew, the term translated remember does not always mean to recall something that has been forgotten, especially when God is the subject (see notes on 8:2 and 32:36). Here the meaning is that God would honor the promises he made to the patriarchs by doing what he said he would do. Appealing to God to remember goes beyond urging him to be aware of a need; it is a petition for him to act in the face of that need (cp. Luke 23:42-43).

10:1 two stone tablets: See note on 4:13. • The Ark was a gold-plated wooden chest that contained the stone tablets; it was kept in the Most Holy Place in the Tabernacle or Temple (Exod 25:10). Later, a pot of manna and Aaron's flowering rod were also placed in the Ark (Heb 9:4). The Ark was the throne upon which the invisible Lord sat on earth among his people (see notes on Exod 25:22 and Lev 16:2).

10:3 acacia wood: This durable desert tree is probably the species Acacia raddiana; it is the only variety that grows large enough in the Negev to produce timber for building.

10:4 the Ten Commandments: Literally the ten words. See note on 4:13.

10:5 still there: Occasionally, phrases such as this one appear in Deuteronomy, indicating that the book received final touches sometime after Moses originally composed it. At the time the book was finally edited, the stone tablets were still in the Ark.

10:6 set out from the wells of the people of Jaakan: Or set out from Beeroth of Bene-jaakan.

¹⁰As for me, I stayed on the mountain in the LORD's presence for forty days and nights, as I had done the first time. And once again the LORD listened to my pleas and agreed not to destroy you. ¹¹Then the LORD said to me, 'Get up and resume the journey, and lead the people to the land I swore to give to their ancestors, so they may take possession of it.'

A Call to Love and Obedience

¹²And now, Israel, what does the LORD your God require of you? He requires only that you fear the LORD your God, and live in a way that pleases him, and love him and serve him with all your heart and soul. ¹³And you must always obey the LORD's commands and decrees that I am giving you today for your own good.

¹⁴Look, the highest heavens and the earth and everything in it all belong to the LORD your God. ¹⁵Yet the LORD chose your ancestors as the objects of his love. And he chose you, their descendants, above all other nations, as is evident today. ¹⁶Therefore, change your hearts and stop being stubborn.

¹⁷For the LORD your God is the God of gods and Lord of lords. He is the great God, the mighty and awesome God, who shows no partiality and cannot be bribed. ¹⁸He ensures that orphans and widows receive justice. He shows love to the foreigners living among you and gives them food and clothing. ¹⁹So you, too, must show love to foreigners, for you yourselves were once foreigners in the land of Egypt. ²⁰You must fear the LORD your God and worship him and cling to him. Your oaths must be in his name alone. ²¹He alone is your God, the only one who is worthy of your praise, the one who has done these mighty miracles that you have seen with your own eyes. ²²When your ancestors went down into Egypt, there were only seventy of them. But now the LORD your God has made you as numerous as the stars in the sky!

11 "You must love the LORD your God and always obey his requirements, decrees, regulations, and commands. ²Keep in mind that I am not talking now to your children, who have never experienced the discipline of the LORD your God or seen his greatness and his strong hand and powerful arm. ³They didn't see the miraculous signs and wonders he performed in Egypt against Pharaoh and all his land. ⁴They didn't see what the LORD did to the armies of Egypt and to their horses and chariots—how he drowned them in the Red Sea as they were chasing you. He destroyed them, and they have not recovered to this very day!

⁵Your children didn't see how the LORD cared for you in the wilderness until you arrived here. ⁶They didn't see what he did to Dathan and Abiram (the sons of Eliab, a descendant of Reuben) when the earth opened its mouth in the Israelite camp and swallowed them, along with their households and tents and every living thing that belonged to them. ⁷But you have seen the LORD perform all these mighty deeds with your own eyes!

The Blessings of Obedience

⁸Therefore, be careful to obey every command I am giving you today, so you may have strength to go in and take over the land you are about to enter. ⁹If you obey, you will enjoy a long life in the land the LORD swore to give to your ancestors and to you, their

10:10
Deut 9:18

10:12
Deut 6:5
Mic 6:8

10:14
1 Kgs 8:27
Ps 68:33; 115:16

10:16
Lev 26:41-42
Deut 9:6
Jer 4:4

10:17
Deut 1:17; 16:19
Ps 136:2

10:18
Exod 22:22-24
Ps 68:5; 103:6

10:19
Exod 22:21
Lev 19:34

10:20
Deut 5:11; 6:13
'yare' (3372)
+ Deut 17:19

10:21
Exod 15:2
Ps 109:1

10:22
Gen 46:27
Deut 1:10

11:1
Lev 18:29-30
Deut 6:5-6; 10:12-13

11:2
Deut 5:24

11:4
Exod 14:28; 15:4

11:6
Num 16:31; 26:10-11

11:8
Deut 31:6-7, 23
Josh 1:6-7

11:9
Deut 4:40; 5:33; 9:5
Prov 10:27

10:12–11:32 Moses here appends to the covenant stipulations (chs 5–11) a list of curses and blessings similar to those that follow the whole covenant text in chs 27–28.

10:12–13 fear the LORD your God: The fear of God is not terror from dread of his wrath. Rather, God wanted his people to recognize their finiteness and unworthiness in his divine presence (see notes on 7:21 and Prov 1:7).

10:16 change your hearts (literally circumcise the foreskin of your hearts): This figure of speech encompasses both inward and outward conformity to the covenant (Gen 17:9–14; Rom 2:28–29).

10:17 The phrase God of gods does not affirm the existence of other gods; rather, it affirms God's absolute sovereignty over all powers in heaven and earth. The Hebrew 'elohim, translated gods, can also refer to angels or other powerful beings (see Ps 82:1). • shows no partiality: God is not impressed with people who hold power and influence, and therefore he offers them no privileged consideration (see 1:17).

10:18 foreigners (literally sojourners): "A rabble of non-Israelites" (Exod 12:38) came out of Egypt with the Israelites, and others later took up residence in Israel for various reasons. Some of these non-Israelites had no intention of becoming part of the covenant nation, but other foreigners, while not citizens of Israel, were God-fearers or potential proselytes. They lacked full equality with the Israelites and thus were often victims of neglect and discrimination.

10:22 numerous as the stars: See note on 1:10.

11:3 signs and wonders: See notes on 6:22 and 7:19.

11:4 The common translation Red Sea (literally sea of reeds) comes from the Greek OT. It was called the "Sea of Reeds" because of the marshy plants that grew along its shores.

11:6 Dathan and Abiram: See Num 16:1–40. In the Lord's administration of his kingdom, he established levels of authority and command that were not to be transgressed. Because the Lord had appointed Moses and Aaron as leaders, the rebellion of Dathan and Abiram against Moses was the same as rebellion against God's sovereign rule.

11:9 milk and honey: See note on 6:3.

11:11
Deut 8:7-9
11:13
Deut 4:29; 6:17;
10:12
11:14
Lev 26:4-5
Deut 28:12
11:15
Deut 6:10-12
11:16
Deut 8:19; 29:18
11:17
Deut 4:26; 28:24
11:18
Exod 13:9, 16
11:19
Deut 4:9; 6:7
11:22
Deut 6:17; 10:20
11:23
Deut 4:38; 7:1
11:24
Gen 15:18
Exod 23:31
Deut 1:7-8
Josh 1:3
11:25
Exod 23:27
Deut 7:24
11:26
Deut 30:1, 15-20 11:27
ishama' (8085)
• Deut 13:4
11:29
Deut 27:12-26
Josh 8:30-35
11:30
Gen 12:6
Josh 4:19
11:31
Josh 1:11
12:1
Deut 4:9-10; 6:15
12:2
2 Kgs 17:10

descendants—a land flowing with milk and honey!¹⁰For the land you are about to enter and take over is not like the land of Egypt from which you came, where you planted your seed and made irrigation ditches with your foot as in a vegetable garden.¹¹Rather, the land you will soon take over is a land of hills and valleys with plenty of rain—¹²a land that the LORD your God cares for. He watches over it through each season of the year!

¹³"If you carefully obey the commands I am giving you today, and if you love the LORD your God and serve him with all your heart and soul,¹⁴then he will send the rains in their proper seasons—the early and late rains—so you can bring in your harvests of grain, new wine, and olive oil.¹⁵He will give you lush pastureland for your livestock, and you yourselves will have all you want to eat.

¹⁶"But be careful. Don't let your heart be deceived so that you turn away from the LORD and serve and worship other gods.¹⁷If you do, the LORD's anger will burn against you. He will shut up the sky and hold back the rain, and the ground will fail to produce its harvests. Then you will quickly die in that good land the LORD is giving you.

¹⁸"So commit yourselves wholeheartedly to these words of mine. Tie them to your hands and wear them on your forehead as reminders.¹⁹Teach them to your children. Talk about them when you are at home and when you are on the road, when you are going to bed and when you are getting up.²⁰Write them on the doorposts of your house and on your gates,²¹so that as long as the sky remains above the earth, you and your children may flourish in the land the LORD swore to give your ancestors.

²²"Be careful to obey all these commands I am giving you. Show love to the LORD your God by walking in his ways and holding tightly to him.²³Then the LORD will drive out all the nations ahead of you, though they are much greater and stronger than you, and you will take over their land.²⁴Wherever you set foot, that land will be yours. Your frontiers will stretch from the wilderness in the south to Lebanon in the north, and from the Euphrates River in the east to the Mediterranean Sea in the west.²⁵No one will be able to stand against you, for the LORD your God will cause the people to fear and dread you, as he promised, wherever you go in the whole land.

²⁶"Look, today I am giving you the choice between a blessing and a curse!²⁷You will be blessed if you obey the commands of the LORD your God that I am giving you today.²⁸But you will be cursed if you reject the commands of the LORD your God and turn away from him and worship gods you have not known before.

²⁹"When the LORD your God brings you into the land and helps you take possession of it, you must pronounce the blessing at Mount Gerizim and the curse at Mount Ebal.³⁰(These two mountains are west of the Jordan River in the land of the Canaanites who live in the Jordan Valley, near the town of Gilgal, not far from the oaks of Moreh.)³¹For you are about to cross the Jordan River to take over the land the LORD your God is giving you. When you take that land and are living in it,³²you must be careful to obey all the decrees and regulations I am giving you today.

The Specific Stipulations of the Covenant (12:1–26:15)

The LORD's Chosen Place for Worship

12"These are the decrees and regulations you must be careful to obey when you live in the land that the LORD, the God of your ancestors, is giving you. You must obey them as long as you live.

²"When you drive out the nations that live there, you must destroy all the places where they worship their gods—high on the 11:12 a land . . . your God cares for: God's care included blessing the land with all the resources his people would need to survive and prosper there.

11:24 you set foot (literally you tread the sole of your foot): This idea suggests claiming a territory by placing a foot on it or walking through it (see Gen 13:17; Josh 1:3; 14:9). • to the Mediterranean Sea in the west: Literally to the western sea.

11:26 In covenant contexts, a blessing is the outcome of obedience, while a curse is the result of disobedience (see chs 27–28).

11:29 Mount Gerizim is a prominent hill lying just west of Shechem. In later times, the Samaritans built a temple there (cp. John 4:20). • Mount Ebal is across the valley from Mount Gerizim, to the east of Shechem.

11:30 the Jordan Valley (Hebrew the Arabah): See notes on 1:1 and 4:49. • Gilgal was the site of the first camp the Israelites would make in Canaan after crossing the Jordan (Josh 4:19). It was about two miles northeast of Jericho, although its exact location is no longer certain. A line from Jericho to Shechem would pass near Gilgal. • The oaks of Moreh were near Shechem; they were where Abram had set up his first camp in Canaan (Gen 12:6) and where Jacob had later buried Laban's idols (Gen 35:4).

12:1–26:15 After Moses laid out the principles of the covenant (5:1–11:32), he moved to the application of these principles in everyday life. Passages in this section expand on the Ten Commandments and cover some of the contingencies that inevitably arise in the complexity of human relationships.

12:2 green tree: The Canaanites selected groves of trees for worship sites because mountains, up on the hills, and under every green tree. ³Break down their altars and smash their sacred pillars. Burn their Asherah poles and cut down their carved idols. Completely erase the names of their gods!

⁴Do not worship the LORD your God in the way these pagan peoples worship their gods. ⁵Rather, you must seek the LORD your God at the place of worship he himself will choose from among all the tribes—the place where his name will be honored. ⁶There you will bring your burnt offerings, your sacrifices, your ^ktithes, your sacred offerings, your offerings to fulfill a vow, your voluntary offerings, and your offerings of the firstborn animals of your herds and flocks. ⁷There you and your families will feast in the presence of the LORD your God, and you will rejoice in all you have accomplished because the LORD your God has blessed you.

⁸Your pattern of worship will change. Today all of you are doing as you please, ⁹because you have not yet arrived at the place of rest, the land the LORD your God is giving you as your special possession. ¹⁰But you will soon cross the Jordan River and live in the land the LORD your God is giving you. When he gives you rest from all your enemies and you're living safely in the land, ¹¹you must bring everything I command you—your burnt offerings, your sacrifices, your tithes, your sacred offerings, and your offerings to fulfill a vow—to the designated place of worship, the place the LORD your God chooses for his name to be honored.

¹²You must celebrate there in the presence of the LORD your God with your sons and daughters and all your servants. And remember to include the Levites who live in your towns, for they will receive no allotment of land among you. ¹³Be careful not to sacrifice your burnt offerings just anywhere you like. ¹⁴You may do so only at the place the LORD will choose within one of your tribal territories. There you must offer your burnt offerings and do everything I command you.

¹⁵But you may butcher your animals and eat their meat in any town whenever you want. You may freely eat the animals with which the LORD your God blesses you. All of you, whether ceremonially clean or unclean, may eat that meat, just as you now eat gazelle and deer. ¹⁶But you must not consume the blood. You must pour it out on the ground like water.

¹⁷But you may not eat your offerings in your hometown—neither the ^atithe of your grain and new wine and olive oil, nor the firstborn of your flocks and herds, nor any offering to fulfill a vow, nor your voluntary offerings, nor your sacred offerings. ¹⁸You must eat these in the presence of the LORD your God at the place he will choose. Eat them there with your children, your servants, and the Levites who live in your towns, celebrating in the presence of the LORD your God in all you do. ¹⁹And be very careful never to neglect the Levites as long as you live in your land.

²⁰When the LORD your God expands your territory as he has promised, and you have the urge to eat meat, you may freely eat meat whenever you want. ²¹It might happen

12:5
Exod 20:24
Deut 26:2

12:6
Deut 14:22
^kma'aser (4643)
Deut 12:17

12:7
Deut 12:12, 18; 14:26;
15:20

12:8
Judg 17:6

12:10
Josh 3:17; 11:23

12:12
Deut 10:9; 12:7, 18;
19; 26:11

12:13
Deut 12:5

12:15
Deut 12:20-23; 14:3-5

12:16
Lev 17:10-12
Deut 15:23

12:17
Deut 12:26; 14:22-23
^ama'aser (4643)
Deut 14:23

12:18
Deut 12:4-5, 26

12:20
Deut 11:24

their lush foliage demonstrated fertility. Sometimes trees were stylized in the form of wooden poles driven into the ground and dedicated to the worship of the mother goddess, Asherah (see 7:5).

12:3 sacred pillars: See note on 7:5.

• Asherah poles: The feminine counterpart to the sacred pillar was a wooden pole dedicated to the mother goddess, Asherah. • erase the names: With the destruction of all idols and every vestige of pagan worship, the names of these deities would be forgotten. Future generations would know nothing of them (see also note on 7:24).

12:5 his name will be honored: The name of the Lord represents the Lord himself. God lived among his people in a designated location by placing his name there (see Exod 3:13-14).

12:6 All of the offerings listed here are expressions of thanksgiving, fellowship, and loyalty to the Lord. In covenant relationships, the vassal offered tribute to the Great King as a sign of submission and a promise of dependability (see note on 1:31).

12:8 doing as you please: Until the Exodus, the Israelites probably worshiped at multiple shrines in Egypt. With the construction of the Tabernacle, worship was centralized and remained so with the later building of the Temple. In the future, the community would be required to assemble on stated occasions to worship the Lord collectively at the central sanctuary, although local worship by individuals, families, and even villages would continue (see Exod 20:24-26; 1 Sam 9:11-14).

12:12 The Levites, descendants of Jacob's son Levi, were set apart to serve the Lord full time in Israel's religious life (Num 18:1-7). The primary task of the Levites was to assist the priests in their various responsibilities. Because the priests and the Levites could not engage in secular pursuits, they depended on the generosity of Israel's other tribes for their livelihood (Num 18:21-24).

12:15 butcher your animals . . .

whenever you want: This instruction refers to animals for eating, not for a ritual sacrifice. • ceremonially clean or unclean: The slaughter of animals for food could take place without the slayer undergoing the purification rituals necessary when sacrificial animals were slain.

12:16 The prohibition against consuming blood pertained both to sacrificial animals and to those slain for meat. Because it represented life, blood was sacred and was to be rendered only to God. This principle is inherent in creation and preceded the law (Gen 4:10-11; 9:4-6; Lev 17:11). See also note on Lev 7:26-27.

12:18 The place he will choose was the central sanctuary—first the Tabernacle and then the Temple.

12:23
^{adam} (1818)
 * 2 Kgs 21:16
^{nepesh} (5315)
 * Job 7:11
 12:25
 Deut 4:40
 12:26
 Num 5:9-10
 Deut 12:17
 12:28
 Deut 4:40
 12:31
 Lev 18:21
 Deut 9:5; 18:10
 Ps 106:37-38
 12:32
 Deut 4:2
 13:1
 Matt 24:24
 Mark 13:22
 2 Thes 2:9
^{nabi} (5030)
 * Deut 18:15

that the designated place of worship—the place the LORD your God chooses for his name to be honored—is a long way from your home. If so, you may butcher any of the cattle, sheep, or goats the LORD has given you, and you may freely eat the meat in your hometown, as I have commanded you. ²²Anyone, whether ceremonially clean or unclean, may eat that meat, just as you do now with gazelle and deer. ²³But never consume the ^bblood, for the ^bblood is the ^clife, and you must not consume the ^clifeblood with the meat. ²⁴Instead, pour out the blood on the ground like water. ²⁵Do not consume the blood, so that all may go well with you and your children after you, because you will be doing what pleases the LORD.

²⁶Take your sacred gifts and your offerings given to fulfill a vow to the place the LORD chooses. ²⁷You must offer the meat and blood of your burnt offerings on the altar of the LORD your God. The blood of your other sacrifices must be poured out on the altar of the LORD your God, but you may eat the meat. ²⁸Be careful to obey all my commands, so that all will go well with you and your children after you, because you will be doing what is good and pleasing to the LORD your God.

²⁹When the LORD your God goes ahead of you and destroys the nations and you drive them out and live in their land, ³⁰do not fall into the trap of following their customs and worshiping their gods. Do not inquire about their gods, saying, 'How do these nations worship their gods? I want to follow their example.' ³¹You must not worship the LORD your God the way the other nations worship their gods, for they perform for their gods every detestable act that the LORD hates. They even burn their sons and daughters as sacrifices to their gods.

³²So be careful to obey all the commands I give you. You must not add anything to them or subtract anything from them.

A Warning against Idolatry

13 "Suppose there are ^aprophets among you or those who dream dreams about the future, and they promise you signs or miracles, ²and the predicted signs or miracles occur. If they then say, 'Come,

The Central Sanctuary (12:4-7)

Deut 31:14-15
 Exod 25:8-9, 22,
 40; 26:30; 33:7-11;
 40:34-35
 Num 7:1; 11:16
 1 Kgs 8:10-11, 27
 John 1:14; 2:19-21
 Acts 7:44
 1 Cor 3:16-17;
 6:19-20
 2 Cor 6:16
 Eph 2:21
 Heb 8:2, 5
 Rev 21:22

God wanted worship to be carried out only in the place where he had established his name. For Israel, this place was the Tabernacle and later the Temple in Jerusalem.

God is transcendent (above all things) and omnipresent (present everywhere), yet he chose one place for Israel to worship him. Solomon later asked how the God of heaven could be housed in a human structure (1 Kgs 8:27). The answer is that God's name stands in his place. The Tabernacle and then the Temple belonged to him and bore his name, so they were, in a sense, his dwelling places. In the ancient Near East, names were more than labels: They represented the character and nature of the named individuals (e.g., Jacob, Gen 27:36; Jesus, Matt 1:21; Barnabas, Acts 4:36; Peter, John 1:42; 1 Cor 1:12; 9:5). Thus the ancient Hebrew sage could advise, "Choose a good reputation [literally name] over great riches" (Prov 22:1).

God made his home in a sanctuary that bore his name. His glorious presence manifested in fire and cloud during the wilderness wanderings served as a constant reminder that his name was there (Exod 40:34-35; see also 1 Kgs 8:10-11) and that he was at home among his people (cp. John 1:14; 2:19-21; 1 Cor 3:16-17; 6:19-20; 2 Cor 6:16; Eph 2:21; Rev 21:22).

12:21 you may butcher: Because an animal's blood was considered sacred (see Gen 9:4-6), even meat intended for human consumption was to be slaughtered at the central designated place of worship if that was at all practical (cp. Lev 17:8-9); if not, the animal could be sacrificed locally, but the blood still had to be disposed of in a ritually appropriate manner (12:23-25; cp. Lev 17:10-12).

12:23 the blood is the life: In this figure of speech, the means (blood) is equated with the effect (life). Since life is sacred, its vehicle, the blood, is also sacred (see also Lev 17:11).

12:27 you may eat the meat: The exception was meat sacrificed in burnt offerings, which was to be given to the Lord and wholly consumed in the fire (see Lev 1:3-17 and note).

12:31 burn their sons and daughters: Human sacrifice was one of the most abhorrent practices of ancient pagan religions. The Ammonites believed that their god Molech required such sacrifice from his worshipers (Lev 18:21; 20:2; 2 Kgs 23:10; Jer 32:35).

12:32 Verse 12:32 is numbered 13:1 in the Hebrew text.

13:1-18 Prophets who tried to lead Israel away from the one true God were guilty of treason, which carried the death penalty. No other religion insisted on exclusive worship of their national gods; consequently, such harsh penalties for the worship of competing deities were unknown elsewhere in the ancient Near East.

* Verses 13:1-18 are numbered 13:2-19 in Hebrew text.

13:1 God performed signs and miracles to induce amazement and faith in those who witnessed them (see 6:22). False prophets and magicians were able to replicate these feats to a degree and thus sometimes led God's people astray (see Exod 7:11, 22; 8:7).

let us worship other gods'—gods you have not known before—³do not listen to them. The LORD your God is testing you to see if you truly love him with all your heart and soul. ⁴Serve only the LORD your God and fear him alone. Obey his commands, ⁵listen to his voice, and cling to him. ⁶The false prophets or visionaries who try to lead you astray must be put to death, for they encourage rebellion against the LORD your God, who redeemed you from slavery and brought you out of the land of Egypt. Since they try to lead you astray from the way the LORD your God commanded you to live, you must put them to death. In this way you will purge the evil from among you.

⁶Suppose someone secretly entices you—even your brother, your son or daughter, your beloved wife, or your closest friend—and says, 'Let us go worship other gods'—gods that neither you nor your ancestors have known. ⁷They might suggest that you worship the gods of peoples who live nearby or who come from the ends of the earth. ⁸But do not give in or listen. Have no pity, and do not spare or protect them. ⁹You must put them to death! Strike the first blow yourself, and then all the people must join in. ¹⁰Stone the guilty ones to death because they have tried to draw you away from the LORD your God, who rescued you from the land of Egypt, the place of slavery. ¹¹Then all Israel will hear about it and be afraid, and no one will act so wickedly again.

¹²When you begin living in the towns the LORD your God is giving you, you may hear ¹³that ¹⁴scoundrels among you are leading their fellow citizens astray by saying, 'Let us go worship other gods'—gods you have not known before. ¹⁴In such cases, you must examine the facts carefully. If you find that the report is true and such a detestable act has been committed among you, ¹⁵you must attack that town and completely destroy all its inhabitants, as well as all the livestock. ¹⁶Then you must pile all the plunder in the middle of the open square and burn it. Burn the entire town as a burnt offering to the LORD your God. That town must remain a ruin forever; it may never be rebuilt. ¹⁷Keep none of the plunder that has been set apart for destruction. Then the LORD will turn from his fierce anger and be merciful to you. He will have compassion on you and make you a large nation, just as he swore to your ancestors.

¹⁸"The LORD your God will be merciful only if you listen to his voice and keep all his commands that I am giving you today, doing what pleases him.

Ceremonially Clean and Unclean Animals

14"Since you are the people of the LORD your God, never cut yourselves or shave the hair above your foreheads in mourning for the dead. ²You have been set apart as holy to the LORD your God, and he has ³chosen you from all the nations of the earth to be his own special treasure.

³"You must not eat any detestable animals that are ceremonially unclean. ⁴These are the animals you may eat: the ox, the sheep, the goat, ⁵the deer, the gazelle, the roe deer, the wild goat, the addax, the antelope, and the mountain sheep.

⁶"You may eat any animal that has completely split hooves and chews the cud, ⁷but if the animal doesn't have both, it may not

13:3
Deut 6:5; 8:2, 16

13:4
Deut 10:20
⁵*shama* (8085)
• Deut 28:1

13:5
Deut 13:9; 17:5, 22:21

13:6
Deut 17:2-7; 29:18

13:8
Deut 7:2

13:9
Lev 24:13-14
Deut 13:5; 17:7

13:11
Deut 19:20

13:13
Deut 13:2
¹⁴*beliya'al* (1100)
• Judg 19:22

13:16
Deut 7:25-26
Josh 6:24

13:17
Exod 32:12
Num 25:4
Deut 7:13; 30:3

13:18
Deut 12:28

14:1
Lev 19:27-28
Jer 16:6

14:2
Exod 19:5
³*bakhar* (0977)
• Deut 21:5

14:3-20
//Lev 11:1-43

14:3
Ezek 4:14

14:4
Acts 10:14

13:3 testing you to see if: See note on 8:2.

13:5 visionaries: Literally dreamer of dreams. • purge (literally burn): God wanted false prophets to be completely eliminated, leaving no residue of their evil ways. See also 17:12; 19:13.

13:6 neither you nor your ancestors have known: The Israelites had heard of these false gods before, but they had never worshiped them. Doing so would violate the first two commandments, the essence of the covenant.

13:9 Strike the first blow yourself: Because the guilty parties would be members of one's own family (13:6), this difficult demand would test the depth of a person's commitment to worship the Lord exclusively. Love for God must take priority over love for family members and friends (Matt 10:34-39).

13:13 scoundrels (literally sons of Belial): In Hebrew, "son(s) of" often expresses group affiliation or shared characteristics. Scoundrels typically deceived others and led them astray (Prov 6:12; 16:27; 19:28; Nah 1:11).

13:14 A detestable act is any deed or even thought that is offensive to God (see notes on 7:25-26; 12:31).

13:15 completely destroy: See note on 2:34; similarly in 13:17.

13:16 The spoils of war, or plunder, were not to be kept. God had designated them for complete destruction (see 2:34; Lev 27:28-29).

14:1-21 See "Clean and Unclean" at Lev 11:1-15:33, p. 213.

14:1 cut yourselves: This pagan custom was usually associated with mourning rites, perhaps to induce the dead to come back to life (see 1 Kgs 18:28; Zech 13:4-6). • shave the hair: This practice also pertained to lament for the dead

(see Lev 19:27-28; 21:5-6), but the exact meaning of this rite is unknown.

14:2 The fundamental Hebrew meaning of holy focuses on separation of a person or thing for a particular function or use. A derivative meaning is "pure" or "morally and spiritually upright."

• special treasure: See note on 7:6.

14:4 These are the animals: The identification of some of the animals and birds listed in this chapter is uncertain.

14:6 split hooves and chews the cud: These criteria distinguished edible animals listed in 14:4-5 from those listed in 14:7-8. Although the people experienced health benefits from observing these restrictions, a thing was actually clean or unclean only because God declared it to be such.

14:7 The hyrax (or coney, or rock badger) was a rabbit-sized, hoofed mammal.

14:12
Lev 11:13
14:19
Lev 11:20
14:21
Exod 23:19; 34:26
Lev 17:15; 22:8
Deut 14:2
Ezek 4:14
14:22
Deut 12:6, 17
14:23
Deut 4:10; 12:4
h'ma'aser (4643)
2 Chr 31:5
14:24
Deut 12:5, 21
14:26
Deut 12:7
14:27
Num 18:20
Deut 12:12
14:28
Deut 26:12
14:29
Deut 16:11; 24:19
15:1
Deut 31:10-11

be eaten. So you may not eat the camel, the hare, or the hyrax. They chew the cud but do not have split hooves, so they are ceremonially unclean for you.⁸ And you may not eat the pig. It has split hooves but does not chew the cud, so it is ceremonially unclean for you. You may not eat the meat of these animals or even touch their carcasses.

⁹Of all the marine animals, you may eat whatever has both fins and scales.¹⁰ You may not, however, eat marine animals that do not have both fins and scales. They are ceremonially unclean for you.

¹¹You may eat any bird that is ceremonially clean.¹² These are the birds you may not eat: the griffon vulture, the bearded vulture, the black vulture,¹³ the kite, the falcon, buzzards of all kinds,¹⁴ ravens of all kinds,¹⁵ the eagle owl, the short-eared owl, the seagull, hawks of all kinds,¹⁶ the little owl, the great owl, the barn owl,¹⁷ the desert owl, the Egyptian vulture, the cormorant,¹⁸ the stork, herons of all kinds, the hoopoe, and the bat.

¹⁹All winged insects that walk along the ground are ceremonially unclean for you and may not be eaten.²⁰ But you may eat any winged bird or insect that is ceremonially clean.

²¹You must not eat anything that has died a natural death. You may give it to a foreigner living in your town, or you may sell it to a stranger. But do not eat it yourselves, for you are set apart as holy to the LORD your God.

"You must not cook a young goat in its mother's milk.

The Giving of Tithes

²²"You must set aside a tithe of your crops—one-tenth of all the crops you harvest each year.²³ Bring this tithe to the designated place of worship—the place the LORD your God chooses for his name to be honored—and eat it there in his presence. This applies to your ²⁴tithes of grain, new wine, olive oil, and the firstborn males of your flocks and herds. Doing this will teach you always to fear the LORD your God.

²⁴Now when the LORD your God blesses you with a good harvest, the place of worship he chooses for his name to be honored might be too far for you to bring the tithe.²⁵ If so, you may sell the tithe portion of your crops and herds, put the money in a pouch, and go to the place the LORD your God has chosen.²⁶ When you arrive, you may use the money to buy any kind of food you want—cattle, sheep, goats, wine, or other alcoholic drink. Then feast there in the presence of the LORD your God and celebrate with your household.²⁷ And do not neglect the Levites in your town, for they will receive no allotment of land among you.

²⁸At the end of every third year, bring the entire tithe of that year's harvest and store it in the nearest town.²⁹ Give it to the Levites, who will receive no allotment of land among you, as well as to the foreigners living among you, the orphans, and the widows in your towns, so they can eat and be satisfied. Then the LORD your God will bless you in all your work.

Release for Debtors

15"At the end of every seventh year you must cancel the debts of everyone who owes you money.² This is how it must be done. Everyone must cancel the loans they have made to their fellow Israelites.

14:8 The instruction not to touch their carcasses was primarily to maintain ritual purity.

14:11-18 These animals are grouped as flying animals that eat rotting flesh.

14:19-20 winged insects: Cp. Lev 11:20-23.

14:21 Animals that had died a natural death were considered unclean (even if considered clean while living) because they had not been slaughtered according to ritual protocol and their blood had not been properly drained and disposed of (see 12:23-25). • You must not cook a young goat in its mother's milk: A common explanation for why this pagan practice was improper is that it displayed insensitivity to the natural feelings of affection and trust between mothers and their offspring (see 28:56-57).

14:22-27 set aside a tithe: The ancient practice of giving a tenth preceded the law of Moses (Gen 14:20; 28:22) and existed in other ancient cultures. Here it is viewed as a tax or tribute collected by the sovereign Lord from his vassals (see notes on 1:31 and 12:6).

14:23 The place the LORD your God chooses for his name to be honored (literally the place he will cause his name to dwell) was the central sanctuary, the Lord's dwelling on the earth among his people (see 12:5, 18).

14:26 Both wine and other alcoholic drink were used in worship ceremonies (Gen 14:18; 35:14; Exod 29:40-41; Matt 26:27) and in celebrations; they signified God's blessing (Gen 27:25, 28; 49:11; 1 Chr 12:40; Ps 104:15; Song 4:10; 5:1; Isa 25:6; Matt 26:29).

14:27 Because the Levites had no geographic inheritance of their own and were forbidden to engage in secular work, they depended on the support of other tribes (see 12:12).

14:28 An annual tithe was required of all adult Israelite males as part of their festival observances (15:20; 16:16-17). The tithe every third year met the needs of the Levites and other dependent classes in Israelite society (14:29). See note on Lev 27:30.

15:1-23 The Law included the regulation of borrowing and lending so that the poor could survive deprivation. It provided restrictions to allow the rich to minister to the needs of the poor without exploiting them.

15:1 cancel the debts: This technical term refers to releasing people in financial bondage from their creditors and from any penalty for their default.

15:2 The time of release was to occur every seventh year across the nation

They must not demand payment from their neighbors or relatives, for the LORD's time of release has arrived. ³This release from debt, however, applies only to your fellow Israelites—not to the foreigners living among you.

⁴"There should be no poor among you, for the LORD your God will greatly bless you in the land he is giving you as a special possession. ⁵You will receive this blessing if you are careful to obey all the commands of the LORD your God that I am giving you today. ⁶The LORD your God will bless you as he has promised. You will lend money to many nations but will never need to borrow. You will rule many nations, but they will not rule over you.

⁷"But if there are any poor Israelites in your towns when you arrive in the land the LORD your God is giving you, do not be hard-hearted or tightfisted toward them. ⁸Instead, be generous and lend them whatever they need. ⁹Do not be mean-spirited and refuse someone a loan because the year for canceling debts is close at hand. If you refuse to make the loan and the needy person cries out to the LORD, you will be considered guilty of sin. ¹⁰Give generously to the poor, not grudgingly, for the LORD your God will bless you in everything you do. ¹¹There will always be some in the land who are poor. That is why I am commanding you to share freely with the poor and with other Israelites in need.

Release for Hebrew Slaves

¹²"If a fellow Hebrew sells himself or herself to be your servant and serves you for six years, in the seventh year you must set that servant free.

¹³"When you release a male servant, do not send him away empty-handed. ¹⁴Give him a generous farewell gift from your flock, your threshing floor, and your winepress. Share with him some of the bounty with which the LORD your God has blessed you. ¹⁵Remember that you were once slaves in the land of Egypt and the LORD your God redeemed you! That is why I am giving you this command.

¹⁶"But suppose your servant says, 'I will not leave you,' because he loves you and your family, and he has done well with you. ¹⁷In that case, take an awl and push it through his earlobe into the door. After that, he will be your servant for life. And do the same for your female servants.

¹⁸"You must not consider it a hardship when you release your servants. Remember that for six years they have given you services worth double the wages of hired workers, and the LORD your God will bless you in all you do.

Sacrificing Firstborn Male Animals

¹⁹"You must set aside for the LORD your God all the firstborn males from your flocks and herds. Do not use the firstborn of your herds to work your fields, and do not shear the firstborn of your flocks. ²⁰Instead, you and your family must eat these animals in the presence of the LORD your God each year at the place he chooses. ²¹But if this firstborn animal has any defect, such as lameness or blindness, or if anything else is wrong with it, you must not sacrifice it to the LORD your God. ²²Instead, use it for food for your family in your hometown. Anyone, whether ceremonially clean or unclean, may eat it, just as anyone may eat a gazelle or deer. ²³But you must not consume the blood. You must pour it out on the ground like water.

15:3
Deut 23:20

15:4
Deut 28:8

15:6
Deut 28:12-13

15:7
Deut 15:11

15:9
Exod 22:22-23
Deut 15:1; 24:14-15
Job 34:28

15:10
2 Cor 9:5, 7

15:11
John 12:8

15:12-18
//Exod 21:2-6

15:12
Lev 25:39
Jer 34:14

15:15
Deut 5:15; 16:12

15:16
Exod 21:5-6

15:19
Exod 13:2, 12; 34:19

15:20
Deut 12:7

15:21
Lev 22:19
Mal 1:8
¹Isabakh (2076)
¹Josh 22:27

15:22
Deut 12:15

15:23
Deut 12:16, 23-24

(the Sabbath year, Lev 25:1-7). The time frame followed the calendar rather than the length of the loan arrangement. This meant that the year of release could fall as soon as a year after a loan was made.

15:4 If Israel lived in perfect obedience to the covenant, there would be no poor in the nation. However, this ideal was never realized in ancient Israel, and poverty was very much an issue.

15:6 You will lend money to many nations: An obedient Israel would become an affluent nation able to provide international aid. This bounty would bear testimony to God's promise to Abraham that his seed would be a blessing to all nations (Gen 12:2-3; 17:4-6; 26:3-4).

15:11 The reality that there will always be some . . . who are poor in a fallen world is no excuse for indifference to their plight. Instead, it should emphasize the need for the rich to contribute to the well-being of the poor (Matt 26:6-13).

15:12 If a fellow Hebrew sells himself or herself to be your servant (or if a Hebrew man or woman is sold to you): This arrangement allowed a debtor to work off financial obligations to a creditor. The limit of this arrangement was seven years (but see 15:16-17).

15:16 he loves you: In the context of a covenant, this phrase speaks of a binding relationship with both legal and emotional overtones.

15:17 push it through his earlobe: This disfigurement publicly indicated that a bondservant had voluntarily indentured himself to his master for life. This might be what Paul meant when he said "I bear on my body the scars that show I belong to Jesus" (Gal 6:17).

15:18 worth double the wages: Because a bondservant worked all day, every day, his output was more than that of a day laborer, who merely put in his shift.

15:19 The firstborn males of livestock represented the firstborn sons of Israel who had been spared from death in the tenth plague (Exod 12:12, 29; 13:2, 12; 22:29).

15:21 A defect was any imperfection that devalued an animal; it was no sacrifice to give up something that was of little or no worth to begin with (2 Sam 24:24).

15:23 The blood of an animal was seen as synonymous with its life, the most sacred of God's creations, so it was sacrilegious to consume it (see 12:16).

16:1-8
//Exod 12:14-20
//Lev 23:4-8
//Num 28:16-25

16:1
Exod 12:2
Num 28:16
pesakh (6453)
• Josh 5:10

16:2
Exod 12:5

16:3
Exod 12:8, 15; 34:18

16:4
Exod 13:7; 34:25

16:6
Deut 12:5

16:7
2 Chr 35:13

16:9-12
//Lev 23:15-22
//Num 28:26-31

16:9
Exod 23:16; 34:22
Lev 23:15
Num 28:26

16:10
khag (2282)
• Deut 16:14

16:11
Deut 12:7, 12; 14:29;
24:19

16:12
Deut 15:15

16:13-17
//Lev 23:33-43
//Num 29:12-39

16:13
Lev 23:16, 40

16:14
khag (2282)
• Deut 16:16

16:16
Exod 23:14-17; 34:20, 22-24
khag (2282)
• 2 Chr 30:21

Passover and the Festival of Unleavened Bread

16 "In honor of the LORD your God, celebrate the ¹Passover each year in the early spring, in the month of Abib, for that was the month in which the LORD your God brought you out of Egypt by night. ²Your Passover sacrifice may be from either the flock or the herd, and it must be sacrificed to the LORD your God at the designated place of worship—the place he chooses for his name to be honored. ³Eat it with bread made without yeast. For seven days the bread you eat must be made without yeast, as when you escaped from Egypt in such a hurry. Eat this bread—the bread of suffering—so that as long as you live you will remember the day you departed from Egypt. ⁴Let no yeast be found in any house throughout your land for those seven days. And when you sacrifice the Passover lamb on the evening of the first day, do not let any of the meat remain until the next morning.

⁵"You may not sacrifice the Passover in just any of the towns that the LORD your God is giving you. ⁶You must offer it only at the designated place of worship—the place the LORD your God chooses for his name to be honored. Sacrifice it there in the evening as the sun goes down on the anniversary of your exodus from Egypt. ⁷Roast the lamb and eat it in the place the LORD your God chooses. Then you may go back to your tents the next morning. ⁸For the next six days you may not eat any bread made with yeast. On the seventh day proclaim another holy day in honor of the LORD your God, and no work may be done on that day.

The Festival of Harvest

⁹"Count off seven weeks from when you first begin to cut the grain at the time of harvest. ¹⁰Then celebrate the ⁴Festival of Harvest to honor the LORD your God. Bring him a voluntary offering in proportion to the blessings you have received from him. ¹¹This is a time to celebrate before the LORD your God at the designated place of worship he will choose for his name to be honored. Celebrate with your sons and daughters, your male and female servants, the Levites from your towns, and the foreigners, orphans, and widows who live among you. ¹²Remember that you were once slaves in Egypt, so be careful to obey all these decrees.

The Festival of Shelters

¹³"You must observe the Festival of Shelters for seven days at the end of the harvest season, after the grain has been threshed and the grapes have been pressed. ¹⁴This ⁴festival will be a happy time of celebrating with your sons and daughters, your male and female servants, and the Levites, foreigners, orphans, and widows from your towns. ¹⁵For seven days you must celebrate this festival to honor the LORD your God at the place he chooses, for it is he who blesses you with bountiful harvests and gives you success in all your work. This festival will be a time of great joy for all.

¹⁶"Each year every man in Israel must celebrate these three festivals: the ¹Festival of Unleavened Bread, the ⁴Festival of Harvest, and the ⁴Festival of Shelters. On each of these occasions, all men must appear before the LORD your God at the place he chooses, but they must not appear before 16:1-17 See chart, "Israel's Festivals," p. 235.

16:1-8 The Passover (Hebrew pesakh) was the festival marking Israel's deliverance from the tenth plague and from bondage in Egypt (see Exod 11-12; Lev 23:5-8). • The Exodus was such a significant event in Israel's history that the month of Abib, when the Exodus took place, became the beginning of Israel's annual calendar (see Exod 12:2).

16:1 In honor of the LORD your God, celebrate the Passover each year in the early spring, in the month of Abib: Literally Observe the month of Abib, and keep the Passover unto the LORD your God. Abib, the first month of the ancient Hebrew lunar calendar, usually occurs within the months of March and April.

16:2 the place . . . for his name to be honored: The Lord's name represented the Lord himself. When he placed his name in the Tabernacle or Temple, he was effectively taking up residence there (see 12:5, 18).

16:3 Although yeast frequently symbolizes corruption (Lev 6:14-17; Matt 16:11-12), it was avoided at the original Passover because the Israelites had no time to wait for yeast bread to rise (see Exod 12:10-14). The elements of the yearly Passover celebration reminded the Israelites of what God had done for them.

16:10 Festival of Harvest: Literally Festival of Weeks; also in 16:16. This was later called the Festival of Pentecost (see Acts 2:1). It is celebrated today as Shavuot (or Shabuoth). The Festival of Harvest took place seven weeks after Passover to celebrate the wheat harvest (Exod 34:22; Lev 23:15-22).

16:11 the . . . place . . . for his name to be honored: See 12:5, 18.

16:13-17 Festival of Shelters: Or Festival of Booths, or Festival of Tabernacles; also in 16:16. This was earlier called the Festival of the Final Harvest or Festival of Ingathering (see Exod 23:16). It is celebrated today as Sukkot (or Succoth). It is called the Festival of Shelters because the people of Israel were instructed to camp out for a week in crude huts made of tree limbs as a memorial to their years of wilderness wandering (Lev 23:33-43). It was also a celebration of the fall harvests.

16:16 Participation in the festival was required of every man, but women and children could participate as well (16:11, 14; cp. Luke 2:41).

the LORD without a gift for him. ¹⁷All must give as they are able, according to the blessings given to them by the LORD your God.

Justice for the People

¹⁸"Appoint judges and officials for yourselves from each of your tribes in all the towns the LORD your God is giving you. They must judge the people fairly. ¹⁹You must never twist justice or show partiality. Never accept a bribe, for bribes blind the eyes of the wise and corrupt the decisions of the godly. ²⁰Let true justice prevail, so you may live and occupy the land that the LORD your God is giving you.

²¹"You must never set up a wooden Asherah pole beside the altar you build for the LORD your God. ²²And never set up sacred pillars for worship, for the LORD your God hates them.

17 "Never sacrifice sick or defective cattle, sheep, or goats to the LORD your God, for he detests such gifts.

²⁴"When you begin living in the towns the LORD your God is giving you, a man or woman among you might do evil in the sight of the LORD your God and violate the covenant. ³For instance, they might serve other gods or worship the sun, the moon, or any of the stars—the forces of heaven—which I have strictly forbidden. ⁴When you hear about it, investigate the matter thoroughly. If it is true that this detestable thing has been done in Israel, ⁵then the man or woman who has committed such an evil act must be taken to the gates of the town and stoned to death. ⁶But never put a person to death on the testimony of only one witness. There must always be two or three witnesses. ⁷The witnesses must throw the first stones, and then all the people may join in. In this way, you will purge the evil from among you.

⁸"Suppose a case arises in a local court that is too hard for you to decide—for instance, whether someone is guilty of murder or only of manslaughter, or a difficult lawsuit, or a case involving different kinds of assault. Take such legal cases to the place the LORD your God will choose, ⁹and present them to the Levitical priests or the judge on duty at that time. They will hear the case and declare the verdict. ¹⁰You must carry out the verdict they announce and the sentence they prescribe at the place the LORD chooses. You must do exactly what they say. ¹¹After they have interpreted the law and declared their verdict, the sentence they impose must be fully executed; do not modify it in any way. ¹²Anyone arrogant enough to reject the verdict of the judge or of the priest who represents the LORD your God must die. In this way you will purge the evil from Israel. ¹³Then everyone else will hear about it and be afraid to act so arrogantly.

16:18
Exod 18:21, 26
Deut 1:16

16:19
Exod 23:2-3
Lev 19:15

16:20
'tsedeq (6664)
→ Ps 9:8

16:21
Exod 34:13
Deut 7:5

16:22
Lev 26:1

17:1
Deut 15:21

17:2
Deut 13:6-11

17:3
'tsaba (6635)
→ Josh 5:14

17:4
Deut 13:12-14

17:5
Lev 24:14

17:6
Num 35:30
Deut 19:15

17:7
Lev 24:13-14
Deut 13:9
1 Cor 5:13

17:8
Deut 12:5

17:9
'kohen (3548)
→ Deut 18:3

17:11
Deut 25:1

17:12
'zadon (2087)
→ 1 Sam 17:28

16:18–17:13 The community of Israel, like any political entity, needed leaders of different kinds to provide cohesion and guidance. The Lord directed Moses to establish an appropriate leadership structure. He also laid out the criteria for selecting the leaders and the responsibilities of each office.

16:18 The combination of the words judges and officials might suggest that here the two terms are functionally synonymous. Usually officials is a generic title applied to any public leader, but here it seems to refer to an administrator of law and justice or something like police officers, as in modern Hebrew. • fairly: The idea was to measure up to an objective standard of equity that neither public nor private pressure could alter.

16:19 show partiality: See note on 1:16-17; also see 10:17.

16:21-22 Asherah pole . . . sacred pillars: See note on 7:5; also see 12:3; Isa 27:8-9; Mic 5:13-15.

17:1 A sick or defective animal had little monetary value, so it was no sacrifice to surrender it to the Lord (cp. 15:21).

17:3 The forces of heaven are visible objects such as the sun, moon, and stars, as well as invisible beings such as angels. Worship of anyone or anything created by God is a clear violation of the second commandment (see 5:9).

17:4 Anything offensive to the Lord could be called a detestable thing (see 7:25; 12:31; 13:14).

17:5 the gates: A typical town in ancient Israel was small (about 10 acres or less) and crowded. It had few open areas except for a plaza just inside or outside the main gate where public meetings were held, including trials and other judicial proceedings. The place here is clearly outside of the town because stoning to death would not occur inside the walls (22:24; 1 Kgs 21:10) except under unusual circumstances (22:21).

17:7 The instruction for witnesses to throw the first stones guarded against unfounded allegations. False testimony carried serious consequences. Requiring a witness to take the leading role in an execution helped guarantee the reliability of his testimony; he would personally bear the guilt if he took the life of an innocent person (see John 8:1-11). • The people would purge the evil from among you by executing those whose sin brought the stain of guilt upon the community of Israel (see "Purge the Evil," facing page; cp. 1 Cor 5:12-13 and note).

17:8 whether someone is guilty of murder or only of manslaughter: In OT law, as in modern jurisprudence, murder was intentional; manslaughter was accidental (cp. 19:1-13).

17:9 priests or the judge: Both types of officials could decide matters of either a religious or a secular nature.

17:11 do not modify it: This Hebrew term envisions keeping on a straight path (cp. Prov 4:25-27; Heb 12:13). Once a verdict has been rendered, the sentence must be applied according to the law and the rules of evidence. Justice must be carried out on an unswerving path of fairness and righteousness.

17:12 purge the evil: The effects of evil should not be allowed to fester in the community. Like a cancer, they must be completely eradicated.

17:14
Deut 11:31
Josh 21:43
17:16
1 Kgs 4:26
Ezek 17:15
17:17
2 Sam 5:13
1 Kgs 11:3-4
17:18
Deut 31:9, 24
17:19
Deut 4:9-10
Josh 1:8
kyrah (3374)
• 1 Sam 7:7
17:20
Deut 5:32
18:1
Deut 10:9
1 Cor 9:13
18:2
Num 18:20
18:3
Lev 7:32
Num 18:11
kohen (3548)
• 1 Sam 2:35

Guidelines for a King

¹⁴"You are about to enter the land the LORD your God is giving you. When you take it over and settle there, you may think, 'We should select a king to rule over us like the other nations around us.' ¹⁵If this happens, be sure to select as king the man the LORD your God chooses. You must appoint a fellow Israelite; he may not be a foreigner.

¹⁶"The king must not build up a large stable of horses for himself or send his people to Egypt to buy horses, for the LORD has told you, 'You must never return to Egypt.' ¹⁷The king must not take many wives for himself, because they will turn his heart away from the LORD. And he must not accumulate large amounts of wealth in silver and gold for himself.

¹⁸"When he sits on the throne as king, he must copy for himself this body of instruction on a scroll in the presence of the Levitical priests. ¹⁹He must always keep that copy with him and read it daily as long as he lives. That way he will learn to ²⁰fear the LORD his God by obeying all the terms of these instructions and decrees. ²⁰This regular reading will prevent him from becoming proud and acting as if he is above his fellow citizens. It will also prevent him from turning away from these commands in the smallest way. And it will ensure that he and his descendants will reign for many generations in Israel.

Gifts for the Priests and Levites

18"Remember that the Levitical priests—that is, the whole of the tribe of Levi—will receive no allotment of land among the other tribes in Israel. Instead, the priests and Levites will eat from the special gifts given to the LORD, for that is their share. ²They will have no land of their own among the Israelites. The LORD himself is their special possession, just as he promised them.

³These are the parts the ⁴priests may claim as their share from the cattle, sheep, and goats that the people bring as offerings: the shoulder, the cheeks, and the stomach.

Purge the Evil (17:2-13)

Deut 9:3-6, 13:5
Lev 19:1-2
Josh 7:1-26
2 Chr 34:3-8
Isa 1:24-26; 4:2-6;
33:14
Ezek 20:32-38
Matt 18:8-9
Acts 5:1-11
Rom 14:10
1 Cor 11:27-30
2 Cor 5:10
Heb 9:27-28; 10:31;
12:28-29
Jas 5:19-20
1 Pet 4:5

Sin is so abhorrent to God that it cannot coexist with him. The same should be true for his people. God is holy, and he expects his people to reflect his holiness (Lev 11:45; 19:2).

God required severe measures to remove sins and sinners from the covenant community. God offered forgiveness, but only for the truly repentant; those who hardened their hearts could expect God's judgment—a devouring fire, a purging process that devours sinners and their sins and leaves nothing behind (see 9:3; 13:5; Isa 33:14; Heb 12:28-29). Such cleansing is meant to heal the community of believers and deter others from rebelling against the Lord (17:13).

Early in the OT, God's judgment among his people was often immediate (see, e.g., Num 11:1-3; 16:1-50; Josh 7:1-26; cp. Acts 5:1-11). God made his people aware of his demand for obedience and of the penalty for those who did not comply.

God's retribution is now reserved for the future day of judgment, when the sins of the unrighteous and the saints will be exposed and judged (Rom 14:10; 2 Cor 5:10; Heb 9:27; 1 Pet 4:5). However, some instances of calamity can be understood as God's judgment on his disobedient children (see 1 Cor 11:27-30; Jas 5:19-20). It is still a "terrible thing to fall into the hands of the living God" (Heb 10:31).

17:15 the man the LORD your God chooses: Human monarchy was not contrary to God's will for Israel (cp. 1 Sam 8:6-7). God promised Abraham and Sarah that their descendants would include kings (Gen 17:6, 16; see also Gen 35:11), but the abuses of kingship were condemned. The theology that views the Messiah in a kingly role (2 Sam 7:11-15; Pss 2; 110; Isa 9:6-7) provides for both human and divine royalty.

17:16 never return to Egypt: Going there would show a king's lack of dependence on God, who had redeemed Israel from bondage to Egypt. The best horses were found in Egypt (see 1 Kgs 10:28-29).

17:17 many wives: Polygamy is neither prohibited nor sanctioned here. This guideline was meant to moderate and regulate the practice. In the ancient world, kings married many wives to cement political alliances with other kingdoms, showing trust in human power rather than God's provision. David (2 Sam 5:13; 12:11) and Solomon (1 Kgs 11:3-4) both ignored this warning to their own great harm and that of the nation. • must not accumulate: The amassing of wealth was another sign of dependence on human resources.

17:18 This body of instruction (literally this torah) refers to the book of Deuteronomy or perhaps only to this passage concerning the Israelite monarchy. For torah, see note on 4:44.

18:1 The term Levitical priests described the entire tribe of Levi. Technically, however, only Aaron's descendants were priests. The non-priestly Levites were their assistants (see 12:12).

18:2 The LORD himself is their special possession: The allotment of the Levites was spiritual, not territorial or material. They possessed the Lord by giving their whole lives to his service. This idea is a remarkable inverse of the idea that Israel was the Lord's possession (see 7:6).

18:3 In the dietary fare of ancient Israel, the shoulder, the cheeks, and the stomach of oxen and sheep were the choice cuts. God's priestly servants were to be honored by receiving the very best (see Lev 7:28-34).

⁴You must also give to the priests the first share of the grain, the new wine, the olive oil, and the wool at shearing time. ⁵For the LORD your God chose the tribe of Levi out of all your tribes to minister in the LORD's name forever.

⁶"Suppose a Levite chooses to move from his town in Israel, wherever he is living, to the place the LORD chooses for worship. ⁷He may minister there in the name of the LORD his God, just like all his fellow Levites who are serving the LORD there. ⁸He may eat his share of the sacrifices and offerings, even if he also receives support from his family.

A Call to Holy Living

⁹"When you enter the land the LORD your God is giving you, be very careful not to imitate the detestable customs of the nations living there. ¹⁰For example, never sacrifice your son or daughter as a burnt offering. And do not let your people practice fortune-telling, or use sorcery, or interpret omens, or engage in witchcraft, ¹¹or cast spells, or function as mediums or 'psychics, or call forth the spirits of the dead. ¹²Anyone who does these things is detestable to the LORD. It is because the other nations have done these detestable things that the LORD your God will drive them out ahead of you. ¹³But you must be blameless before the LORD your God. ¹⁴The nations you are about to displace consult sorcerers and fortune-tellers, but the LORD your God forbids you to do such things."

True and False Prophets

¹⁵Moses continued, "The LORD your God will raise up for you a 'prophet like me from among your fellow Israelites. You must listen to him. ¹⁶For this is what you yourselves requested of the LORD your God when you were assembled at Mount Sinai. You said, 'Don't let us hear the voice of the LORD our God anymore or see this blazing fire, for we will die.'

¹⁷"Then the LORD said to me, 'What they have said is right. ¹⁸I will raise up a 'prophet like you from among their fellow Israelites. I will put my words in his mouth, and he will tell the people everything I command him. ¹⁹I will personally deal with anyone who will not listen to the messages the prophet proclaims on my behalf. ²⁰But any 'prophet who falsely claims to speak in my name or who speaks in the name of another god must die.'

²¹"But you may wonder, 'How will we know whether or not a prophecy is from the LORD?' ²²If the 'prophet speaks in the LORD's name but his prediction does not happen or come true, you will know that the LORD did not give that message. That 'prophet has spoken without my authority and need not be feared.

Cities of Refuge

19"When the LORD your God destroys the nations whose land he is giving you, you will take over their land and settle in their towns and homes. ²Then you must set apart three cities of refuge in the land

18:4
Exod 22:29

18:5
Exod 28:1
Deut 10:8

18:6
Num 35:2-3

18:8
Lev 27:30
Num 18:21

18:9
Deut 9:5; 12:29-30

18:10
Exod 22:18
Lev 19:26, 31; 20:6
Deut 12:31
Jer 27:9-10

18:11
'yidde'oni (3049)
• 1 Sam 28:3

18:13
Gen 6:7-10
Matt 5:48

18:15
Luke 24:19
John 1:21, 24-25
*Acts 3:22; 7:37
'nabi' (5030)
• Deut 18:18

18:16
Deut 5:23-27

18:18
*Acts 3:22
'nabi' (5030)
• Deut 18:20

18:19
Deut 17:12
*Acts 3:22
Heb 12:25

18:20
Deut 13:1-4
'nabi' (5030)
• Deut 18:22

18:22
Jer 28:9
'nabi' (5030)
• Judg 4:4

19:1
Deut 6:10-12

18:8 support from his family: Although Levites were in full-time ministry at the Tabernacle and (later) the Temple, they could still hold material assets of their own (see Num 35:1-8). The Levites were to be supported by the regular offerings designated for that purpose without having to forfeit any of their own assets.

18:10 never sacrifice your son or daughter as a burnt offering (or never make your son or daughter pass through the fire): Some Canaanite religions included child sacrifice to appease their gods. Israel was strictly warned never to engage in this practice (Exod 34:15-16; Lev 18:21; 20:2-5). When they did, it aroused God's judgment (2 Kgs 17:16-17; 21:6; Ezek 23:37). • fortune-telling: Throughout the ancient Near East, diviners were considered experts at reading and interpreting omens. Divination was commonly done through extispicy, the examination of livers, kidneys, and other internal organs of various animals. • sorcery: Sorcerers conjured up the spirits of the dead. • Divining cups were often used to interpret omens

(see Gen 44:5). Drops of oil would be placed in containers of water, and the spread of the oil communicated some message to the expert. A parallel would be reading tea leaves. • The practice of witchcraft included performing unusual acts or signs (Exod 7:11) to mislead people (Mal 3:5).

18:11 cast spells: These incantations were to destroy or injure others by invoking curses on them. The false prophet Balaam was hired for this purpose against Israel (Num 22:2-6). • Mediums and psychics were especially adept at conjuring up and communicating with the spirits of the dead (see 1 Sam 28:3-25).

18:15 A prophet like me would be beyond the ordinary because Moses was without peer among the prophets (see 34:10-11). This prophet would be from among your fellow Israelites (literally from among your brothers), and Israel was required to listen to him (18:19). The prophets of OT Israel would partially fulfill the function of God's spokesman to whom Israel must listen. Later, Judaism looked for this prophet as a major messianic figure (see John 1:21; 6:14; 7:40); the NT identifies Jesus as this prophet (Acts 3:18-26).

18:16 Mount Sinai: Hebrew Horeb, another name for Sinai; see note on 1:2.

18:18 The prophet (18:15) would be the Lord's spokesman, as Moses was (see 4:10-17; Exod 7:1).

18:19 Not to listen to the Lord's spokesman is not to listen to the Lord.

18:22 Any prophet whose prediction fails must be branded as false, even if he claims to speak for God. The mere claim is insufficient if it goes unfulfilled.

19:1-13 Cities of refuge (19:2) were strategically located throughout the land so those accused of homicide could find protective sanctuary until their cases came to trial (see 4:41; Num 35:6-29).

19:2 The three cities were those in Canaan, west of the Jordan; there were three more in Transjordan (see Num 35:13-14; Josh 20:7).

19:2 Deut 4:41-42
Josh 20:2
19:4 Num 35:9-34
19:8 Deut 11:24
19:9 Deut 6:5; 11:22
19:10 Num 35:33
Deut 21:1-9
19:12 ʿzaqen (2205)
* Deut 21:3
19:13 Deut 7:2
19:14 Deut 27:17
Prov 23:10-11
19:15 Num 35:30
Deut 17:6
*Matt 18:16
*2 Cor 13:1
19:16 Exod 23:1
19:17 Deut 17:9; 21:5
19:19 *1 Cor 5:13
Prov 19:5
19:21 Exod 21:24
Lev 24:20
*Matt 5:38
20:1 Deut 3:22; 31:6-8
20:2 Num 10:8; 31:6
20:3 Josh 23:10

the LORD your God is giving you. ³Survey the territory, and divide the land the LORD your God is giving you into three districts, with one of these cities in each district. Then anyone who has killed someone can flee to one of the cities of refuge for safety.

⁴"If someone kills another person unintentionally, without previous hostility, the slayer may flee to any of these cities to live in safety. ⁵For example, suppose someone goes into the forest with a neighbor to cut wood. And suppose one of them swings an ax to chop down a tree, and the ax head flies off the handle, killing the other person. In such cases, the slayer may flee to one of the cities of refuge to live in safety.

⁶"If the distance to the nearest city of refuge is too far, an enraged avenger might be able to chase down and kill the person who caused the death. Then the slayer would die unfairly, since he had never shown hostility toward the person who died. ⁷That is why I am commanding you to set aside three cities of refuge.

⁸"And if the LORD your God enlarges your territory, as he swore to your ancestors, and gives you all the land he promised them, ⁹you must designate three additional cities of refuge. (He will give you this land if you are careful to obey all the commands I have given you—if you always love the LORD your God and walk in his ways.) ¹⁰That way you will prevent the death of innocent people in the land the LORD your God is giving you as your special possession. You will not be held responsible for the death of innocent people.

¹¹"But suppose someone is hostile toward a neighbor and deliberately ambushes and murders him and then flees to one of the cities of refuge. ¹²In that case, the elders of the murderer's hometown must send agents to the city of refuge to bring him back and hand him over to the dead person's avenger to be put to death. ¹³Do not feel sorry for that murderer! Purge from Israel the guilt of murdering innocent people; then all will go well with you.

Concern for Justice

¹⁴"When you arrive in the land the LORD your God is giving you as your special possession, you must never steal anyone's land by moving the boundary markers your ancestors set up to mark their property.

¹⁵"You must not convict anyone of a crime on the testimony of only one witness. The facts of the case must be established by the testimony of two or three witnesses.

¹⁶"If a malicious witness comes forward and accuses someone of a crime, ¹⁷then both the accuser and accused must appear before the LORD by coming to the priests and judges in office at that time. ¹⁸The judges must investigate the case thoroughly. If the accuser has brought false charges against his fellow Israelite, ¹⁹you must impose on the accuser the sentence he intended for the other person. In this way, you will purge such evil from among you. ²⁰Then the rest of the people will hear about it and be afraid to do such an evil thing. ²¹You must show no pity for the guilty! Your rule should be life for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot.

Regulations concerning War

20"When you go out to fight your enemies and you face horses and chariots and an army greater than your own, do not be afraid. The LORD your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, is with you! ²When you prepare for battle, the priest must come forward to speak to the troops. ³He will say to them, 'Listen to me, all you men of Israel! Do not be afraid as you 19:3 Survey the territory: Or Keep the roads in good repair.

19:4 A slayer who kills . . . unintentionally does not plan ahead of time to commit the act (see 17:8).

19:6 avenger (literally the redeemer of blood): The law allowed murder to be avenged by members of the victim's family. When they found the killer, they could put him to death (Num 35:16-21). The idea was that blood shed by the victim must be paid for by the blood of the person responsible for the act (see Gen 4:15; 9:6). In this way, the land polluted by the shed blood could be purified (Num 35:33-34).

19:9 If Israel proved faithful to the covenant (19:8), God would grant the nation even more territory, so much so that three additional cities of refuge would be needed. Sadly, this need never arose because of Israel's disobedience to the Lord.

19:11 The Hebrew term rendered is hostile (literally is a hater) indicates a constant and long-standing hateful attitude, which constituted evidence that the killer was predisposed to commit a crime and therefore probably did it.

19:13 Purge (literally burn): The only way for the land to be free of culpability in matters of homicide was for blood vengeance to be enacted, which would burn out the impurity. See also 13:5; 17:12.

19:15 The word of one witness alone would count no more than the word of the accused. However, two or three witnesses would confirm or discount each other's testimony. For NT references to this law, see Matt 18:15-20; John 8:17-18; 2 Cor 13:1-2 and note.

19:21 The legal principle described as life for life is known as lex talionis ("law of retaliation"), according to which the punishment must fit the crime (see Exod 21:23; Lev 24:20); it should be neither too lenient nor too severe. Appropriate punishment is a necessary function of government (cp. Rom 13:1-7), and it served to maintain Israel's spiritual integrity as God's people (see note on 17:7). But vengeance belongs to God, not individuals (see 1 Sam 25:26, 33; Matt 5:38-39; 1 Cor 6:1-8).

go out to fight your enemies today! Do not lose heart or panic or tremble before them. ⁴For the LORD your God is going with you! He will fight for you against your enemies, and he will give you victory!

⁵Then the officers of the army must address the troops and say, 'Has anyone here just built a new house but not yet dedicated it? If so, you may go home! You might be killed in the battle, and someone else would dedicate your house. ⁶Has anyone here just planted a vineyard but not yet eaten any of its fruit? If so, you may go home! You might die in battle, and someone else would eat the first fruit. ⁷Has anyone here just become engaged to a woman but not yet married her? Well, you may go home and get married! You might die in the battle, and someone else would marry her.'

⁸Then the officers will also say, 'Is anyone here afraid or worried? If you are, you may go home before you frighten anyone else.' ⁹When the officers have finished speaking to their troops, they will appoint the unit commanders.

¹⁰As you approach a town to attack it, you must first offer its people terms for peace. ¹¹If they accept your terms and open the gates to you, then all the people inside will serve you in forced labor. ¹²But if they refuse to make peace and prepare to fight, you must attack the town. ¹³When the LORD your God hands the town over to you, use your swords to kill every man in the town. ¹⁴But you may keep for yourselves all the women, children, livestock, and other plunder. You may enjoy the plunder from your enemies that the LORD your God has given you.

¹⁵But these instructions apply only to distant towns, not to the towns of the nations in the land you will enter. ¹⁶In those towns that the LORD your God is giving you as a special possession, destroy every living thing. ¹⁷You must completely destroy the Hittites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites, just as the LORD your God has commanded you. ¹⁸This will prevent the people of the land from teaching you to imitate their detestable customs in the worship of their gods, which would cause you to ⁴sin deeply against the LORD your God.

¹⁹When you are attacking a town and the war drags on, you must not cut down the trees with your axes. You may eat the fruit, but do not cut down the trees. Are the trees your enemies, that you should attack them? ²⁰You may only cut down trees that you know are not valuable for food. Use them to make the equipment you need to attack the enemy town until it falls.

Cleansing for Unsolved Murder

21 "When you are in the land the LORD your God is giving you, someone may be found murdered in a field, and you don't know who committed the murder. ²In such a case, your elders and judges must measure the distance from the site of the crime to the nearby towns. ³When the nearest town has been determined, that town's ⁴elders must select from the herd a heifer that has never been trained or yoked to a plow. ⁴They must lead it down to a valley that has not been plowed or planted and that has a stream running through it. There in the valley they must break the heifer's neck. ⁵Then the Levitical priests must step forward, for the LORD your God has ⁶chosen them to minister before him and to pronounce blessings in the LORD's name. They are to decide all legal and criminal cases.

⁶The elders of the town must wash their 20:5

Neh 12:27

20:6
Lev 19:23

20:7
Deut 24:5

20:8
Judg 7:3

20:10
Luke 14:31-32

20:13
Num 31:7

20:14
Josh 8:2

20:16
Exod 23:31
Deut 7:1-2

20:18
Deut 7:4; 9:5; 12:30
^a*khata* (2398)
* 1 Sam 12:23

21:3
^e*zagen* (2205)
* Deut 21:20

21:5
Deut 10:8; 17:9;
19:17

^f*bakhar* (0977)
* 1 Sam 2:28

21:6
Matt 27:24

20:4 He will fight for you: This promise affirms that God initiates wars, carries them out, and brings them to successful conclusion against his enemies. The purpose of war initiated by God was to eradicate hopelessly unrepentant enemies and prevent them from contaminating his people (see 1:30).

20:7 someone else would marry her: In this situation, a man who died would be deprived of offspring to carry on his name, which was a great tragedy in ancient Israel.

20:10-15 The people in the land had already been placed under the ban (7:1-6), so this instruction refers to those whom Israel would engage outside the land (20:15).

20:11 forced labor: Involuntary service was pressed upon prisoners of war and sometimes on Israelites (1 Kgs 5:13-18; 9:15, 21; 12:18).

20:15 Places described as distant towns were outside the boundaries of the Promised Land.

20:17 completely destroy: See note on 2:34.

20:19 do not cut down the trees: Ordinarily, trees might be cut down during a war so the enemy could not benefit from them. However, since the Israelites were occupying the enemy's former land, the trees could be of use to them.

20:20 This equipment consisted of the materials built up against a city wall as part of the effort to bring it under siege.

21:1-9 The guilt of murder was usually removed through the death of the murderer (19:11-13; Num 35:30-34). However, if the murderer was unknown, the guilt could still be removed by using this ritual.

21:1 In contrast to the the word translated murder in the Ten Commandments (see note on 5:17), the Hebrew verb here translated murdered (literally pierced through) indicates clear evidence that the death was not by natural causes.

21:3-8 An avenger from the victim's family (19:6-7; Num 35:16-29) could not hold the whole community responsible.

21:4 The stream would be an ever-flowing (perennial) brook located in an isolated area, free of contaminants.

21:6 wash their hands: This ancient practice asserted innocence (cp. Matt

21:8
Num 35:33-34
Jon 1:14

21:9
Deut 19:13

21:10
Josh 21:44

21:12
Lev 14:8-9
Num 6:9

21:13
Ps 45:10

21:14
Gen 34:2

21:17
Gen 49:3

21:18
Prov 1:8

21:20
82a9en (2205)
• Deut 22:15

21:21
Lev 20:2, 27
Num 15:35

21:22
Matt 26:65-66
Mark 14:63-64

21:23
Josh 8:29
John 19:31
• Gal 3:13

22:1
Exod 23:4

hands over the heifer whose neck was broken. ⁷Then they must say, 'Our hands did not shed this person's blood, nor did we see it happen. ⁸O LORD, forgive your people Israel whom you have redeemed. Do not charge your people with the guilt of murdering an innocent person.' Then they will be absolved of the guilt of this person's blood. ⁹By following these instructions, you will do what is right in the LORD's sight and will cleanse the guilt of murder from your community.

Marriage to a Captive Woman

¹⁰"Suppose you go out to war against your enemies and the LORD your God hands them over to you, and you take some of them as captives. ¹¹And suppose you see among the captives a beautiful woman, and you are attracted to her and want to marry her. ¹²If this happens, you may take her to your home, where she must shave her head, cut her nails, ¹³and change the clothes she was wearing when she was captured. She will stay in your home, but let her mourn for her father and mother for a full month. Then you may marry her, and you will be her husband and she will be your wife. ¹⁴But if you marry her and she does not please you, you must let her go free. You may not sell her or treat her as a slave, for you have humiliated her.

Rights of the Firstborn

¹⁵"Suppose a man has two wives, but he loves one and not the other, and both have given him sons. And suppose the firstborn son is the son of the wife he does not love. ¹⁶When the man divides his inheritance, he may not give the larger inheritance to his younger son, the son of the wife he loves, as if he were the firstborn son. ¹⁷He must recognize the rights of his oldest son, the son of the wife he does not love, by giving him a double portion. He is the first son of his father's virility, and the rights of the firstborn belong to him.

Dealing with a Rebellious Son

¹⁸"Suppose a man has a stubborn and rebellious son who will not obey his father or mother, even though they discipline him. ¹⁹In such a case, the father and mother must take the son to the elders as they hold court at the town gate. ²⁰The parents must say to the ²¹elders, 'This son of ours is stubborn and rebellious and refuses to obey. He is a glutton and a drunkard.' ²¹Then all the men of his town must stone him to death. In this way, you will purge this evil from among you, and all Israel will hear about it and be afraid.

Various Regulations

²²"If someone has committed a crime worthy of death and is executed and hung on a tree, ²³the body must not remain hanging from the tree overnight. You must bury the body that same day, for anyone who is hung is cursed in the sight of God. In this way, you will prevent the defilement of the land the LORD your God is giving you as your special possession.

22"If you see your neighbor's ox or sheep or goat wandering away, don't ignore your responsibility. Take it back to its owner. ²If its owner does not live 27:24); by it the community would declare that it was not responsible for a crime committed in its vicinity.

21:12 To shave her head and cut her nails demonstrated a captive woman's separation from her home and family. She was cutting off the past to join a new family and community.

21:13 To change the clothes she was wearing symbolically communicated taking on a new life and identifying with a new family.

21:14 humiliated her: By first taking her prisoner and then divorcing her, a captive woman's husband devalued her. To protect her from further disgrace, the law prohibited him from selling her as a slave or from using her as one. Instead, she must be allowed to go free.

21:15-17 The law required that a first-born son receive the greater share of his father's inheritance (see 21:15-16; 2 Kgs

2:9). The custom of giving the firstborn son a double portion is first recorded here but was implied in earlier practice (see Gen 25:31-34; 27:1-4; 48:8-22). • son of his father's virility: The eldest male child carried this distinction because he proved that the man was capable of siring children, and a boy in particular.

21:20 Calling someone a glutton and a drunkard was probably a proverbial cliché suggesting self-indulgence and laziness. Such a son was a good-for-nothing who rebelled against his parents and thus also against the community and divine authority (see Prov 23:20-21).

21:21 purge (literally burn): See note on 13:5; also 17:12; 19:13.

21:22 hung on a tree (or impaled on a pole; similarly in 21:23): This was not the method of execution, at least in this text. It was a shameful display of those put to death for capital offenses, probably to show the Lord's hatred of sin and to deter others who might commit such acts (see also Gen 40:19, 22; Josh 10:26; 2 Sam 4:12; 21:12; Esth 2:23; 7:10).

21:23 for anyone who is hung: Greek version reads for everyone who is hung on a tree. Cp. Gal 3:13, which explains how this proverb applies to Jesus.

• cursed in the sight of God: Unrepentant sinners do fall under God's judgment. However, the idea of this proverb is probably that whoever saw a person in this condition would naturally conclude that God had cursed that person, when in fact the person could have been misjudged or even lynched.

22:1 don't ignore your responsibility (literally don't hide yourself; similarly in 22:3): An individual was not to avoid a troubled scene by pretending not to see what was going on. To do so would be a failure of the individual's responsibility to the covenant community.

nearby or you don't know who the owner is, take it to your place and keep it until the owner comes looking for it. Then you must return it. ³Do the same if you find your neighbor's donkey, clothing, or anything else your neighbor loses. Don't ignore your responsibility.

⁴"If you see that your neighbor's donkey or ox has collapsed on the road, do not look the other way. Go and help your neighbor get it back on its feet!

⁵"A woman must not put on men's clothing, and a man must not wear women's clothing. Anyone who does this is detestable in the sight of the LORD your God.

⁶"If you happen to find a bird's nest in a tree or on the ground, and there are young ones or eggs in it with the mother sitting in the nest, do not take the mother with the young. ⁷You may take the young, but let the mother go, so that you may prosper and enjoy a long life.

⁸"When you build a new house, you must build a railing around the edge of its flat roof. That way you will not be considered guilty of murder if someone falls from the roof.

⁹"You must not plant any other crop between the rows of your vineyard. If you do, you are forbidden to use either the grapes from the vineyard or the other crop.

¹⁰"You must not plow with an ox and a donkey harnessed together.

¹¹"You must not wear clothing made of wool and linen woven together.

¹²"You must put four tassels on the hem of the cloak with which you cover yourself—on the front, back, and sides.

Regulations for Sexual Purity

¹³"Suppose a man marries a woman, but after sleeping with her, he turns against her

¹⁴and publicly accuses her of shameful conduct, saying, 'When I married this woman, I discovered she was not a virgin.' ¹⁵Then the woman's father and mother must bring the proof of her virginity to the ¹⁶elders as they hold court at the town gate. ¹⁶Her father must say to them, 'I gave my daughter to this man to be his wife, and now he has turned against her. ¹⁷He has accused her of shameful conduct, saying, "I discovered that your daughter was not a virgin." But here is the proof of my daughter's virginity.' Then they must spread her bed sheet before the elders. ¹⁸The elders must then take the man and punish him. ¹⁹They must also fine him 100 pieces of silver, which he must pay to the woman's father because he publicly accused a virgin of Israel of shameful conduct. The woman will then remain the man's wife, and he may never ¹divorce her.

²⁰"But suppose the man's accusations are true, and he can show that she was not a virgin. ²¹The woman must be taken to the door of her father's home, and there the men of the town must stone her to death, for she has committed a disgraceful crime in Israel by being promiscuous while living in her parents' home. In this way, you will purge this evil from among you.

²²"If a man is discovered committing adultery, both he and the woman must die. In this way, you will purge Israel of such evil.

²³"Suppose a man meets a young woman, a virgin who is engaged to be married, and he has sexual intercourse with her. If this happens within a town, ²⁴you must take both of them to the gates of that town and stone them to death. The woman is guilty because she did not scream for help. The man must die because he violated another man's wife. In this way, you will purge this evil from among you.

22:6
Lev 22:28

22:9
Lev 19:19

22:10
2 Cor 6:14

22:12
Num 15:37-39
Matt 23:5

22:13
Deut 24:1

22:15
hzaqen (2205)
• Deut 25:8

22:19
shalakh (7971)
• Deut 22:29

22:21
Deut 23:17-18

22:22
Lev 20:10
Ezek 16:38
John 8:5

22:23
Lev 19:20-22

22:5 Adopting the dress and behavior of the opposite gender unnaturally blurs the lines between things that should be kept separate and distinct (also 22:9-11).

22:9 any other crop between the rows: This would bring about a mingling of things that should be kept separate.

22:10 Plowing with an ox and a donkey would be inefficient; this example illustrates the principle of separation and order (see also 2 Cor 6:14-18).

22:11 Keeping wool and linen separate illustrated Israel's separation as God's holy people (see also Lev 19:19).

22:12 Placing four tassels on the hem of a garment probably reminded the wearer to be loyal to the covenant, similar to tying a string around one's finger (see Num 15:37-41).

22:14 A husband who discovered evidence that his wife had lost her virginity prior to marriage (see 22:15) would accuse her of shameful conduct.

22:15 proof of her virginity: A blood-stained cloth would indicate that the woman's hymen was ruptured by her first act of intercourse with her husband. • town gate: See note on 17:5.

22:17 The bed sheet (literally covering) might also have been a garment of some kind, such as a nightgown.

22:19 100 pieces of silver (Hebrew 100 [shekels] of silver, about 2.5 pounds or 1.1 kilograms in weight): The husband, who had already paid the woman's father the normal bride price, must now pay additional compensation for defaming her character.

22:21 by being promiscuous (literally acting as a prostitute): A single act of sexual intercourse by an unmarried woman was enough to earn this disgraceful label and the death penalty. • purge (literally burn): See note on 13:5; see also 17:12; 19:13.

22:24 the gates of that town: See note on 17:5. • Because betrothal was tantamount to marriage in the OT, another man's wife in this passage technically refers to a fiancée.

22:28
Exod 22:16

22:29 ishalakh (7971)
• Deut 24:1

22:30
Lev 18:8; 20:11
Deut 27:20

23:1
Lev 21:20; 22:24

23:2 qahal (6951)
• 1 Kgs 8:55

23:3
Neh 13:1-2

23:4
Num 23:4, 7-10
2 Pet 2:15
Jude 1:11

23:7
Lev 19:34
Deut 10:19

23:11
Lev 15:16

23:14
Lev 26:12

23:15
1 Sam 30:15
• ebed (5650)
• 2 Kgs 10:23

25"But if the man meets the engaged woman out in the country, and he rapes her, then only the man must die. 26Do nothing to the young woman; she has committed no crime worthy of death. She is as innocent as a murder victim. 27Since the man raped her out in the country, it must be assumed that she screamed, but there was no one to rescue her.

28"Suppose a man has intercourse with a young woman who is a virgin but is not engaged to be married. If they are discovered, 29he must pay her father fifty pieces of silver. Then he must marry the young woman because he violated her, and he may never divorce her as long as he lives.

30"A man must not marry his father's former wife, for this would violate his father.

Regulations concerning Worship

23" If a man's testicles are crushed or his penis is cut off, he may not be admitted to the assembly of the LORD.

2" If a person is illegitimate by birth, neither he nor his descendants for ten generations may be admitted to the assembly of the LORD.

3" No Ammonite or Moabite or any of their descendants for ten generations may be admitted to the assembly of the LORD. 4These nations did not welcome you with food and water when you came out of Egypt. Instead, they hired Balaam son of Beor from Pethor in distant Aram-naharaim to curse you. 5But the LORD your God refused to listen to Balaam. He turned the intended curse into a blessing because the LORD your God loves you. 6As long as you live, you must never promote the welfare and prosperity of the Ammonites or Moabites.

7" Do not detest the Edomites or the Egyptians, because the Edomites are your relatives and you lived as foreigners among the Egyptians. 8The third generation of Edomites and Egyptians may enter the assembly of the LORD.

Miscellaneous Regulations

9" When you go to war against your enemies, be sure to stay away from anything that is impure.

10" Any man who becomes ceremonially defiled because of a nocturnal emission must leave the camp and stay away all day.

11 Toward evening he must bathe himself, and at sunset he may return to the camp.

12 You must have a designated area outside the camp where you can go to relieve yourself. 13 Each of you must have a spade as part of your equipment. Whenever you relieve yourself, dig a hole with the spade and cover the excrement. 14 The camp must be holy, for the LORD your God moves around in your camp to protect you and to defeat your enemies. He must not see any shameful thing among you, or he will turn away from you.

15 If slaves should escape from their masters and take refuge with you, you must not hand them over to their masters. 16 Let them live among you in any town they choose, and do not oppress them.

17 No Israelite, whether man or woman, may become a temple prostitute. 18 When you are bringing an offering to fulfill a vow, you must not bring to the house of the LORD your God any offering from the earnings of a prostitute, whether a man or a woman, for both are detestable to the LORD your God.

22:29 fifty pieces of silver (Hebrew 50 [shekels] of silver, about 1.25 pounds or 570 grams in weight): The father could still expect a dowry for his unmarried daughter (see Gen 34:12; Exod 22:16). • he must marry: The assumption is that the girl and her father were willing to undertake the arrangement (see Exod 22:17).

22:30 Verse 22:30 is numbered 23:1 in the Hebrew text. • The phrase his father's former wife does not refer to a man's own mother because incest was a more serious crime (see Lev 18:7-8, 29).

23:1-25 Verses 23:1-25 are numbered 23:2-26 in Hebrew text.

23:1 Emasculation, associated with certain pagan rituals and customs, was abhorrent to the Lord (cp. Isa 56:3-4).

23:3 No Ammonite or Moabite: These nations were Lot's descendants by his incestuous daughters (see notes on 2:9, 19). In addition, they had forbidden Israel access to their lands during their desert wanderings (23:4). • Exclusion for ten generations means an indefinitely long period of time.

23:4 Pethor is now identified with Pitru in Mesopotamia (see note on Num 22:5-6). • Aram-naharaim ("Aram of the two rivers") lies between the Euphrates and the Balih Rivers in upper Mesopotamia.

23:7 The Edomites were descendants of Jacob's brother, Esau (see 2:8).

23:8 third generation: Following a long period of probation, Edomites and Egyptians who lived in Israel could worship the Lord as converts to the faith.

23:10 nocturnal emission: Although they might have been unintentional or involuntary, these discharges rendered a man ceremonially unclean (see Lev 15:16-18).

23:12 outside the camp: Defecation is a normal bodily function, but it brought ritual impurity and therefore violated God's holiness.

23:13 It would be disgusting and shameful to have an open latrine outside the camp, let alone within it.

23:14 shameful thing (literally nakedness of a thing): Because the camp of God's army was holy, it was necessary that nakedness, especially of the genitalia, not be exposed within the camp (cp. Gen 2:25; 3:7-11; 9:21-23; Exod 20:26; Isa 47:3; Rev 3:18).

23:17 A temple prostitute was commonly a part of Canaanite religious rituals, so they were forbidden in Israel.

23:18 a man: The Hebrew word (literally a dog) was a derogatory term for homosexual men, who often took part in Canaanite religious ceremonies.

¹⁹"Do not charge interest on the loans you make to a fellow Israelite, whether you loan money, or food, or anything else. ²⁰You may charge interest to foreigners, but you may not charge interest to Israelites, so that the LORD your God may bless you in everything you do in the land you are about to enter and occupy.

²¹"When you make a vow to the LORD your God, be prompt in fulfilling whatever you promised him. For the LORD your God demands that you promptly fulfill all your vows, or you will be guilty of sin. ²²However, it is not a sin to refrain from making a vow. ²³But once you have voluntarily made a vow, be careful to fulfill your promise to the LORD your God.

²⁴"When you enter your neighbor's vineyard, you may eat your fill of grapes, but you must not carry any away in a basket. ²⁵And when you enter your neighbor's field of grain, you may pluck the heads of grain with your hand, but you must not harvest it with a sickle.

24"Suppose a man marries a woman but she does not please him. Having discovered something wrong with her, he writes a document of ^bdivorce, hands it to her, and sends her away from his house. ²When she leaves his house, she is free to marry another man. ³But if the second husband also turns against her, writes a document of ^cdivorce, hands it to her, and sends her away, or if he dies, ⁴the first husband may not marry her again, for she has been defiled. That would be detestable to the LORD. You must not bring guilt upon the land the LORD your God is giving you as a special possession.

⁵"A newly married man must not be drafted into the army or be given any other official responsibilities. He must be free to spend one year at home, bringing happiness to the wife he has married.

⁶"It is wrong to take a set of millstones, or even just the upper millstone, as security for a loan, for the owner uses it to make a living.

⁷"If anyone kidnaps a fellow Israelite and treats him as a slave or sells him, the kidnapper must die. In this way, you will purge the evil from among you.

⁸"In all cases involving serious skin diseases, be careful to follow the instructions of the Levitical priests; obey all the commands I have given them. ⁹Remember what the LORD your God did to Miriam as you were coming from Egypt.

¹⁰"If you lend anything to your neighbor, do not enter his house to pick up the item he is giving as security. ¹¹You must wait outside while he goes in and brings it out to you. ¹²If your neighbor is poor and gives you his cloak as security for a loan, do not keep the cloak overnight. ¹³Return the cloak to its owner by sunset so he can stay warm through the night and bless you, and the LORD your God will count you as righteous.

¹⁴"Never take advantage of poor and destitute laborers, whether they are fellow Israelites or foreigners living in your towns. ¹⁵You must pay them their wages each day before sunset because they are poor and are counting on it. If you don't, they might cry out to the LORD against you, and it would be counted against you as sin.

¹⁶"Parents must not be put to death for the sins of their children, nor children for the sins of their parents. Those deserving to die must be put to death for their own crimes.

¹⁷"True justice must be given to foreigners living among you and to orphans, and you

23:19
Exod 22:25
Lev 25:36

23:20
Deut 28:12

23:21
Num 30:1-2
Eccl 5:4
Matt 5:33

23:25
Matt 12:1-2
Mark 2:23
Luke 6:1

24:1
Num 5:12-28
Deut 22:13-21
*Matt 5:31; 19:7
Mark 10:4-5
^bkerituth (3748)
* Deut 24:3

24:3
^ckerituth (3748)
* 2 Sam 13:16

24:5
Deut 20:7

24:8
Lev 13:2

24:9
Num 12:10

24:10
Exod 22:24-26

24:14
Lev 19:13
1 Tim 5:18

24:16
//2 Kgs 14:6
2 Chr 25:4
Ezek 18:20

24:17
Exod 22:21-22; 23:2-3
Deut 1:17; 10:17

23:19-20 The word translated interest is related to a noun meaning "bite." Charging interest was to "put the bite" on the debtor. See also Exod 22:25; Lev 25:36-37; Neh 5:1-13; Ps 15:5.

23:24 your neighbor's vineyard: In a certain sense, God owned all the land and provided it to its human occupants. Therefore, no one had the right to make an exclusive claim to it. On the other hand, renters had rights to privacy and to a measure of control over what had been allotted to them. Trespassing was permitted within this context but not with the intention of theft. One could, however, pluck a few grapes or kernels of grain to eat along the way (see Matt 12:1-8; Mark 2:23-28; Luke 6:1-5).

24:1 something wrong: This phrase indicates sexual impurity or some other impropriety. It does not pertain to adultery, which would have required the death penalty (22:22). • a document of divorce: This procedure was a concession; initiating a divorce in such cases was optional and not necessarily desirable (see Mal 2:16; Matt 5:31-32; Mark 10:2-12).

24:4 Perhaps the woman is described as defiled because she had two husbands; returning to the first husband would be considered adultery. • guilt upon the land: The concept of community was so strong in ancient Israel that the individual's identity almost merged with that of the community. The sin of one individual had collective, corporate consequences.

24:6 the owner uses it to make a living (literally it is his life): Without his tool, the owner of the millstone might perish. The law imposed a limit on what could secure a loan. The millstone probably represents any means by which an individual made his living.

24:7 purge (literally burn): See note on 13:5; see also 17:12; 19:13.

24:8 serious skin diseases: Traditionally rendered leprosy. The Hebrew word used here can describe various skin diseases. Medical science has determined that it does not refer to leprosy per se (i.e., Hansen's disease).

24:11 wait outside: Even debtors were to be allowed their dignity and spared unnecessary embarrassment. A creditor was not to invade the debtor's privacy when collecting from him.

24:13 Return the cloak . . . by sunset: The law was merciful.

24:17 True justice must be given (literally do not deprive of justice): The 24:18

Deut 5:15
24:19
Lev 19:9-10
Deut 14:28-29
24:20
Lev 19:10
25:1
Deut 17:11
shopat* (B199)
*Judg 2:16
25:3
2 Cor 11:24
25:4
*1 Cor 9:9
*1 Tim 5:18
25:5
*Matt 22:24
Mark 12:19
*Luke 20:28
25:6
Ruth 4:5
25:8
zaqen* (2205)
*Deut 32:7

must never accept a widow's garment as security for her debt. ¹⁸Always remember that you were slaves in Egypt and that the LORD your God redeemed you from your slavery. That is why I have given you this command.

¹⁹"When you are harvesting your crops and forget to bring in a bundle of grain from your field, don't go back to get it. Leave it for the foreigners, orphans, and widows. Then the LORD your God will bless you in all you do. ²⁰When you beat the olives from your olive trees, don't go over the boughs twice. Leave the remaining olives for the foreigners, orphans, and widows. ²¹When you gather the grapes in your vineyard, don't glean the vines after they are picked. Leave the remaining grapes for the foreigners, orphans, and widows. ²²Remember that you were slaves in the land of Egypt. That is why I am giving you this command.

25"Suppose two people take a dispute to court, and the judges ^ddeclare that one is right and the other is wrong. ²If the person in the wrong is sentenced to be flogged, the judge must command him to lie down and be beaten in his presence with the number of lashes appropriate to the crime. ³But never give more than forty lashes; more than forty lashes would publicly humiliate your neighbor.

⁴"You must not muzzle an ox to keep it from eating as it treads out the grain.

⁵"If two brothers are living together on the same property and one of them dies without a son, his widow may not be married to anyone from outside the family. Instead, her husband's brother should marry her and have intercourse with her to fulfill the duties of a brother-in-law. ⁶The first son she bears to him will be considered the son of the dead brother, so that his name will not be forgotten in Israel.

⁷"But if the man refuses to marry his brother's widow, she must go to the town gate and say to the elders assembled there, 'My husband's brother refuses to preserve his brother's name in Israel—he refuses to fulfill the duties of a brother-in-law by marrying me.' ⁸The ^eelders of the town will

True Justice (24:17)

Deut 10:17-19;
16:19; 24:12-22;
25:13-16; 27:19
Exod 23:3
Lev 19:15
Ps 82:1-5
Prov 11:1
Isa 1:17; 10:1-4;
11:3-4; 59:14-19
Jer 22:13-17
Ezek 22:23-29;
45:9-10
Amos 2:6-8; 8:5-6
Hab 1:4
Matt 23:23
Luke 18:6-8
Jas 2:1-7

The community of God's people in OT Israel was to be responsible for the well-being of widows, orphans, and foreigners (27:19). The Israelites were to represent the just God whom they served (see 10:17-19) and always remember that they had been an enslaved and defenseless people in Egypt (see 10:19; 24:18-22). How could they, the beneficiaries of God's grace, ignore the rights and needs of the most vulnerable who lived among them?

Every society has social structures that separate the powerful from the weak and the privileged from the ill-favored. This was true of OT Israel despite its unique constitution and commission as a "holy nation" (Exod 19:6). Judges and other officials charged with upholding the law might tend to favor individuals with financial means, high social standing, or community influence, especially when these individuals offer bribes (16:19). However, God cannot be bribed, nor does he show partiality (10:17). The rich and the poor, the powerful and the weak, the exalted and the downtrodden are all alike to him.

Those charged with applying the law in God's name must be scrupulously honest and upright in carrying out their duties. Justice that falls short of God's standard is not true justice, and those responsible for its corruption can expect full retribution from the Judge of all the earth (16:18-20; 25:13-16). The prophets of Israel understood the need for equity and justice and often called for the application of these principles to community and national life (Isa 1:17; 10:1-4; 59:14-19; Ezek 22:23-29; Amos 2:6-8; Hab 1:4). The NT also appeals for proper treatment of the poor and disadvantaged and speaks of God's displeasure when they are neglected (Matt 23:23; 2 Cor 9:6-10; Jas 2:1-7).

people of Israel were to vigorously resist discrimination against the weakest and most vulnerable people in society. Israel had been redeemed from such a status in Egypt, and their experience should help them realize how to treat others in similar circumstances (24:18).

25:3 At a flogging, the maximum number of strikes allowed was forty lashes. Fewer could be applied depending on the case (25:2). As people created in the image of God, even wrongdoers were entitled to mercy and respect. In later Judaism, thirty-nine lashes were given (see 2 Cor 11:24 and note).

25:4 You must not muzzle an ox: The animal had to be able to eat the grain as it worked (cp. 1 Cor 9:9-14; 1 Tim 5:17-18).

25:5 The term duties of a brother-in-law refers to the levirate (Latin for brother-in-law) marriage custom. The brother of a deceased man was encouraged to marry his brother's widow and father her children so that the name of the dead brother would not be forgotten. For examples of this custom, see Gen 38:6-11; Ruth 3:12-13; 4:1-12; Luke 20:27-33.

then summon him and talk with him. If he still refuses and says, 'I don't want to marry her,' ⁹the widow must walk over to him in the presence of the elders, pull his sandal from his foot, and spit in his face. Then she must declare, 'This is what happens to a man who refuses to provide his brother with children.' ¹⁰Ever afterward in Israel his family will be referred to as 'the family of the man whose sandal was pulled off!'

¹¹'If two Israelite men get into a fight and the wife of one tries to rescue her husband by grabbing the testicles of the other man, ¹²you must cut off her hand. Show her no pity.

¹³'You must use accurate scales when you weigh out merchandise, ¹⁴and you must use full and honest measures. ¹⁵Yes, always use honest weights and measures, so that you may enjoy a long life in the land the LORD your God is giving you. ¹⁶All who cheat with dishonest weights and measures are detestable to the LORD your God.

¹⁷'Never forget what the Amalekites did to you as you came from Egypt. ¹⁸They attacked you when you were exhausted and weary, and they struck down those who were straggling behind. They had no fear of God. ¹⁹Therefore, when the LORD your God has given you rest from all your enemies in the land he is giving you as a special possession, you must destroy the Amalekites and erase their memory from under heaven. Never forget this!

Harvest Offerings and Tithes

26 "When you enter the land the LORD your God is giving you as a special possession and you have conquered it and settled there, ²put some of the first produce from each crop you harvest into a basket and bring it to the designated place of worship—the place the LORD your God chooses for his name to be honored. ³Go to the priest in charge at that time and say to him, 'With this gift I acknowledge to the LORD your God that I have entered the land he swore to our ancestors he would give us.' ⁴The priest will then take the basket from your hand and set it before the altar of the LORD your God.

⁵"You must then say in the presence of the LORD your God, 'My ancestor Jacob was a wandering Aramean who went to live as a foreigner in Egypt. His family arrived few in number, but in Egypt they became a large and mighty nation. ⁶When the Egyptians oppressed and humiliated us by making us their slaves, ⁷we cried out to the LORD, the God of our ancestors. He heard our cries and saw our hardship, toil, and oppression. ⁸So the LORD brought us out of Egypt with a strong hand and powerful arm, with overwhelming terror, and with miraculous signs and wonders. ⁹He brought us to this place and gave us this land flowing with milk and honey! ¹⁰And now, O LORD, I have brought you the first portion of the harvest you have given me from the ground.' Then place the produce before the LORD your God, and bow to the ground in worship before him. ¹¹Afterward you may go and celebrate because of all the good things the LORD your God has given to you and your household. Remember to include the Levites and the foreigners living among you in the celebration.

25:9-10
Ruth 4:7-8

25:12
Deut 7:2

25:13
Lev 19:35
Prov 11:1; 16:11
Ezek 45:10-11

25:16
Prov 11:1

25:17
Exod 17:8-16

26:2
Exod 22:29; 23:16, 19

26:5
Gen 46:27
Deut 1:10; 10:22

26:6
Exod 1:11-12

26:8
Deut 4:34

26:9
Exod 3:8, 17

26:11
Deut 12:7, 12

25:9 pull his sandal from his foot: Using footwear, which touched the ground, the brother-in-law showed that he relinquished any claim to his dead brother's estate (Ruth 4:7). • spit in his face: This is an almost universal gesture of utter contempt (see Num 12:14).

25:10 his family will be referred to: If a man refused to perpetuate his brother's name, he would be spoken of in a derogatory way.

25:11-12 cut off her hand: The woman's act would emasculate the man, depriving him of (or cutting off from him) any offspring. As with the previous law (25:9), the punishment fits the crime (lex talionis; see note on 19:21).

25:13-14 You must use accurate scales . . . full and honest measures (Hebrew you must not have stone and stone, large and small, . . . ephah and ephah, large and small): Merchants were not to use two sets of weights and measures for cheating customers—a heavier weight or measure when purchasing goods (thus reducing their own cost) and a lighter one when selling them (thus increasing their own profit).

25:17 The Amalekites were tribal peoples who attacked Israel's rear flanks during the Sinai wilderness wandering (Exod 17:8-16). They were apparently related to the Edomites (Gen 36:12).

25:19 destroy: God authorized war against his enemies. Later, Samuel commanded Saul to completely destroy the Amalekites, something he only partially accomplished (1 Sam 15). As a result, God rejected Saul as king. • from under heaven: The Amalekites were to be obliterated completely (see note on 2:34).

26:1-15 Under the terms of the covenant, the Great King required that his subjects render him tribute annually or even more frequently. Since Israel was an agrarian society, God required offerings of animal, vegetable, or grain products. This tribute specifically celebrated the mighty Exodus redemption.

26:2 the place . . . for his name to be honored: See notes on 12:5; 14:23; 16:2.

26:5 Jacob's mother (Rebekah) was an Aramean (Gen 24:10; 25:20, 26), and Jacob also lived in Aram for many years (Gen 31:41-42). His lifestyle was seminomadic (wandering). • few in number: Jacob and his family totaled only seventy when they went to Egypt (see Gen 46:27; Exod 1:5).

26:8 strong hand and powerful arm: See notes on 4:34 and 8:2. • signs and wonders: See notes on 6:22 and 7:19.

26:9 milk and honey: See note on 6:3.

26:11 Levites: See note on 12:12. • In Israelite society, foreigners (literally sojourners) were resident aliens; see also note on 10:18.

26:12
Deut 14:28-29
Heb 7:5, 9-10

26:15
Zech 2:13

26:16
Deut 4:29

26:17
Ps 48:14

26:18
Deut 7:6

26:19
Deut 28:1

27:2
Josh 8:30-32

27:9
Deut 26:17

¹²"Every third year you must offer a special tithe of your crops. In this year of the special tithe you must give your tithes to the Levites, foreigners, orphans, and widows, so that they will have enough to eat in your towns. ¹³Then you must declare in the presence of the LORD your God, 'I have taken the sacred gift from my house and have given it to the Levites, foreigners, orphans, and widows, just as you commanded me. I have not violated or forgotten any of your commands. ¹⁴I have not eaten any of it while in mourning; I have not handled it while I was ceremonially unclean; and I have not offered any of it to the dead. I have obeyed the LORD my God and have done everything you commanded me. ¹⁵Now look down from your holy dwelling place in heaven and bless your people Israel and the land you swore to our ancestors to give us—a land flowing with milk and honey.'

Exhortation to Obey (26:16-19)

¹⁶"Today the LORD your God has commanded you to obey all these decrees and regulations. So be careful to obey them wholeheartedly. ¹⁷You have declared today that the LORD is your God. And you have promised to walk in his ways, and to obey his decrees, commands, and regulations, and to do everything he tells you. ¹⁸The LORD has declared today that you are his people, his own special treasure, just as he promised, and that you must obey all his commands. ¹⁹And if you do, he will set you high above all the other nations he has made. Then you will receive praise, honor, and renown. You will be a nation that is holy to the LORD your God, just as he promised."

5. THIRD ADDRESS: RATIFICATION OF THE COVENANT (27:1-30:20) Covenant Curses and Blessings (27:1-29:1) The Altar on Mount Ebal

27 Then Moses and the leaders of Israel gave this charge to the people: "Obey all these commands that I am giving you today. ²When you cross the Jordan River and enter the land the LORD your God is giving you, set up some large stones and coat them with plaster. ³Write this whole body of instruction on them when you cross the river to enter the land the LORD your God is giving you—a land flowing with milk and honey, just as the LORD, the God of your ancestors, promised you. ⁴When you cross the Jordan, set up these stones at Mount Ebal and coat them with plaster, as I am commanding you today.

⁵"Then build an altar there to the LORD your God, using natural, uncut stones. You must not shape the stones with an iron tool. ⁶Build the altar of uncut stones, and use it to offer burnt offerings to the LORD your God. ⁷Also sacrifice peace offerings on it, and celebrate by feasting there before the LORD your God. ⁸You must clearly write all these instructions on the stones coated with plaster."

⁹Then Moses and the Levitical priests addressed all Israel as follows: "O Israel, be quiet and listen! Today you have become the people of the LORD your God. ¹⁰So you must obey the LORD your God by keeping all these commands and decrees that I am giving you today."

26:12 Every third year the tithe was gathered for the Levites and other dependents; see also note on 14:28.

26:13 I have taken (literally burned) the sacred gift: This phrase means that the donor had given his own property to the Levites and to others in need.

26:14 offered any of it to the dead: These pagan rituals were intended to sustain the dead through food offerings. Such food would be unacceptable as a part of the tithe given to the Levites.

26:15 flowing with milk and honey: See note on 6:3.

26:16-19 Having laid out the great covenant principles (chs 5-11) and clarified their application (chs 12-26), Moses urged the people to obey the covenant with all their hearts. The Lord had called them into a special relationship with himself, a privilege that required obedience to the covenant prescriptions. The result of this submission was holiness, a state that reflected God's character and that would flow naturally from unbroken fellowship with him.

26:16 wholeheartedly (literally with all your heart and with all your soul): This Hebrew phrase is a clear reference to the Shema, the foundational statement of Israel's faith and covenant commitment (see 6:4-5 and notes). There could be no halfhearted compliance with God's high and holy expectations; it must be all or nothing.

26:18 special treasure: See note on 7:6.

27:3 this whole body of instruction (literally all the words of this torah): This phrase could refer to the entire book of Deuteronomy, but considering the small surface (27:2) on which the text was to be inscribed, it probably just refers to the Ten Commandments. • flowing with milk and honey: See note on 6:3.

27:4 The covenant ceremony was to take place at Mount Ebal, a mountain east of Shechem (see Josh 8:30-35). The Samaritan Pentateuch reads "Mount Gerizim" here, an obvious attempt to justify the existence of the Samaritan temple on that mountain (see 11:29).

27:5 natural, uncut stones: Archaeological research has uncovered a number of Canaanite altars, all built of hewn blocks. In contrast to this practice, the Israelites were to build their altars only of rough field stones (Exod 20:22-26; see "Altars" at Gen 35:1-15, p. 91).

27:7 Some offerings atoned for sins and trespasses; others affirmed that all was well between the Lord and the donor. For example, peace offerings (sometimes called fellowship offerings) testified to wholeness in the divine-human relationship (see Lev 3:1-16).

27:9 Today: The Israelites were already the Lord's people prior to this moment, but each time Israel affirmed itself to be God's people and renewed the covenant (as here), they became God's people in a fresh, new way. Recommitment to the Lord is like beginning a new relationship with him.

Curses from Mount Ebal

¹¹That same day Moses also gave this charge to the people: ¹²"When you cross the Jordan River, the tribes of Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, Joseph, and Benjamin must stand on Mount Gerizim to proclaim a blessing over the people. ¹³And the tribes of Reuben, Gad, Asher, Zebulun, Dan, and Naphtali must stand on Mount Ebal to proclaim a curse.

¹⁴"Then the Levites will shout to all the people of Israel:

¹⁵'Cursed is anyone who carves or casts an idol and secretly sets it up. These idols, the work of craftsmen, are detestable to the LORD.'

And all the people will reply, 'Amen.'

¹⁶'Cursed is anyone who dishonors father or mother.'

And all the people will reply, 'Amen.'

¹⁷'Cursed is anyone who steals property from a neighbor by moving a boundary marker.'

And all the people will reply, 'Amen.'

¹⁸'Cursed is anyone who leads a blind person astray on the road.'

And all the people will reply, 'Amen.'

¹⁹'Cursed is anyone who denies justice to foreigners, orphans, or widows.'

And all the people will reply, 'Amen.'

²⁰'Cursed is anyone who has sexual intercourse with one of his father's wives, for he has violated his father.'

And all the people will reply, 'Amen.'

²¹'Cursed is anyone who has sexual intercourse with an animal.'

And all the people will reply, 'Amen.'

²²'Cursed is anyone who has sexual intercourse with his sister, whether she is the daughter of his father or his mother.'

And all the people will reply, 'Amen.'

²³'Cursed is anyone who has sexual intercourse with his mother-in-law.'

And all the people will reply, 'Amen.'

²⁴'Cursed is anyone who attacks a neighbor in secret.'

And all the people will reply, 'Amen.'

²⁵'Cursed is anyone who accepts payment to kill an innocent person.'

And all the people will reply, 'Amen.'

²⁶'Cursed is anyone who does not affirm and obey the terms of these instructions.'

And all the people will reply, 'Amen.'

Blessings for Obedience

28"If you fully ^aobey the LORD your God and carefully keep all his commands that I am giving you today, the LORD your God will set you high above all the nations of the world. ²You will experience all these blessings if you obey the LORD your God:

³ Your towns and your fields will be blessed.

⁴ Your children and your crops will be blessed.

The offspring of your herds and flocks will be blessed.

⁵ Your fruit baskets and breadboards will be blessed.

⁶ Wherever you go and whatever you do, you will be blessed.

27:12
Deut 11:26
Josh 8:33-35

27:15
Exod 20:4, 23
Lev 19:4
Deut 4:16; 5:8
'amen' (0543)
+ 1 Kgs 1:36

27:16
Exod 21:17
Lev 20:9
Ezek 22:7

27:17
Deut 19:14

27:18
Lev 19:14

27:19
Exod 22:21
Lev 19:33
Deut 10:18

27:20
Lev 18:8; 20:11
Deut 22:30

27:21
Exod 22:19
Lev 18:23; 20:15

27:22
Lev 18:9; 20:17

27:23
Lev 18:17; 20:14

27:24
Exod 21:12
Lev 24:17
Num 35:30

27:25
Exod 23:8
Deut 10:17

27:26
Deut 28:15
Gal 3:10

28:1
Exod 15:26; 23:22
Lev 26:3
Deut 7:12; 11:13
*shama' (8085)
+ Deut 30:10

28:2
Deut 30:20

28:3
Ps 144:15

28:4
Gen 49:25

28:6
Ps 121:8

27:12-26 Mount Gerizim lies just south of Mount Ebal (27:4), and Shechem lies in the valley between (see 11:29; Josh 8:30-35). • proclaim a blessing: The tribes or their representatives were carefully placed so that as the Levites (27:14) read the covenant from the valley below, the other tribes antiphonally proclaimed their adherence to its terms by shouting Amen, a Hebrew term that means "May it be so."

27:13 proclaim a curse: By invoking curses on themselves if they disobeyed the terms of the covenant, these tribes served as witnesses and judges of their own future disobedience.

27:14 The Levites as a group were stationed on Mount Gerizim (27:12). The Ark of the Covenant accompanied them, and they offered sacrifices (Josh 8:30-35). It was part of the Levites' role to teach and proclaim the Torah (33:10; see note on 6:8; see also Lev 10:11).

27:15 carves or casts an idol: Such behavior would strike at the very heart of the covenant ideal by violating the second commandment (see 5:7-10).

27:16 dishonors father or mother: In the various spheres of human relationships, duty to parents ranked just below duty to God (see 5:16). To disrespect and disobey parents was just short of disrespecting God.

27:17 Moving a boundary marker to one's own advantage is tantamount to theft and clearly violates the eighth commandment (see 5:19; 19:14).

27:18 blind person: This curse would apply to treatment of physically disabled or disadvantaged people in general. Such a mean and callous act was not worthy of a member of the covenant community, in which all were to be treated alike.

27:19 It would be easy to put foreigners, orphans, and widows at a legal disadvantage or to deny them justice altogether (see 10:18; 24:17).

27:20 violated his father: See 22:30.

27:22 whether . . . the daughter of his father or his mother: Though this instruction concerns a relationship with a half sister or foster sibling, it precludes a sexual relationship with one's full sibling as well (see Lev 18:9; 20:17).

28:1-68 This section presents the conditions for receiving the covenant blessing, the nature of the blessings (28:1-14), and the curses that will come if these mandates are ignored or disobeyed (28:15-68).

28:5 The breadboards were blessed because the harvest was blessed.

28:7
Lev 26:8, 17

28:8
Deut 15:4

28:9
Exod 19:5

28:11
Deut 28:2-6, 8

28:12
Lev 26:4
Deut 11:14; 23:20

28:13
Deut 28:1, 44

28:14
Deut 5:32-33

28:15
Lev 26:14
Josh 23:15-16

28:20
Deut 8:11; 28:25

28:21
Lev 26:25
Num 14:12
Amos 4:10

7^aThe LORD will conquer your enemies when they attack you. They will attack you from one direction, but they will scatter from you in seven!

8^aThe LORD will guarantee a blessing on everything you do and will fill your storehouses with grain. The LORD your God will bless you in the land he is giving you.

9^aIf you obey the commands of the LORD your God and walk in his ways, the LORD will establish you as his holy people as he swore he would do. 10^aThen all the nations of the world will see that you are a people claimed by the LORD, and they will stand in awe of you.

11^aThe LORD will give you prosperity in the land he swore to your ancestors to give you, blessing you with many children, numerous livestock, and abundant crops. 12^aThe LORD will send rain at the proper time from his rich treasury in the heavens and will bless all the work you do. You will lend to many nations, but you will never need to borrow from them. 13^aIf you listen to these commands of the LORD your God that I am giving you today, and if you carefully obey them, the LORD will make you the head and not the tail, and you will always be on top and never at the bottom. 14^aYou must not turn away from any of the commands I am giving you today, nor follow after other gods and worship them.

Curses for Disobedience

15^aBut if you refuse to listen to the LORD your God and do not obey all the commands and decrees I am giving you today, all these curses will come and overwhelm you:

16 Your towns and your fields will be cursed.

17 Your fruit baskets and breadboards will be cursed.

18 Your children and your crops will be cursed.

The offspring of your herds and flocks will be cursed.

19 Wherever you go and whatever you do, you will be cursed.

20^aThe LORD himself will send on you curses, confusion, and frustration in everything you do, until at last you are completely destroyed for doing evil and abandoning me. 21^aThe LORD will afflict you with diseases until none of you are left in the land

Curses and Blessings (27:1–29:1)

Deut 8:7-20; 11:29
Gen 9:24-27
Lev 26:3-45
Josh 8:33-35
2 Kgs 17:7-20
2 Chr 36:17-21

Nearly all treaty or covenant texts from the ancient Near East contained curses and blessings. The curses were leveled against those who violated the terms of the agreement, while blessings were promised to the faithful. This was particularly true of suzerain-vassal covenants like Deuteronomy (see Deuteronomy Introduction, "Literary Form," p. 314).

Deuteronomy presented to the assembly of Israel what God expected of the nation. The covenant required the nation of Israel to obey the Lord, and the Israelites had pledged themselves to obey (Exod 19:8). The curses and blessings section (27:1–29:1) spells out how God would reward their obedience and judge their disobedience. The curses receive more emphasis than the blessings, perhaps because people naturally pay more attention to promises than to warnings. Promised blessings in the future can easily be understood as providing well-being. However, judgment is more abstract and needs detailed, graphic description. God emphasizes the curses to drive home the consequences of wrongdoing. These warnings were very much in line with Jesus' warnings about things to come (Matt 24:1–25:46).

Israel's subsequent history bears witness to God's promise of both the blessings and the curses. When Israel was faithful to the covenant God, he blessed the people. When they rebelled, he brought judgment upon them. Israel's whole history is summarized in 2 Kgs 17:7-20. When the Israelites broke the first two commandments (5:7-10), they proceeded to violate the whole covenant. Their rebellion brought upon them the curses of ch 28.

28:7 In the Bible, the number seven generally conveys fullness or completion (see "Symbolic Numbers" at Rev 4:4, p. 2173). Here, the number indicates that Israel's enemies would be completely removed from the land (see note on 2:34).

28:10 When the nations saw the blessings of Israel, they would know that it had happened because you are a people claimed by the Lord (literally the name of the Lord is called over you). When the nations saw Israel, they would think of the Lord and his faithfulness.

28:12 his rich treasury in the heavens: This metaphor describes the clouds that provide life-giving rain to the earth.

28:13 the head and not the tail: If Israel obeyed the terms of the covenant, it would lead the nations and not be subject to them.

28:17 If they disobeyed the commands of the covenant, Israel could expect God to judge them with the curse of agricultural barrenness (cp. 28:5).

28:21 The diseases that afflict (or cling to) Israel would be chronic, not releasing their hold until the nation had succumbed.

you are about to enter and occupy. ²²The LORD will strike you with wasting diseases, fever, and inflammation, with scorching heat and drought, and with blight and mildew. These disasters will pursue you until you die. ²³The skies above will be as unyielding as bronze, and the earth beneath will be as hard as iron. ²⁴The LORD will change the rain that falls on your land into powder, and dust will pour down from the sky until you are destroyed.

²⁵"The LORD will cause you to be defeated by your enemies. You will attack your enemies from one direction, but you will scatter from them in seven! You will be an object of horror to all the kingdoms of the earth. ²⁶Your corpses will be food for all the scavenging birds and wild animals, and no one will be there to chase them away.

²⁷"The LORD will afflict you with the boils of Egypt and with tumors, scurvy, and the itch, from which you cannot be cured. ²⁸The LORD will strike you with madness, blindness, and panic. ²⁹You will grope around in broad daylight like a blind person groping in the darkness, but you will not find your way. You will be oppressed and robbed continually, and no one will come to save you.

³⁰"You will be engaged to a woman, but another man will sleep with her. You will build a house, but someone else will live in it. You will plant a vineyard, but you will never enjoy its fruit. ³¹Your ox will be butchered before your eyes, but you will not eat a single bite of the meat. Your donkey will be taken from you, never to be returned. Your sheep and goats will be given to your enemies, and no one will be there to help you. ³²You will watch as your sons and daughters are taken away as slaves. Your heart will break for them, but you won't be able to help them. ³³A foreign nation you have never heard about will eat the crops you worked so hard to grow. You will suffer under constant oppression and harsh treatment. ³⁴You will go mad because of all the tragedy you see around you. ³⁵The LORD will cover your knees and legs with incurable boils. In fact, you will be covered from head to foot.

³⁶"The LORD will exile you and your king to a nation unknown to you and your ancestors. There in exile you will worship gods of wood and stone! ³⁷You will become an object of horror, ridicule, and mockery among all the nations to which the LORD sends you.

³⁸"You will plant much but harvest little, for locusts will eat your crops. ³⁹You will plant vineyards and care for them, but you will not drink the wine or eat the grapes, for worms will destroy the vines. ⁴⁰You will grow olive trees throughout your land, but you will never use the olive oil, for the fruit will drop before it ripens. ⁴¹You will have sons and daughters, but you will lose them, for they will be led away into captivity. ⁴²Swarms of insects will destroy your trees and crops.

⁴³"The foreigners living among you will become stronger and stronger, while you become weaker and weaker. ⁴⁴They will lend money to you, but you will not lend to them. They will be the head, and you will be the tail!

⁴⁵"If you refuse to listen to the LORD your God and to obey the commands and decrees he has given you, all these curses will pursue and overtake you until you are destroyed. ⁴⁶These horrors will serve as a sign and warning among you and your descendants forever. ⁴⁷If you do not serve the LORD your God with joy and enthusiasm for the abundant benefits you have received, ⁴⁸you will serve your enemies whom the LORD will send against you. You will be left hungry, thirsty, naked, and lacking in everything. The LORD will put an iron yoke on your neck, oppressing you harshly until he has destroyed you.

28:23
Lev 26:19

28:24
Deut 11:17
1 Kgs 17:1
Jer 14:1

28:25
2 Chr 29:8
Isa 30:17
Jer 15:4

28:26
Ps 79:2
Jer 7:33; 16:4; 19:7;
34:20

28:27
Exod 9:9; 15:26
Deut 7:15
1 Sam 5:6, 9, 12

28:29
Exod 10:21
Job 5:14
Isa 59:10

28:30
Deut 20:6-7
Job 31:10
Isa 65:22
Amos 5:11

28:35
Job 2:7

28:36
2 Kgs 17:4, 6; 24:12,
14; 25:7, 11

28:38
Lev 26:20
Isa 5:10
Mic 6:15
^harbeh (0697)
Judg 6:5

28:41
Deut 28:32

28:42
Deut 28:38

28:44
Deut 28:12-13

28:45
Deut 4:25-26

28:47
Deut 32:15

28:22 Some scholars identify these symptoms with tuberculosis.

28:23 In this graphic picture of drought and famine, the sky dams up the rain, making the earth hard and unfruitful.

28:24 The only thing even resembling rain would be the swirling dust that coats everything to suffocation.

28:25 This verse reverses the blessing of 28:7; Israel would be forced to scatter from their enemies in seven directions—i.e., completely and totally.

28:27 the boils of Egypt: See Exod 9:8-12. • tumors: Cp. 1 Sam 5:6, 9, 12.

• scurvy: Perhaps dermatitis. • The itch is also symptomatic of dermatitis.

28:36 exile you: This prediction had two major fulfillments in OT times—the Assyrian exile of Samaria in 722 BC and the Babylonian conquest and exile of Jerusalem in 586 BC.

28:43 foreigners (literally sojourners): In God's day of judgment, those regarded as the weakest and most vulnerable elements of Israelite society (see 29:11) would dominate.

28:44 the head . . . the tail: Rather than Israel's leading the nations, the reverse would be true when God punishes his people (see 28:13).

28:46 sign and warning (literally sign and wonder): This expression indicates God's miraculous acts that arrest the attention of those who witness them and attest to his power and sovereignty (see 6:22). They are intended to produce intense fear among his own people.

28:48 An iron yoke is portrayed in various inscriptions and artistic representations. The use of this hard, unyielding metal emphasizes the cruelty and severity of the bondage Israel would experience if it remained unrepentant.

28:49
Isa 5:26; 7:18
Jer 5:15

28:52
Jer 10:17-18
Zeph 1:14-15

28:53
Lev 26:29
Jer 19:9
Lam 2:20; 4:10

28:60
Deut 28:21, 27

28:62
Deut 1:10

28:63
Jer 45:4

28:64
Lev 26:33
Deut 4:27; 32:17
Neh 1:8

28:65
Lam 1:3

28:66
Heb 10:27

49“The LORD will bring a distant nation against you from the end of the earth, and it will swoop down on you like a vulture. It is a nation whose language you do not understand, 50a fierce and heartless nation that shows no respect for the old and no pity for the young. 51Its armies will devour your livestock and crops, and you will be destroyed. They will leave you no grain, new wine, olive oil, calves, or lambs, and you will starve to death. 52They will attack your cities until all the fortified walls in your land—the walls you trusted to protect you—are knocked down. They will attack all the towns in the land the LORD your God has given you.

53“The siege and terrible distress of the enemy's attack will be so severe that you will eat the flesh of your own sons and daughters, whom the LORD your God has given you. 54The most tenderhearted man among you will have no compassion for his own brother, his beloved wife, and his surviving children. 55He will refuse to share with them the flesh he is devouring—the flesh of one of his own children—because he has nothing else to eat during the siege and terrible distress that your enemy will inflict on all your towns. 56The most tender and delicate woman among you—so delicate she would not so much as touch the ground with her foot—will be selfish toward the husband she loves and toward her own son or daughter. 57She will hide from them the afterbirth and the new baby she has borne, so that she herself can secretly eat them. She will have nothing else to eat during the siege and terrible distress that your enemy will inflict on all your towns.

58“If you refuse to obey all the words of instruction that are written in this book, and if you do not fear the glorious and awesome name of the LORD your God, 59then the LORD will overwhelm you and your children with indescribable plagues. These plagues will be intense and without relief, making you miserable and unbearably sick. 60He will afflict you with all the diseases of Egypt that you feared so much, and you will have no relief. 61The LORD will afflict you with every sickness and plague there is, even those not mentioned in this Book of Instruction, until you are destroyed. 62Though you become as numerous as the stars in the sky, few of you will be left because you would not listen to the LORD your God.

63“Just as the LORD has found great pleasure in causing you to prosper and multiply, the LORD will find pleasure in destroying you. You will be torn from the land you are about to enter and occupy. 64For the LORD will scatter you among all the nations from one end of the earth to the other. There you will worship foreign gods that neither you nor your ancestors have known, gods made of wood and stone! 65There among those nations you will find no peace or place to rest. And the LORD will cause your heart to tremble, your eyesight to fail, and your soul to despair. 66Your life will constantly hang in the balance. You will live night and day in fear, unsure if you will survive. 67In the morning you will say, ‘If only it were night!’ And in the evening you will say, ‘If only it were morning!’ For you will be terrified by the awful horrors you see around you. 68Then the LORD will send you back to Egypt in ships, to a destination I promised you would never see again. There you will offer to sell yourselves to your enemies as slaves, but no one will buy you.”

28:49 like a vulture (or eagle): This simile indicates how rapidly the enemy would come. • whose language you do not understand: Both Assyrian and Babylonian were dialects of Akkadian, a language that was related to Hebrew but vastly different in grammar, syntax, and vocabulary (see Isa 36:11-13).

28:50 The Assyrians were fierce and heartless toward their defeated enemies. A favorite instrument of torture was a stake on which they impaled their victims alive (see Isa 33:19; Nah 2:1-7).

28:54 A tenderhearted man was sheltered from the dark and disgusting side of life. He had never experienced the horrors that would befall him.

28:56 not . . . touch the ground: This woman was so fastidious that she avoided walking barefoot on the soil.

28:57 afterbirth: This horrific scenario depicts a mother so hungry as to eat a human placenta and the new baby she has borne.

28:58 The context suggests that all the words of instruction (literally all the words of this torah) refers to the entire book of Deuteronomy, in which lists of blessings and curses were a major part (see 27:3). • If you do not fear the . . . name—i.e., do not fear God himself (see note on 7:21).

28:60 The diseases of Egypt were not just general plagues but those associated with physical illness (see Exod 9:8-12).

28:64 foreign gods: This phrase does not suggest the actual existence of other deities. The OT is clear that there is only one God, the Lord. However, the pagans among whom Israel would live did worship other gods; the danger was that Israel would adopt the same practices.

28:68 The threat of being sent back to Egypt referred to any future exile of God's people, a reversal of the exodus from freedom to bondage. • no one will buy you: The disobedient and cursed Israelites would be so little esteemed that they would be unable to command any price as slaves. By contrast, the Lord had redeemed Israel from enslavement at great cost (see 9:26).

29 These are the terms of the 'covenant the LORD commanded Moses to make with the Israelites while they were in the land of Moab, in addition to the 'covenant he had made with them at Mount Sinai.

Covenant Epilogue (29:2–30:20)

Moses Reviews the Covenant

²Moses summoned all the Israelites and said to them, "You have seen with your own eyes everything the LORD did in the land of Egypt to Pharaoh and to all his servants and to his whole country—³all the great tests of strength, the miraculous signs, and the amazing wonders. ⁴But to this day the LORD has not given you minds that understand, nor eyes that see, nor ears that hear! ⁵For forty years I led you through the wilderness, yet your clothes and sandals did not wear out. ⁶You ate no bread and drank no wine or other alcoholic drink, but he provided for you so you would know that he is the LORD your God.

⁷"When we came here, King Sihon of Heshbon and King Og of Bashan came out to fight against us, but we defeated them. ⁸We took their land and gave it to the tribes of Reuben and Gad and to the half-tribe of Manasseh as their grant of land.

⁹"Therefore, obey the terms of this covenant so that you will prosper in everything you do. ¹⁰All of you—tribal leaders, elders, officers, all the men of Israel—are standing today in the presence of the LORD your God. ¹¹Your little ones and your wives are with you, as well as the foreigners living among you who chop your wood and carry your water. ¹²You are standing here today to enter into the covenant of the LORD your God. The LORD is making this covenant, including the curses. ¹³By entering into the covenant today, he will establish you as his people and confirm that he is your God, just as he promised you and as he swore to your ancestors Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

¹⁴"But you are not the only ones with whom I am making this covenant with its curses. ¹⁵I am making this covenant both with you who stand here today in the presence of the LORD our God, and also with the future generations who are not standing here today.

¹⁶"You remember how we lived in the land of Egypt and how we traveled through the lands of enemy nations as we left. ¹⁷You have seen their detestable practices and their idols made of wood, stone, silver, and gold. ¹⁸I am making this covenant with you so that no one among you—no man, woman, clan, or tribe—will turn away from the LORD our God to worship these gods of other nations, and so that no root among you bears bitter and poisonous fruit.

¹⁹"Those who hear the warnings of this curse should not congratulate themselves, thinking, 'I am safe, even though I am following the desires of my own stubborn heart.' This would lead to utter ruin! ²⁰The LORD will never pardon such people. Instead his anger and jealousy will burn against them. All the curses written in this book will come down on them, and the LORD will erase their names from under heaven. ²¹The LORD will separate them from all the tribes of Israel,

29:1
Lev 27:34
Deut 1:1-5; 5:1
'berith (1285)
• Deut 33:9

29:2
Exod 19:4

29:4
Isa 6:9-10
Acts 28:26
*Rom 11:8

29:5
Deut 8:2, 4

29:7
Num 21:21
Deut 1:2-5; 2:26

29:8
Num 32:31
Deut 3:12

29:9
Exod 19:5
Deut 4:6
Josh 1:7

29:11
Josh 9:21, 23, 27

29:13
Gen 17:7
Exod 6:7

29:14
Jer 31:31
Heb 8:7

29:17
Exod 20:23
Deut 4:28; 28:36

29:18
Deut 13:6; 32:32
Heb 12:15

29:19
Heb (3820)
• 2 Sam 17:10

29:20
Deut 9:14
2 Kgs 14:27
Ps 74:1; 80:4

29:1 Verse 29:1 is numbered 28:69 in the Hebrew text. • The land of Moab was the region east of the Jordan where Deuteronomy was composed and delivered to Israel. • Mount Sinai: Hebrew Horeb, another name for Sinai; see note on 1:2.

29:2–30:20 Anticipating his death, Moses composed a farewell address, briefly reviewing Israel's history since the Exodus. He charged the nation to pledge their fidelity to the Lord. This section of Deuteronomy makes it clear that grace is not just a NT doctrine: It undergirds every aspect of Israel's relationship with the Lord.

29:2–29 Verses 29:2–29 are numbered 29:1–28 in the Hebrew text.

29:3 signs . . . wonders: See notes on 6:22; 7:19.

29:6 but he provided for you: This clause does not appear in the Hebrew but is implied by its context.

29:7 King Sihon of Heshbon, ruler of the Amorites, had controlled an area from the Arnon River to the Ammonite border. See Num 21:31–35. • Heshbon: See 1:4; 2:24. • King Og of Bashan had ruled an Amorite kingdom east of the Sea of Galilee (see 3:1).

